Mother's Day Home Fire Leaves Four Homeless

When Mr. and Mrs. Preston Arms, who reside at B&H Feeders six miles northeast of Muleshoe, left their mobile home Sunday afternoon, they could not have known that they would return home that night, and find they had no home.

Around 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Mother's Day, the Muleshoe Fire Department was called and

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Harlan of Bula attended a luncheon and ceremony in Lubbock last Tuesday, to honor ex-prisoners of war, volunteers workers, and those still missing in action.

All the festivities were held at the Veterans Administration Outpatient Clinic in Lubbock.

Harlan was among approximately 25 ex-POW's who were recognized during the ceremony.

He is an active member of the Hub of the Plains Chapter of the American Ex-POW Association, having been recently nominated Service Officer of that organization.

Others from this area attending were Mr. and Mrs. Luis U. Serna, Bovina and Eloy Cardenas of Muleshoe, both of whom were prisoners of war during World War II.

Jack McCarty, D.O. of Muleshoe, received 20 Continuing Medical Education credits (CME) while attending the 86th annual convention and scientific seminar of the Texas Osteopathic Medical Association (TOMA) May 3-5 at the Hershey Corpus Christi Hotel in Corpus Christi.

The American Osteopathic Association (AOA) requires that its physicians earn 50 hours of CME through seminars and post graduate courses each year. The key theme which ran throughout the lecture sessions was preventive medicine, with topics ranging from "Cancer Screening and Prevention" to "Teenage Years, a Stage in Transition."

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Muiyhondt were "very proud" of the accomplishments of their second son, Gabriel Patrick Muiyhondt, who received a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from the College of Engineering at Texas Tech University last Friday.

Patrick graduated Magna Cum Laude from his class, thus echoing the previous achievements of his older brother.

Gabriel Patrick Muiyhondt will leave for California within a few days where he has accepted a position with Lockheed Missiles. He will later return to Texas Tech University to work on his master's degree.

notified that a mobile home at B&H Feeders was burning. When firemen arrived, they found the large, modern mobile home burning in the area of the hot water heater.

As firemen arrived, flames began shooting out the air conditioner on the north roof of the home. They knocked down the first flames, even as the fire was beginning to spread underneath the home to the south end of the long home.

As firemen began removing the skirting from around the home, flames were visible all underneath the structure. Members of the Muleshoe fire department stayed at the fire scene for more than an hour before returning to town.

Around 8:30 p.m., they were summoned once again to the same location, and found that the fire had again erupted, and even though the walls of the mobile home had been left standing, the second time around totally destroyed the entire mobile home. A later model pickup which had been parked in front of the home escaped damage in the first fire, but received heavy damage in the second fire.

Mrs. Arms told The Journal, "When we got home, and I saw what the fire had done, I was just totally shocked. I couldn't believe that we had lost everything we owned."

"This is something you always think will happen to

DPS Trooper Is Transferred To Muleshoe

The Texas Department of Public Safety has commissioned 85 new Texas troopers and assigned them to various duty stations throughout the state.

Trooper Jimmy Cook, 27, of Brownwood, received his commission in a special graduation ceremony in Austin. Colonel Jim Adams, director of the DPS, presented the badges in the new troopers.

Trooper Cook is to report to the new assignment in Muleshoe immediately to work in the Highway Patrol Service. He is married, and he and his wife have one child.

Adams said the men and women of this graduating class have been given some of the best police training available during their 18-week course at the DPS Academy in Austin.

"Due to the variety of law enforcement related situations facing our troopers, we provided detailed training in criminal law, civil law, traffic accident investigation and dozens of other related police topics," Adams added.

"The trooper is traditionally a well-trained individual who is charged with the responsibility of providing the public with courteous service and the protection the citizens deserve," said Adams.

In addition to basic law enforcement training, the recruits were instructed in first aid, firearms use, traffic management, defensive survival techniques, drug identification and other law enforcement courses.

Cotton News Good And Bad For Producer

There's both good and bad news regarding the 1985 cotton outlook, but the bad news outweighs the good.

First, the good news.

Recent reports by the U.S. Department of Agriculture show that cotton production last year was actually about 300,000 bales less than first estimated. At the same time, a lot of cotton farmers enrolled in the acreage reduction program this spring, so production should be a million or so bales less than the 13 million produced last year.

Now, for the bad news. This reduction in domestic cotton supplies may have little impact on market prices.

"Foreign production and the strong dollar abroad remain the culprits in our weak cotton market," points out Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

"These two things are challenging the market for U.S. cotton," Anderson says. "China and other exporting countries--Pakistan, Australia and South America--have plenty of cotton to sell. And the strong dollar gives them a favorable price advantage."

Exporting countries can deliver cotton to foreign ports for some 10 to 12 cents a pound less than the same quality of U.S. cotton. "That's what's killing us," emphasizes Anderson. "Advanced export sales for 1985 cotton are lagging behind a year ago by more than 50 percent."

Unless American trade policies supporting cotton are strengthened, cotton exports will continue to fall, contends the economist. As a result, only a poor U.S. crop this year is likely to keep carryover supplies from growing and market prices from being much above the loan rate this fall.

Anderson encouraged cotton producers to keep a sharp eye on the market situation in the coming months, to plot prices and to look for pricing opportunities during market rallies. In 1981 and '82, when cotton supplies were plentiful as they are now, December future contracts slipped sharply in August from earlier levels, he notes.

for the latest period. However, for the year, the increase is evident in rebates with $22,622.63 being received to date this year, as compared to the $20,920.63 being received to date this year, as compared to the $20,920.65 for the same time last year.

Mental Health Month Boosted

By Mayor Turner

Muleshoe Mayor Darrell Turner signed a proclamation Monday in his office, designating the month of May, 1985, as "National Mental Health Month." The mayor urges all citizens to support mental health services in our community, promote their operation and encourage people to use them. Witnessing the Mayor's proclamation were Glen Williams, Bailey County trustee and Rowena Meyers, Bailey County branch office manager.

The Muleshoe Counseling Center, located at 211 East Avenue B, Muleshoe, provides professional counseling on an individual, marital or family basis, in addition to psychological testing.

"A primary objective of the Center is to provide professional help for people who are experiencing problems that interfere with daily living," said Mrs. Meyers. "Nearly everyone has occasional trouble coping with the stresses and strains of modern life. Early attention and assistance often prevent small problems from becoming big ones."

For more information about the services available from the Muleshoe Counseling Center, call 272-4433.

Shelley Sain, M.H.S. Senior was the recipient of $100.00 from the Air Force Association. She was a second place winner in the Earle North Parker Essay Contest. The contest was open strictly to Seniors and the essays were written in English IV. The topic for the essay was The Statue of Liberty--What It Means To Me.

The Statue of Liberty--What It Means To Me

by Shelley Sain

In New York Harbor stands a symbol of freedom, peace, and harmony. The Statue of Liberty, raising her torch of freedom to the heavens, signifies everything the United States is built upon. She has survived the physical aspects of hurricanes, floods, and explosions. She has survived the national unrest of the World Wars, the Great Depression, and the political battles. Still, she stands, shouting "America" to all who look upon her face.

The millions of people who have crossed into the United States have come here for different reasons. Some seek wealth, some seek social standing, but everyone, including myself, wants the freedom Miss Liberty symbolizes. The right to religious association, the right to free speech, the right to vote, the right to be different; these are the things everyone dreams about. To foreigners, America is only a hope of these things; to Americans, it is reality.

The Statue of Liberty reminds me of the hard work that set our country free, and the hard work needed to keep our country free. Our forbears fought against their mother country because they believed in America. In Great Britain, those who opposed the Church of England were severely punished for their beliefs. Upon reaching the New World, these people were still punished with many unfair taxes and laws. Many great men, such as George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, fought so that we, twentieth

Mrs. Arms added, "I have cried and cried, and think I have all my crying done now. There's all our pictures, and lots of personal things that we can't ever replace. Now, we will just have to start over."

Doris Arms said they left their home at approximately 4:30 p.m. to take their 16 year old son, John, back to Texas Boys Ranch where he is residing. "Everything was all right when we left," she said.

The family moved to the area about a month and a half ago, to work at B&H Feeders, and do not know much of anyone in this area as yet. For the time being, they are staying at Highland Motel, Room 37, until living quarters can be re-established at the feeders.

At this time, the family has been left with only the clothing they were wearing at the time of the fire.

The Journal is spearheading an effort to help the family get re-established.

Arms wears a size 15 and one-half shirt; 32-waist pants and 32-waist shorts. Mrs. Arms wears a 10 in jeans; 8-9 in slacks; 12-14 blouse; 34-C bra; size five panties and size 7 and one-half or 8 in shoes. Their son, Roy Don, who is 14, wears a size 14-slim pants; medium boy's shirt and size 6 boy's shoe.

John, who lives at Texas Boys Ranch, also lost much of his clothing. He wears a 28-waist pants and 18 boys' shirt.

Also useful to the family would be dishes, cooking utensils, any items of furniture or appliances; linens and all other household items.

If you have items you could contribute to help this family start over, deliver them to The Journal at 304 West Second St., to Room 37 at the Highland Motel, or call B&H Feeders at 965-2853.

Texas Co-op Power Systems Marking 50th Anniversary

This year is the 50th since electric lines began an unrelenting spread through rural Texas. With power available to less than 3 percent of Texas' farms and ranches in 1935, and the nation otherwise greatly depressed, some perceptive and influential leaders envisioned rural electrification as a doubly beneficial undertaking. Construction of electric facilities in rural areas would provide stimulus to industry and employment while it brought improved living conditions and greater productive capacity to rural people.

The national leader in position to get this under way was the President of the United States. Franklin D. Roosevelt was interested not only in restoring prosperity to the nation generally, he was also interested in bringing rural America into the 20th Century socially and economically. And on May 11, 1935, he signed an Executive Order establishing the Rural Electrification Administration. The agency would lend money to utilities that would extend electric service throughout rural areas.

When existing utilities failed to take advantage of the opportunity, rural people began organizing cooperatively owned corporations to borrow the available funds and build lines. At the time, less than 3 percent of Texas' farms and ranches had electricity. So interest in this improvement was widespread. And during the years since, more than 80 electric cooperatives have been formed and today serve more than 99 percent of the state's rural areas.

The other beneficiary of this activity--business, from Main Street to Wall Street--has participated in the market the co-ops created as they invested more than $1.5 billion in system construction, and co-op members invested an estimated $4 in appliances and electric equipment for every dollar the co-op invested.

"The record is one co-op officials and their 5,100 employees, and their member consumers can point to with understandable pride," observes the executive vice-president of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives. Jim Morriss of Austin adds, "Rural electrification has been beset with obstacles from the very beginning. But the determination and hard work of local people and an adequate REA loan program have resulted in construction of more than 238,000 miles of lines and electric service to more than a million meters...in all but 9 of Texas' 254 counties."

To mark the 50th Anniversary, the Texas Senate and House of Representatives adopted a joint resolution in March citing Texas' electric co-op on their record. In mid April, Governor Mark White proclaimed May 11 as "Rural Electrification Day in Texas."

Old age consoles itself by giving good precepts for being unable to give bad examples.

County Deputies 'Print' Students At Three-Way

Three Way School Child Development Class sponsored a program on "Love Prints," which is fingerprints of the Three Way community and school.

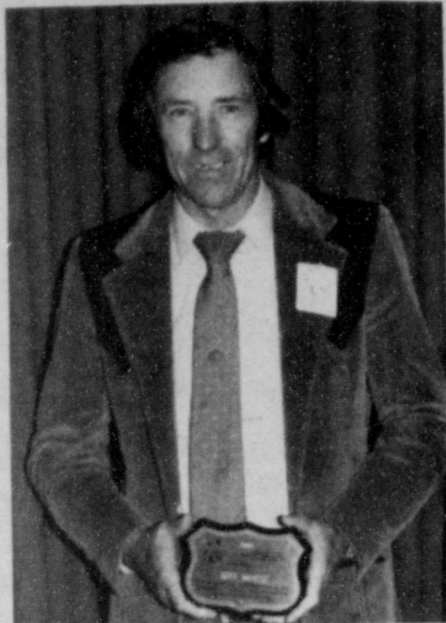

The class made posters and distributed them throughout the community, according to Judy Williams, home economics teacher at the school.

They sent home permission sheets and invited parents to bring smaller children to be 'printed.'

Bailey County Deputy Sheriff Hal Bynum and his wife, Deputy Connie Bynum, visited the school and printed over 150 children and over 20 adults. The prints were copied and sent home with the parents, with a copy placed in the child's school records.

Students in the Child Development Class included Irma Banda, Raynell Castillo, Eugenia Dupler, and Lykinda Tyson.

On the day of the big 'print' the entire Three Way Home Economics Class "pitched in to help weigh and print and organize the printing," said Mrs. Williams.

Dear Lisa:

I realize that walking into a totally black room would be a jolt for you. This is your son's space and compromise can go a long way. Use light grey carpet and paint the walls the same color. I rather like the neon, art deco colors combined with the black. They go well with electronic imagery. Run a double diagonal stripe across the wall above his bed in purple, lavender and aqua. Paint furnishings black lacquer and allow posters on the wall.

Editor

Dear Editor:

The girls portion of Youth Basketball has come to a close and the awards have been presented, but we think several people deserve special recognition.

First of all, thanks to the Lions Club for sponsoring this project. They were responsible for bookkeepers, clockkeepers and admission. They also took responsibility for referees.

A well-deserved thanks goes to Lonnie Adrian and Danny Noble for their dedication as referees. They donated their time three nights a week for the last 4 weeks and it was greatly appreciated. Also, thanks to Brock Sanders, Leroy Hurtado, and any other referees who helped out.

As parents, we thoroughly enjoyed the basketball games and we think the girls benefit greatly. The time and efforts of the above people was appreciated and we hope this will be an annual project.

KNOWLEDGE

Man has been seeking the answer to many questions since the beginning of time. Volumes of books, and encyclopedias have been filled with facts in answer to this quest for knowledge. Even with all of this wealth of information, there is much to be learned, and man will never know all of the answers. However in spiritual matters, God has provided us with a book, filled with valuable information. This book is man's guide to his relationship with God. For a better understanding of God's word and his will for your life attend church, so that others may help you in this search.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Know THE Weather

Do inverted air masses cause tornadoes? Are the causes of tornadoes all known and understood?

Many weather experts agree that inverted air masses make for tornado conditions. This is logical from the standpoint that heavier air falling through to lower altitudes is likely to set off all sorts of disturbances and whirls.

The varied causes of tornadoes are not fully understood-even with all the modern scientific knowledge at our disposal. The theory that inverted air masses produce tornadoes is one of several.

This theory holds that heavier air, pouring down, gets turned, or twisted, so to speak, in a whirlwind manner, and creates one or more tornadoes.

The inversion and the rushing and falling air masses might cover an area of a hundred miles or more, while the small tornadoes created might be separated by many miles, each less than a mile in diameter and some never touching the surface of the earth.

One small tornado, either bouncing off the surface or staying above, is often the result of an inversion-though several are more often produced.

FACTS & FIGURES

About 53 million people in the United States still smoke cigarettes. The Surgeon general reports that cigarette smoking is responsible for about 170,000 extra, or premature, U.S. heart attack deaths per year.

Thousands of Americans are discovering that a new chewing gum, available by prescription only, has been proven effective in helping to break the cigarette habit. The gum releases a small amount of nicotine into the mouth, helping smokers to break their addiction to cigarettes.

The new gum is the first prescription drug available in the U.S. for use in smoking cessation programs. The gum, containing 2 mgs. of nicotine, is available in U.S. drug stores. Worldwide, prior to U.S. availability, approximately two million smokers used it to give up cigarettes. Estimates are that it helped about 700,000 to stop smoking.
