COMMITTEE

Trouble Avoided by the Proces

AT WASHINGTON Washington, July 12.—The Potter Committee met and Kellogg resumed the stand and testified that, in his opinion, had Presi-mittee met and Kellogg resumed the stand and testified that, in his opinion, had President Hayes recognized Packard by telegraph, immediately after the former's inauguration, and followed it up by an official recognition, as President Grant did his (Kellogg's) case, that the people of Louisiana, including Nicholls, would have created no trouble. General Grant had telegraphed witness a day or so before he went out of office, stating that he liad hesitated recognizing Packard in consequence of there having been a commission appointed to investigate the result of the Louisiana election.

Witness first heard of the Sherman letter last fall and was informed that Mrs. Jenks had got possession of it through her intimacy with the Weber family. She had called upon him in New Orleans, and had spoken of the Sherman letter. While explaining the contents of the documents, Mrs. Jenks sat on a sofa and pretended to be reading him the substance of the letter. Being very busy and not caring to be connected with the affair, he advised her to call upon Packard, which he believed she did, but he was unable to relate what had occured further than that Packard said he attached no importance to her conversation. Witness testified that in his opinion the statement made by James E. Anderson to the effect that he, Anderson, had been assaulted, was nothing more nor less than a conspiracy. He had requested Anderson to return to his parish, Witness pronounced Anderson's statements so far as related to him, Kellogg, as imagi-nation, and said E. L. Weber's statements re man in consultation with the returning board officers. He further testified that he did not know of any case where there was a false, forged or unfair protest or any other unfair election paper that was used before the returning board; also that there was no letter written by him in regard to the can-vass or action of the returning board he would not wish to be made public. Cross-examined by Mr. Cox in relation to his connection with with the Legislature and his absence from the Pickard Senate for ten days. Witness stated that his object was to elect Pinchback Unitad States Senator. Pinchback paid witness one thousand dollars for expenses. Witness then explained his return later to the Packard Senate and secared a portion of the ten thousand dollars for expenses. Witness then explained his return later to the Packard Senate and secared a portion of the ten thousand dollars of warrant on the State Treasury, received from Twitchell as a security of good fath to carry out the scheme of passing the appropriation bill of a half million dollars, out of which the insane asylum claims for ten thousand dollars, held by witness, were to be paid. Witness failing to get his claims cashed by reason of the collapse of the Packard government, retained the collaterals without being able to give any very definite reason why he should retain them. Witness said nineteen Packard Senators were interested in the half million scheme, and Packard promised that the bill when passed should become a law. Witness stated that he was a member of an association in the Senate in 1875 and 1876, which included

Montreal, July 12.—The city is in commotion, with great crowds in the principle streets. The military are marching to the rendervous on the Champs de Mars, and the police are assembled at the city hall. The Orangemen are determined to march and subsequently recovered, was executed to are now mustering at Orange hall, St. James street, which is descorated with their parade favors. The procession will be large, but the sympathizers in the streets are many. If a conflict occurs if will undoubtedly take place between Orange hall and Victoria square, where a dangerous element is collecting in masses.

Montreal, July 12.—At 9.30 the military marched from the Champs de Mars to various points where troops will be stationed during the day. The police and counstables are assessed between Flace de Mars and St. Lamberts hill, on St James street, which is kept clear. At eather end dense crowds of the etholic party, chiefly St. Jean Baptists and district village laborers, are dreadfully excited and every man with an Orange favor is permed.

The Mayor had an interview with the Orangemen and tried to persuade them not to walk, but they would not listen to his counsel.

Montreal, July 12.—11.30 A. M.—It is just decided that no procession shall take place. The police are to exceet the Orangemen to their home. An attack was made on an Orangeman in Orang street, but he was queltly rescued and did not sustain much injury.

New York, July. 12.—Dispatches from Montreal, dated 2 p. m., state that when I the Orangemen came out of the hall they tried to form a procession but experienced great difficulty and confusion, being surrounded by an immense mob. The military with fixed bayonets formed across the street and divided the mob. The Mayor's consorts dashed among the Orangemen and attested several whereupon the Orangemen returned to the hall. Shortly after the Mayor entered and asked the Orangemen if they were prepared to submit properly to the constituted authorities, and was answered yes. He then forbid procession is illegal and ordered the arrest of the grand marshal and several others. The Orangemen then decided to adjourn.

[To the Editor of The World.]

Among these letters were also two addressed to Governor Olinton from Margaret Livingston, one dated "Clornont, 19 Nov., 1778," and one dated "Clornont, 19 Nov., 1178," and one dated "Clornont, 19 Nov., lion rampant holding a sheaf of grain and supporting a staff surmounded with a hat. Other letters in the stamp cannot be deciphered with the naked eye. This letter is probably one of the carliest sent to the Council of New York for the National Congress. It has Governor Clinton's indorsement in filling.

The letter of Governor Clinton's indorsement in filling.

The letter of Governor Morris is also in an excellent state of preservation, and conveyed most important news to Governor Clinton, who had taken up his headquarters as Commander-in Chief in the field at New Windsor, Orange county, and demonstrated that the able and eloquent statesman and financier was disposed to arrange a campaign for the capture of General Clinton and the paral forges shove the Highlands. His advice was not taken; for history records that General Clinton moved his forces north up the Walkill Yalley, leaving Kington unprotected, causing the Legislature to adjourn and permitting General Vaughn to burn the fourn October 16.

John Jay's letter was addressed to Governor Clinton while he was allow Windsor.

tected, causing the Legislature to adjourn and permitting General Vaughn to burn the town October 16.

John Jay's letter was addressed to Governor Clinton while he was at New Windsor in the field. The Provincial Council had appointed Mr. Jay Chief Justice until the Legislature met, according to the Constitution. The Legislature having met and adjourned without providing for the continuance of that office, he seeks information upon the subject. Soon after he wrote this letter he was created Chief Justice by the Legislature, which had reassembled The General Scott mentioned in this letter will cause inquiry among students of our early history. The letter from Chancellor Robt. R. Livingston was probably addressed to a fell out, disclosing to the eyes of the astonished miner another ledge behind the sup-R. Livingston was probably addressed to a Supervisor of Columbia county, whose name it does not bear. Mr. Broom has presented the letters of Chancellor Livingston, Peter R. Livingston and Margaret Livingston to the Chancellor's great grandson, John R. Livingston, of Tivoli, N. Y. Ellenville, N. Y., June 18.

Chanseone, June 2, 1781.

Dear Sir: As I am informed that the Supervisors are about to meet, I must beg the favor of you to mention an inconvenience to which I have been subjected all the war and which I may been subjected all the war and which I may been subjected all the war and which I may personaded I used but mention to have remedied. My farm lies in two counties and in both my personal property is rated so that I pay double tax on my personal property. As I have no eatate in the county of Duchess but part of a small farm & a mill, I conceive that I sd only be rated for theurithere. I have hitherto payed the whole fax, but in order to avoid alteration in the future. I flatter myself it will not be asked from me, as the injustice of the demand is too obvious to need making any further observations thereon. I am, dr sir, your most obt, hum servt.

When you make an evening visit, and all commonplace subjects have been talked as threadbare as a pair of superannusted tramptrousers, the young lady of the establishment, Eunice or Matilda, as the case may be, will suddenly smile in a manner satisfying you that she has a made a startling discovery, and a moment later she will liop:

"Mither Whatever-your-manne-ith, have you theen my new album?"

If you are sharp you will settle the business at once by stating that you have. If you answer in the negative, she will bring it forth and show you its would-be gens of possey, which, as a rule, are of a painfully Kalamanoo style.

When you have eclipsed Amanias by praising the verses, her face is illuminated by a glow of flendish triumph enhanced by the levely smile which passes ever her rounded checks as his makes the a will request that you will contribute something.

Of course further sinking was abandoned, and attention directed to the new discovery, Of course further sinking was abandoned, and attention directed to the new discovery, which for convenience sake we will call a pocket, although the indications are that it is a rich paying ledge. A force of men were immediately pet'to work upon the newly discovered bonanza. Up to Wednesday morning $20,000 worth had been raised to the surface, as was estimated by competent disinterested judges. In order to convince himself whether the rich ledge he had struck was only a pocket or not, Mr. Wilkinson wont back up the decline a distance of forty feet, and in half a dozen places where the cas was picked away from between the timbers the same marvelously rick rock presented itself. The greatest excitement prevails in that neighborhood, hundreds of people going to see the new discovery. Some of the privileged fow who have been permitted to go down into the finding say that over $100,000 is already assured to the fortunate owners.
