Rains Lift Area Farmers Spirit

Area farmers have kept a watchful eye on heavy clouds in the Muleshoe-Bailey County vicinity for the past five or six days with the falling of moisture beginning about a week ago.

Dryland farmers still have a way to go to have sufficient planting moisture, according to most of the ones the Journal talked to. Although some areas have received rain amounting to three or four inches, top soil moisture and underground moisture have yet to meet.

Some small amounts of rain were recorded throughout the county on Sunday and Monday in addition to baseball size hail and devastation of crops south of the Three Way community were the cause of concern in that area. Near Lazbuddie Jerry Don

Tax Breaks Offered For 'Disadvantaged' Hiring

The U.S. Department of Labor urging the private sector to get more involved in hiring disadvantaged teenage youth during the summer months by taking advantage of tax credits under the Targeted Jobs Tax Credit (TJTC) program.

According to Albert Angrisani, assistant secretary of labor for employment and training, employers can received a substantial tax saving under new provisions of TJTC by providing disadvantaged youth a helping hand.

The new provisions, which went into effect recently, result from the Tax Equity and Financial Responsibility Act of 1982. This act added economically disadvantaged summer youth to TJTC's targeted categories.

Hired disadvantaged youth, who must be 16 or 17-year-olds, will receive at least the federal minimum wage of $3.35 an hour, but the net cost to the employer can be as little as 50 cents an hour. For example, an employer can pay each youth hired under the program the minimum wage for up to 90 days and claim 85 percent of the amount as credit deducted from the firm's tax return.

"We're talking about a total cost of $262 for the summer to employers who hire an economically disadvantaged youngster between May 1 and September 15 under new provisions of the TJTC," Angrisani said.

Angrisani explained the eligibility rules on who can be hired and under what circumstances:

--The youth must be 16 or 17 years old on the hiring date. --He or she must come from a family whose total income the previous 12 months did not exceed the poverty level established by the Labor Department. The level ranges from $8,700 to $15,000 for a family of four, depending on the city or area of residence. --A local office of the state employment service, often called the Job Service, must establish that the youth is economically disadvantaged and certify this in writing before the youth goes to work. --The young worker must not have worked for the same employer before, even in a summer job the previous year or part-time during school. --The tax credit applies only to the first $40,000 earned by each eligible young person during the 4 1/2-month period.

"There are an estimated 1,100,000 economically dis-

Farm Retail Price Spread Due To Widen

Looking at the farm to retail price spread, it's basically a case of "the poor getting poorer."

Farmers are continuing to get less of the dollars that consumers spend at supermarkets and restaurants, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Last year only 28 cents of every dollar spent on food went back to the farmer," points out Dr. Forrest Stegelin, "while 32 cents went for labor and the remaining 40 cents covered marketing costs."

This difference between what farmers receive and what consumers pay for food products is called the "farm to retail price spread" and represents food industry charges for handling, processing and retailing farm food commodities, notes the economist. That difference rose 5.1 percent in 1982 and is expected to grow even larger this year.

Why? "Because, while the farm value of food is expected to rise only 1 to 4 percent in 1983, marketing costs are forecast to increase 4 to 7 percent," says Stegelin. Thus the trend of marketing costs rising faster than the farm value is expected to continue as it has for the past three years.

"This means that the overall food price increases have been influenced less and less by changes in farm prices and more and more by changes in the cost of packaging, processing, fabricating, transporting and distributing, and food industry wages," says the economist. "This year the higher marketing bill dized jobs in city, county and state agencies this summer.

"We expect the private sector to hire another 200,000 to 300,000 disadvantaged youths 14 through 21, as they have done in previous years, through the efforts of local chambers of commerce, boards of trade, chapters of the National Alliance of Business, and other retail business associations," Angrisani said.

"We hope this new provision of the TJTC program will inspire the employment of an additional 50,000 to 60,000 youths this summer."

Angrisani said he feels that this kind of tax incentive--available to employers right now--should help young people throughout the country get jobs.

Wayne Crittenden at Texas Sesame

Texas Sesame has been serving the farmers in the Muleshoe-Bailey County area for 29 years, having originally been built as a handling facility for sesame seed in the area and opening in 1954. Texas Sesame has maintained the same current location throughout the years: just across the railroad tracks to the north of U.S. Highway 84 on West 16th Street.

In 1958 Texas Sesame joined in a contract with the Frito Lay Company and pioneered the food corn industry in the Texas Panhandle area.

The facility was converted to a food corn handling plant in 1967 following completion of a merger with the Paris Milling Company, and for the next several years, Texas Sesame operated on a scale which permitted them to purchase food corn for the most part from local farmers to be used in corn chips and tortillas.

Food corn has grown from a few thousand pounds about 25 years ago to over five hundred million pounds per year in the Panhandle area alone. Purchasing includes that on contract as well as some bonus buying for quality corn, said Wayne Crittenden, who has been with Texas Sesame as manager since August, 1978. He formerly operated the Ford Tractor Company in Muleshoe.

Texas Sesame averaged handling 143 million pounds of food corn in 1981 and Crittenden stated that over 100 million pounds were handled in 1982. While he believes that predictions are somewhat early for this year, he stated that the crops in this area look real good right now.

In December, 1981 the Paris Milling Company completed a merger with Archer, Daniels and Midland Company and corn is currently shipped to a number of westerly states and to points in Texas.

Texas Sesame has three locations to better serve farmers with marketing their corn, milo, wheat or soybeans. These plants are located in Muleshoe, Progress and Hart Camp. Although Crittenden hesitates to predict prices for the 1983 corn crops, he stated that he felt they would be as good or better than the 1982 prices.

Orchestra Camp Joined By Keyboard Camp

The Texas Tech Orchestra Camp will be joined this year by a Keyboard Camp for piano and organ students. Both camps will be held June 13-25, and information about attending may be obtained by writing the camps at the Texas Tech Music Department, Box 4239, Lubbock, TX 79409, or by calling (806) 742-2283.

The Orchestra Camp, headed by Tech Associate Professor Richard Meek, is limited to 160 students in four orchestras. Featured clinicians this year will be John Farrer, James Miller, and Paul Ellsworth.

Farrer is music director of the Bakersfield (California) Symphony and conductor of the Roswell (New Mexico) Symphony Orchestra. Miller is associate conductor of the Fort Worth Symphony and Texas Little Symphony, which has recently returned from a tour of China. Ellsworth, now associate chairman of the Tech music department, is the former conductor of the Texas Tech Symphony Orchestra.

The Keyboard Camp has been established at the request of local and area piano and organ teachers. With only two other major camps involving keyboard studies in the state, such activities as those offered by the camp were not readily available for West Texas students.

Guest artist at the Keyboard Camp will be Bonnie Bogle, resident lecturer in piano at California State University. Bogle will teach private lessons and offer master classes.

Texas A&M students to raise $25,000 to sponsor children

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University students have pledged to raise $25,000 to sponsor an entire village of Colombian children through the Christian Children's Fund (CCF). CCF National Chairperson Sally Struthers announced recently during a two-day visit to the campus.

Struthers was invited to Texas A&M after the 2,300-member Corps of Cadets last year "adopted" five children through the organization. The current project is sponsored by the Inter-Fraternity Council and a number of student religious groups.

The Keyboard Camp will limit enrollment to 25 or 30 students, which will allow maximum individual attention to the students. All applicants must send a taped audition to Camp Director Jane Ann Wilson, Associate Professor of Piano at Tech. It is suggested that students send a tape as soon as possible, since evaluations of applications will be done during the middle of May.

Opportunities available to students in both camps include individual instruction on all orchestral instruments, piano and organ, and classes in music theory, conducting, body movement, history of the orchestra, beginning piano and chamber music.

An interest in chamber music involving piano and strings was one of the reasons which prompted Meek and Wilson to schedule concurrent activities. There will also be opportunities for groupings ranging from piano duos to quintets, as well as string ensembles.

Students at both camps are encouraged to audition to play a concerto with the Orchestra Camp's Festival Orchestra comprised of faculty and outstanding students — a rare treat for many keyboard players. Auditions for concerto soloist will take place on the second day of camp.

National Survey Shows Kitchen Is Changing

More time- and energy-saving foods and appliances as well as an equal sharing of duties among family members will characterize the kitchen of the future.

These predictions emerged from a recent survey of 1400 Extension home economists from across the country. The survey was conducted for Hamilton Beach Division/Scovill Inc. by the Opinion and Marketing Research Department of Zigman-Joseph-Skeen.

"Extension home economists generally have a good feel for these trends because they respond to public demands for information and programming on foods and nutrition, appliance selection, consumer information, and budgeting," says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The home economists surveyed believe changes in the American kitchen are due to the increasing numbers of working women. Ninety-five percent agree, for example, that in dual-earner families, the kitchen is no longer the woman's full responsibility. They also note the growing interest in nutrition, cooking and kitchen appliances among men.

Seventy-nine percent also agree that in making kitchen purchases, working women are primarily interested in convenience so

Visiting Nurse Service Available To Ill, Disabled

The Visiting Nurse Service of Lubbock, Inc., is a private, non-profit agency organized with input from many disciplines and persons interested in health, who believe that home care should be available to ill or disabled persons of all ages.

Many communities (23) are receiving health care from this agency and the unparalleled growth by V.N.S. is proof of its capability to adequately care for persons in their homes and of the acceptance of this home concept by physicians, families, and patients.

V.N.S. provides intermittent skilled nursing to persons in their homes when such care is necessary and ordered by a physician. Procedures commonly ordered are dressings, catheter insertions and care, ostomy care, special treatments, wound irrigations, injections, tube feedings, intravenous therapy, personal care, bowel care, and skin care.

Nursing assessments, evaluation and health teaching are done as are monitoring of disease processes and supervision of medication changes prescribed by physicians. Nurses are available to assist hospital personnel with discharge planning for patients making the transition from hospital to home. Blood samples can be drawn for laboratory analysis for those persons who have difficulty leaving home for this procedure.

Speech, physical, occupational, and medical social persons may be provided when ordered. Nutritional counseling, home health aides (personal care), and patient care management (Team approach) are provided.

V.N.S. meets all the requirements of State and Federal Regulatory Acts, and is certified for complete medicine services by U.S. Dept. of Health and Human Services and is licensed by Texas Dept. of Health. The agency can bill Medicare and Medicaid for patient services. Other sources of payment are through private insurances, Champus V.A., and private fee for service.

The Visiting Nurse Service is operating a center for the elderly or disabled adults whose families must work, but who are willing to assume responsibility beyond normal working hours. The Center opens at 7:30 a.m. and closes at 6:00 p.m. giving families time to bring their eligible family members before work at 8:00 a.m. and time to pick them up after 5:00 p.m.

Goals of the Adult Day Activities and Health Center, located in St. Christopher's Episcopal Church at 42nd and Canton Avenues, are: 1) to prevent premature institutionalization; 2) to support families in their efforts to keep family members at home by providing a care center during normal working hours; 3) to assist clients in maintaining maximum functioning with as few restrictions as possible; 4) to prevent social isolation by providing interaction with other clients, staff, and volunteers; 5) to promote financial economy of health care. The Center provides a wide range of nursing, rehabilitative, social, and nutritional services.

Visiting Nurse Service Hospice program has grown and is supported by many physicians and families in the community. The current use of the term "hospice" reflects a concept of care that is specialized to address the physical, spiritual, and emotional needs of the terminally ill and their families. Special emphasis is placed on pain and symptom control. Visiting Nurse Service recognizes that terminally ill patients experience not only physical pain, but psychological, social, spiritual, and financial burdens as well.

Every effort is made to alleviate suffering while there is encouragement for the patient/family to live as fully as possible, with emphasis on quality, rather than quantity of life. V.N.S. provides in-home hospice care as well as bereavement counseling and grief intervention. A multi-disciplinary approach enables V.N.S. to attempt to meet all needs of the family/patient unit including concern and support for grieving families.

Symptom control involves more than the administration of medication. An environment that is peaceful and secure, quality professional service, and family and personal involvement all play a role in the relief of pain. Patients in their own home are more in control of their care and their environment than those institutionalized.

V.N.S. staff is knowledgeable in the Hospice Concept through in-service and continuing education and have expertise in these services. V.N.S. is a member of State and National Hospice Organizations.

Nurses are on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

"Consumer Update is designed to keep ratepayers informed about utility issues and the fact that the PUC is working to protect the ratepayers," said PUC Chairman Alan R. Erwin.

Erwin noted that the first column will focus on how consumers can complain in a way that will achieve positive results. "It is important that consumers understand their right to complain if a utility is charging incorrect rates or providing inadequate service," Erwin added. "We want to help consumers make their complaints count." Erwin said the PUC process makes consumer complaints a part of the record used in deciding utility rate cases.

Farmers who depend on irrigation wells for most of their moisture were able to shut them off for a few days. Annual Induction Ceremony Held By Sudan High NHS

The Sudan High School National Honor Society held its annual induction ceremony on Monday, May 9, at the Sudan School Cafeterium. New members inducted were Sharla Harrison, Shawnda Masten, Jeannia Niz and Tammy Gore. The emphasis of this year's ceremony was on past members of the National Honor Society at Sudan and the other schools. The program began with a welcome by Ginger Gore, president. Ginger then read the names of the NHS Charter members including Seniors Ronald Bellomy, Rodney Fisher, Max Lynch, Jackie Wilson, Sherilyn Maxwell, Beth Price, Jeanne Seymore, Faye Scott and Frances Smiley. Juniors were Jan Fisher, Ramon May, J.A. Wingo, Sue Lynch, Karen May, Earlene Parrott, Linna Smith and Anita Kay Whitmire. Sophomores were Jimmie Savage, Linda Chapin, Marilyn Driver, Carole Harper, Laurie Ann Shaffer and Carol Ann Watkins. The Sponsor was Mrs. Doyle Watkins. Ginger pointed out that one charter member, Radney Fisher, has a sister, Missy Fisher, who is a member of the NHS this year. In addition to the Fishers, other members who have had family as NHS members are Shawnda Masten, daughter of Donna Parrish Masten ('66); Shanda Vernon, sister of Jody Vernon Lyle ('78); Lee Anne Ellison, sister of Paula Ellison ('79); Tammy Gore, sister of Shelley Gore ('82); Joseph Kessler, brother of Gloria Kessler Jimenez ('78); Dora Black sister of Helen Black Driskill ('71); Perry Kent brother of Paul Kent ('82); and Pam Kent ('80); Ginger Gore, sister of Rusty Gore ('76); and Randy Gore ('77); and David Harper, brother of Dale Harper ('82); Lori Harper ('78); Lisa Harper Miller ('76); and Don Harper ('71).

Special recognition was made of the Harper family all five of their children have been members of the Sudan National Honor Society. This is an accomplishment that very few families can equal. The Society congratulates Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harper and their children for their achievement. It was also noted that the Vernons, Ellisons, Gores and Kent families had all their children in the NHS.

Miss Gore went on to mention that there were numerous faculty members who were members of the Sudan NHS or at their respective high schools. Sudan NHS faculty members are Cheryl Roberts Kinzie, Joan Harper Nir, Sandra Lane Nix, Bo Lance, Roger Mac Boyles, and Jana West Synasch. Faculty members who were NHS members at their schools are Phyllis Kirkland Patsy Fisher, Cynthia King, Pat Laceywell, Donna Lance, Dyke Gaston, Joyce Welch, Joyce Carr, and Jeannie Winton.

Senior members then gave a short talk about the four foundations of the NHS Service, Leadership, Character and Scholarship and lit a candle representing each. Each inductee was introduced by a senior NHS member. The inductees gave the NHS Pledge, lit a candle and were congratulated by Buddy Lowrance, principal who gave them their certificate of membership.

The ceremony was followed by a reception for the members, their families and friends.

Hance Lauds USDA Designation

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, today commended the U.S. Department of Agriculture for designating four more West Texas counties as eligible for emergency loans.

"I asked Secretary John Block to review eight counties in West Texas for Farmers' Home Administration (FmHA) emergency loans back in January," said the Texas Democrat. "Today, I am pleased for Secretary Block and the farmers in West Texas that the USDA has reviewed and designated six of the eight counties as eligible for assistance."

"I said at the time, and I still believe, that the government should review such situations on a farm-by-farm basis, rather than county-by-county," added Hance. "It's just not right to deny assistance to a farmer who has been wiped out by hail or high wind or drought just because his farm was on the wrong side of the county line."

Eligible farmers in Hale, Swisher, Terry, and Yoakum counties can qualify for FmHA Emergency Loans due to the inclement weather that hit West

SPC To Sponsor Sports Medicine Clinic

South Plains College will sponsor a sports medicine clinic June 25 for area coaches and their student trainers.

The clinic, featuring 10 different topics, is designed to provide area coaches and their student trainers with more knowledge of the techniques and methods of athletic training, noted Michael Celli, one of the clinic instructors and athletic trainer for SPC.

Clinic times are 8:30-4 p.m. June 25 in Texan Dome. Cost is $10 for students and $15 for coaches. Registration forms are available through the SPC Office of Continuing Education.

The clinic will provide information on the following topics: athletic training; present and future; training room organization and the role of student trainers; training supplies, kits, materials and their uses in emergency situations; on-the-field evaluations; basic procedures in treatment of cuts, bruises, abrasions and use of the I.C.E. principle; heat problems; diagnosis and care; nutrition and the athlete; treatment and rehabilitation of ankle and knee injuries and shin splints.

Celli has a bachelor's degree from the University of Texas and served as a student trainer there. He has helped direct sports medicine clinics at UT-Austin.

David Adams, athletic trainer for the Levelland Independent School District, also will serve as a clinic instructor. He has a bachelor's degree from West Texas State University and enters his second year on the Levelland ISD athletic staff.

Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres has a few words on the Hitler Diaries and a few other things.

Dear Editor:

One thing to be learned from the "Hitler Diaries" is that handwriting experts, like psychiatrists at a murder trial can come down on either side. One expert found the 60 volumes authentic, another said they were fakes, just as one psychiatrist can find a murderer sane, another insane.

If I were a lawyer and had a client who was so guilty the best I could do for him was to get a hung jury, I'd like to have two handwriting experts or two psychiatrists on the jury. Regardless of the evidence, each would be positive in opposite directions.

But there was a story in the papers far more interesting than the fake diaries.

An outfit has been exposed selling high school diplomas and college degrees from schools that don't exist. You pick out the diploma or degree you want, send them a check and get your certificate by return mail.

Some people are outraged that you can keep a kid in high school for four years without teaching him anything, why not let him spend his time playing video games and just hand him a diploma when he reaches the proper age and save the expense of holding him in a class room? Mail rooms issuing meaningless diplomas are a lot cheaper than class rooms doing the same thing.

Back to the to-do over those forged diaries. You never know when such things will show up. You reckon some of the Federal courts' haywire decisions in recent years have come about because the judges were working with forged, inaccurate copies of the Constitution?

Yours faithfully,

J.A.

Participants should bring a sack lunch each day, since no food facilities will be open on campus. Participants also must furnish daily transportation to and from the camp.

Perryman noted that University Interscholastic League rules prohibit a member of a high school varsity team from participating in the camp. The rule applies to all varsity sports such as tennis, golf, track, football and others. Contact SPC for more information at (806) 894-9611.
