COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

This is the time of the year to spray fruit and nut trees for the control of scale and phylloxera with an oil emulsion spray. It is also time to remove dead, diseased, or broken limbs from the trees. Scale is an important insect in the more arid portions of the state and each year does much damage to pecan trees in this area. It is a tiny insect which lives under a small scale, sucking sap from the limbs and branches causing them to die back. The tree is devitalized by the insect and eventually may die. Phylloxera produces galls on leaves, twigs, or even the nuts. These galls are the dwelling places for a soft-bodied insect closely related to the aphid family which causes honeydew. Both scale and phylloxera can be controlled by spraying with an oil emulsion spray during the dormant season of the year. The base oil emulsion spray is available at most nurseries, feed and seed stores and occasionally elsewhere. The recommendations call for the use of 3 1/2 gallons of a 97% oil emulsion in one hundred gallons of water. The entire trunk and limbs of the tree should be covered with the spray. If there is a severe case of scale affecting the tree, it is wise to spray twice during the dormant season of the year. This second application should be made about thirty days after the first spray. The dormant season of the year is also a good time to prune trees. Dead, diseased or wind-damaged limbs should be removed now. Limbs may have been affected by scale or other diseases and their removal will help cut down on stoom damage. The cut to remove such limbs should be made just as near as possible to the trunk or larger limb. In addition, the cut should be sloping back with the long part of the cut the higher part of it. The base of the cut should be lower and behind the upper part to prevent water from entering between the bark and other part of the limb. This will help to cut down on disease and insect losses.

The Southwest Ereworm Eradication Program chalked up a new record in 1970, reporting the lowest number of confirmed screwworm cases in its history. But, officials warn this is not the time for livestock producers to become complacent and relax their vigilance. Only 153 cases were confirmed in the southwestern United States during 1970 establishing the best record since the program began in February 1962. In 1969, confirmed cases totaled 219 and marked the best year previous to 1970. Texas reported 92 cases in 1970, New Mexico had 33, Arizona 23, and California 5. While 1970 was the banner year in confirmed cases, it was also the low year in samples submitted with 1,944 non-screwworm samples in addition to the 153 confirmed case samples. The worst year in the history of the program was 1968. That year, 9,878 cases were confirmed in the southwest.

COUNTY JUDGE J. K. MARTIN

"3.76 in '76" Increase in Ranch Income Crusade

By Sterling County Judge J. K. (Jake) Martin

Whereas, the Texas agricultural industry, in all of its phases, continues to be our most important industry, and

Whereas, agriculture continues to have great growth potential in our county with the rewards from such growth accruing to the benefit of all citizens, and

Whereas, there is an urgent need for an active crusade to increase the public's knowledge, acceptance, and appreciation for the highly significant contribution which agriculture makes to the economy of our county and to the level of living enjoyed by its citizens, and

Whereas, it is recognized that all citizens of this county have a vital stake and a legitimate self-interest in the general well-being of the farmers and ranchers who provide the great abundance and variety of food and fiber of highest quality which we all enjoy, and

Whereas, "3.76 in '76" is a well-conceived program designed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, with the endorsement and active support of agricultural agencies, organizations, and individual leaders, to help the agricultural industry achieve its full potential through an intensification of efforts by producers; agribusinesses, and professional agriculturists to bring about an increase in income to Texas farmers and ranchers of $1 billion by the end of crop year 1976, and

Whereas, "3.76 in '76" will narrow the gap between knowledge and practice through the coordinated application of improved production and marketing practices that have been proven to be sound and profitable, and

Whereas, the achievement of an increase of $60,000.00 in agricultural income by the end of crop year 1976 will improve the net profit and competitive position of Sterling County farmers and ranchers and make highly significant contributions to the future economy of our county,

NOW Therefore, I, J. K. Martin, County Judge of Sterling County, Texas do proclaim the week of January 25-29, 1971 as "3.76 in '76" in Sterling County and call upon all citizens to join in this observance and to dedicate their efforts to the achievement of its stated objectives.

Dated this 20th day of January A. D. 1971.

(Signed) J. K. MARTIN
County Judge, Sterling County

EARLY DETECTION HELPS CURE CANCER

Breast cancer is so common—over 60,000 American women contract it every year—that physicians agree every woman should examine her breasts every month for signs of it. At least 85% of all breast cancers are curable if caught early enough, but over half are now fatal because of needless delay.

The intelligent woman who examines her breasts monthly, and in a systematic manner, stands an excellent chance of detecting cancer early—before it can endanger her life. The case of Mrs. A. T., of Chicago, Ill., is fairly typical. Having carefully read the American Cancer Society's booklet on breast self-examination (available free from all local ACS offices), she knew that the odds were pretty good that the lump that she detected in her breast one morning wasn't cancerous. She also knew that only her doctor could tell her for sure.

Mrs. T. was unlucky—but not too unlucky. The lump was cancerous, but it was still very small and had not spread very far. A mastectomy was required, but Mrs. T. is alive and well today—years later—and still caring for her family. Her sensible precautions may well have saved her life.

Mastectomy is not only a medical problem, however. It is a traumatic emotional experience for the woman partly because she knows that the fit of her clothes may well be affected, and she dreads the thought of making others feel awkward or self-conscious in her presence.

Back in the 1920's, a hospital x-ray technician named Ella Bernhard became aware that the woman who underwent breast surgery frequently suffered from a depression which seemed to have more to do with worry about personal appearance than about health. This worry was quite justified, since very little attention had been paid to the problem by science or industry up to this time. Deeply concerned over this neglected need, Ella Bernhard taught herself the difficult art of industrial design, developed a fluid breast form so natural she named it Identical Form and founded a company with the same name to manufacture it.

Since then Identical Forms have insured peace of mind for over a million women. Identical Forms duplicate the weight and constantly changing contours and positions of the natural breast. Identical Forms are filled with a slow-moving, creamy fluid and covered by a double wall of soft, skinlike plastic. It is almost impossible to overestimate the part that a carefully fitted, carefully designed breast form can play in the emotional recovery of mastectomy patients.

Remember, breast cancer is usually curable if caught early. If you are not sure how to go about examining yourself, ask your local Cancer Society office or your family physician. See him once every six months in any case, for a general all-around check-up. Make full use of your best weapon against cancer—early detection.

U.S. Border Patrol Seeks Applicants

The U.S. Border Patrol of the Immigration and Naturalization Service has an urgent need for physically fit young men desiring a career in Federal law enforcement work. This is a career opportunity for those who like action and outdoor work.

The Border Patrol is the mobile, uniformed enforcement branch of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Its principle purpose is to prevent the smuggling and illegal entry of aliens into the United States. The border patrolmen, called Immigration Patrol Inspectors, work along international boundaries, although their duties are not necessarily confined to these areas. They work in jeeps, cars, on foot, in boats and even in airplanes. Officers investigate violations of the immigration laws and frequently make arrests. They are often required to work irregular hours, under all weather conditions. These duties demand mental alertness as well as exceptional physical vigor and stamina.

The entrance salary of an Immigration Patrol Inspector is $7,639 a year (Grade GS-7). There are promotional opportunities up to executive levels in the Immigration and Naturalization Service. On-the-job training offers splendid opportunities for promotion to positions of greater responsibility.

No experience is required for these positions. To qualify, applicants must pass a written test of verbal abilities, judgment, and aptitude for learning a foreign language. Candidates who pass the written test are called for oral interviews in the order of their standing on the list. The oral interview is designed to determine if the candidate has the personal qualities needed for the work. Applicants must also pass a rigid physical examination. Candidates who are selected for appointment are assigned to the Border Patrol Academy for a period of intensive training in such subjects as immigration laws, Spanish, physical training and marksmanship. Trainees receive full pay while in the academy.

Information concerning the patrol inspector position and this announcement may be obtained from the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, P. O. Box 2539, San Antonio, Texas 78206, or by calling 512-225-5511, Extension 214.

FUN WITH FIGURES

Since it takes 1,000 millions to make one billion, don't get the idea that one million must be a measly amount. Only about three-quarters of a million days have passed since Julius Caesar ruled the Roman Empire.

A billion—or the number 1 followed by nine zeros—is made up of 1,000 millions. Yet it represents only a small fraction of our current annual federal budget and an even more minute fraction of the national debt!

The only universal numbering system for all businesses is utilized by Dun & Bradstreet. Each business in the country has a unique nine-digit number so it can be identified instantly.

How do you reach a billion? Here's one way: Ride on the propeller of an airplane traveling a speed of 300 miles an hour and you'll go around a billion times—if the propeller spins constantly 24 hours a day, seven days a week, for two whole years.

Both general and specialized experience are basic requirements for Electronics Technician positions, except where education may be substituted for such experience. Entry level for eligibles depends on quality and quantity of both. No written test is required.

Social Security Tips CHECK YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY RECORD

"How do I know my work under social security is being credited to my record, and how do I find out about it? This is one of the questions most frequently asked," says J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

In explaining the process involved in reporting social security, Mr. Talbot said, "When you work for wages, your employer deducts social security tax from your paycheck each pay day. At the end of each calendar quarter, he submits your name and number with payment for these taxes to Internal Revenue. Internal Revenue forwards copies to social security's main office in Baltimore, Maryland. Your wages are then posted to your record. The same process is followed for a self-employed person except that his earnings are recorded yearly."

Mr. Talbot states that the possibility of an error being made in the process does exist. He recommends that you request a statement of your earnings at least every three years.

All you have to do to secure the statement is to send a post card request available at your social security office to Baltimore, Maryland. If the reply you receive is incorrect in any way, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area.

"Processing time can be cut in half if people are prepared when the time comes to apply for social security benefits," says J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

Being prepared is not as difficult as many people believe. Remember to take along your social security card or the card of the person on whose record you are filing. For a widow, this would be the social security card of her late husband. This may sound hard to believe, but many people do come in to file their application and leave their number at home.

The next most important document to take with you is your birth certificate, if available. Proof of age is needed to qualify for nearly all social security benefits. If your birth was recorded when you were born or if you were baptized before age five, you will need one of these documents. If you don't have a copy, make arrangements now to get one, Mr. Talbot advises.

If your birth was not recorded and you were not baptized before age five, there are other documents you can use. In most cases, the earlier the record was made the better it is for helping to establish your date of birth.

The third thing that is needed in all claims is evidence of the worker's last year's earnings and an estimate of this year's earnings. Your W-2 Form or tax return for last year will give the information for last year. Be sure to bring these with you.

"If I apply for disability benefits, do I have to be examined by a social security doctor before I can get any checks?" This is a question frequently asked when disabled workers claim social security disability insurance benefits.

J. M. Talbot, social security manager, says the social security law requires the applicant to supply the medical records on his condition. When you apply for benefits, you must provide a report from your attending doctor or hospital.

Information from the attending doctor and the hospital is generally all that is needed. However, in some instances, a specialist's report may be necessary to clarify a question or resolve a borderline situation. You may then be asked to go for a special examination to help provide the extra information.

If such a special examination is required, Mr. Talbot added, the Social Security Administration will pay for it. He stressed, however, that this is done only to supplement or clarify the initial information you have already provided.

When you apply for disability benefits, be ready to give the names and addresses of all your sources of medical treatment for your disabling condition.
