AROUND THE COUNTY

ARTHUR BARLEMANN, JR. COUNTY AGENT

The San Angelo Stock Show last week ended the spring show circuit for Sterling County 4-H Club members. While you always wish the results had been better, the club members did fairly well in most areas of the show. The placings in most of the show appeared in the San Angelo paper to some extent but there were some members who did place and were not recognized.

In the market steer show, Cheryl Drennan showed the ninth Ipace lightweight Angus steer. June Humble showed the tenth place heavyweight Angus steer. Cheryl's steer was bred by Drennan and Sons and June's was bred by Mrs. Will Augustine, thus both were locally bred.

Lonnie Horwood showed the fifth place senior calf in the Hereford heifer show. Lenard Horwood had the fifteenth place summer yearling heifer.

In the commercial sale on Saturday morning, the lambs were sold for $52.50 per hundred with Armour Packing Co. getting them. Swift and Company as well as Montfort Packing Co. were pushing the bids.

The steers were bought by Handy Packing Company. The lightweight steers sold for $35.15 the medium weights for $35.60, and the heavyweights for $34.75.

Amy Hodges was selected as the outstanding showman in the Junior Rambouillet Breeding Sheep Show. She was awarded a very nice plaque by the Jones Plating Company.

Two Sterling County 4-H Club members have made application for two very nice trips this summer for 4-H Club members. The trips are educational trips with the club members paying their own expenses.

Melinda Terry has been accepted for the 4-H Citizen Ambassador Program. This trip is a thirty-eight day trip to various countries in Europe. Two days will be spent in Washington, D.C. for sightseeing and briefing. She will spend three days each in Belgium, France and Germany; four days in Denmark, and Switzerland; five days in Holland; and, six in England and Russia (Moscow and Leningrad). In Germany, Holland, and England, she will stay in homes; in the other countries she will stay in hotels, boarding schools and the like.

Becky Hodges has made application for the National 4-H Citizenship Shortcourse and Bicentennial Heritag Tour. Approval of the applications for this trip will be made in early April. This is a fourteen day tour which includes six days in Washington, D.C. at the National 4-H Center. The other eight days are spent in visiting historical sites between Dallas and Washington.

Melinda's trip will be by plane while the other is by bus.

The private landowner—the farmer and rancher—has the greatest stake in environmental management, yet the decision making control of his land is gradually slipping from his grasp. To help inform the agricultural producer just where he stands with respect to environmental management, a major portion of this year's Texas Animal Agriculture Conference is being devoted to this key issue.

Bill Atwood Jr. Speaks Out on Webb A.F. Base

I think it is sad when a nation the size of ours doesn't have the money to maintain our defense system. I don't think there is sufficient reason to close an Air Base that is so vital to our area of West Texas. This would be a tremendous loss to Big Spring, Texas, and to the 63rd district. From an economic standpoint closing Webb Air Force Base would cost Big Spring 40 million dollars annually. We must think of the people who built apartments for housing of Webb personnel the businesses that cater to Webb, the jobs of civilian personnel, the whole thing is a bad situation. Our nation should be building up our defense instead of tearing down. I refer back to Roosevelt when he said—carry a big stick and speak softly. I am not at present your State Representative, but I can assure you that if I am elected in the May 1 election I will immediately go to work from the state and district level and join with the appropriate leaders to try to keep open or get reopened Webb Air Force Base.

Insur-Mation

By Thurston McCutchen

We are going to have a niece live with us for a couple of years while she goes to school. Is she covered while driving one of our cars under our Family Automobile Policy?

Under a Family Automobile Policy the word 'insured' is defined as the named insured and any resident of the same household or any other person using the owned automobile with the permission of the named insured. Therefore, as long as she is a resident of your household and has your permission, she is fully covered while driving one of your owned automobiles. However, due to the increase in the possibility of hazard and the length of time involved, it might be advisable to notify your insurance agent of the additional driver to alleviate any question in the event of loss.

Thanks for you past patronage.

"Play It Again, Sam"

OPENS MARCH 11 AT MCT

Comedian Woody Allen's gleeful farce, PLAY IT AGAIN, SAM, will be the second entry in Midland Community Theatres thirtieth season. This Broadway comedy hit opened on March 11, for nine performances.

The comedy's unusual title comes from a line in the movie CASABLANCA, starring Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman. It is actually a mis-quote, however. Bogart's line is simply, 'Play it, Sam'. Nevertheless, PLAY IT AGAIN, SAM is Allen's choice for the title.

The plot centers on timid, neurotic film critic, Allan Felix, a would-be Lothario whose success with the opposite sex is minimal. His wife has left him. All his former girl friends have gone on to other men. Even the women in his fantasies reject him.

He is left with only three social contacts—a married couple who are his best friends and the ghost of Humphrey Bogart. Bogart is Felix's film hero. In fact, he is watching 'The Maltese Falcon' as the play begins. Bogart's ghost materializes at crucial times to give Felix advice on 'how to handle dames.'

Memberships for MCT's 1976 season will be on sale through the run of this play and will end with the last performance. Including PLAY IT AGAIN, SAM there are five more productions on the '76 schedule. Box office prices to SAM are $2.50 and $4 for non-members, and to the production, THE FANTASTICKS in April, musical prices will prevail, $4 and $5. Membership to MCT represents a saving of over 50% over box office prices.

WEDDING and Commercial Photography. Excellent work, reasonable rates. Call 263-6710 in Big Spring.

NEWS OF ECOLOGY

ALUMINUM STRETCHES ENERGY RESOURCES

Now that pollution clean-up is underway, environmental concern seems to be shifting to energy supply. Some ecologists worry about America's accelerating use of fuels — coal, oil, gas and uranium.

These basic sources of energy, burned directly or transformed into electricity, propel all vehicles, heat and cool our homes, run appliances, cook and refrigerate foods and power our industries.

The use of aluminum, an environmentally thrifty metal, stretches fuels and energy, the people at Reynolds Aluminum point out.

"Aluminum does not deteriorate and is easily recycled with little expenditure of energy," said Dr. Robert F. Testin, director of environmental planning for Reynolds. "That makes it an energy bank that can be drawn upon again and again. When long-lasting aluminum products are finally discarded, melting them down for refashioning into new products takes less than 5 per cent of the energy used to make the aluminum originally."

Because it is so light — only one-third the weight of steel, copper or brass — aluminum provides a greater quantity of material per ton. "This phenomenon stretches the energy used in making aluminum products, as a ton of aluminum yields two to three times more items than are obtained from a ton of other materials," according to Dr. Earl E. Patterson, who heads up Reynolds metallurgical research.

An example of Dr. Patterson's point is beer and soft drink containers. A ton of steel produces 15,400 steel cans, and a ton of glass makes 5,000 bottles, but a ton of aluminum results in 32,680 all-aluminum cans.

An article in the Reynolds magazine reveals many other ways aluminum conserves energy.

Transportation of all kinds consumes 30 per cent of America's energy supply. The light metal cuts fuel consumption in all kinds of vehicles — aluminum highway trucks, automobiles with their aluminum parts, aluminum railroad cars, aluminum boats and ships with aluminum superstructures. The 1973 autos average about 78 pounds of aluminum per car.

In heating and air conditioning, which take 27 per cent of the energy supply, aluminum insulation and ducts, because of their high heat reflectivity, cut fuel consumption.

Durable aluminum siding, windows and other construction items greatly reduce use of resources and energy in maintenance, repair and replacement. The article points out that aluminum will not rot or warp, and is immune to red rust, mildew and termites.

In cooking, the rapid heat conductivity of aluminum pots and pans — six times faster than steel, for example — conserves electricity and gas. In the refrigerator, foods in aluminum foil chill or freeze quicker than when wrapped in paper or plastic film, saving electricity.

The public depends on aluminum electrical cable for low-cost delivery of electricity to the home. Replacing expensive copper, aluminum cable has lowered everybody's electrical bills.

BILL ATWOOD JR. Wants to Work for You

I am a candidate for State Representative of the 63rd district of the State of Texas. I've been asked many times what I'm going to try to do in our State Capitol. At this time I cannot and will not make any promises, but I am going to try to represent you to the best of my ability. Our district has not been efficiently represented for 20 years and it is time for the district's people to start getting their share's worth in our Capitol. We have many bureaucrats in office. Our unneeded bureaus and agencies cost us the taxpayers, thousands of dollars each year. We should be able to cut taxes instead of adding new ones. We don't want any new taxes. A lot of our tax money goes for things like studying why a bird flies, which we all know that it has wings, so why spend our money to tell us that. It costs 15 million dollars a day for our government in the State of Texas to operate. There is not one agency in our state government that knows even how many people work for the state, however, in 1975 there was a 36% increase in employees. If we cut down on bureaus, we also will limit government control, but yet our legislators sit around thinking of new ways to spend more money.

GUN CONTROL: I will never vote for gun control. Gun control would do nothing except leave innocent people defenseless. Our legislators are going to fool around and pass a bill for gun control unless we get more people in office that will not accept gun control. Gun control almost passed in the last session. The best method against crime would be to make stiff mandatory sentences for crimes related to guns. I will not only vote no for gun control, but will try to convince other legislators who voted yes last time to vote no this time.

WELFARE: Welfare takes its chunk of our money. Welfare is a good thing if used properly. Our needy and senior citizens need some assistance. Welfare was meant for three reasons. The reasons are—

1. To help the needy.
2. People medically unable to work.
3. For people laid off their jobs until they find new jobs.

What happened to welfare? Most of the needy do not get welfare. The people who receive welfare who are able to work never find new jobs. Under rules and regulations set up for welfare under our federal government, someone can and needs to take the initiative to cut down on welfare at the state level. I will take the initiative and try to work welfare problems out and save the taxpayers dollars. Under our present state penal code a person who obtains $200 dollars illegally can be convicted of a felony and sent to prison. A person can obtain $10,000 dollars illegally from welfare and only get a misdemeanor fine. We need to make welfare fraud a felony charge.

SOCIAL SECURITY: I want to try to make sure people who work hard and pay social security all their life that they will receive back what they put into social security.

WORKING PEOPLE: I want to work in our capitol for the working man and woman. We need to protect ourselves against higher utility rates and inflation. They should receive higher wages, and combat against higher prices for material things.

AGRICULTURE: Agriculture has no voice in our state government. I have an uncle who works hard in our capitol for improvements in agriculture. He wants me to be elected so that with his help and my help and others help we just might be able to get some improvements for agriculture, and a stronger voice in our state capitol. I am not unaware of the problems facing agriculture. We have land and cattle ourselves.

I sincerely hope you will vote Bill Atwood Jr. in the May 1 election so that we can put common sense back into the hands of our people. You cannot represent the people efficiently unless you keep them informed and know what they think is best for them and the industries of our district and West Texas
 Thank You—BILL ATWOOD JR.

USE LAST YEAR'S RAIN FOR GRASS GROWTH

By Fred Stumberg
SCS Range Conservationist

It's not difficult during this dry spell to hear the concern in many are ranchers' voices when they ask when it's going to rain again. Of equal importance to when it rains is how long that moisture will last once it gets here. Many ranchers are noticing that some of the deeper rooted grasses are greening up now. These grasses are using last summer's rain for this year's growth.

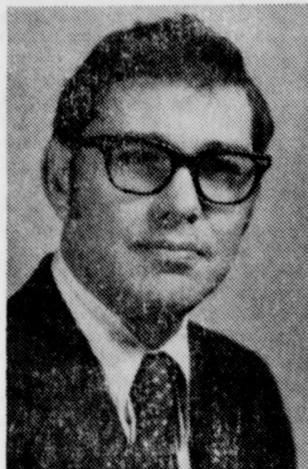

The size of the root system of a grass plant is indicated by the size of the plant above ground. A small grass such as Buffalograss has a short, matted root system that doesn't penetrate the soil very far. After a rain, it will be one of the first grasses to green up. But in a dry spell, it is also one of the first grasses to turn brown and lose its forage value.

A tall plant, such as Caneblestem or Sideoats grama, has a deep penetrating root system that can pull water from up to four feet below the soil surface. When grass such as Buffalograss has long dried up and lost much of its protein, these grasses are still producing feed that is high in protein value. In an area that receives an average of 18 inches or rain per year like we do, the larger plant will naturally be grazed the hardest. It is greener and has more protein in it for the longest period of time.

This brings up the problem of how to keep those tall grasses from being grazed out. Several possible solutions are:

(A) Adjust stocking rates so that livestock won't compete heavily for the best forage.

(B) Leave stock out of a pasture for a summer periodically. Divide that herd into the remaining pastures on the ranch.

GERALD FOHN

Gerald Fohn Out for District Attorney

Gerald A. Fohn, appointed as 51st District Attorney by Gov. Briscoe following the resignation of Frank C. Dickey Jr., is an announced candidate to that office in the May 1 Democratic Primary. Fohn has the following to say concerning his candidacy:

—I have served as District Attorney since the retirement of Frank Dickey J. last year.

Before becoming District Attorney I served since 1973 as Assistant District Attorney of both the 51st and 119th Districts.

As District Attorney I recognize that Tom Green County is only one of the five counties to be served.

So that I can be available to serve the people of each county, I am implementing a new program that will set up office at least one day each month in every courthouse in the district.

With the arrival of an investigator on February 16, I am now putting the program into operation during the month of March.

I have taught law enforcement classes for peace officers throughout the Concho Valley region.

I am a graduate of the University of Texas School of Law, I am married to the former Dolores Fuchs of Vancourt, Texas. We have one son, Douglas, age ten months.

I will continue to carry out the duties of 51st District Attorney with enthusiasm, fairness and firmness. I appreciate the continuing support of the people of Sterling County.

Don't overgraze other pastures trying to rest one.

(C) Plan a flexible pasture rotation system that will fit your ranching operation. This will accomplish the above items automatically if it is properly designed.

These methods will relieve the grazing pressure on your taller grasses and give them a chance to out compete the shorter ones. For assistance in planning your grass management techniques, contact the local Soil Conservation Service.
