THE COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

In early July, some 22,000 Texas farmers will receive an acreage and production of selected crops questionnaire from Cary D. Palmer, Agricultural Statistician for the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin. In all likelihood, some Sterling County producers will receive one of the questionnaires.

This information will be the basis for determining harvested acreage and production of early harvested crops for the state and each county. Reports are needed from each of the 254 counties so that the county will be represented. These reports provide the basis of accurate estimates in planning production and marketing and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas' agriculture.

The Texas legislature has provided a program of estimates for each county; Texas covers such a wide area that state totals alone do not provide adequate information on the state's basic industry—agriculture. Thus, the reports from each county. Anyone who receives one of these questionnaires is urged to complete it to the best of their knowledge and return it.

Often a farmer or livestock producer will think long and hard about a crop to plant—the supplement to feed—the livestock to add to his herd. Sometimes, in spite of how carefully the producer plans, the whole effort turns out to be a gamble when you consider the weather, insects, markets, and so forth.

There is one investment, however, the producer can make that is sure and certain—U.S. Savings Bonds. You don't have to worry, ponder, or take a chance. When you decide to put away part of your income for the future you have a easy choice—U.S. Savings Bonds.

Agricultural producers know this and have always been good Bond Buyers. They know a good thing when they see it. They know every 75 dollars put away in Series E Bonds today grows into 100 in 5 years and 10 months. No risks. No problems. Uncle Sam himself guarantees the return. And you're helping your country while you're helping yourself. While you're saving, you know the money is right there ready to be tapped should a real emergency arise.

You might say that savings bonds are truly the crop that never fails. It's a good crop to know about.

Three Texas counties—Hidalgo, Edwards and Kinney—each recorded two screwworm cases for the period ending last week. Real and Refugio Counties each reported one case. The ninth case was submitted by an unknown producer who failed to include his name or address or any information about the case. Therefore the case could not be treated; this is a frustrating experience for the eradication program officials.

The showers that have fallen in this area and the humid weather provide an ideal setup for screwworms. All producers are urged to keep up their vigilance for possible cases. Treat all cases, take a sample and send it to Mission in the postage free mailing

Completes European Tour

Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louie C. Alexander recently returned to Dallas after a short visit in Sterling City, San Angelo and Odessa following a three week tour of Europe.

The initial ocean hop was made via Boeing 747, flying from New York to London. Lynn described London as enchanting—smelling like Christmas trees, fertile soil, o., and flowers.

Germany, Austria The Netherlands, Switzerland, Italy, and France were toured rapidly with some high lights being the loss of Lynn's stomach in Salzburg, her luggage in Hiedelburg, and her heart in Holland, Rome, Nice and Paris. She found all Europeans friendly and charming.

There were no problems anywhere with communication or money exchange and Lynn has vowed to revisit the Old World soon, but never again as part of a tour group.

Paris was the last stop, and an exciting seat mate from Paris to New York was Sol Steinburg, author and cartoonist for the New Yorker magazine.

Presently working at Parkland Hospital in Dallas, Lynn will return to T.W.U. School of nursing for her fourth and final year this fall.

Following her graduation and State Board Examinations she will report for 6 weeks indoctrination for U.S. Naval Nurses at Rhode Island. From she will serve three years in Naval Hospitals, possibly working for a master's degree in psychiatric nursing.

Sterling County to Get Assistance

Washington, D.C.—Congressman Omar Burleson today announced that the U. S. Department of Agriculture is offering emergency conservation assistance in 18 additional counties in Texas to help repair damage caused by severe drought and wind erosion. The counties are Bandera, Caldwell, Coke, Concho, Duval, Fayette, Gonzales, Karnes, Lavaca, Mason, McCulloch, Nueces, Palo Pinto, Starr, Sterling, Webb, Wilson, and Zapata.

An allocation of $360,000 has been made to the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) State Committee for use in sharing with farmers in the 18 counties the cost of drilling wells and constructing pipelines and other facilities to provide water for livestock and to permit grazing where pasture forage exists.

Today's allocation brings to $6,810,000 the amount allocated during 1971 to the Texas ASC State Committee for use in sharing with farmers the cost of carrying out practices to combat drought.

Emergency conservation assistance is designed to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to alleviate conditions resulting from a natural disaster and to restore agricultural lands to productive capacity.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By Omar Burleson, Member of Congress, 17th District

Washington, D. C.—The Ways and Means Committee is now in the 4th week of hearings on the President's revenue sharing proposal.

This idea has heretofore been discussed in this column but as governors, mayors, other officials and organizations testify, one sitting there can conjure up all sorts of situations—like this one.

The government man pulls up in front of the Joad shanty on the eastern slope of the Appalachians. Jude and Judd Joad hurry down the rickety porch steps to meet him.

"Did you bring us that $160 promised by the President on the radio?" Jude asked.

"Now Jude," said her husband, "don't be in such a hurry and don't get your hopes too high." The government man said, "What $160?"

Jude had heard on the radio that the President takes in $200 billion a year and, being the fine man he is, aims to share $16 billion with the folks he took it from.

"Now Mr. Pugg down at the schoolhouse just figured that every man, woman and child in the country would be entitled to $80 each. Between me and Judd that comes to $160. That's more money than we make and with that I can get some gingham curtains for the windows."

"I see," said the government man, "you're referring to the President's Revenue Sharing program but I am afraid it does not mean that you get the cash directly. The plan is to share some of the Federal Government's money with the states and cities. Many of them seem to be about broke and greatly in need." "Well I guess they need it more than we do," said Judd. "We only owe $37.15 down at the store and I guess we can pay it some time." "The idea is said the Government Man, 'that if money is given to the states and cities, local people can better understand local needs and know how to better spend the money.' Well, said Jude, 'nobody is more local than Judd and me. We have lived on this farm for 50 years and we know what need is.

"-Yea," said Judd, "I can't rightfully speak for all poor folks but our biggest need is money. Money is the surest way to cure poverty." Jude asked the Government Man if the state, county or some other official of that local government who was going to get money from Washington would send them some.

"No, not directly. They send it to the communities where applicants will be investigated to determine what the need is," said the Government Man. "If you qualify, you may get some."

"See, Judd, we are going to get that $160 after all. I guess I can just go ahead and order them curtains. Now hold on a little, Jude. I've been figuring a little. It takes a 11-cent stamp to get that $160 from Washington, then they got to hire people, and that don't come cheap, to see how to spend that $159.89. It will take a 8-center to get the $98.84 out here to the mountains. Then they have got to hire two fellers at $200 a week and then pay for . . .

Jude's thin shoulders drooped. Well, Judd, maybe for the time I can just get a little piece of blue hair ribbon instead of the curtains.

Revenue sharing, the idea of a guaranteed family income and some of the other ideas of welfare, tend to hold out some false hopes for the people like the Joads and opens up all sorts of schemes for those who had rather live on welfare than to earn their own way.

Highway 158 Work Begun

The Texas Highway Department has announced a new construction project on State Highway 158, 4 miles west of Sterling City. The construction will consist of widening the North Concho River bridge and approaches. The contractor, Ferrier Brother Bridge Company of Seymour, stated that construction began June 14, 1971 and they estimate the work to be completed by September, 1971.

H. L. Bailey, Supervising Resident Engineer, in charge of construction on this project, explained that traffic will be routed over the existing bridge during the widening process. Although traffic will continue to use the existing bridge and pavement at all times, motorists should use extreme caution while passing the construction area which will be zoned for a maximum speed of 45 miles per hour. Cooperation of the public is requested in obeying all traffic signals, warning signs, and speed zones.

For Social Security

Social security benefits were being paid to residents of Sterling County at a rate of $14,000 a month at the close of 1970, J. M. Talbot, social security manager, said today.

A benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on March 17 raises the monthly rate of payment by 10 percent for most of the 168 social security beneficiaries in Sterling County, Mr. Talbot added. A small number of beneficiaries over age 72 who are not receiving social security cash benefits will get a 5 percent increase.

The increased benefit amounts were made effective back to January 1, 1971. First checks in the new monthly rate reached beneficiaries on June 3, Mr. Talbot said. Separate checks representing the amount of the increase for the months of Jan. through April were mailed later in June.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Sterling County, 113 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 37 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 14 are getting benefits as disabled workers or their dependents.

Mr. Talbot pointed out that although most social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60. In Texas, 1,276, 977 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. Nearly 194,000 are under age 18, receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits. Most of the 32,934 beneficiaries in Texas between 18 and 22 years of age are getting students' benefits under a provision in the social security law permitting the continuation of a child's benefits beyond his 18th birthday, and up to age 22, if the child is attending school full-time and is unmarried.

Also in this 18-22 age group, Mr. Talbot said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that the social security program provides workers of all ages. A number are children of retired, disabled or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to work and become self-supporting. The monthly benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely. Benefits are also payable to their mothers if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Mr. Talbot said that another relatively small or significant group of youthful security beneficiaries are those receiving benefits as disabled workers. Social security disability payments can be paid to a person who becomes disabled for work even if he has less than 5 years of work under social security. As little as 1½ years of work is required in the case of a worker who becomes disabled before age 24, Mr. Talbot said.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo at 949-4608.

NEWS OF ECOLOGY

SCOUTS GIVE TRASH THE SACK

Three billion dollars! That's the estimated annual bill Americans are paying for public collection and disposal of garbage and solid waste — the third most expensive community service in the land. . . which is exceeded only by spending for highways and schools.

Concerned citizens, of course, can make significant contributions to cleaning up this national mess. As in Watertown, N. Y., where the initiative of the Environmental Systems Division of St. Regis Paper Company and a local Boy Scout Council is currently leading the way.

Recently, the more than 500 Boy Scouts of Jefferson and Lewis County launched an intensive environmental clean-up campaign to make their community a better place in which to live.

Soliciting the aid of the 30,000 homeowners in their area, the Scouts began their drive with the sale of St. Regis disposable refuse sacks. In addition to their 30-gallon capacity and convenience, these sacks were selected because — unlike plastic sacks — they will break down in sanitary land fill without adding to our ecological problems.

Watertown homeowners who purchase these sacks separate paper, cans, rags, metal, returnable bottles and miscellaneous glass. Then, free of charge, the Scouts pick up the differentiated sacks and dispose of them in ways compatible to our ecology. Glass bottles, for example, are sold for recycling; bio-degradable trash is sent to land fill sites. Provisions have even been made to tow away abandoned automobiles.

The best part about the program is that everyone profits. The community gets a cleaner environment; the Scouts get the credit for a job well done — and the modest proceeds from selling the sacks and whatever trash they can. . . for the support of other worthwhile Scouting programs.

Now — what are you doing in your community?

LIONS CRIPPLED CHILDRENS' CAMP

Members of Lions Clubs throughout Texas this month are pausing to pay recognition to their camp for crippled children which has given over 12 thousand handicapped youngsters a new dimension since it was opened in 1953.
 The camp, located at Kerrville in the Hill Country of Central Texas, is free to crippled, blind, deaf or mute children from the ages of seven through sixteen. The 17 permanent buildings and other improvements dotting the 504-hill-side acres represent an investment of more than $700,000.
 At the camp, these youngsters who have been denied a normal childhood through no fault of their own learn to shed their shyness imposed by their handicaps. By mutual association with other handicapped children and by skillful and gentle counseling, these youngsters have found the freedom to grow, mentally and spiritually, into useful citizens of tomorrow.

Water Can Be Tested for Salinity

The school now has the chemicals on hand to test well water for salinity — salt water content. So says Fred Igo, local vocational agricultural teacher. If landowners want to keep a check on the salt content of their water wells, they can bring a sample in for testing. Cost of the test is only 50c, which will defray cost of the chemicals used, said Igo.

Health Department Column

A practical course on emergency care and transportation of the sick and injured to be held in the San Angelo area is scheduled July 13, 14, 15, 20, 21, and 22, 1971, in the cafeteria of Central High School, 100 Cottonwood in San Angelo. Registration will begin July 3, at 7:00 p.m. Sessions will run from 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Invited to attend the six-night course of lectures and demonstrations are ambulance attendants, policemen, firemen, safety engineers, rescue squads, nurses, public health officials, civil defense officials, and other officials and private citizens interested in emergency care. The course is offered free of charge and is expected to attract attendance from a seventy-five mile area around San Angelo.

The State Department of Health and the Tom Green Eight-County Medical Society are co-sponsoring the program.

The death rate from accidental injuries can be reduced by improved training of emergency personnel. A fast ride to the hospital is no substitute for appropriate attention to the victim at the scene of the emergency, according to Dr. Robert Franken a San Angelo physician who is program chairman for the training school.

Emergency care personnel must be able to make a quick survey, determine medical priority, and take the necessary life-saving measures. The urgency of this need is expressed all across the country, and physicians and other medical personnel from throughout the state of Texas are giving their time to provide the necessary knowledge to erase the senseless statistics of dead and disabled which appear needlessly each year. Students in this program will learn techniques in resuscitation, cardiac massage, splinting of fractures, and other medical emergencies. Aid to snake and spider bite victims, handling of emotionally disturbed patients, emergency childbirth and traffic control will also be covered.

Social Security Tips

"School began early for some teachers last year," J.M. Talbot, social security manager, said today.

Mr. Talbot went on to say that teachers who are social security retirement beneficiaries usually receive checks for the three summer months of school vacation. Last year, many schools made a change in the school year, which extended workshops and the administrative year. This extension means that teachers could receive social security checks for two summer months instead of three.

Most teachers earn too much during a calendar year to receive social security benefits each year; so benefits work in June, July, and August. Usually, teachers do not receive their benefits until the following year. But, in 1970, many teachers came back to work in mid-August because of the change in the school year. Since these teachers would've earned over $140 in August, no social security check could be paid for that month.

If a person earns $1680 or less during a year—whether the earnings are from wages or self-employment or a combination of both—he is entitled to all his social security benefits for the year. If his earnings exceed $1680 and he is under age 72 for any part of the year, one dollar in social security benefits must be withheld for every two dollars of earnings up to $2880. If his earnings exceed $2880, one dollar of benefits must be withheld for every dollar earned above the $2880.

Even if he earns well over the amount which would allow some benefits to be paid, he can still get a check for months in which he neither earns over $140 in wages nor renders substantial service in business.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P.O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo at 949-4608.

Senator Bentsen's Column

By Lloyd Bentsen

The twin subjects of unemployment and inflation were topics of legislative conversation in Washington during the past week, following the release of two sets of statistics by the Federal government.

One was a report showing that unemployment in the nation has risen to 6.2 percent of the nations work force. The second, a few days later, was the report that inflation continues unabated, with the rate now running at 6 percent per year—which means that it costs six percent more to pay for the necessities of life.

As a member of the Joint Economic Committee of the Congress, I have heard a great deal of testimony on the Nation's economy. There is a basic difference in opinion concerning the way the Federal government should approach the concurrent problems of inflation and unemployment. One school of thought believes that the government should seek to have influence on the economy simply by regulating the supply of money.

Another group of economists believes the government should be more activist in economic philosophy, that it should provide pump-priming for business, legislation to encourage infusion of funds to provide more jobs, and controls over prices and wages.

I believe that the continued high unemployment remains a human tragedy, because I believe that this country has the need and must provide the means in order that everyone who wants to work can have a job. We need only look around at the desperate needs for work in the environmental field, the great need for additional medical and paramedical personnel, the dire need for the type of service and facilities that people want.

Certainly, this nation is great enough, and we have the talent and the abilities sufficient to resolve the problems of making the needs for work meet the demands of those who need work.

I believe that it is much better to provide the means for meaningful work than it is to permit the welfare rolls to continue to swell to unimaginable proportions. I still believe that most people still believe in the dignity of work, and want to produce and work, if they just have the opportunity.

The government's role must be in guiding the economy in the direction of full employment.

One positive step which the Federal government can take is to adopt investment credits, similar to the seven percent investment credits which sparked the growth in the 1960's. I believe the present Administration in not being practical in its approach to encouraging investments to provide more jobs.
