Farwell Hospital District Planning Area Meeting

Farwell Hospital District has scheduled an area-wide meeting to determine if there is enough interest in condominium living for elderly persons in the community.

The meeting is set for Tuesday, May 22, at 7 p.m. in the Farwell Community Center.

Reese Graves, development consultant from the Good Samaritan Society, and the Farwell Hospital District will present information about condominium living for the elderly with "beautiful surroundings and personal services provided, to enhance independence and life style."

Farwell Hospital District is a community supported, non-profit municipality. It offers health services which include a nursing care facility, and physician and dental clinic.

The Good Samaritan Society, Inc. currently operates 191 such facilities, with 7,400 apartments and 14,881 nursing beds.

The duplexes or apartments in a condominium setting are approximately 500-700 square feet, one bedroom, with a self sufficient kitchen. The units are not connected to the nursing facility, but offer independence and security, with personal and supportive services. Meals would be available in the central dining room if desired.

Good Samaritan Society, Inc., a South Dakota non-profit corporation was organized in January 1979 in Arthur, N. D., a town of only 300 population. Of the current 191 facilities in the United States, six new ones, including Farwell Convalescent Center, were added in 1983. The other units are in Amarillo, El Paso, Kansas, Arizona and Arkansas.

Providing a wider range of services on one campus facilitates the rehabilitative process, enables couples to stay together longer, and for the resident, eases the transition as needed from one level of care to another.

For further information, call or write Farwell Hospital District, P. O. Box 770, Farwell, Tx. 79325, phone 481-9027.

Pioneer Round-Up Set Saturday At Plainview

The Pioneer Round-Up, scheduled for Saturday, May 19, will be the fifty-sixth consecutive year the Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club has sponsored this event. The theme chosen is "Yesterday - Today - Tomorrow". The first celebration took place March 14, 1929, in the City Auditorium in Plainview when Mrs. Adella Drew served as president. Pat Kelly, the current president of the Plainview BPW Club, stated all activities this year will be held in the Hale County Agriculture Center.

The reception beginning at 10:00 a.m. at the Hale County Agriculture Center in Plainview, is a big feature and is a time when the real "old timers" get together to reminisce and exchange stories of the past. Chairman Bula McGowen and her assistants are expecting many pioneers from near and afar to arrive soon after 10:00.

One of the few remaining parades in Plainview will be staged at 2:30 p.m. originating at the Santa Fe Depot on north Broadway. Those participating are asked to be on hand by 1:30 p.m. Parade will move south on Broadway to the American Legion where it will disband.

Durward Lynch will be parade marshal. The color guard will also head the parade and the Plainview bands will march. Some floats have already been entered and Lisa Caldwell, chairman of the parade committee, stated additional floats are welcome on that date. Antique cars, riding clubs, and miscellaneous riders are some of the other attractions scheduled for the parade. Winners will be announced at the night program.

The concessions and Kuntry Kitchen will be open all day at the Hale County Agriculture Center and Jackie Masso and Verne Shields are the chairmen. Sandwiches, pies and cakes will be available at lunch time. Everyone is invited to shop for baked products made by members of the Plainview BPW Club.

The evening activities will also be held in the Hale County Agriculture Center. From 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. the chuck wagon supper will be served. "Take out" plates will also be available. The meal will consist of son-of-a-gun, barbecue, sourdough biscuits and all the trimmings. Gretchen Bills, chairman of the Foods Committee, gives assurance that plenty of food is being planned for and that this year the members of the BPW Club will prepare the food and assist in the cooking.

The program, chaired by Shelley Gammage, beginning at 8:00 p.m., will be presented by the "Southwest Express", a musical group from Olton, Kress and Hale Center.

To highlight the evening's activities, the Pioneer Woman of the Plains will be announced. Prizes will be awarded to the couple who have been married the longest, the oldest pioneer present and to the pioneer (over 60) traveling the farthest distance to attend the Round-Up. There will also be group singing.

The square dance will conclude the Pioneer Round-Up again this year. Helen Pemberton, chairman of the committee, has announced that Sid Perkins of Plainview, will be the caller. She stated that all who like to square dance, waltz and participate in other couple dances are invited to do so. The Agriculture Center is air conditioned and will be comfortable for dancing from 9:00 p.m. until 11:30 p.m.

Tickets, $3.75 (tax included) includes the supper, program and square dance, and may be purchased from any member of the Plainview BPW Club or secured at the door. Nancy Bublis is ticket chairman. People of all ages are most welcome and are cordially invited to attend and help make this 56th Pioneer Round-Up on May 19 the best yet.

Other committees appointed to help carry out activities during the Pioneer Round-Up are as follows: Registration, Pat Ray; Door, Lou Ella Scarbrough; Float, Dorothy Morton; Serving, Mildred Tucker and Publicity, Jo Ann Clements.

"Increased awareness of mental illness and mental health care can assist in breaking down some of this reluctance to request help. Community mental health centers offer prevention and education programs which contribute to public understanding and encourage people to take advantage of the services they need," he said.

HEALTH YOURSELF
By CRAIG CARLSON, D.D.S., and RICHARD HINES, D.D.S.

Once upon a time, a visit to the dentist may have made your teeth chatter. But today, new technology and professional training combine to make those visits practically chatter-free.

Here are some hints we give to patients to help them cope with fears they may have approaching the dental chair.
• Consider the Source: Where did your fear of dental treatment begin? Often, a fear dates back to childhood. Maybe your first visit to the dentist was painful. Now the memory of pain is magnified and the drill, the dentist, even the antiseptic smell at the office may trigger adult anxiety. Recognizing the cause of fear is the first step toward conquering it.

• New Technology to the Rescue: A few seconds, and it's all over. That's how fast newer high speed drills can work. Today's dental needles are designed to cause less discomfort, too.
• Practice Two-Way Communication: Let your dentist know how you feel. Establish a signal system for those times when your mouth is wide open and full of fingers. For instance, a raised hand can mean that you're uncomfortable.

Thinking About Summer Job? Army Reserve Offers Two

It's never too early for high school students to start planning for a summer job. One of the options juniors and seniors should consider is a program offered by the Army Reserve, which guarantees a full-time summer job for two years in a row.

Called Split Training, this Army Reserve option lets students 17 or older enroll and take advantage of eight weeks of basic training at full pay during their first summer as an Army Reservist, and their advanced individual skills training during their second summer.

Ordinarily, Army Reservists take basic training and advanced training continuously. This most often takes a minimum of 16 weeks. The special feature of Army Reserve Split Training is that it allows students to undergo training without interfering with school.

The college-bound student enrolling under the program can look forward to an extra $4,000 in education assistance, if they qualify for enlistment in certain high-priority unit jobs.

Others signing up for Army Reserve Split Training may be eligible for bonuses of up to $2,000, if they qualify.

Seventeen-year-old high school juniors start their once-a-month weekend meetings with pay three months before summer basic training begins.

Seniors entering the program begin monthly meetings with pay six months before summer basic training begins. College-bound seniors would take advanced training following their freshman semester in college.

For more information, call the local Army Reserve unit. It's listed in the White Pages under "U.S. Government."

New Technology Presents New Career Opportunities

Computers that talk and robots that walk represent a new breed of machines that owe their existence to recent advances in electronics.

In turn, thousands of new technical jobs exist thanks to new electronic products, says Philip A. Clement, President of DeVry Inc., one of the largest networks of post-secondary technical education institutes in North America. The DeVry Institutes offer degree and diploma programs in Electronics Technology and Computer Science for Business.

"New applications for electronics in manufacturing, medicine, scientific research telecommunications, aerospace and in a wide range of consumer products will generate new employment opportunities for many years to come," Mr. Clement says.

The United States government estimates that by 1990 electronics and electrical technicians will occupy 107,000 new jobs. The California-based Institute for the Future predicts that information-based technologies will be the main force driving economic growth during the next decade.

These information technologies include computers, factory automation systems and communications systems for the home and office.

A solid educational grounding in electronics is the key to a rewarding career building, maintaining, repairing, or designing sophisticated electronic components. According to the DeVry Inc. President, those who study the subject today will acquire skills that will remain viable well into the 21st century.

In the years ahead, electronics technicians also will apply their skills to emerging telecommunications technologies such as fiber optics, cellular radio and satellites.

Industrial robots, expected to number 330,000 worldwide by 1990, will spring to life and remain operational only through the efforts of trained specialists, Mr. Clement says.

Similarly, computer technology, which now includes highly sophisticated applications such as computer-aided design and manufacture and speech synthesis, must be supported by a trained corps of technicians.

DeVry Inc.'s 11 campuses in the United States and Canada had a combined 1983 fall enrollment of more than 32,500 students; approximately 6,000 students are expected to graduate from the DeVry Institutes in 1984.

Campuses are located in Irving (Dallas).

Crime cost $10.9 billion in 1981.

LEARNING GOOD HABITS EARLY

"Train up a child in the way he should go; and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

This statement made by Solomon, thousands of years ago is just as true and vital today as it was then.

Teach your children the good practice of saving for the future. Teach them to attend worship services in God's house by taking them

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
