Special Agent to the War Department.

A Subversive Agent.

Houston, January 10.—The challenge of Dr. A. A. McFadden, a well known newspaper man of this place, to Sheriff McFadden, of Waller County, caused much commotion here, as it was of a personal nature and caused by some severe strictures made by each other. McFadden, a native Louisiana, opposite Orange, Texas, at the place, Weapons, etc., left to McFadden. It is thought that on account of the dispatch he made public McFadden will take no notice of the challenge.

McFadden has remained hereafter from fighting every person who got mad at him because he could not afford the time and expense, but will make McFadden's case known.

McFadden has not made known what course he will pursue.

DEATH OF U. S. MARSHAL CROWELL.

Special Dispatch to the Daily Express.

Fort Clark, January 10.—Many hearts were saddened this morning at the sad intelligence of the death of our most esteemed and honored citizen, United States Marshal J. C. Clegg. He was a native of Maine. Moving to Texas since the war and locating at Fort Clark he made this his home. His gentle and courteous manners invited and caused every one to love and respect him. He had noted in the frequency of sheriff at this place from 1873 up to the present year, in which capacity he gave unusual satisfaction. While in the strict performance of his duty, unfortunately, he contracted a fatal case of small-pox resulting in his untimely end. He was a competent and courteous officer, a living husband, a devoted and affectionate father. He leaves many to mourn the loss of the noble heart he carried. He will be buried to-morrow with masonic honors.

GALVESTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Special Dispatch to the Daily Express.

Galveston, January 10.—Nothing has been heard of Reed, the absconding cashier. An examination of his books makes the loss under $2,000,000. But there is a growing suspicion that the loss will be very heavy. Reed's staunchest friends are beginning to weaken. There was a small run on the bank again to-day, and it is rumored that nothing corresponds with withdrawing account from the bank.

REED.

The bark, G. C. Cochran, living in the office, was discovered on fire in the lower hold, yesterday afternoon. Five tons of lighters, damaged and lost from her hold, which contained 3,000 bags of cotton. She was 10 days from Galveston. The vessel is expected she will be unable to reach port.

SUPPOSED MURDERERS FOUND DEAD.

Special Dispatch to the Daily Express.

Dallas, January 10.—The two brothers, who are supposed to have murdered Thompson, have been found dead, each shot through the back. A team of horses and a lead mule from the rear drove so tamely in Sherman, last Wednesday evening, within a short distance of Dallas. There is no clue as yet to the murderer.

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB MEETING.

The report of the proceedings of the central republican club as published in the Express yesterday was not satisfactory to some of the members of the club. One or two gentlemen called at the Express office yesterday morning to complain, and it is interesting in many particulars. Our reporter, who takes things down just as they happen, to satisfy the public that this report was correct, called upon Mr. Stemmerling and other prominent members of the club to determine their opinion about it, feeling sure they would vouch for its correctness. Mr. Stemmerling's answer to the reporter's question was, "It was a fair, square, truthful report of what came out with the club." Our reporter was not at all different from this. The truth is, some members of the club felt ashamed of themselves after they saw their conduct painted in black and white and placed before a critical and intelligent public.

Two colored men, Josh and Gabe, met near our office last evening and indulged in the following brief discussion:

"Josh—'Tain't no use to be here, I don't have no money to pay the rent."

"Gabe—Dude, you're a bad boy, you don't have no money to pay the rent."

HUMPTY DUMPTY.

The Nick Roberts Humpty Dumpty troupe appeared in the Casino last evening to a very large and noisy audience. The entertainment afforded was good, and kept the audience in continuous applause and laughter. The clowns, Grimaldi and Drimoni, were great sources of delight. The singing, dancing, trapéze, acrobatics and comedy, while introduced in the pantomime, remained, especially tended to interest and astonish all. This is the first visit of a great pantomime troupe, and we were glad to observe that so many young persons, to appreciate the comic fun that last evening's entertainment afforded New Orleans to programme to night.

BIRTH OF L. C. CROWELL.

This telegram has been received, dated last night, from Mr. C. Crowell, sheriff of Kinney county, from San Antonio:

"Mr. Crowell was at the time of his death a deputy U. S. marshal. Young, vigorous, faithful and brave, he stood up in the wild and lawless heart of the country, and was a man of no criminal record. As a sheriff, there were none more efficient and勇敢 than he. Dignified and gentlemanly in his bearing, he merited the respect of all. His death will be deeply deplored by every one who knew him, and by more than half the good people of the county of Kinney."

OUR SHEEP GROWING INTEREST.

Days Boring on Sheep Ranch in South West Texas—Figures Will Not Lie.

Since writing an article last spring on the "Frods of Sheep Raising in Texas," I have received numerous letters of inquiry regarding sheep, and pertaining to the business in this country. Among them was one from Scotland asking foolish questions about the opinion about it, feeling sure they would vouch for its correctness. Mr. Stemmerling's answer to the reporter's question was, "It was a fair, square, truthful report of what comes out with the club." Our reporter was also in Chicago asking similar questions. From the tone of these letters, I get the idea that most of the people in the cold states have but few practical knowledge of the subject, and of the sheep business as conducted here.

These facts have induced me to offer some remarks under the above head. My object is to give in a concise and condensed manner all the actual happenings of an average day in the life of a sheep rancher, and to show up the pros and cons as they generally occur, giving the day as of the month and month. I have no pecuniary object in view, but to give a general idea of the facts. I have no raised heads in soil, nor sheep, nor am I interested in any railroad company, as the Texas Sun. I simply offer these remarks to benefit those whom they may. I am only interested to see our countrymen make a success of their business, and to help them in every way possible.
