Refuge Celebrates Birthday

By: Rod Krey

Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge was officially established when President Franklin Roosevelt signed Executive Order No. 7214 on October 24, 1935. The refuge quietly celebrated the 50th anniversary of this occasion on Thursday, October 24, 1985.

Muleshoe, which is the oldest National Wildlife Refuge in Texas, was originally established as a protected wintering area for waterfowl, primarily ducks and geese. The refuge is planning a public celebration in February when the peak numbers of sandhill cranes and large numbers of waterfowl will be present.

The refuge is also acquiring a number of interpretative exhibits which hopefully will be completed by then. Wayside exhibits will be placed at Paul's Lake and along the entrance road, White Lake, headquarters entrance road, and at the State Highway 214 picnic area just north of the refuge.

The exhibits will interpret subjects including geology, wildlife, and refuge management practices. In addition to these wayside exhibits additional exhibits will be placed at the headquarters and in the office visitor center. When the exhibits are completed it will give the people of Muleshoe and Bailey County something to be proud of.

MULESHOE REFUGE HISTORY

The acquisition of land progressed quickly after President Roosevelt signed the Executive Order establishing the refuge. The first tract purchased was 738 acres from George and Mattie Robinson and Annie Robinson August 17, 1936. This land includes the area where the refuge headquarters is located.

The second tract of 1,416.8 acres was purchased from F.A. and Mattie Paul and J.H. Paul on December 23, 1936. This is all the refuge land located east of highway 214 and includes the lake referred to as Paul's Lake. The third tract of land containing 2,214 acres was purchased from Henry and Vivian Wilson on February 6, 1937 and include Goose Lake. The last tract of land of 1,440 acres was purchased from Isaac and Crawford Enochs in 1938.

The refuge lands were placed under the protection of a caretaker in May, 1937 and the first manager Walton arrived on August 24, 1937. A Work Progress Administration (WPA) Project was established February 1, 1938 and work was started on the headquarters building and the residence diversion canal. By May 1, there were 77 WPA workers on the payroll and this increased to 112 workers by June 1.

Work was frequently hampered with problems getting WPA workers to the refuge from Muleshoe and Morton due to wet, slippery road condition. All of the buildings and major improvements on dikes and roads were completed between May 1, 1938 and May 24, 1942 when the WPA Project was terminated due to a lack of manpower. The number of WPA workers dropped rapidly after 1939 and only about 10-15 worked in 1942.

McVicker Finds 'The Right' Key; Contest Winner

See, I have been telling you all is not lost! J.E. McVicker came up with a first place win this week in the football contest. After trying, and trying, and trying, he missed only two games, and was just 23 points away on the double tiebreaker scores to take the first place, along with the 10 'big' points and a $6 check.

In second place is a newcomer to the winners' column, Jerry D. Gleason also missed two games for the week, but was 28 points away on the tie breaker scores.

Third place winner Donnie McDonald missed three games, and was 16 points off on the tiebreaker. Also missing three games, and being just barely out of the winner column was Keith Hicks, who was 23 points off on the double tiebreaker.

After nine weeks of the contest, Donna Noriega is still leading, by a slim margin after winning the first two contests. Since that time, she has not shown up as a winner. Also, still in second place, at this time, is Gerald Shanks, who has a total of 16 points.

There will be three to four more contests before the grand prize winner is determined. Grand prize will be a check for $100.

indicated the closeness of this game. Miami and Maryland meet in Baltimore in their third get-together in the past four years. The Terps triumphed in both, 18-17 in 1982, and 42-40 in 1984.

House-Passed 1985 Farm Bill Leaves Family Farmers 'Hanging'

(AUSTIN)--"This bill would support the family farmer about like a rope supports a hanged man," Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said after the U.S. House completed action on its version of the 1985 Farm Bill last week.

On a vote of 282-12, the House passed a bill that includes more farm price supports and a controversial dairy diversion program which President Reagan has threatened to veto, as well as 18 other provisions dealing with agricultural research, trade, farm credit and food stamps.

"Farmers came to the Congress with a sensible, zero-subsidy proposal that would restore prosperity to American agriculture--The Farm Policy Reform Act--but the lobbying clout of the big speculators, shippers, brokers and processors eventually overwhelmed the grassroots effort by America's dirt farmers," Hightower said.

The bill allows dairy supports to rise, but permits a farmer-financed "diversion" that pays producers to lower milk output and reduces the surpluses the government buys.

For the other commodities the bill floor under prices to make American goods more competitive overseas, but offsets farmers' losses by increasing their income subsidies.

"Simply put, this bill looks like something the cat drug up," Hightower said.

The bill keeps price supports at $33 billion for the next three years. That figure is within the $35 billion limit set during last August's budget resolution, but has been criticized as being too low because it is based on outdated crop out-put estimates.

"Members can avert their eyes from America's deepening farm crisis, as the House majority did, but that will not make the crisis go away, nor will it make us go away. There is genuine grassroots support for the kind of forward-looking solutions offered by the Farm Policy Reform Act, and we will continue our fight in the U.S. Senate. As a local sedge once put it, 'if at first you don't succeed, you're running about average,' so we are not deterred at all by this House's failure to respond. The legislative fight in Congress literally is a life and death struggle for the family farm community, and we will struggle until we prevail."

Also included in the bill are the "sodbuster" and "swampbuster" provisions that would bar farmers who plow highly erodible land or convert certain wetlands to cropland from receiving various federal farm benefits. Part of the "sodbuster" measure is a "conservation reserve" provision that would pay farmers for long-term idling of eroding soil.

Dominique Isbecque is a floral and color consultant and serves as a spokesperson for 800-FLOWERS. She suggests choosing flower selections to complement our personal coloring or to make a provocative personal statement when you send flowers to someone else, and she will explain how to accomplish this. 800-FLOWERS is a new, nationwide flowers-by-phone service that enables consumers to order top quality floral arrangements, anytime day or night. Dominique is from New York.

Susan Wright, Clothing Specialist with the NMSU Cooperative Extension Service will demonstrate how to do pad stitching by machine. Pad stitching is an important step in good tailoring -- it provides shaping and contributes to long wear of a tailored jacket or coat. Traditionally pad stitching required hours of tedious hand-stitching to accomplish the purpose, but now it can be done on the machine, and Susan will show how to do it.

"Electrical Safety from A to ZAP" is a comic book for kids, put out by Southwestern Public Service Co. Vickie Jones is the Marketing Home Economist for SPS in Roswell and she will discuss why children should be taught to respect electricity and learn the importance of electrical safety.

On November 14, the topics will include stitchless hems, cooking whole-bodied turkeys and microwave basics. While traditional for holiday dinners, Butterball turkeys come in a variety of convenient forms and weights making it perfect to cook with year round. Mary Jo Bergland is a home economist with Swift & Co. from Glen Ellyn, Illinois and she will demonstrate cooking a whole-bodied turkey. She'll explain how to use the microwave oven for cooking turkeys, how to use a meat thermometer, how to

Winter Wheat Aided With Fall Moisture

The principal crop grown on the High Plains of Texas during the winter months is winter wheat. Winter wheat requires three to five inches of water in order to produce the roots, stems and leaves. Each additional inch of water normally will yield two to three bushels of wheat. Water is generally the limiting factor in wheat production on the High Plains. Although soil moisture conditions are adequate now, wheat will need additional water before spring to produce a maximum yield.

Area wheat producers may wish to monitor their soil moisture conditions during the winter and spring in order to determine how much water to apply to maximize their yields. With the installation of moisture monitoring blocks, the producer can avoid over-irrigation, which can result in unnecessary fuel and labor expenses.

Ken Carver, assistant manager of the High Plains Water District, said that weekly readings of soil moisture levels obtained from soil moisture gypsum blocks will aid producers in understanding plant root development, moisture extraction patterns, and the rate that moisture is drawn from the plant root zone for crop use.

Carver said that the best time of install the blocks is after the crop's emergence, and with the emergence of winter wheat crops, now is a perfect time to place the blocks into the soil to properly monitor the soil's moisture conditions.

He added that there are several advantages to monitoring soil moisture during the winter months. During spells of warm weather in the winter, the crops use more water. According to Carver, it is very important to know how much water is being used by the plants during each phase of its growth cycle.

This information will help the producer determine when to replace moisture into the soil. He can also measure and determine the penetration of each precipitation event. The blocks not only will indicate to what depth the soil has been wet, but provides the producer with information to calculate how much moisture was actually stored in the soil as a result of a rainfall or snow event.

Additionally, another important aspect is monitoring winter soil moisture in fallow ground. By using the blocks, the producer can determine how much moisture is stored in the soil and at what depths. With this information, the producer can calculate how much moisture he needs to add in order to bring the soil to field capacity before planting the spring crop.

Because monitoring the soil moisture conditions is very advantageous in helping producers make irrigation management decisions, the Water District and the local Soil and Water Conservation Districts have obtained a limited supply of the soil moisture gypsum blocks and conductance meters for the convenience of area farmers, added Carver.

To purchase the monitoring equipment, or obtain additional information producers should contact their County Water District office or the local Soil and Water Conservation District office.

Insurance For Crops Meet Set

Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) Deputy Manager Edward Hews from Washington, D.C. FCIC Board of Directors member Ed Askew and other crop insurance officials will be in Nazareth, to hear views on the crop insurance program on Thursday, November 14. Any farmer who wishes to share his comments on crop insurance is invited to attend said Hews.

"These sessions will be conducted in an 'open mike' manner," noted FCIC Deputy Manager Hews, "and we hope that everyone who has some thoughts about the program will take the time to share their views."

The session in Nazareth is part of a nationwide effort by two teams of FCIC officials to tap producer feelings and experiences with the crop insurance program, added Hews. Meetings are being held in a dozen rural communities and are aimed at obtaining crop insurance customer views on the proven production method of guaranteed yield protection, proposals to adjust insurance unit definitions, and the performance of the delivery system.

"A number of proposals have been presented to the Board and we have moved forward in a few areas," FCIC board member, Askew, said, "we want to know how these things are working out and what remains to be done to make crop insurance the best protection the farmer can buy."

FCIC Deputy Manager Hews noted that "The crop insurance program is the primary form of disaster protection available to the American agricultural producer. We want to be sure that we are selling the best product in the most effective way at a price today's farmer can afford."

The session will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Nazareth at the community center on Thursday, November 14, and will continue for two hours. Participants are asked to direct their remarks to experiences with crop insurance or why they do not use the crop insurance program, asked Hews.

City Police Report

Worthless check accidents filed, along with three accidents checked, lead the 'very quiet' activity list for the Muleshoe City Police Department during the past week.

Pay and Save filed seven worthless check cases, totaling $591.80, and warrants were issued for the persons involved.

Lindsey Jewelry reported receiving one worthless check in the amount of $58.55.

Two persons were arrested on capias involving issuance of worthless checks and paid fines, a third who was arrested on a capias alleging issuance of a worthless check made a partial payment on a fine and was released.

Two accidents, both two vehicle, and neither reflecting any injuries, were checked by police on October 30.

On November 4, at approximately 3:25 p.m., a westbound school bus on Avenue G, careened out of control, crossed West Eighth Street, ran through two poles, a cable fence and into a vacant lot adjacent to KMUL Radio Station.

Leaving the accident, the driver exited through the cable fence, taking out two more posts. According to the police report on the accident, the report damage included $100 to the city owned posts and cable fence. The report said the bus left the scene of the accident before officers arrived.

There is a continuity in American agriculture. A continuity of people and land. . . and purpose. One generation working hand-in-hand with the next generation, passing along love for the land and a respect for living things. For more than 67 years, through several generations, the Federal Land Bank has provided long-term financing to help make that continuity possible.

Refuge

was present in nearly all lakes every year and the number of ducks using the refuge during the winter frequently exceeded 300,000. Geese were never present in large numbers like ducks but several thousand usually used the lakes.

The number of waterfowl in recent years has been drastically reduced to less than 30,000 ducks a few thousand geese. This can be attributed to the nationwide decline in waterfowl numbers, less water available, and the abundant available food supply near other Panhandle lakes due to increased farming and irrigation.

One interesting item found while reviewing the records is the small number of sandhill cranes that used the refuge. Today Muleshoe refuge is well known for the huge concentrations of 100,000 to 250,000 sandhill cranes that visit the refuge each year. During the early refuge history the number of cranes present were commonly reported at 3,000-15,000.

The sharp increase in sandhill cranes present is probably the result of the reduced water in the lakes leaving large open expanses for the cranes to roost on and the abundant food supply due to irrigation.

In January 1945 Muleshoe Refuge recorded the first documented case of avian cholera among wild free flying waterfowl. It is believed this first outbreak was the result of infected domestic chickens being disposed of in roadside ditches near the refuge.

Coach's Comments

As a coach, I am very proud of the accomplishments of both the boys and girls Cross Country teams. They have been very dedicated and have shown an intense desire to succeed this year. They started the year in early August and have steadily improved through each meet. All of this work has started paying many dividends to these young runners. On Saturday, October 26, both teams captured the district championships and then on Saturday, November 2, they once again moved one step closer to their goals of state championships. The boys were able to win the regional championship and in the process defeat Boys Ranch the top ranked team in the state. The girls were able to advance to state by virtue of their second place finish at regionals where they lost to the defending state champs, Dalhart, by only 4 points. Both of these teams are joys to coach and be associated with as young adults. The community may come out and see us off to state on Thursday morning, at 8:00 a.m., at the high school.

Fashion- Past And Present-

JoAnn Aromist the curator of Textiles at Panhandle Rains museums, presented a program to all Homemaking classes on Fashions past and present.

Points she covered included-

1. Fashion is set or dictated by the rich in society.

2. Fashion is very seldom new. It is reinvented of something in the past.

In 1850's hoop skirts often contained as much as 60 yards of fabric usually silk. The larger the skirt the more you were trying to show your wealth. Ladies also wearing these large skirts (10 yards around) certainly couldn't do house work so it showed others you could afford servants. If you didn't own a hoop you might wear as many as 14 petticoats to hold your dress out.

At this time the ideal waist was 13 inches. Few women achieved this but some went to extremes by having lower ribs, appendix and spleens removed. To get the small waist size, women experienced problems with these large skirts. They caused houses to be redesigned with double wide doors and chairs without arms. It was very common for women to be burned to death in these large skirts because open candles caught the skirts on fire. It was also common for women to catch their skirts in the wheels of wagons or carriages and be drug to their death. Women also died from breaking a rib or puncturing a lung from corsets being pulled to tight.

Finally women began to get a little smarter in the 1890's and instead of fullness all the way around they shifted to the fullness to the back and the bustle was invented. Again you were showing wealth and the richer you were the larger your bustle was. Some were so large, a serving tray could be placed on the back bustle.

About this time a man named Ebenezer Butterick invented the first tissue patterns and the Butterick company is still producing patterns for the public.

During the 1890's women did everything they could from gettin a suntan. A suntan showed you had to work outside and that was admitting your husband was not wealthy enough to afford all the help required to run your farm. Women sometimes went to great extremes such as bathing in buttermilk, using cornstarch on their skin or even eating small bits of arsenic to bleach out the skin.

In the 1940's women's fashions were dictated by availability because of the war. In England and in France laws regulated what ladies could wear even as far as how wide lapels could be and pockets could have flaps or not. Women were given coupons for things such as hosiery, underwear, and lingerie and if you used your coupons, you could not buy that item until you got another.

After the war, a famous designer Christian Dior felt women were tired of looking like men so he began designing very feminine clothes again. Now he is one of our most popular designers.

Mrs. Armais' presentation emphasized the fact that fashion repeats itself usually about every 20 years and there is very seldom anything that's really new.

She told us to watch for the revival of the bell bottoms pants as its just about time for them to show up again on the fashion scene. We'll see!

Band 'Treats' Fans On Halloween Night

Halloween is the night designated for ghosts, goblins, and trick-or-treaters. It was also a night of spookiness, creepiness, and the biggest pumpkin ever seen in Muleshoe, Texas.

At the JV game on Halloween night the home stands were crawling with ghosts and ghouls, or as we know them, the Mighty "M" Band. The band hosted one of the most unusual halftimes ever!

There was everything from punk rockers to clowns, monsters to aliens. The show was a terrific treat because of the unique "uniforms" worn. The real trick was figuring out who was who! The best part of the show was when they formed a huge pumpkin covering most of the field, but that was only the beginning of fun shows night.

On Friday night, both Littlefield and Muleshoe fans saw one of the best bands in the panhandle. That's right, the Mighty "Masked" Band made a spectacular appearance.

The way they ran screaming onto the field, it appeared that they didn't even know the word discipline. To make it worse, three trombones just wandered off from the rest of the band. In the middle of the second song, it seemed like they had lost their minds! They started the "Fight Song" and then went back to "My Favorite Things." They really showed class!

"Rise Again" had no problems until the very end. Everyone played so hard that they just took a rest right there on the field! Finally everyone got up and left, except for one lonely tuba and the tuba player. There was much concern for the equipment but fortunately with a lot of TLC, they were able to carry off that poor tuba!!! (In case you're wondering the tuba player managed to make it to the sideline).

Those were fun halftimes but that was not the only fun of the week. On Wednesday, October 30, the band held a football game. It was seniors and fish against the juniors and sophomores. The game was exciting and fun, and everyone who played had a blast. Even the referee, Mr. Gibson enjoyed it. Although everyone played hard, final score ended up in a tie of 7-7.

The band had a blast the past week, but now they are ready to settle down to work. Stage band tryouts were this week and concert band started to work on Christmas music!

'A Tribute' To The Mules As 'Winners'

This past year was one that will be remembered quite well; yes, it was an 0-9 season for our Mules, but that is not the reason. This year will be remembered because it was a hard-fought year, one in which no one gave up; the Mules fought together, never giving up on themselves or on each other. Devoted Mule fans remained faithful, realizing that the Mules needed their support more than ever before. Everyone is proud and thankful to the Mules for the strong effort they have shown this year. We appreciate, and love the Mules, and we want them to know that we will always stand proudly behind them.

FFA Chapter Host Members, Guests Monday

The local Muleshoe, F.F.A. Chapter met for their annual greenhand and Chapter Farmer induction. Before the installation the members and guests were served a meal of chicken strips and calf fries with all the trimmings. All freshmen Vo. Ag. students received their Greenhand pins. Dusty Rhodes and Carol Copley recited the F.F.A. Creed. All of the Sophomores received the Chapter Farmers' pin, which is the highest degree a member can receive on a chapter level. After the meeting some of the Greenhands got a bit "scrambled" when they were treated to a feast of raw eggs and shaving cream, "on the head that is." All turned out well.

Wildcats Clan JV Mules To End Season

Last Thursday the J.V. Mules tangled with the Littlefield Wildcats on the Mules' home field. The Mules gave it their best but just couldn't hold on to the ball. With a final score of 6-2, the Wildcats were victorious. The mules only score came on a safety when the Littlefield punter stepped out of the endzone. This was the Mules' last game of the season and now the team will start concentrating on basketball.

Senior Rituals Are Beginning On November 13

November 13th will be a busy day for the Seniors. At that time graduation invitations will be ordered and measurements for caps and gowns will be taken. It is suggested that, before ordering invitations, each Senior make a list of everyone he wishes to send invitations to and then add a few extra in case someone is forgotten. This will make the process of ordering invitations less time-consuming and less expensive. Seniors need to go to Mrs. Wrinkle's room on November 13th to carry on this annual ritual.

Those Who Bray Together, Stay Together

Tuesday, November 13, Sr.'s will order their graduation announcements, caps, and gowns. A $20.00 deposit will be required on the announcements, and the total for the cap and gown will be $13.00. You will be measured for them in room 11, sometime during the day. So, remember Sr.'s, bring your $33.00 to school Tuesday.

Spencer Reamy also will be doing an ink sketch of the Mule Memorial to go inside the graduation announcements.

DECA will sponsor a basketball game, November 14, at 7:00 p.m., in the Jr. High Gym between the Harlem Thrillers and the MISD Coaches. All proceeds will go to Spina Bifida. The community is encouraged to come.
