Local 4-H To Serve Barbecue

This year, the Bailey County 4-H clubs will sponsor "a good, old-fashioned barbecue" on the 4th of July as they have in the past. 4-H'ers will begin serving at 6 p.m. on the 4th and continue serving until 8 p.m. All plates will be $4. The barbecue will be served at the new city park, or at the Bailey County Coliseum in the event of bad weather.

Kirby Rankin of the Bailey County Extension Office reminded, "The 4th of July Barbecue has become an annual event for senior 4-H'ers in Bailey County. Proceeds from the barbecue and a color television to be given away will go towards sponsoring 20 boys and girls from Appomattox, Virginia when they come to Bailey County."

He explained, "The 4-H Interstate Exchange Program allows 4-H members 14 years of age and older to travel to different parts of the United States and stay with a host family for a week. During the exchange, young people learn how people in other parts of the nation live and work."

"This year, Bailey County will serve as host to 4-H'ers from Appomattox, Virginia, who sponsored Bailey County 4-H'ers in 1983. The Virginians will arrive July 29 and stay until August 4. The 4-H Exchange group plans to show their guests how they live in Texas and especially Bailey County. They have also plans to see "Texas" at Palo Duro Canyon and to visit the Ranching Heritage Center in Lubbock.

"Along with the barbecue, 4-H'ers will also be giving away a color television. Tickets are $1 each and can be purchased from members of the 4-H Exchange group or at the Bailey County Extension Office. Barbecue tickets are also on sale before the 4th or at the park on July 4th Rankin concluded.

For more information about either activity, contact Rankin at 272-4583.

during the annual Rotary officer installation banquet Tuesday night at the Bailey County Civic Center and Coliseum.

Max King, retiring Rotary President, presented the Paul Harris Fellow award to Burrows.

King commented, "In his 26 years in Rotary, he has done it all.

"He is a Rotarian in the true sense of the word. He has had many chances to quit, but has not. And, not only has the recipient been active in Rotary, he has also been active in service to the community in which he lives.

"He has, been dedicated and has years of experience not only in Rotary but in service to his fellow man."

Burrows' wife, Frances, along with son, Dennis and his wife, were at the officer installation banquet to see him receive his award.

The Burrows are the parents of three sons and one daughter.

Outstanding entertainment was provided by a duo from Plainview, Mark and Jenny Lynn Hodges. He is a banker and she is an instructor in piano and voice at Wayland Baptist University.

They presented selections from themes from movies and various western artists.

Rotarians and their Rotary-Anns, along with other guests expressed their appreciation for the musical entertainment obtained by Dr. Barry Cowart.

Incoming president J. D. Rankin presented the Paul Harris Fellow award to Burrows.

They're leaving Fort Worth July 1 to bicycle to Winnipeg, Canada, a destination picked largely to keep the wind at their backs.

For two admittedly middle-aged school teachers whose bicycling hobby dates back only three years, this summer's vacation is quite an adventure.

Mary Jo Clegg is the daughter of the late Roy H. White and Jewel White of 1538 West Avenue B, Muleshoe. She is a 1950 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

The Cleggs taught in the Muleshoe schools from 1955-1958 and said they still have many friends in the Muleshoe area.

Mary Jo is currently an eighth grade teacher at Forest Oak Middle School, and thinks of the jaunt as "a kind of praise to middle age, a way to show that the best of life is not necessarily before a certain age."

Her husband, professor of education at Texas Christian University, emphasized all the planning that has gone into this enterprise. "We may be crazy," he says, "but we're not fools."

Dr. Clegg chose the northward route because the wind blows predominantly from the south. Winnipeg filled the role of the ideal destination because it's almost due north of Fort Worth and Canada already is a favorite vacation spot for the couple.

The trip is their first long-distance biking effort, but they've made excursions to Granbury, Cleburne, Crowley, Ponder, and even to Waco.

Biking gives the rider such an appetite, Dr. Clegg says, "we always try to plan so there is a good place to eat at the end of

1984-85 ROTARY OFFICERS INSTALLED TUESDAY NIGHT--Tuesday night, new officers were installed for the Muleshoe Rotary Club during their annual officer installation banquet. All-Day Festivities Will Draw Crowds

Plans have been finalized for the annual Pioneer-Independence Day Celebration which will be held Saturday, June 30, at Sudan, Texas.

Activities begin at 9 a.m. with "fun" events planned for all members of the family throughout the day.

An arts and crafts show for all ages will be held in the Senior Citizens building on the square. Ribbons will be awarded.

The Children's Coin-Dig will begin at 9 a.m. with boxes for three groups ranging from 2 to 8 years of age.

At 9:30 the older children (8-12) will be participating in Olympic type games in the park with all entries receiving ribbons. A turtle race will begin at the same time under the water tower with ribbons awarded for the 'best decorated' and the 'fastest' turtles. This event is for all ages.

A tractor pull for children 3-7 begins at 10 a.m. with the Young Farmers furnishing the tractors.

Pumper team races conducted by the Sudan Fire Dept. will begin at 11 a.m. This will be held on 1st Street between Commerce and Furneaux, just east of City Hall. Several cities are scheduled to participate with several state officials expected to attend.

Area fiddlers will begin their contest at noon and will provide entertainment while spectators satisfy their 'hunger pains' from the many concessions available in the park. All fiddlers are invited to participate with cash prizes to be awarded.

The second activity sponsored by the Fire Dept. will be a Hose-Lay beginning at 1 p.m. There will be divisions for men, women and children with trophies being awarded to the winners.

The parade will be the main feature beginning at 2:30 and will contain floats, bands, riding clubs, antique cars, bicycle riders, fire trucks and other special participants. Anyone wishing to enter the parade should be at the school parking lot at 1:30 p.m. Cash prizes totaling $265 will be awarded to the top four floats. Theme for decorations should be "Cotton pickin' Days". Riding clubs will receive trophies and trophies will be awarded to the top three bicycles in the 'best decorated' category. All bicyclists will receive ribbons. Adult bike winners will receive rosette ribbons.

Winners of the various events will be held following the parade.

Bingo will begin at 3:30 in the Community Center while Water Polo will be held just south of City Hall on Commerce Street.

Recognition of special pioneers is slated for 4:30 to be followed by the winners of the raffles. Several organizations will be selling tickets for prizes including a portable TV/Radio, quilt, ceiling fan, 1/2 beef, AM/FM radio and cassette player, a pair of boots and telephone. Purchase of a ticket will also make you

Former Muleshoe Teachers Ride Bicycles To Canada

Dr. and Mrs. Luther Clegg aren't Irish, but the Irish Prayer for the wind to always be at your back holds special meaning for them.

Another favorite spot is to wind up a trip is the Ponder Steak House, but their fare on this long trip is likely to be far simpler.

While traveling, the Cleggs will camp out most nights, stay in motels when the weather's bad and eat from grocery store to grocery store, enjoying the changing fresh foods as they go north.

Pacing themselves at 60 to 70 miles per day with one day off at a time in Tulsa, Topeka, Omaha and Fargo, ND, the couple plans to cruise into Winnipeg 27 days after leaving home.

The Cleggs say they have no trouble biking together. He has more speed and strength, but she has more endurance.

The trip has been in the planning stages for a year, and over the winter Dr. and Mrs. Clegg read everything they could find about biking. They'll ride primarily on secondary roads with broad shoulders.

They've also learned to watch out for the side view mirrors that stick dangerously far out from the sides of recreational vehicles.

Whoever believes biking is an inexpensive hobby has never prepared to ride 1,200 miles, Dr. Clegg says. He has spent some $2,400 buying new Trek bicycles and outfitting himself and his wife for the journey.

They joke that biking wear makes the biker look like a clown, but they have learned that each piece of equipment -- helmet, special shorts, shoes and gloves -- performs a special and necessary protective service. "Only people who have something to protect wear these helmets," Dr. Clegg insists.

The Cleggs are the parents of two sons, Derek, 23, a 1983 graduate of Princeton University and now a student at the University of California at Berkeley, and Stuart, 21, an undergraduate at TCU. Derek is especially excited about his parents' adventure.

He plans to fly to Fort Worth to pick up a family car, then drive to Winnipeg

CofC Asking For Bicycles In Parade

Toni Eagle, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, has asked that all youngsters interested in entering their bicycle in the 4th of July parade, contact the CofC office at the City Hall as soon as possible, and sign up to enter.

The three categories to be judged will include tri-cycle and training wheels; medium size and the third will be 10-speed.

Awards will be given in each of the three categories according to Mrs. Eagle.

City Council Buys Landfill Bulldozer

Representatives of four heavy equipment dealers met with members of the Muleshoe City Council Tuesday morning to hear bids on a new bulldozer for the city landfill.

First bid opened, and the bid subsequently accepted unanimously by city council members was for a Caterpillar from West Texas Equipment. Net bid for the Caterpillar was $95,500 with a five year power train warranty. West Texas Equipment also said they would deliver a used bulldozer to the city for use until the new bulldozer could be delivered in about six weeks.

A Fiat-Allis was proposed by Quick Way Equipment and Transportation of Lubbock. Their bid was $86,140.40 net, however, they did not offer but a two year warranty on the power train.

Plains Machinery submitted a bid of $119,467 on an International, along with a five year warranty.

The bid from Yellowhouse Machinery of Lubbock on a John Deere bulldozer was $98,805.70, along with a three year warranty.

Following a discussion and question and answer session, it was decided to accept the bid for the Caterpillar.

A proposed franchise agreement with Energas was passed in order for the proposed agreement to be checked thoroughly by City Attorney Mike Caldwell and the Texas Municipal League.

At the close of the regular business session, the Muleshoe City Council and City Attorney Caldwell went into executive session to discuss pending litigation.

MEALS ON WHEELS OFF AND ROLLING--Tuesday at noon, meals were delivered to 14 local residents as the Meals on Wheels got started Monday at noon. Shown here loading up at the hospital are volunteers Shelley Sain and Maxine Ragsdale, and Ruby Clark, dietician at the hospital, who plans the meals for the recipients. Senior Citizens and the disabled can start the meals at any time they can qualify.

Family Funfest Slated Friday

Just the cure for the beginning of summer 'blahs! KMUL Radio, in conjunction with Anchor Records, will be presenting Family Funfest in Muleshoe tomorrow, Friday.

Family Funfest will be held at the Muleshoe High School auditorium, and tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for students, and children under the age of 12 will be admitted free to the 7:30 p.m. concert. Tickets are on sale at KMUL Radio and will be available at the door.

Headlining the event will be the Anchor Brothers, a gospel singing group from Sudan. The popular group, who include KMUL Radio announcer Reydon Stanford, have now made several records and tapes. They also are the main attraction of "Something Special" held in Sudan every other month.

Also performing will be James Storie and Gentle Country, Muleshoe's own smooth country / western / modern musicians, who are fast making a name for themselves.

Another Sudan product who will be performing is Kevin King, who is considered a blues performer. He will probably do his outstanding performance of "Mr. Bojangles" during the show.

Plan for an evening of fun and entertainment.

Rancher Roundup Keys On Ranch Management

Ranchers of Bailey County will have an opportunity to take advantage of the latest ranch management information available if they attend the 1984 edition of the International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) this summer.

San Angelo's Convention Center will be the site of the five-day educational activity, set for July 30-August 3, announces Spencer Tanksley, county Extension agent. The program is one of the most comprehensive ever planned for ranchers.

Theme for the conference program will be "Holistic Ranch Management-Putting It All Together," the agent adds.

Ranchers who attend can expect to become quite familiar with the word "Holistic," which implies that all aspects of the ranching operation are to be considered in the planning process, Tanksley explains.

Registration information about IRR and tour details are available at the local County Extension Office or by calling 272-4583. Ranchers may also obtain more complete information by writing directly to: IRR P.O. Box 1849, Uvalde, TX 78801.

The agent reports that some 80 speakers from almost a dozen states of the U.S., as well as South Africa and New Zealand, are expected to address Roundup sessions.

Tanksley explains that IRR program coordinators are placing emphasis on meeting specific needs of ranchers of North America's semi-arid rangeland, but noted that many of the ranching principles addressed during the conference are also applicable to ranches in other areas.

Major aspects of the program include a general session the opening afternoon, which will feature addresses on various aspects of the "Holistic

Father Dies

Funeral services for Garlan H. Edge, 70, of Texico, N.M. were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday, June 26 in Steed-Todd Chapel with the Rev. V. Ray Allen officiating.

Burial was in the Texico Cemetery under the direction of Steed-Todd Funeral Home. Edge died Saturday at Clovis High Plains Hospital.

He was born March 31, 1914, in Caddo Mills and married Nadine Bratcher on May 28, 1938, in Mountainair. They had lived in and around Texico since 1951. He was the street supervisor for the City of Texico and was a member of the Assembly of God Church.

Survivors include his wife, Nadine; one son, Odell Edge of Texico, N.M.; four daughters, Corine Mallof of Muleshoe, Carolyn Harrison of Chico, Dorothy Reynolds of Hot Springs, Ark. and Wilma Miller of Amarillo, one brother, Elbert Edge of Portales, N.M.; 15 grandchildren; five great grandchildren; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Ranching" theme, the agent adds. Concurrent sessions during the next three days will highlight livestock production, wildlife, range and the ranch family.

Two special workshops also are planned which will deal with microcomputers for ranch management and feature ranchers who are presently using this type of high tech to improve their ranching operations; and shared decision-making, planned to address the many pressures of business on family issues.

A ranch tour designed to include all aspects of ranching on the Edwards Plateau will conclude the weeklong, extensive educational program.

"This year's Ranchers Roundup is one of the most complete and practical programs ever coordinated by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It addresses many of the real problems facing ranchers. Writers Workshop

Planned

At WBU

Entries are now being accepted in the writing competition being held in conjunction with Wayland Baptist University's Seventh Annual Panhandle-Plains Writer's Workshop later this summer.

Competition is open to all interested writers in the areas of fiction, nonfiction and poetry, according to Arch Mayfield, WBU assistant professor of English and director of the workshop.

Persons may submit as many entries in each category as they desire, and an entry fee of $3 for each prose entry and $2 for each poem must accompany the entries. Entries are limited to 3,500 words for prose and 50 lines for poems.

The writer's full name and address should appear on a cover sheet for each entry, with now identifying marks on the manuscript. Two copies of each entry must be submitted.

All entries will be submitted to an experienced judge, and announcement of the winners of a $30 first prize and $20 second prize in each category will be made on Friday, July 20, during the closing session of the workshop.

Entry deadline is July 10, and persons should submit their works to Mayfield at Wayland Baptist University, 1900 W. 7th, Plainview, Texas 79072.

This year's workshop is slated for July 19-20 and features a seven-member panel of some of the country's leading authorities.

Among the group are Lawrence Block, fiction editor for "Writer's Digest"; John Erickson, founder/owner of Maverick Books; and Paul Foreman, editor of Thorp Springs Press and owner/operator of the Brazos Book Shop in Austin.

Additional information on the workshop is also available from Mayfield.

of the world," the agent says.

Tanksley adds that more than 2,000 ranchers, representing some 25 states and seven countries other than the U.S., have taken part in the Ranchers Roundup programs during the past three years.

Each person who registers for IRR will be provided a bound copy of the conference program proceedings, which will include most of the talks presented. In the past, ranchers have found the book to be an outstanding reference handbook, and have ordered extra copies for friends and neighbors, Tanksley adds.

Soybean Prospects Bright For This Year

Soybeans might be a good bet to help some farmers pay off outstanding loans this year.

Price prospects look good and that will likely encourage increased plantings this year, points out Johnny Feagan, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. He expects prices to average $7.50 to $8.15 per bushel during the crop season.

Feagan cites a few reasons why U.S. farmers will plant a fairly large soybean crop in 1984: History has proven that estimates for corn planting have been consistently high, leaving additional acreage for soybeans.

Soybeans will not be affected much by government programs; more importance will be placed on the corn-soybean price ratio for determining plantings.

Cool, wet weather in the Midwest has delayed corn planting and growth.

Soybean prices have been on the increase.

Existing bean stocks are low and South American countries are rationing their exports.

Farmers consider soybeans the best bet for double-cropping behind winter wheat.

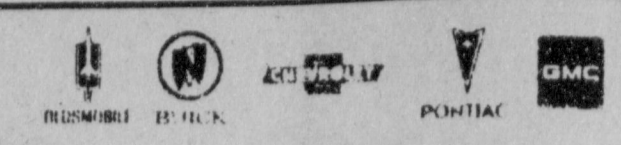

With normal yields, a 67-million-acre soybean crop would not burden the market.

U.S. soybean stocks on April 1 were down 36 percent from a year earlier. While the demand for soybean meal has been weak during the current marketing year, soybean oil faces a strong demand, notes Feagan. Thus meal prices have been down while oil prices have moved upward.

World oilseed production is expected to be down about 8 percent this year compared to a year ago, a situation which should bolster soybean prices.

World oilseed production is expected to be down about 8 percent this year compared to a year ago, a situation which should bolster soybean prices.

However, a bumper soybean crop is expected in South America, and palm oil production should be back to normal in Malaysia. At the same time peanut production is rebounding in India.

Candelight Ceremony Unites Miss Prather, Brantley

Mr. and Mrs. Curby J. Brantley
[nee Kay Lynn Prather]

Miss Kay Lynn Prather became the bride of Curby J. Brantley, Jr. in a candlelight ceremony Friday, June 8 at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. Rev. Barry Bradley, pastor, read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prather and Mr. and Mrs. Curby Brantley, Sr., all of Muleshoe.

Vows were repeated before an arch candelabra and two spiral candelabras decorated with emerald and leather fern accented in blue bows and streamers. Two arrangements of white gladiolas, pink carnations, blue iris, yellow starburst poms and lavender daisy poms in white wicker wedding baskets completed the altar decorations.

Clifford Watson of Muleshoe and Janet Nix of Sudan sang "You And I" and "Annie's Song." Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. W.T. Watson, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza. The fitted bodice was embellished with white Chantilly and Venise lace and featured a Queen Anne neckline. The fitted Chantilly sleeves were accented with appliques of Venise lace and edged in Alencon lace.

The empire waistline was encompassed by a matching string of Alencon lace. The full skirt fell to floor length and flowed to back in a chapel length train. Rows of ruffled Chantilly lace graced the full length of the train.

To complete her ensemble the bride wore a matching veil of Venise and Alencon lace. The cap was embellished with seed pearls and iridescents. The double layer illusion was finished with a rolled edge and fell to the fingertip length.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of silk roses, pastel carnations and stephanis atop a white Bible, entwined with pearls.

In keeping with tradition, for something old she carried a handkerchief that had belonged to her great grandmother; something new was her wedding gown; something borrowed was a blue garter worn by her mother at her wedding; something blue was the traditional blue garter. She also had pennies with the bride's and groom's birth-dates in her shoe.

Mrs. Keenan Shields of Clarendon, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Joe Don Prather of Muleshoe, sister in law of the bride; Mrs. Robbie Barrett of Muleshoe, sister in law of the groom; and Mrs. Rick Louthan of Seiling, Okla., cousin of the bride.

They wore identical floor length natural and blue floral print gowns with a matching cape trimmed with nylon lace, and a gathered skirt accented with a ribbon at the waistline. The attendants carried nosegays of pastel colored silk flowers similar to that of the bride.

Most of the people the Cleggs have encountered on their trips so far have shared their son's attitude of enthusiasm and encouragement. Strangers have readily offered them shelter from the rain, fresh water for their canteens or air for their flat tires.

Commissioner To Consider

Optional Fee

Bailey County Commissioners will meet in special session at 10 a.m. Friday, tomorrow.

Main item on the agenda will include consideration of the adoption of the Optional County Registration Fee, which would allow counties to collect a one time a year $5 fee on all vehicle registrations. This money would be used in the road and bridge fund to help upgrade roads in the county.

Other items include the opening of bids for a new motor grader for Precinct III; meeting with representatives of the Texas Department of Health; consider approval of the resignation of Frank Ellis, III as Justice of the Peace and payment of routine county bills.

IMMIGRATION BILL SCHEDULED:

Immigration reform bill, HR-1510, is scheduled to reach the House floor the week of June 11.

The bill would impose civil and possibly criminal penalties on employers who repeatedly and "knowingly" hire illegal aliens. The National Cotton Council earlier passed a resolution calling for efforts to "prevent penalties" on grounds that employers cannot feasibly ascertain whether a prospective employee is an alien.

The Council favors the bill's provision that requires the Immigration and Naturalization Service to obtain warrants to search privately held open fields. However, an amendment to strike the search warrant requirement is expected to be offered.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:
In January of this year, the State was awarded the working interest in the 14,720 acre state mineral lease on the Duval County ranch as settlement of its long-standing lawsuit against Mobil Oil Corporation. Because of the significance of this settlement to your readers, I want to take this opportunity to update you on the status of events involving the operation of the lease. We are now moving on to the second phase of the settlement which is finding an acceptable buyer for the lease.

Under the court approved settlement, Mobil returned to the State all of its interests in the 14,720 acres lease. This included all future production from approximately 9,000 acres formerly operated by Mobil, as well as that company's partial interest on approximately 5,700 acres operated by various other companies. The court also appointed Wally Scott to serve as the State's trustee, with responsibility for managing the lease. As you know, Mr. Scott is a very reputable member of the oil and gas industry. He has hired Manfred Production Company of Corpus Christi to operate the lease on a day-to-day basis.

I am pleased to report that Mr. Scott and Manfred Production Company have worked extremely hard to manage State lease 17036 in an efficient manner. Because of their efforts, production at this lease has increased significantly since last January. Some 6,129 barrels of oil were produced from the lease last month, compared to 4,605 barrels last January. Total production from the lease during the last five months amounts to 26,284 barrels of oil, valued at $786,633. Although a portion of these revenues have been used to operate the lease, $366,000 are available for deposit to the Permanent School Fund. To contrast, approximately $43,701 would have been deposited had the settlement not occurred.

As part of the court approved settlement, the lease trustee and operator are required to abide by lease 17036's development provision that a new well be drilled every 90 days. Mr. Scott and Manfred Production Company have taken the necessary steps to comply with this provision. Manfred Production Company completed a 2,300 foot well on the lease on April 16, 1984. This well is producing around ten barrels of oil a day, and has an expected pay-out of eight to ten months. The Permanent School Fund will receive approximately $9,000 more each month once the pay-out is complete.

In order to remain in compliance with the development terms of the lease, Mr. Scott and the operating company have taken initial steps to drill another well as we are approaching the end of the second 90 day period.

Finally, you can be certain that selling State lease 17036 at a market value price to a private company is a high priority at the General Land Office. Our efforts to date have been somewhat hampered by the current slump in the oil and gas industry. I am certain, however, this lease will be sold in the very near future because of its significant reserves.

I will keep you informed on our progress. Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions. Sincerely,
Garry Mauro

Consumer Alert

Attorney General

LEMON LAW: WHAT NOW?

You may have heard that the Texas new car "lemon law" has been declared unconstitutional by a federal judge in Austin. While my office will be appealing that ruling, it does mean that the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission cannot use the procedures mandated by the new law. However, the commission is continuing to take warranty complaints.

CURRENT STATUS

Under its continuing authority, the commission handles regular warranty complaints about new cars. According to Russell Harding, executive director of the commission, his agency will continue to mediate complaints. However, it cannot order auto makers to refund a consumer's money or replace the "lemon" he or she bought.

The commission is writing to those who had complaints pending to advise them that they should seek help from a private attorney if they want a replacement vehicle or money refunded.

Consumers can still use the arbitration processes set up by the various manufacturers or write to my Consumer Protection Division for assistance.

ARBITRATION

A number of manufacturers have set up their own arbitration programs. These programs usually involve some kind of arbitration board, which attempts to resolve disputes between the dealer, the consumer and the car maker. Use of the arbitration board does not mean the consumer is precluded from taking the case to court if he is dissatisfied with the result of the arbitration.

Here is a list of the phone numbers for manufacturers who operate consumer arbitration programs in Texas:

- Buick 1-800-521-7300 (toll free)
- Cadillac 1-214-659-5125 (Dallas)
- Chevrolet 1-713-460-7301 (Houston)
- Chrysler, Plymouth, Dodge, Imperial 1-713-820-7062 (Houston)
- Datsun 1-214-243-4311 (Dallas)
- Ford, Mercury 1-800-241-8450 (toll free)
- GMC Trucks 1-800-241-8450 (toll free)
- Oldsmobile 1-713-931-6053 (Houston)
- Pontiac 1-713-931-7250 (Houston)
- Volkswagen 1-512-341-8881 (Austin)

BUYING TIPS

One of the most important things to remember BEFORE you buy your new car is to check the warranty carefully. Many car warranties are limited, that is they only apply under certain circumstances. Be sure you find out how long your car warranty is, what is covered, and who will honor it.

If you have consumer problems, contact my nearest Consumer Protection Office (in Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen, and San Antonio). The Attorney General's Office is the people's law firm. We're here to help you.

Vehicle Preparation Helps Salvage Happy Vacations

The big day has finally arrived! The car is loaded to the gills with everything but grandma's china, and you and your spouse are busy cross-examining each other about having enough money for the trip, whether the basement door was locked, and if the paperboy was given the word to stop delivery.

The kids are arguing over who gets to sit by the window, and stepping on each other's toes to put the first scuff marks on their new sneakers. But eventually everything is as ready as it ever will be, and you back down the driveway and set a course for the vacation that seemed like it would never come.

Unfortunately, in the excitement to get away from it all, some people forget that there are important differences between local driving and vacation driving. Trips around town are not the same as driving long distances on interstate highways in parts of the country that are not familiar to you.

There are a few standard but simple driving practices people should follow on long or short trips...like everyone in the car wearing a safety belt, and obeying posted speed limits. Simple things, really, but they may mean the difference between life and death, and can go a long way toward making certain that your vacation is as safe and enjoyable as you want it to be.

Your vacation shouldn't begin, however, until you have first prepared your car for the trip. Remember don't wait until the last minute; start your preparations at least a couple of weeks before you plan to leave. Preparing your car or van is as important as preparing yourself.

A small amount of preventive maintenance can avoid a time-consuming and costly delay on the road. If your trip is to be a long one, make sure the engine is properly tuned. This initial expense can save you big dollars and hassles on the road. Vehicles in top running shape are not likely to break down in places where mechanics aren't nearby. A tune up before you leave can also improve performance and fuel economy.

There's some extra equipment you might want to take along for emergencies. Included are a tool kit, flares, flashlight and extra batteries, an extra quart of motor oil, a five gallon empty gasoline can, replacement drive belts, and a container of fresh water for the radiator.

Test the brakes to see if they need adjusting. Change the oil and air filters if necessary. Radiators and coolant, drive belts, wiper blades, heating and air conditioning systems, as well as the exhaust system, should all be inspected and serviced as necessary.

Be sure to check the tires for tread pressure. Badly worn tires are extremely dangerous and should be replaced. Remember, with the entire family plus all of your luggage and other equipment, your car and tires may be loaded to capacity. Inflate your tires to the maximum inflation pressure recommended by the vehicle manufacturer. You can find tire inflation information placard or sticker on the car door post or inside the glove compartment door, or check your owner's manual. Don't forget to check the pressure on your spare tire in case you need it.

Now, for the trip itself—first and foremost wear your safety belts. If you're not among the growing number of Americans who are regular users, you might be pleasantly surprised to find that today's safety belts are comfortable and easy to get into the habit of using. They will also give you peace of mind knowing that you are giving yourself and your family the best protection available in the event of a crash or sudden high speed stop.

Small children should be properly buckled into a safety seat. In fact, 46 states now have laws requiring them for children under certain ages, and chances are that you will pass through one or more of these states.

Second, keep in mind that speed limits should be carefully observed for both highway and city driving.

Take a little time to plan the day's travel, and repeat the process every night during the trip. If you like, try using a felt-tipped pen to mark your route on a map so you'll know exactly where and how far you are going. Choose a set number of miles or hours to travel and plan to stop on schedule to prevent fatigue. Experts agree that six hours a day or 300 miles—whichever comes first—is a reasonable day's drive. After that, reflexes and alertness diminish significantly.

Plan to stop frequently to rest. You'll help prevent highway hypnosis, that drowsy feeling that most of us have experienced behind the wheel at one time or another. As mile turns into endless mile on a turnpike, your mind tends to go to sleep. It's difficult to fight off this dangerous lulling of your senses, and periodic stops are the best antidote.

Flat tires are a nuisance, but they happen to everyone sooner or later. If you have a puncture or a blow-out, pull off the road completely to change it, the further off the road the better. At night, put flares out at least 100 feet behind your car and turn on your emergency flashers. If there is not enough room to park safely on the shoulder, drive slowly to the closest safe area out of traffic. This may ruin the flat tire, but your safety is worth the price.

A few other tips to cover special situations should be mentioned. Driving in extreme hot weather, for example, calls for special precautions. Carry extra water in canteens for your family and your car. Make sure the radiator and battery are full, and watch the temperature gauge on the dashboard carefully...it's often the first sign of impending trouble. And don't take a chance on running out of gas. Especially if you are in rural or remote areas, keep a fuel reserve of about 100 miles - that could be as much as half a tank on some cars. Top off the tank frequently rather than driving until the tank is almost empty before refilling.

Another important item on this checklist of safety tips for summer travellers is to avoid burns to children. On hot summer days, sunlight passing through the windows of a closed car can heat metal parts such as safety belt buckles and vinyl seats sufficiently to cause discomfort, burning, or even blistering of the exposed skin of an infant or young child. When the outside temperature is 79 degrees, sunlight can heat the vinyl seat in a closed car to 192 degrees! The best way to protect children from such burns is to test the temperature of a seat before putting your child on it. Better yet, cover the car seats or child safety seat with a light colored blanket or towel. Try to acquire the habit of looking for a shady spot to park your car when you stop.

Again, don't forget the most important advice of all—wear your safety belts! Safety belts have been found to prevent 50 to 65 percent of all fatalities in car crashes. It's the first and last auto safety tip whether you're driving a mile to the store or traveling across the country. Many police officers will readily tell you that they "have never unbuckled a dead person" from a car crash.

Safety belts make sense for your vacation and for every other day of the year.

Charolais' New Office Has Opened

On June 14, 1984, the American International Charolais Association's (AICA) giant fiberglass bull was put into place in his new home.

Measuring 11 feet tall by 17 feet wide and weighing 500 pounds, the bull is the largest fiberglass bull model in the United States. His resting place is on a 6,500 pound metal globe in front of the AICA's new headquarters. Located adjacent to Interstate 29, the association's new offices are at 11700 N.W. Plaza Circle Drive.

Originally headquartered in Houston, Texas, the AICA moved to Kansas City in May 1983. Until May 29, 1984, when they moved into the new building, the association's staff had temporary offices in the Air World Center on Ambassador Drive adjacent to I-29.

The new telephone number for the AICA office is 816-464-5977.

Texas A&M prof displays system at World's Fair

COLLEGE STATION — A system to extract clean water from oilfield waste — patented two years ago by a Texas A&M University chemist — will be one of only 10 exhibits from American small businesses to be displayed at the New Orleans World's Fair where the U.S. theme is "Water for the World."

Dr. Rod O'Connor, professor of chemistry and president of Texas ROMEC Inc. through which the system was patented, said a small working display of the water cleanup system will be exhibited through Nov. 11 by the Small Business Administration.

O'Connor and more than a dozen others worked after hours to perfect the system, which operates on a reverse osmosis principle to filter enough oil or other wastes to make water safe to drink by World Health Organization standards.

Larger systems — able to process 10,000 gallons a day — could provide emergency drinking water during floods or other disasters. In addition, thousands of dollars worth of petroleum could be recovered by using the process to squeeze more oil from wastes, he said.

Texas Cities Praised For Cleanup Efforts

By Governor Mark White

AUSTIN—With the cost of litter pickup on Texas highways totaling almost $20 million last year, elementary school students in Commerce found an innovative way to advertise the importance of keeping their community clean and attractive.

A local grocery provided the children with 3,000 grocery sacks to decorate with pictures illustrating the theme, "A Beautiful Commerce Begins With Me." The colorful sacks were returned to the store, and shoppers carried home both their groceries and a reminder to help beautify their town.

Since 1969, more than 60 Texas communities have been singled out to receive the Governor's Community Achievement Award for taking energetic steps to clean up and beautify their own backyard.

This year's six winning cities, picked from different population categories, are Commerce, Eagle Lake, Lake Jackson, Lubbock, Pearland and Tom Bean. The Beautiful Texas Council will honor these cities at its annual meeting June 20-22 in Greenville.

Texas, who take pride in their state, recognize that litter and abandoned dilapidated buildings are unattractive, lower surrounding property values, and can create a public health hazard.

Litter also discourages tourism—our state's second largest industry. With the attraction Texas holds for new industry, increased tourism and population growth, we must tackle the problem of litter and other local beautification challenges through public education programs.

Cities winning the 1984 Governor's Community Achievement Award succeeded through a variety of innovative approaches that caught the public's imagination and inspired a community to roll up its sleeves and tackle major beautification programs.

Tom Bean, population 811, came up with a catchy cleanup slogan—"Pick up what you can and can what you pick up"—and combined its anti-litter campaign with downtown building renovation. Eagle Lake's farmers donated their trucks to haul more than 600 loads of debris, junk appliances and trash to disposal sites. Church groups helped the elderly clean up their property, and the city-wide beautification effort complemented new landscaping of the Eagle Lake city square.

Pearland's aggressive beautification effort decreased litter by 50 percent as measured by a photometric index, and Lake Jackson citizens met the cleanup challenges of both Hurricane Alicia and last year's record-breaking freeze by twice replacing destroyed trees and plants. Lake Jackson's city government has demonstrated its commitment to beautification by passing ordinances on tree preservation, litter abatement, and landscaping and green space requirements for new developments.

Programs to control littering are not costly and their effectiveness depends on the level of voluntary community support. While pedestrians and motorists are blamed for the highway litter problem, studies reveal that the majority of litter originates from improperly covered home garbage cans, open business trash bins, uncovered trucks, and poorly maintained loading docks and construction sites.

For information on how your city can organize a beautification program, contact the Governor's Office of Community Leadership at (512) 475-4210.

By taking a few extra minutes to properly dispose of trash, each of us can contribute to a cleaner, more attractive Texas.

Wheat Hay

May Be Low

In Protein

Farmers made a lot of wheat hay this spring due to dry conditions which hurt grain prospects. This hay should be tested for nutritive value.

The quality of wheat hay can vary widely depending largely on the stage of maturity when cut, says Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A cool season forage such as wheat is naturally higher quality than forages growing during the warm season. But all forages lose quality rapidly as they begin to mature, notes Tanksley.

A forage analysis can reflect these differences. Wheat that was cut for hay when seedheads were beginning to form could have a protein content of 12 percent or higher. If seeds were beginning to ripen when wheat was cut, protein would be much lower.

For instance, wheat straw that is baled after the grain harvest would be quite low in protein, says Tanksley.

In addition to the stage of maturity, fertilizer improves the protein content of wheat hay. Wheat that received topdress applications of fertilizer this spring should be higher in protein than non-fertilized wheat.

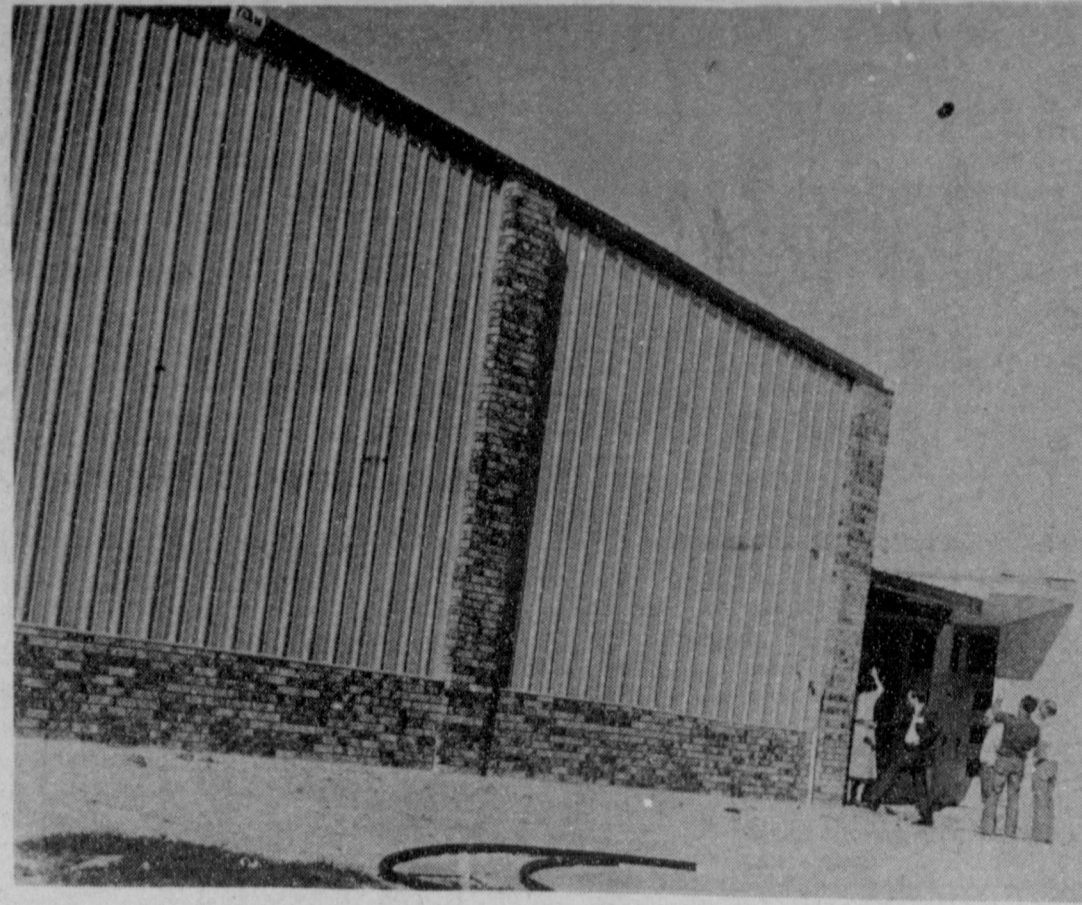

Tanksley suggests sending samples of wheat hay to the Forage Testing Lab at Texas A&M University to determine the hay's protein content and feeding value. Information sheets for submitting hay samples are available at the county extension office.

True friendship is based upon service to others, not upon favors received.

There are any number of people who will do great things if they can do them without exertion.

It finally has been proven, a few million times, that it's harder to keep one's mouth closed than open.

A sick man who pays no attention to his doctor shouldn't blame the medical profession if he fails to get well.

SCHOOL BOARD ACCEPTS NEW PHYSICAL EDUCATION BUILDING—Members of the Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees, along with Superintendent H. John Fuller toured the new physical education building at Dillman Elementary School Tuesday afternoon, and accepted the 70 x 130 building. Constructed by A&M Building Systems of Clovis, the new complex is 18 feet tall and will be used at the school in inclement weather. Complete with heating for winter, the building incorporates two restrooms and can be quickly converted to additional classrooms or meeting rooms, should the need arise in the future. The building features brick columns and walkways which tie in to the school building.

EXPORTS REPORTS:
Cotton export shipments amounted to 121,200 running bales during the week ended May 31. This brought the season's accumulated total to 5,657,700 bales, leaving undelivered sales of 1,274,300. Net new sales amounted to 4,400 bales after cancellations of 28,500 bales. Meanwhile, sales for 1984-85 delivery increased by a net of 47,000 bales to a total of 1,288,600. Major buyers were Israel, South Korea, Thailand, and Bangladesh.

PARCHED EARTH

The long summer months come and with them the dry season. All growing things begin to feel the heat and show the effects of thirst. Plant life begins to wither and fade away.

When one leaves God out of his life there is the same fading and incompleteness as the plant without water. This Sunday put God into your life. Attend church.

"If any man thirst let him come unto me, and drink."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Jubilee 75 P-S P Fair Planned

Jubilee 75 editions of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair catalog are being processed for distribution across the South Plains and eastern New Mexico. Fair general manager Steve L. Lewis said more than 5,000 copies of the catalog detailing events slated during the 67th annual exposition slated here Sept. 22-29 are being readied for mailing.

Bearing the Jubilee 75 logo as Lubbock celebrates its 75th anniversary, the catalogs include a record $80,000 in premiums again this year, Lewis said.

The premium lists include payoffs in several livestock events, a flower festival, women's exhibits, agricultural mechanics displays, horse shows and many other popular attractions.

Born on the square on 1914, the fair virtually is as old as the city. Sixty-six fairs have been held prior to this year and the total does not include layoffs during World War II years.

An all-country and western lineup has been scheduled for the stage of Fair Park Coliseum this year, kicking off with a record 11th appearance by the fair's biggest box office draw, Charley Pride. He'll be appearing at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. on opening day. Other shows include:

--George Strait, 7 p.m. only on Sept. 24;
--Lee Greenwood, 7 p.m. only Sept. 25;
--John Anderson and the Maines Brothers, 7 p.m. only Sept. 26;
--Ricky Skaggs, 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Sept. 28; and,
--David Frizzell and Shelly West, 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. Sept. 29.

Mail order requests for tickets may be sent to Show Tickets, P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408 and orders will be processed in the order in which received. Tickets will not be mailed until after August 1. Mail orders must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Energy Plantations In Dry Rangelands May Ease Future Energy Shortages

By Robert L. Haney
TAES Science Writer

Plantations of energy plants may be one answer to help solve the problems of increasing costs of declining supplies of petroleum and other non-renewable energy sources, according to Dr. Ronald D. Newton, plant physiologist at Texas A&M University.

Renewable biomass can contribute significantly to the world's energy needs and estimates of the energy potential for the United States from biomass sources is 10 to 15 percent by the year 2000.

"A substantial contribution to this potential might be derived from biomass plantations in arid regions of West Texas and the U.S.," says Newton.

"Because of the wide diversity of native and naturalized plants that grow in these areas, a great number of species have the potential for relatively large biomass production because of their water use efficiency, particularly perennial shrubs, which appear to offer good potential for improved productivity on harsh arid-land sites."

For several years, Newton has been screening and researching the fuel potential of thousands of plants adapted to millions of acres in dryland areas of the West for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Department of Energy and the Center for Energy and Mineral Research.

Highly productive native or naturalized plants, such as the perennial shrub commonly called fourwing saltbush, growing on millions of acres of rangelands of the western United States have great potential as a biomass energy source.

These rangelands would be especially advantageous for biomass production, Newton says, because there would be little competition for irrigation water and generally less need for fertilizer applications. Of all the plants he has studied, Newton says that fourwing saltbush is one of the most important shrubs on the western rangelands and is one of the top three or four in terms of potential for energy use.

This perennial shrub has good forage value for livestock and wildlife and is used widely for range restoration, mine spoil reclamation, and for stabilizing highway rights-of-way.

Evergreen shrubs such as fourwing saltbush are not common in the Trans Pecos region and its successful establishment would enhance the forage capabilities as well as the soil stabilization properties of the land.

"Comparisons of several top species revealed by our research," Newton says, "including mesquite, Johnsongrass and Kochia indicate that fourwing saltbush produces more biomass than the other three species."

"Field trials with these plants at El Paso and Big Lake indicate that there is a tremendous genetic variability among plants successfully established at these sites."

"The large plant size derived from established seedlings indicates the potential productivity that this species can produce in areas of limited precipitation.

"The nature of the fourwing saltbush will permit mowing each year or every other year and the shrub will sprout and regenerate itself so that once established, an energy plantation will furnish biomass on a long-term basis."

"The plantings that we have made in the field have been from seedlings derived from a variety of seed selected from native fourwing saltbush plants growing in the Southwestern U.S. These field data show a wide range of growth potential, (0.5 to 5.0 tons/acre), which does not appear to be associated with the environment, but instead suggests it is genetic."

"Therefore, through current conventional plant breeding and the 'new biotechnology', the variation that one finds in nature can be capitalized upon and utilized to produce more biomass per acre than what now exists in semi-arid West Texas."

"We are in an era, for the next 20 years, in which new biotechnology is developing, allowing plant breeders to drastically modify plant characteristics. This is usually referred to as genetic engineering or 'recombinant DNA' technology."

"This is widely talked about as providing large returns in food crops and these techniques can also affect biomass plants."

"The cloning of selected and 'genetically engineered' variants for specific habitats (semi-arid Southwest) and for specific purposes (energy content) provides us with the op-

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I've about gotten used to cars costing three times as much as they did a few years ago, gasoline four times as much and presidential campaigns five times as much, but I'm still having trouble getting used to the huge salaries some people make.

For example, when a big automobile executive was suggested as a vice presidential candidate, a friend of his said he wouldn't be interested, not for a vice president's "meager salary of $91,000 a year."

I can't get used to the idea that $91,000 a year is a meager, but I guess if I was an automobile executive making a base salary of $500,000 a year plus a two or three million-dollar bonus, $91,000 would seem like peanuts.

The times have left me behind. I can't get used to the idea of a movie star's getting paid one million dollars to appear in one movie, and not a good one at that. Or a big labor boss drawing $500,000 a year. I can't get used to the idea of a basketball player getting 4 million dollars for six months work, a boxer getting 15 million for one fight if he wins and 7 million if he loses, or a quarterback right out of college being guaranteed 40 million dollars during his lifetime, unless, I suppose, the team's owner doesn't get busted. Because we read about it so often, it has become ordinary for somebody to buy a million-dollar home. Ex-President Nixon did it not long ago, but I'm so set in my ways I believe I'd have bought a $50,000 home and put the rest of the million in C.D.s.

A $50,000 home? Why a few years ago that would have seemed like utter extravagance. Nobody, it was said, should be throwing money around like that. Some people now consider a $50,000 home substandard. Yours faithfully, J.A.

Haste rarely saves time.

Luck is often the product of attention and ability.

Who's the head of the house is often a matter of argument.

If you think well of those who think well of you the score is even.

Life can be enjoyed by all who are willing to accept it patiently.

Being careful is less painful than being injured-and less expensive, too.
