DEATH OF ROBERT CAYLE

Had Fate of an Old Citizen of San Antonio

The day before yesterday, Robert Cayle, a Mexican war veteran, and an old citizen of San Antonio, was upon our streets. He had been drinking in excess, and as a result, accounts was observed in a very intoxicated condition.

Robert Cayle was a Englishman by birth, and the son of a Englishman minister of Darlington, England. When a mere boy he ran away from home, stowed himself away in the hold of a vessel, and eventually landed in America. Finding his way to Texas where a struggle, he floundered his labor with those who straggled for the independence of this country, and was the holder of a brave soldier.

After the war he ended in San Antonio, Texas, where he was informed that a letter from his old English home was in the hands of one of his citizens, to be opened in five days. He was informed that a letter from his old English home was in the hands of one of his citizens, to be opened in five days.

On Prof. Sprague, an itinerant ventriloquist and grand fraud, is traveling through Texas at the present time, and is begging the people with his great pretensions as a "prestidigitator-comedian." He gets up an elaborate bill and floods every town or village he enters with several copies of his hand with copies of it, promising all kinds of presents to his victims from chamber pots to a pair of shoes.

Many a citizen may desire to know the names of all the judges who have held office in the past, and who were the judges and justices in the past. Both parties were represented in the election, and the Mexican band, and the Irish supporters, a colored band. The former paraded the streets in numbers, and serenaded Mr. French, Mr. Lewis Grant and Mr. Robert Walding.

First Lieutenant J. M. Roper, 8th cavalry, and First Lieutenant M. Crawford, 7th cavalry, have been detailed as members of the general court martial instituted at Clark, Texas, by paragraph III, special orders No. 4, current series, from headquarters, Fort Hancock, Texas, on January 10, 1919.

While driving down the hill south of the government depot last Sunday afternoon, Messrs. A. C. Schryver and George Pechel met with an accident which resulted in what might be called a "near miss." The reins which guided the slow driven by their brother, and a runaway followed, resulting in a number of persons being injured.

The following is a list of some of the tickets which were sold yesterday. It was found to have been sold at the first ward. Those who are acquainted with the officers of the ward will at once recognize the names of the persons who were sold tickets, especially the first five.
