Mules Lead District Late In Season

Last weekend, the Muleshoe Mules claimed their third track title of the 1985 season in winning the Bobcat Relays held in Dimmitt. The team compiled 132 points in the competition while going against 13 area teams.

Points were scored by the Mules in 10 different events. Mark Moton led all athletes and carried home the high point individual honors scoring 27 points in four events. Tony Luna was close behind scoring 25 points.

Mark Moton had a first place finish in the 440 yard dash at 51.3; Tony Luna in the two mile run with 10:30.15 and the one mile relay team with a time of 3:38.5. Team members included Ronnie Logsdon, John Isaac, Tony Luna and Mark Moton.

Finishing in second place in the meet were David Medlin with 10:39.00 in the two mile run and 51:01.05 in the one mile run; John Isaac, 52.30 in the 440 yard dash; Ray Vinson, 12 feet in the pole vault; Mark Moton, 20 feet, eight inches in the long jump and Ronnie Logsdon, 2:06.9 in the 880 yard run.

Incumbent Gordon Wilson was re-elected with 193 votes. Also winning was Sam Harlan, with 199 votes. Jim Crawford received 147 votes and Garry Shipman had 111 votes.

Boys 'Shine' In Track, Library Week Football And Basketball Will Feature Sale, 'Family'

Muleshoe Librarian Anne Camp said the Muleshoe Area Library will celebrate National Library Week April 15-20. Theme this year is "A Nation of Readers" and Mrs. Camp said it will be carried out in posters, bookmarks and balloons for the children.

"We will also be celebrating our "Freedom to Read," with a giant poster of the Statue of Liberty," she added. "We will have on display many of the award winner's projects in the junior high school history and science fairs."

According to the librarian, the week will also feature an "amnesty" on over-due books. NO FINES will be charged during this week only, so anyone having over-due books may bring them in and clear their record at the library.

Debbie Brooks will be Artist of the Month, and her paintings will be on display with oils, charcoal, and watercolors during the special week.

Bess Edwards will be showing samples of her many handicrafts in the display case during the month.

"Mrs. Camp also said, "The library still needs used books of every kind for the books sale. If you have any you would donate for this purpose, bring them by, or call and someone will pick them up."

'Jazzercise' Exhibition Set For Heart Group

Hugh Young, president of the Bailey County Chapter of the American Heart Association, announced late last week that Jennie Oliver's Jazzercise classes will be conducting a "Dance for Heart," demonstration on Monday, April 15, 7-9 p.m. at the Bailey County Civic Center.

He said this will be a "jazzercise" exhibition and the participants will perform under the sponsorship of interested friends, who will pledge a certain amount of money for the time of performance.

"Everyone is welcome to join in the fun and those wishing to participate need to bring a small mat and wear tennis shoes," said Young. "Prizes will be awarded to participants. Spectators are welcome, so come and enjoy the fun."

He said all proceeds from the exhibition will go to the American Heart Association.

They're outstanding, they're spectacular, they're all stars--and they are only eighth graders as yet. But, the athletic program directors at Watson Junior High School are justifiably proud of the accomplishments of the eighth graders during the past two years in football, basketball and now track.

Coach Roy Donaldson says he has 36 eighth grade boys involved in the track program and the 'A' team has never been defeated when the entire team has competed during the past two years.

According to school records, during every track meet for the past two years, there has been a least one athlete who has set a new track record; also, as seventh graders, this same team broke seven school track records last year.

Coach Donaldson says most schools consider the Muleshoe eighth grade team to be the one team they will HAVE to beat or defeat in district action.

The coach says he has four boys who can break the five foot, five inch make in the high jump, with another two boys who can clear more than five feet.

Some of his outstanding eighth graders include Esteven Sandoval, who the coach says shows great potential in all sports. He has set a new school record in the 800 meter run this year, and is expected to set other school records.

Daniel Olivas set a record as a seventh grader in the 100 meter, by posting the second fastest time in the school, right behind varsity. He is expected to be able to do just as good or better than varsity this year.

Another all-around athlete is Michael Dunham, who can "do almost anything." He is pressing at this time in the shot and discus, and shines on the relays and in the 400 meter.

"A lot of our guys are good enough to be stars in other schools, but here, they're just average," added Coach Donaldson.

During the Watson Junior High track meet last month, the eighth grade set seven new school records. Michael Dunham had 48 feet, eight inches in the shot put; Danny Olivas had 17 feet, six inches in the long jump; Michael Dunham had 116 feet, two and three fourths inches in the discus; Danny Olivas posted five feet, four inches in the high jump; the Muleshoe team had a time of 49.69 in the 400 meter relay; Esteven Sandoval had a time of 2:19.95 in the 800 meter dash; Danny Olivas posted 11.98 in the 100 meter dash and Michael Dunham had 61.12 in the 400 meter dash.

For their team effort, they won with a big 237 points.

Most of the same athletes were involved in the football program, and as seventh graders, they shared the district championship with Littlefield.

Final game of the year should have determined the championship, said Coach Donaldson, but they were rained out. Both had a perfect season record.

"That really built up the competition for this year," he said. "This year, the eighth grade was defeated by Idalou, who won in the final seconds. With 20 seconds left on the clock, the Muleshoe eighth grade took the ball and moved it

Around Muleshoe

Karen Reynolds of Children's Hospital in Dallas, called the Journal Monday and said two-year-old Jaime Newsom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Newsom of Tahoka had been released from Children's Hospital following a liver transplant.

She said he is still in Dallas at this time, but is expected to return to his home in Tahoka in the next few days.

Muleshoe residents 'came through' and still are to help pay Jaime's more than $100,000 in medical expenses. Donations are still being accepted at both banks in Muleshoe in his behalf.

Muleshoe Youth Center will hold a teenage dance for 13-19 year olds at the Legion Hall on West Avenue B this Saturday night.

KZOO will provide the music for the dance scheduled from 8 p.m.-12 midnight.

A&M CLUB TO GIVE AWAY BEEF--Dr. Barry Cowart, left, of the Muleshoe Area A&M Club, and James Roy Jones, right, of James Roy's Meat Market, are shown with half a beef which will be given away on May 16 by the A&M Club. The meat will be custom processed by James Roy to the winner's specifications. Donations are $1 each ticket, and proceeds will be used for the A&M Club's annual scholarship fund.

EIGHTH GRADE OUTSTANDING ATHLETES--Words cannot adequately describe the superior performance of the eighth grade boys' athletes from Watson Junior High School. Pictured here is the track team, which is excelling in competition again this year. They have not been defeated in the last two years. Many of the same athletes were members of the District Champion football team, and players on Watson Junior High School's outstanding basketball team. They are determined to take the state championship in all sports four years from now.

Stop Shelling Peas

If you boil peas in the pods, the pods will burst open and the peas will sink to the bottom when done. The pods will add flavor and be easy to skim off before serving.

Fresh Lemon Juice

Squeeze lemons and freeze the juice in ice cube trays. You will have instant "real-lemon" juice for all your recipes without the mess. Lemon cubes are terrific in cherry, grape or cola sodas.

Governor Pledges No Retreat From Education Reforms

By Governor Mark White

AUSTIN—We are now entering the second half of the 69th Legislative Session, and I am pleased that there has been no retreat from the educational reforms adopted last summer.

While the state faces unprecedented budget constraints, the Legislature is honoring its earlier commitment to increase state funding for teacher salaries, equalization aid to poor school districts, and early childhood programs.

By keeping the education reform package intact, Texas lawmakers are making the future of children a priority. Providing the highest quality public school education is the most important investment we can make in the future of our state.

I do support changes in last summer's reform legislation that would improve our ability to achieve educational excellence. One such bill, sponsored by Rep. Bill Haley, clarifies the authority of educators to expell students who carry weapons, use controlled substances, or assault other students or teachers.

This change will make it possible to provide a school environment where learning can take place, and I support that. At the same time, the Haley bill does not alter our new emphasis on keeping students with more minor discipline problems in alternative education classes and off the streets.

Texas teachers support efforts to put more emphasis on academics, but they should not be expected to pay for that support by spending more time filling out forms and filing lesson plans. At my request, the Texas Education Agency (TEA) has sent letters to all school districts to clarify that none of the educational reforms should be interpreted as requiring more paperwork from our teachers.

The TEA has also installed a toll-free number—1-800-252-3575—that the public can call for answers to their questions about the education reforms contained in House Bill 72.

The hotline has been in operation for a month, and it is no surprise that the greatest number of questions has centered on what has been called the "no pass, no play" rule.

No one denies the importance of extracurricular activities in the lives of our young people. I want schoolchildren to have the chance to play sports, take a band or choir trip, or show a prize-winning animal at a livestock show.

But I also want our children to be able to read, write, perform math problems, and operate the computers that are becoming part of our way of life.

I do not think it is unfair to expect our children to work before they play or to master their schoolwork before they master the football, the french horn, or the school play.

The success of the Houston Madison High School basketball team illustrates that we are not setting an unrealistic standard by requiring students to make passing grades to participate in extracurricular activities.

The Houston Madison Marlins won the 5A Boy's State Championship on March 9—finishing the season with an impressive 40-0 record.

None of the team was sidelined by bad grades due, in large part, to an academic counseling program initiated in 1982 by the school's principal Carrie McAtee. This program enlists teachers, coaches and counselors in a team effort to monitor students' progress in the classroom and to provide tutorials before a student's grades dip to the failing mark.

This program has made Houston-Madison a winner on the basketball court and in the classroom. I am confident that the state's education reform program will see that kind of success duplicated in schools across Texas.

CLOVER RESEEDING

Clover reseeding occurs naturally but can be improved with a few management practices, says a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Spring management practices for hairy vetch and Crimson, White and Arrowleaf clovers include allowing spring growth prior to flowering, reducing or eliminating grazing as needed to allow plants to bloom and set seed, and beginning grazing again when seeds are mature and starting to dry down. Subterranean clover can be grazed throughout the spring. In the fall, avoid excess nitrogen fertilization, remove excess forage and disk lightly.

Record-Keeping Rule For Taxes Is Now Repealed

As the 1985 tax year began, what normally is just a bad dream for most of us became for many a taxpayer's nightmare. That's when several

Jennyslippers

Varied Programs Given At Meet

Jeff Smith was in charge of the program at the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday at noon and introduced Kathryn Taylor, office manager for Five Area Telephone Cooperative.

Mrs. Taylor is immediate past president of the Jennyslippers, women's division of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. She outlined many of the activities of the Jennyslippers during the past year.

They have conducted the Fourth of July parade; Christmas Parade; Mule Day Festival Parade; conducted booths at various civic functions; served barbecue at other civic events; contributed hundreds of dollars to various civic projects, including Meals on Wheels, to get the depot moved and other events, give a scholarship yearly to a graduating student. They have held picnics, ice cream socials and a kidnap breakfast.

Vivian White is currently president and Thursie Reid is incoming president.

On Saturday, April 27, the Jennyslippers will conduct a "Walk-A-Thon" and are encouraging everyone to participate. They say they have jobs to be done by women of all ages, whether or not they work, and other work that women can do at home to help boost Muleshoe.

changes in the federal tax code took effect and when those who use their automobiles for business purposes encountered more obstacles than usual: more paper, more calculations, and more bureaucratic burdens.

The contemporaneous record-keeping rule required motorists to maintain detailed logs of every business and personal use of the vehicle, including the date, name of the user, number of miles traveled, purpose of the trip and cost of vehicle expenses.

The new Internal Revenue Service regulations inspired justifiable and loudly voiced outrage among citizens in the 19th Congressional District as well as individuals across the nation.

Responding to the outpouring of mail from angry farmers and business people, Congress voted overwhelmingly to repeal the needless contemporaneous record-keeping requirement. This legislation, which awaits the President's signature, would permit a return to the pre-1984 law. Individuals who use a vehicle for business purposes would be allowed to maintain adequate auto logs or sufficient written evidence corroborating the taxpayer's own statement.

As one of the original co-sponsors of repeal legislation concerning the contemporaneous record-keeping rule, I am delighted that my colleagues saw fit to act quickly to remove this onerous law.

The effort in Congress to repeal the rigorous log rule, I believe, is an excellent example of government responding to the will of the people. Through citizen involvement, lawmakers can respond accordingly. I only hope that we can transfer that principle to address the other critical issues facing us.

Extension Homemakers Mark Milestone In Bailey County

When Extension Homemaker Clubs from 20 South Plains counties gather here today, Thursday (April 11) for their annual district meeting, they will mark to the very day—a historic point in the development of Bailey County.

It was exactly 50 years before—on April 11, 1935—that Miss Alma Stewart began work as Bailey County's first Extension Agent in home economics. Among her first efforts was the formation of Home Demonstration Clubs, now called Extension Homemaker Clubs, in all parts of the county. Fourteen clubs were formed in the county that year.

Some 250 women from across the district will salute that Golden Anniversary in the county when they open their 1985 meeting a 10 a.m. in the Coliseum. They will be welcomed by Mayor Charles Bratcher and a charter member of one of the 14 original county clubs, Mrs. Fern Davis.

Those first 14 clubs, with their presidents and their delegates to the county HDC council were:

Baileyboro—Mrs. Roy Pugh and Mrs. V.E. Mays; West Camp—Mrs. H.W. Foster, Mrs. W. Williams; Progress—Miss Vera Baker, Mrs. J.S. Shipman; Muleshoe—Mrs. Dudley Buzard, Mrs. Lee Sims; Circleback—Mrs. Burl Rogers, Mrs. W.A. Elmore.

Enochs—Mrs. Homer Green, Mrs. J.F. Green; Watson—Mrs. David St. Clair, Mrs. T.C. Miller; Wilson—Mrs. Iris Holloway, Mrs. E.S. Stevens; Stegall—Mrs. R.P. Klutz, Mrs. T.C. Cotter; Longview—Mrs. Pat Lane, Mrs. Nudie Moore.

Also, New Bula—Mrs. G.W. Davis, Mrs. A.A. Alexander; Goodland—Mrs. Ruby Ponder, Mrs. A.C. Rackley; Old Bula—Mrs. Clara Gilbert, Mrs. Everett Brewer; and the Fairview club.

County Extension Agents are professional educators who live and work with the people in a designated county. They form the basic unit of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, an arm of the state's land-grant university, Texas A&M, to take the latest scientific information from the campus and help citizens apply it in their farming, homemaking and businesses.

Agents conduct and coordinate educational programs to meet specific needs of the people in their county, as determined by an organized County Program Building Committee of volunteer citizens. These programs cover agriculture, family living, 4-H and youth, community development, and natural resources. The agents currently serving Bailey County are Miss Deana Finck, home economics, and Spencer Tanksley and Kirby Rankin, agriculture.

In May of 1935, Miss Stewart conducted her initial program for the county's new Home Demonstration Clubs: Budget making. Subsequent programs for that year included: Feeding the family, the 4-H pantry, vegetable cookery, the advantages of subirrigation, canning equipment, salads, county club picnics, short-course reports, salads, county club picnics, clothing, planning the wardrobe, and conducting achievement days.

For the past half-century, hundreds of Bailey County women have participated in Extension club work, increasing their knowledge and skills in home economics and leadership. Highlights and programs during that span include:

1936—Framed gardens using sub-irrigation;

1937—Assisted in sponsoring county fair;

1938—Making "prepared" cheese, a cottage cheese similar to the American cheese process;

1939—Progress Club members preserved 26,000 containers of food;

1940s to date—County businessmen demonstrated new appliances;

1942—Clubs aided the federal government by making quilts and mattresses during World War II;

1950s—Tailoring classes were conducted by Mrs. Aubrey Russell, then Extension district director;

1975 to date—Cancer programs;

1980—Defensive driving course;

1930s to date—"Meet the Candidates Night."

The first Bailey County EH Council was formed in 1935. Its officers were: Miss Vera Baker, chairman; Mrs. Dudley Buzard, vice chairman; Mrs. David St. Clair, secretary; Mrs. Lee Sims, treasurer; Mrs. V.B. Mays, reporter, and Mrs. Everett Brewer, parliamentarian.

Leading the 1985 county council are: Jackie Blaylock, chairman; Lucille Gross, vice chairman; Linda Huckaby, Secretary-treasurer, and Helen Redwine, TEHA chairman.

Bailey Extension Homemakers also have provided leadership at district and state levels. Mrs. G.T. Maltby served as district vice president (now called district director) in 1949. Mrs. William G. Kennedy was state president in 1941-43.

Presently there are three Extension Homemaker clubs in the county.

The Progress EH Club, one of the original 14, also is marking its 50th anniversary this year. It meets the third Tuesday each month at 3 p.m. Officers are Alice Moore, president; Helen Redwine, vice president; Lucille Gross, secretary-treasurer, and Ada Thompson and Fern Davis, council delegates.

The Dusty Prairie EH Club meets the third Wednesday each month at 2:30 p.m. Officers are Lou Knowles, president; Loraine Dearing, vice president; Clara Lou Jones, secretary-treasurer; Polly Clark, reporter, and Loraine Dearing and Lou Knowles, council delegates.

The Moonlight EH Club meets the third Tuesday each month at 7:30 p.m. Officers are Betty Campbell, president; Rose Sain, vice president; Linda Huckaby, secretary-treasurer; and Lela Copley and Donna Vincent, council delegates.

In addition, the Three-Way community has a study club, the Three-Way Home Economics Club, which meets at 3:45 p.m. the second Monday each month.

PART OF HISTORY—Among those who have made Extension Homemaker Clubs a valued part of Bailey County history over the past 50 years is this group of unidentified members, photographed about 1944.

Creative Woman

by Sheryl Borden

The topics to be presented on "The Creative Woman" show on April 16 and 20 are energy-saving window treatments and stuffed pork chops. Paulette Gehrke, Extension Home Economist from Eddy County in Carlsbad will show how to make a one-hour window quilt as one way to conserve energy. She'll also present other ideas for making window treatments attractive as well as making them more energy efficient.

Whether you're cooking for two or twenty, pork cookery is easy when you know a few basic steps and contrary to what people once thought, you can successfully broil pork chops. Jayne Hager is the consumer spokesperson for the National Pork Producers from Des Moines, Iowa and besides showing us how to broil pork chops and determine when they're done, she'll show us how to stuff pork chops. Mrs. Hager will also discuss the nutritional aspects of pork.

On April 18 the show will consist of a health up-date and ways to make extra money. Hazel Wallace is the Consumer Affairs Director for the Food and Drug Administration in Dallas, Texas and she'll discuss several of the most recent findings of the FDA. She'll discuss the status of cyclamates, saccharin and other food additives, EDB, caffeine, sodium content and labeling, Mexican vanilla, color additives and other points.

Jim Sais is the Urban Horticulturist with the Cooperative Extension Service in Albuquerque and his topic is called "Cash Crop in Your Backyard". According to Mr. Sais, raising vegetables is one way to make extra money. He will explain how to grow certain items, suggest ways to market them and show lots of interesting examples that are "best sellers".

"The Creative Woman" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs on KENW-TV, Channel 3, Portales on Tuesday and Thursday at 12 noon, and at 2:00 pm on Saturday. (All times are Mountain Standard).

THOROUGH COOKING IMPORTANT FOR HAM—Although trichinosis is rare in the United States, many consumers still wonder about the safety of ham. According to Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutrition specialists, there is no danger of trichinosis in fully cooked hams. Fresh hams, however, need thorough cooking until the center reaches a temperature of 170 degrees F. To make sure this temperature is reached, insert a meat thermometer in the thickest part of the cut.

Sudan Girl First 1985 Basketball Signee At WBU

Sudan senior Sharla Harrison, considered one of the top 20 recruits in Texas this year, became Wayland Baptist University's first basketball signee of 1985 by accepting an athletic scholarship agreement Tuesday.

Harrison, who at 6'1" plays both forward and post, averaged 18 points and nine rebounds per game while collecting a bevy of prep honors this year. She was named District MVP, Texas Girls Coaches Association All-State and All-Star, Golden Spread All-Star and earned her third straight All-District recognition.

The daughter of Al and Glynna Harrison, Sharla and current Flying Queen freshman Missy Fisher led Sudan High School to a Class A state championship in 1983. Sharla is the second family member to play for the Queens, following in her mother's (the former Glynna Masten, a three-time All-American between 1959 and 1963) footsteps.

"Sharla is rated among the top 20 basketball players in the state and has very good basketball credentials," said WBU Head Coach Dave Dettmerman. "She comes from an outstanding basketball program at Sudan High School and I think there's a bit of sentimentality with her mother having played for the Flying Queens. It should be a very special situation. Sharla is also a very outstanding student and citizen and will make a great contribution to our program in those areas. On the court, she has the potential to step in and fill the void at center left by (1985 graduate) Sally Lindemann."

Harrison, coached in high school by Jim Kirkland, was also named All-State in 1984 and 1985 by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches. In addition, she was twice named All-South Plains by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and a three-time All-State pick by the Amarillo Globe-News. She was an All-Tournament choice in each of the last two Plainview Queens Classics and received a similar honor at this year's Caprock Tournament and will play in the TGCA All-Star Game in Austin this summer.

Harrison's athletic achievements haven't overshadowed her academics, however. She will graduate as Sudan High School's valedictorian as the top senior student and is also president of the local chapter of the National Honor Society and listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students. The pre-med major also qualifies for the President's Award at WBU, part of the Pioneer Scholar program.

to the Idalou 20 before the clock ran out."

The eighth grade is going into high school with a history of winning, and are determined to take the state championship in four years, said Coach Donaldson.

This year, the eighth grade Mules were the district champions, as Littlefield, undefeated in the season, lost to the Mules 28-0, and it was Littlefield's first defeat in two years. The team had never been beaten over six points, and had never been held scoreless.

Concentrated teamwork is attributed to the success of the eighth grade athletes according to their coach.

David Sanders, David Wooten and Michael Dunham, offensive runners, had several games with over 100 rushing yards each, and the coach reminded that eighth grade quarters are only six minutes long.

Jeff Hicks at quarterback, has proved to be an outstanding leader, said the coach. He provides leadership, and a good balanced offense, said Donaldson. Jeff passes well to Esteven Sandoval and Brad Long.

"Defensively, other teams couldn't run the middle, the sweep or pass against our defense," said Donaldson. "They're easy to coach, and always did just what we asked them to."

Basketball did not provide a district champion as the eighth grade did not play Idalou, Floydada or Tulia, even though they played a double schedule.

Some of the teams included

He also spoke briefly about the recently completed renovation of railroad crossing in the city by the Santa Fe Railroad, and that construction on the new fire station is expected to begin in the next couple of weeks.

Clovis, Dimmitt, Littlefield, and the Mules from the eighth grade "drummed" Morton real good.

Even though there was no championship at stake, "we won most of our games," said Coach Donaldson. "Our basketball players are good ball handlers. Some of the more outstanding players are Jeff Hicks and Esteven Sandoval."

All in all, the young players who will be moving into high school in the fall are proven all-around, all-stars.

Soil Temperature Important

In many cases, the early bird does get the worm. But when it comes to spring planting, farmers may want to use a little restraint and take a look at soil temperatures before cranking up their planters.

One of the keys to getting spring crops off to a good start is to heed soil temperatures, cautions Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Soil temperatures have been shown to have an important effect on how well seeds germinate. Planting in cool soils often leads to poor seed germination and poor crop stands. Plants that do come up often lack vigor for early growth. And this opens the door to early season disease and insect attacks.

Tanksley advises farmers to begin planting only after the danger of a late frost is past and the soil has warmed to temperatures favorable to the intended crop.

Farmers also need to keep attuned to weather forecasts prior to planting. A sudden change in weather conditions following planting can be detrimental to the crop, particularly a cool, wet spell that can lower soil temperatures drastically.

Just when is it safe to plant what crop?

PURE BLISS--Saturday afternoon, as soon as the Easter Bunny alighted from a helicopter, this two year old, Wesley Maguire, broke free from his mother, raced across the field with his arms outstretched, and told the Easter Bunny, "I Love You, Easter Bunny." This shows in the pure bliss on his face as he clutches The Bunny.

tures (at the four-inch depth) for planting are as follows: corn, 50 degrees; sorghum, 55 degrees; cotton, 65 degrees; and soybeans, 70 degrees. Peanuts require 70 degrees.

Tanksley said hardy vegetables such as onions, cabbage and potatoes can be planted once soil temperatures range between 45 and 50 degrees while warm-season vegetables such as tomatoes, melons, beans and peppers need soil that has warmed into the 60s.

With early season planting, particularly when soil temperatures are still marginal, farmers need to pay particular attention to using high quality seed, fungicides and other seed protectants, and adjusting seeding rates, notes Tanksley.

How do farmers keep abreast of changing soil temperatures?

Tanksley points out that daily readings are taken at various locations throughout Texas in cooperation with the Extension Service, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the National Weather Service and individual cooperators. For example, the regional temperature reading for North Texas is based on temperatures at Lavon Dam northeast of Dallas, while readings are also made for the High Plains, Trans-Pecos area, Coastal Plains, South Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

As temperatures are collected, they are included in daily agricultural weather advisories issued for each of the regions by the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University.

The advisories are fed into the NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration) weather wire teletype system to be received by commercial radio and television stations. The advisories are also carried over the NOAA Weather Radio Network.

Specific temperature readings for about 50 locations are also distributed daily through regular weather service dissemination channels.

Keeping tabs on the weather and soil conditions can help farmers get off to a good start with spring planting, believes Tanksley. With the high cost of farm inputs, it's information that should be put to good use.

Clean Air Week To Be Observed

The American Lung Association of Texas is joining forces with the Texas Air Control Board to promote the observance of Clean Air Week April 28-May 4.

Special Clean Air Week activities have been planned for many Texas communities which include mayoral proclamations, classroom presentations, and bicycle treks to place emphasis on the necessity of properly maintained automobile exhaust emissions systems. To call attention to the importance of a smoke-free indoor atmosphere, the Texian Inns are making a $5.00 contribution to the Lung Association for each non-smoking room reserved during Clean Air week. Texian Inns are now located in Austin, Bryan/College Station, Dallas, Plano, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio and Waco. Be sure to mention the Lung Association when making a reservation during Clean Air Week. The American Lung Association is the only voluntary national health agency which concerns itself with the quality of the air we breathe.

New Reports Will Help Understanding Aquifer

The first of a series of summary reports that describe the hydrology and geology of the High Plains aquifer and will aid in predicting how the quifer will respond to continued pumping of water and to other human activities has been published by the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) Department of the Interior.

"The broad objective of the series of reports is to assemble geologic, hydrologic and geochemical information, to analyze and develop an understanding of the quifer system and to develop predictive capabilities that will contribute to the effective management of the system," said D. Gutentag, a USGS hydrologist in Denver, Colo., and the principal author of the report.

The High Plains aquifer, which underlies 174,000 square miles in parts of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming and South Dakota, is the principal source of water for irrigation and municipal and domestic uses in one of the nation's major agricultural areas.

Extensive pumping for irrigation since World War II, however, has caused sharp declines in ground-water levels in most parts of the High Plains quifer, including the main component, which is the Ogallala Formation. Water level declines threaten the irrigation-based agricultural economy of many parts of the High Plains.

The High plains is one of more than a dozen major aquifers in the United States that will be analyzed under the Regional Aquifer System Analysis (RASA) program of the USGS.

The first of the final reports in the USGS High Plains series examines the geohydrology of the aquifer. The report summarizes previous preliminary reports issued the USGS on the geology and hydrology of the High Plains aquifer.

In summarizing previous preliminary USGS reports, the new report says about 170,000 wells pump water from the High Plains aquifer to irrigate about 13 million acres. Nearly 95 percent of the water pumped from the aquifer is used for irrigation.

Water levels have fallen more than 100 feet over about 2,500 square miles in parts of Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas; have declined more than 50 feet in another 12,000 square miles; and have declined more than 10 feet in areas totaling 50,000 square miles. The depth to water is more than 300 feet in parts of Kansas, New Mexico and Texas.

The volume of water in storage in the aquifer has decreased about 166 million acre-feet since ground-water development began in the late 1800s, but the aquifer still contains about 3.25 billion acre-feet of drainable water. One acre-foot is equal to 325,851 gallons and is enough water to cover one acre to a depth of one foot.

But water-level declines increase pumping lift, decrease well yields, increase costs and limit development of the ground-water resource, Gutentag said. In addition, physical, chemical, economic and legal constraints control where the aquifer has been or can be developed.

For example, he said the estimated cost of pumping one acre-foot of water with 100 feet of lift in 1979 was about $10 for electricity and $6 for natural gas. He said these costs are expected to double for electricity and increase six-fold for natural gas by 1990.

"Thus, declining water levels and increasing energy costs may have a serious impact on the economics of future irrigation development," the USGS report says.

Other authors of the USGS report are Frederick J. Heimes, Noel C. Krothe, Richard R.

Lucky and John B. Weeks, all USGS hydrologists in Denver.

The report, titled "Geohydrology of the High Plains Aquifer in Parts of Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming," was published as USGS Professional Paper 1400-B.

Copies of the report can be purchased, for $5 per copy, from the Text Products Section, Eastern Distribution Branch, U.S. Geological Survey, 604 South Pickett St., Alexandria, Va. 22304. Orders must specify the report number (PP 1400-B) and include checks or money orders payable to the Department of the Interior-USGS.

Copies are available for inspection at USGS libraries in Building 3, Denver West Office Park, 1526 Cole Blvd., Golden, Colo. and in Room 4A100, USGS National Center, 12201 Sunrise Valley Drive, Reston, Va. Inspection copies also are available at the USGS Public Inquiries Office, 169 Federal Building office, Room H-2921, Building 53, Denver Federal Center, 6th Ave. and Kipling St., Lakewood, Colo.

Cotton Import Action Asked

The National Cotton Council has officially requested Secretary of Agriculture John Block to begin proceedings under Section 22 of the Agricultural Act to prevent cotton product imports from further reducing domestic cotton consumption and interfering with the government cotton program.

In view of the crisis situation, the Council also asked for emergency action under the law.

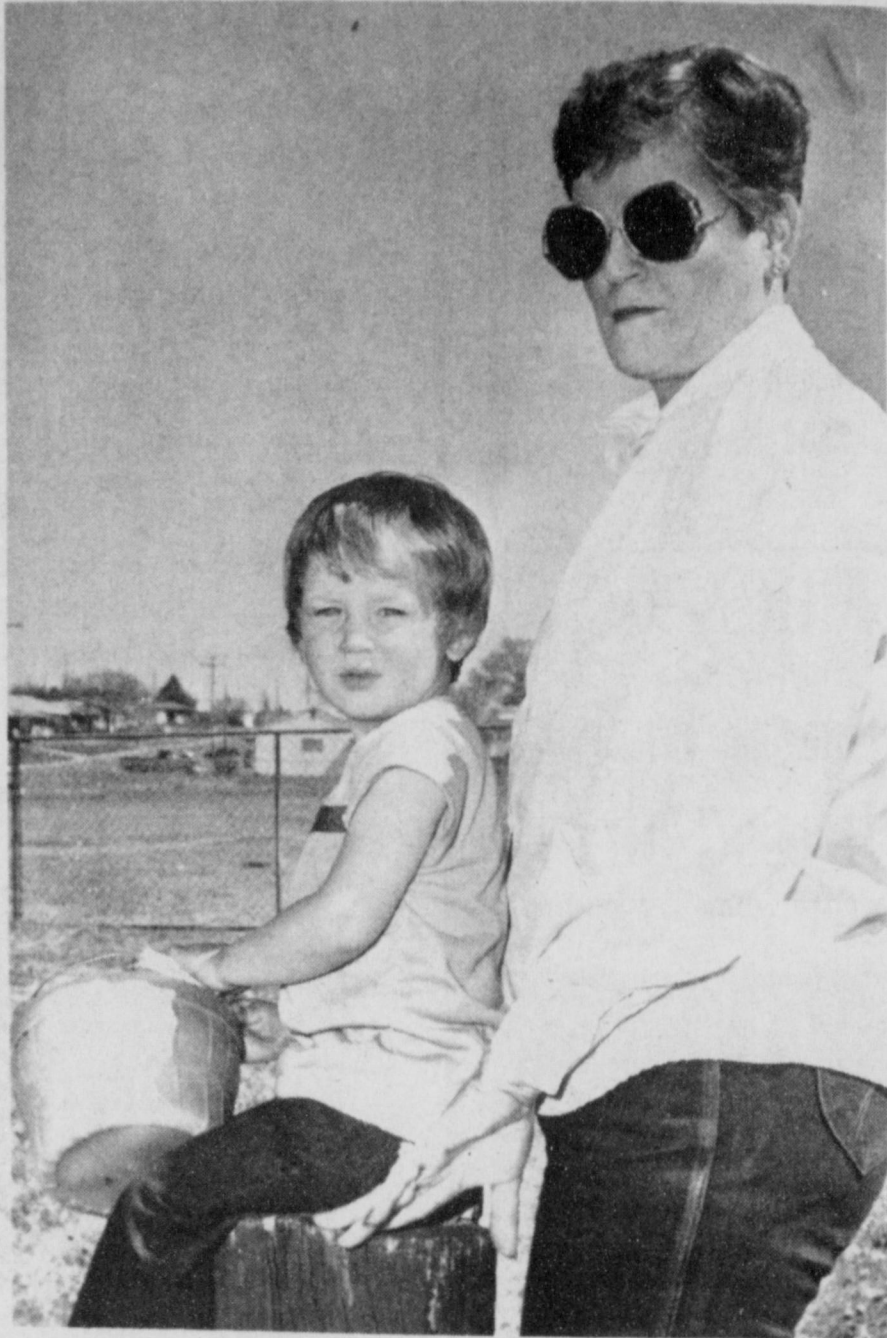

Council President Samuel B. Hollis told the Secretary that dramatic increases in penetration of the U.S. market by cotton product imports has reduced the animal domestic consumption of U.S. cotton by well over a million bales since 1980. This lower demand in relation to supply has meant lower prices to farmers and sharply reduced income, Hollis stated.

Imports now account for 37 percent of retail cotton consumption, compared with 22 percent five years ago. Last year alone they escalated 29 percent. These imports have caused losses to farmers estimated at $2.6 billion and far higher costs of government cotton programs since 1980, he added.

Section 22 provides that when the Secretary has reason to believe that imports are interfering with a government farm program or causing reduced consumption of a commodity covered by a farm program, he is to inform the President.

If the President agrees, he directs the International Trade Commission to investigate and make recommendations. If the President agrees with its findings, he must import quotas or fees to correct the situation.

Commenting on the action, Hollis said, "We have an extremely strong case, and we hope and believe that the Secretary will agree with us when he has time to study the facts."

High Yield Food Corn

Conlee's 202 is a new and improved single cross hybrid yellow corn that is unique with a white cob, making it preferred as a food grain. Crop yields, however, meet and most often exceed comparable feed corn yields. This hybrid has bred-in disease resistance and presents the best of parental lines in yield and quality. The big, well shuck covered ears are well placed for easy harvest. The big root system and sturdy stalks provide good standability, reducing the hazards of lodging. Conlee's 202's leaf habit allows for closer plant spacing, thus increasing plant population. It responds very well to moisture becoming a favorite with both dryland and irrigated producers. Proven to be adaptable from deep South Texas to the North into the Plains and Mid-Western States, the popularity of this Conlee hybrid has exceeded expectations, making seed availability limited. Order your 202 corn seed early to assure availability.

Keratotomy 'Good' Report Says Study

At first, the idea of carving up the clear outer surface of the human eye to improve vision no doubt seemed drastic and risky.

Now this medical procedure, called radial keratotomy, is gaining more and more acceptance as research continues. A recent study by the National Eye Institute brought encouraging news about this operation for reducing nearsightedness.

Results from the first year of the five-year study indicate that the procedure may be a relatively safe and effective alternative to corrective lenses.

Researchers warn, however, that radial keratotomy has been performed in the U.S. only since 1978, and long-term problems might not show up for 10 to 30 years. The American Academy of Ophthalmology regards radial keratotomy as an "investigational procedure" whose short-term benefits of better sight should be weighed against the possibility of problems later.

The Texas Medical Association says the procedure involves making eight to 16 tiny slashes in the cornea, a clear, dime-sized covering about as thick as a credit card. The slashes run from a point near the center of the cornea to the edge-like the spokes of wheel.

The cuts weaken the cornea, allow internal pressure to form bulges at the cornea's edges, and flatten its center. This flattening refocuses the light entering the eye to eliminate nearsightedness, the inability to see distant objects clearly.

The recent study of 413 patients at nine U.S. medical centers consisted of 69 percent who had 20/200 vision or worse in the eye, meaning that the only eye-chart letter they could read was the big E. All but one of the 413 had worse than 20/40 vision, the minimum required in most states to get a driver's license without corrective lenses.

One year after surgery, 78 percent of the 413 had 20/40 vision or better in the eye operated on. The most common problems were "undercorrection" and "overcorrection", but the study's director reported "no severe vision-threatening complications at one year."

Vision in an eye may not stabilize for up to a year after surgery, the study notes, but nearsightedness generally decreases during this period. Radial keratotomy reduced near-sightedness in all eyes in the study but was particularly effective on those with better vision initially.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres discusses some recent inventions this week.

Dear editor:
Some people with inventive minds apparently don't have enough to do.

So one of them has invented a robot that'll make hamburgers. It'll take your order, put whatever you want on it, cut the onions if you say so, cook it, and then bring it to you. One fast-food chain is trying it out.

Somebody else has figured out a way to bug a typewriter. When you hit a key, the sound is broadcast to a spy across the street. With each key producing a minutely different sound, the spy's typewriter records it, transcribes the noise and reproduces what you wrote.

If you're writing secret government information, you'd better use a quill and ink. Some defense contractor can furnish you quills for $400 apiece on a cost-plus contract, depending on the cost of goose feathers. This doesn't include the ink.

I have checked my typewriter and I don't believe it's bugged, although one morning a moth flew out of it.

Still another inventor has perfected a laser beam you bounce off the window panes of an officer where highly classified governmental conversations are going on, and the beam can tell you what's being said by interpreting the vibrations the spoken words make on the glass.

If a bunch of Congressmen and Senators are in on the meeting you're spying on, this might be a waste of laser beams.

No telling what's going to be invented next, but the man who invented that robot that makes hamburgers has one more job. He needs to invent a robot that'll eat them.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

It has been estimated that about 2.5 billion copies of the Bible have been sold in the world since 1816.

HIS TROUBLES WON'T GET HIM DOWN

Forgetting his incapacitation, he is happily determined to plan ahead. His spirit is not easily crushed. Life is always full of hope and excitement. The Lord and this young man's Christian friends have taught him to have such an outlook on life.

"But the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith." Galatians 5:22.

We invite you to attend the church of your choice regularly to worship, to be uplifted, encouraged, and blessed.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Does It Matter?
by Laury Grant

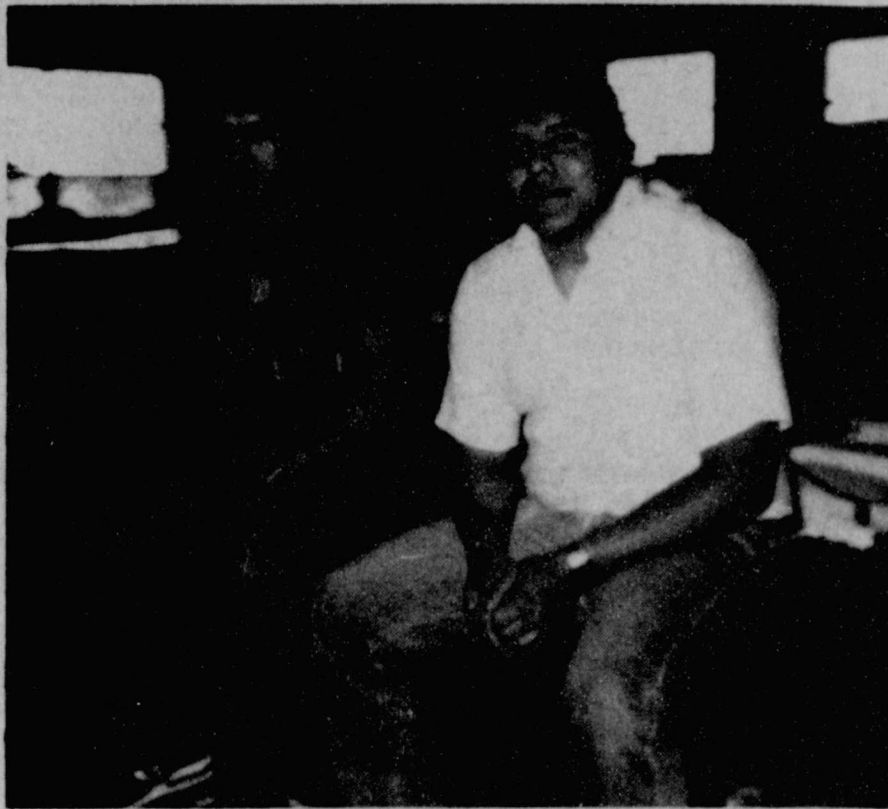

Happiness, sadness,
When you are lonely, does it matter?
Tears come, laughter comes.
Do you care, does anyone?
Do you want help or not...
Is anyone willing?
Who knows?
Full of emptiness,
Having nothing to hold,
Not wanting anything;
but then...
So many decisions made alone..
Is it worth it, or not?
Your heart says no, but your head...
Loneliness hurts, does security?
Who knows, who cares?
Do you...

Lost Friend
by Beatriz Garcia

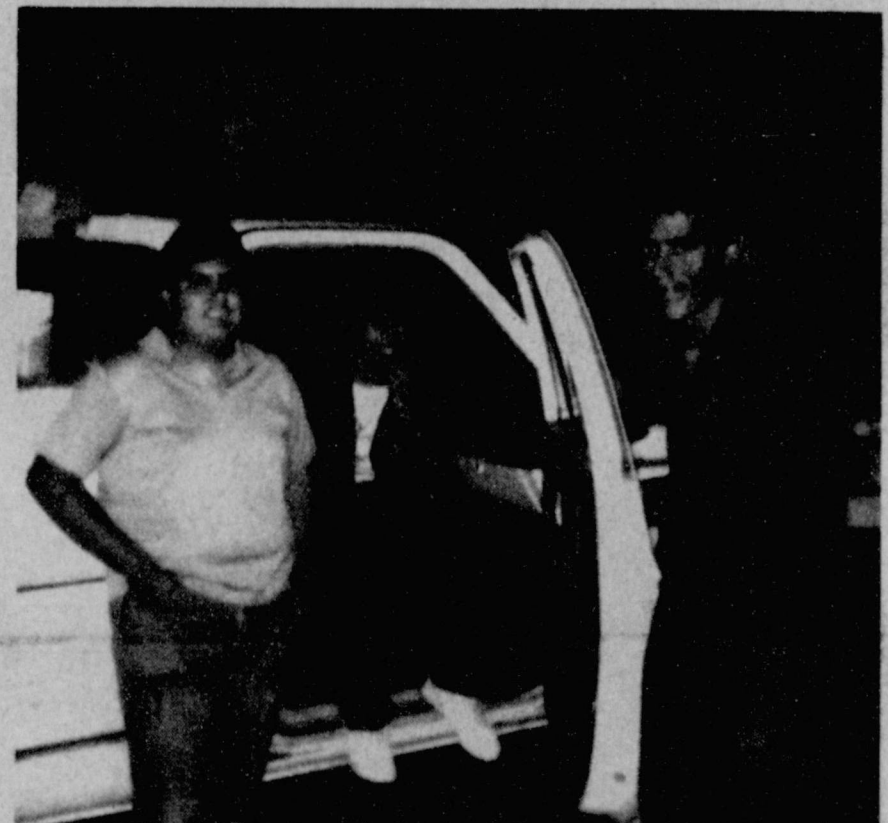

A ring,
A gold and black senior ring.
Gold-printed name, rock, and symbol...smashed in the middle of a Dallas street.
I wonder,
and a tear runs down my face.
Why?
Why her ring,
just her ring?
Didn't her boyfriend...
Is he gone, too?
Is she now gone
without anyone knowing?
Is my love toward her now stronger, or is my love dying with her?
Wondering, I cry,
with a guilty feeling inside,
Thinking to myself "Why didn't
I care, why didn't I listen?"
Now all I can do is think of all the good memories left behind.

The Future
by Shonda Pruitt

Yesterday,
Today,
Tomorrow?
Thoughts of the future
come to my mind.
Wondering
what stands in store for me.
Hoping that the future
will bring good fortune.
Not knowing
if failure stands before me.
What the future holds will remain unknown for now.
Soon it will all be revealed,
good or bad...
No one knows until the future becomes the present, the present become the past,
And we look upon "tomorrow"
as "yesterday."
