department parade came up, and itsen fell into line, with the Washington Guards in the advance.

The whole procession than followed out to Market and out Tremont street, where the visiting veterans were found under the command of Col. E. McLean, of the county. The procession passed on, and the veterans fell into the line under direction of Col. N. B. Yard, marshal, and were escorted to Artillery hall.

Here a large number of isdies had already assembled to do honor to the occasion. The veterans came in with E. S. Wood, Esq., leading Col. T. M. Jack, orator of the day, and Gov. Pease escorting Col. Frank Johnson, of Round Bock, who commanded at San Antonio after the fall of Milem. The platform, which had been asterfly oranged with flowers and evergreens by Misses Lottic, Mary and Emma La Peyre, bore a large photograph of Gen. Sam Houston and four paintings of Houston, Sowie, Austin and Burnet. Two glit streamers on either side of the stage bore the rismes of Ansin, Milam, Fannin, Travis, Bowie and Orockit.

The exercises opened with a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Bird, of Trinity churchs.

to make that history glorious. Honoring these veterans you do more honor to your-selves, and again I thank you. Mr. E. S. Wood maid: Ladies and gentle-men, the name of William H. Jack is familthe battle-field must ever be remembered by you: "Under heaven I declare no man loves his wife and children more than I, but sooner than fall back I would marriface the pleasure of ever meeting them again!" I now have the honor of introducing to you the son of this gallant here as the erator of the day.

Col. Thomas M. Jack then took the platform and delivered a most impressive eration, of which the following is a summary:

Cot. Jack's onarrow.

Veterans of Texas: Forty-three years ago, the half of Manch, was and your amendates.

These outrages kindled the fire of the revuence of the enemy. He had the choice to sacrifice his band in a futile fight, or to honorably surrender. His resolution was a callet of West Point; he made the stipulation of honorables surrender, and his men, by these stipulations, were to have returned to their homes. We all know the rest. They were basely shot, and when the offer file was made to young Fannin, provided he would kneel, the glorious Georgian spurned the offer, and suffered death in preference to dishonor. (Applause.)

enter into details which you are well acquainted with. Still, it would be an innover, too scarcely permissible to pass over some of the brilliant achievements which have signalized the war of Texas independence.

The affair of Anahuac was called up by the speaker, who culogized Travis, the hero of the day and the martyr of the Alamo. Because Travis and his patriot band darad to protest against the abridgement of civil liberty, they were imprisoned for their boldness, and the news of this lit the flame of rebellion, and the resolution was instantaneously taken by the Texas to free their comrades. A force was organized to effect their liberation, and before you sits Colonel Frank Johnson, who led that band, and may the glory of the achievement never grow dim in the hearts of Texass. Hearne, April 18.—News reached this place to-day of the conviction of Jake Summerville, of Cameron, Milam county, for the murder of Chas. Roberts at this place soms three years ago. After getting several continuances in this county, a change of venue was obtained to Milam county, where a great number of citizens have had to attend court for the past two years, but at this term of the court a trial was had, and Summerville was awarded ninety-nine years. The verdict gives the people of this place general satisfaction. It is said that Graham, since the desi-

Sherman Register: The jury in the trial of Julius Toettell for the murder of Joseph Brenner were out only a few moments and returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, fixing the punishment at death by hanging. The case will probably be appealed, but an appeal will only delay the execution of the sentence, since the verdict will certainly be affirmed. The present grand jury has returned one hundred and ninety-five indictments up to this time, consisting of burglary, horse stealing, murderous assaults, swindling, forgery, gambling and one for murder. All of which will be made known in due time, after the officer gets his

Fredericksburg, Adril 19.—The district court is in session here. The most important case was that of Ambros Colbsth, charged with the murder of T. B. Washburne, in 1875. Judge W. W. Martin assisted the district attorney, Capt. Walter Acker, in prosecuting, and Major C. O. Colian and Judge A. O. Codley defended, The trial continued for a day and a half, and resulted in acquittal. August Schuls was convicted of arson, with six years confinement in the penitentiary. He will be tried to-morrow for burglary. George Gerbard was indicted as an accessory with Schulz, and was arrested and lodged in jail to-day, Gotlieb Schumacher was indicted for raps, and is now in jail. Valentine Lernia, a Mexican, was indicted for horse-stealing, and is also in jail. Fredericksburg, Adril 19,-
