few days. An unusually large yield is expected. Many other farmers Chacon, Bernalillo county. have commenced picking and they report an excellent grade of long staple cotton. Hundreds of acres was planted in cotton this year and the crop has not been handicapped to a great etxent by the dry weather. The entire Pecos valley will produce more cotton this season than on any previous year. Gins are being installed at Roswell, Dexter and Hagerman. Gins are already located at Artesia, Otis, Loving, Malaga and Carlsbad

Mr. H. P. Larsh, manager of the several days and is pushing the few preliminary tasks at the gin as fast as possible, in order to commence operations. The cotton crop, around Artesia, is expected to keep the local gin busy during the entire season.

An excellent price is expected by the farmers. One buyer has offered twenty-five cent's per pound for the crop and offers to pay one-half of rone. the purchase price at this time. The Terry cotton fields and the Burrough fields are considered among the best in the country.

When Joking is Dangerous. Husbands should be careful how they spring jokes at the table. And wives should be alert on guard against the consequences of a surprise that amounts to a shock in certain cases-such as that at New York recently, for instance.

Men who toss off jokes at the table and cause their wives to laugh so suddenly that they pull a piece of meat into the trachea and choke to death stock every week runs no such risks. His wife is immune to laughter at his "funny cracks," and stands in no dan-

Joke on Famous Composer.

A certain newly rich person with more money than culture called on M. Massenet and said that he had seen his photograph in a paper and had at a little party? He would be well paid of course!

The world-famous musician was plied. "What night?" "Thursday."

So saying, Massenet gave the untinguished composer and was promptly

Belong in High Places. As with the evergreens so it is bolow. The little gray birches stop in the pastures of the foothills. The ingh, clear air of the range is not for them. The yellow birches fare on to the lower slopes of the high hills. There they quit; but the canoe brokes go on. The great trees of the wer reaches of the bowlder pan are ese, their paper-white bark showing ough all dark woods of the jorth then climb valiantly. CONVENTION SPEECH OF given in connection with the convention speech of William G. Haydon o. Las Vegas at the Democratic convention. The fourteen points should be carefully read by every individual: The Democrats of New Mexico enter the political campaign of 1922 with justinable confidence. Time has set the stamp of its approval upon the record made by the Democrats while they had control of both houses of congress from 1913 to 1919, and the record of two years of > Republican control has been weighed in the balance and found want Because it constitutes one of the darkest chapters in the political history of the United States, a review of the causes of Democratic defeat in 1920 is pertinent to this year's campaign. Democratic Record

But while we are considering the splendid record of the Democratic administration, we should not lose sight of the fact that the Federes banking system, the Federal Trade commission, and the Federal Farm Loan act were merely part of the wonderful record of constructive le gislation to the credit of the Demo crats during the years between 1913 and 1919. It was a golden era in America's history. We have all heard of President Wilson's "fourteen points" upon

World War and bring order out of chaos. Let the people of New Mexico consider another fourteen points; let them ask fourteen questions and upon the answers to them cast their votes for senator and congressman in the coming election. The "Fourteen Points"

Here are the questions I would ask every Republican to answer in this campaign: 1. During whose administration did the American farmer receive the largest returns for his labor and upon his invested capital? 2. During whose administration has the American laborer had his fullest dinner pail and received his highest pay?

3. During whose administration did the American business man make his largest profits?

4. During whose administration has the American stockholder received his highest dividends?

5. During whose administration was the greatest banking ever known created?

6. During whose administration was the American flag restored to the seas of commerce and the greatest American marine created?

7. During whose administration was America's wealth made to bear its just proportion of taxation?

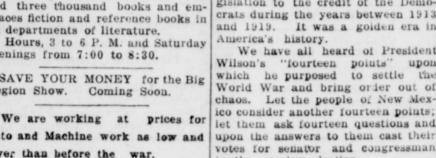

During whose administration did the American navy reach its highest efficiency.

9. During whose administration

High Cost of Living? You know the great charge against the Democratic administration was the high cost of living. It was really the cost of high living. Wouldn't you just love to have a chance now to kick about the high cost of living as we had it under the Wilson administration? We had the money with which to pay the price.

We kicked because silk shirts cost us $18. But it was easier then to pay the $18 for a silk shirt than it is now to pay $4 for a cotton
