A Few Opinions

ARTICLES in this column are furnished by citizens of Artesia and Vicinity. They are intended for the betterment of our condition and no foolishness will be tolerated. We extend an invitation for a contribution to this column by any citizen who has good intentions for the betterment of our surrounding. The authors names will not be published. The origin of all articles must be known by the editor to appear in this column.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH ARTESIA?

Nothing that I know of, and I have been there many times. Some of her people may lack pep, optimism and understanding of other places and many have banked too much on oil and not enuf on agriculture.

I was born in California and have been in every county in the state. I have also been once around the world and in almost every state of Union. After several summers and a few winters in the Pecos Valley I can truthfully say that it has as fine a climate, month in and month out, as any in the world. The bare fact that one can work out of doors without discomfort 365 days a year is an advantage hard to estimate. The fact that you have a climate and soil that will produce a diversity of crops is another big advantage. The fact that farmers in the Pecos Valley can raise two or more crops a year gives them a great advantage over the majority of agriculturists.

We must remember that this is an "off" year for all kinds of business and for farmers in particular. When we recall that in many places, where the soil and climate will only permit of one crop, and that limited to the hardy cereals, the present low prices brings real calamity and hardship.

In many places where land sells for $200 to $300 per acre, farmers are getting 20 cents a bushel for oats and 20 bushels to the acre—less than the bare cost of plowing and seeding. The same is true of the corn states. Now they are getting ready to shovel snow and coal until the late spring.

Near Artesia I have known of a man getting $1000 an acre for his onions. There is always a ready market at a fair price for your alfalfa hay. Tomatoes are a fine crop and with better canning facilities a few acres in this succulent fruit or vegetable will pay the expenses of the average farm. The very best celery I ever ate was grown near Artesia. I know of farmers in your vicinity raising 20 to 25 tons of Japanese Cane to the acre, and it is one of the best rough feeding crops now known.

In short—any man who is willing to work and will use common horse sense, can make a good living and be independent on a small farm, and they are easy to get hold of. When we think of the five million unemployed in the United States, and the famine, drouth, epidemics and despair of other countries, it seems that the average citizen can thank his lucky stars when he finds himself in good health in the Pecos Valley. If the people of the United States knew as much of this valley and the rest of the country as I do, there would be an exodus for the south—would have a new population of west and in 30 days the Valley 100,000 and Artesia be the very center of things. The truth is mighty and will prevail, and time will bring these things to the attention of the world. In the meantime every man woman and child should boost—BOOST.

Sincerely,
VIRGIL MOORE.

A VERY VITAL QUESTION.

Is the physical location for or against a town? Did you ever ask yourself this question with regard to your own little city, "Artesia?" Situated as we are forty-five miles south and a little east of Roswell, thirty-seven miles north and west of Carlsbad; seventy miles almost due west from Lovington, and twenty two miles from Hope directly west, we have the making of the best city in the Pecos Valley, barring none. You may ask on what I base my opinions, well to begin with, were you ever accosted by any tourist from the eastern states and asked this one question: "Which is the better route from here to El Paso?" now really what did you tell him? "Well I believe your best route would be via Roswell west to Alamogordo or some other seaport thence south into El Paso, or we have a pretty fair road south by the way of Carlsbad, on down by Pecos and on to El Paso." Now isn't it a shame that we cannot say to this inquisitor, "Sure thing, just you beat it straight west from here by the way of Hope, on through by the Y O crossing (the only practical route across the mountain divide) then southwesterly into the Pass city." May I ask why this is so? And let me make a little prediction right here and that is, if we don't wake up to the realization of the matter rest assured that the city north of us will eventually make the Y O crossing their objective for a direct route into El Paso.

Now another pertinent question arises: How many west bound transcontinental or otherwise, tourists who arrive at Lovington (and they are many) are directed by way of Artesia? Did you ever stop to think of it? May I ask why this is so or may I tell you why it is so. It is one of the rottenest pieces of highway that any individual is ever asked to traverse. A great many of us remember that a few years ago there was a great amount of money expended by State, County and even individuals to make a passable road to link up with Lovington. May I ask if this road is maintained by either State, County or individuals? The answer is TOO EASY, and you further realize that we have all the necessary facilities to make this one of the best roads in New Mexico. And again may I ask if you realize the amount of money that has in very recent years been expended to the east and to the west of Roswell? Was this money spent for the fun of spending or did they have an objective in view? Tourists is the answer to this riddle. Now then do they have any smarter men than here or are they real town boosters?

At the present writing we are expending money on a very needed highway between this place and Hope and say why can't we as a collective body bring sufficient pressure to bear on the proper authorities and have this road linked up both east and west with a decent road of travel? By so doing we could induce the traveling public to visit our little city who would otherwise never know that we were on the map, and besides we could give them a hard surface road for practically its entire length. Are we equal to the emergency or are we not?

You further realize that there is a bare possibility of our procuring Federal aid in establishing a dam across the Penasco above Hope to take care of the vast amount of flood waters that have heretofore been almost a complete waste, and by so doing, it would put into a high state of cultivation thousands of acres of the most fertile valley lands that at this time are a barren waste, and did you also realize that at such an elevation as the proposed project, there is scarcely an acre of land between our city and Hope that could not be put under an irrigation project? And do you tell me that these things have nothing to do with the physical location of our town? Now honest isn't the location of Artesia almost ideal?

I further desire to call your attention to the Cottonwood valley destined to become one of the finest agricultural centers of our state, and is it not tributary to Artesia, another assets that contributed to the physical location of our city.

And last but not least by any means, we have some of the best business houses, Schools, Churches, and residence property of any town in the state barring none. In fact we have properties that would be a credit to towns of three to five times the present population of our city and yet we are in a semi-dormant state (or some other state of mind).

Could I only command that you should not have these things I have mentioned, you would see me in Hades or some other seaport and would have them or burst a button off in the attempt which would remind me of the boy who was told that fire would burn, or that a bee could sting; did he get burnt or stung? The answer is obvious!

There is a sure remedy for this. Water, Lights, Sewer system, Optimism and go-and-getive-ness, then COMATOSE state and that is Paving, and not until then can we adopt this slogan, "Watch Artesia Grow."

Now then should there be any one who takes the adverse side of the question that there is nothing to the physical location of our town, don't come and jump on me with both feet, (especially during business hours) but reduce your thoughts to writing and deliver them to the editor who will give you full publicity, provided however your denunciations are not too vile for print.

Respectfully submitted,

ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO

August 18, 1921.

Mr. J. H. Jackson,
Artesia, New Mexico.

Dear Mr. Jackson:

We are enclosing copy of a brief petition to the city council. You understand, of course, that this is merely a request to the city council to put the machinery in motion and that the city council has full authority to go ahead even without this petition.

We certainly hope Artesia is successful in her paving program and we assure you that no substantial citizen in the paved district in Roswell would give it up for all the cost and more.

Yours very truly,
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
By CLAUDE SIMPSON,
Secretary.

EIGHT YOUNG MEN DEPART

Tuesday evening eight young men departed on the evening Santa Fe passenger for other parts of the country trying to fine work. Artesia is losing its population of young men. Why because we are not furnishing jobs for them. Some want to pave our streets to make work this winter and we are meeting with very good success. But some are doing all in their power to retard the progress of this needed improvement and we think they should be more liberal with their views. As our State Engineer L. A. Gillett said "during times of depression is the time to get the money for improvement and spend it to make work as well as improvement." Several thousand dollars spent on our streets this winter will make work for hundreds as well as make business good. The little cost to each property owner on Main street is so small in a ten year payment that we believe if the parties opposed to such improvement will investigate they will be convinced of the proposed advancement of our city.

OIL NEWS.

Drilling operations are progressing nicely in the Artesia district and interesting developments are expected at any time.

The Lincoln No. 1 has resumed operations and the management is hopeful of getting the pay in the next three hundred feet.

The Kansas-New Mexico No. 2 set the six inch casing and cut off the water. After drilling 60 feet deeper encountered more water and they are now rigging up to pull the casing, rim out the hole and reset under the water. The showings struck in this well are very encouraging.

The Sunshine No. 2 well is waiting on 8 inch casing which they will set before resuming drilling.

The Kansas-New Mexico No. 1 expect to resume operations in the next thirty days and drill the well to the Queen sand.

LEGION DANCE.

The local post of the American Legion announces a dance to be given at the I. O. O. F. Hall next Wednesday evening, August 31. Music will be furnished by the four piece jazz orchestra from Hagerman, who played at the dance given by this organization two weeks ago. The Legionnaires have rented the Odd Fellows Hall and will give two dances a month through the winter months. A Legion orchestra is now busy rehearsing and will furnish music for the "hops" after the one next Wednesday.

The Clarence Kepple Post of the American Legion, No. 41, of Artesia, New Mexico, wishes to extend a vote of thanks to the Artesia Advocate and its editor, Mr. J. R. Hoffman, for the interest shown and taken in this Post of the American Legion as well as the interest shown in Artesia's welfare along the line of her past and present public improvements.

The Clarence Kepple Post heartily indorse the stand taken by The Advocate and its agitations for a bigger and better Artesia, and The American Legion is willing and ready at all times to cooperate with The Advocate in whatsoever undertakings it may from time to time deem advisable to pursue.

POST ADJUTANT FRED COLE. (The above was adopted by The American Legion in a regular meeting and was passed by a unanimous vote.)

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sasser and son, Duffy, returned Tuesday from a visit in Northeastern New Mexico and the Panhandle of Texas. They went by auto. A visit to Hereford, Plainview and Amarillo convinced Mr. Sasser of the necessity of paved streets, etc., for the up-building of a town. He says in these towns they are building houses, constructing business houses and otherwise making little cities out of them. He says Clovis has 72 blocks of pavement under contract at the present time.

AUTO ACCIDENT.

Mr. Branson, a young man who is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bill Arnold, on the ranch southwest of Artesia, met with an accident near the McFadden place on Monday afternoon. His car turned completely over but fortunately the young man, as well as the machine, was not seriously injured.

IT MATTERS NOT.

W. R. Hornbaker.
(Copyrighted 1921.)

It matters not when I go "west"
How sweet the flowers on my breast.
How white the lilies that you lay
About my poor, unworthy clay,
Because this temple soon will rot;
It matters not.

It matters not how sad the song,
How brief the sermon nor how long,
How sweet the words of eulogy
My earthy friends may speak o'er me;
Nor yet how neatly kept my lot;
It matters not.

It matters not what costly stones
May mark the place where rest my bones,
Nor what inscription's cut thereon,
It matters not when I am gone—
Through winters cold and summer's hot;
It matters not.

But if some flowers you'd bestow
Slip them my way before I go.
And if approval's in your heart
'Twere better said before we part,
For when I'm cold upon my cot;
It matters not.

EDITOR AND MRS. S. L. PERRY LOSE BABY GIRL.

It is with sorrow we chronicle the sad news of the death of little Jean, two-year-old daughter of Editor and Mrs. Perry of the Carlsbad Current. Mr. and Mrs. Perry have the sympathy of the Advocate fraternity in this their sad bereavement.

BOND ISSUE DISCUSSED.

State Engineer L. A. Gillett spoke to a number of citizens of Artesia and vicinity at the Elrose Airdome Monday evening.

Mr. Gillett stated that to complete the good roads program the bond issue must carry at the election next month. If this bond issue carries there will be two state highways built each way across the state, one coming down from Clovis through Artesia to the state line south of Carlsbad thence to Van Horn on to El Paso. He further stated that the Culberson county, Texas commissioners had promised to build the road on to Van Horn.

The government aid cannot be turned down by defeating this bond issue and we believe that it should carry for the good of our state. Mr. Gillett stated that the time to spend money is when times are hard, as now—and get the money through a bond issue.

He stated the proposed hard surfacing of the road between Artesia and Lakewood could not be done until the money was available and the money must be obtained through the bond issue. Said, the reason the change of the proposed surfacing of this road was, that the north end of the county had received more money for roads than the south, that being the reason Carlsbad "got the Grapes"—so.

One good argument for good roads was that during 1920 25,000 tourists traversed the state and that the average expenditure was $20 per day for each car. That when the road was completed from Clovis down the Valley to the south state line the Valley would get practically all the winter tourists, through El Paso to the coast, on account of the mild winters on this route.

In all the people seemed to be well pleased with Mr. Gillett's talk and there is not much doubt about the bonds carrying at the election next month.

Joe Wertheim, formerly a merchant of this city now a cotton buyer at Carlsbad passed through Artesia early last Saturday morning en route to the Shriners meeting in Roswell. He was delayed an hour or so here having new springs put on his car which were broken on that "best road in the county."

Word has been received here that Mrs. A. V. Stewart passed away at her home at Parma, Mo., on Friday, the 19th, instant. Mrs. Stewart, with her young daughter, Freda, had spent the winter here. Her husband came to accompany her home, where she arrived only a few days before the end came.

County Commissioner Watson attended the Good Roads meeting here Monday.

SCHOOL STARTS SEPTEMBER FIFTH

School will open September 5th. The High School office is open each morning from nine until twelve o'clock for the convenience of pupils and patrons. Examinations and other routine office work are carried on daily.

Freshmen and sophomores are requested to come to High School on September first for enrollment and classification and Juniors and Seniors are requested to come on September second from nine until twelve a. m.

Very few books used in the High School last year will be changed and if pupils who left books, note books and tablets at the High School will ask for these they will find they have been carefully put away by a janitor who has been more provident than the pupils. Each year from fifty to one hundred dollars worth of books are carelessly left in the school buildings.

The American public is as wasteful about school books as they are protestant about a change in the established order of things.

The following teachers have been employed for this year:

High School.
Mr. De Witte T. Niel, Principal.
Miss Anna Mae Kemp, English.
Mrs. Mabel Eiffer, Commercial.
Chas. H. Rhinehart, Mathematics.
Jean McCaleb, Latin and History.

CLEANUP SQUAD TO INVADGE ARTESIA

All ex-service men in the vicinity of Artesia having claims pending with the government or other benefits due through service, are urgently requested to get in touch with officers of the local post of the American Legion relative to making arrangements for attending the meeting of the Clean-up Squadron operated by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance with the American Insurance with the American Legion cooperating. In addition to these men with pending claims, all former service men who may have claims not yet presented are urged to bring them up at this time when an exceptional opportunity for prompt action is offered.

The Squadron is due to reach Artesia this week but has been delayed. Local officers of the Legion will try and notify every service man in the vicinity of Artesia the exact date they will be in Artesia.

The Clean-up Squadron will be composed of six officials, representing the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, The American Red Cross, and the American Legion. A representative of the Vocational Education Board also will be with the squadron.

It is planned to clean up all delayed cases, and handle promptly all new cases in this vicinity.

MARTIN—CLEVE.

The marriage of Miss Tillie Martin and Mr. Bernard Cleve was solemnized in Carlsbad last Saturday morning at eleven o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, the pastor, Rev. Geo. H. Givan, performing the ceremony, which was witnessed by the bride's sister, Miss Opal Martin and Mrs. Harold Keinath, of Artesia, and Mrs. Will Ed Carter of Carlsbad.

The bride was charmingly gowned in a blue traveling suit and wore a corsage bouquet of rosebuds.

The happy couple left for a two week's honeymoon trip during which they will visit El Paso, Juarez and various points of interest, after which they will be at home at Elk, where the Cleves have extensive ranch interests and where Miss Tillie was teacher of the school last winter.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

It's Mercury! Attacks the Bones, Salivates and Makes You Sick.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tonic, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—Advertisement.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE LIFE

A Dangerous Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass

Practical Suggestions Given by the Women Whose Letters Follow

Afton, Tenn.—"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. During the Change of Life I was in bed for eight months and had two good doctors treating me but they did me no good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and in a short time I felt better. I had all kinds of bad spells, but they all left me. Now when I feel weak and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound and it always does me good. I wish all women would try it during the Change of Life for I know it will do them good. If you think it will induce some one to try the Vegetable Compound you may publish this letter."—Mrs. A. KELLER, Afton, Tenn.

Mrs. Mary Lister of Adrian, Mich., adds her testimony to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to carry women safely through the Change of Life. She says:

"It is with pleasure that I write to you thanking you for what your wonderful medicine has done for me. I was passing through the Change of Life and had a displacement and weakness so that I could not stand on my feet and other annoying symptoms. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the first bottle helped me, so I got more. It cured me and I am now doing my housework. Your medicine is certainly woman's friend and you may use this testimonial as you choose."—Mrs. MARY LISTER, 608 Frank Street, Adrian, Mich.

It is said that middle age is the most trying period in a woman's life, and owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand passes through this perfectly natural change without experiencing very annoying symptoms.

Those smothering spells, the dreadful hot flashes that send the blood rushing to the head until it seems as though it would burst, and the faint feeling that follows, as if the heart were going to stop, those sinking or dizzy spells are all symptoms of a nervous condition, and indicate the need for a special medicine.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a root and herb medicine especially adapted to act upon the feminine system. It acts in such a manner as to build up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass this trying period with the least possible annoying symptoms.

Women everywhere should remember that most of the common ailments of women are not the surgical ones—they are not caused by serious displacements or growths, although the symptoms may be the same, and that is why so many apparently serious ailments readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it acts as a natural restorative and often prevents serious troubles.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

SIMPLE SILK FROCKS THAT ARE INVITING FOR LEISURE HOURS

TAFETA has accounted for the majority of the summer's silk frocks used alone and in combination with other materials. Foulard is well represented, but hardly ever alone, nearly always in the company of georgette crepe. These with crepe de chine, are written in this history of the styles as all of equal importance and have been made into simple frocks and more elaborate gowns whose days of usefulness are long drawn out. The shipler silk frocks, and especially those of taffeta, are a joy, summer and winter, the most adaptable and versatile of belongings.

"Anytime"—"anywhere" say these frocks—so long as it's a good time and pleasant where.

Two of the least pretentious of these silken invitations to pleasant leisure hours are shown above. Foulard, for once unassisted by other materials, justifies its faith in itself in the frock at the left. Designers apparently make a plain, straight skirt in these dresses because they must, and a tunic because they wish to. The bodice has a square neck and three-quarter length sleeves whose cuffs are edged with plaited frill of the silk. Even the sash is made of the foulard and is draped with a loop at the left side and loop with long end at the right.

The black taffeta at the right, for immediate wear, has a plain bodice with a wide collar edged by a ruffle of narrow white ribbon. The tunic on this frock, as on the other one, is open at the front. It is elaborated with embroidery in white silk and bordered by a flounce edged with the ribbon. Colors, as blue or green, might be substituted for white in the decoration. As usual, in these frocks, there is a chemise of lace and the sleeves are three-quarter length, and familiar these details are, they maintain their unusual charm.

The beloved frock of taffeta has a rival in that of crepe de chine. Each can hold any pace kept by the other although they are as different as can be—taffeta crisp and sprightly, georgette supple and aristocratic.

FALL HATS MAKE THEIR DEBUT AND IN CHARMING VARIETY

THERE is nothing like a new hat to cheer up the sad hearts of women who must regretfully put behind them the summer's adorable millinery. But the first frost, even the first hint of frost, is the death knell of late summer hats—they are pathetic in anything but balmy, not to say tropic, air, and now the cool September is within hailing distance.

Above, a group of hats for early fall wear, cheerfully undertakes to make us forget our summer loves, and will certainly succeed. Glancing over them one may gather the salient features of the new modes—their hand-made elegance, their subtle and conservative lines, the beauty of the fabric used—including duvetyn and similar suede-like surfaces, moire, satin, velvet of the panne and plain varieties. Above all we are captivated by embellishments which are revealed in familiar and unfamiliar decorations. And when it comes to ornaments—they are fanciful, endlessly original, even amusing. When you make a little journey into the shops don't be surprised if you find unheard-of things, in miniature, in sports and outdoor hats. A butter paddle, a back comb, a few golf sticks and a ball or two unexpectedly reposing among simulated fruits and foliage. "It is to laugh"—and buy them immediately—for the new shapes are, above all, becoming.

Here are four of them for immediate wear. At the top a fabric hat with stitched brim and a bell-crown—especially becoming to slender faces. A motif of embroidery and beads adorn it. To the left an off-the-face shape utilizes a ruching of narrow ribbon in a scroll design on its brim and its companion at the right sparkles with square cellophane plaques and beads. The demure and elegant poke-bonnet shape has a typical crown of the new season, large and indented and a gracious brim. Chenille fruits and foliage add to its richness.

After Thorough Trial a Detroit, Mich., Man Endorses Pe-ru-na

The following letter written from Detroit, Michigan is no snap judgment expressed on the merits of Pe-ru-na, the well-known cathartic remedy, but rather a mature, sober opinion formed after a full year's trial.

This is the way Mr. Michael Fako of 100 East Palmer Avenue, in the Michigan Metropolitan, writes: "After using PE-RU-NA for about one year I say I have found it a very good medicine for catarrh. It has helped me a great deal and I am very well satisfied. I have gained in weight, eat and sleep well, my bowels are regular and better color in my face."

"PE-RU-NA has done wonders and to me it is worth its weight in gold. I shall continue to use PE-RU-NA as long as I live and recommend to my friends who are troubled with catarrh."

Insect Carries Bacteria.
It appears that infection-spreading must be added to disastrous voracity in our indictment of the striped cucumber beetle. The United States Department of Agriculture finds that the bacteria of cucumber-leaf wilt are carried in the jaws of this beetle, and in the intestinal tract may survive the insect's hibernation, prepared to attack the first leaf of spring. This is the first time insects have been known to carry bacteria through the winter.

Western Canada Land of Prosperity

offers to home seekers opportunities that cannot be secured elsewhere. The thousands of farmers from the United States who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on FREE homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops. There is still available on easy terms Fertile Land at $15 to $30 an Acre—land similar to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—oats, barley and flax also in great abundance, while raising horses, cattle, sheep and hogs is equally profitable. Hundreds of farmers in Western Canada have raised crops in a single season worth more than the whole cost of their land. With such success comes prosperity, independence, good homes and all the comforts and conveniences which make life worth living.

Improved Lawn Mower.

A lawn mower that will successfully cut the grass on the incline of a terrace and that will not require its operator to pull it up and down, nor run up and down the grass bank himself, is described in Popular Mechanics Magazine. In construction the new device does not differ greatly from the old-style lawn mower. Instead of the stationary handle, the new machine has a pivoted handle set on a toothed quadrant. By lifting a stop pin from between the teeth of the quadrant, and setting it to the desired point, the mower is brought into an angular position relative to the operator, so that he can cut a lengthwise swath on the slope without leaving the ground level.

AMUSED HIS NAVAL HOSTS

Lawmaker Eminently Justified His Reputation as a Man of Some Eccentric Doings.

One of the new members of the house of representatives, who is regarded as a somewhat eccentric person, was a continual source of amusement aboard a transport on her trip to the bomb-dropping experiments off the Virginia capes. Examining an instrument aboard the vessel, and being informed it was a range finder, he inquired how far it would shoot. Being loaned a telescope to make a better examination of the battleship Iowa, he looked through the big end instead of the little one and then complained he could not see anything. He followed this with a denunciation of a naval policy which permitted the purchase of such useless things.

But the thing that interested some of his colleagues most was the fact that he brought no baggage aboard, not even a toothbrush, so far as anybody could find out.
"Why should I bring any baggage?" he asked. "We're only going to be gone four days aren't we?"—Brooklyn Eagle.

Metal and Paper Money.

Only gold coins are worth their face value by reason of the gold in them at the world rate of $20.67 an ounce. Silver and other coins do not have metal in them that equals their face value. Their value is depreciated by an over issue of paper currency, as has generally occurred in European countries, and by the demand for American dollars in bill of exchange to pay for American exports which have been greatly in excess of American imports. Under more normal conditions the demand for bills of exchange in America and other countries about balance, and keep most issues of money at a parity.

HOME TOWN HELPS

IN FIGHT FOR CIVIC BEAUTY

Commercial Interests of Kansas City Unite for War on Billboards on Boulevards.

The commercial interests of Kansas City have gone on record as enemies of the "uglies."

The city planning and public buildings committee of the chamber of commerce adopted a resolution, taking a definite stand against "the encroachment of either filling stations or billboards on the city's boulevards and homes."

The resolution stated that the chamber members are heartily in accord with and desire to lend their moral support to the joint resolution of the two houses of the council to the effect that filling stations and billboards should not be permitted to destroy the effect of Kansas City's boulevard system.

After a protracted discussion the committee declared in favor of a "local option" on the uglies. By that was meant that each neighborhood be permitted to decide whether billboards or filling stations should be allowed to locate in that vicinity. The residents whose homes are within view, or within close proximity of the ugly, should have a voice in denying or permitting its location, the committee members believed.

Billboards in certain localities are not objectionable if properly constructed and lighted, in the opinion of the committee. But their place is not in residence neighborhoods or on boulevards, they agreed.

WAR ON INDUSTRIAL UNREST

"Community Service" Idea Is Spreading, for Many Good and Substantial Reasons.

"Community Service, Incorporated" shortly will take its place as a definite factor in the industrial life of Illinois.

This announcement comes through Maj. A. A. Sprague, chairman of the executive financial committee for Illinois. Organization has been completed for Illinois and the plans for the establishment of the work are under way.

The aim of Community Service is to improve living and leisure conditions that through their development a peaceful, settled and contented community atmosphere will prevail and industrial unrest to a great degree be removed.

The work of the organization has passed the experimental stage. It has been found to be a very solid and substantial success in the big industrial communities of Bethlehem and Chester, Pa. The main work of Community Service is the solution of the leisure hour problem. A trained organizer will be sent to various communities to study conditions and make a survey of the social and recreational life, determining what is most needed and most desirable for the occupation of the leisure hours of the community, and then assisting them to provide and build up a service system for themselves.

House Painting.

When the home owner's thoughts turn to house painting problems Californians, particularly, begin to wonder what color will be best for the movies. A location director for motion pictures in Hollywood, Cal., says that white houses are almost impossible for use in motion pictures and he hopes the people within the area of the picture industry will use neutral or dark shades when they do their house painting.

"Darker shades are more agreeable to the eye than those of dazzling whiteness," so this movie director says, "and they photograph better, in addition to blending with the natural colors of the landscape."
All-white houses are also hard on the eyes.

Beauty Not Matter of Expense.

Beautiful grounds need not be expensive. The loveliest flowers and plants that ever grew are found in the woods and along the banks of streams, in fence corners, and in fields and shady nooks. They are yours for the digging. What is rarer or prettier than a bed of wild violets and ferns in a shady spot near the house? Plant generously of perennials, so that they will bloom and grow year after year with little time and attention and give stability to your landscape effects.

Willie Had a Reason.

Willie Hopkins is only ten years old, but, strange to tell, he brushes his own hair and washes his ears without parental coercion. It must be admitted that Willie just started this most uncommon practice within the last few days. The young man's mother was dumfounded when she walked into his room and found him plastering down his hair with a brush.

"You're a very good boy," she said. "How did you come to think of brushing your hair and washing your face?"
Willie looked sheepish and then replied: "Mary Brown told me I was good looking!"—New York Sun.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcels post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. POWER DAM TO BE CONSTRUCTED NEAR DEXTER.

Preliminary work on the construction of a large power dam across the Pecos river, southeast of Dexter, is rapidly taking shape. Soundings of the river in this vicinity have been completed and at the location which has been decided upon tentatively it has been found that a solid rock foundation may be secured at a depth of eleven feet.

A concrete dam some 500 feet in length and 20 feet in height is proposed, and it is estimated that with a normal flow of water at this point a minimum of several thousand horse-power can be developed.

The need for such power is becoming more and more apparent as the development of this section of the valley proceeds. At least two towns and possibly three, Dexter, Hagerman and probably Artesia, can be furnished light and power from this project more cheaply and in greater quantity.

In addition to this there are hundreds of pumping plants in the lower valley, furnishing water for irrigation which have felt the need of some such source of power supply.—Roswell Record.

BUY A BOND AND BOOST BURSUM SLOGAN COINED BY DEMOCRATS; EX-SERVICE MAN IS CHAIRMAN.

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 19.—Col. J. D. Atwood, Roswell, elected permanent chairman of the democratic convention this morning, suggested in his acceptance speech that the Morning Journal adopt as its slogan "Buy a Bond and Boost Bursum," as a result of the paper's announcement today it was for Bursum.

Col. D. B. K. Sellers, democratic senate leader, suggested it be cut down to two words, "Money Talks," which drew laughter and applause, Florencio C. DeBaca, Las Vegas, offered "condemners" to those who bought the Journal's bonds and others offered appropriate slogans.

Nothing Discouraging

In the Last Election. To some it might appear there was cause for despondency because we were not successful at the last election," said Atwood.

we were successful. The republican state organization was rebuked by the people. They gave the republican national ticket nearly 12,000 majority and the head of the state ticket 8,000 majority. We derive some force from the fact that that number showed they were unwilling to stand for the things going on in the state. The result can't by any interpretation be considered as an endorsement of the republican state organization.

He urged the convention to select a candidate who could be presented to the people without apology.

The Joke.

He then turned to the surreptitious repeal of the ex-service men's tax exemption by the anti legislature which in the case of the cemented revenue code, which was introduced through in the closing hours of the session, and then commented on the promise in the Bursum platform.

"When they say 'We want the ex-service men to have this thing which we took away from them last spring, their promise looks like a joke," he said.

He believed there was little possibility of the ex-service men getting adjusted compensation since the senate recommended the bill at President Harding's recommendation.

After the election of the permanent officers the platform committee's report and nomination of the senatorial candidate was put off until this afternoon.

The other permanent officers are: Mrs. Grace B. Ogden, Mora, and Bonifacio Montoya, Sandoval, vice chairman; Byron O. Beall, Chavez, secretary; Mrs. Dennis Chavez, Bernalillo, and Mrs. John A. Rich, Colfax, assistant secretaries; Frank Butt, Bernalillo, sergeant at arms.

BELL TO RESUME DRILLING MONDAY.

For the third time water has broken through the mud shut-off in the Bell No. 1 and an exceptionally heavy mixture of mud laden fluid was pumped into the well late this week and was to be allowed to set until Monday before being disturbed. A heavy gas pressure had at the bottom of the well is the only reason advanced for the difficulty in obtaining a shut off, as the casing is resting on a good lime formation, and it is believed that the gas keeps the mud disturbed so that it does not settle sufficiently to be impervious to the water coming from above in the well.

The hole is still at 1995 feet in depth, and the drill was stopped in a formation that gave off considerable gas, and which had such favorable signs for early production that it was deemed advisable to shut out the water at all costs before drilling on in order to be in position to handle the production when it is found. —Pecos Times.

"NORTH PLAINS COMING COUNTRY."

"Doing Things Up That Way."

Every "Booster" on the train that goes up on to the North Plains on the 22nd feels reasonably assured that this is just the beginning of many such pilgrimages for trade in the future and that steel rails will carry him over much more of the great agricultural empire than is possible on this trip.

It is a safe bet that it will not be long until the road will be extended from Spearman west far enough to get a good crossing of the Little Palo Duro where it will bear northward probably crossing the Rock Island east of Stratford, going through Cimarron county, Oklahoma, and near Boise, thence on to Des Moines, New Mexico, where it will connect with the Rocky Mountain railroad, a piece of Santa Fe property that goes up into the coal regions where the same company has large property holdings.

Then, too, it is no secret that Amarillo is already getting busy in reviving its railroad project to the north through Dumas, the county seat of Moore county to Englewood Kan. This line would connect up with the Santa Fe at Englewood and would intersect extension of the Shattuck-Spearman line, giving Amarillo distributors a wonderfully fertile territory in which to sell their wares with a short freight haul. A. S. Stinnett, of Amarillo, probably one of the best posted men in the southwest on freight rates and distribution of commodities by rail, states that if Amarillo does not go behind this new line of railroad and see that it is built at once, the city is losing the greatest opportunity that has ever offered itself, for making it a city of the first class. He thinks the new line north should connect with the Wichita Falls and Northwestern at Forgan, Okla.

When the Santa Fe gets through hauling the 1921 crop along its new line from Shattuck to Spearman, and the figures are made known, everybody will want a railroad through the productive North Plains. Where a few years ago, only a few train loads of cattle a year could have been moved, now there is a constant stream of grain moving one way and machinery, equipment and supplies the other. It doesn't take a railroad long to find these things out, and it is tonnage that counts.

About a year ago the Des Moines, New Mexico Swastika, had the following "dope" on the railroad situation on the North Plains. It all makes interesting reading:

Swastika investigated the prospects of this section for future development. We learned from sources that were absolutely unimpeachable that the Santa Fe railroad at that time had the blue prints showing that they would run a line to Des Moines from the east. It has finally been announced that the road from Waynoka due east to Des Moines, is coming during the present year. We can't say or no one else can say just where this line will be built, but if the Santa Fe has not changed its plan it will be built to Des Moines.

The Santa Fe has a line running to Elkhart, Kansas, another one to Englewood, Kansas, one to Waynoka Oklahoma, and one building from Shattuck, Oklahoma. Our dope is that they will build a line from Amarillo, Texas, thru Boise City, Okla., to La Junta, Colorado, opening up Baca county, Colorado. This will cross the line from Waynoka and the Elkhart and Englewood line will be built to a connection with this line thus giving a net work of roads in western Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas in a territory that has no coal. The Rocky Mountain line which they acquired just before conditions stopped railroad building will be extended to Gallup, N. M., cutting off 85 miles in distance between Kansas City and the coast and avoiding the hard pull on Raton hill.

The northwest corner of New Mexico is the biggest undeveloped coal field in the United States. It is a fact that railroads built to tonnage instead of towns and the Santa Fe railroad owns alternate sections thru this immense coal belt for miles. Their market close to the field lies in western Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, where they will have a network of roads and it is natural that they should connect this up as it makes a money-making road from the start. It is also a well known fact that the Santa Fe railroad will not ask a bonus from a town, preferring to miss towns already in existence and build their own towns. There is only one thing that makes it seem that Des Moines will get the east and west road and that is that they own the Rocky Mountain line and it is natural to suppose that they had a definite purpose in mind when they bought it.

The Santa Fe has several surveys through this country, one going south of Grenville and one just south Mt. Dora. If they run the Elkhart line across to Colmar the easiest route will be the line south of Grenville going through Mt. Clayton. This would mean a new town at the crossing of the C. & S. and following their usual policy, the business men of Grenville and Mt. Dora would be offered free lots to move to the new town. The survey at Mt. Dora is near enough to the town that it would not affect the location. Another survey goes to Clayton and then turns to near Mt. Dora. All of these surveys were made before the Santa Fe bought the rocky mountain line—southwest Plainsman.

Impossible to Grow Without Pavement

A Visit to Towns With and Without Pavement Will Convince Others as it Did Us and Other Citizens.

The desirability and necessity for paved streets is sufficiently evidenced without further argument, by the thousands of cities and towns now engaged on extensive paving programs. The State of New Mexico is keeping a pace with other progressive states throughout the Union. Albuquerque, Las Vegas, Raton, Clayton, Santa Fe, Carlsbad, Las Cruces, are providing for paved streets or extending their paved districts many miles. Just across the state line, the little town of Lubbock, Texas, with only a few thousand population, has just completed a paving program of half a million dollars.

The towns and cities that fall behind in public improvement cannot hope to compete with more progressive communities that have lifted themselves out of the mud. The prospective resident or investor of today measures the prosperity of the community by its miles of paved streets and will neither locate or invest where they have not been provided.

The most serious problem that confronts the public authorities and property owners in this era of progress and of motor driven traffic is not, shall we pave, it is the question of what is the best and most lasting material to pave with. This question has been answered satisfactorily by many public officials, including federal authorities, by contracting for, in the brief space of the past eleven years, over 200,000,000 square yards of concrete pavement, which would pave an eighteen foot road 20,000 miles long with concrete, over six times across the continent.

The U. S. government has laid over ten million (10,000,000) square yards of concrete in our army cantonments.

Concrete has been used as the base of all standard types of pavement, and since the advent of the motor driven vehicle, is rapidly superseding the soft top pavements, the necessity for which decreases in proportion to the decrease of fast moving horse-drawn vehicles. The only excuse for the soft top pavement has been the horse, when driven faster than a walk; the use of the horse today is practically restricted to draft animals never moving faster than a walk. And for such traffic the firm concrete street furnishes a surer foothold and is the ideal pavement.

The essential requirements for the most satisfactory pavement for city streets or country highways are smoothness and strength at a minimum cost, affording easy riding qualities with durability. Concrete pavements were designed and have been adopted to withstand the destructive effect of motor driven traffic of the present and future, a traffic both in numbers and weight not dreamed of a few years ago; the increase and destructive effect of which upon pavements it is impossible to forecast.

Portland cement concrete is an artificial stone composed of stone (broken stone or pebbles), sand and cement, the air spaces between the stones being filled with sand, each particle of which has its coating of cement, the stone, sand and cement being in such proportion as to secure, after solidification, a mass nearly as dense as the stone itself and even greater in strength.

All street or road surfaces are composed of about ninety (90) per cent, broken stone, pebbles, brick or sand (commonly termed the road "metal"), which is bound together by water, bitumen or Portland cement. The type of construction usually takes the name of the binding material, as for instance "Water Bound Macadam", "Bituminous Macadam", "Asphaltic Concrete", or "Portland Cement Concrete". In the three first named the "binder"—(water or bitumen)—serves to hold the particles of the road "metal" together that furnishes the support for the tractor, truck, automobile, wagon or other vehicle constituting the load the pavement has to sustain. In the latter the Portland cement binder not only holds the particles of metal together but is sufficiently strong in itself to support the load; and its strength increased with age.

On account of its great strength Portland cement concrete is used for the foundation of all kinds of heavy structures. It is used for the foundation of all standard pavements—bituminous, brick or concrete—and owing to its ability to withstand the severest impact shocks, it has become the one standard pavement for use under and between the rails of street railways. It is simple to construct, exceedingly strong, (its design, use and development being primarily due to this quality), easy to repair when cut for any purpose, requires a minimum of maintenance and is of reasonable cost. It is hard and smooth, over which any kind of vehicle may be propelled with a minimum of power. And it is so clean and firm that milady may tread upon it with no fear of attaching any portion to the soles of her shapeless boots; and the height of her skirts may without danger of soiling, follow the dictates of fashion, be it one inch or one foot, more or less from the ground.

The actual operation of mixing, placing and finishing a Portland cement concrete pavement is extremely simple, requiring few manipulations. The proper proportions of cement, sand and stone are placed in a mechanical mixing-machine, sufficient water being added to secure a jelly-like mass. After they have been thoroughly mixed the concrete is deposited on the road-way to a depth of not less than six (6) inches, and struck off with a board cut to the shape of the finished pavement. It is then rolled crossways with a light roller, less than 100 pounds in weight, operated from one or both sides; the roller advancing about two feet with each passage across the pavement, smoothing the surface which is then finished with a rubber or canvas belt drawn back and forth across the pavement by operators on either side. At intervals of from the concrete which are filled with bituminous felt, permitting the concrete to contract or expand without cracking. The finished pavement is firm, smooth, clean, strong and most durable.

Silver City, Las Cruces and Gallup are using concrete pavements exclusively, and Raton recently let a contract for 13 blocks. There are many examples of concrete pavement construction in this vicinity, Florence Street, El Paso, the El Paso-Anthony Highway (fifteen miles in length), the Las Cruces-Mesquite, Federal Aid highway (now under construction, eleven miles in length). The city of Wichita Falls, Texas, is paving exclusively with concrete, and many streets in Vernon, Texas, are paved with the same material.

BURSUM HAS WISDOM OF SOLOMON; NOBLE SON OF CONQUISTADORES; HE HYPNOTIZES HIS AUDITORS; SPARTACUS BEFORE GLADIATORS.

(Bursum's Press Bureau in La Revista de Taos.)

The Great Republican Party of the County of Taos nominates for Senator of the United States that well known and faithful friend of the people, that great Democrat—the first chief of the political armies of the Republicans, and that most sympathetic candidate, as a man, as a politician, as a friend, as the slave of his constituents, the Honorable Holm O. Bursum.

If the will of the people prevails, Mr. Bursum will be placed on a lofty pedestal as a genius of the historic state among the most renowned and wise men of the state.

In the four months of his residence at the Capitol at Washington Bursum has made the records of the past a scandal, establishing a new record every week, establishing new precedents of energy, valor and nobility, of dedication to his high office as representative of a free and sovereign people.

His works are exemplary. His laws are wise. His energy is indomitable, his power inexplicable.

The wise Magi in Washington look on with amazement when he shows himself as Spartacus orating before the Gladiators of the nation. His arguments are logical, they carry the valor of conviction, of sincerity, of the general welfare in every phrase. Orators stand hypnotized before this Spanish-American, representative of the sons of the Conquistadores and the descendants of the Reconquistadores!

Bursum will demonstrate in due time that he is the Genius of his Epoch, will show the wisdom of Solomon and the lofty-minded interests of a benevolent Ruler.

THE WHITE HOUSE.

THE home of the president of the United States, generally known as the White House, first became known as such when it was painted white to cover the marks of fire after being partially burned by the British in 1814. The foundation of this world-famous structure was put down in October, 1792. It was the first building erected in Washington. The site was picked by President George Washington, who also laid the corner stone.

The building was first occupied by President John Adams, during the summer of 1800. It is two stories and basement, and contains 31 rooms. It is surrounded by a spacious lawn and gardens, which are inclosed by a huge iron fence. Whether viewed through the heavy foliage of the giant trees or across winter's mantle of snow, it always looks restful and dignified.

The White House naturally has been the scene of many tragedies and comedies, much joy, and also has had its share of anxiety and grief. It holds a peculiar interest for the people of all nations, those of the United States in particular. It is a point of pilgrimage for thousands and thousands of people annually, who come to admire its decorations and paintings, study the relics of past occupants and, if opportunity offers, grasp the hand of the first citizen of the land. To a greater degree perhaps than any other building in the world, people of all ages and ranks have mingled under its roof.

Mrs. "Col." Williams has returned from a visit in Oklahoma.

Mr. Ira Reser and family spent Sunday in Carlsbad.

Miss Linna McCaw is in Roswell this week visiting relatives and attending institute.

All donations of money are very acceptable. The park is being plowed and prepared for grass. YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY SOCIAL AT HOME OF C. M. COLE.

The Baptist young people were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cole on last Friday evening. A delightful time was enjoyed by over forty persons, who attended this social.

The guests began to arrive about seven o'clock and the fun began at the same time. Victrola and Player-piano music predominated until a large number were present.

After a few severe tests, that were of the very best, Herman Cole was announced as the most bashful person present. Several others, as proof of their ability were entreated to render some entertainment for the remaining portion of the assembled persons. Miss Pauline Bullock was easily the winner in this department.

The impromptu biographies related how Haggan McCaw, with the heavenly murky eyes, and Mary Await, with the everlasting bloody hair, had acquired their important positions in this world. The futures of several of the guests were not so bright, especially Zanaida Mann.

Mr. Paul Rogers and Miss Eva Humbert were so saddened by the death of "Sister Anne" that the entreaties of those present combined with the semi-junglistic capers of Harve Widney, could not bring a trace of a smile to their countenances. Isham Baber proved very agile in his swamp-frog movements. Many other wonderful discoveries were made during the period of research, by "attorney" Fred Cole.

At a late hour, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. G. D. Holmes, Mrs. Ethel James, Lydia Klopfenstien and Lucile James. The rain, which fell during the festivities did not dampen the enthusiasm of the group in any way. Everyone present expressed his or her delight at having the privilege to attend the occasion.

Probably the most valuable gift of all is ability to dismiss things from one's mind.—Ohio State Journal.

NEW MEXICO NEEDS IT.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to abolish the so-called "hip-pocket" defense plea in murder cases. The bill should become a law. The editor of the News has known of several cases of cold-blooded murder where the murderer escaped adequate punishment by pleading that he "thought" his victim was reaching in his hip-pocket for a pistol, though it later developed the victim did not have a weapon. This "thought" plea should be absolutely prohibited in a case where no weapon was found on the person of the victim of a homicide. Let's strengthen the criminal laws of Texas to such an extent that to commit crime should mean adequate punishment. He should certainly follow just as is done in England and Canada. Texas needs many legal hangings. Texas also needs fewer weak-kneed jurors who have "conscientious scruples" against inflicting the death penalty, and more jurors who are of staunch character who believe in law and order and the hanging of murderers, hijackers and rapists.—Plainview News.

Do you believe that any real red blooded young man of our great America, who feels it his duty and mission in life to help the working classes and who through his zeal is innocently led into full fellowship with a bunch of the reddest of reds and led to believe that their cause was just and upon realizing the full import of their methods of operations, would not turn against them and rend them with the awful instrument of torture that they themselves would use to accomplish their dastardly purpose? Now say honestly do you? If you believe in the future of America, don't fail to register at the Airdome Saturday night, and witness one of the greatest pictures of all times and remember it's Saturday and say I was about to forget to tell you that "Dangerous Hours" is the handle tacked onto this picture.

Say Folks! would you begrudge spending two bits to see a truly western picture, one that is full of pep, action, thrills, suspense, daring, love, pathos, horsemanship, marksmanship and everything else that goes to make up a truly western, and say it's a girl that's doing all this, and if you can't guess who it is I expect I had better tell you, its Texas Guinan and the title is the "SHE WOLF" now doesn't that sound western. Boys bring your sweethearts, husbands bring your wives, and if you have neither sweetheart nor wife just come any way and enjoy yourselves Monday and Tuesday nights and say those South African Niggers are going to kill the lion

To Serve You

In the everyday use of your telephone you perhaps give little thought to the number of people or the amount of machinery which is necessary to provide you with telephone service.

Engineers determine where the plant is to be built, how constructed and expanded. Other employees do the construction work and keep the property in repair. Operators handle the calls and bookkeepers keep the accounts. And behind all, efficient management is necessary to finance the business and see that everything runs smoothly.

New Mexico is a new and growing state. Each year produces requirements for additional telephone plant. New plant requires new capital, and capital is attracted only by assurance of a fair return. The public and the Company must work together to supply future needs.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT PROVES FATAL.

An unusually sad and unfortunate accident occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weinheimer at their rural home south of Harper last Sunday afternoon when their four year old daughter, Martha Marie, was accidentally shot and killed by her seven year old brother, Lloyd, while the children were playing Sunday afternoon in their play house which is in the barn. The children had a table in their play-house and were seated at it. The little girl presumably was seated on a stool and her brother was seated opposite her on the edge of the table with a 22-gauge rifle on his lap. The little girl was counting cartridges and handing them to her brother. It is thought that as he leaned over to take the cartridges from his sister, the hammer of the rifle was pulled off from safety and the weapon discharged. The bullet entered the little girl's left side piercing her heart and coming out her back, killing her instantly.—Harper (Kansas) Advocate.

The Wonders of America

By T. T. MAXEY

BUNKER HILL MONUMENT.

THE elevation known as "Bunker Hill" is situated in Charlestown, Boston harbor. On this spot, on June 17, 1775, was fought the famous Battle of Bunker Hill, between the British and American forces. Here the gratitude and patriotism of the American people have caused to be erected a great granite obelisk as a memorial.

Located in the center of a four-acre square and surrounded by an iron fence, this monument is 221 feet high and 30 feet in diameter at the base. Within the shaft is a circular stairway leading to a chamber, 11 feet in diameter and 17 feet high, at the top, from which is visible a view that thrills the heart of every American, who has been fortunate enough to witness it.

It is an interesting fact that the corner stone was laid by General Lafayette, a son of glorious France, during his famous visit to America in 1825. The monument was dedicated in 1842, on which occasion Daniel Webster spoke these famous words: "It looks, it speaks, it acts, to the full comprehension of every American mind, and the awakening of glowing enthusiasm in every American heart. Its silent but awful utterance; its deep pathos, as it brings to our contemplation the 17th of June, 1775, and the consequences which have resulted to us, to our country, and to the world, from the events of that day, and which we know must continue to rain influence to the destinies of mankind to the end of time."

A New Low Price on a
Known and Honest Product

Miss Lucile Ward was a guest at a house party given at the Frank R. Joyce home in Carlsbad last week. Wallace Anderson was a member of a camping trip in the mountains northwest of Roswell last week.

A Little Price Talk

During this time of financial distress it behooves everyone to guard the cash box.

I have considered this when marking prices on our stock of jewelry and every item in our store. It is true that we do not sell any items that we cannot guarantee and naturally the price of such an item is a little higher than for an item of an inferior quality, but you will find them very reasonable when these things are considered.

For example we sell a Big Ben alarm clock for $3.75 and guarantee it for one year.

Our repair department is conducted on the same plan "the best work for a reasonable price."

The fact is I guarantee to meet any prices you can get at Roswell or Carlsbad when the same quality of goods or workmanship is considered.

I leave it to you to come and see before going elsewhere.

Blue and Discouraged?

There are many men and women in this town whom life apparently has treated unkindly. Without true friends they struggle against odds. Yet the church around the corner is full of men and women anxious to help.

Christianity Means Helpfulness

Meet these church people half way. Give them an opportunity to be your friends. "Come unto me and I will give you rest." Thus directed the founder of Christianity. His promise stands today. Test it. Crosses which arise in business, in school, in the home are more easily borne if one has accepted the assurance that Jesus Christ is ever ready to help.

The protracted meeting still continues, crowds increasing. Churches co-operating. We want to help you. Play as fair with the church as you do with the lodge. The meeting will continue over Sunday. Morning Subject: "A Discouraged Man." Evening: "A Real Friend." Prof. C. V. Snell is delighting the people with his singing. Come enjoy the good things we offer you.

COTTONWOOD WOMAN'S CLUB.

Mr. E. D. Wells delightfully entertained the Woman's Club and a number of visitors Thursday afternoon, August 18th.

The lawn was beautifully decorated with sunflowers. A large circle of seats were arranged and the guests were made very comfortable for the warm afternoon. As it had already been announced every club member and guest must be attired in a tacky costume for this entertainment. The guests were received by the hostess who escorted them to their special seat. Shrieks of laughter filled the air as the ladies were being seated; as their costumes were indeed very comical. Many signs were painted on card board with water colors and tacked up on the trees.

Roll call was answered with a joke, then came our general routine business, after which the following program was given:

Duet, Mrs. Fred and Charlie Nelson. Song at Twilight.

Mrs. Jess Funk gave great pleasure to the guests with a stump speech on "Women".

The debate: Resolved "That the Rolling Pin was More Useful Than the Stove Poker," by Misses Laura Pearson, Eunice Wells, and Madames Hedgecoxe and Hardcastle acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner. The affirmative being the lucky side. The hostess then announced that there was a number of painted signs hid out among the vines and roses for the ladies to find. The one who found the most of them would be presented with a prize. Mrs. Oliver Pearson received the prize, a sign engraved on it, "Touch Me Not," which was tied with a string and placed around her neck. Mrs. Wells, assisted by Misses Hannah and Emma Briscoe and Eunice Wells, served refreshments very suited for the occasion, such as red lemonade, ginger bread and red apples, after which the prize for the tackiest costume was presented to Mrs. Hedgecoxe which was a bunch of all day suckers tied with a bow of crepe ribbon. Mrs. Hedgecoxe received this prize very charmingly.

Various pictures were made of the ladies and guests, thus bringing to a close one of the most enjoyable meetings the club has ever held.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Fred Nelson Thursday, Sept. 1st. Every club member try and be present and bring some one with you.
