Poisonous plants have historically been one of the major problems in West Texas. Estimates place the annual loss due to poisonous plants in excess of $50 million per year from some eighty species of poisonous plants. Many of these plants occur in West Texas and cause losses in all types of livestock.

A better accounting of livestock losses and the species of plants accounting for the loss is under way by the Agricultural Extension Service in some 31 counties representing 60,000 square miles of West Texas. County agricultural agents would appreciate it if you have information concerning losses in West Texas. Cards are available to report these losses from the local county agent's office. These cards will be sent to Robert E. Steger, Extension Area Range Specialist at Fort Stockton. Periodic reports will be issued regarding problem plants, animals affected, and problem times of the year to better predict animal losses.

Anyone having losses due to any poisonous plants from bitterweed on, is urged to contact the county agent. The information requested will not require much time and could be very useful. With the forthcoming establishment of the Research and Extension Center at San Angelo, more work will probably be done on this problem in the years to come. The Research and Extension

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Bureson, Member of Congress, 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Voices of presidents of the past—both Democrat and Republican—continue as good advice for today's affairs.

"If in the opinion of the people, the disposition or modification of the Constitutional powers be in any part wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. But let there be no change by usurpation; for though this in one instance may be the instrument of good, it is the customary weapon by which free governments are destroyed." George Washington, 1789-1797.

"Agriculture, manufacturing, commerce and navigation, the four pillars of our prosperity, are the most thriving when left most free to individual enterprise." Thomas Jefferson, 1801-1809.

"But with us, individuals count for nothing in the offices which they hold; that is, they have no right to them. They hold them as representatives; by appointment from the people." James Monroe, 1817-1825.

"It was a leading object with the framers of the Constitution to keep as separate as possible the action of the legislative and the executive branches of the Government." Andrew Jackson, 1829-1837.

"The dangers of a concentration of all power in the general government of a Confederacy so vast as ours are too obvious to be disregarded. You have a right, therefore, to expect your agents in every department to regard strictly the limits imposed upon them by the Constitution of the United States." Franklin Pierce, 1853-1857.

"I take the official oath today with no mental reservations and with no purpose to construe the Constitution by any hypocritical rules." Abraham Lincoln, 1861-1865.

"Public officers are the servants and agents of the people to execute laws which the people have made." Grover Cleveland, 1885-1897.

"Our country, this great republic, means nothing unless it means the triumph of popular government, and in the long run, of an economic system under which each man shall be guaranteed the opportunity to show the best that there is in him." Theodore Roosevelt, 1901-1909.

"Liberty has never come from the government. Liberty has always come from the subjects of it. The history of liberty is a history of limitations of governmental power, not the increase of it." Woodrow Wilson, 1913-1921.

Abraham Lincoln, who had the unsurpassed ability to discharge the superfluous and reduce matters to a simple truth said "There has never been but one question in all civilization—How to keep a few men from saying to many men, 'You work and earn bread and we will eat it. These voices of the past tell

Mrs. Hubert Williams Noratadata Hostess

Mrs. Hubert Williams was hostess to the members of the Noratadata Club on Monday evening at the community center. Dinner was served and bridge was played following the business meeting, during which the community improvement project was discussed. Other business included a presentation of the 1969-1970 slate of officers by the nominating committee. Elected by acclamation were the following officers:

Mrs. James Thompson, president
Mrs. Ross Foster, vice-president
Mrs. Dayton Barrett, recording secretary
Mrs. Reynolds Foster, corresponding secretary
Mrs. Chesley McDonald, parliamentarian
Mrs. Alvie Cole, treasurer
Mrs. J. I. Cope, reporter historian
Mrs. Ed Nunnally, federation counselor.

In bridge, high score was won by Mrs. Mildred Emery, bingo by Mrs. Larry Glass, and hi cut by guest Mrs. Charles Allen.

Members present included Mrs. D. Kirk Hopkins, Mrs. Worth Durham, Mrs. Charles Probandt, Mrs. I. W. Terry, Mrs. F. S. Price, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Alvie Cole, Mrs. Finis F. Westbrook, Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. Danny Stewart, Mrs. Cope, Mrs. Henry Bauer, Mrs. Ross Foster, and Mrs. W. R. Brooks.

us more than seemingly a lot of people want to hear today. They are voices of caution, of warning, of admonition and restraint. Under our system, government is a sensitive business. Everyone needs to give it their attention instead of government giving everyone so much of its attention.

In essence these historic voices tell us: To do as one pleases, in general, as long as he does not infringe the equal right and opportunity of every other person to do as he pleases.

To associate with whom he pleases for any reason he pleases, even if someone else thinks it is a stupid reason.

To worship God in his own way, even if it is not "orthodox."

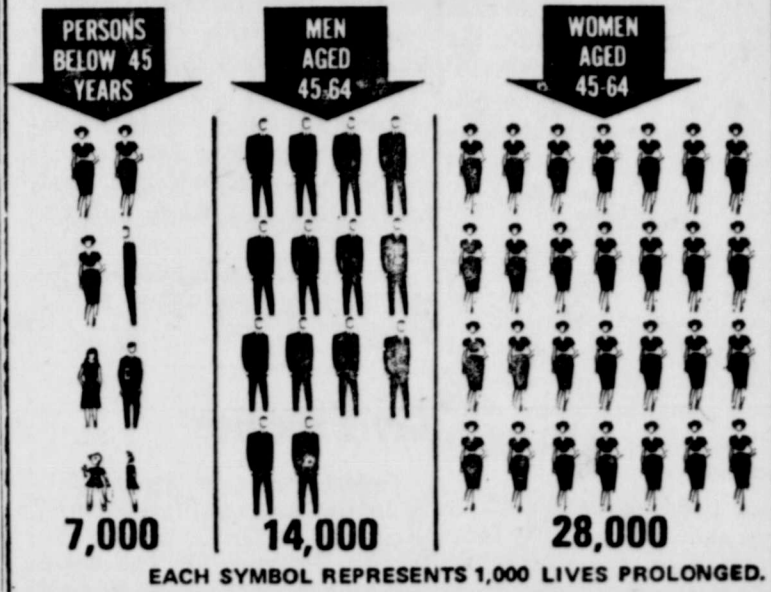

To choose his own trade and to apply for any job he wants—to quit his job, if he doesn't like it.

To go into business for himself, be his own boss, set his own hours of work—even if few or a full week.

To use his honestly acquired property or savings in his own way—spend it foolishly, invest it wisely or even give it away.

In a nut shell, all this means no special privilege from government for anyone. It is a way of individual liberty, of the free market, of private property, of government limited to securing these rights equally for all.

HEART RESEARCH PROLONGING 49,000 LIVES

PROGRESS in the fight against heart and blood vessel diseases since 1950—the year massive research programs were initiated—is reflected in this chart. About 253,000 Americans below 65 die of these diseases yearly; had the 1950 rate persisted, the toll would exceed 302,000. This equates to an apparent savings of 49,000 lives yearly. Division of the 45-65 group, 28,000 women and 14,000 men, was based on earlier statistics indicating improved mortality experiences of middle-age persons favors women about two to one. The Heart Fund, begun in 1949, speeded virtually all advances leading to this achievement.

Social Security News

"Social security relies to a great extent on each beneficiary's ability to report events which will affect his monthly payments," said Ted F. Moellering, Social Security District Manager. Among those events that the beneficiary should report are changes of address, stopping or starting work, changes in estimated earnings during the year, and a beneficiary's death, marriage, divorce, or annulment.

Each beneficiary receives a special card to fill out and send to his local social security office when a report must be made. Reports are relayed to the paying office by electronic means to avoid delays in updating records.

Those needing to report a change should request form SSA-1425 from the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Any of our representatives will be glad to give you the necessary forms.

Home Health Benefits from Medicare

The least understood service under Medicare is home health benefits, according to Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager in San Angelo, Texas. Mr. Moellering explained that these benefits are available to home-confined Medicare beneficiaries in most localities, when ordered by a doctor and when furnished by a participating home health agency. These agencies send skilled people to the home to provide health care, such as part-time nursing; physical, speech and occupational therapy; use of medical appliances; and part-time services of home health aides.

Home health benefits are furnished under both parts of Medicare: Part A, hospital insurance, and Part B, supplemental medical insurance. Part A takes care of all of the costs of up to 100 visits for up to a year after the most recent discharge from a hospital or participating extended care facility, under these conditions:

1. The beneficiary was in a participating, or otherwise qualified, hospital for at least 3 consecutive days;
  2. He is confined to his home;
  3. A doctor determines the need for home health care and sets up a plan for it within 14 days after discharge from the hospital or participating extended care facility; and
  4. The home care is for treatment of the same condition for which he was hospitalized.
- There is no requirement of prior hospitalization for these services under Part B. Up to 100 home health visits each year are covered, if:

1. The patient is confined to his home;
2. A doctor determines the need for home health care; and
3. The doctor sets up a home health care plan and reviews it periodically. Part B pays all but the first $50 and 20 percent of the remainder of the costs of covered medical services in a calendar year.

School Board Election Set for April 5

A school trustee election will be held on Saturday, April 5, 1969 from 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. in the district court room of the Sterling County Courthouse with Mrs. Lee Augustine, presiding judge.

The terms of L.C. McDonald and I.W. Terry expire. The deadline for filing for a place on the ballot is March 5, 1969 in the Sterling County Judge's office.

The election was ordered by the Sterling City School Board February 3, 1969.

Civil Service

Federal agencies, principally in the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C., need Electronics Technicians. The work involves maintenance, testing, and development of various electronic equipment, ranging from radio, radar, and sonar devices to computer systems.

Both general and specialized experience are basic requirements for Electronics Technician positions, except where education may be substituted for such experience. Entry level for eligibles depends on quality and quantity of both. No written test is required.

Starting annual salaries range from $5,331 to $10,927. Ask for Announcement No. WA-7-19.

Additional information on these and other Federal jobs may be obtained from the Civil Service Commission in Washington, D. C., 1900 E Street, NW, 20415.

SOCIAL SECURITY CHILDREN'S BENEFITS

The children of a deceased woman worker now have the same right to social security payments on their mother's account as they do on the account of the father, says Ted F. Moellering, District Manager of the Social Security Administration in San Angelo, Texas. Some children, who could not qualify for benefits at the time their mother died, may now be paid. These survivors' insurance payments may continue each month to age 22 if the child remains in school and does not get married.

"This change is the result of a new definition of 'dependency' in the Social Security Act," Mr. Moellering explained. "Of course, the deceased mother must have worked on social security jobs long enough to be insured. In some cases, children whose mother died as early as 1947 can now be paid. "An application for the child's benefits must be filed," he said. "We would like for anyone who believes he may be eligible to receive the payments to get in touch with the social security office without delay."

This applies especially to those whose applications were denied at the time of their mother's death. Detailed information can be secured from the Social Security Administration located at 300 West Harris in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area.

Behind the 8-Ball

By the editor.

Twenty-five years ago when I came to Sterling and bought the News-Record from Uncle Bill Kellis, there were about 1,200 people living in town. A lot of old timers were still around. The war was on and every family nearly had a boy or girl in the service.

I. B. Langford was running the Cosden Station and a little hamburger or eating joint in connection with it. Clell Ainsworth had the Texaco Station where Bauer has his office now. Loyd and Ethel Murrell was running a Sinclair Station where the Shell is now. The bank was a two-story affair and there were offices that could be rented up above the bank quarters. (Pat Kellis had a law office up there.)

The Utilities Co. had the place where Worth Durham's law office is and Horace Donaldson had a thriving theater where the Utilities Company is now. A guy named Sharp was S. M. Bailey's partner in the Sharp & Bailey Dry Goods store—now Brooks Dry Goods. J. M. Hornbuckle had a grocery store by the pool hall and S. M. Bailey was operating the Men's Store. Henry Merrell had the City Barber Shop and Oscar Findt owned and operated the City Cafe.

Frank Cole ran the Cole Bros. Grocery and Homer M. Pearce had an electric shop in the next door building. The corner grocery was being run by Jake Randolph—Later it was Benges. Clyde Davis and Orrie Deal operated the drug store and Shorty Williams was operating the hotel. Mr. Longshore had a feed store where Brock's is now, or a part of it. Roy and Tillie Martin was running a small cafe in the old town hall, where Andrew's Barber Shop is now. M. C. Mitchell had a feed store on the corner, before it burned down. The South Texas Lumber Co. was operating the lumber yard and Walraven had a garage and filling station at the present E&W Automotive.

Roland Lowe was running the hardware store, with helpers Sue Nelson inside and Jim McCarty outside. Joe Emery had the gas company and M. C. Reed had the wool warehouse. Somebody had a filling station on the corner.

R. P. Brown owned the Texaco Station by the Baptist Church and I forget who was operating it. Will Meyer had a grocery store and cafe on the corner where the Conoco station now is. That completes the businesses of the town.

Cledis Smith was drilling wells and Sam Simmons was the "windmill man".

8-BALL

In the bank, J.S. Cole was cashier and Hal Knight and H. L. Hildebrand were the bookkeepers, etc.

Tom Onstott was manager of the utilities company and Oscar Findt ran the cafe by himself and family. G. C. Murrell was county judge and Vern Davis was sheriff.

Webb Hudson was manager of the telephone company and Dr. Swann had his office in the actual back of the drug store.

Anna Lee Johnson was the postmaster and Homer Pearce, her father, was the clerk.

W. L. Foster was president of the bank and J. T. Davis was vice-president.

The Lions Club met each Wednesday noon in the basement of the Methodist Church and Mrs. Kate (D.P.) Glass was hostess. Meals were served for 35c by her.

Prebble (Durham) Morgan was county clerk (though she was soon to be married) and a fellow named Mathis was county shop and road fore-

ANNUAL EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN BEGUN HERE

Kirk Hopkins Heads Drive

Easter Seal appeal letters are being delivered this week in Sterling County, according to D. Kirk Hopkins, who is the Easter Seal representative for the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and adults of Texas.

As representative, Mr. Hopkins serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Sterling City.

The Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs, and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. These services are financed by the Annual Easter Seal Appeal.

The Society also provided for research into the causes and cures of crippling conditions, finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Mr. Hopkins pointed out that all of these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens.

The Easter Seal Campaign will run through Easter Sunday, April 6. Mr. Hopkins urged increased support for the Easter Seal Society and its program of services to crippled children and adults.

Social Security Tips

The traditional retirement age in private industry is 65. The gold watch is presented at farewell ceremonies, the company pension begins, and social security and Medicare become a part of the person's life.

But what is a person wants or needs to retire earlier? Recognizing that for various reasons employment cannot always continue until age 65, social security provides for early retirement at age 62.

Benefits which begin before age 65 are reduced proportionately month by month for each month before age 65. The full reduction at age 62 is 20 percent.

However, a person who begins receiving checks at age 62 would be about age 77 before he begins losing money by having taken the smaller amount at age 62 rather than waiting until age 65.

Any person approaching age 62 who is contemplating early retirement or partial retirement, or whose earnings have been rather low in recent years, should get in touch with social security to explore the possibility of getting early retirement insurance payments.

For further information, contact the Social Security office at 3000 West Harris Avenue in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area.

Sheriff's phone 8-4771.

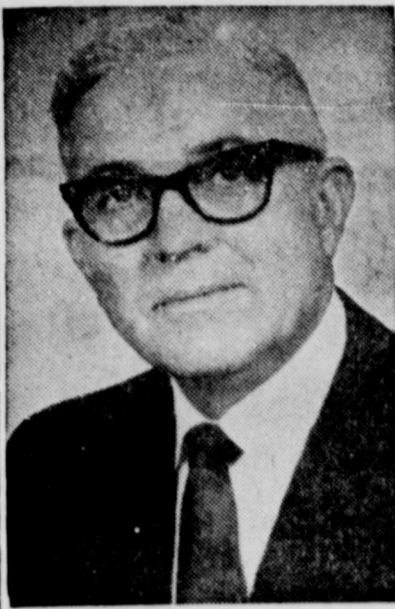

B.B. Hestir was minister at the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. C.B. Stovall at the Baptist Church and Ed Lovelace arrived here the same day I did. He was the Methodist pastor.

D. Hall was the Santa Fe agent here and he was a good one—could always get cars when needed, it was said.

Joe Snead worked behind the pill counter at the drug store, and Mrs. Jim Alsop was the girl "central" at the telephone exchange.

Many changes happened in the years to come, but that is the way it was when I arrived here a little over 25 years ago.

Tempus is fugiting, as Orrie Deal used to say.

REPORT from Austin

By GEORGE BAKER
State Representative of 66th District

Highlight of the Legislative week came at the Thursday joint session of House and Senate when Gov. Preston Smith delivered his promised budget message and recommendation for tax sources for the needed funds.

Most members with whom I have visited following the talk were pleased with its general tone, and with the emphasis of areas for new spending.

Education in varied phases, mental health and retardation services, law enforcement—these were the areas accounting for a large percentage of increased recommendations.

His recommendations for new tax revenues were less painful than most members had expected. Two business areas were hardest hit—tobacco and alcoholic beverages.

He suggested an increase in the cigarette tax from 11c to 14c per package, and removal of sales tax exemption from beverages—previously exempt from sales taxes because of high excise taxes on the product.

Certain to touch off many protests was the recommendation for selective sales or use taxes on various types of services—including laundry, dry cleaning, repairs, parking and cable television service. Single largest additional source was a proposed $10 fine for each moving traffic violation, dedicated to general revenue.

A tax-saving measure certain to be hotly debated—the so-called Cavness plan named for the original proponent, State Auditor C. H. Cavness, would divert current income from State school lands in substantial part to available school fund, softening the impact of the school improvement and teacher pay raise package.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler alleges this idea is not constitutional, and threatens a court test if it is tried. At present all income from state lands from sales of lands themselves, sale of mineral leases, royalty and rental payments go into the permanent school fund for investment—with returns from income of investments distributed annually.

The fund contains upward of $800,000,000—and would be increased by 27½ of annual sales, the remaining 72½ going directly to school support on a current basis.

Some argue that the fund should not be tampered with. Others say it already is a huge amount, and that inflation is nibbling at the eventual value of interest dollars—let's use a major portion of the income of today for paying education costs of today!

The week saw increasing committee activity, but still very little legislation actually cleared for floor debate.

Speaking personally, I spent considerable time in committee rooms hearing debate on two agriculture bills—one dealing with tighter egg-grading laws and another with providing protection to developers of any new strain of cotton seed.

Another hearing dealt with water bills—mostly local water improvement districts and a drainage plan for Willacy

Among the items discussed were—Why I'm a Member of the PTA, Why I Come to the PTA, What PTA Should mean to Me, What Kind of programs Do the People Want?, and others.

At the last, the members voted to hold only four meetings a year, but have outstanding programs to draw people. Two will be day meetings and two night ones. A review of the projects of the local PTA was given and new projects for the organization were discussed.

Any one who has good ideas for projects for next year are asked to tell it to the new president for a compilation for next year's agenda.

County.

Many visitors to the Capitol get a poor impression of the processes by which legislation is created. They visit the House Gallery and see the session begin at mid-morning and adjourn probably an hour later. There is little apparent attention to business, except on days when bills are debated in the floor.

But legislation is like an iceberg—little shows on the surface to indicate the total bulk of the object. Many other hours each day members are working in offices on legislation, correspondence, home district problems, or in committee hearings.

Committee hearings follow strict procedural rules to assure that maximum results are obtained in allotted time. The gallery visitor would be much more impressed with the procedure and dignity with which hearings are conducted—as a freshman legislator, I certainly have been!

HOSPITAL INSURANCE BENEFITS

The hospital insurance benefits of Medicare provide for services of three types, according to Ted F. Moellering, manager of the San Angelo social security district office. Benefits are possible when you are (1) a bed patient in a hospital, (2) a bed patient in an extended care facility (skilled nursing home) assigned there by your physician as a follow-up to hospital care, and (3) a patient at home receiving home health services, Mr. Moellering continued. There has been some thought that because you are covered under Medicare up to a certain maximum number of days, you can automatically count on that number of days regardless of your condition. Mr. Moellering went on to say that this is a misunderstanding and that when your condition improves to the extent you no longer require the level of care provided, then your eligibility ceases.

An example of this misunderstanding is the 100 day eligibility in an Extended Care Facility. We are sometimes asked why a certain person was told Medicare would no longer pay for his stay in an Extended Care Facility when he had only been there 50 days and still had 50 days coming. The condition of the patient rather than the number of days is the controlling factor up to the point that the maximum number of days is reached. Coverage ends when his condition is such that he no longer needs the level of care provided by the Extended Care Facility.

Any question about this or any area of Medicare or Social Security should be resolved by a visit or contact with the Social Security Office located at 3000 West Harris Avenue in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area.

The reason God made women after He made men was because He didn't want any advice.
