Sign-Up Delayed For Farm Program

Around Muleshoe

Two defensive driving courses have been scheduled for Muleshoe during the month of March. The first will be 6:30-10:30 p.m. on March 12 and 13. It will be attended by members of the Muleshoe Fire Department.

Open to the public will be the second defensive driving course scheduled 6:30-10:30 p.m. on March 18 and 20.

Both courses will be conducted in the training room at the Muleshoe Police Department, with Muleshoe City Police Lt. Wayne Holmes as instructor. He said cost of the course will be $5 and reminds that persons successfully completing the course will be allowed to deduct 10 percent from their vehicle insurance.

Pauletta Crawford said the school trustee board member election has drawn three more candidates.

Signing up Monday afternoon were R.D. 'TUB' Angeley and Rex Harris, each seeking a three year term; and Cindy Purdy, who will be a candidate for the two year unexpired term.

Three Way School will play host to a men and women's volleyball tournament March 27-29 in the Three Way School gym.

Entry deadline will be March 25, and entry fee is $30 per team. Trophies will be presented first through third place winners.

For additional information, contact Kermit Williams at 927-5532 or 927-5354.

Don McElroy was in charge of the program for the Muleshoe Rotary on Tuesday at noon, and introduced Lonnie Adrian and Elizabeth Watson, assistant superintendent of curriculum for the Muleshoe Independent School System.

Adrian presented a slide show he has put together on the Muleshoe School system, with commentary by Mrs. Watson on school statistics.

The slide presentation is one of the highlights of Public School Week being celebrated this week in the Muleshoe Schools. It will be shown Thursday night in the high school library for any interested persons.

Winners of the youth dance contest at the American Legion Hall last Saturday night included the following:

In country/western: Selina Gonzales and Ricky Rasco, first; Jill Noble and Johnny Noble, second and Noel Vourazeris and Shawn Bussey, third.

In the soul/rock, Kathy Willard and Louis Williams, first; Selina Gonzales and Sergio Gonzales, second and Emily Martinez and Chris Harris, third.

Winners received $20, $10 and $5.

Next scheduled dance for the youth will be Saturday, March 15, 8-midnight, at a cost of $3 per person.

Right Soil Temperature Determines Crop 'Health'

Church Will Host Special Gospel Singer

Kim Maxfield, former Miss Austin (1983) and Miss South Texas finalist (1984), will be appearing in a 90-minute concert of contemporary Christian music at the Community Church in Muleshoe, on March 12, at 7 p.m.

Over the course of several years, she has performed with Michael W. Smith, Kathy Tricoli, Steve Camp, and the Cruse family. She has also appeared on various television programs.

Her music ministry has taken her across America, throughout Europe, England and Scotland, as well as other countries. Much of her exposure has been through Campus Crusade for Christ, Youth for Christ, and college campuses.

On December 27, 1985, along with Phil Keaggy, Kim Maxfield opened and highlighted EXPLORER's live world satellite presentation sponsored by Campus Crusade for Christ.

Kim Maxfield debuted her stage career at the age of four years and for the next several years developed her abilities through professional voice and acting instructions. During that time she joined the Alley Theatre and Theatre Under the Stars as a performer appearing in several of their Houston productions.

In 1984, Kim recorded her first solo album. Kim's current musical compositions are testimonies of her experiences in life and how she related to the Lord. With clear, versatile vocal sounds and a warm-spirited nature, she gives those who listen to her hope and affirmation. A second album is to be released in late 1986.

Members of the Community Church have issued a special invitation to everyone to attend the free concert on Wednesday, March 12.

temperatures before cranking up their planters.

One of the keys to getting spring crops off to a good start is to heed soil temperatures, cautions Spencer Tanksley, Bailey county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Soil temperatures have been shown to have an important effect on how well seeds germinate. Planting in cool soils often leads to poor seed germination and poor crop stands. Plants that do come up often lack vigor for early growth. And this opens the door to early season disease and insect attacks.

Tanksley advises farmers to begin planting only after the danger of a late frost is past and the soil has warmed and the soil has warmed to temperatures favorable to the intended crop.

Farmers also need to keep attuned to weather forecasts prior to planting. A sudden change in weather conditions following planting can be detrimental to the crop, particularly a cool, wet spell that can lower soil temperatures drastically.

Bid Forms, Procedure Books Fail To Arrive

Despite some 20-25 farmers and ranchers visiting the local offices of the ASCS on Monday, they could only check on the proposed Conservation Reserve Program scheduled for sign-up through March 14.

Danny Noble, county executive officer for the ASC said his office did not receive bid forms, so no sign-ups could be conducted.

He explained that the 1986 Farm Program sign-ups could not begin either as ASC officials waited for President Ronald Reagan to sign the 1986 Farm Bill.

Noble said that his office had not received the handbook on procedure for the 1986 Farm Bill, and it is scheduled to get underway today, Thursday.

To certify acreage for the 1986 Farm Program, a producer must certify the last five years "as to what was on the ground," according to the ASC local officer.

Noble explained that bids for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) will be opened at 8 a.m. on March 17 in the ASC offices in Muleshoe. Bailey County Committee members will open the bids. After opening, the bids will be sent 'telemail' by computer to the state ASC office at College Station who will in turn send the bids, again by telemail, to Washington.

It was stressed by Noble that once the bids are in the Washington offices, it will be determined there, in Washington, as to who will be approved, or disapproved, for the program.

Washington will send the bids back to Muleshoe on Thursday, March 20. At that time, it will be known what producers in Bailey County have been approved or disapproved for the CRP 10 year contract.

Also, Noble warned that once a producer has bid, or signed-up for the program, effective March 15, the producer will be locked into the program for 30 days. This will be effective even if the producer decides to back out, added Noble, who continued, that liquidated damages will apply whether the producer is accepted into the program or not, if decisions are made to withdraw their bid.

According to the local ASC official, the bid will be picked on a dollar per acre ONLY bid. Money is the only thing that really will help determine who is accepted in the program.

As an example, if someone with Class Three land bids $30 per acre; and someone with Class Seven land bids $35 per acre, the lower bid will be chosen to receive the bid.

All Classes Six-Seven and Eight lands are automatically eligible for the program, while Class Two through Five land has to be eroded at 3/4-T or greater to be eligible.

Another requirement is that land has to be cropped annually for two of the last five years, i.e., alfalfa, which is not an annual crop, is not eligible for consideration.

The third criteria in order to

Matters Of Health From West Plains Medical Center

What is hypertension and how is it treated?

Hypertension, or high blood pressure, is an abnormally high level of blood pressure within the arteries. There are close to 60 million hypertensives in the United States, but you might be surprised to learn that 90 percent of these cases have no known cause.

Hypertension is not necessarily a disease; it can simply be considered an abnormal regulation of the blood pressure. However, the effects of untreated high blood pressure puts a person at high risk of other serious ailments. These include stroke, heart attack, kidney failure and ruptured blood vessels. Fortunately, lowering blood pressure helps to reserve the complications caused by high blood pressure.

Your diet may be an important factor in the onset and control of hypertension. A diet high in cholesterol and salt does not necessarily cause hypertension, although there appears to be a connection. In societies where salt is used sparingly, high blood pressure is rare if nonexistent. As for cholesterol, people who have a high level of cholesterol often tend to have what doctors call an associated risk factor. Cholesterol can contribute to atherosclerosis, yet blocked arteries contribute to only 4 or 5 percent of all cases of high blood pressure. Changing both of these dietary factors to reduce the amount of salt and fats intake often helps to lower high blood pressure.

Lifestyle factors are also a concern for people who are at risk for high blood pressure. Hypertension caused by oral contraceptives is not that common (only 1 or 2 percent of women who use the pill experience high blood pressure), but because so many women take birth control pills, there seems to be a large number of associated hypertension cases. Birth control pill-related high blood pressure usually completely reversible.

Treatment of high blood pressure usually begins with your physician's suggestion that salt intake be at least reduced, even though less salt won't help all patients. For some unknown reason, seeing your doctor regularly also seems to help lower blood pressure in many cases. If you're overweight, weight loss may be recommended, although, as with salt reduction, it may not help in every case. Exercise is viewed by doctors as important in the overall treatment of hypertension; you may be asked to moderately increase aerobic exercise. This includes brisk walking or jogging, bicycling, swimming, and other exercises that increase the work your heart muscle must perform.

There are many different medications prescribed for hypertension, and they work in different ways. Some of them can cause unpleasant side effects, but your doctor will monitor you closely and will prescribe others that you may tolerate better.

Whatever medication is prescribed, it will be taken faithfully in order to produce results. One of the most common problems in treating high blood pressure is that patients don't take their medicine regularly. So if you have a problem with your prescription, it's better to discuss it with your doctor than to skip a dose. It can even be dangerous to suddenly stop taking hypertension medications. The good news is hypertension is very treatable and almost every case can be controlled when patient and doctor work together.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johurson grass farm on Sandy Acres discusses horse sense this week.

Dear editor:

One of the biggest shortages in the country today is a shortage of horse sense. For example, a weather reporter, reading from a script that came in by wire, will announce "Clear today with no chance for rain," when, if he'd come out of the studio and stuck his head out a window he'd found it was raining cats and dogs.

Or take the shuttle disaster. You can read and believe or not believe all sorts of things about it from the investigating committee, but one that stood out was the report that launching officials didn't know what the temperature was that morning. Said the high-tech thermometer on the booster rocket wasn't always reliable. If they'd looked at the same TV pictures everybody else saw before launch, they'd have seen icicles hanging all over the thing. It doesn't take a high-tech brain to know that if you've got icicles you've got freezing.

And about those O-rings or gaskets between sections of the booster tanks: without going to college, a lot of people know metal contracts when it's cold and rubber hardens and loses some of its elasticity when it's cold. I was watching a mechanic in a one-man shop put new sleeves in the cylinders of a tractor. Sleeves are machined down to a fine accuracy to fit snugly.

"Go in the house and get those sleeves out of the freezer," he told his young son.

"The freezer?" I asked. "You mean you've got them in there? What for?"

He smiled. "Cold shrinks them a little. They'll slide into place in the cylinder blocks that way."

Or take the Defense Department's $400 screwdrivers. You'd think somebody somewhere in the chain of command would have enough horse sense to say, when he saw that bill, "Hold on! There's something screwy about a $400 screwdriver."

Horse sense is hard to beat. You'd think somebody in Washington would figure out that borrowing 6 or 7 billion dollars every Monday to run the government till the next Monday is a sure way to go broke.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Recreation specialist encourages planners to consult park users

COLLEGE STATION — Imagine the city planner in your community asking what kind of park you want in your neighborhood — a place for afternoon walks or perhaps a course for jogging or bicycle trails.

Dr. Joanne Westphal of Texas A&M University says that's what park planners should do, whether they're city, federal or state officials. The parks and recreation specialist in Texas A&M's College of Agriculture says such an effort to please park users would increase park visitation. It could even save money by eliminating unwanted park features, said Westphal.

Westphal and Dr. Stanley R. Lieber of the University of Southern Illinois have developed a method to evaluate design alternatives in park environments. The method won the researchers a national award for park planning and design from the American Society of Landscape Architecture.

Sesquicentennial Texas State Arts, Crafts Fair Dates Set

There is a time and a place to rekindle our longing for the real heritage expressed in the works of heart and hand. The time is spring, when Texas roadsides glow with wildflowers. The place is Kerrville, in the refreshing Texas Hill Country.

The happening is the Sesquicentennial Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair, May 24-25 and May 31-June 1, Saturdays and Sundays of consecutive weekends. This year marks the fifteenth anniversary of the Fair, held on its sixteen acre fairgrounds on Schreiner College campus.

Texans have long depended on excellence in the works of art and craft offered by over two hundred carefully selected exhibitors each year. Show officials feel the quality of exhibits is the best it has ever been for the upcoming event.

The sesquicentennial edition of the fair offers new events for visitors. At 2:30 p.m. each fair day, a historical dress pageant fills the fair stage and a runway into the audience provides a closer look.

Featuring museum quality, historically correct reproductions and many actual historic costumes, the pageant covers styles worn by Texas ladies from 1830, through 1950. All clothing is handmade and some is embellished with embroidery, tatting, and other exquisite needleart.

A show-stopper will be the lavender satin ballgown authentically modeled after those worn between 1870, to 1880, at fancy balls in larger Texas cities. After The Fair, it and other costumes will become part of the permanent collection of the Texas Arts and Crafts Educational Foundation.

Pioneer Village is a place where the old ways linger. Expanded for the sesquicentennial year fair, pride and creative excellence in the crafting of every-day articles will receive a special salute.

In 1972, the year of the first Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair, the state legislature started a program to recognize one outstanding visual artist each year as the official Texas State Artist. A special showing of tures (at the four-inch depth) for planting are as follows: corn, 50 degrees; sorghum, 55 degrees; cotton, 65 degrees; and soybeans, 70 degrees. "Minimum" rather than "average" temperatures should be used for rice and peanuts, with rice being 60 degrees, and peanuts, 70 degrees.

Hardy vegetables such as onions, cabbage and potatoes can be planted once soil temperatures range between 45 and 50 degrees while warm-season vegetables such as tomatoes, melons, beans and peppers need soil that has warmed into the 60s.

With early season planting, particularly when soil temperatures are still marginal, farmers need to pay particular attention to using high quality seed, fungicides and other seed protectants, and adjusting seeding rates, notes Tanksley.

How do farmers keep abreast of changing soil temperatures?

Tanksley points out that daily readings are taken at various locations throughout Texas in cooperation with the Extension Service, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the National Weather Service and individual cooperators.

For example, the regional temperature reading for North Texas is based on temperatures at Lavon Dam northeast of Dallas, while readings at Lufkin and Longview make up the East Texas average. Regional readings are also made for the High Plains, Trans-Pecos area, Coastal Plains, South Texas and meet eligibility is that the land has to have been owned as of January 1, 1985, or for three years before it is eligible for the program.

In the meantime, nervous farmers watch a fast-approaching planting season with no Farm Programs, as everything is still being held up in Washington, and no clear-cut decisions have been released at presstime. One producer commented, "Right now, we just don't know what to plan for. They tell us everything could be changed, or at least a big part of the program could be changed, overnight."

the Lower Rio Grande Valley. As temperatures are collected, they are included in daily agricultural weather advisories issued for each of the regions by the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University. The advisories are fed into the NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration) weather wire teletype system to be received by commercial radio and television stations. The advisories are also carried over the NOAA Weather Radio Network.

Specific temperature readings for about 50 locations also are distributed daily through regular weather service dissemination channels.

Keeping tabs on the weather and soil conditions can help farmers get off to a good start with spring planting, believes Tanksley.

City Police Report

Officers from the Muleshoe City Police Department have found a slight increase in reported burglaries during the past week.

Four burglaries were reported during the week, including an illegal entry to the Intercept Program building at West Plains Medical Center. Nothing was found to be missing, but damage was assessed at $25 to a broken window.

Muleshoe Publishing Co. reported a stolen newspaper vending machine from the front of ServAll Thriftway. It was estimated that perhaps $6 was in the machine, and the vending machine was valued at $220.

Burglars again hit the vending machines inside DeShazo Elementary school, with an undesignated amount of change taken from paper and pencil machines.

It was reported that a windsock and pole had been stolen from the Muleshoe airport. Value of the missing items was determined to be $250.

Two minor accidents were checked during the week.

Arrests included two persons on warrants and one individual for public intoxication.

Collections under the law have been increased tremendously. The Richards Administration has collected 52 percent of all unclaimed property ever collected by the State of Texas.

Local Telephone Duo Is Honored At National Meet

Kathryn Taylor and Hubert Kidd were recognized by the National Telephone Cooperative Association (NTCA) at its Annual meeting in Anaheim, CA, for 30 years of service to the rural telephone industry.

Recognition awards have traditionally been distributed at the NTCA annual meeting as part of its Awards Program. NTCA's 32nd annual meeting united over 2,500 member system directors, managers, and employees in a five-day program to evaluate current challenges faced by the rural telecommunications industry and to develop new strategies for success. The NTCA awards are a vital way of highlighting the dedication and achievements of the individuals who have contributed to their communities and to the advancements of the entire telecommunications industry, according to Janet L. Hirshberg.

She said NCTA is a nonprofit association representing more than 450 locally owned and controlled telephone systems throughout rural and smalltown America.

Ms. Hirshberg added that NTCA provides its member systems with legislative, regulatory, and industry representation; meetings, education programs, and publications; and an array of employee insurance and benefits programs.

Under state law, such accounts become abandoned if they are allowed to remain idle a certain length of time, usually three or five years, depending on the type of account.

If the company holding the account is unable to contact the owner, the account is reported to the State Treasury and later turned over to the state.

The state may use the funds for general state services and for education, but the owners or their heirs may file a claim at any time in the future for the money held by the state. The total amount of money turned over to the state since the law was passed in 1961 is now approaching $90 million.

The list this year is about five times larger than the previous list, published in 1984. The reason for this growth is that the legislature revised the Unclaimed Property Law last year, shortening the dormancy period from seven years and closing loopholes that allowed some businesses not to report unclaimed property.

"I hope all Texans will take the time to search through the Unclaimed Money Fund list," Ms. Richards said. "While unclaimed funds do represent a significant non-tax revenue for the state, our first priority is to find the rightful owners." She urged people to not only look for their own name, but also for the names of friends and relatives.

Persons who believe they have money in the Unclaimed Money Fund should either write the Texas Treasury at PO Box 12608 Capitol Station, Austin, TX 78711 or call the Texas Treasury's toll-free number, 1-800-321-2274.

Band Beats It's Drum

The Mighty "M" Band is really planning a hectic month of March in preparation for contest. The band is also planning on competing for 3-A Honor Band.

To start off the month, Phil Anthony from Lubbock will hold a clinic on March 12. Another clinic will be held on March 17. The clinician will be J.R. McEntyre, the Supervisor of Music at Midland-Odessa. Jim Suddeth from Texas Tech will also hold a clinic on March 25, to finish out the month.

The band will compete at U.I.L. on April 9. The Jazz Band will also play at Mary DeShazo on March 6 for recruiting purposes and plan on competing sometime in April.

Texas' Planning To Celebrate Sesquicentennial

You can celebrate Texas' Sesquicentennial by reading a Texas Book a month during 1986. Enjoy the color and excitement of the Lone Star story. Experience personal commemoration of our states' 150th anniversary by reading. Share the excitement by donating a Texas book to your library.

Some new Texas Books have arrived and are now available in the school library. Along with books about Texas, Mrs. Dillman also has several sesquicentennial presentations sent out by the Texas National Dispatch in Austin.

These books and articles make interesting and educational reading so come by the library and take a look at the Texas' Sesquicentennial display.

Financial Aid For Education Is Available

Did you ever notice how really important things cost lots of money—things like computers, cars, careers, and education? Student Financial Aid helps put career training and education in reach for everyone.

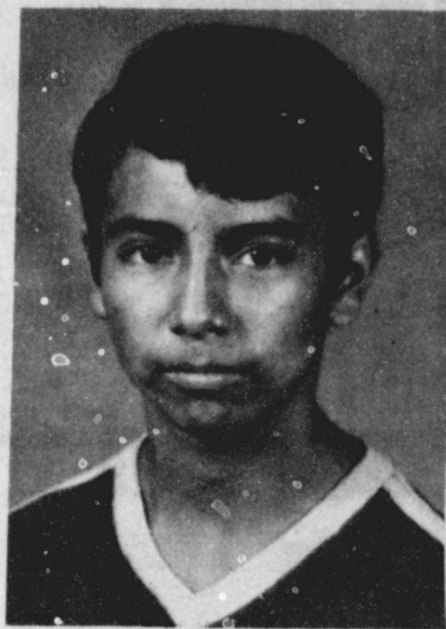

Some things can be hard to figure out. If applying for student financial aid for training or college is one of those things, there's help available. The financial aid office at every proprietary school, college and university in Texas will be open until 9:00 p.m. on Thursday, March 13, 1986, only.

Call the school of your choice to have questions answered or for general information. Financial aid forms are available in the counselor's office at Muleshoe High School.

Four Students Named School 'Outstanding'

 Trial Team Shows Well At Regional

On Saturday, February 22, the Muleshoe Mock Trial Team composed of Civics students of Muleshoe High School travelled to Lubbock to compete in the regional competition. These students had been chosen from each of the five civics classes after the Mock Trial case was acted out in each class under the direction of their teacher, Jean Allison. Attorneys for the movant were Loy Triana and Deborah Nieman; attorneys for the respondents were Mike Holt and Leslie Langfitt; Acting as witnesses for both the movant and the respondents were Sherri Stovall and Andy Copley; alternatives were Caice Hendrix and Ronnie Logsdon. Also making the trip to Lubbock was Mr. Bob Graves, Assis. Principal at MHS.

The Mock Trial competition is sponsored by the Dallas Bar Assoc. and the Dallas Bar Foundation and the rules are set up under these group's direction. Unlike UIL competition, there is no class division and all schools must compete together no matter the size of the school. This means that Muleshoe must compete against 5A Lubbock and generally, at the regional competition. Lubbock and Muleshoe are the only participants. This means that Muleshoe must face the best school in Lubbock as the Lubbock school compete in district competition to eliminate all but one school. Muleshoe does not get the benefit of district competition as no other schools in this district enter the competition.

Muleshoe had to compete against Lubbock Coronado this year and each team acted as the movant and the respondents in two rounds of competition. The teams do not know until the end of the competition who is the winner of each round. When the judge's envelopes were opened after the competition it was discovered that Lubbock won the first round and Muleshoe won the second round on presentation. Teams advance on presentation and due to the tie, judge's points were then added to break the tie. Lubbock received a few more point votes so will advance to state, a very disappointing loss to the Muleshoe Mock Trial Team.

Gifted, Talented Students Meet; Decide Program

The Gifted and Talented students at Muleshoe High School met with Mr. Ethridge, Mr. Gullely and Mrs. Marr on February 14, 1986. The students were led in a discussion concerning the type of program they felt would be most beneficial to them and one that would work for them during the school day. The students indicated that a program that took place during the school day would be most appropriate for their schedules. The students suggested that they meet at different periods during the remainder of the school year at two week intervals.

The students were particularly interested in pursuing research in areas of their own interest and in the possibility of visiting or touring sites would further their education in these areas. Mr. Gullely indicated that he would research places that could be made available to these students.

Each month four students from Muleshoe High School are chosen by the faculty on the basis of academic excellence, good attitude, and school spirit and are honored as Students of the Month. The students selected for this honor in the month of February were: from the freshman class, Andrew Espinoza; from the sophomore class, Deborah Lackey; from the junior class, Mark Mata; and from the senior class, Leslie Langfitt.

Andrew, who has resided in Muleshoe all of his life, is the son of Camilo and Maris Espinoza. He is currently enrolled in art, Algebra I, honors physical science, world history, English I, Spanish I, and physical education. Andrew is involved in many UIL extracurricular activities including number sense, spelling, and calculator math. When he is not pursuing these interests, Andrew enjoys eating, reading, or watching his favorite cartoon character, Bugs Bunny, on television. Andrew's plans for the future include attending college, possibly Texas Tech.

Deborah Lackey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lackey of Muleshoe. She is enrolled in speech, physical education, Spanish I, honors American history, physical science, English II, and Algebra I. Besides keeping up with her classes, Deborah also participates in Lincoln-Douglas Debate and in church activities. When asked what one thing she would like changed about the school, she replied that it would be good to make a leadership class a required course. In the future

English IV Class Goes To Portales

The Academic and Honors English IV classes went to Golden Library at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, Wednesday, February 26, to do research. The field trip is taken each spring whenever the students are gathering information for their research. This trip helped prepare students for a college library.

After arriving at the library, Mrs. Mary Jo Walker, Special Collections Librarian, took the students on a tour of the library. Upon completion of the tour, the students researched their individual topics. After finishing, they ate lunch either in the ZIA Room or the Student Union Building. Students then walked about the campus, visited the bookstore, played games in the SUB, and saw a film presentation of ENMU. Forty-two students enjoyed the day at ENMU. Mrs. Johanna Wrinkle, their English teacher, and Mrs. Esther Marie Dillman, MHS librarian, accompanied the group.

March 7 the English IV classes and the Theater Arts classes will travel to The Globe Theater in Odessa to see the Shakespearean play The Tempest. The group will leave Muleshoe at 5:00 a.m. and return about 6:30.

MHS-FTA Group Attends Convention

The early hour of 7:00 a.m. Thursday, February 27, "His Excellency" and five "Baggages" left to attend the FTA state convention in Dallas, Texas. The group arrived in Dallas that afternoon and checked into the Hyatt-Regency. Everyone was very impressed with the luxuries of the Hyatt.

That afternoon everyone enjoyed looking around the hotel and riding the elevator up to the 28 floor. Thursday night, the Muleshoe group ate with the FTA state officers at The Ole Spaghetti Warehouse. The group really did enjoy an unusual waiter.

Friday, February 28, is when the work began for the group. Everyone registered and the voting delegates received their badges that morning. That afternoon the first general session was held, and after that each district met and discussed proposals to be voted on in the House of Delegates. Sherri Stovall, Susan Lunsford, and Julie Sanders decided to get some exercise by chasing Dr. J. of the Philadelphia 76ers from the motel across the street to Reunion Arena, where they were having an afternoon practice. They also got autographs and pictures taken with various members of the team such as Moses Malone, Perry Mason, and Gary Stokes. The group then went to the 2nd general session and afterwards they went to eat at McDonalds. After the group ate, they joined a crowd of 1500 people to dance the night away in the Hyatt ballroom. Speakers lined one wall of the ballroom. Everyone really enjoyed the dance. MTV was there to film the dance live.

Saturday, March 1, was once again a busy day for the Muleshoe crew. Susan Lunsford was entered in the Miss FTA contest, which was held that morning. Susan made it to the semi-finals. Saturday afternoon the House of Delegates took place. State officers for the 1986-87 year were selected, and a variety of proposals were voted on. After the House of Delegates meeting, Lance King, Mike Holt, Darren Albertson, and Brent Black enjoyed the activities at the hotel, while Mr. Moore, Mr. Johnson, Susan Lunsford, Sherri Stovall, and Julie Sanders walked approximately 21 blocks to Nieman-Marcus and Joskes. These people suffered from the malady of sore feet.

The awards assembly was held Saturday night. Mr. Kerry Moore received an award for top advisor. Muleshoe also received awards for one of the top money-making projects and for having over 100 people in the Blackburn-Moore chapter. Mike Holt received a certificate for his outstanding leadership.

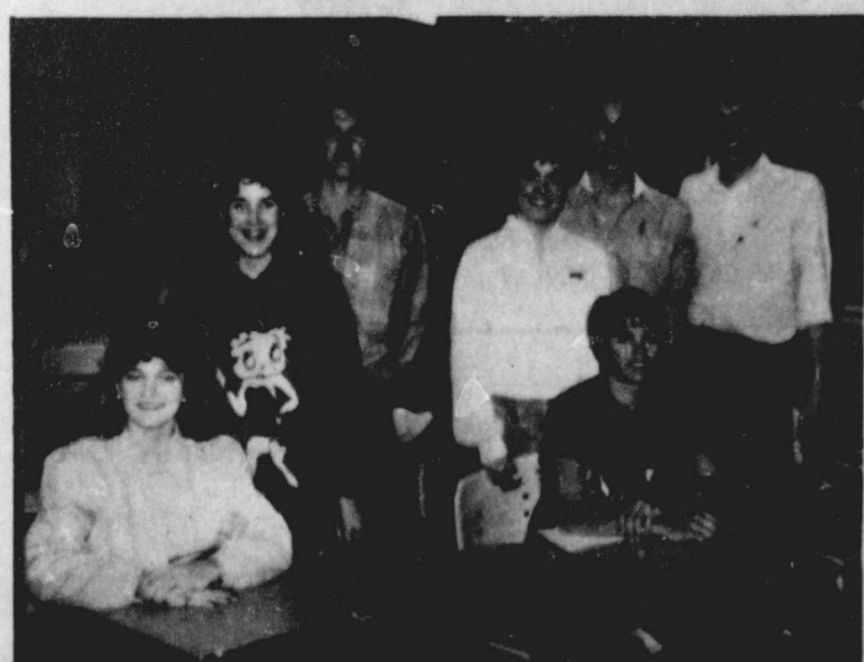

That night the group ate at Southern Kitchens, and they were very surprised to find themselves eating an eleven-course meal. Mr. Moore laughed when everyone got up to walk out, and they were moaning because they carried out ten pounds of extra weight. As they arrived back at the hotel, everyone went in and put on much "looser" clothes.

Early Sunday morning the group left and headed for home. At 9:00 that morning, they stopped at McDonald's to eat breakfast, and then they were on the road again. After eating lunch at Lubbock, the group arrived in Muleshoe at approximately 6:00 p.m.

Spencer Reamy Has Scholarship To Go To ENMU

Spencer Reamy, senior student at MHS and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Remy, participated in the Eastern New Mexico University Talent Day in art on Saturday, February 22. Spencer was one of 15 students trying out for the $1,000 Metcalf Scholarship and various other scholarships and grants awarded by the university to top students showing exceptional talent in the art field.

In order to try out for the Metcalf Scholarship, Spencer has to prepare three original works before the Talent Day. One drawing had to be of tennis balls, showing texture in the composition of his choice. The second drawing, showing a second object through the glass shown in charcoals and chalk, was of glass beakers. The third was a composition of personal choice in the media of his choice.

These three drawings plus his personal portfolio were judged for the scholarships awards. Spencer was presented $550 worth of tuition and housing grants plus a grant relieving out-of-state tuition.

Spencer noted he was the only out-of-state applicant and also that only two applicants received a larger monetary award.

Congratulations go to this talented young man. We all need to remember so we can say we knew him when...

STILL LIFE

This still life is in perfect harmony and balance; there is no motion or confusion to mar its perfect beauty. How peaceful and quiet it looks! This kind of static beauty is never possible, for life, however, because life is never static; life means action, activity, change, confusion. But this dramatic nature of life with its infinite variations doesn't mean that life need be without peace. New experiences of every kind, pleasant or painful, can be met with serenity if one understands that his whole life is a gift from God. The peace of God which passes all understanding is the gift given only with Himself. Worship Him and know peace in your heart!

GM QUALITY SERVICE PARTS

CELEBRATING OUR

25th Anniversary

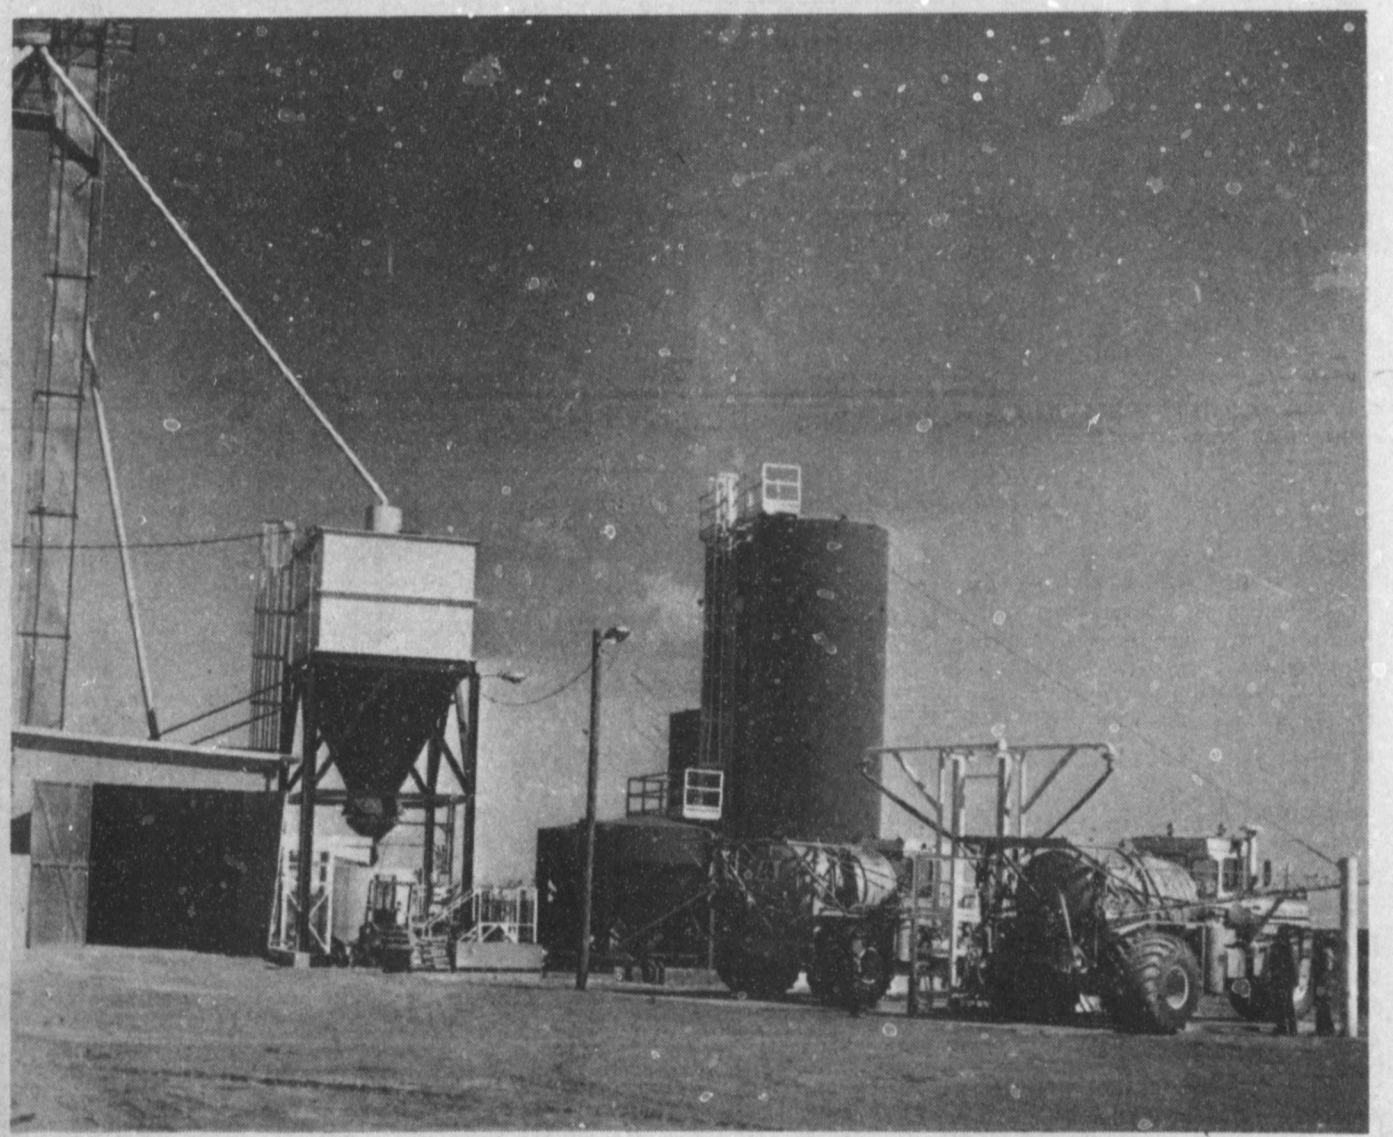

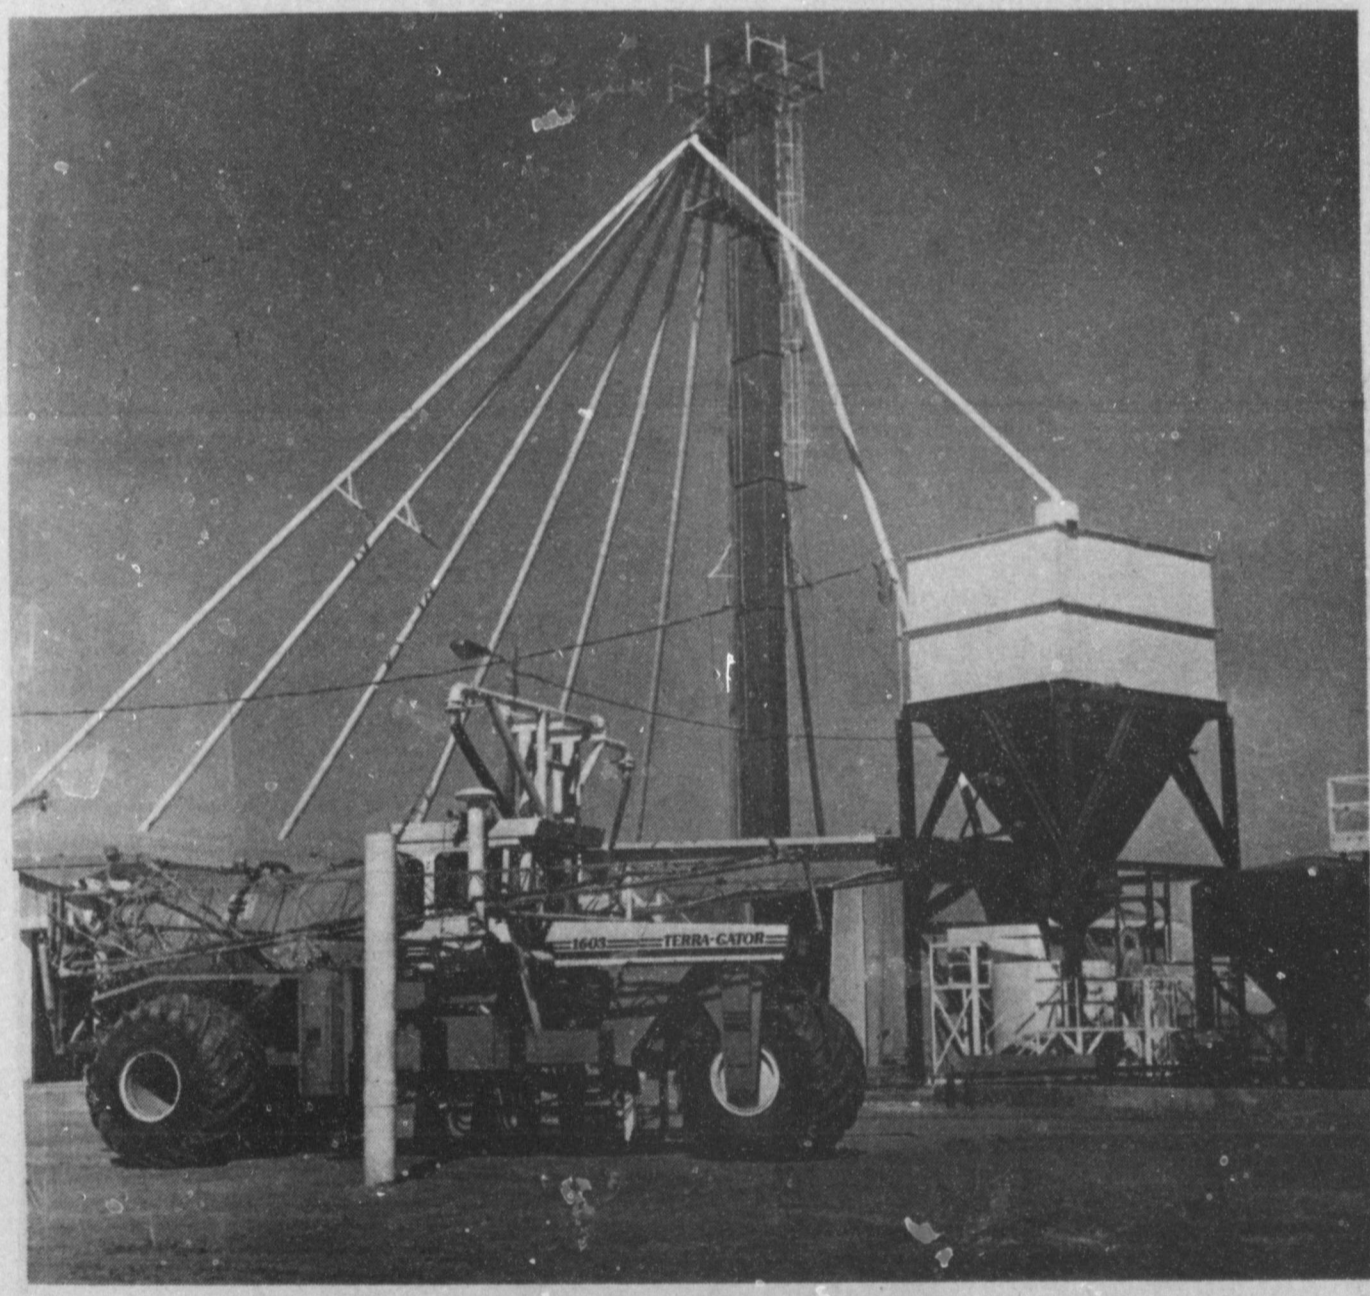

Steve Foster & Demp Foster

Today we now have a complete fertilizer service available to all our farmers.

This service includes both dry and liquid fertilizer applications prescription computer programed according to soil analysis for individual soil requirements.

We have the equipment available to apply both liquid or dry fertilizer. A computer analysis of fertilizer and micro nutrients requirements as well as adequate applying equipment enables Foster Fertilizer to ensure our customers of prompt and precise fertilizer application.
