Water District Plans To Measure Water Level

Many irrigators in Bailey County may be wondering just what effects this past year's irrigation pumpage may have had on the water level of the Ogallala aquifer under their land. Well, that's what the High Plains Underground Water District's staff will be out to determine as of January 2, 1985.

Weather permitting, the staff will head out into the fields to take depth-to-water level measurements in the District's network of 950 plus water level observation wells.

Shorty Lancaster will be measuring the static water level in 7127 observation wells in Bailey County. "We always look forward to seeing just what changes have occurred in the water level from one year to the next," indicates Lancaster.

Each of the wells measured as a part of this program are privately owned irrigation wells. So, when irrigators see a blue and white Water District vehicle in the vicinity of their property, they will know that personnel from the Water District are there to check the water level.

After measuring, each well will be tagged with the well number and the water level measurement written on the tag for the owner's information.

Don McReynolds, Technical Division Director for the Water District, indicates, "We hope to have all of the measurements completed sometime in early February. We will then compile the data and publish information on the general county trends. Landowners cooperating with the District by allowing their wells to be measured, can get specific information on past years' measurements made in their wells by calling the District office and giving their well numbers." Depth-to-water measurements for all wells measured by the District are public information and can be reviewed at the District office. Copies of measurements with well location maps will be Cont. Farm Cost Planning A 'Must' For 1985

To make a profit in 1985, a farmer will have to be an "astute marketer."

That means he must form expectations of two essential values for making sound marketing decisions--individual farm product growing costs and commodity prices.

"From the individual manager's standpoint, estimating his own production costs should be less difficult than trying to 'figure out the market,'" notes Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Why worry about knowing production costs? A knowledge of historical and anticipated production costs is indispensable in farm management decisionmaking, emphasizes Lovell. Consider the importance of knowing how much it costs to produce a pound of cotton, a bushel of corn or a hundred-weight of grain sorghum when evaluating these marketing alternatives; selling at harvest, storing and selling at a later date, forward contracting for delivery at harvest or at a later date, hedging in the futures market or using agricultural commodity options.

"To satisfactorily evaluate such marketing alternatives, the manager's best estimates of production costs are needed for individual enterprises," says Lovell. "If production of the commodity is in process, as in the case of the 1985 wheat crop, cost estimates should include expenses incurred to date plus projections of any remaining costs necessary to move the crop from the field.

In addition to providing a basis for marketing decisions, production costs can help provide answers to questions such as:

1. Should I grow more grain sorghum and less corn or vice versa in 1985?
2. How should I allocate my land, labor, operating capital, machinery services and management between grain sorghum, corn and other crop and livestock enterprises? The Extension Service can provide budgets to producers for individual crop enterprises, notes Lovell. These budgets are available in all county Extension offices and can be used to determine the profit-maximizing crop mix for 1985 as well as to make marketing and financial management decisions.

"A knowledge of the cost of production and cash flow requirements for individual enterprises is indispensable in farm business management," says Lovell. "Farmers need to relate 1984 actual production costs to the budgeting process to complete 1985 cropping plans. An accounting system that includes individual enterprise data is essential in relating actual production costs to the preparation and updating of enterprise budgets."

Estimates of breakeven values are an integral component in evaluating marketing choices, added the economist, and those choices need to be made before a crop is ready to harvest. Again, enterprise accounting data provide the basis for accurate estimates of breakeven values.

Revised Agenda For Commissioners Concerning Bonds

Bailey County Judge Gordon H. Green has presented a revised agenda for the special session of Bailey County Commissioners Court scheduled for Friday, January 4 at 10 a.m.

Items on the revised agenda include payment of routine county bills; set holidays for 1985; consider authorizing advertisement for bids for a pick-up for the Extension office and a car for the sheriff's department; reconsider the order authorizing the issuance of bonds by Muleshoe Development Corporation for Dent Farm Supply, Inc. and miscellaneous items.

Little Snow, Bitter Cold Ushers In New Year

Mules Place Third In Clovis Tournament

Few fouls, converting scoring opportunities and excellent defense, all were combined for the Muleshoe Mules Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Tucumcari Rattlers to take seventh place in the Holiday Tournament at Clovis.

Considered very 'high-powered,' the Rattlers fell 71-57 to the dauntless Mules.

The Mules had a one point lead at the end of the third, following a knotted up game at halftime. Then, Andy Copley broke loose and made the difference as he made basket after basket, shooting from the corners in the gym.

Mark Moton proved to be excellent on passing to Copley, who broke through to start widening the score, and the Mules' defense held the Rattlers frustrated and unable to penetrate to the basket.

Copley led all scorers with 26 points for the Mule, Mark Moton had a big 19 points, which was added to the 14 points contributed by Rob Donaldson.

Following the tournament, Mark Moton was named to the All-Tournament team for the 1984 Holiday Tournament.

It took a triple overtime Friday afternoon for the Mules to fall to stubborn Portales Rams' team, 65-61, which moved the Rams into the consolation bracket against Alamogordo.

'Hustle' was the name of the game for both teams, but defense on both sides provided a low score.

Mark Moton made the difference for the Mules with a 30-footer at the intermission and a 25-footer at the end of the first overtime.

Three free shows missed by the Rams lost them a chance to be declared the winners during regulation play.

Mark Moton was leading scorer for the Mules with 14; John Isaac and Rob Donaldson each added 13 and Andy Copley had 12 points.

Muleshoe Public Library, IRS Have Tax Info

Muleshoe Librarian Anne Camp said the Internal Revenue Service has furnished the Muleshoe Area Public Library with a variety of materials to help taxpayers prepare their federal income tax forms.

She said one useful aid is audio cassettes containing simple, line-by-line instructions for preparing federal Forms 1040EZ; 1040A and Schedule I; 1040 and Schedules A, B, and W.

The Muleshoe Area Public Library also has IRS Publication 1194, a four-volume set of the IRS' most required publications and Publication 1132, which contains over 90 reproducible tax forms that can be easily photocopied for a small fee. In addition, Publication 910, the handy Taxpayers' Guide to IRS Information, Assistance and Publications, is available at the library, said Mrs. Camp. This publication contains useful year-round tips on how to obtain tax information.

As an added service, several of the most needed forms and publications are available in braille and distributed through the Regional Libraries for Blind and Physically Handicapped.

While librarians are not expected to serve as tax experts, they will be able to direct the public to these many helpful tax aids. The library will be open 10 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays; 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturdays. For more information call the library at 272-4707.

Bitter cold ushered in the new year for South Plains residents as a cold front slammed into the area, leaving heavy snowfall to the south and southeast of Bailey County.

A high temperature of only the mid-20's was predicted by the National Weather Service for the second day of January, right behind the New Year Day high of 27 degrees.

Only light snow fell in the Muleshoe area, just enough to leave a light dusting of white that was all gone before night, although a cold, bitter wind stayed behind.

Accompanying the cold front was enough wind to leave the wind chill factor below the 0 degree mark in early morning hours.

Travelers found the going rough in the Midland-Odessa regions, ranging eastward to below Abilene, as snow and ice-packed highways added to travelers woes.

Earlier in the day on January 1, the National Weather Service was prompted to issue hazardous driving warnings for all sections of West Texas and portions of North Central Texas.

Reports early Tuesday morning indicated that snow was falling from approximately the county line on East Highway 84 to the east and was sticking to the roads, creating icy patches for travelers.

Around Littlefield, the conditions worsened, and going on into the area of Lubbock, driving was considered hazardous, where city street crews began sanding streets around 6 p.m. on Tuesday.

Also, to the southwest of Bailey County, driving conditions were deteriorating with snow accumulations being reported in eastern New Mexico.

Nationwide, the first major winter storm of the season was being reported, with snow accumulations of more than 18 inches in some states being reported.

Local residents saw clear skies and bright sunshine on Wednesday morning, despite the very cold temperatures, and a 20 percent chance of snow still existed through Wednesday.

According to NWS, the clouds would start decreasing by Wednesday night and the temperature would start a gradual climb to the weekend. By Friday, the temperature was expected to be near 50, although colder temperature was expected to return to the area by Sunday.

For a portion of the south-eastern part of the nation, the New Year came in to unseasonably warm temperatures, and flooding from heavy rain was reported in parts of Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma and New York.

In southeast Texas, the old year went out with severe thunderstorms, floods and tornadoes.

Pasadena was hit by a twister that roamed for three blocks, heavily damaging an apartment complex, homes and businesses and injuring 38 people. The damage figure for that Houston suburb was some $5 million.

According to a Red Cross survey, 359 houses and apartments were damaged severely enough to be uninhabitable and 20 were totally destroyed. More than 40 people of that city spent Monday night in a Red Cross shelter.

In the hill country in central Texas, floodwaters had claimed at least three lives, including the life of a chief of police who died while trying to rescue stranded motorists. His tow rope broke and he was swept away by floodwaters. Two bodies had been recovered, and searchers continued looking for at least one other body near Center Point.

commercials and go on with the program uninterrupted.

This is going to cause some wrinkled brows among the network tycoons.

How are they going to feel, and what's more to the point, how are their advertisers going to feel, when a commercial costing $250,000 a minute is blanked out by millions of people who taped the show earlier?

Off-hand, I can think of lots of commercials that'll be blanked out, especially those that are downright embarrassing. So far, TV hasn't found anything much it won't advertise if somebody will pay for it.

There are two sides to advertising. If it weren't for advertising some of the worst books ever published wouldn't have become best-sellers, and some of the worst politicians wouldn't have been elected. On the other hand, without advertising, which allows mass production, most things for sale now would cost ten times what they do, and a lot of them we'd never have heard about.

A lot of magazines went under when television came along and took away their advertising customers. Newspapers however kept going and are stronger than ever. You can't tape a newspaper and play it back with the ads deleted, and who'd want to? They're some of the best reading in the paper. I bet a lot of your readers prefer the ads to this column. I don't urge a scientific survey.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

THE Know Weather

Do you know what sidereal time is?

Sidereal time, of which we hear little, is an accurate measurement of time; it is the measurement of time derived from observation of the meridian transits of the stars. It differs slightly from solar time.

The mean sidereal day, for example is only 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.09 seconds. The time required for the earth to make one complete revolution around the sun in the sidereal year.

The sidereal year is 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9.5 seconds. Every fourth year, as the reader probably knows, the extra hours--over and above the 365 days, are combined into an added day--in Leap Year. But the effect of this small time divergence has no noticeable bearing on our weather.

Who speaks not truly, lies.

I am thankful... for good health, and for the food that I have each day. I am thankful for those near and dear to me that I can love, and in turn love me. I am thankful for the freedom of my nation, and that I can worship as I please. I am thankful that God loved me so much, that he provided a way for my salvation. I am thankful that he is a forgiving Father. I am thankful that I can attend Church and worship

my Lord

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Vaccination Now Required For Heifers

With the new brucellosis vaccination regulation now in effect, producers in Bailey County will need to keep close tabs on the ages of heifers in their beef herds.

As heifers approach one year of age, producers must decide how such animals will be handled, says Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

This decision must be based on the following provisions of the brucellosis vaccination regulation, which applies to 113 easter, coastal and northern counties:

1. Heifer calves born after January 1 of this year which are between four and 12 months of age and acquired and used for breeding, grazing, dairying or confinement in a dry lot not under quarantine must be officially vaccinated according to the amended regulation.

2. Heifer calves born after January 1 of this year, which are unvaccinated when they are over 12 months of age may change ownership only after being spayed or consigned to a livestock market to be spayed of

"S" branded prior to the sale; or consigned directly to slaughter, quarantined feedlot or quarantined pasture.

Since heifers born this spring will be a year old in the next few months, producers should start making plans now for vaccination of all eligible heifers, Tanksley says.

State funds are available for free vaccinations. Producers should contact their own private veterinarian or their area Texas Animal Health Commission office for complete details.

Livestock producers should make sure their calves are properly indented when vaccinated, adds Tanksley. A tattoo in the right ear is proof of vaccination, but the procedure must be done correctly, he cautioned.

The person doing the vaccination should clean the ear carefully, rub the ink in thoroughly and press the tattoo pliers firmly.

A vaccinated calf properly identified is worth more, so producers should take this extra step now to benefit themselves and the cattle industry, says Tanksley.

Governor Calls Summit To Discuss Cost Cutting

By Governor Mark White

AUSTIN—Drafting a state budget that funds priority programs within available state dollars will present the 69th Legislature with its greatest challenge of the upcoming 1985 session.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock has warned that declining oil prices may force him to reduce his state revenue estimate for the 1986-87 biennium by another $256 million.

This comes as no surprise to those watching the gradual but steady decline in the spot market price of oil. While sales tax revenues are up from the last year, a slowdown in national economic recovery may limit any positive gains from that source.

Although the comptroller will not release his official revenue estimate until January, it is essential that we begin now to reorder budget priorities and look for ways to tighten our belts.

I have called a state summit meeting for 11 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 20, at the Texas Law Center in Austin where I will join Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby, House Speaker Gib Lewis, and the board chairmen and chief executive officers of major state agencies, colleges and universities to discuss cost-saving measures and how we can do more with the limited dollars we have.

One approach that merits our attention is to have state agencies conduct effective internal audits to pinpoint where savings can be made. I will also be taking a close look at the current 1985 budgets to see if there are any expenditures that could possibly be delayed.

I believe we can live within our means and avoid a tax increase. As was the case in the 1983 session, we will have to defer funding many good programs and much construction.

I am a sound believer in the pay-as-you-go provision of our state Constitution which has kept Texas from experiencing the problem of massive deficit spending now plaguing our federal government.

It will require cooperation and compromise to find solutions to our difficult budget problems, but I believe we can adopt a humane and financially sound budget that meets the priority needs of our prisons, mental institutions, schools and other important state-managed programs.

Sudan Basketball News

By Evelyn Ritchie

The Sudan Varsity teams continued their winning ways in 3 of 4 games this week as both teams had overwhelming victories against Lockney and the Hornetses waylaid Lubbock Christian High School. The Hornets could not overcome a tremendous press by the LCHS team and lagged at the final buzzer although they did have a good final quarter.

The Hornetses took control of the ball game from the tip in the game against LCHS in the first game of the New Deal tournament and went on to win 64-38. As it turned out it was the only game they played in the tournament because of cancellation due to the icy roads Friday and Saturday. Sudan poured in 34 points during the first half compared to 12 for the opponents. Sudan got in foul trouble during the second half committing 10 violations and letting LCHS go to the line 14 times, hitting 10 of 14. However, Sudan only missed one FS in the second half to add 10 points to their score and had three players hitting 100% from the line. Jeannia Nix hit 4 of 4 and 6 FG for 16 to tie for high point honors with Sharla Harrison. Shawnda Masten added 11 points with 5 FG and 1 of 1 FS as did JoAnn Wooley with 3 FG and 5 of 6 FS. Melissa Nix and Sherri Powell completed the scoring with 6 points and 4 points respectively.

In the Lockney game here Monday night the Hornetses held the visitors scoreless until the final quarter when they hit 2 FG and 2 FS for their total score of 6 points while Sudan had racked up 74 points at the end with all 12 Hornetses seeing action. Sudan scored 24, 19, 21, and 10 in each quarter with Harrison and Masten each scoring 16. Sherrie Powell hit 7 FG and 1 of 2 FS for 15. J. Nix added 12 points from the floor. M. Nix, Keitha Scott, Kim Crowson each had 4 points; JoAnn Wooley, 3; and Cindy Brotherton, Danette Provence and Shannon Peck each had 2 points. The Hornetses continued to have a good record from the line as they sank 14 of 18 shots.

The Hornets did not fare as well in the New Deal tournament as they ran up against a fast and over-powering team and lost 72-50 for their third loss of the season. Sudan fell behind in the first quarter 24-7 but stayed with them during the second period making the score 37-20 at the half. Again Sudan had a rough third period while LCHS hit for 24 points. Sudan came back in the final period to add a big 20 points but could not overtake the Lubbock team. Jeff Kinzie and John Taylor tied for high point with 12 points each. John scored 8 of his in the last quarter. David Wood hit for 11 points while Brent Kirkland had 4 points and Charlie Fisher added three. Jeff Dodson, Jerry Dodson, Johnny Williams and Lee Bartley each added two points for the Hornets. Bartley and Wood led in rebounds for the team with 8 each.

The Hornets took a commanding first quarter lead in the Lockney game and won 70-42. The Hornets led 40-21 at the half and had a big final quarter by scoring 19 points. David Wood was high point with 6 FG and 4 of 9 FS for 16 points. Scoring 12 points was Williams with 6 FG. Both Dodson and Kinzie each hit for 10 each while Kirkland, Bartley and Taylor each added 2 points. This gave the Hornets a 7-3 season record.

The Junior Varsity teams

competed in the Springlake tournament Thursday but games were also canceled in the single elimination event due to the weather. The girls won their game against LCHS 38-30, after a slow start as they trailed 9-3 in the first quarter. They came back in the second period to tie the score 16-16 at the half and outscored the Lubbock team 22 to 14 in the second half. Leading the score for Sudan was Kim Crowson with 6 FG and 2/3 FS for 14 points. Danette Provence had 5 FG for 10, C. Brotherton had 3 FG and 2/2 FS for 8, S. Peck added 2 FG for 4, while Kathy Powell had 2 points.

The Junior Varsity boys only lagged 4 points at the end of the first quarter but fell further behind, 16-7, at the half. Wade Donnell was high point for Sudan with 8 points while A. Williams and Murrillo each had four points. Bartley and Boyles each added 2 points for Sudan.

Twenty-three fouls were called in the first half of the Sudan-Lockney junior varsity boys game but Lockney seemed to fare better at the line and came away leading 36-17 at the half. Sudan kept the scoring even in the second half but could not overcome the deficit and were the losers 62-42 when the game ended. D. Williams, let the scoring for Sudan with 9 points, followed by A. Jerry Dodson leads the Hornets in scoring this season with 114 points with Kinzie breaking the 100 mark with 101 in 8 games. Dodson also leads the team in rebounds for the season with 68, but Barley and Wood upped their average with each getting 5 rebounds in the Groom game.

Groom managed only 1 FG and 2 of 2 FS in the first quarter while the Hornetses ripped the nets for 14 to take the lead. Sudan came back with their biggest quarter the second period sinking four FG and 9 FS for 17 points to go ahead 31-10. Groom got into foul trouble in the first half committing 13 violations compared to 6 for Sudan, with Sudan going to the line 19 times. Sharla Harrison had a big night, hitting 6 FG and 11 of 12 FS for 23 points. Shawnda Masten had 5 FG and 2 of 4 FS for 12 while JoAnn Wooley had 5 FG but was off cue on her FS missing 5 of 5 for a total of 10 points. Jeannia Nix had 6 first half points and Sherrie Powell hit two of 2 FS in the third period. Harrison is averaging 13.3 points per game for a season total of 147 in 11 games to lead the team scoring. Jeannia Nix is second with 125 points and Wooley has 120. The rebounding season honors still go to Harrison with 78 Wooley capturing 76. Wooley had 8 for the Groom game and Masten pulled in 7 rebounds.

The Sudan Junior High girls defeated the Amherst girls Monday night in a one-sided game when Sudan went ahead 16-0 first quarter, and continued on to win 31-15. Hargrove also hit a FG in the second period. S. Williams completed the scoring for Sudan with a FS. The team hit 3 of 4 FS.

The Junior High Hornets also devastated the Amherst team 44-8 behind the first half shooting of Maxfield who hit for 15 points, 10 of these in the first quarter to give Sudan a big 20-4 first period lead. Bellar added 2 FG in the first quarter as did Gonzales and Harrison hit for 2 points. Amherst did not score in the second quarter and Sudan relaxed somewhat with a 31-4 halftime lead. Water Safety, Swimming Classes Set

Carl Hill of the South Plains Regional Chapter of the American Red Cross said registration is now being taken for several major Red Cross water safety courses which will be held beginning in mid-January. The courses are being offered through the South Plains Regional Chapter of the American Red Cross in conjunction with the Lubbock YWCA and the Texas Tech Aquatic Center. The courses are for those who wish to be lifeguards, teach swimming classes or serve as pool managers.

Advanced Lifesaving is the minimum lifeguard training required by Texas law. It is designed for "personal safety" and is open to those 15 years of age or older who are able to pass a preliminary swimming test.

An Advanced Lifesaving class will be held at the Lubbock YWCA on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from January 15-February 1. Another class will be held at the same times and locations from February 12-March 1. Registration is through the YWCA, 792-2723.

A Lifeguard Training course, the course generally preferred by pool managers, will be held from January 26-February 23 at the Tech pool. This Course is open to those 16 years of age or older who are certified in Advanced Lifesaving or YWCA Lifesaving/Lifeguarding and are able to pass a preliminary swimming test. The course will include CPR and First Aid Training at the Red Cross classroom for those who do not have current certification. The exact course schedule and registration may be obtained from Jackie Davis at the Red Cross office, 765-8534.

A Water Safety Instructor Course designed for those who wish to teach Red Cross-certified swimming courses will start on March 25 at the YWCA. Information and registration are available through the YWCA at Lubbock.

A Lifeguard Instructor course will also begin on March 25 at the Tech Aquatic Center.

Some drivers think that the lower the temperature, the slicker ice on the road will be. Ice at 30°F has been proven to be more slick than ice at zero degrees.

Wind: A new cash crop for Texas

(KINGSVILLE) -- As monthly electric rates continue to climb, alternative sources of energy also climb in popularity. One such source is the wind. It is both renewable and non-polluting and is a plentiful source of power in Texas, even if you don't count politicians.

One Texan who has harnessed the wind to produce electricity is Mickey Tilley who built the wind generator that stands 54-feet-high in the front yard of his home in Kingsville.

The wind, Tilley explains, determines the kind of electricity bill he pays.

"When the wind blows up to seven miles per hour, the generator produces no electricity, but if the wind is blowing from seven to 22 mph, the degree of power generated produces up to 50 percent of my house's electricity needs," he said.

"Once the wind hits 22 mph or above, the generator provides all the power the house needs," Tilley added. And when that happens, his electricity bill plummets.

According to a recent study by the Worldwatch Institute of Washington, D.C., wind currents in the United States are strong enough to provide up to 14 percent of the country's projected electricity demands in the year 2000.

California is already going with the flow, so to speak, and presently leads the nation in the number of operating wind generators. Last year, more than 4,000 such machines were installed on approximately 40 "wind farms" that sell power to utility companies.

Texas has quite a way to go before it too is gone with the wind, but people like Mickey Tilley in Kingsville who can build and install wind generators will help push the current.

Currently depressed agricultural market prices, increasing production costs and the high cost of credit translate into an uncomfortable financial situation for farmers and ranchers. So time spent on managing the financial aspects of the farm or ranch is extremely important, perhaps crucial, to the business.

Such tight financial situations bring a heightened need for better communications between the farmer or rancher and his lender. This communication must be based on a thorough understanding of what is happening to the financial position of the business. Financial information about the farm business is generally conveyed by net worth and net income statements.

The net worth statement is taken on a specific date and thus provides a one-day picture of the farm business. Assets show the value of the business while liabilities show the claim of creditors to the business. New worth (or equity) shows the owner's claim to the business. A series of net worth statements for a business must be examined to determine if the business is showing financial progress.

The net income or profit and loss statement shows the production or income value to the business over an operating period (generally a year), costs incurred during that period, and the profit (or loss) from operating the farm or ranch business.

A third piece of financial information has become increasingly important in communicating with lenders. Cash flows and the timing of these cash flows in the business need to be monitored. The manager continually needs to be aware of the cash position of his operations. This means considerably more than just being aware of the checking account balance--cash flow planning is needed.

A monthly cash flow plan or projection anticipates the cash position of the business and provides a plan the manager and his lender can discuss. The anticipated flow of cash income and cash requirements provides a plan from which to make needed adjustments. Cash requirements include the operating expenses as well as family living expenses and principal payments on notes and mortgages. Cash flow planning takes on added importance for the manager during tight financial times.

Communication between farmers and ranchers and their lenders is always important. Use of net worth statements, net income statements and cash flow projections help both producers and lenders to see the total financial picture of the farm or ranch business.
