percent, says Dr. Forrest Stegelin, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Livestock receipts could be up as much as four percent while crop receipts could increase from five to eight percent. Large increases are expected in cotton, but fruit and vegetable receipts may decline.

Among factors influencing the farm economy outlook are worldwide weather which affects yields and output, worldwide economics and currencies, capital costs and availability to agriculture, government policies and producer responses and marketing decisions.

Prices paid for cash expenses are anticipated to remain steady in 1985, with an overall rise of about five percent, says Stegelin. Depreciation expenses should be flat relative to 1984, and household expenses are expected to rise slightly.

Production items originating on the farm are expected to increase up to four percent as a prices-paid index, whereas the prices-paid index for production items from non-farm sources should jump five to seven percent, mainly due to high interest expenses.

"Looking at income indicators, the farm economy outlook is not good," says Stegelin. "Gross cash income will be

Patients Moved

Due To Gas Leak

Sunday night, a possible disaster was averted at the Muleshoe Nursing Home, when a gas leak was discovered.

According to a spokeswoman at West Plains Medical Center, following the discovery of the gas leak, seven patients were moved into the hospital, placed under oxygen and monitored throughout the night by Dr. Jack McCarty.

None of the patients suffered any ill effects from the gas leak, which was termed a "small leak". The patients were moved back into the nursing home Monday morning, and the gas leak was repaired and checked.

Day Of Prayer

At 7 p.m. on Friday, March 1, World Day of Prayer services will be held in the chapel of the First United Methodist Church in Muleshoe. Spokeswoman Sally Ellis said, "Women of all denominations are urged to participate and give their prayers and support for human rights, justice and peace."

"It is an enriching experience to know that as the path of the sun setting sun continues around our beautiful earth—so, too, there will be a continuous chain of prayers reaching out and seeking for peace and brother-hood of all mankind" stable in 1985 compared to 1984, reflecting a decline in cash government payments. Net cash income will continue to drop, and net farm income is expected to drop drastically from rising expenses, reduced government payments and a smaller increase in farm inventories."

Agribusiness should see increased sales of production inputs like agricultural chemicals, fertilizers and seeds, but farmers and ranchers will face steady to raised prices for many production inputs and services, Stegelin points out. Supply and demand should be balanced for all agricultural inputs, with supplies moderating the input price increases.

Stegelin's projections for some 1985 farm level input prices (compared to those in 1984) are as follows: fertilizers will rise from two to 10 percent; labor costs will increase four to 11 percent; energy costs will be and extra three to six percent; self-propelled mach-

Congressman

Will Testify

At Hearing

Congressman Larry Combest announced Monday that he will testify at the Department of Energy's public hearing in Hereford concerning the possibility of locating a nuclear waste disposal site in Deaf Smith County. Congressman Combest will testify at 4:30 p.m. on Thursday, February 28 at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn in Hereford.

The public hearing is being conducted by DOE in an effort to gather citizen input over placing the nation's first high-level radioactive waste repository in the Texas panhandle.

"I look forward to hearing first-hand the views and concerns from the people of Deaf Smith County about the proposed nuclear waste dump site," Combest said. "Those interested in this issue are encouraged to attend the hearing so that DOE officials can address those concerns," the Congressman added.

Combest noted that two primary dangers inherent in locating the site in Deaf Smith County include possible contamination of the Ogallala Aquifer, the world's largest underground formation, and potential destruction of prime farmland.

"Considering the obvious dangers, I believe intensive evaluations will conclusively determine that the Deaf Smith County site is unacceptable and should be eliminated from consideration," the Congressman noted.

"I intend to carefully review each step of the selection process and remain in close contact with the Department of Energy until the waste dump site is rejected from advisement," Congressman Combest concluded.

Women's Defense Course Slated Thursday Night

The South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) Law Enforcement Academy and Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, have re-scheduled a Women's Defense Course, previously scheduled for January.

It will be a four hour course, scheduled to be conducted 6-10 p.m. on Thursday, February 28, in the meeting room at the Bailey County Coliseum and Civic Center.

More applications to attend are being accepted at this time, and if you did not previously sign up to attend the course, you may register at the CoFC office in the Muleshoe City Hall. The course will cost $20, which includes both the Kubotan and training manual.

The center of the defense training is the Kubotan, a small, plastic cylinder, just a bit thicker than a pencil. Sharply applied to sensitive areas of the body, the Kubotan can temporarily disable an assailant, giving the intended victim time to escape.

The instructor says anyone, of any age, can use a Kubotan, which is designed to attach to car keys.

For more information, call 272-4248 or stop by the CoFC office.

For Local Group

Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture manager Toni Eagle, who heads up the Muleshoe/Bailey County Sesquicentennial Committee, received a letter several days ago that the application to become a part of the upcoming celebration has been approved by the Texas 1986 Sesquicentennial Commission.

The letter said in part: "Your committee is to be commended on the excellent groundwork it has laid for your local Sesquicentennial celebration, and for your exemplary master plan of activities that will take place."

"History will, no doubt, judge your involvement and foresight in a positive manner."

Members of the committee for the 1986 year-long celebration include Mrs. Eagle, Jeff Smith, Gerald Reid, Tom Watson, Vivian White, Billie Downing, Lonnie Adrian, Jackie Johnson, Nelda Merriott, Bob Newton, Billy Balderas, Doran Reynolds, Jim Ella Clemmons, Matt Dudley, Clea Williams, and a representative from SCAC at Muleshoe High School.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Thursday sent checks totaling $111.4 million in local tax payments to the 991 cities that levy the one-percent local sales tax.

"Disappointing Christmas retail sales during the 1984 Christmas season held February payments to a puny six percent increase over last February," Bullock said. "And even this little increase is due as much as to new items being taxed for the first time as it is to any real sales growth."

Muleshoe received a check in the amount of $28,140.59, but, this amount was up some 28.53 percent for the year. The payment for the same period last year was $25,637.02. Pay-

Hot Tub Or Sauna Dangerous After Vigorous Workout

Plunging into a hot tub or sauna after a vigorous workout can be dangerous, warns a medical expert on physical fitness.

Alan Herd, M.D., professor of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine, warns that a hot shower, whirlpool or sauna after strenuous exercise can result in dizziness and fainting.

During physical exercise, the heart must beat harder and faster to pump blood to the muscles, Herd explained. Some blood vessels will contract to maintain normal blood pressure, while blood vessels in exercising muscles will expand to increase blood flow to the heart.

"The hot environment can dilate all the blood vessels and blood will collect in the legs because the muscles are relaxed. This, and the fluid lost during exercise can cause a person to collapse from the decreased blood pressure," said Herd, who is director of the Sid Richardson Institute for Preventive Medicine of the Methodist Hospital.

Just as he encourages people to warm up before exercise, Herd recommends a cool-down period immediately after exercising, and waiting at least half an hour to one hour before entering a hot environment.

The longer the warm-up, the less rise the blood pressure and the less amount of work the heart has to do, Herd said. The cool-down is equally important.

"It is the movement of the muscles during the cool-down that keeps the blood returning to the heart and prevents sudden loss of blood flow back to the heart," Herd said. "That would be dangerous to people who are overheated and tired and suddenly stop moving. They could collapse and lose consciousness."

Herd sees no cardiovascular benefit from a sauna or hot bath.

"I can certainly understand it from a muscular point of view for relaxing tired muscles, but from a cardiovascular point of view, it's just not good timing to enter a hot tub after a workout," he said.

Herd believes a person should recover completely from an exercise session before indulging tired, aching muscles.

bad weather the ginning season was longer than usual.

There is a continuity in American agriculture. A continuity of people and land. . . and purpose. One generation working hand-in-hand with the next generation, passing along love for the land and a respect for living things. For more than 67 years, through several generations, the Federal Land Bank has provided long-term financing to help make that continuity possible.

The Creative Woman

By Sheryl Borden

Information on good nutrition for children, the overlook (serger) machine and freezer myths will be presented on "The Creative Woman" show on March 5 and 9. Gayle Shockey is a consulting nutritionist with HeartKeeper and she will explain how parents can keep their kids "Fit" not fat. She will share recipes kids are sure to enjoy and some of the junior chefs will even enjoy preparing themselves. Ms. Shockey is from Fallbrook, Ca.

The overlook or serger machines have been used in ready-to-wear for years. Now, several manufacturers have made compact models of these machines available to the home sewer. Donna Grant is with the Singer Co. from Portland, Oregon and she will demonstrate different models of overlook machines and show examples of clothing featuring the different sewing techniques. The overlook machines are great for everything from silky lingerie to rough and tough children's clothes. Joy Schrage, spokesperson for the Whirlpool Corp. in Benton Harbor, Michigan will discuss freezer myths and answer other questions about the use and care of the home food freezer.

Making items from recycled clothing and linens and information on building self confidence in children will be featured on the show on March 7.

Jewell Limacher is the former Extension Home Economist from Roswell and she will share some unusual ideas featuring old clothing and linen articles. This segment is called "use it again."

Kay Willis serves as a consultant to Fisher-Price Toy Co. and she will explain how a camera can be used to build self confidence in children. Fisher Price recently introduced a camera designed especially for children, even as young as five years old. The camera offers child-oriented features and high durability. Ms. Willis is from Rutherford, New Jersey. "The Creative Woman" show is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs on KEWN-TV, Channel 3 in Portales on Tuesday and Thursday at 12 noon and at 2:00 pm on Saturday. The show is also carried by KRWG-TV in Las Cruces and by KNME-TV in Albuquerque as well as about 80 PBS stations throughout the country.

Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines. In New Mexico, the number is: 1-800-432-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112.

Carrots Get Top Billing

Carrots are high in Vitamin A and low in calories and are a nutritious snack food for children as well as adults.

Carrots currently are a good buy in Texas supermarkets, so consumers should stock up on them, says a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Carrots can be eaten whole or as sticks," says Tom Longbrake. "They are easy for children to carry for a snack and are not drippy, sticky or messy."

U.S. per capita consumption of carrots has risen in recent years to 7.4 pounds in 1982, Longbrake adds. Most are eaten raw. Carrots lose between 10 and 20 percent of their vitamin and mineral content when cooked.

"Carrots have a long shelf-life when stored in plastic bags in the crisper of a refrigerator," Longbrake points out. "When washed clean, a carrot does not require peeling before munching as a snack or cutting into salads and stews."

Carrots are available year round in one- or two-pound bags. And at some specialty stores, they're available in bunches with tops intact, notes the horticulturist. Bunched carrots are generally more expensive and have a shorter shelf-life than those cello-packed with tops removed at the farm level. Besides, the tops are of no value.

Texas boasts some 15,000 acres of carrots with the crop valued at $26,000 annually. Carrots are harvested in the fall, winter and spring. Peak harvest months are November through April, so fresh carrots are "in season" now, says Longbrake.

The carrot was derived from the wild carrot or Queen Anne's lace, a common weed, Longbrake explains. It was a favorite vegetable in England in the 16th Century and was taken to Virginia in 1609.

LOOK FOR FIRE-RESISTANT FURNITURE--A majority of new upholstered furniture complies with the strict standards for fire-resistance of the Upholstered Furniture Action Council (UFAC), says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist Dr. Peggy Owens. Shoppers can look for a hangtag on new furniture which indicates it meets these standards, and also warns consumers to practice careful smoking habits and install smoke detectors.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED--Mr. and Mrs. Ecipio Lucero announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Tonie Marie Lucero to Raul Torres, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beto Torres of Muleshoe. A March 16 wedding at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Rafael Franco is being planned. Miss Lucero is employed at C.R. Anthony's and the prospective groom is employed at Muleshoe Electric.

Upholstery Fires Decline

Upholstered furniture is safer than it used to be, but caution--especially with cigarettes--is still necessary to prevent fires, says at Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist.

The National Fire Prevention Association and the U.S. Fire Administration report at 37 percent since 1978, in upholstered furniture fires started by burning cigarettes, says Dr. Peggy Owens.

Changes in the construction of furniture, consumer information campaigns and the increased use of smoke detectors may have contributed to the decline, she explains.

"Upholstered furniture construction has become more fire-resistant over the past decade largely due to the voluntary efforts by the furniture industry," says the specialist.

A recent study by the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSA) found that 91 percent of the lighted cigarettes placed on the chairs tested did not ignite. This compares to a 78 percent nonignition rate in similar CPSA tests conducted in 1980.

A majority of new upholstered furniture complies with the strict standards of the Upholstered Furniture Action Council (UFAC). But older furniture or furniture that consumers may buy used will probably be less fire-resistant, Owens cautions.

She advises consumers to look for the hang-tag on new furniture which indicates it meets UFAC construction criteria and carries a warning about careful smoking habits and the installation of smoke detectors.

"Unfortunately, high-risk smoker groups including the elderly, infirm and disabled, alcohol and drug abusers and the very poor, are the least likely to have either the newer fire-resistant furniture or smoke detectors in their homes," Owens remarks.

But the specialist notes that with an estimated 300 million pieces of upholstered furniture now in use, improved safety habits can play a vital role in protecting all consumers.

Nature never makes excellent things for mean, or no uses.

Making The Most Of Kitchen Appliances

Rather than buy more electrical kitchen appliances, many consumers would be better off making full use of the ones they currently own, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

"Too many of us have electric fry pans, griddles or blenders gathering dust in cupboards while we shop for food processors and electric woks," says Bonnie L. Piernot, a consumer economics specialist.

Manufacturers try to develop appliances that are as versatile as possible to improve sales, she says, but consumers tend to habitually use them for one primary function.

Expanding the use of appliances you already own requires deliberate action, says Piernot. But it can be worth it.

For example, greater use of a blender or food processor can save money by reducing your purchase of prepared foods. The extra processing done by the commercial food company make food more expensive. You can use the appliance to perform some of the same tasks and save those dollars, the specialist explains.

Piernot suggests that you can make new uses for appliances you already have:

Periodically read the "use and care" book that came with the appliance, magazine and newspaper articles for new ideas on how to cook with it.

Analyze recipes. What processes are required to complete the product and what appliances will simplify these processes? You may not do things in the same order or in the same manner as when you do them by hand.

Combine processes whenever possible. For example, in making a meat loaf, you could crumble the crackers or bread in a blender first, followed by the addition of the eggs, milk and seasoning. This mixture could then be combined with the meat or the entire meat loaf could be mixed in a food processor.

Consider alternative uses for the appliance. An electric fry pan will do more than fry foods. It can be used for stir-frying; baking pizza, cake or muffins; popping corn or slow cooking.

Split the tenderloin in half or cut into slices. Lightly grease bottom of a heavy skillet and brown tenderloin of all sides over high heat.

Add tomatoes, mushrooms, onions, pepper and kitchen bouquet. Cover and cook 3 to 4 hours on simmer. Fifteen minutes before removing from heat, add salt and pepper.

Serve on a large platter surrounded by a border of potatoes and turnips which have been mashed together in equal parts.

BRAN ADDS DIETARY FIBER TO SPAGHETTI-Bran muffins, breads and cereals are well-known as foods that add fiber to the diet. Now spaghetti with ten percent bran can be added to that list. Bran spaghetti has more than three times as much dietary fiber as regular spaghetti, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Marilyn A. Haggard. The ten percent bran spaghetti also contains much higher levels of protein, iron, calcium, manganese, phosphorus and zinc than spaghetti without bran, she says.

WELDING THAT SHOVEL-Wesley Cook of the Highway Department and city workman, Alex Garcia, are shown shoveling up gravel, trash and debris along Highway 214 in Muleshoe in a joint effort to clean up and repair the highway through Muleshoe.

up the slide show of local and area FHA chapters, and it was presented to the music of "American Made" and "Proud to be an American."

Three Way's FHA Chapter display placed fifth in Proficiency events.

Bullock also sent checks totaling $45.5 million to the state's four Metropolitan Transit Authorities. Houston's MTA received $21.9 million for a 1985 total of $31.9 million. Dallas' DART check for $18.6 million brought payments this year to $27.3 million. San Antonio's VIA received $3.9 million for a 1985 total of $5.5 million and the Fort Worth Transit Authority's payment of $921,697 brought its 1985 total to $1.3 million.

February checks represent taxes collected on sales made in December and the fourth quarter and reported to the Comptroller by January 20.

Shelli Terrell, Irma Banda, and Eugenia Dupler represented the Three Way chapter in displaying a hot air balloon surrounded by clouds containing this year's chapter events.

Mrs. Darence Tyson, Mrs. Ann Sowder and Mrs. Kay Kindle accompanied Mrs. Judy Williams as sponsors for the Three Way students.

Don Parker, superintendent of the Three Way Schools and Mrs. Williams, were both honored during a luncheon on Saturday hosted by Area 1 officers. They were honored by the Area 1 FHA for their support and devotion to the area.

Farm Economy

inery costs will be five to 12 percent more; and tractor costs will fluctuate around current levels as well as interest rates.

"1985 will be characterized as a year when increases in farm input costs will virtually offset any increases in market receipts," believes Stegelin.

He also said, "Farm debt is like a heavy weight on the shoulders of many farmers today and has been the cause of increased farm liquidations, farm bankruptcies and agricultural loan delinquencies the past few years.

"Eighteen percent of the nation's farmers and ranchers have debt-asset ratios of more than 40 percent," notes Dr. Stegelin. "The most integrated farm operations have the highest ratios, but they are accepted as normal operating procedures for their businesses and are not typically part of the farm debt problem."

Thirty percent of the farms with annual sales exceeding $100,000 have debt-asset ratios of more than 40 percent. Farms with less than $40,000 in annual sales usually have a greater off-farm income. Therefore, these operators are not as vulnerable to high farm debts as the larger commercial farm, adds Stegelin.

The Great Lakes, Corn Belt and Northern Plains states have the highest concentration of debt-asset ratios greater than 40 percent. The Southern Plains, including Texas, is below the national average, says the economist.

Weak assets values for farmland and farm machinery have not curtailed the problem. Farmers with high debt-asset ratios own 15 to 20 percent of these assets. So, more liquidations and farm debt should be expected in 1985, explains Dr. Stegelin.

Debt restructuring steps are being taken since farmers are neither borrowing nor buying like they were a decade ago, he says.

Letter To The Editor Policy

The Muleshoe Journal and Bailey County Journal welcomes letters to the editor on issues of concern to readers. Such letters must meet certain qualifications in order to be considered for publication.

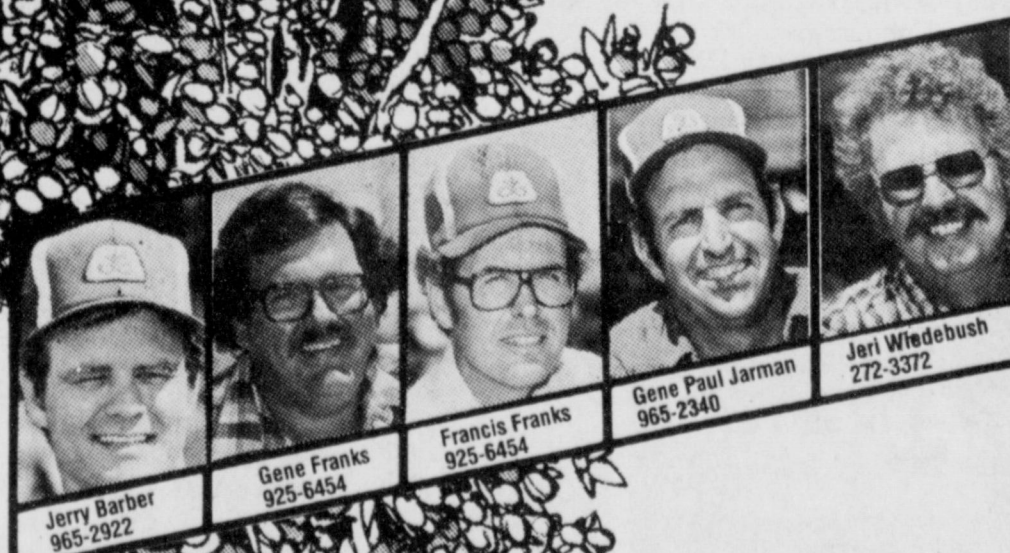

Letters must bear the writers signature, address and phone number in order that the authorship may be confirmed. Under some circumstances we will delete the name of the writer, if, in our judgement, the request to do so is justified.

Letters should not exceed 250 words and must meet standards of good taste as well as legal guidelines. Letters attacking another person, a church or specific religion will not be published. Comments on issues are encouraged in order to maintain a forum for discussion of public views.

Texas A&M ranks tops in Texas in research funding

Research funding at Texas A&M University during 1983-84 soared to a record $121.7 million, for a gain of nearly $18 million over the previous year — the largest increase ever for Texas' land-grant institution.

Last year, Texas A&M's total research funding of $103.8 million ranked it among the top 20 research institutions in the nation, and first in Texas.

"We feel strongly about our commitment to research as it applies to and complements the teaching function, contributes to our basic knowledge and helps solve problems of a technological, scientific, economic or social nature," said Texas A&M President Frank E. Vandiver. "We are proud of our role and its contribution to the vitality of the state and nation in these areas."

Airplane propellers making a comeback

Fuel conserving, counter-rotating propellers should be operational on commercial aircraft within the next seven to nine years, predicts an expert at Texas A&M University.

Under a grant from NASA's Lewis Research Center, Dr. Kenneth Korkan and several graduate students are studying noise problems related to counter-rotating propellers, a system that uses two propellers rotating in opposite directions on the same shaft.

Tests have shown that counter-rotating propellers are extremely fuel efficient as the back propeller absorbs the swirl created by the front propeller and converts it to thrust, said Korkan, a prominent researcher in the field for 20 years.

Korkan said propeller-driven aircraft can now overlap the turbo-driven airplane in speed, reaching as high as eight-tenths the speed of sound.
