An article in Sunday morning's Heraid sympathizing with Marnoch, convicted of the murder of Charles Mueller, and given twenty years' imprisonment, is regarded as one of the most uncalled-for publications that paper has ever made. In his rounds yesterday, our reporter met Mr. S. W. Mc. Allister, Mr. J. S. Penn, and others who served on the jury, all of whom regarded the publication in question as foolish and unjust. Mr. Penn stated that there was not a man on the jury who had the least doubt of Marnoch's guilt, and that everyone's mind was made up, even before all the evidence had been heard. There was no need, Mr. Penn mys, for attorneys' speeches, as the Penn says, for attorneys' speeches, as the testimony was plain and convincing. A verdict might have been rendered twenty minutes after the jury left its box, but for the disposition of one man to fix the penalty the disposition of one man to fix the penalty at ten years' imprisonment. Five were for banging, and one or two of these were at first very firm in their leaning in this respect. Mr. Penn thinks it strange that a jury which everyone was disposed to regard as an unusually fair one in its complexion, should be censured for the verdict rendered. He says, however, that he apprehends no conscientious affliction for what he, as one of the jurors, did.

A Beastly Father

A young gentleman who visited San Pedro
Springs last Sunday evening gives an account of the outrageous conduct of a hoary headed father toward his children. There were two little ones, not more than five and seven years of age, with the old man, who was intoxicated, and they walked about the park grounds with their father. Reaching a ditch which runs through the grounds, the father stepped over it, and ordered his children to do likewise under penalty of getting their heads broke, etc. One of the little ones succeeded in the attempt, but the other fell into the ditch and was rescued by the party who furnishes this information.

The father then cursed the children, using the vilest language, when parties informed west side Alamo plaza.

Narrow Escape. The Express has frequently called the at-ention of the street commissioner to the bad condition of south Press street, but nothing has so far been done to improve the through-fare. - Guess they've been waiting until somebody was killed or some serious accifare. Guess they've been waiting until somebody was killed or some serious accident had happened before doing anything toward a remedy. That's generally the way things are done here. Sunday last, a bus drives, while passing along this street, in crossing a ditch, was thrown from his seat and very badly hurt. A wheel passed over one of his legs, while his right arm was badly bruised and his wrist probably sprained. His escape from instant death is said by persons in the bus at the time to have been almost miraculous. The ditch where this accident occurred should be bridged without delay.

Sins: While expressing my sincers thanks for past favors that have been extended to me through the columns of the Express. I first applied to some of the leading republican lawyers in the northwest for assistance but could get no.2e, I then applied to some of the most prominent democratic attorneys and obtained all the help I desired. When I took up my studies in this city I applied to democrate because I have always found them to be true friends. If by making this statement I can do justice to those honorable gentlemen who have assisted me, they are heartly welcome to it. I am and always have been a republican for it, and he saw no use to put it to, as he was selling becon and sugar, and such like at Montgomery. But the old land was any particular party lines or principles. If republicans lose anything by this statement they will have to make the most of it.

Respectfully yours, Attorney and counsellor-at-law.

About five years ago Mr. Ed Maull offered to sell some old worn out fields he had at Fairview, near Benton, for something like a dollar an acre. There were about three sections of it, and he saw no use to put it to, as he was selling bacon and sugar, and such like at Montgomery. But the old land was "worn out" (as the phrase is), had some Bernuds grass on it, and was growing up in pute saplings and persimmon trees; and though he was very eager to get rid of it he could find no buyer. Mr. Maull himself is a man who, hesides being one of the best solo violisats in Lovendes, has always had the reputation of being a man who knows what he is about, and he soon found a use for that and decolation of his.
