District court has just adjourned after a week of surprising work, considering the fact that time was so short to give notice of the change in time, &c. Everybody tried to keep the court along, even the county judge. Doctors and others waiving examination from jury duty. Judge Paschal, the never-failing, was on hand, and Mr. Wallace, our new district attorney, made a very flattering start, securing three convictions, collecting two fines, $150 and $1500 on three forfeited bonds of $500 cach. County script will look up. This was a fortunate strike for Wallace, and though we gave him our proxy for the convention, we must applied his final determination to stay with the court rather than go to the convention.
