The case of the State of Texas vs. Jose Cordova, Jr., occupied the entire time of the Court to-day, the lestimony being concluded shout dusk. Mr. Waithall opened the argument on the part of the State, followed by Judge Rosenheimer and 8 G. Newton, Esq., for the defense, Col. N. O. Green closing for the State,

The argument closed and the Judge charged the jury, who left the court room continued full of people anxious to hear the decision, but at 12-30 this morning word was brought that the jury were not Jeliberating but had quietly retired to hed, and a decision will probably be reached early this foreneon.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS COURT.

Bids for leasing the manual labor Poor Rouse were to-day opened, but no action was taken towards awarding the contract. Upon the basis of twenty-five inmates per day the bids are as follows per annum: Edgar, $4,140; Alston. $3,150; Danielle, $2,000; Lossiman, $3,500; Miller, $2,700. These bids do not include County Physicians or hospital steward's salaries, medicines for the sick, bedding or clothing, which in the aggregate amount to as much more as the part to be laused.

Two committee upon the atopuon of ungestions to be made to the next session of the legislature as to changes to be made in the sein laws in the State of Texas, have the henor to offer the following report. That Section 6 of the law be amended so as to read as follows: That each and every firm or person, lumber dealers, artisans, mechanic or laborer, who may labor upon or furnish unsterial, machinery, fixtures or tools, to erect any house or improvement, or to repair any house, building or improvement, whatever may, for one week's waysay more or loss, withheld or unpaid, or dir material of twenty-five dollars in value or more, remaining unpaid after me week's notice after delivery, by affidivit duly made before a justice of the pene, anjoin and stop further work upon and structure or improvement until the lages due for work or the amount due, for the material be paid.

That Section I be repealed and that hection 5 be amended in accordance with this recommendation. Respectfully submitted.

Yesterday morning a young man about 21 years of age called at the Expanse office and stated that he had but recently escaped from a four years captivity among the Apache and Comanche Indians, and was on his way to his home in Fannin county, Texas, where he had parents living. He was about six feet in height, well proportioned, had an intelligent countenance, and an easy, self-possessed manner, although for four years under not the most refining influences. His garb was unmistakably frontier in its character.

soon after the holiadys. The Rev. Mr. Thrall was also appointed on this commission, but owing to his removal to Corpus Christi, his place will be filled on the Board of Examiners. This is a very benificent and important offer on the part of the above named institution—which is sustained, as we understand, by that magnificent legacy of George Peabody—to any ambitious young man or lady who desires to consecrate a life for the upbuilding of the schools of this great commonwealth. Applicants and porsing interested in this matter can call at the Superintendent's office any day except Saturday, between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock p. m. the gave his name as S. M. Wills, and that four years ago, when but 17 years of age, hearing glowing accounts of frontier life, became one of a party of buffalo hunters on the Staked Plains. Game was plenty, and they were making money fast slaughtering the bison for its hide. This was in 1874, the season so many thousands of buffalo were killed. Becoming more venturesome, the party ponetrated to the heart of the plains and in close proximity to the Indians engaged in the same business. One day four of the party, among whom was young Wills, gave chase to a very fine herd of buffalo, and followed them a long distance, and many a fine bull fell victim to their unerring riffee. On a sudden they came upon a large party of Apache Indians in the same business, who upon seeing their natural foes, left the chase and attacked the white men. Wills was away from the other three men, and seeing them shot and scalped, surrendered at discretion without resistance. His youth as well aften from immediate death, and he was taken to camp, and a pow-wow held as to his future fate. He being a fine-looking boy, it was decitled to give him a chance for life by allowing him the doubtful privilege of auxning three the control without resistance. The fine of the party of the man chance for life by allowing him the doubtful privilege of auxning the biscrally rewarded by handing it to the owner at H.

The savages arranged themselves in two long lines, armed with arrows, spears, knives, tomahawks and clubs. Wells was stripped of his clothing, and being placed at the head of this almost certain avenue of death, started on his terrible race for life. Each savage, yelling at the top of his voice, made a deadly pass with his weapon as the poor boy fairly flew along the blood-thirsty pathway. The one who succeeded in hitting the prisoner was to have the disposition: of his fate, which is usually that of death by the most horrible show-torture that could be conceived which is usually that of death by the most horrible alow-torture that could be conceived in the breast of the brutal American savage. On, on, aped the fated youth, and a hundred deaths had already been passed, while the end of the terrible lane was rapidly approach-ing, when his strength failing and pace sheckening, a tomahawk buried itself in his hig, and he fell a victim to savage barbarity. SAVAGE MERCY.

Demonstrative first the areas the "noble red men" surrounded their fallen prey, eager to finish their hellish work. Fortunately the lucky captor conceived an admiration for the brave white boy and resolved to spare his life, at the same time claiming him as his especial property. Howas attired in Indian garb, underwent the exception of initiating as a "brave "was reasons." was attired in Indian garb, underwent the eeromony of initiation as a "brave, "war paint was applied, and he was now a "HEAP, mo wannion." Although ostensibly one of the tribe, nevertheless he was a prisoner, and the strictest guard over his movements was never withdrawn. He was privileged to hunt and fight, but always acknowledged ownership in the warrior who tomahawked him in his race for life. They were always on the move, and they traveled hundreds of miles up and down the plains and in the Rocky Mountains. The Apaches and Comanches at this time were at war, and his band meeting a party of Comanches, a battle cusued. He entered fully into the fight with his Apache "friends," and having his pony shot was

His varied experiences—priva-tions and hardships—would fill a volume, and are altogether too long to embody here.

Last summer the band got back to the Indian Territory and on the Texas border, and the hope of seeing his home again took strong hold of his mind, and he determined laid, and after the death of his horse he continued his journey on real, living a survival dogs and such other and Same as was prevurable, many times almost dying of thirst and starvation. Finally, in the latter part of August, he reached Fort Griffin, the first settlement he had been in for four years. Being entirely destitute he engaged as teamster, and as such has since been employed. A couple of days ago he arrived in San Antonio, having earned emough money to take him comfortably home, where he expects to arrive on Christmas, indeed, as he is believed to have been killed with the rest of the party, and has been mourned for as dead. He is filled with happy anticipations and a longing, anxious
