West Plains Medical Center announced Tuesday afternoon, that effective on Saturday, May 25, the hospital business office will be open on Saturdays, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

One person will be in the office to conduct business for persons who find it difficult to go to the hospital on weekdays, according to business manager, Bobbie Bryant.

A special meeting has been scheduled for the Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees at 7 p.m., May 23, in the school business office.

Items on the agenda include the approval of classroom grants for the 1985-86 school year and the administrative guidelines for 1985 Pre-Kindergarten Summer School Program.

Youth from the First Assembly of God Church will conduct a car wash on Saturday, May 25, at the Phillips '66' gas card station at West Eighth Street and American Boulevard. The car wash will begin at 10 a.m.

Debra Hart of Lubbock, daughter of Holly Millsap and Ted Millsap, of Muleshoe, has been named to the Dean's List at Texas Tech University for the 1985 spring semester.

She is a Home Economics major.

Debra is the granddaughter of Pearl Cox and Homer Millsap, both of Muleshoe.

Muleshoe ISD has been recognized by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation, Inc. for donations made toward restoring the statue. Donations were made by students in Dillman Elementary, DeShazo Elementary and Watson Junior High School. These students raised a total of $970.

On behalf of the students, Muleshoe ISD will be entered into the Register of Contributors in the Statue's archives during the centennial festivities to be held in New York City on the Fourth of July, 1986.

Arlington 'Under Fire' From Former Residents

Because a recently elected Miss Arlington approached the Arlington City Council to ask them to purchase clothing for her to appear in the Miss Texas pageant, former residents of Muleshoe have become incensed.

It's not because of anything done or said by Miss Arlington, Catherine Carter, but concerns a statement, considered to be derogatory, made by a City Council member at Arlington, Bill Snider.

Apparently, Councilman Snider did not stop to think before he said, as quoted from the Thursday, May 16, issue of the Arlington Times Herald, "It's not as if she was Miss Muleshoe. It's not as if we wouldn't be missed."

Now, a lot of former muleshoe residents reside in the

Annual Fireman's Ball Is Scheduled Saturday, June 1

Each year, the Muleshoe Fire Department holds one fund-raising benefits, and it is almost time for the current one. They will be hosting the Annual Fireman's Ball on Saturday, June 1, at Jeff Smith's barn east of Muleshoe just off Highway 70.

Tickets are $5 per couple, and the firemen ask that the annual event be attended by "couple only." This is a practice instituted by the firemen with their annual dance and they plan to continue with it.

Playing for the dance will be the "Panhandlers" from Clovis, N.M.

Former Resident, Family Dead In Head-On Wreck

Funeral services were conducted Monday in Los Lunas, N.M. for the James Parish family of Los Lunas, killed in a head-on two vehicle accident just west of Melrose, N.M. Thursday morning.

Mrs. James (Elizabeth Ann) Parish, 41, was the former Ann Sinnacher of Muleshoe. She and her husband James, 46, were apparently killed instantly in the mid-morning collision. Their nine year old son, Jason, died Saturday in Clovis High Plains Hospital.

Two occupants of the second vehicle, Marcus Haullium of Dannville, Calif. and Tommy Martin, of Greenville, South Carolina, were listed at presstime as being in stable condition in the Clovis hospital.

Parish was identified as being the driver of one of the vehicles, and was said by New Mexico State Police as being eastbound, while Haullium was listed as driver of the second vehicle involved.

Officers said the driver of the westbound vehicle, Haullium, apparently fell asleep at the wheel and drifted across the center line. Haullium then overcorrected into the westbound lane. At approximately the same time, Parish swerved into the westbound lane trying to avoid a crash and the two vehicles met head on in the westbound lane.

After officers at the scene found a diaper bag in the back seat and an infant seat and clothing in the vehicle, officers and emergency personnel spent approximately 45 minutes combing through the car looking for an infant who might possibly be trapped. Residents and firefighters walked shoulder to shoulder through fields adjacent to the accident looking for a child.

The search was called off when State Police received word that the Parish family was on its way to Portales (N.M.) to adopt a child from the Christian Children's home.

French Mortuary of Albuquerque, N.M. was in charge of the Monday services for the Parish family.

Mrs. Parish was the daughter of the late Louis Sinnacher and Elizabeth Sinnacher. Former residents of this county, Mrs. Sinnacher now resides at Ft. Sumner, N.M. Also surviving the former Ann Sinnacher are three brothers, Faroy, Slydell, La; Leon, Portales and Lee of Cont. Page 7, Col. 3

Bailey County Electric Gives 3 Scholarships

Three scholarships were awarded to area graduating seniors by Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association, at their respective school's awards assemblies and graduation exercises.

The three scholarships were made available through the Cooperative by the First Bank of Muleshoe. Receiving this year's $400 scholarships were:

Tamara Gore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gore, Star Route, Sudan, who is a student at Sudan High School.

Gena Pearcey of Three Way High School. Gena lives with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Reeves of Sudan.

Becky Schacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Schacher of Route 1, Friona, who is a student at Lazbuddie High School.

Bailey County Electric Cooperative said these scholarships may be used in any college or university of the student's choosing. They are paid in four (4) checks, $100 each semester for the first four semesters the students are in college. The scholarships can be used only if the student is enrolled in college, trade school or technical training institutes.

Area Farmers Welcome Soaking General Rain

George Strait Confirmed To Be Here

On Thursday, May 2, Toni Eagle, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, was notified that the Panhandle South Plains Fair Board had exercised an 'option' and refused to allow the George Strait Show to appear in Muleshoe.

This prompted a 'rash' of telephone calls and visits to Lubbock by a number of local residents to encourage the Fair Board to reverse the decision and allow the June 21 show to go on as planned.

Evidently, the Fair Board decided to give in to all the pressure and on Monday, May 5, conducted an emergency meeting. At the meeting, the board voted to reverse their decision and allow the George Strait Show to go on as scheduled.

Mrs. Eagle immediately began planning again for the show. On Monday, May 20, she received written confirmation from the booking agency that the show is definitely 'on.'

Tickets have been printed and are expected to arrive in Muleshoe momentarily. Advance tickets will go on sale at several locations as soon as they arrive here. Only 2,500 tickets will be sold for the show at a cost of $12.50 each. Doors will open at the Bailey County Coliseum at 7 p.m. and the show will begin at 8 p.m. Opening bands will be the Clay Blaker band, featuring vocalist Ronna Reeves.

The Chamber of Commerce already has a long list of names for tickets, with some people ordering blocks of up to 30 tickets each.

Mrs. Eagle said she did not know who all had called or visited with members of the Fair Board in Lubbock, but said she appreciates each and every one who helped in any manner.

CofC Play Day Held Despite Rain

Last Saturday, the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture had planned for a big, big playday for all area youth, but heavy rains the night before put somewhat of a damper on the plans.

Almost all farmers and ranchers are going around these days with big, wide smiles as they see the results of the soaking rains that have fallen in this area during the past several days.

Rain reports since last Friday have amounted to more than three inches in most of the entire area and more rain was predicted at presstime.

At the same time, weather spotters have been out watching clouds that have produced confirmed funnels, especially on Saturday night and again on Monday night.

On Saturday night, the National Weather Service office in Lubbock confirmed a funnel located to the southwest of Muleshoe, prompting a weather watch to go into immediate effect.

However, Muleshoe was apparently never really threatened as the cloud moved over the area, bringing with it brilliant lightning that would knock electrical power off for minutes at a time.

City Council Approves New Ordinance

For his first full meeting as Mayor of Muleshoe, Derrell Turner faced a very light agenda Tuesday morning.

Two major items were on the agenda for council members to consider. First to be approved was an ordinance requested by the city's insurance through the Texas Municipal League.

City Manager Dave Marr explained that the city had been requested to pass the ordinance which is "An Ordinance Providing for Notice to The City Council of Property Damage, Personal Injury, Death, Providing the Time and Location Where Such Notice is to be Given; Providing that Such Notice may not be Waived; and Providing that the Timely Filing of Notice of any Claim and Refusal of Same by the City Council is a Condition Precedent to the Institution of Any Suit; Providing for Verification of the Notice of Claim; and Providing a Severability Clause." (See Ordinance in this issue of The Journal.)

Following brief reports on the financial statement for the month; and progress reports on the construction phase of the new fire department and the proposed airport, the city council went into executive session with Mike Caldwell, city attorney, to discuss pending litigation against the city.

On Monday, another dark cloud to the south and west had area residents apprehensive, but only rain again fell from the dark clouds.

Needmore and Enochs residents caught the brunt of the storm that produced numerous reports of funnels, and tornadoes, with one possible tornado tearing up electrical wiring, taking tin off buildings and other minor damage right in Needmore.

Needmore residents were hesitant to call the swirling cloud a tornado, although numerous residents watched it come across Needmore, leaving a path of minor destruction.

Another tornado was reported on the ground near Enochs, and additional tornadoes were reported to be to the west and to the north of Morton, with at least two reported being on the ground at the same time.

The Monday night cloud that was considered to be the 'bad' one by-passed Muleshoe, even though more rain fell on the city during the evening.

On Tuesday night, Texas Highway Department workers spent the entire night putting out deep water signs and helping motorists through deep water, especially between Muleshoe and Sudan on Highway 84 and between Muleshoe and Earth on Highway 70, where

Local Schools Receive Award; Saving Energy

Two campuses in the Muleshoe Independent School District were recognized as outstanding schools in the 1985 Governor's Gold Star School Project. Muleshoe High School was named a Gold Star School while Dillman Elementary School was named a Bronze Star School.

In order to be named a Gold Star School, a campus was required to beat the average energy consumption of a similar school in this region by at least 25 percent. Muleshoe High School used only 71 percent as much energy as the base school in this region. Translated into dollars and cents, this means that Muleshoe High School's energy costs last year were $19,980 under the average used by other schools in the region.

In order to be named a Bronze School, a campus was required to beat the average energy consumption of a similar school in its region. Dillman Elementary School used 13

County Extension Home News By Deana Finck

The Food and Drug Administration's Division of Poison Control receives a report of serious poisoning on the average of every 3 minutes. Three minutes could be the length of time a child is unattended. A survey showed most poisoning accidents occur between 4 and 6 PM when adults are busy preparing dinner or taking a few minutes to relax. Other prime times for accidental poisonings are weekend mornings, when hungry children look for something to eat while parents sleep late.

Home poisonings occur year around, but most often during the winter, when colds and flu add numerous pain killers, cough medicines, and sedatives to the arsenal of deadly substances around the house.

Poisons do their damage when they are inhaled, absorbed, ingested (swallowed) or injected.

INHALED POISONS

Carbon Monoxide: An odorless, colorless, and tasteless gas. It gives no warning of its presence. Formed when fuel is burned without adequate ventilation, it produces symptoms ranging from headache, irritability, shortness of breath, chest pain, nausea, and fainting, to mental deterioration, stupor, unconsciousness and death. To minimize carbon monoxide poisoning have your furnace and chimney checked yearly at the start of heating season and never operate a gasoline engine in a closed shed or garage.

Gas leaks: Because the danger of explosion coexists with the threat of asphyxiation always report the odor of gas promptly to your utility service, turn off gas appliance and leave the house. A faulty pilot light, corroded pipe, or malfunctioning burner can allow deadly gas fumes to infiltrate a house while you're sleeping, so repair gas appliances at first hint of trouble. It is a good idea to sleep with window slightly open. Fumes from some cleaning fluids are poisonous when combined. By themselves ammonia and liquid laundry bleach (hypochlorite) are effective products. Mixed together, however, they produce potent chlorine gas that can burn nasal passages and lungs. Often all-purpose cleaners, window sprays, toilet bowl cleaners, and floor care products contain ammonia or bleach, even though labels do not emphasize their presence.

Vapors from paints, varnishes, and other petroleum based products: Heed the labels warning to assure adequate ventilation during products use.

Pesticide Poisoning: inhaled, absorbed, swallowed. Pesticides are potent. Any chemical that will instantly disarm an angry hornet is a substance to be respected and treated with care. To minimize the danger of pesticide contamination, or overkill, follow these important rules:

Don't attack problems that don't exist. Compare labels of various products and buy the one that most closely meets your needs. Pesticide labels contain signal words to alert you to the degree of hazard associated with each product. CAUTION indicates the least risk, WARNING calls attention to a greater risk, and DANGER announces the presence of extremely toxic ingredients. Always buy the least toxic product available for a specific problem.

Don't buy pesticides at garage sales or use products whose ingredients and age you cannot determine. Every pesticide you buy should have an Environmental Protection Agency registration number on it's label. Pesticides produced before the EPA registration program went into effect in the early 1970's, have USDA registration numbers.

Provide adequate storage facilities. A cabinet with sturdy shelves, and a strong lock is essential. Do not place the cabinet so high that you cannot see what is on the top shelves or you may tip a container of chemicals into your face. Since many liquid pesticides must be packaged in glass containers because their chemical formulas react with metal can, or plastic jugs, make sure the cabinet is deep enough so that containers aren't balanced precariously on the shelves' edges. Be sure the area where pesticides are stored is well ventilated, out of the path of sunlight all day long and away from furnaces, water heaters or other appliances whose pilot lights or sparks could ignite any flammable chemical fumes. Avoid any source of moisture that could dampen or dissolve cardboard containers and paper labels.

Handle pesticides with caution. Many of them can be absorbed directly through the skin. Wear clothing that covers arms and legs and waterproof gloves. Guard against inhaling powders or splashing liquids. Many labels provide first aid instructions. Read them first.

Mix pesticides carefully. Measure recommended proportions accurately, using measuring items reserved solely for this purpose. Never mix pesticides in empty soft drink bottles, pictures, or other containers for food or beverages. Better to invest in an adequate canister-type sprayer in which applications can be prepared as needed.

Use extreme care in applying pesticides. Avoid spraying or dusting on windy days, spraying from aerosol cans around fires, or electrical connections or using products indoors, unless label states that it is for such use. Cover food, clothing, dishes, etc., when spraying pesticides. When applying pesticides outside, close windows and doors so particles do not drift into the house.

Dispose of pesticide containers properly. Never separate a chemical from its identifying container which provides instructions for proper use, storage, and disposal. When a container is empty dispose of it at once. Some products emit poisonous fumes when subjected to high heat, don't burn pesticide bags or boxes unless container instructs to do so. Burning should be done outside.

The main objective in disposing pesticide residue is to keep chemicals from contaminating water or soil. To minimize risk, rinse bottles and jars then pour into sprayer and discharge where you have been spraying the chemical. Crush containers (glass, paper, plastic, metal) and put them in the trash. One exception is aerosol cans. Don't crush or puncture aerosol cans since they might explode.

Rains, leaving ample moisture for planting on non-irrigated farms of this area, in the last few days have put a "new face" on the look of things. The best supply of moisture since 1951, is reported from all parts of Bailey County and the Muleshoe country.

Greatest cause for rejoicing is the fact that the rains have been heaviest on "dry land" farms, some of which have gone through four years of drought, with little or no crop production.

pageant didn't raise enough money from ticket sales to the April 13 event to pay for Carter's clothes. "Patterson said he is trying to raise the money privately to prevent Carter or the city from suffering a "black eye."

"If he can't come up with the funds, he said city officials will consider using revenue from the city's hotel-motel tax to help Carter buy her pageant wardrobe, which could cost several thousand dollars.

"She has approached us about helping out," Patterson said. "But there are a lot of things between here and there."

"City Councilman Bill Snider said he would consider using the hotel tax to pay for Carter's clothes because the circumstances are unusual and an Arlington queen already has been crowned.

"These young ladies entered this thing in good faith, with Arlington's named stamped on it," Snider said. "Our name is going to be tarnished if we let the bottom fall out of this thing."

"You have to realize, last year Miss Arlington (Tamara Hext) became Miss Texas," he said. "It's not as if she was Miss Muleshoe. It's not as if we wouldn't be missed."

"Arlington attorney Tom Drake, who organized the non-profit corporation for the Arlington pageant, said he is confident city residents will raise enough money to buy the clothes, as well as to provide Carter with the $4,000 scholarship that goes with the crown. The corporation does not have to provide the scholarship money until Carter provides proof she has spent that amount on her education.

"Carter, a SMU graduate who works for Ebby Halliday Realtors in Dallas, is compiling a list of the clothes she'll need for the pageant and their cost. Patterson said. Efforts to reach Carter were unsuccessful."

percent less energy than the average school in the region. Translated into dollars and cents, this means that Dillman Elementary School's energy costs last year were $1,770 under the average costs of similar schools in the region.

Both school principals, Milton Oyler and Wayland Ethridge, were notified by the Texas Public Utility Commission about this honor last week.

Energy conservation has been a priority in the Muleshoe Independent School District for several years, according to Superintendent H. John Fuller. He said the District has taken several positive steps toward energy conservation including renovating the high school in 1982. The figures used by the Public Utility Commission were 1983-84 school year energy cost figures.

This year, the district insulated all of the ceiling in the Dillman Elementary, DeShazo Elementary, and Watson Junior High School, and according to Tom Jinks, assistant superintendent for business, this additional insulation should help bring the 1984-85 energy cost down as compared to the schools in the region.

Superintendent Fuller said, "Muleshoe ISD will continue to explore ways to make our public schools more energy efficient and hopefully continue to be recognized as a leader in this area."

Band Remembers 1984-85 As Outstanding Year

During the school year 1984-1985 the Mighty "M" Band performed in a manner that is unequalled anywhere in history. Through nine competitive performances, the band received nine first divisions. The first was at the Texas Tech marching festival where the band also received outstanding band in the class. Next at UIL marching the band was selected to compete in the Regional contest where a first division was also received. In Concert band a division I was also received in Concert and sight reading UIL contest to bring the band to a sweepstakes. In the recent Carlsbad music festival the concert band received a first division and the award of outstanding in class. In 1985 the Jazz band was blessed with the opportunity to have rehearsal time during class hours. In all of their outings, a first division was received. At the Monterey Jazz festival and at the Carlsbad Music festival the award of outstanding in class was received. In years future, all the members of the Mighty "M" Band for 1984-85 will be able to look back and say, "That was the year that was."

"M" Band is looking forward to having another successful year. The drum majors have already been selected and they are: Lisa Hamilton, head drum major; and Jessie Holmes assistant. The band would like to thank all of the citizens of Muleshoe for their support this past year. The final performances of the Mighty "M" were last Friday night for the School Board Appreciation Banquet, where the Jazz Band performed, and at graduation, where the concert band and the Seniors of '85 gave their last performance. Mr. Gibson revealed some final remarks for the Year. "Wow! What a fantastic year! This band has been driven from the very beginning. At every competition they won, and I should add, earned. They have proven to themselves that the group can succeed in whatever they set their minds to. I feel we have a very well rounded program here at Muleshoe, in that we try to develop the 'whole' musician. I personally, have even higher goals for next year, beginning now for marching season. We will miss the seniors of '85, who were a strong nucleus of this years band and some of the most talented and determined young folks I've ever associated with; however, we remain strong as a band and I am very confident in the year to come. I would like to give a sincere thanks to Mr. Ethridge and the High School Faculty for their support to me and the students through a trying ordeal concerning academics. In closing, thank you Mighty "M" Sweepstakes 84-85 Band. You asked for it, you got it! I love you all!

A&M expert says reward dogs with praise, not food

COLLEGE STATION -- Heaping praise on your dog instead of heaping food in his bowl could help keep unwanted pounds off your animal.

Dog owners often reward a job well done with food when kind words and petting might be just as effective, says a Texas A&M University expert on animal behavior.

More careful eating habits and a regular but careful program of exercise not only helps your dog stay slim, but it makes the animal healthier, said Dr. Bonnie Beaver of TAMU's Veterinary School. Dogs can have heart, liver, pancreas and kidney disorders associated with being overweight -- just like their owners.

Before modern domestication, dogs in packs led a feast-or-famine existence, she explained. Their instinct is to eat everything put before them immediately, even if they're not hungry.

Food rewards and feeding dogs from the table add to weight problems for dogs. Many would be rewarded just as well by praise, she said.

recognized at the banquet for her excellent essay and was presented with a $100.00 cash award. Ms. Sain was seated with Colonel and Mrs. Griffin, the commander of the base.

The contest was sponsored locally by Mrs. Johanna Wrinkle. The students in Vocabulary who were seniors wrote an essay entitled "The Statue of Liberty-What it Means to Me. Mrs. Wrinkle accompanied Shelley and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sain, to the banquet.

Nine FFA Now Advance To State Meet

Recently FFA records and applications were judged at the Area I FFA convention in Amarillo. Muleshoe had nine winners at that level who will go on to the state level to compete for their "Lone Star Farmer" degree in Houston sometime in July.

The State Farmer is a degree offered on the state level by the FFA, and less than 3% of all applicants are able to attain this degree. Muleshoe sponsor, Carl Wheeler, thinks the group of nine has a very good chance of winning since there are very few who ever get to Houston. Those going on to state competition are Ricky Rasco, Kristi Spies, Jeff Vinson, Joe Bob Newman, Martin Pachecho, Donney Burris, and Steven Ethridge. We would like to congratulate these students on their accomplishments and wish them the best of luck at the state level.

May Is Electrical Safety Awareness Time

May is National Electrical Safety Awareness Month and Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) is reminding the public about the dangers of carelessness around electricity.

"With folks starting to work outside more in the warmer weather, it's especially important for them to remember to stay clear of power lines and electrical facilities," said Hermilo Martinez, SPS safety manager.

Nationwide, most electrical accidents involving the public occur because of carelessness, Martinez said.

"Because people are so used to overhead lines, sometimes they don't notice them or they forget how much power is in them," he said.

People working around the house--painting, trimming trees or doing other jobs--must remember to keep themselves and their tools and equipment away from power lines, Martinez said.

"The slightest touch could be enough to seriously injure or kill," he said.

Electricity always seeks the shortest path to the ground. It travels easily through "conductors." Metal, water, trees and the human body are excellent conductors of electricity, Martinez explained.

Handymen and professional painters should make sure ladders don't place them high enough that they could contact a power line. Aluminum ladders, which are good conductors, should themselves be kept away from lines, Martinez said.

Outdoor TV, radio and CB antennas pose another hazard. They're often unwieldy and tall enough to touch overhead lines. Installation of outdoor antennas should be left to professionals, Martinez advised.

In rural areas, irrigation pipe should be handled with care, he said.

"Lightweight irrigation pipe is an excellent conductor of electricity," Martinez said. "Many sections are tall enough when lifted to hit overhead lines. Farmers need to be extremely careful when moving pipe. Rabbit hunters who lift irrigation pipe to chase out rabbits need to be just as careful."

SPS linemen who work with power lines are well trained and have a variety of special clothing and equipment to protect themselves, Martinez said.

"And still they always respect the power in those lines," he said.

Children, especially, need to be taught to respect the power of electricity.

"They need to know the dangers of playing near a substation, climbing trees that have power lines through them, and flying kites near overhead lines," Martinez said.

Storms can cause potentially dangerous situations by knocking down power lines, he said.

"If you see a line from a utility pole hanging down or on the ground, stay away from it," Martinez said. "Assume it's a live wire. Call SPS or the police or fire department immediately."

SPS offers many programs and publications about electric safety to the general public, employers, schools, civic clubs and other groups. Contact your SPS office for more information.

Southwestern Public Service Company provides electric service to a population of more than one million in a 52,000-square-mile area of the Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

One fault with the human race is the number of people who know how to read but have not learned how to think.

The older one grows, generally speaking, the more he appreciates order, manners and friendships.

KEEPING UP

These are serious times. Communism is all around us, and threatens to stamp out our freedom of worship. We should keep ourselves informed on the world situation at all times. We should know more of the threats that they make, and we should know more of what they are trying to take away from us. Attend church "and take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the Word of God: Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Number One Outdoor Leisure Activity

A poll by the Gallup organization shows gardening ranks as the number one outdoor leisure activity for all U.S. households, topping golf, jogging, biking, tennis and swimming. During the year just past eight out of ten American households were involved in at least one form of gardening—the most popular activities being flower and other landscape gardening, vegetable gardening, indoor houseplants and lawns.

There are a number of reasons for this popularity. Research supported by the American Association of Nurserymen listed the following as the major benefits homeowners find from the addition of plants in their landscape. First on the list was "appearance." We just enjoy being surrounded by nature's beauty. After that were the pleasure of having flowers, fruits and vegetables growing in the yard; homeowners' recognition that a nice looking yard adds to their property value; and, for many, enjoyment of the exercise which can be involved in yard care.
