Weekend Wrecks Kill One; Leave 2 Injured

A 69-year old Maple resident was killed late Saturday afternoon, apparently instantly, after he rolled his pickup south of Maple.

Lawrence Smith, Sr., was pronounced dead at the scene of the one-vehicle accident by Bailey County Judge Gordon H. Green, who was acting as coroner.

The accident occurred around 6:30 p.m. and was witnessed by one area farmer who was working in a nearby field. He said Smith appeared to lose control of his pickup and veered off the roadway. He apparently overcorrected, and went to the other side of the road overturned more than one time, with the pickup ending up on its wheels in the ditch.

At presstime, Smith's only known survivor was a son, Lawrence, jr. who resides in California.

Earlier on Saturday, around 11:30 a.m., a two vehicle accident east of Muleshoe on Highway 70 injured two persons.

Both vehicles were eastbound on highway 70 when Alva Sparks of Muleshoe attempted a left turn on a county dirt road. At that time she was being passed by Stanley Seagroves.

The right front of the Sparks vehicle were smashed, with the left front tire of Mrs. Sparks vehicle being knocked from her vehicle.

The Muleshoe Fire Department was summoned to the wreck to use the 'Jaws of Life' to help free Seagroves from the car, which had ended up down the ditch.

CONNIE GUPTON

Connie Gupton Named Director In State Group

Connie Gupton of Muleshoe has been elected to the board of directors of the Association of Texas Rural Electric Cooperatives. The action came during the Association's 44th annual meeting last week in San Antonio.

Gupton is manager of Bailey County Electric Cooperative, a position he's held since 1977. His career with the Cooperative dates back to 1950 when he joined the staff as office manager.

During his career, he has served as past president of the TEC Accounting Association and as president of the Rural Telephone and Electric Federal Credit Union. He is a member of the board of directors of the Kim-Wood and Golder Spread Electric Cooperatives, which are organizations of rural electric systems on the High Plains. He's a member of the Muleshoe Lions Club, past president of the Muleshoe Country Club, and past master of the Muleshoe Masonic Lodge.

He is married to the former Pearl Childress, and is the father of a son, David Gupton, who is married and resides in Midland, and a daughter, Susan (Mrs. Vince) Griffin of Midland.

Debris from the pickup was scattered down the ditch and onto the roadway.

He was a farm laborer, working for James Kindle of the Maple community, and had been a longtime resident of the southwestern Bailey County.

Smith's body was taken to the funeral home in Morton, however a spokeswoman there said no funeral arrangements were expected to be made before today (Thursday).

Chamber Of Commerce Breakfast 'Successful'

More than 60 people were out of bed very early on Monday morning for the first Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture breakfast in some time.

Members of the Jennyslippers cooked and served a breakfast of bacon and sausage, scrambled eggs, gravy, sliced cantelope, hot biscuits, jelly, preserves and juice and coffee.

Guest speaker was Tim Martin, executive vice president and general manager of the Clovis (N.M.) Chamber of Commerce.

Martin said he was in Muleshoe for two reasons. First, he said he wanted to explain the importance of the Chamber of Commerce; and second, tell What's In It For You.

He presented a slide presentation on A Chamber of Commerce, explaining the functions, and purposes. "A Chamber of Commerce was originally formed to preserve the private enterprise system," according to the presentation.

It is a group formed to meet political and business needs after-determination of goals; have a sound structure; a committed leadership; participating members; necessary financing and efficient administration.

The Clovis CofC executive said "I believe in the Chamber of Commerce. I believe that one person can make a difference. It takes people just like you to get behind the program and make it work."

"The more you put into it, the more you get out of it. Get involved, be involved, and your Chamber of Commerce will work."

Toni Eagle, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, told persons at the breakfast that a Farmer's Market has been scheduled for August 18.

She also encouraged persons to continue with the clean-up campaign currently underway. Saturday morning, 8-12 a.m., will be the community wide clean-up and everyone is encouraged to get out with hoes, and rakes.

Mrs. Eagle said this is an opportune time to get those weeds all cleared out and debris cleaned up. Many tourists are

84 Vegetable Harvest Now Well Underway

At this time, the vegetable processing plants in the area are in full swing, with the 1984 vegetable harvest well underway. The red potato harvest is virtually over, and white potatoes are now being processed.

Again this year, several local and area farmers are growing vegetables commercially.

Onions have already been harvested, and potatoes, cucumbers, and cabbage are being processed at this time.

Tim Campbell, who is growing potatoes, cucumbers and pumpkin, reported that his potato and cucumber harvest is now approximately one-half through and both yield and prices are good.

In the Progress area, Ben Roming is growing pumpkin, cucumbers, tomatoes, bell peppers, and jalapeno peppers.

This year, Lloyd Williams is producing cucumbers and potatoes. His harvest of these vegetables is just about over at this time, said Mrs. Williams.

Other vegetables being produced in the area include food corn, cabbage, carrots, watermelon and lettuce.

Let's All Help 'Put A Shine' On Muleshoe

The Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture announced on Monday, July 30, that "Good Morning, America" had called to obtain information on the Mule Day Festival. They informed the CofC that Muleshoe is being considered for filming on this day.

"In view of this information," said Toni Eagle, CofC manager, "the businesses and citizens are urged to participate."

"The Chamber asks that all Muleshoe citizens, interested in their hometown, meet at 8 a.m. at Roy Whitt's Used Car Lot. Work groups will be directed to different areas and groups will work until noon."

Mrs. Eagle continued, "Every club and organization is urged to be represented. Adults and kids are urged to help. If for some reason you can't physically help, maybe you can afford to pay YES

Schools Here Scheduled For $1 Million Revenue

"The Legislative Committee does not understand rural schools," said State Sen. Bill Sarpalus Tuesday to the Muleshoe Rotary Club. "I was concerned about local taxes going up as there was talk about placing the entire tax burden (to finance new school legislation) in the rural areas."

Sarpalus was speaking about the recent special session of the legislature to consider and pass new school legislation, including a new method of financing mandatory legislation.

"I did not support the education bill as it was first presented," he added, "but did vote on it after some changes were made."

He also explained that Muleshoe did have to raise taxes to pay for the new mandatory legislation, yet the local schools will get up to $1 million in additional tax money for the schools.

"One of the major fights with Ross Perot (head of the select committee to propose educational changes) was over their vocational education programs," continued the senator.

"He was going across the state saying the program was bicycle repair and pottery making. What he (Perot) didn't tell the people was that those programs were for the disabled and blind. He failed to mention that 44 percent of all kids today are in the vocational education programs."

Sarpalus said that with a 30 percent dropout in high school students at this time, if the vocational education program was done away with, the high school dropout figures would rise to at least 50 percent.

"Not all high school students will be going on to college," advocates Sen. Sarpalus, "and many of these students use the vocational education program to get a background in employment."

Another bill Sen. Sarpalus did not support was the original bill saying each school district must offer a pre-kindergarten. "It was

City, County Mixed Drink Rebate Checks Are Larger

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday sent checks totaling $11.8 million to 222 counties and 426 cities as their share of the state's 10 percent mixed drink tax collected during the second quarter of 1984.

Bullock said the state collected a total $40.9 million in taxes on the sale of mixed drinks during the quarter, up 5.5 percent over the same period in 1983.

Muleshoe received a check in the amount of $134.05 on reported taxes of $893.69, while Bailey County's share was $888.40 on taxes reported at $5,876.02.

Castro County received a check in the amount of $854.04 on reported taxes of $5,693.59, while Dimmitt's check was $562.77 on taxes of $3,751.82 and Nazareth reported taxes of $551.07 and received a check in the amount of $82.66.

In Lamb County, Littlefield received a check in the amount of $688.80 on taxes reported at $4,591.99 and Lamb County's check was $1,251.34 on their reported taxes of $8,342.24.

Parmer County reported taxes of $173.90 and received a check in the amount of $26.09.

For Cochran County, the check was $49.03 on reported taxes of $993.53.

Texas cities and counties each receive a 15 percent rebate on the tax collected on mixed drinks as sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state.

The state's general revenue fund will receive the balance--$29.1 million--of the tax money collected.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the Comptroller's office.

Bullock said the mixed drink tax has brought in $80 million so far during 1984.

The Texas Legislature recently increased the mixed drink tax from 10 to 12 percent, and decreased the city and county share of the tax from 15 percent to 12.5 percent, effective October 2, 1984, but the actual amount returned to cities and counties will not change, and the state will get the entire gain from the tax increase, Bullock concluded.

IT'S POTATO TIME AGAIN--At this time, the potato harvest is approximately one-half over in this area, and the potato packing operations are very busy, with both the yields and prices reported to be 'up' for the crop this year. Harvest of red potatoes is virtually over, and the harvest of white potatoes is well underway.

SATURDAY ACCIDENT INJURES TWO--Muleshoe Fire Department members used the 'Jaws of Life' to remove Stanley Seagroves from his vehicle just before noon Saturday following an accident on Highway 70 east of Muleshoe. He is in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock for treatment of injuries from the wreck.

Electronic Marketing Creates Hay Market

Buyers and sellers of hay now have access to a vast new hay market via their own telephone. The country's first electronic hay marketing system, National Hay Exchange, Inc., was introduced June 15. Results have been very encouraging.

Based in San Antonio, Texas, National Hay Exchange is the first marketing service to match buyers with sellers via a toll free telephone number (1-800-428-2002), experienced hay marketing specialists and a central computer. With instant access to a broad, consistent hay market, callers to the Exchange may list hay to sell or place orders to buy hay. For hay producers or users, such as feedlots, dairies, ranches or horse owners, the potential is unlimited.

In its first month, National Hay Exchange traded hay in a wide range of prices, reflecting the individual type of hay, quality, form (bales, etc.) and location. Alfalfa hay traded at $60 per ton to $120 per ton. Grass hay traded from $35 per ton to $80 per ton.

"Volume of early trading on the Exchange is greater than we expected," says Bert Morris, president of the National Hay Exchange. "Normally, something involving a computer takes awhile to be understood and accepted."

"But recent unusual weather-droughts and heavy rains in different parts of the country -- has made buyers and sellers look for a wider, national hay market. They appreciate having their trading handled with a single telephone call."

"Using the National Hay Exchange is almost as simple as placing 'want to buy' or 'want to sell' ads in your local newspaper," Morris says. "But the ad gets national exposure, and trader gets the service and financial security of dealing with an organization dedicated to efficient hay marketing."

The Exchange accepts calls 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

A typical National Hay Exchange transaction begins with a seller phoning the toll free number to list at least one truckload of hay. (Before buyers or sellers can use the Exchange, an application for membership must be submitted. There is no charge or obligation for membership.)

An Exchange hay marketing specialist asks the seller for an accurate description of the hay, ranging from hay type, to bale size, how the hay is stored, maturity at harvest, color, smell, any chemical treatments and laboratory analysis results, if taken.

The seller also sets a price for the hay lot. This information is encoded into the National Hay Exchange computer.

Potential buyers also call the central toll free number, listing the type, amount and price of hay they wish to purchase. The Exchange's high-speed computer searches until a match is confirmed. If a near match is found, the Exchange negotiates a trade between the two parties, if both wish to proceed with the transaction.

Once a sale is confirmed, the National Hay Exchange arranges transportation of the hay to the buyer's designated drop site, via a system of independent truckers linked with the Exchange computer. (The National Hay Exchange welcomes calls from truckers, via the toll free number 1-800-628-8785.)

Upon delivery, the buyer pays the following: total cost of hay, the transportation charge and half of the Exchange commission. The seller pays the other half since the Exchange serves both buyer and seller. The sales commission is the only fee paid for using the Exchange. There are no dues or initiation fees, and there are no charges for listing or ordering hay. Listings and orders can be changed or cancelled at no cost.

The National Hay Exchange also provides an arbitrator for any dispute in which the buyer contests the quality of hay delivered, saying it was not as described by the seller.

"We offer sellers a better chance of finding buyers wanting a particular quality of hay who are willing to pay the asking price," Morris says. "We also offer them a better chance of selling all of their hay, even that of lesser quality, as long as it is fairly described and priced accordingly. For the buyer, we offer more choices of quality and prices, and a better chance of locating specific quantities."

A free brochure explaining the National Hay Exchange is now available. The brochure includes an application for free membership in the Exchange, and describes the conditions and benefits of Exchange trading.

For more information, buyers and sellers should call the National Hay Exchange at 1-800-428-2002, or write to Membership, National Hay Exchange Inc., 888 Isom Road, Suite 250, San Antonio, Texas 78216.

Ag Chemicals In Good Supply

Farmers should have a good arsenal of agricultural chemicals available for their 1984 crop season.

Supplies of pesticides, fertilizers and fuels are holding steady for the current crop season, says an agribusiness economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

However, pesticide use is expanding as field crop acreage rises, points out Dr. Forrest Stegelin. Farmers will use about 440 million pounds of herbicides, 67 million pounds of insecticides and 7 million pounds of fungicides this season, as measured in terms of active ingredient.

Pesticide supplies are sufficient to meet this expected demand in the major crop regions although spot shortages of some newly marketed formulations have been reported in the Corn Belt. However, no shortage have been reported in Texas, says Stegelin. Farmers will pay about 7 percent less for herbicides and 5 percent less for insecticides in 1984 compared to last season.

Total fertilizer use on field crops is expected to climb 17 percent this year despite an overall rise in fertilizer prices, says the economist. Farmers will apply an estimated 10.7 million tons of nitrogen, 4.8 million tons of phosphorus and 5.7 million tons of potash this season. Average farm prices likely will be up 16 percent for nitrogen, 8 percent for phosphorus and 5 percent for potash. Domestic production and imports of the three plant nutrients should meet anticipated demand.

The recent upsurge of the Iran-Iraq conflict in the Persian Gulf has renewed concern over petroleum availability and the outlook for prices of energy such as diesel, gasoline and home heating oil. This volatile situation also could affect petrochemical products such as pesticides and fertilizers. This is of particular interest to farmers who are expected to use 10 percent more energy this year due to increased crop acreage, Stegelin points out. He expects farm energy expenditures to rise to $8.4 billion from $7.7 billion in 1983.

Despite the Persian Gulf conflict and the upcoming peak agricultural energy demand during production and harvest, farmers can expect average per gallon prices to hold constant through this fall at about $1.18 for gasoline, $1.04 for diesel fuel, and 77 cents lp gas, says the economist.

Beware Of High Temperatures, High Humidity

If summertime temperatures seem hotter than they actually are, they really may be. It all has to do with the temperature-relative humidity combination--one that can affect your health.

Once temperatures reach the century mark (which they have in recent days over parts of Texas), folks who work and play outdoors should pay special heed to weather conditions, emphasizes Dr. Mickey Flynn, meteorologist with the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University. Among heat related problems are heatstroke, sunstroke, heat cramps and heat exhaustion.

To warn people about the possibility of these problems, the National Weather Service has initiated the use of a "heat index" or "apparent temperature," Flynn points out. For example, if the actual air temperature is 100 degrees and the relative humidity is 40 percent, the heat index or apparent temperature would be 110 degrees. Should the relative humidity increase to 60 percent with the same 100-degree air temperature, the heat index or apparent temperature would climb to 130 degrees--a level which would make heatstroke or sunstroke imminent.

Heat index or apparent temperature is a measure of the contribution humidity makes with high temperatures to reduce the human body's ability to cool itself, explains Flynn. The body normally cools itself by perspiring, and this perspiration then evaporates from the skin. However, high relative humidity hinders the evaporation of perspiration, causing the body to become overheated.

Flynn points out that National Weather Service forecasts will alert the public to specific conditions which might pose a health danger. Since temperatures and levels of relative humidity vary greatly over Texas, NWS regional offices will likely issue different forecasts. However, most forecasts will likely use the heat index or apparent temperature when this figure reaches 110 degrees or more.

Pesticide chemicals more important than the product's name

COLLEGE STATION — Garden enthusiasts combatting insects this summer should look for the active chemical when buying pesticides rather than the product's name, says a Texas A&M University entomologist.

"You'll be better off looking for the active ingredients you want," said Dr. Rodney Holloway, "because products often contain the same ingredients but are sold by different companies which use their own marketing formula and charge different prices. The amount you pay doesn't always indicate how much pesticide you are buying."

In many cases different pesticides can be used in the same situation, he added. Diazinon, malathion, Sevin and Dursban are the most popular insecticides and will kill fleas, mites, aphids and cockroaches inside and outside the house. Holloway said. Chlordane is limited by the Environmental Protection Agency for termite control only.

VIRGINIA 4-H YOUTH VISIT IN BAILEY COUNTY-Pictured above is a group of 4-H youth from Appomattox County Virginia, who are presently visiting in Bailey County on an exchange trip. They have been visiting various area points of interest during their one week stay in this county. They will be returning to Virginia this weekend.

Minnie Redwine Honored For Her 90th Birthday

Mrs. Minnie Redwine was honored on the occasion of her 90th birthday with a weekend celebration on Saturday and Sunday.

Although her birthday was Tuesday, July 31, the first celebration took place at the Bailey County Civic Center on Saturday, July 28, with a catered fish and chicken dinner for 69 persons who signed the register.

Ten of Mrs. Redwine's 11 children attended the dinner, and the out of town relatives spent Saturday night with other relatives in the area.

On Sunday afternoon, birthday cake, punch, and homemade ice cream were served to approximately 80 family members and friends on the patio of Marcia Henry's home.

The patio was decorated with a birthday banner reading "Happy 90th-Granma" with large bows of peach and blue ribbon on wrought iron dividers, and clusters of balloons.

Hosted by grandchildren and great-grandchildren, they decorated the serving table with white lace over peach, centered by a large blue and peach floral arrangement. Guests registered at a table also with white lace over peach, and centered with a blue and peach floral arrangement in a brandy snifter.

Focal point of the decorations included a large "family tree" cut out and decorated with "apples" which told the history of each of the 11 Redwine children.

During the afternoon R.B. Cunningham brought his mules and wagon and took Mrs. Redwine for a ride.

Youngest person at the celebration was Reese Watson, two weeks old, of Pampa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike (Charlotte) Watson. Mrs. Watson is the granddaughter of the late J.L. Redwine.

Minnie Armstrong was born on July 31, 1894 in Eddyville, Ky. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Armstrong. She had three sisters and four brothers.

Minnie Love Armstrong and John Jackson Redwine were married on June 16, 1912. The wedding day went like this -- they attended church services that morning, then they invited the congregation of friends and relatives to the Redwine home where they were married on the front porch. His step mother prepared supper for everyone, then they all went for Sunday evening church services.

Mr. and Mrs. Redwine became the parents of 15 children, with 13 of the children reaching adulthood.

The Redwines moved to Bailey County in 1941. Their youngest three daughters and three sons attended school at Progress.

Mrs. Redwine enjoys playing the piano, guitar and fiddle. She also plays the banjo.

Her pastime is piecing quilt tops. She enjoys sending cards to relatives and friends and writes letters regularly, especially to her many descendants. Mrs. Redwine has a total of 218 descendants. She has 11 surviving children, 43 grandchildren, 90 great-grandchildren and 17 great-great grandchildren.

Golf Specialist Will Perform In Clovis

Golfers and non-golfers are wondering about the appearance of Paul Hahn Jr., who is scheduled to perform at Colonial Park Country Club in Clovis, Saturday, August 4 at 5:30 p.m. Hahn will present a benefit performance for Mental Health Resources, Inc. All profits from the event will go to support mental health, drug and alcohol services in Eastern New Mexico.

Advance tickets at $5 each are available at MHR's Clovis office in the Memorial Services Center, 12th and Thornton; at Colonial Park Country Club and from MHR staff members. Children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by a parent.

From a 90-pound golf bag, Hahn will pull out an assortment of weird looking clubs, some with 360 degree swivel joints in the shafts, some with whippy fiberglass shafts as in a fishing rod, and some with rubber hoses as shafts. With all these unusual clubs, he will hit phenomenal drives down the fairway.

His one-hour show combines a semi-serious golf clinic and a demonstration of trick golf shots. Throughout the clinic, Hahn weaves a web of satire that has had audiences from coast to coast and border to border in stitches.

Hahn will drive long shots while kneeling and then sit on a sports seat to pound out 250 yard drives. All the time, he will entertain his audience with his Bob Hope type jokes.

Hahn says the pendulum shot is his toughest trick. In this shot, he has a ball suspended on a string and while the ball swings back and forth, he catches it at exactly the right mini-second and drives it over 250 yards down the fairway.

Additional features are the educational benefits the audience derives from the golf clinic. Paul Hahn is a dedicated teacher and has a long line of successes in teaching the game. This event promises to be excellent entertainment for the entire family.

on the basis that each student who qualified for free lunch was classified as a disadvantaged child. We were afraid that would open the door for the schools to become a free babysitting service.

"In many instances, it would also create the problem of having to construct new classrooms. As it is forbidden in the state constitution for school construction to be financed with state funds, that would create an additional tax burden for rural schools."

With the pre-kindergarten, Sarpalius said that would put four year old children on buses very early in the morning, and in many instances get them back home very late in the evening.

Another problem for the legislature came up with the proposal for the way to obtain state school board members. According to the original bill, not supported by Sarpalius, the governor would appoint a nine member board. This was changed into a 15-region board. The original proposal for the 15 member board also was disputed, as Amarillo was tied in with Tyler in the same region. After revision, Amarillo and Lubbock were placed in the same district with school board members to be appointed from each of the 15 districts. At the end of four years, the region will elect a member to represent their region on the school board.

Sen. Sarpalius also explained the Career ladder plan for teachers, and said a teacher who has reached the third, or Master Teacher, step, can make $32,000 per year. However, he does not totally support the bill as he does not believe the bill gives enough credit to teachers with years of teaching experience.

He also did not support competency testing for teachers, as there "is no way to design a test to be fair to all teachers. You cannot design a test to compare a second grade teacher to a teacher who teachers woodworking."

A number of visitors were on hand for the meeting on Tuesday.

Know Your Chamber Of Commerce

Toni Eagle, Mgr.

WHY JOIN?

Business and professional men and women join the Chamber for various reasons. Members of the Membership Development Club will want to be familiar with some of the key reasons for membership. What are some of these reasons?

1. Joining hands with your fellow business and professional partner in attacking the persistent problems present in every industrial area.
2. You are a citizen doing business in this area and sharing in its prosperity. As the Muleshoe area grows, you will grow.
3. You owe something to our community besides taxes and donations. Give a little of yourself.
4. Display a membership plaque to tell everyone you believe in action...not just words.
5. United effort is needed to cause an entire area to prosper, to compete successfully with other sections for new payrolls.
6. Exchange ideas and methods by associating with other business leaders. Talents you could not afford to pay for alone are yours to share.
7. Promote the civic and economic well being of your entire community.
8. At 35 cents a day you cannot afford not to be a member of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce.
9. Without a strong effective Chamber of Commerce, Muleshoe would be less able to compete with other cities for new industries, and new payrolls.
10. Each business and professional person reaps benefits through the concerted planning, counsel and action that is best obtained through the work of the Muleshoe Chamber.
11. Your investment in the Chamber is plowed back to yield manyfold benefits in expanded trade, safety, health, business protection, legislation, and cultural advancement.

12. By joining the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, business and professional people join a partnership of progress in which their investment of money, minds, and manpower make a world of difference.

13. Responsibility for the free enterprise and profit-motive system is not a responsibility limited to a few. It is an obligation and a privilege shared by every responsible, forward-looking citizen.

14. Responsibility for community and area progress is not a responsibility limited to a handful of Muleshoe citizens. It is a responsibility shared by all Muleshoe citizens, and of particular concern to each business and professional man and woman in the community. Industrial and commercial expansion and needed public facility improvements must be planned and worked for just as diligently as each businessperson works for the success of his own business.

Faith in anything doesn't waver with the shifting winds of fortune.

Also, Mrs. Eagle said a representative from Good Morning America in New York City had called and talked to her for more than 30 minutes last week about the Mule Day Festival, scheduled for August 11.

They have indicated they will have a camera crew in Muleshoe to film the Mule Day Festival, and will confirm this within a short time.

New Law Designed To Protect Children

A law just passed by the Texas Legislature and signed by Governor Mark White will go a long way toward protecting the health and safety of Texas children. The new law requires the use of automobile safety seats or seat belts for children under age four. Its aim is to reduce the grim statistics which have Texas leading the nation in deaths and injuries for this age group.

Last year in Texas, 78 children under the age of four died as innocent passengers in automobiles, and another 6,603 were injured—many seriously. National studies indicate that up to 80 percent of the deaths and injuries could have been avoided through the proper use of child passenger safety restraints.

Texas lawmakers passed the bill mandating the use of child passenger safety seats systems on June 30, 1984. Specifically, the legislation requires children under two years old to be secured in child passenger safety seats, and children between the ages of two and four years to be secured by either safety seats or safety belts. The law goes into effect October 31, 1984.

The new legislation also provides for a $25-$50 fine for noncompliance, but the penalty can be dismissed if a person acquires a safety seat system within 10 days of the offense. No fines will be charged until January 1, 1985.

In reaction to the new law, Dr. Robert Bernstein, Commissioner of Health, said, "It gives me great pleasure and relief to learn that the legislature has acted on this program. The new law, combined with public education and awareness campaigns, will save the lives and protect the safety of thousands of infants and young children in Texas."

In an effort to increase parents' voluntary use of safety seats and to reduce the number of young children killed or injured in motor vehicle accidents, the Texas Department of Health has initiated the Safe Riders program.

This program, conducted in cooperation with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, began in

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher by The Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek reports on the younger generation in some other countries.

Dear editor:
Every once in a while we read stories in the paper about how disciplined young people in other countries are, how they all study hard, go to school longer hours each day than American kids and all grow up, in the case of Japan, to make better TV sets and cameras than the U.S., and in the case of Russia, to make better guided missiles.

Well, last year in Russia kids smashed 1,800 square meters of telephone-booth windows. Very few were charged with drunk driving, but thousands were for drunk walking.

Now in Japan, some shocking news has just come out. In a land where all children are supposed to respect and obey their parents, fifty percent of the kids have refused to learn to use chopsticks.

This no doubt is a bafflement to Japanese parents and they must be wondering what's happening to the younger generation, but I can understand the kids' viewpoint.

Can you imagine trying to eat a hamburger with chopsticks? Or a fried chicken leg? On television, I've seen it tried on soup, but I have an idea a kid, when nobody is looking, will pick up the bowl and slurp it.

As for Russian kids smashing telephone-booth glass, I know how you feel when you drop a coin in a pay telephone slot and it's swallowed without giving you a dial tone, but it's no way to get an international arms control agreement. Have they tried break-dancing?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Control White Grubs In Your Lawn Now

May or June beetles have emerged from the soil and the females are laying eggs in lawns on the South Plains. White grub worms that hatch are beginning to feed on roots of grass in home lawns. Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken, says Spencer Tankley county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Treatment time varies with the particular area of the state and ranges from early July in South Texas to mid-August in the Panhandle. Homeowners in Bailey County should treat between late July and mid-August if white grubs are a problem Tankley said. Timing of application is critical for adequate control, he stressed.

White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns, Tankley said. He advised homeowners to check for white grubs by cutting a square-foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to a depth of four inches. Examine at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 square feet of lawn area.

"Chemical treatment is needed if there are two or three grubs per square foot of sod," the county agent said.

Diazinon or dursban provide adequate control and should be used at recommended rates given on the chemical label. The granular form is easier to apply and wash into the soil than liquid or spray formulations.

"After using granules, drag the grass with at tow sack or water hose to knock them down to the soil. Then apply about two inches of water to soak the granules into the soil," Tankley said.

Offencol, a new white grub insecticide, works well but may not be locally available in some areas, the agent said.

The key to white grub control in home lawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where grubs are feeding, Tankley emphasized.

Further information is provided in the publication, "White Grubs in Texas Turfgrass," available at the county Extension office.

COMBEST COMMENTS

By Larry Combest
 Keeping in Touch with the 19th District

It was hot and sunny last August 30th, when my wife, Sharon, and I made our trip across the 19th Congressional District. We began at dawn and it was late that night when we got back home.

Our congressional district covers a large part of West Texas. There are fifteen counties: Ector, Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Yoakum, Dawson, Terry, Gaines, and Andrews counties.

The people of the 19th District have much in common. We share a growing concern for the future of our family, our community and our country. And we share one voice and one vote in the United States Congress.

I'd visited people across the district many times, but my trip last August was different. This time I was announcing my candidacy for the office of Congress. This time I was asking for the opportunity to represent you in Washington.

As I made my announcement at each county courthouse, I made a promise to stay in touch with you, the people of the 19th district. That's why I chose to announce my candidacy in every county in our district. That's why I'm writing this column.

Since I began my campaign last year, I've met and talked with thousands of people. But it's impossible to talk with each of the more than 200,000 voters in the 19th district personally.

Television and radio ads aren't necessarily bad. However the best they can do in thirty seconds is give a brief summary.

So, I've decided to use this newspaper space to discuss the problems facing our district and our country and to tell you what I, as your representative, would do to help solve them.

The Founding Fathers were very clear what they wanted the House of Representatives to be. They made it much larger than the Senate so each representative could spend more time with his constituents. And they made house members face the voters every other year so they would be more responsible to the people. From the beginning the House was intended to be the branch of government that most represented the will of the people.

The office of Congress belongs to you, the people of the 19th district. Let me know how you feel on the issues discussed in these columns. If you agree or disagree with my position, let me know. You can write me at 1606 Avenue X, Lubbock, 79401, or call me at (806) 762-1984. If your club or association is planning a meeting and would like to discuss your concerns, please let me know.

Last August I asked a farmer what his Representative could do that would help him the most. He smiled and said, "Could you get us a little more rain?" I told him my dad always said not to make promises you can't keep. So, I will make you this promise: I'll work hard to serve the people of West Texas and I'll always keep in touch with the 19th District.

I thank all the people who worked so hard with me in the primary election campaign. I'll never forget your kind words, your encouragement, and your support.

Larry Combest is a fourth generation West Texan. He has worked as a farmer, teacher, for the A.S.C.S. and for Senator John Tower as legislative assistant for agricultural policy and constituent services. He is a candidate for U. S. Congress, 19th District.

Size Important In Breeding

Cattlemen can improve their calf crop by paying close attention to the selection of replacement heifers.

"The key is to select replacement heifers based on weight and frame size," says Dr. L.R. Sprott, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University system.

"This should be done when heifers are 15 months old so that they can be bred to calve at two years of age," Sprott points out.

Studies have shown that heavier, large framed heifers will have a higher pregnancy rate, particularly during the second breeding season.

In a study last year on the Four G Ranch in Waller County, heifers were divided into three weight groups—at about 15 months of age and placed with bulls. Similar comparisons were made regarding frame size.

The heaviest heifers had more than an 84 percent pregnancy rate in the first breeding season, from 5 to 8 percent higher than the two lighter weight groups, notes Sprott. However, the big difference came in the second breeding season when the heaviest heifers boasted a 90 percent pregnancy rate compared to 74 and 79 percent for the two lighter weight groups of heifers.

Sprott also notes that the larger framed heifers had higher pregnancy rates throughout the test period.

"This study clearly shows that selecting heavier, large framed replacement heifers can lead to an increased calf crop," points out Sprott, "both during the first and second breeding seasons."

John Snider, child passenger safety coordinator at TDH, said the program consists of the statewide awareness effort and a special demonstration project in the Dallas/Fort Worth area (Public Health Region 5).

The statewide effort includes: A public awareness campaign to encourage parents to use child safety seats in their cars;

A toll-free information line (1-800-252-8255) manned by bilingual (English/Spanish) operators from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday;

Promotional and educational materials for consumers and health care providers concerning the use and availability of car safety seats; and Educational resource materials for community leaders who want to establish loaner and reduced-cost sales programs.

"Because children cannot decide for themselves whether or not to use a safety seat, the statewide Safe Riders public awareness campaign will inform the public about the benefits of using car safety seats properly and consistently," Snider said.

"Information in English and Spanish about localized child passenger safety programs which loan or sell seats at reduced prices is available through the hotline. In addition, callers may order bilingual educational materials, as well as receive consumer information about safety seats," he said.

The demonstration project in the Dallas/Fort Worth area includes:

A localized public awareness campaign;

Face-to-face educational programs and technical assistance for health care providers and community leaders to establish loaner and discount sales programs and to encourage local parents to use safety seats; and

Provision of about 1,900 safety seats to supplement existing loaner programs and stimulate the creation of new ones.

This demonstration project is expected to show that the deaths and injuries of children in motor vehicle accidents will decrease with better availability and wider use of child safety seats. The Dallas/Fort Worth area was targeted because it has a high number of children who are under age four and who do not use safety seats and because it has a high percentage of deaths and injuries resulting from automobile accidents.

To further widen the scope of the child passenger safety program in Texas, TDH is sponsoring the first statewide Child Passenger Safety Education Conference. It will be held in Austin on September 13-14 at the Austin South Plaza Hotel. The conference is also sponsored by the Texas Public Health Association, Texas Society of Public Health Education, Texas Medical Association, Texas Pediatric Society, American Academy of Pediatrics-Texas Chapter, Texas Medical Association Auxiliary, Center for Health Promotion Research and Development, Texas Coalition for Child Passenger Safety, Texas Safety Association, and the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Individuals or groups who wish to donate or contribute to the child passenger safety effort in Texas can call 1-800-252-8255 for more information.

A&M dean predicts ag scientist shortage

COLLEGE STATION — The college of scientists retiring from colleges of agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture, coupled with declining agricultural enrollments, could lead to a serious shortage of agricultural scientists, said Dr. H.O. Kunkel, dean of Texas A&M University's College of Agriculture.

Kunkel referred to a USDA report which suggests a general shortfall of 15 percent in graduates in higher education in agriculture by 1985, particularly in agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, agricultural sciences, food sciences, and soil and plant sciences.

An estimated 15,000 doctorate degrees will be granted in agricultural sciences during the next decade, he said, but that may not be enough.

"The raw numbers suggest that needs will be met," Kunkel said, "but almost 40 percent of the students studying for Ph.D.s in the United States are nonimmigrant citizens of other countries, and the vast majority of these will likely find employment in countries other than the U.S."

Matador Gets Old Hospital For New School

Today, Maurice Barksdale, Assistant Secretary for Housing of HUD, presented the City of Matador, Texas' Mayor, Gary Lancaster, a signed deed on a former hospital building. On April 30, 1984, two tornados struck the City of Matador, Texas, demolishing the only school building and 27 homes. It also severely damaged 60 other residences.

According to I.L. "Smoky" Sanchez-Davis, Acting Regional Administrator of HUD in Ft. Worth, the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development responded within two days to the City's need for a school facility and storage area for public records by leasing them the former Motley County General Hospital building for $1. Since the City's needs are long term, the City offered to purchase the building. HUD authorized a negotiated sale to the City for $1 purchase price.

In his remarks, Mr. Barksdale said, "The Reagan Administration is committed to helping Americans that have been affected by a disaster such as this. Providing a building to replace the demolished school was one thing we wanted to do to help Matador."

The TIE that Binds...

Man and woman began their married life in church and according to God's holy word are joined together. With the Bible as the basis for the beginning of a new life together, it seems only reasonable that a continued study of God's word would strengthen and serve as a guide to any couple. The Bible can truly serve as a tie that will bind two together in accord. The church as God's agency on earth can help you in Bible study, and with the guidance of the Holy Spirit can help you to understand God's will in your life.

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not." Isaiah 58-11

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
