Livestock Showmanship Program Held

Sterling County 4-H and FFA members enjoyed good weather for the livestock showmanship and fitting program sponsored by the Livestock Show Association Saturday. Purpose of the program was to give the youngsters instructions in fitting and showing their livestock at the coming livestock shows they will be participating in here and elsewhere. Showmanship contests were held following the instructions from Dr. George Ahlschweide, Extension Sheep specialist at San Angelo, and Dr. Tom Woodward, Area Livestock Specialist also at the San Angelo Texas A&M Center.

Winners in the first class in lamb showmanship, those members in the 4th, 5th, 6th grades, were: first, Deborah Miller; second, Wesley Hodges; third, Craig Foster; fourth, Delmar Radde Jr. fifth, Greg Davis; and a participant ribbon to Lonnie Horwood. Class two winners, 7th, 8th, 9th grades were: first, Charles Blanek; second, Carl Igo; third, Becky Hodges; fourth, Bobby McClure; fifth, Larry Horwood; and participant ribbons to Fred Thompson, Eddie Probandt, Lenard Horwood, Melanie McEntire, Scott Davis, Bruce Schovajsa, Loren Cantrell. Class three, 10th grade and up, winners were: Mike Bowen, first; J.C. Schovajsa, second; Melinda Terry, third; Amy Hodges, fourth; Lee Fleming, fifth; and participant ribbons to Victor Probandt, Benny Radde, and Paula Radde.

There were two classes in the beef cattle showmanship contest. Winners in the first class, the juniors, were: first, Lenard Horwood; second, Deborah Miller; third, Lonnie Horwood; fourth, June Humble. The senior class was all those in high school.—Charles Blanek, first; Larry Horwood, second; Lisa Horwood, third; Susie Humble, fourth.

The awards were for the first place winners in each class in addition to the ribbons were a wool card in the lamb showmanship classes and a scotch comb and pocket-size root brush for the steer class winners. To encourage participation, the Show Association sponsored the barbecue meal for the members of the two groups who participated.

Following the barbecue, Woodward and Aschweide presented training in grooming the two types of animals for show. Included in the training was a discussion on what to look for in each type of animal and how to emphasize these qualities when grooming the animal for show.

The training in fitting and showmanship will be put to use with some of the members showing at the Odessa Show this week and all will put it to use at the Sterling County Show to be held on Monday, January 20.

Gas Rate Hike in Effect Here

The Ramgas Company that is the natural gas supplier for the city here, had asked for a rate increase in November of 53%. In December, the city council granted an increase of 45% and that increase was in effect on the December reading bills. Most of the bills were up, due to colder weather and the increase and the 33 day time in the readings, it was said by a company official.

The increase was asked for to bring the company's return on their investment to 8%, which is allowed by the laws regulating public utilities in the state.

JIMMY WATSON Has Kidney Removed

Jimmy Watson, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Watson of Sterling City, had a kidney removed at the Shannon Hospital Tuesday morning of this week. Jimmy had injured the kidney on the Sunday following Christmas while riding a motorcycle on the track ground just northeast of the school. He was taken to the Angelo hospital for treatment and it was thought that the kidney was getting better. But this week, Dr. Porter decided it would have to come out. He was reported to have stood the operation well and was doing o.k.

Lions Hear Milford Wiley Talk

Milton Wiley, Sterling High School basketball coach, spoke to the Lions Club luncheon on Tuesday noon in the Community center. He gave an optimistic report on the Sterling players.

The club members gave Herb Edwards, who is leaving, a hand for his work in the club and the community affairs here. He is going into the narcotics division of the Department of Public Safety. He has been stationed here several years as a highway patrolman. Herb coached the pony league baseball team here and worked in club activities.

Mike Kisco and Patrolman Bob Browne were guests.

Howard Cudd acted in the absence of President Bill Watts. GOLF TOURNAMENT HERE SATURDAY

Jack Peel announced that there would be a golf tournament here this Saturday, January 11, beginning at 12 o'clock noon that day. All who want to enter are asked to contact Jack Peel or any member of the tournament committee, said president Bobby Dodds. It is planned as an ABC tournament.

Salvation Army Fund Drive Here

Rev. Roy H. Wold, who is now serving as the chairman of the local Salvation Army Service Unit, announces that the campaign for funds for use in the local and area work is underway. Part of the money used locally was given at the Thanksgiving Service recently, and now volunteer workers are contacting others and the drive will continue through January 17.

If you are not contacted by that date and want to give, you may do so by depositing money for the fund with Mary Helen Reed, at the bank. She is local treasurer of the fund.

The funds raised will be used to help the less fortunate to help themselves. Local aid will be given in the form of groceries, clothing, shoes, rent, utilities, or any other form deemed necessary by the local committee. Part of the money will be used to support the state agencies (which are available to local citizens when needed. There are many some include the Home and Hospital for Unwed Mothers, Rehabilitation Centers for Alcoholics and Drug Addicts, Summer Camp for Boys and Disaster Services.

If you know of a need in the community contact the Rev. Wold at 378-3891.

Some of the campaign workers are Tom Asbill, Albert McGinnes, Henry Bauer, Roland Lowe, Mrs. Trinabeth Johnson, Rev. C. A. Tucker, Rev. Tragott Vogel, Ross Foster, Howard Cudd, Mrs. Bobby Myrick and James Thompson.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Home Laundry

Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying.
Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

Too much detergent can clog machine and drains... always measure, don't guess! Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for your type equipment. Mixing brands of detergents can cause graying of clothes.

Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!

AMERICA'S PEACEKEEPERS

HOW MARINE CORPS RESERVISTS PROTECT US

EMPLOYERS: HOW YOU CAN HELP

Perhaps you've seen them in a parade or during civic ceremonies. Some of them may live near you, some of them may work for you. Whatever your personal knowledge or contact has been, the Marine Reservists in your city are important to you and to the community. As civilians they hold jobs and contribute to the economic growth of the area. As Marines they help provide the security that makes it all possible—that permits our free society to prosper and grow under constitutional government. They are the kind of men who don't take freedom for granted, men who believe that America has a lot worth fighting for.

To a great degree, these Marines are able to maintain their high state of readiness because men like yourself have fostered a positive atmosphere for the concept of Reserve participation. Further contributions you can make are these:

- Assure Marine Reservists that they will not be penalized in hiring, promotion, transfer or the granting of other benefits because of their Reserve service.

- Permit them to attend their two weeks of summer training without charging this time to earned vacation.

- Pay the difference between their military and civilian pay during summer training, if the military pay is less.

- Give recognition to outstanding Reservist employees in company publications.

- If you have the opportunity, take the time to visit your Marine Reserve training center. Talk to the officers of the unit and learn firsthand what the Marines in your city do and how they do it. They will welcome your visit and appreciate your interest.

- As a taxpayer, remember that the cost of maintaining a Marine Reservist is only about ten percent that of a regular fighting man. But if these men of your community are ever needed, they'll answer the call as 100 percent Marines. There's no ten-for-one bargain involved. The Marines make up the difference—through the hard work and dedication they put into their training.

For details about the range of enlistment programs and opportunities in the Marine Corps Reserve, get in touch with a Marine Corps representative.

REWARD NOTICE

A reward of $500.00 will be paid by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association to any person (other than law enforcement officers) giving information causing the arrest and first conviction of any person or persons found butchering or stealing any sheep or lambs or goats belonging to any Association member in good standing. When 2 or more persons give information, the above sum will be divided at the discretion of the Board of the Association. When two or more defendants are involved in a single crime, the total reward is limited to $500.00, but the conviction of one defendant, even though the other defendants are acquitted will entitle the claimant or claimants to said sum of $500.00. All claims must be submitted within ninety (90) days following conviction. If upon conviction, a defendant confesses other thefts, no additional rewards will be paid. All decisions concerning the payment of such reward and the conditions of payment will be made by the Board of Directors of the Association.

NEWS OF EDUCATION

College Students: Bored of Education?

To many concerned parents, today's college students seem much less impressed with the importance of their education than were students of years ago. Sometimes, the students even seem bored.

But educators and psychologists point out—seriously, yet sometimes with a smile—that many college students today are learning far more at school than their parents ever did.

Today education is different. Not only do new teaching methods make learning easier and lots more effective, but also college is seen as a place for social—as well as academic—instruction.

Which is as it should be, when you consider that college is a mini-model of the tough outside world students will soon enough have to cope with and function in. And adjusting properly to that world is just as important and just as difficult as any course a school has to offer.

That's why so many students are getting involved with the running of their schools. The actuality of practical campus politics is a good deal more enlightening and instructive than classroom theories.

That's also why students seem to take their competitive sports more seriously than ever before. Trying to do one's best is very much a part of the outside world and these kids are very much aware of it. They play hard and work hard at keeping themselves fit with effective medications like Tinactin cream, solution and powder, which fight most fungus to kill and help prevent athlete's foot, that old college locker room nemesis.

Unfortunately, these kids—the good kids who make up the majority of this nation's student body—rarely make news on radio or TV. But their abilities and straight thinking have not gone unnoticed.

Each year, more and more of these grade-A students are being recruited by business and industry before graduation.

Which would indicate that they were far from bored with their college education.

CRACKING GETS THE RUBBING ALCOHOL OUT OF YOUR GAS TANK

What do a washing machine agitator, dog food, aspirin and perfume have in common?

Without propylene, one of the basic chemicals made from oil and natural gas, these and countless other everyday products could not be made.

Propylene holds a unique position as a chemical raw material. It is one of the most important petrochemical building blocks and is also a significant component of gasoline. Catalytic cracking of petroleum to make high octane gasoline produces large amounts of propylene. Last year, only one quarter of this or about 11.5 billion pounds of propylene was separated from the gasoline for chemical use.

Although this is a relatively small volume when compared to other petrochemical building blocks, propylene, an odorless, colorless gas, winds up in countless products vital to the comfort and well being of Americans and to the strength of their economy.

A very significant end-use application of propylene is isopropyl alcohol. Whether it's called 2-propanol, dimethyl carbinol, isopropanol or just plain IPA, this propylene-derived product is, in fact, the rubbing alcohol in your medicine chest.

The Many Uses of IPA

IPA, in addition to its use as a household antiseptic, is also an important ingredient in the manufacture of hydrogen peroxide, solvents, antistalling agents, dyes, aspirin, de-icing agents, surface coatings, insect repellent, printing ink, paint and varnish removers, latex paints and fuel additives.

Another major use of propylene is to make polypropylene, one of the most versatile plastic resins. Because of its superior physical properties—strength, resistance to work fatigue, chemical and heat resistance, colorability and flex strength—polypropylene is finding its way into applications that dispell the myth that plastics are only good for cheap toys and olive stabbers.

The medical field recently has discovered the many assets of polypropylene. Pacemakers and artificial hearts now have parts made of polypropylene. It is also used as through-the-bone marrow pins, screws, staples, and as sutures to close contaminated wounds. Polypropylene has other medical uses such as dentures, disposable hypodermic needles and syringes, test tubes, soap dishes, graduated basins and thermometer holders.

The appliance and automotive industries are using a great deal of polypropylene these days. For example, washing machine agitators, dishwasher innerliners and many other parts for major and small appliances are made of it.

When the Going is Tough

One of the most revolutionary uses is in car batteries. Most of the 1974-model U.S. cars now have batteries—and numerous other parts such as steering wheels, bucket seat backs and accelerator pedals—made of tough polypropylene.

Polypropylene fibers are being also used by the furniture and carpet industries because of their resistance to stains. And its toughness is causing polypropylene to become widely used in making cordage. These are just some of the many ways polypropylene is being used to provide better quality products for American consumers.

In addition to IPA and polypropylene and their many end-uses, propylene finds its way into synthetic rubbers, medicines, cosmetics, safety glass, food flavoring agents, adhesives, photographic chemicals, epoxy resins, leather tanning products, perfume, antifreeze, brake fluids, herbicides, dog food and poultry feed additives, nylon, wood preservatives, polishes, explosives and paper coatings.

When the many vital chemical applications of propylene are coupled with the fact that it is one of the components of gasoline that keeps the car engine running efficiently, it's easy to understand why propylene often is termed "lifeblood" for American industry.

Post roads got their name from the "posts" set out along them for the changing of horses. And post offices handled the mail—carried over these special post roads!
