Drama Group
Guest Speakers
At Rotary Meet

Kerry Moore, drama and speech instructor for Muleshoe High School, and three cast members from the state-winning one-act play, "The Tragedy of King Lear," were guest speakers for the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday at noon. Students were Jeffy McCarty, John Isaac and Mark Moton.

They explained the competition and how it is conducted in state competition at Austin.

The group went into the amount of work done getting the play ready, including the three to four hours of practice several nights per week; the hard work going into learning lines, and the proper way to apply make-up.

It was also explained how the adjustments are made to fit the character portrayed on the stage and how the entire cast and crew does a lot of teamwork to successfully put on a play.

It was also explained the years Moore has gone to state, and the honors he has led the students to in his 24 years as speech and drama instructor at MHS.

Guests at the meeting included J.B. Sudduth, Joel Ware, Harry Sheets, Charlie Bell, Dick Chitwood, Curtis Shelburne and Jim Clawson.

Drought Weak
Grass Needing
Extra Attention

By Obie Kelley
SCS Technician

Grassland and other forage plants that were grazed short during last year's drought are in a weakened condition and will recover a lot faster if managed properly during the 1985 growing season.

Obie Kelley, Soil conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Muleshoe, said producers who sold their livestock last year should develop a grazing plan that considers the needs of these weakened plants before they buy back.

"Our better range plants are very low in vigor due to the drought," Kelley said. "The more rest we can give them this year, the faster they will regain their productivity."

"People who are stocking back now should consider stocking at a lower rate for at least a year to give the grass a chance to get ahead of the livestock. And remember, we don't have any assurances that we won't be back in a drought by the end of the year."

Kelley said since we now have adequate moisture, this would be an excellent time to install a planned grazing system so all pastures could be rested during the current growing season.

If you have cropland, you might also want to consider growing some forage sorghum this year. You could graze it to take some pressure off your grassland until later in the year. "If you have improved pastures of bermudagrass or Klein-grass, you might fertilize it and run livestock on it to rest rangeland."

Kelley said, however, that some tame pastures are so low in vigor that weeds have taken over. This land needs weed control, fertilization, and rotational grazing.

He said SCS personnel assisting landowners and operators in the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District can help producers work out a planned grazing system or a grazing plan to help improve the drought stressed grassland.

It was a gala and festive night, with the sparkling wit of Kerry Moore as master of ceremonies for the annual athletic banquet for Muleshoe High School athletes Monday night.

After the large crowd enjoyed a barbecue brisket dinner catered by Eddie's Barbecue, special guests, coaches, cheerleaders and other guests were introduced and an annual event for the banquet, The Senior Spotlight was conducted by Coach Jerry Robinson.

Each senior athlete walked through an archway and his or her accomplishments were outlined by the coach. All of the athletes were commended for their activities in various sports, and some had awesome statistics for their years as high school students, such as long distance runner, Tony Luna.

Coaches introduced their team members, from freshmen, through junior varsity and varsity, both boys' and girls' sports.

Classes Slated

For Beginners

A basic photography class is being offered to all interested individuals by Lonnie D. Adrian, owner/operator of Adrian Photography. The classes will meet for three hours each evening, 6-9 p.m., on Tuesday or Thursday, for one month, beginning on Thursday, May 23.

Adrian said the class will include camera operations, types of film, uses, lens, and application, electronic flash and existing light, color harmony and composition.

Cost of the course is $65, and persons planning to attend will need to bring their own camera and one roll of inexpensive film.

A minimum of 15 must sign up for the course, and no more than 20 individuals will be allowed to attend.

Interested person may call the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office at 272-4248 or go by their office at 215 South First St.

son presented special awards to some of the athletes, including: for football-offensive lineman was Chris Johnson, and defensive lineman was John Isaac, while Mark Moton received the back award.

In the third year to present the Iron Man Award, the coaches decided to rename it the Roby Wilson Honorary Iron Man Award in memory of the late Roby Wilson, who was first recipient of the award. It was given to Sergio Leal this year.

For basketball, Rob Donaldson was presented the offensive award and John Isaac was presented the defensive award; while the girls' basketball award was given Lenor Daniel.

Tony Luna walked (or ran) away with the track award, which is given to the track and field star who accumulates the most points. Tony Luna had 158 points for past year.

Jerry Gleason, president of the Athletic Booster Club, who sponsored the banquet, briefly outlined the past year for the Booster Club, and said the Booster Club has spent $5,000 on the athletic department during the current school year. Included in the figure has been a projector, weight belts, $1,000 to track, tennis warm-ups, boys' basketball warm-ups, 25 track uniforms and 75 junior high school track uniforms.

Dr. Gleason encouraged more parents to attend the Booster Club meetings and participate more in their children's activities.

Media awards were presented following remarks by H. John Fuller, superintendent of the Muleshoe Independent School District. He praised the students for helping a 'year of transition' for the school, with little to no problems. "You have made an excellent transition, and we are proven to have really great young leaders," said the superintendent.

Magann Rennels of Channel Six presented the media awards for golf and tennis. Girls' golf recipient was Polly Harrison, while Sergio Leal and Loy Triana shared the boys' golf honors, with each received a certificate.

For tennis, Deborah Nieman and Stacy Smith were presented

City, County Get Mixed Drink Check

State Comptroller Bob Bullock last Wednesday sent checks totaling $11.7 million to 220 counties and 424 cities as their share of the state's 12 percent mixed drink tax collected during the first quarter of 1985.

The Texas legislature raised the tax from 10 to 12 percent effective October 2, 1984, during a special session last summer.

Bullock said the state collected $48.7 million in mixed drink taxes for the first quarter of 1984 at the old 10 percent rate.

Muleshoe received a check in the amount of $460.85 from the $3,686.82 collected on mixed drinks for taxes. For Bailey County, the check was in the amount of $860.83 from the $6,886.65 collected on mixed drinks for taxes.

In Cochran County, the mixed drink tax check was in the amount of $120.15 on the $961.21 collected in taxes.

Lamb County was $1,115.19 richer after rebating mixed drink taxes in the amount of $8,921.54 and Littlefield received a check for $687.41 after rebating mixed drink taxes in the amount of $5,499.24.

Parmer County's check was by far the smallest at $9.73 on mixed-drink taxes rebated for $77.82.

Texas cities and counties receive a share of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state.

Of the total $48.7 million in state collections, counties received $6 million compared to $5.8 million for the first quarter in 1984. Cities received $5.6 million, up from the $5.4 million collected during the same period last year. The state's general revenue fund received the balance.

Bullock said $37 million was deposited in the state's general revenue fund from first quarter collections compared to the $27.8 million collected at the 10 percent rate for the same period in 1984.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the Comptroller's Office.

Combs Receives Scholarship
To Attend TCU

Jeff Combs of Muleshoe, a sophomore student at Western Texas College, has been awarded the Nordan drama scholarship to Texas Christian University, Jim Rambo, WTC theatre director, said.

Combs will use the $3,500 scholarship award to attend TCU in the 1985 fall semester. Lori Grandclair, a former WTC student, is presently attending TCU on Nordan scholarship.

Combs and Aaron Knight, Jr., sophomore from Big Lake, were recognized as Outstanding Students in Theatre at the WTC Awards Day program on April 30. Knight was also named Outstanding Male Student for 1984-85.

"We are very pleased that Jeff has received the Nordan scholarship," Rambo said. "This is a great opportunity for him."

"Jeff is a very pliable actor and the type who does not mind trying new things. He takes direction well. He has a great sense of comic timing, an innate ability to play to the audience. We have enjoyed having Jeff at WTC for this time and will follow his future activities with interest."

Combs received a drama scholarship to WTC following his graduation from Muleshoe High School, and is the son of Larry and Berta Combs of Muleshoe.

Green Thumb
Worker Trio
At Workshop

More than 75 Green Thumb workers and host agency sponsors from a 10-county area met Monday, May 6, at the Precinct One Clubhouse in Lubbock.

Local Green Thumb workers and sponsors attending the seminar included Lennie Knowlton, Adele Tompkins and Lena Ruthardt.

The training seminar featured Larry Herschberger of the American Red Cross who discussed first aid; Atticus Cox, American Cancer Society, whose subject dealt with colo-rectal cancer; and an in-home safety program presented by the Green Thumb staff.

Green Thumb, an older worker program, is funded by the Department of Labor through Title V of the Older Americans Act. Sponsored by Farmers Union, Green Thumb provides part-time work opportunities for seniors in rural areas. Program operation began in 1970 and currently includes 111 counties employing over 1,000 older Texans who are placed with local non-profit organizations to provide needed community services.

It will open at 2 p.m. and Wayne and Joyce Holmes are giving free golf games to mothers who are brought to the golf course by their children.

Drinking-and-driving accidents could ruin the 1985 Muleshoe High School graduation. Don't endanger your life or anyone else's. Attend the after graduation party, where games, food and fun are in, but drinking and drugs are out.

Call Barbara Finney, 272-3400 for more information about the after graduation party.

DPS Officer Lacie Kirk and Bailey County Sheriff's Office personnel were called to a one vehicle roll-over on FM1731 near the VVN Ranch headquarters in western Bailey County Tuesday afternoon.

Leland Jones, of the Needmore community, driver and sole occupant of the vehicle was taken by West Plains Medical Center ambulance to the hospital and later transferred to a hospital in Lubbock for treatment of a broken neck.

Jones was thrown from the vehicle onto the highway.

Spotty rain and hail deposited from one to one and a half inches of rain, plus up to three inches of hail in the Y-L community Tuesday night, accompanied by high wind and brilliant lightning flashes.

Only showers were reported elsewhere in Bailey County, and to the north of the Y-L community around Lazbuddie.

Following report of a disturbance on the east side of Muleshoe near mid-afternoon on Tuesday, an alleged rape victim was taken to West Plains Medical Center and a suspect was taken into custody following a brief search by members of the Muleshoe City Police De-

Home News
By Deana Finck

All consumers share a common bond—growing older. Here are some things that we all need to know if we are an older American or live with, work with, or advise elderly people.

PHYSICAL SAFETY—Some unscrupulous companies prey on the fears of the elderly in an effort to sell expensive burglar detective systems with recurring monthly service charges for maintenance. It is best to call the local police department and ask for advice on crime protection. Many police departments have free "Operation Identification" programs that provide a thorough inspection of the home, advice on the types of locks and other protective devices to use the loan of an engraving tool to mark an identifying code number on valuables. If they recommend installation of an intruder alarm system, ask for recommendations of reputable companies. The Better Business Bureau would be good to contact for reliable reports.

SHELTER—Some older citizens are fortunate enough to be paid off the mortgages on their homes before they retire. If able to continue paying property taxes, keep up the house and yard, and manage typical barriers of architectural style (such as stairs), they may choose to live in the same place indefinitely. Others may look upon retirement as creating the necessity or the opportunity to live somewhere else. Any decision to move should be based on careful consideration of all available options.

Coops and Condominiums offer maintenance of all common grounds; the owner buys only the portion of the building he or she occupies. They often include many of the featured attractions of resort hotels.

swimming pools, tennis courts, saunas, shuffleboard, card rooms, bowling alleys, even movie theaters. What the unsuspecting buyer often does not plan for is the likelihood that the fees to manage these amenities will increase at least as fast as the cost of living index. Thus, while the elderly owner gradually makes less use of the luxuries associated with condo living, the mandatory fee for maintaining them tends to take a growing share of the housing budget. Each owner is obligated to pay for what ever the majority of the owners vote to implement, whether he or she will make use of the facilities or not.

Retirement villages have sprouted up, especially in favorable climates of California, Florida, and Arizona. Before rushing to purchase a retirement home in an advertised area the buyer should investigate carefully. Decisions should be based on facts, not promises. Be wary of land offered for sale by mail-order—never buy property without inspecting it in person. Before purchasing land in another state, contact the proper agency in the state in which the property is located or the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration, Washington, DC, 20411, and learn about the seller. Be sure to obtain and read a copy of the property report.

Mobile [modular] homes: The vast majority of such housing, now called "modular" instead of "mobile", is moved only once—from the factory to the site where it is anchored. Many communities have zoning laws restricting it on the outskirts of urban areas rather than convenient to city services. Quality of construction varies, as do financing of the mobile home and site where it is anchored. Check the dealer's reputation.

Public housing units exist to varying degrees for older persons with low incomes. Some are designed for the elderly alone in buildings of their own; other developments include people of various ages within one building.

Moderate income housing may be sponsored by churches and other non-profit, private concerns with financial help from the federal government, usually through loans or mortgage insurance. These buildings generally provide cooking facilities and offer group meals in congregate dining rooms. Many provide or are adjacent to activity rooms, senior centers, clinics, and local services. Local housing authorities or churches are good sources of information on this.

Creative Woman

by Sheryl Borden

Three topics will be presented on "The Creative Woman" show on May 14 and 18. Betty Chalker is a sewing instructor from Atlanta, Georgia, and she will demonstrate a hemming stitch that is also called "Fag-goting", and it can be done with a straight stitch sewing machine. It's a pretty finish and can be used on several different types of garments.

Another guest will be Sandy Parks, President and founder of Color Charisma, and author of "Success of Color Charisma", and she, too is from Atlanta. Mrs. Parks says we should use the knowledge of the color effect and work with it to better understand and influence the behavior of ourselves and others. Color can work for or against us. It can be a tool to create moods, stimulate conversation or thinking or call attention, impart information and create lasting identities.

New research shows that children having a hot, high protein breakfast had a fifty percent gain in reading ability over those who had a cold protein breakfast or no breakfast at all. With so many families today consisting of two-career couples and young children—who make up our most recent baby boom—this report is timely and informative.

Three additional topics will be presented on May 16. Don Fandre believes microwaves are for cooking and his common sense approach is very easy to understand. He represents the Rubbermaid Co. and he's going to show how TV dinners, frozen entrees and frozen vegetables can be cooked in the microwave oven very successfully. Don's from San Francisco.

Cathy McCreery, a home economist with the Reynolds Metals Co. from Dallas believes we should enjoy entertaining and that it can be a breeze when you plan ahead and learn to use certain products to simplify cooking, storing and clean up. She will prepare three recipes that can be prepared ahead of time, which gives the hostess time to get the house, table and herself looking as attractive as the food. She will also discuss garnishes, table settings, containers, centerpieces and napkins.

In Fashion

This summer pants lengths vary from the classical long to the very brief shorts. One of the newest trends is towards the big top to be worn over skinny pants.

Some long white pants may feature pleats which resemble the thirties. These may be topped with a cashmere, polo-type shirt or a cropped jacket and a sleeveless silk shell.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED--Mr. and Mrs. E.R. Holt of Garland would like to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary to Kirk Crim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Crim of Muleshoe. Vows will be exchanged on June 28 at the Liberty Assembly of God church in DeSoto, Texas. The couple will make their home in Garland. Kirk is employed at Smithco Inc. in Richardson.

Onions Are Bountiful In Texas This Year

Lovers of onion rings and other onion delicacies can rejoice--the Texas onion harvest is under way.

And a bountiful one it is. Texas onion production should be up 17 percent this year from 1984 despite a reduction in the crop from 18,600 to 17,000 acres.

"Texas continues to lead the nation in the production of mild and sweet onions," points out Tom Longbrake, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Harvesting started in the Rio Grande Valley in early April and should continue at a heavy volume throughout April and May", Longbrake adds. "This year's harvest is about two weeks later than normal due to cool, wet conditions."

The horticulturist notes that this year's onions are of good size and should get bigger as the harvesting season progresses, particularly with the maturing of the new Texas A&M variety, 1015Y.

The new variety was developed by Dr. Leonard Pike of College Station, vegetable breeder with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Pike used a crossing and selection method to develop the higher yielding, disease resistant yellow variety.

"The new onion is very sweet and mild and will challenge the eating and keeping quality of Georgia's Vidalia onion and Washington state's Walla Walla onion," says Longbrake.

This year's harvest of the new variety was restricted to about 5,000 acres or about 30 percent of the early South Texas crop due to a shortage of commercially available seed, the horticulturist points out.

"Texas supplies about 65 percent of the total U.S. fresh onion stocks during April, May and June," says Longbrake. "More than 1,000 eighteen-wheeler loads of onions will be shipped each week during April and May from the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Laredo and the Winter Garden area west of San Antonio."

Onion harvesting in other parts of Texas--the High Plains, Trans-Pecos and El Paso areas--begins in late June and runs through August, notes Longbrake. The High Plains crop is grown mostly from transplants, as are some 150 acres of onions around the Noonday community just east of Tyler in East Texas.

Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, located 36 miles northwest of Amarillo, is a home for more than four hundred boys from all over the nation. Their ages are between four and 19. The Ranch was founded in 1939 by Cal Farley, and since that year, more than 3,000 boys have been given a home, education and training without cost to any governmental, civic or religious organization. It is supported by voluntary contributions.

While at the Ranch, Rich participated in the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America as a building trades student. He was active in choir, the Bible Memory Association and intramural athletics. Following graduation, Rich would like to attend vocational school and study electronics.

Boys Ranch President Virgil Patterson said, "We are all very proud of Rich and his accomplishments. We know he will be an asset to his community."

Spring Brings Danger Of Lightning Storms

When it comes to a brilliant display of lightning in Texas skies, "better safe than sorry", is a good motto.

Deaths from lightning may be rare, but it's shortsighted for anyone to ignore the simple precautions and slight inconvenience of safety measures, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service health education specialist Dr. Mary Ann Heussner.

She says the first rule of lightning safety is to get away quickly from any open space -- a field, golf course, hill-top, beach or pool. Get away before the rain starts, since lethal bolts sometimes strike during the muggy lull before a storm.

"If you're caught outside, the best kinds of shelter are buildings equipped with a lightning protection system, steel-framed buildings, and cars, buses or tractors with metal tops and closed windows," advises the specialist. "But don't trust a flimsy shelter on a golf course."

When you can't take cover, you can better your chances by taking refuge in a ravine, culvert of ditch -- keeping away from pipes and staying alert for flash floods, Heussner says.

When none of this is practical, crouch as low as possible with no part of your body except knees and toes touching the ground. Also remember to avoid tall isolated objects, like a lone tree, staying twice as far away as the tree is high.

with a large amount of money and a larger amount of credit starts buying up stock in a company and acquires so much of it he can tell the company he's going to take it over unless it buys back his stock at an enormous price.

One such raider picked up $28 million on such a scheme.

What he does when he starts out on such a plan is pick out a company he figures isn't being managed to its full potential.

I got to thinking about this. Great Scott! My farm would qualify under those terms. It's not being managed to its full potential.

Like some big corporations,

I've got labor trouble out here. I can't make myself do half the things around this farm that ought to be done. Take one of my fences. In places the posts are holding up the wire and in other places the wire is holding up the posts. I ought to take hold of myself and put up a new fence, but I just can't find the inclination to do it, what with worrying about Nicaragua.

However that situation may ease since President Reagan has put an embargo on trade with that country. It'll stop Nicaragua from selling us bananas and us from selling it grain. That'll teach their farmers not to grow so many bananas and us farmers not to grow so much grain.

If that solves the need to worry about Nicaragua, my fence still's not likely to get built. The world is full of countries that need worrying about.

Back to those corporations raiders. One of them who's after CBS plans, if he succeeds, to sell off some of the network's assets to pay back the money he borrowed to take it over in the first place.

I've been looking over the disposeable assets of this farm, in case some raider has his eye on it. How much do you think he could get for a 39-year-old tractor that runs fine if you use it infrequently. Also, there's a stack of used, entangled barbed-wire I've grown fond of because it's been there so long. I don't carry any book value on my fences.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Just being indoors doesn't entirely protect you from lightning, Heussner points out.

Stay away from open doors and windows, fireplaces, radiators, stoves, metal pipes, sinks, bathtubs, shower stalls and plugged-in electrical appliances. Electricity of lethal strength can enter a home not only by a direct strike, but also by a side flash from another object like a tree, and through pipe lines and wiring.

"Unfortunately, when someone is struck by lightning, by-standers often don't know what to do," remarks the specialist. "Others won't touch the victim for fear he is still electrically charged."

But a lightning victim can be safely touched, and often revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation," Heussner says.

Adults who work outdoors or enjoy outdoor sports may have a healthy respect for lightning, but children are often unaware of its danger. The specialist recommends that parents review lightning safety precautions with their youngsters along with safe bicycling and swimming rules for the summer.

"Teach me thy way, O LORD, and LEAD ME IN A PLAIN PATH..."

How beautiful are the paths and wagon trails. The gate is open and the pathway clearly marked. Many such trails are rapidly becoming memories as super highways take their place. It is good to know that God's way is still the same and will never change... for "God's word will endure forever." His love is clearly defined and his ways are well marked. Depend on the Lord to direct you each day. Attend church each Sunday and worship the Lord in his holy temple.

"Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footsteps slip not."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

SELL-RENT-TRADE OR BUY THROUGH THE CLASSIFIEDS!

Q: I live in an apartment where my neighbor and I share an enclosed porch. The landlord says we cannot lock the door because the porch is public property. She says she needs to put a lock on the door to keep our belongings safe? Is it really public property since my neighbor and I rent it with our apartments?

A: The porch is not "public property," but it clearly is "private property." The critical question, however, is whether or not you and your neighbor leased the porch with your apartments. If the porch was part of the property covered by your lease, there is an implied covenant of quiet enjoyment of the premises which prohibits the landlord from interfering with your use of the porch. Therefore, assuming there is nothing in a written lease agreement about a lock, and further assuming that the landlord intended to lease the porch with your apartments, you are entitled to lock the porch door.

Q: I have claustrophobia and was recently trapped in an elevator for over two hours. There was a number posted by the elevator phone for emergencies, but it did not work. The phone was out of order. I was so upset by this experience I missed a day of work. Do I have any recourse against the owners of the building for not having a functional phone so I could call for help?

A: You can sue the building owners for negligence in not maintaining the telephone. If you proved there was negligence, you would also have to prove the amount of your damages. This would involve medical testimony that you suffer from claustrophobia and you experienced physical or psychological injury as a result of the negligence. Consult a civil trial attorney to discuss this type of personal injury suit.

Q: When I divorce, can I automatically resume using my maiden name without court proceedings?

A: As part of the divorce, the Court will usually grant a woman's request to restore her former name. This is a routine part of the final decree, and unless the Court finds it harmful to the children, the name change will be effective on the date of divorce. You need the Court order, however, to prove the name change on your employment and credit records and for social security and identification.

Q: I am a state employee. I am interested in campaigning actively for some persons running for public office, but I have been told that state employees may not do so. I feel this is violation of my right as a citizen. What can I do?

A: A number of federal and state statutes outline to what extent a state employee may become involved in political activities. For example, fire department and police department employees are not permitted to take an active part in any political campaign in uniform or on duty. A state statute prohibits employees of the Department of Human Resources from exercising their official authority or influence for political purposes, although any employee retains the right to vote as he pleases and may express his opinion as a citizen on all political subjects. There are federal laws limiting state employees' involvement in federally-funded state programs. Ask your supervisor or agency head if any statutes regarding political activities apply to you. Generally, however, all public employees retain the right to express opinions on political subjects and candidates.

Mules Tale Spotlight Features Drama Teacher Kerry Moore

Muleshoe High School is blessed with many outstanding personnel in both faculty and staff, but one is "Moore" outstanding than most people realize. Kerry Moore is truly a legend in his own time. He has put Muleshoe on the map. As one fellow teacher noted, "All I have to do is say I'm from Muleshoe, and someone will ask, 'Do you know Kerry Moore?'" The question is relevant. Do we really know Kerry Moore?

Kerry was raised in Memphis, Texas, attended Memphis High School, where he participated in speech activities, graduated, and attended West Texas State University in Canyon.

While at college, Mr. Moore was active in the Student Senate, the Buffalo Bills, a student service group, played intramural sports, and was a member of ROTC. A college chum remembers, "He was the only guy I ever knew who could get A's and never go to class." We understand the only time he ever got upset was when the dorm room was left messy.

Mr. Moore started teaching in Muleshoe in 1960. He has taught history, English, speech, drama, and for a period of time was girls' basketball coach. When looking into Mr. Moore's background, it is obvious that this man is most willing to give of himself, both time and talent.

He has served on many committees and panels, including sponsor of the Blackburn-Moore FTA chapter, District FTA advisor, UIL district director, has served on the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, was local Rotary president. He has taught many summer speech and drama workshops, including the West Texas State University Speech and Theater Camp and similar classes at Texas Tech as well as other campuses. He is active in the Texas Forensic Association.

He and his wife, Pat, were married June 17, 1972. Mr. Moore enjoys spending his leisure time in activities such as tennis and softball. Mr. Moore helped organize the Men's Softball League here. He always enjoys a good movie, and he and Mrs. Moore try to attend local play productions. Mr. Moore's favorite food is homemade vanilla ice cream; however, we understand any flavor is acceptable.

This information assures us that Kerry Moore is an involved citizen and teacher. But what is it that makes him outstanding?

Kerry Moore has taken UIL participants to state all but three of the many years he has been teaching. A drama coach, he has taken play productions to state seven times, winning first; twice; second, twice; and third, three times.

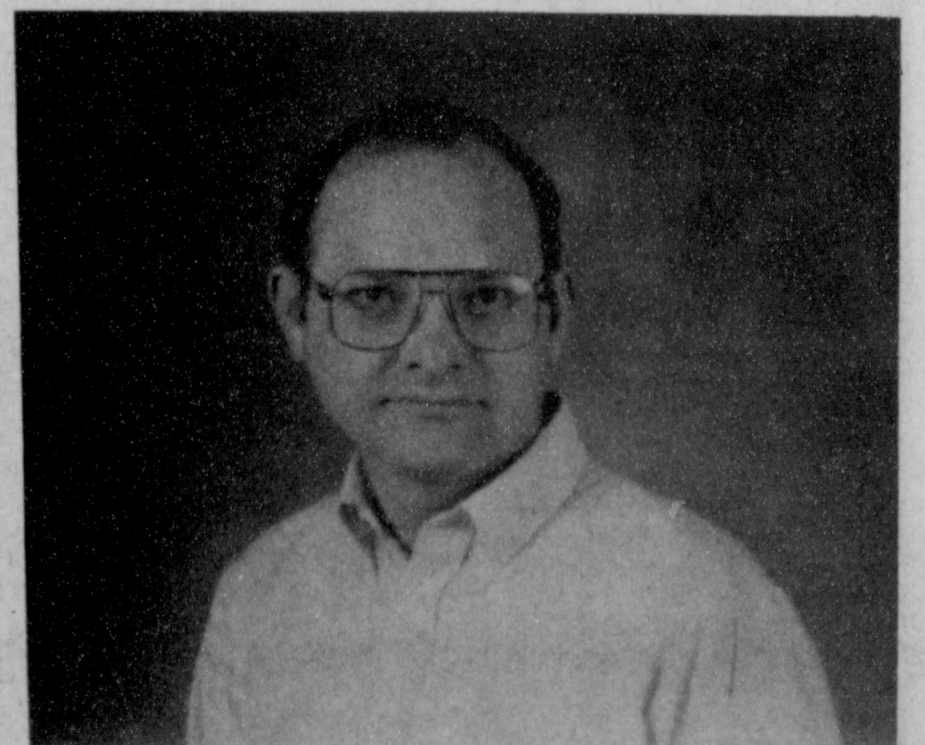

What accounts for this record, conspicuously out of the ordinary? Is it the extraordinary talent of the vast majority of Bailey County children? Is it the exorbitant money supply he has to work with? Or maybe it is the cultural surroundings found in the sandhills. No, rather than these advantages, one finds upon looking deeper, it must be the man.

It has been observed that many of Mr. Moore's former students go on to become professional people. He doesn't necessarily start with outstanding individuals; he instead takes people as they are and begins to work with them. The final result is an outstanding individual. He expects the best one has to offer, and somehow nobody wants to let him down.

Mr. Moore has a unique sense of humor. He can laugh with his students, at himself, and often keeps something going to entertain his fellow faculty members. Stories of a prank involving a list of the hundred most commonly misspelled words, was "passed out to be taught." Some years ago some teachers actually began teaching before they realized what was happening. Mr. Moore's students, known affectionately as hags, lizards, and goats, seem to agree that being in his class is a special experience, one to be remembered for a lifetime.

Mr. Moore is here because he wants to be. Muleshoe is fortunate to have such people as citizens. MHS is blessed by this distinguished individual; that allows us truly to walk among giants.

KERRY MOORE
