2. To nominate one candidate for District Judge of the Fifth Judicial District of said state.

The precinct chairmen of the several precincts in said county will call precinct conventions to be participated in by all the democrats of their respective precincts for the purpose of electing delegates to a county convention to be held at the Court House at Carlsbad, N. M., on the 11th day of August, 1914, at which convention ten delegates will be elected to attend the State Convention to be held at Albuquerque, N. M., on the 17th day of August, 1914.

At said county convention each precinct will be allowed three delegates, and in addition thereto one delegate for every fifty votes or major fraction thereof cast for Hon. H. B. Ferguson in the general election in the year 1912.

The ballots to be used in said primary election will be prepared and distributed to the several precincts of Eddy county in the manner provided by the County Central Committee, and the rules governing said election will be those adopted by the said committee, a copy of which will be furnished to the judges of election of each precinct.

All candidates who desire to have their names printed on the ballot to be used at said primary shall file their names with John B. Harvey, Secretary of said committee, in person or by letter, on or before 6 o'clock p. m. on the 28th day of July, 1914.

The chairmen of the several precincts will provide voting places for holding said election in their respective precincts.

Signed and dated at Artesia, N. M., this 8th day of July, 1914.

G. U. McCRARY, Chairman.
JOHN B. HARVEY, Secretary.

Decisions Delayed.

Washington, D. C., July 29, 1914.
Hon. M. S. Groves, Chairman,
State Corporation Commission,
Santa Fe, N. M.

Dear Mr. Groves:

I am in receipt of yours of the 14th instant, making inquiry with respect to when you might expect a decision in the New Mexico Corporation Commission cases, and in reply write to say that the question whether the Commission would be able to get out a report in these cases before the summer recess has remained in doubt, in view of the Intermountain cases, which have until recently been pending for decision in the Supreme Court. Now that that decision has been handed down the carriers will of necessity proceed with the general readjustment of the intermountain rates, which will in a measure affect the New Mexico situation. It is my opinion, therefore, that it would be better to defer final action in the New Mexico cases, pending the Intermountain cases readjustment, and for this reason a decision in the New Mexico cases will not be reached by the commission until some time in the fall, probably at the October conferences. As to this, however, I cannot now, of course, advise you definitely.

Yours very truly,
JUDSON C. CLEMENTS.

ANNUAL CAMP MEETING.

The Pecos Valley Holiness Association have engaged Miss Millie M. Lawhead, Evangelist, and Miss Elsie Shaner, Singer, for their annual camp meeting which is to be held at Artesia, New Mexico, under their tent beginning September 4 and continuing until September 20.

As has been said before this Association is not a NEW CHURCH, neither is their organization kept up in the interests of any one denomination. Their Constitution says the Pecos Valley Holiness Association has for its object the salvation of souls and the sanctification of believers. No one is eligible to membership who is not a member of some evangelical church.

The various denominations established in Artesia will be especially welcome to help in this meeting and they are all cordially invited to be present with this assurance that this Association is an auxiliary of the National Holiness Association which respects the beliefs of those who differ in non essentials of salvation.

Miss Lawhead, the evangelist, is the Secretary of the National Holiness

Association and is regularly licensed by that same National Association as an evangelist. She has been engaged in some of the biggest camp meetings held in America the past several years and you can afford to lay aside all your prejudice and attend upon her ministry.

The singer, Miss Shaner, also has had much experience in her line and we believe she will sing herself into your good graces. She asks you to tune your voices up and join the chorus through these meetings.

Call for Democratic Precinct Convention.

The Democrats of Artesia Precinct, No. 6, are hereby called to meet in the City Hall at 2, P. M., Saturday, August 8th for the purpose of electing eight delegates to the County Convention which meets at Carlsbad, August 11, 1914, for the purpose of electing delegates to the State Convention, which meets in Albuquerque, August 17th, and to transact any other business that may come before said precinct convention. We urge that every Democrat be present.

C. E. MANN,
Precinct Chairman.

BULLETINS.

The Domestic Science Department of the Woman's Club recommends to housewives the following Bulletins:

Farmers Bulletins: No. 521, "Canning Tomatoes in the home."

No. 389, "Bread and Bread Making."

No. 391, "Economical use of meat in the home."

No. 526, "Mutton, its value in the diet."

The last named two, are especially worth considering, facing the present crisis in the meat situation.

The information contained in these pamphlets is as scientific, complete, up-to-date, as can be found in any high-priced cook book.

These bulletins are five cents each and can be obtained by addressing,

If elected I shall use my best efforts to serve the people of Eddy County, upon the following declaration of principles:

1st. To the reduction of taxes, which I conceive can be accomplished by providing for the full and equal return and assessment of all property subject to taxation, and by an efficient and economical administration of the Government, State and County.

2nd. I favor adequate salaries for all County Officers, commensurate with the work to be done and the responsibility imposed by the duties of such office, and I favor a classification of the Counties as to salaries upon this basis.

3rd. I shall favor everything that looks to the upbuilding of the State in its natural and material resources, and will support measures looking to this end; and as a means for the furtherance thereof, I believe in the construction of good roads throughout the State and County.

4th. I conceive that the education of the children of the State is one of its highest duties, and shall favor the Laws looking to the advancement of Education, so that all the children throughout the State may receive equal advantages in this respect.

5th. I believe in united Party action and in the upbuilding of the Democratic Party and the upholding of Democratic officers, and if elected shall act with my Party upon all matters affecting its interests in the State.

Respectfully,
ROBT. C. DOW.

To the Democratic Voters of Eddy County, New Mexico:

I hereby announce myself to be a Candidate for the State Legislature, subject to the will of the Democratic Voters of Eddy County, to be expressed by them at a primary election to be held on the 8th day of August, 1914.

If nominated and elected I promise to do everything in my power to faithfully serve the people of Eddy County to the best of my ability.

I am a firm believer in the policy and administration of President Wilson.

I am a firm believer, in, and will use the utmost efforts to support and carry out the principles and reforms advocated by Governor William C. McDonald.

I am a firm believer in, and an advocate of clean Democratic politics. I believe the time has come when New Mexico, and every part thereof, should free itself from the fetters of what is known as machine rule.

I believe one of the first, if not the first, law to be enacted by the first session of the next legislature should be a county salary bill, I am not in favor of paying county officers exorbitant salaries, simply because they are county officials; and because they are being paid with the people's money. I believe the salary should be on a strict business basis, based upon what a reliable and competent business man would do the work and perform the duties incident to the office.

I am a tax payer and a firm believer in an adequate and proper tax law. One that will assure each and every individual a square deal. One that will impose such a penalty that it will be an inducement to make a proper rendition of all property.

I believe in a thorough and efficient educational system; the education of our children is our first duty. I will support any law that will assure to our children better opportunities to acquire an education.

I am also a firm believer and advocate of good roads. I believe there is nothing adds to a community that will do it more good than a well kept system of good roads. I will use my best efforts to obtain such legislation as will assure to the people of Eddy County an equal distribution of all taxes paid by them, for road purposes, with the rest of the State.

In conclusion I desire to state that if elected I will stand by my party and the people of Eddy County.

If the above principles as outlined meet with your approval, I will appreciate your support.

Very respectfully,
GUY A. REED.

TAMWORTH IS BEST HOG FOR GOOD HAMS

A 330-Pound Hog Does Not Make Good Ham. The Tamworth is an Ideal Ham Hog.

(By C. S. MILLER.)
The art of making good, sweet hams, properly balanced with fat and lean and cured to a turn is fast slipping away from us here in America.
The old-time southern planters never bred hogs for fat and rarely cured an animal for their own use that weighed over 175 pounds.
These men bred the long lean animals which were fattened on mash and clover, because not a great deal of corn is raised in the South; and the result was an ideal ham-and-bacon hog.
In the great corn belt farmers are disposed to breed and feed for fat because they are not satisfied to send to market a 175-pound hog at Christmas time when they can just as well bring him up to 300 pounds. To them all hog meat looks alike.
A 300-pound hog does not make good hams. They are coarse and contain a large amount of fat which the packers trim off in order to bring the size down to make them look like hams from a small hog.
People want hams from hogs that weigh from 125 to 150 pounds, and they cannot be deceived by hams from a 300-pound hog with the fat trimmed off.
The consumption of hams in this country is steadily falling off for this reason, and further, because a ham cured in the average packing house is anything but ideal food.
The small or middle-sized Berkshire makes a good ham, although there is a tendency to fat. The ideal ham hog is, in our opinion, the Tamworth. He is a glutton for protein foods, although he can be spoiled by stuffing him with corn. He thrives on clover, and if allowed to run in fields of sweet peas, rape and alfalfa, produces the sweetest and best balanced hog meat that is known.

The Tamworth is particularly fond of raw potatoes, pumpkins and roots of all kinds to which the average type of fat hog is not partial.

During the past few years a very large trade in American hams has sprung up in Europe, particularly England. The consumer over there demands a small ham and our American packers are endeavoring to educate farmers to the idea of curing hogs that will average around 150 pounds. Matured hogs that will weigh less are even more eagerly sought.

The truth is that our best hams are sent to England; it is not an easy matter to obtain these small, well balanced hams in this country, and we are forced to take the big, fat hog ham, with the trimmings, and hypnotize ourselves into the belief that we are eating the real thing, or let them alone.

It is not likely that the ideal small ham will ever be produced in large quantities in the corn belt, for the reason above stated; we may expect the best hogs of this type to come from the South, where they feed less corn and more peas and clover.

Some farmers down there are becoming rich, raising Tamworths and small Berkshires for the express purpose of producing the ideal hams, and they obtain very high prices for this type of hog.

CAUGHT BY CAMERA

By MILDRED CAROLINE GOODRIDGE.

"Doughnuts!" Ned Travers sniffed the air delicately, smacked his lips and peered through the trees towards a neat little farmhouse on the edge of the town.

From its kitchen there came a constant odor of brown, crisp dough puffing up into comely knobs and rings. Then he saw through an open window a dainty bustling young lady with tucked up sleeves and aproned and Ned thought of his sister.

And then as the pretty maid set a great earthen bowl in the window, piled high with the creamy golden-flecked results of her labor, Ned caught a full view of her winsome face. It gave him a warning thrill—and then a twinge.

Wherefore the latter? His pride answered promptly. Contrast brought a sudden blur to a manly longing heart. The picture before him was so sweet, so soiling that he would have liked to become a vital part of it. Of course the lovely face influenced this particular sentiment.

Ned was fairly down and out. Worse than that just at this especial moment he was dust laden, travel worn, thirsty and hungry. He had but one possession of value with him, oddly out of place for negotiation just here and now. This was his rather bulky outfit for taking moving pictures.

Ned had been out for a month with a "movies" crew that had gone to pieces for lack of capital. A lesson well learned at heart, he was returning home, wiser, though chastened.

So he had little part in or claim to the social or esthetic phases of life just at the present time. With a sigh, for he was a poet and a dreamer at heart, he started in the direction of the near village. Just then, however, the fair cook came out of the house and went to the well near by. An inverted goblet decorated the pump post. She drew it full of water with a healthy farm girl's will, drained it and returned to the house.

The sight of the clear, sparkling water aggravated the thirst of the weary wayfarer. He boldly entered the yard and took half a dozen cool refreshing draughts. There was a rustic bench near at hand. He sat down to rest, appreciating the haven of peace about him. Then his glance fell upon the piled up heap of rich cookery set to cool on the window sill.

"Wish I was a boy again," murmured Ned. "It makes me think of the old happy days," and then he arose quickly from his careless attitude of repose. Either the young lady was lonely or she had noted his ardent glance at the doughnuts. She came tripping towards him, a plate in her hand well loaded with the product of her labor.

"I thought maybe you would be obliging enough to test my first attempt at doughnuts," she said quaintly.

"I am hungry enough," admitted Ned, in love with that bonny face twice as much as before.

She stooped near by as he devoured the first of her kindly offerings with a bright satisfied smile.

"Well, what is the verdict," she challenged with teasing eyes.

"More!" answered Ned gallantly. "This must be the original land of milk and honey."

"I was flattered, I feared I might have spoiled them," said Eva Dodge with a sigh of relief.

"They will be spoiled quick enough if you are as liberal with others as myself," he responded and then Miss Dodge told of a prospective barn dance with the accompaniments of doughnuts, cider and chicken sandwiches. She pouted anon as she looked at the sun and told of how her brother Alan should have reported two hours ago to help trim up the barn.

"Suppose I try to earn the most famous meal I have enjoyed in a year by acting as his substitute," suggested Ned.

They were like old acquaintances within an hour, she directing, he nailing up wreaths and festoons of shrubs and flowers. And just as she had clapped her pretty pink palms in delight at the general effect, brother Alan appeared.

Nothing would do but that the stranger must stay for the evening and for the night and when they learned that Ned played the violin they were more insistent than ever.

Ned felt as if he was leaving paradise as he departed from the Dodge home the next afternoon. He carried with him a memory of his charming hostess that he knew would be abiding.

It was probably an hour later when he passed down a lane to notice a large barn building with smoke pouring from its lower story. In a trice the business instinct assailed him. Any odd or picturesque scene was worth the money in the "movies." He ran within the right focus and set his machine going. Absorbed in getting it in correct operation, he looked less at the burning building than to the details of operation.

"It will work in well in some good 'movies' story," he told himself, and ran a full reel, taking in the gathering crowd and the varied incidents of excitement in the episode.

A month later when the film was produced, Ned chanced to see it. Then for the first time he observed that its first scene showed a man in full view leaping from a window near the door, a burning piece of paper in his hand.

"There was an incendiary, then," he reflected, "just as I heard it hinted. Ah, me! how all this brings back that beautiful day in my life—pshaw! I must forget that."

But Ned could not forget. Eva—the name was on his lips in his dreams. That sweet face floated constantly through his mind. He had secured new and better work. He could afford a week's vacation. He resolved to see Eva, at least once more.

Ned reached the Dodge home to find it in a state of great commotion. All hands were anxious and troubled.

Alan, the brother of Eva, had been accused of burning the barn Ned had caught with his camera.

His pocket knife, it seemed, had been found near the structure. Then, too, its owner had quarreled with him and did not like him.

Alan claimed he had loaned his knife to a young fellow who worked for the owner of the barn, who had been beaten by the farmer in a quarrel and had afterward disappeared.

Ned felt that he was going to be of some use when he got a description of the missing man. It tallied to the one shown in the fire film. Ned sent to the city for a duplicate. Half the town was at the motion picture playhouse the night it was shown. Half the town recognized the one figure in the foreground.

"You have saved my brother from disgrace," spoke Eva warmly to Ned. "How can I show my appreciation?"

"Some more of those wonderful doughnuts would be a grand reward," suggested Ned, smiling. And because her hand was just then resting within his own, he had the courage to tell Eva also how much he loved the maker of those same famous doughnuts.

And Eva blushing agreed to take the contract of supplying his favorite dainty for the remainder of their mutual lives.

MUST BE ABSOLUTELY CLEAN

Hands of Surgeon, Before Performing Operations, Are Washed in Most Thorough Manner.

Most people attribute the immensely decreased rate of mortality in cases of severe surgical operations to the increased skill of the profession, to their greatly improved instruments, and the more skillful nursing which is obtained in these days. But the surgeon himself would tell you that it is almost all a matter of absolute cleanliness, the fact that nothing is left undone to insure absolute freedom from infection of any kind. This fact is emphasized by the extraordinary hand-washing regulations which are in force at the various hospitals. Everybody who is even remotely connected with an approaching operation is supposed to spend 20 minutes in the all-important process of washing his hands.

For five minutes the surgeon washes his hands with soap and water, and then cleans his finger-nails. When he has done this he spends another five minutes doing it all over again. But this is but a preparation for a third and far more drastic ablation, for this time he must wash his hands in alcohol. Not content with this cleansing process, he must now put his hands through a process of sterilization by soaking them for at least five minutes in a wash of corrosive sublimate. By that time he may commence his duties, which mean life or death to some patient, with the satisfactory feeling that he has done his best to approach his task with clean hands.

Family Secrets.

A man with an uncanny mania for juggling with figures produced pencil and paper and commanded a friend to "put down the number of your living brothers. Multiply by five. Add three. Multiply the result by two. Add the number of living sisters. Multiply by ten. Add the number of dead brothers and sisters. Subtract 150 from the result." It was done.

"Now," he said with a cunning smile, "the right-hand figure will be the number of deaths, the middle figure the number of living sisters, and the left-hand figure the number of living brothers."

And it was so.

FARM POULTRY

MINORCAS GOOD EGG LAYERS

Rose Comb Variety Especially Adapted to Cold Climates—Good Word for Rhode Island Red.

The Hamburgs and Spanish are not so popular now as they were several years ago. Probably because they are very small and lay small eggs. The Leghorns are small, also, but as a rule their eggs are of average size. They possess a number of other good qualities not found in other fowls of their class.

This, however, applies more particularly to the Brown Leghorn, which we think is superior in every respect to the white variety. Opinions differ, however.

The Minorcas lay large white eggs. Their eggs are larger than those of any other variety of chickens, and ooth the Rose Comb and Single Comb Black Minorca are excellent winter layers. The Rose Comb variety are especially well adapted to cold climates.

A rose comb or small compact comb will not freeze so readily as one that is thin and high. Keep this in mind. As a rule, farm people prefer to raise chickens for both eggs and meat. Then let us speak a good word for the Rhode Island Red.

They are the farmer's fowl par excellence. Good layers and good for table use, also. Therefore, the Rhode Island Red is the ideal general purpose bird. We have never raised very many Rhode Island Reds (a few this year for the first), but some of our neighbors will keep no other kind. Don't hesitate to try the Rhode Island Red.

We have kept the Buff Orpingtons and Brown Leghorns for several years. The Orpington is a fine, large fowl.

Black Minorca.

The hens are good setters and about as good layers as any of the larger varieties.

We have a fine flock of Leghorns this year, and a few Orpingtons, but none of either for sale. During the past two years we have been experimenting a little, and have been very successful. The experiment was also a matter of convenience.

The two flocks were turned out together, and the result was a lot of mixed chickens. Of course, they did not look so nice but we are very well satisfied with the cross.

For best results, however, we believe one cross is enough. Some people say that chickens will do better when they are "all mixed up." But after a while they are apt to resemble a flock of "scrubs." Then where is the advantage?

Our Leghorn-Orpingtons are somewhat similar to the Rhode Island Reds, larger than the Leghorns; more active and better layers than the Orpingtons. There is a great deal of confusion among beginners in regard to different varieties of chickens with similar plumage.

For instance, the Buff Orpington is often mistaken for the Buff Plymouth Rock, and vice versa. By the way, the Buff Plymouth Rock is a very good general purpose chicken, superior, we think, to the Barred Rocks, Orpingtons or Langshans. We have kept all these and a number of others.

Send for poultry catalogues. They make very good reading. Get posted.

Treatment for Sick Birds.

Quarantine or kill sick birds. If you treat the sick, let it be done away from the flock. Give one grain soda, three grains subnitrate of bismuth, two grains of powdered cinchona bark three times a day. This is to check the diarrhea. After the diarrhea has been checked give a good poultry tonic. This last should also be fed to the flock at large. Give turkeys sick with it the same treatment.

Earth Floors Best.

The West Virginia experiment station made a test of the comparative merits of board floors and natural earth floors in the hen houses, with the conclusion that cleanly-kept earth floors were much the better.

Raise More Ducks.

Why not raise more ducks? They bring excellent prices for their weight and they are not easy subjects for disease.

Farmers' Union Opposes Bond Issue.
Phoenix, Ariz.—The Farmers' Union is on record as opposing the proposed $10,000,000 bond issue for transcontinental highways and the reclamation of arid lands, on the ground that Arizona needs good roads internally rather than costly trans-state highways for the use and benefit of tourists and further that the state is not yet sufficiently developed to warrant such enormous expenditures without more adequate provision for the manner in which the funds shall be handled should they be voted.

Ginger and Cologne in Booze Class.

Topeka, Kan.—Jamaica ginger was placed under the ban in Kansas when the State Supreme Court held that it is intoxicating, and that a druggist who sells it may be prosecuted for violation of the prohibitory law. The court also held that lemon and vanilla extracts, cologne, camphor and similar tinctures, extracts and essences, if they actually make a man drunk, are to be classed as intoxicating liquors.

Legislate Against Women's Dress.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Condemning the so-called feminist movement "because it not only pushed women forward into the vocations and activities of men, but encourages them to imitate their voice and manners and cannot fail to have a deleterious effect upon the public welfare." Dr. Frank C. Richardson of the Boston university, speaking before the convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy, declared the hope of America lies in a "renaissance of home-life and the awakening of women to the grandeur of her mission as a mother."

NEW MEXICO STATE FAIR.

Second Edition of Premium Book Necessary This Year.

Albuquerque.—For the first time in the history of the New Mexico state fair at Albuquerque, a second edition of the fair premium book has been made necessary. The premium books were issued early this year. The lists carry a total of more than $4,000 in cash prizes for agricultural and live stock displays alone, and with the best year on record on both farm and ranch, the demand from prospective exhibitors has been enormous. The new edition is now being printed and Secretary Tom Binkert at Albuquerque announces that those who desire the book should make application at once.

The fair commission is gratified at the state-wide spirit of co-operation shown this year. Every section of the state is showing lively interest in the success of the fair and especially in the exhibit departments. Fourteen county and local fairs to date have fixed their fair dates just prior to the state fair, Oct. 5 to 10, so that the pick of exhibits at the local fairs may be taken to the state exposition, and the number of individual exhibits will be double that of any previous year. The largest agricultural exhibit ever held in the state was at Albuquerque in connection with the national irrigation congress. The state fair exhibit this year is now certain to exceed that exhibit both in size and character of the exhibits.

YELLOWSTONE PARK SHORT CUT.

Final Survey of the Buffalo-Hazelton Road Nearing Completion.

Denver.—The forest service has a crew at work making final survey of the Buffalo-Hazelton road, preparatory to completing construction work begun last summer. This strip of road, crossing the Big Horn national forest, forms an important link in the Black and Yellow trail leading from Belle Fourche, South Dakota, through Sundance, Moorcroft, Gillette, Buffalo, Hazelton, Hyattville, Basin, and Cody to the east entrance of the Yellowstone national park.

Completion of forestry officials, the completion of the Buffalo-Hazelton road comprises one of the most important road projects in the national forests of the west. The successful outcome of the Black and Yellow trail is said to have depended to a great extent upon this stretch of road, leading as it does across the Big Horn mountains, and the work accomplished last year fully demonstrates the feasibility of the route. With the completion of the work this year, the Black and Yellow trail will be placed on the map.

Not only will the advantages of this road be felt along the route of the Black and Yellow trail, but by tourists from Colorado points as well. The Denver National Parks trail connects with the Black and Yellow trail at Buffalo and persons desiring a short cut to the park will have access to the Buffalo-Hazelton road across the Big Horn mountains in preference to going around by Billings.

VALUABLE HINTS FOR THE GARDENER

Machine Wheel Hoe Makes Work Real Pleasure—Hoe Is Excellent Tool for Dry Weather.

The machine wheel hoe is a great thing in the garden. It makes garden work a real pleasure if you have one of the modern combined drill and wheel-hoe arrangements. They are not costly, and not hard to operate. Any one that has a garden as big as a town lot can afford to have one, as it will save its cost the first season and will last for 20 years. You can do as much work with them as ten men with hand hoes, and do it better.

You can get the machine of any seed man and can generally get them delivered, freight paid, at the list price.

In the garden you can still plant cucumbers for pickles, late cabbage turnips, celery (plants), lettuce, radishes, beans and peas for succession, sweet corn for late market, and in fact, you can take your choice of a lot of stuff yet. White field beans do best planted the first half of June. They are a paying crop, too. Drill them in on any good ground, at the rate of from two to three pecks to the acre.

A small box of convenient height, makes a comfortable seat and may be readily moved from place to place. It saves tired knees.

The five-cent cotton gloves used by men make a cheap and effective protection for the hands, more comfortable, and more quickly adjusted than those which fit.

The hoe is a better tool in dry weather than the hose. Cabbage, onions, tomatoes and cucumbers can scarcely have the soil too rich. A rich, light loam, with a sunny slope, is an ideal spot for melons. Beans will grow on poorer soil and still thrive.

If the plants are all growing nicely do not wait for them to halt for lack of food, but dig a hole between the hills and put in some poultry-house fertilizer.

Lettuce will bear transplanting nicely, and as the plants come up they should be thinned out to five or six inches apart, or they will become weak and spindling.

A border of lettuce around the edge of the onion bed makes a dainty garnish, and proves quite a help in keeping the table supplied. Transplant at night, or on a rainy day, and keep well watered for a few days. If the roots soak in water a few hours before replanting they are much less likely to wilt.

Young beets may also be thinned and transplanted in the same way, but it is better policy to sow the rows as long as are wanted, and use the surplus for greens.

DODDER IS WORST WEED IN ALFALFA

Annual Parasitic Plant Starts From Seed in Ground—Guard Against It.

W. S. Oswald of the Minnesota experiment station says that in Western states and in some of the European countries, dodder is the worst weed found in alfalfa fields. It is an annual parasitic plant which starts from the seed in the ground and develops into a long, thread-like stem, winding itself around the alfalfa plant and sending parasitic roots or suckers into the plant. It then lives on the nourishment which should be used in developing the alfalfa plant.

Dodder has not yet secured a strong foothold in the alfalfa fields of this state, probably because alfalfa has not been raised for seed to any considerable extent. As long as alfalfa is grown only for hay, dodder should not become a very serious weed pest. However, as alfalfa will probably be grown more and more for seed each year, extreme care should be taken to secure seed which is free from dodder and to avoid the introduction of dodder into the states.

There are two dodder varieties common in alfalfa fields. The small-seeded alfalfa dodder is not as bad as the large-seeded variety, as the seed is easily separated from that of alfalfa. The seed of the large-seeded alfalfa dodder is about the same size as alfalfa seed and it is almost impossible to separate them.

CLIPPING HORSES IN THE HOT SEASON

Practise Has Proved of Great Benefit to Health and Vigor of Work Animals.

Clipping during the hot season of the year has proved of great benefit to the health, comfort and vigor of work horses, thus adding to their beauty, value and usefulness. The horse that has been idle all winter very seldom gets the grooming that he deserves, says Spirit of the West, and as a consequence, his hair grows long and thick and the pores of the skin become clogged with dust and dirt.

The change from idleness in cold weather to that of long days of hard work in rapidly advancing temperatures means a great deal of unnecessary discomfort from the heat if the horse has a thick coat. He is in about the same condition a man would be if forced to perform hard work with a heavy street coat.

Use A-1 Surface Irrigation Pipe AND SAVE YOUR WATER
Think of the Immense Loss by Seepage and Evaporation

Water cost money and wasted water is wasted money. The loss by seepage alone in dirt ditches amounts to from 1 to 50 per cent of the total water pumped per mile. In some soils over half of the water is lost before it reaches the place where it is needed. By using this pipe all the water delivered is used... there is practically no waste. Worth considering, isn't it?

WHY does our A-1 Surface Irrigation Pipe stand the hard usage to which it is subjected better than any other pipe, riveted or otherwise?

BECAUSE it is made with a lockseam set down under 3500 pounds pressure, which requires no soldering to make it water-tight. (Soldering will break loose by jarring and hard knocks.)

A-1 Pipe was awarded first prize at Fresno and Santa Clara County Fairs in 1912.

The Postmaster General has decided to construe the present incumbents commission as having expired on April 1, 1914 being four years from the appointment of his father, D. L. It is with some degree of satisfaction that the Advocate is able to furnish the above announcement to its readers this week.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for particulars, free.

TELLURIDE IS SWEEPED BY FLOOD

HUNDRED AND TWENTY BUSINESS HOUSES FILLED WITH MUD EIGHT TO TWENTY FEET DEEP.

TWO WOMEN DROWNED

HUNDRED FAMILIES MADE HOMELESS WHEN WATER WORKS DAM IS WASHED OUT.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Telluride, Colo.—Two women were drowned and a score of lives are believed to have been lost in a terrific cloudburst which caused devastation in Telluride Monday afternoon. More than 100 families, made homeless by the deluge, took refuge in public buildings.

Physicians and nurses with relief supplies are being rushed to the district from surrounding towns to care for the injured.

One hundred and twenty business houses are submerged in from eight to twenty feet of mud. Scores of homes were crushed like eggshells in the onslaught of water.

The property losses are estimated at from $150,000 to $200,000. Losses from traffic blockades, it is estimated, will add $100,000 to this.

The Cornet canon dam, the source of Telluride's water supply, was completely washed away.

Two months, it was estimated, would be required to clear away the debris of the storm and restore normal conditions.

The known dead include Mrs. E. E. Blakeley, 23, wife of a jeweler, and Mrs. John Johnson, 35, wife of a miner. Both were caught in the brunt of the cloudburst.

HOSTILE ARMIES CLASH

Serbs Battle Austrians at Belgrade's Gates While Powers Act to Keep All Europe from War.

London, July 28.—An engagement between Austrians and Servians is reported to have occurred on the banks of the Danube near Semendra, twenty-four miles south of Belgrade, but no details are available.

As far as the censorship permits to be known, Austria has not yet opened her military operations. Meanwhile diplomacy is proceeding with energy along two separate lines to avert the war if possible and if that is impossible, to localize the conflict. First, Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary of state for foreign affairs, has proposed to the powers a plan for joint mediation which, it is stated, France and Italy already have accepted. Germany has not yet replied and her acceptance is regarded as doubtful.

Sir Edward Grey explained in the House of Commons his idea, which was that the four powers, Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy cooperate in an endeavor to arrange the dispute between Austria and Servia on the basis of Servia's reply to the Austrian ultimatum. This reply he regarded as the foundation on which friendly and impartial powers should be able to arrange an acceptable settlement.

TRAGEDY CRUSHES PEACE HOPE.

Asquith Quits Plan to Amend Home Rule Measure for Ireland.

London, July 28.—The first effect of the Dublin home rule tragedy has been to smash Premier Asquith's plans for taking up the amending bill. The premier announced that the question had been indefinitely postponed.

The Irish members are so exasperated over the killing of four persons and wounding of many others in the clash between the regular troops and the nationalist volunteers that they are in no frame of mind to grant any concessions to Ulster. The laborites and many liberals support them.

The government announced in the House of Commons that Deputy Police Commissioner Harrell, who ordered out the troops, had been suspended, and that his superior commissioner, Sir John Ross, who expressed a desire to share the responsibility, has resigned his office.

Rioting broke out in Dublin again Monday night but subsided without serious results.

HUERTA QUILTS MEXICO

LEAVES FATHERLAND AS PLOTS TO KILL ARE HATCHED.

Mexican Dictator Expresses Great Admiration for American People as He Sails for Jamaica.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Puerto Mex.—Victoriano Huerta left Mexican soil Monday night, probably never to return. After open signs of mutiny had led to the arrest of three officers attempting to incite the soldiers to assassinate him, the dictator listened to the tearful entreaties of his wife and friends and capitulated, boarded the German cruiser Dresden and sailed for Jamaica.

The three men arrested were discovered in the private car of Gen. Juan Fernandez, which was coupled directly behind the car occupied by Huerta. They were attempting to arouse the soldiers of the Zaragoza brigade and Gen. Blanquet's Twenty-ninth, so that they would mutiny and assassinate Huerta.

The plotters were a lieutenant, a sergeant and a citizen who is a rebel sympathizer. They were immediately arrested and lodged in the carcel.

Huerta was advised to have them shot immediately, but he only laughed and refused to give the order. He said: "My life already has been threatened so many times that I refuse to be interested any more."

Without the slightest furor and with no touch of the dramatic except the presence along the water front of a half hundred barefoot soldiers of the Twenty-ninth regiment and the Zaragoza brigade, Huerta left the country whose destiny he has done so much to shape.

It was the irony of fate that the last view of his native land that came to him was the picture of the United States warship Tacoma representing the power of the hostile nation that forced him to abdicate his dictatorship.

With Huerta went his wife and daughters, Elena, Eva and Celia. In the party were also General and Senora Blanquet and their daughter Esperanza.

Among those who took refuge on the British cruiser Bristol were Col. and Senora Owrge Huerta and their four children; Maj. Victor Huerta and his wife; Gen. Luis Fuentes and his wife, who was Eliza Huerta; Francisco Gill and his wife, who was Eliza Huerta; and the following generals with their families: Juan Hernandez, former governor of Puebla; Augustine Breton, Liborio Fuentes, Arturo Alvarado, Jesus Rincon, Fernando Gil and Ramon Corona.

"The United States is certainly the most powerful nation on this side of the Atlantic and perhaps the most powerful in the world, and her people are entitled to the admiration of all," said Huerta. "No one knows better than I that there may be wide differences between the people and the government."

As to the immediate future of his country, General Huerta was evasive, but he did say that peace was not quite at hand.

"When real peace will come," he commented, "it is difficult to say. There must be a crisis in all diseases, physical as well as sociological. Naturally, there is due a crisis here. It may come in one month, two months, three months; but it will come."

"But will that mean intervention?" was asked.

The officers, the laboring men and all others looked at him more seriously, but with no loss of time Huerta shot back, emphatically, "No; never!"

CARRANZA ASKED IF NIAGARA PEACE DELEGATES WILL BE ACCEPTABLE.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Mexico City.—That an armistice between the government and the constitutionalists was signed Wednesday night and that hostilities will be suspended at once throughout the republic was the statement given out by General Eduardo Iturbide, governor of the federal district, in the name of President Carranza.

Governor Iturbide added that the peace negotiations will be advanced upon a basis giving full guarantees to everybody.

President Carranza informed the Brazilian minister that an arrangement had been reached whereby a conference would be held between delegates representing the government and General Carranza with the view of providing for a peaceable transfer of power.

The President wired the Carranza representatives in the United States, asking if the Mexican delegates to the recent peace conference at Niagara would be acceptable. If they are acceptable they will be given full powers by the Carranza government to make arrangements with Carranza delegates. If not acceptable, other delegates will be appointed.

Details of the meeting, it is believed here, can be arranged so that the conference can be held without delay. It is likely that the meeting will be held in Washington.

Lord mayor demands responsibility be fixed for calling out troops.

Dublin, July 27.—Three men and one woman are dead and more than sixty persons are in the hospital wounded as a result of a battalion of the King's Own Scottish borderers firing into a mob in the streets of Dublin Sunday afternoon. Seven of the wounded are dying. Among them are three women and a boy of 10.

The affray was the result of a gun-running exploit of the Nationalist volunteers, who were being aided by a mob composed largely of women and boys. A consignment of rifles, said to number 10,000, was landed at WORTH, nine miles from Dublin, from a private yacht. The Nationalist volunteers cut the telegraph wires and stopped travel on the Dublin roads, and, according to reports, sent away most of the rifles, together with 70,000 rounds of ammunition, in motor cars.

A battalion of the King's Own Scottish borderers was ordered to capture first the arms when the authorities heard the volunteers were bringing them into the city. The soldiers encountered a detachment of volunteers at Clonmel bridge and an outbreak resulted, but there was no shooting.

Soon a great crowd collected and followed the troops, jeering them and cheering for John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, and home rule. Finally the mob began throwing bottles and stones, injuring several soldiers.

To this attack the battalion replied with a scattered fusillade. In an instant the streets were covered with wounded, while terrified men, women and children ran in all directions.

St. James hospital is situated only 200 yards from the scene of the affray and the wounded were quickly taken there, where four of them died.

The soldiers and police seized a hundred rifles from the volunteers.

JUDGES MAY MEET IN DUEL.

The "Million Kisses" Letter Read in the Caillaux Case.

Paris.—Madame Henriette Caillaux, whose trial for the killing of Gaston Calmette has provided many thrills for Paris, fainted while her husband's love letters, including the "Million kisses" letter, written to her before his divorce from Madame Gueydan, were read in court. She recovered after an hour and although in the dock the remainder of the sitting seemed scarcely conscious of what was going on.

The evidence, after the love letters, wandered off into discussions by surgeons as to whether M. Calmette could have been saved by an immediate operation.

A remarkable feature of the proceedings is the quarrel which has arisen between the presiding judge of the court, Louis Albanet, and Judge Louis Dagory, one of the three other judges sitting on the bench with him, as a result of which a challenge to a duel has been sent by Judge Albanet to his colleague. Spectators and lawyers seized upon this as a toothsome morsel, differing in all respects from other sensational offerings of the trial.

GOOD ROADS

PLEA FOR WIDER ROADWAYS

Fourteen-Foot Road Will Outlast Three Nine-Foot Roads and is Much Better in Every Way.

Have not our counties and townships been wasting a good bit of our money by building 9-foot roadbeds on 24 by 20 foot wide road grades? A 24-foot wide grade is plenty wide enough for a 14-foot roadbed. Then why spoil a good grade by putting on a 9-foot road when it costs less than one-third more to make a good job of it? Fourteen feet is sufficient width for two tracks; that would mean just one-half of the wear on the road. Then we can drive so as to have a wheel on each side of the center and that makes one more track and will be equal to a 9-foot road. So you see we have three times the wearing surface on a 14-foot roadbed that we do on a 9-foot. Then we have a chance to pass other rigs without one or both going into the ditch. Now this is claiming quite a lot for one-third more expense, but I think a 14-foot road will outlast three 9-foot roads, has a handier surface and is better in every way, writes John D. De Cou in Michigan Farmer. If you come up behind a rig you have a chance to get by. If you are driving an auto you do not have to go outside of the hard roadbed and take chances on skidding into the ditch.

A 9-foot roadbed has but one track. Where the wheels run it gets packed perfectly solid and a heavy load will crush all small stones into dust, and the first auto that comes along sucks it up on the front side of the wheels and then blows it clear off the track when they let go. This doesn't seem much, but when from one to fifty or more go over the same track it soon counts. Meanwhile, the horses traveling in the center with iron-shod hoofs have kept that dug loose and it gradually works out, leaving the road low in the center where it should be high. Then when heavy rains come the ridges where the wheel tracks come hold it in and it washes down the center to the lowest level, where it runs off at the sides, cutting ditches and causing a bad chuck hole.

This road is hard to keep in repair. If you use a road grader or drag to scrape the sides to the center the wheel tracks are so solid that they will hold up the blades and you will do but little if any good. If you haul on more gravel it will not pack in the center, but keep working into the wheel tracks, making them still higher, when they are too high already. If our roads were 14 feet or more in width, then the driving would be all over the whole road, making a hard, smooth surface, and by going over once in a while with a road drag it would keep the center high, the rains would drain off at the sides and there would not be any wash down the center, and there would not be wear enough in any one place to work or crush the surface into dust to be blown off by winds or autos. You can repair a 14-foot road at any time, and it will pack and make a smooth, hard surface, for people will drive so as to hit the whole surface. But not so with a 9-foot road. They will all follow the same track, no matter how crooked the first pattern is. It will be better to build 14 feet or wider in the first place, than to build nine feet and then wider afterward, for it is hard to get a smooth, even surface, because the new gravel will work off the old, hard surface, causing a sag on each side which will have to be filled several times before it will get solid enough to match the old roadbed.

Where the dirt roads are in question the farmers need not fear any damage to the roads from the motor car. Their coming means better highways and possibly state aid in the construction of real roads of a permanent character.

To Prevent Beetle Injury.

A good way to prevent young cucumber and melon vines from the attacks of beetles is to set a box frame around the plants and cover with mosquito netting or wire screen.

GOOD TIMES COMING

Artificial Depression of Business at an End.

Approach of Boom in Country Has Forced Obstructionists to Get Out of the Way—Era of Prosperity at Hand.

The Pennsylvania railroad has ordered 100,000 tons of steel rails. This order was divided among five steel-making corporations: The steel trust, and the Pennsylvania, Cambria, Lackawanna and Bethlehem Steel companies.

The division of such an order proves that the road needs the rails in a hurry. It has held off from ordering them just as long as possible; it needs them now in rush time to take care of the increase of business which has already begun.

Part of this hold-off policy, no doubt, was due to genuine apprehension as to future legislation. More, it is to be feared, was designed to put pressure on the administration and the Interstate commerce commission, as a means of forcing favorable action on railroad demands. How long this plan of bulldozing would have been followed under ordinary conditions, no one can tell.

In this case, the near approach of a boom in business has warned obstructionists to get out of the way, and the Pennsylvania railroad is too well managed an institution to be the last to heed that warning.

"There's a good time comin', it's almost here." The prosperity special sweeping in from western farms is almost in sight. The effort to "put Wilson in a hole" by artificially prolonging the period of dull times through which the world has been passing has failed ingloriously; and now intelligent business men throughout the land are joining to promote and care for the era of progress which Wall street tried in vain to keep away.

Sees Certain Victory.

Before Norman E. Mack sailed for Europe he dictated a statement concerning the political situation. He does not believe that the Republicans and the Progressives will get together this fall or in 1916, and that in both instances, victory will be certain for the Democrats.

"When Colonel Roosevelt made his Pittsburgh speech," said Mr. Mack, "he again threw down the gauntlet to the Republican party and cleared up the entire political situation.

"As a matter of fact, it was the only thing left for Mr. Roosevelt to do unless he wanted to repudiate all his utterances from the day he arrived at the Chicago convention, two years ago, for the purpose of annihilating the Republican party, which he accomplished at that time. His Pittsburgh speech showed his intention of continuing the fight to a finish until the job is completed.

"The Republican party now is in the same condition that the Democratic party was for 16 years, except that Roosevelt expects to continue the third party in existence, which the contestants in the Democratic party did not do from 1896 to 1908."

A Question.

The United States Steel corporation now has unfilled orders ahead for more than 4,000,000 tons of its products. The figure was 3,998,169 tons on May 31, and there has been a steady increase since that date.

This is an increase of 25 per cent over the average unfilled orders during 1910 and 1911, when the Aldrich tariff was in its glory, and "prosperity" was reigning by Wall street fiat. Now, according to the same financial center, there is great "depression" in business, for which tariff and trust legislation are declared responsible.

What makes prosperity, as Wall street defines the word; actual business, like making steel, or marking stocks up and down on a blackboard?

Really Up to the Country.

Whether President Wilson is right or not in regarding the "tired feeling" of many business men as "merely psychological"—that is, existing only in their own imaginations—it is certain that the foundations of American prosperity are solid.

Good crops have always meant "good times" heretofore. Quite possibly if we could all just make up our minds to take a more cheerful view of the future we would all wake up some fine morning and find Prosperity knocking at our doors and refusing to go away unless positively kicked down the front steps.

Good Deal of a Reality.

And that resumption of full-time work by the Allegheny Steel company at Breckenridge, Pa., isn't any psychological stunt, either.—Indianapolis News.

May Trust the President.

It is a certainty that the president and his associates at the capital know more of the innermost details of situations than do their critics. This, of course, applies specially to the Mexican situation. It also applies to all the big questions for which the administration is being criticized.

Need a Little Help.

As usual, the Progressives are confident that with a little help from the Republicans and Democrats they can take charge of the government.

DAIRY FACTS

MAKE THE COWS PROFITABLE

In Place of Economizing With Feed It is Better to Give Dairy Animals a Liberal Supply.

(By G. H. GORDON.)

With good cows there must also be good feeding. The dairy cow cannot produce milk without a good supply of nourishing food from which to produce the milk. Also the food given may be very rich in feeding value but often not enough of it is fed to the cow.

Thus the cows get only food enough to maintain their bodies and very little of it goes to the production of milk.

This, of course, would be feeding at a loss when a little more food added to this would all be turned to milk as the other food has already supplied the wants of the body and this extra food is the paying food. The milk it produces pays for all the food and leaves a clear profit beside.

Therefore, can we afford to withhold this extra food and feed only enough to maintain the body? Such feeding would certainly not be profitable.

So, in place of economizing with the feed it would be better to give the cows a rich supply and get the milk which, after all, is what we are feeding for.

But there comes the question of what is a good supply of food? We might supply the cows with an unlimited amount of food, in fact we might supply them with all they can consume and still get no milk flow of worth if such food does not contain the proper nutriment.

It is not only a bulk of food that is necessary, but it is the nutritive value of the food given that counts. As concentrated foods are the richest in food value the cows should be supplied with such food as wheat bran and ground corn at least twice a day with their ration.

If the dairy is not paying there is something wrong. Either the cows are poor or the management is poor. There is a way to make it pay. Let us study our business and seek the way to make it pay.

GET MOST OUT OF DAIRYING

Keep Records, Cull Out Unprofitable Cows and Pay More Attention to Individual Feeding.

We talk about the drudgery of dairying, and it is rather a binding business, and it is the poor half of the herd that makes it so. Keep records, weed out those poor cows, pay more individual attention to the rest, feeding them up to their capacity to respond, and feed the rest of the field products to sheep or colts or steers or heifer calves, or even sell them outright. Cull out the unprofitable part of the herd and don't do it by guesswork. Some people think that they can tell by the looks of a pail how much milk there is in it. Any man who has not actually weighed or measured several milkings will be inclined to exaggerate the amount by from 25 to 50 per cent.

INCREASING WORTH OF COWS

Not Over One-Third of Dairy Animals in Ohio Produce 300 Pounds of Butter Fat Yearly.

An estimate made by the Ohio station indicates that not over one-third of the cows in that state will produce 300 pounds or more of butter fat in one year if reasonably fed. No dairyman should be satisfied until the poorest cow in his herd is capable of producing at least three hundred pounds of butter fat per annum. The estimate is further made that if all cows in the state were developed to this point the value of the increased production of butter fat would amount to approximately $17,000,000 annually, an amount equal to the value of all butter now made in the state. What is true for Ohio is equally true for the rest of the country.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

NOT ALL BEER ADVOCATES.

(From address by Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the National W. C. T. U., before the senate judiciary subcommittee, May 1.)

One of the speakers at the hearing on April 25 stated that all Germans are drinkers. We are sorry our German friends do not know that many hundreds of German women in this country are members of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, and in Germany we have a splendid following of thousands of total abstainers, banded together in a national society of abstaining women of Germany affiliated with the World's Woman's Christian Temperance union. The white-ribboners of Germany have for their president the great-grandniece of the gallant Gen. von Blucher, who led the allied forces with Wellington in the famous battle of Waterloo.

We are surprised that our German friends did not allude to the most conspicuous figure in the fatherland, Emperor Wilhelm, whose good advice to the naval cadets to let alcohol alone has everywhere been noted and commended. Evidently the kaiser believes as we do, that the naval defenders of a great country must be total abstainers if they are to reach the necessary degree of efficiency in service.

The gentleman also asserted that Von Moltke was a drinker. We know that he was a total abstainer. Von Moltke said, "Beer is far more dangerous to Germany than all the armies of France." Our German friends claimed that beer has great food value. Germany's famous chemist and scientist, Liebig, many years ago declared "There is more nourishment in the amount of flour that can be held on the blade of a knife than there is in a quart of the best Bavarian beer."

All Germans do not agree with the speaker that beer should not be classed with alcoholic liquors. "It is just this precious beer," writes Dr. Max Gruber, president of the Royal Institute of Hygiene at Munich, "which lowers the intellectual capacity and willpower of thousands and thousands of people and makes them old before their time, ruins stomach, liver, heart, and brain; brings them into the porthouse and prison, hospital and asylum, and early puts them under the earth."

BOGUS ARGUMENT.

From Neah down, men have used and abused intoxicants, but that signifies nothing whatever. From Noah down, men have done all sorts of fool things, and as to some of the things have gradually learned that they were follies and so eschewed them. George Washington drank rum before breakfast. There is no more reason for sticking to George's rum than for cupping and bleeding patients for every illness. That normal human nature does not need alcohol we know from the millions of men and women who do without it—and female human nature has always been able to subsist without getting drunk. The historical argument is bogus. The moderate drinker need not be considered at all; for if a man is truly a moderate drinker, alcohol is of such slight account to him that its presence or absence can make no difference.—Saturday Evening Post.

PROSPERITY A-PLenty.

"No place for the calamity howler," says former Lieutenant Governor Newlands, speaking of temperance in North Carolina. "The state is enjoying the greatest prosperity in every line of business it has ever known. If Coxey's army ever crosses its borders it will get no further. Manufacturers and farmers in North Carolina need men to turn out their products and to help harvest their crops. There is no excuse for a single one being idle when every opportunity is presented and induced heid out to laborers, both skilled and unskilled. We are going to have bumper crops in the state this year, and the people are willing to pay good wages for help, because they have the money to do so."

BRUBACKER'S OBJECTION.

"Jesus made wine." So he did—made it out of water—just water, nothing else. And when our big brewers make their beer out of the same ingredient—and nothing else—they may put my picture and my signature on every bottle. But as long as they put in cedar shavings and cannabis indica blossoms and acetic ether and sulphuric acid they can't use my picture. But my friend says 96 per cent of beer is water. That's true, and if the 96 per cent of water could be drawn off 96 men couldn't make you drink what's left.—Wm. A. Brubacker.

A GOOD SHOWING.

The census figures for 1910 show that for the whole country the average number of prisoners committed to penal institutions was 552 per 100,000 population. The number committed in prohibition Kansas was 196 per 100,000, while in license Nebraska the number was 485 per 100,000. In the average commitments per 100,000 for every state in the Union, only two other states are lower than Kansas—North Carolina and North Dakota, both prohibition states.

MRS. BROWN'S SAD CASE

POOR IN WORLDLY GOODS, SHE DEFENDS HONOR.

Is in Jail Charged With Shooting "Doc" Reed, a Guadalupe Ranchman, Who Forced Attention Upon Her.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Carlsbad, N. M.—Deeply pathetic and appealing is the case of Mrs. C. L. Brown of the Guadalupe mountains, in jail, hysterical, three little children depending on her, for an offense which appears to have consisted solely in the defense of her honor. Although poverty-stricken and supported only by an invalid husband who ekes out an existence for his family by selling wood, Mrs. Brown appears to have considered she had one priceless treasure worth fighting for—her honor.

Mrs. Brown is charged with shooting with a revolver and killing "Doc" Reed, a ranchman in the Guadalupe, who, she says, came to her home while she and her children were left alone, her husband being on the way to Carlsbad with a burro train of wood to sell. Reed, it is said, had previously, even after he married, harassed the woman with his unwelcome attentions, and when, taking advantage of the absence of her husband, he appeared to press his amours again upon her she became frightened and shot him.

She took her three little children and went to the home of Fred Schermeyer, a mile away, and only other near neighbor. She found only the children at home. Next morning a man came. She told him she had shot Reed and they went to the Schermeyer camp. When they reached the Brown home they found "Doc" Reed dead near the bed. Mrs. Brown was brought to jail here.

The Brown family is absolutely stranded and has no means of defense in court, but attorneys volunteered their services. District Attorney G. K. Scott arrived from Roswell, but no time was set for the preliminary hearing. There were no witnesses to the killing and apparently the woman can make out a case of self-defense.

Small Boy Shot at Twining.

Taos.—The killing of William Frazier by Jack Bidwell here came near being a double tragedy. Tommy Holder, son of Tom Holder, was standing nearby when the two men fired at each other and the bullet which passed through the body of Frazier also hit the boy in the left side. A fragment was deflected and the boy sustained two broken ribs and numerous flesh wounds.

Brown Cattle Ranch Sold for $25,000.

Fort Sumner.—James E. Brown has sold his cattle ranch, located five or six miles northeast of Fort Sumner, and about 350 head of cattle, to Sidney W. F. and M. M. Pitt and C. M. Davenport of Roswell. Mr. Brown had sold his steer herd earlier in the season between 7,000 and 8,000 acres of dead and leased land went in the deal. The price paid for the cattle and land was $25,000.

To Ship Fifty Car Loads of Peaches.

Farmington.—There is no doubt that Foley brothers of this place will be able to carry out their intention of filling an order for fifty car loads of peaches from the Farmington district—a rather striking proof of the importance and possibilities of the San Juan fruit country. This will bring in $15,000 for local growers in the middle of the fruit season.

New Trial for Garcia.

Santa Fé.—U. S. District Judge William H. Pope has granted a new trial to San Juan Garcia, the Indian convicted of killing Albert T. Leeds.

Slain Man Found in Woman's Home.

Albuquerque.—J. W. Reed, an Angora goat breeder in the Guadalupe mountains, forty miles southwest of Carlsbad, was killed, and Mrs. A. M. Brown, wife of a mountaineer, was lodged in jail in Carlsbad in connection with the killing. Reed was found dead on the floor of the Brown woman's home. He had been shot through the heart.

Changes at State College.

Santa Fé.—The department of education has been informed that Dr. George Ladd of the State college has returned to Mesilla Park after an extensive trip east during which he engaged a number of new members for the faculty. He also brought home two of his sons, who have been attending school in the East.

Leandro Armenta Recaptured.

Estancia.—Leandro Armenta, who was indicted about 18 months ago on a charge of attempted rape, was captured at Chilli a few days ago by Deputy Sheriff Robinson and is now in the county jail.

Fatal Duel Over Mining Claim.

Taos, N. M.—As the result of a bitter dispute over a mining claim, one of the well known Frazier groups, William Frazier, was shot and almost instantly killed by Jack Bidwell, one of his partners, at Twining.

Boy's Face Torn When Horse Bolts.

Hope.—Marion Teel, a son of Mayor E. M. Teel, was thrown from his horse on his father's ranch a few miles west of town, and bruised up pretty badly.

Delicious ice cream, cake and lemonade were served by the hostess.

Mr. Sharp's family expect to leave about the 1st of September for Cawker City, Kansas, where they expect to make their future home. Mr. Sharp is already in business at that place. A Remarkable Feature That Will Be Appreciated by All of Our Readers.

War-infested Mexico is a subject in which every American is intensely interested. It is safe to say that there are but few who really understand what has occasioned the years of fighting and devastation that has attracted the attention of the entire world.

Dane Coolidge in his remarkable story, "The Land of Broken Promises," gives an insight into the conditions in Mexico, and some of the fundamental causes of the numerous revolutions in such a way as to make the story appreciated not only by those who like stirring fiction, but by those who like information.

Coolidge has in the past, written some truly remarkable stories of the southwest, a section with which he is particularly familiar. His "Hidden Water," "The Fighting Fool," and "The Texican," are classed as masterpieces of this type of fiction. He is a naturalist of international reputation and has performed valuable work in the southwestern states and in Mexico for the British museum, for the United States government, for the national museums of Italy and France, and for a number of the states and cities.

"The Land of Broken Promises" is his latest and by far his best work, and we feel that we are fortunate in being able to secure it for serial publication in our columns.
