What the Matter Was.

He stood, a bronzed and battered form.
Within an old embrasure warm.
And leaned upon a cannon old.
Half sucken in the fragrant mold;
Thest turning from the rasty gus,
With help of crutch he tettered on.
A sweet syes scanned his aspect grim,
And sweet voice said, in quarer low,
'O gallant w trio', do not go,
But tell me—tell ne where you fought—
And where these fearful wounds were wron
West smitten in the furfous tide.
That drenched in blood the bastion's side?
Or fought upon the slippery deck
And same defisuce from the wrock?
'Un waved the starry hanner high,
Revenly resolved to do or die?'
'Hold on, youn gall'' the veteran said,
'I am a whitewasher by trade;
I never fit; this trouble is
Inflammatory rheumatiz!'

The Unseen Battle-Field

There is an unseen battle-field In every human breast, Where two opposing forces meet, But where they never rest.

The field is veiled from mortal sight;
'Tis only seen by One
Who knows alone where victory lies,
When each day's work is done.

An army clusters strong and fierce, Their chief of demon form; His brow is like the thunder cloud, His voice the bursting storm His captains are the passions fierce Whose troops watch night and day Swift to detect the weakest points, And thirsting for the fray

Contending with this mighty force is but a little band: Yet there with an unqualling front, the warriors firmly stand. Their leader is a Godlike form,

And glowing on his naked breast A simple cross is seen. His captains are the virtues fair Be eath that wond rous sign; They fear no danger for they feel A courage all divine.

They feel it speaks a glorious truth.
A truth as great as sure.
Not to be victors they must learn
To love, confide—endure. And when they win the battle-field.
Past toll is nil forgot;
The plain where battle once had reigned.
Become a hallow spot.

A spot where flowers of joy and peace Spring from the fertile sod. And breathe the perfume of their praise On every breeze to God.

The receipts from the country by wagons are very light, and those who have receifly taveled the western roads report them to be in a very heavy condition. General trade is dull, and there is little change to note in quotations. Grain is scarce and in cemand, and a few loads of corn that arrived to-day we've held at first at 30 cents, but were finally sold at a less flagure. The store prices to-day for corn is acaks was 75 cents for large lots, 75 cents for hundred bushet lots, and 80 cents for a leas quantity. Oats are firmer and unchanged. Wheat is firm.

Pecans are in very light receipt to-day, and prices on the plaus are quoted at 6 cents per pound for common stock, 65,667 cents per pound for common stoc
