We have recently received many inquiries relative to the oil development around Artesia. Of the many questions propounded to us we could not give a satisfactory answer to all of them because we were not well enough informed as to the sectional marks of Eddy county and even if we were, a satisfactory answer could not be given in every case.

While we are grateful for your interest in the matter, the subscriber could save his time as well as ours by carefully reading the paper. The items of news ordinarily contained about as much information as we could give. If a new well is located the item will contain the distance from Artesia, section, township and range number. A newspaper is primarily interested in an item of this kind for the news value and general interest it may contain to the public and not in a commercial value it may have.

HOPE DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPT. RAPIDLY IMPROVING

The domestic science department of the Hope high school is reported to be progressing rapidly. Both the first and second year girls in the classes of cooking and sewing have shown adept ability. This department, which is under the supervision of Miss Mattie C. Miller, might be classed as a recent addition to the school, yet the work done there compares favorably with the larger high schools.

STATE INSPECTOR VISITS HOPE SCHOOL

Friday, April 11th, Mr. White, state school inspector, visited the Hope school and was greatly pleased with the attitude and school spirit that prevails among the students and teachers. He finds that we have the best of text books, and says that he does not understand why we have not been recognized by the state board of examiners long before now.

FLAX TO BE TRIED OUT IN NEW MEXICO

Farmers in New Mexico have recently become interested in the production of flax, and as a result several demonstrations will be carried out this year to determine its adaptability to New Mexico conditions.

These demonstrations will be carried on directly under the supervision of the county agent of Harding county, and the results used to further or condemn flax production in New Mexico, as the case may prove.

A wild flax thrives now in some parts of Harding county. In general the high altitude, cool climate and other climatic conditions are very similar to the flax growing regions in the northern part of the United States.

The agronomy specialist of the New Mexico Agricultural College states that if flax should prove a profitable crop in the fertile soils in the higher altitudes of northern New Mexico it will add another crop to a section where practically the entire acreage is now devoted to wheat, and will benefit general agriculture.

The Thirty-fourth Annual Report of the New Mexico Experiment Station, which has just been issued, states that at present there are over fifty active projects being carried on to help solve the problem confronting the farmers and stockmen of the state. This report describes briefly the results obtained by experiments conducted in soils, plant diseases, farm crops, irrigations, fruits, vegetables, poultry, dairying and livestock. Those interested in securing a copy of the report should write the New Mexico Agricultural College, State College, New Mexico.

ANOTHER'S MONEY

TRUMAN SMITH went over fifteen year-old Elizabeth's lessons with her each evening. Elizabeth was no student, and Latin was the worst.

"Aes alienum—what does that mean?" asked Truman.

"Another's money," said Elizabeth, gibb as possible.

Her father laughed. "Literally!" said he. Practically "another's money" is translated "debts."

Several years later Elizabeth remembered this conversation. Her first year out of school was gay beyond her wildest imagination. Her father told her that she was grown up now, and gave her an allowance. Her first month's income and her charge accounts started at the same moment; consequently her second month's income went to pay the first month's bills. After that the bills waited.

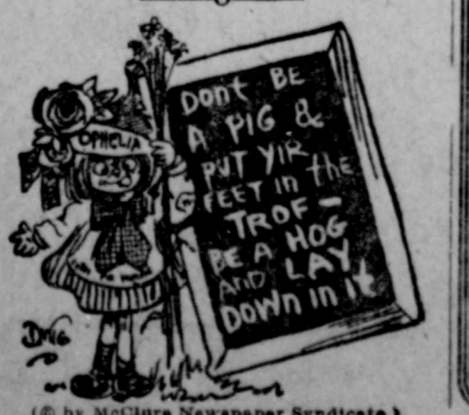

Gradually Elizabeth's financial policy developed. Her club dues were so small that they could wait. Her dressmaker's bills were too big to pay all at once—she would have to put them off entirely for a while. She consulted a woman friend. The friend assured her that the shops were too dependent upon such customers as they, to make indebtedness disagreeable! She opened up the subject with a debonnaire man of her acquaintance and he laughed and said that he paid his bills once a year and his creditors just had to wait.

Then Elizabeth found that having forgotten her purse was very convenient when she and two or three friends were out together and it was a question of paying for tea. A month after Christmas she sold her watch, a present from her father, in a desperate resolve to begin to get square. But she found herself after all putting the money into a new hat, and the situation was just as bad as ever.

Then one day she went home to find the little Englishman who made her shoes for her waiting in the hall. As he stood there with his hat in his hand he told her the story of his wife's illness, for the necessity of her going away to the country if she was to get well, of the doctor's bills that they must meet. Elizabeth's long overdue account would make all this possible to them. "Aes alienum," "another's money," came from the forgotten but never obliterated records in Elizabeth's subconscious mind—"debts" means "another's money."

For the first time she went thoroughly over her accounts; for the first time she planned a budget. She was appalled at the unfairness of her own methods. With intelligence, foresight and a stiff backbone her income would be quite sufficient to meet her needs. Denial she must practice till she got even. HOPE DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPT. RAPIDLY IMPROVING

The domestic science department of the Hope high school is reported to be progressing rapidly. Both the first and second year girls in the classes of cooking and sewing have shown adept ability. This department, which is under the supervision of Miss Mattie C. Miller, might be classed as a recent addition to the school, yet the work done there compares favorably with the larger high schools.

STATE INSPECTOR VISITS HOPE SCHOOL

Friday, April 11th, Mr. White, state school inspector, visited the Hope school and was greatly pleased with the attitude and school spirit that prevails among the students and teachers. He finds that we have the best of text books, and says that he does not understand why we have not been recognized by the state board of examiners long before now.

All the patrons in the community have been co-operating with the teachers and the school board, and we believe that this is the best school that we have ever had.

We extend our thanks to Mr. White for visiting us, and for the nice things he said about our school.

NOTICE TO OUT OF STATE SUBSCRIBERS

We have recently received many inquiries relative to the oil development around Artesia. Of the many questions propounded to us we could not give a satisfactory answer to all of them because we were not well enough informed as to the sectional marks of Eddy county and even if we were, a satisfactory answer could not be given in every case.

While we are grateful for your interest in the matter, the subscriber could save his time as well as ours by carefully reading the paper. The items of news ordinarily contain about as much information as we could give. If a new well is located the item will contain the distance from Artesia, section, township and range number. A newspaper is primarily interested in an item of this kind for the news value and general interest it may contain to the public and not in a commercial value it may have.

FLAX TO BE TRIED OUT IN NEW MEXICO

Farmers in New Mexico have recently become interested in the production of flax, and as a result several demonstrations will be carried out this year to determine its adaptability to New Mexico conditions.

These demonstrations will be carried on directly under the supervision of the county agent of Harding county, and the results used to further or condemn flax production in New Mexico, as the case may prove.

A wild flax thrives now in some parts of Harding county. In general the high altitude, cool climate and other climatic conditions are very similar to the flax growing regions in the northern part of the United States.

The agronomy specialist of the New Mexico Agricultural College states that if flax should prove a profitable crop in the fertile soils in the higher altitudes of northern New Mexico it will add another crop to a section where practically the entire acreage is now devoted to wheat, and will benefit general agriculture.

The Thirty-fourth Annual Report of the New Mexico Experiment Station, which has just been issued, states that at present there are over fifty active projects being carried on to help solve the problem confronting the farmers and stockmen of the state. This report describes briefly the results obtained by experiments conducted in soils, plant diseases, farm crops, irrigations, fruits, vegetables, poultry, dairying and livestock. Those interested in securing a copy of the report should write the New Mexico Agricultural College, State College, New Mexico.

WELLS-THORNTON

Miss Eunice Wells, a very popular young lady whose home has been in the Cottonwood community, and Mr. Earnest, Thornton, of Dallas, Texas were united in marriage on Saturday, April 12.

The wedding ceremony took place at 3:30 p. m. in the First Christian Church of Oak Cliff. Dr. Wells, pastor. The wedding party consisted of Mrs. Thornton's sisters and several friends of the bride and groom. Im- mediately after the ceremony the party motored to Fort Worth, where they were entertained at dinner at the Texas Hotel. After a few days wedding trip, the couple returned to Dallas, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Thornton has attended high school in Artesia a number of years, where she proved a worthy member. The year preceding her marriage she spent with her sisters in Dallas.

Mr. Thornton is connected with the Southwestern Paper Company and is a very capable young man. The friends of the bride and groom extend their congratulations and wish for the bride and groom a happy wedded life.

Miss Lula Wilson was badly burned last Saturday by a gasoline iron. She was putting gasoline into the iron and regulating it, when it caught fire and as she was trying to put it out burned her arm and hands. She is now recovering very rapidly and will be able to attend school again this week.

Mr. Shapland has returned to his home on Cottonwood, after a long visit in Missouri with his relatives.

Many from Cottonwood attended Mrs. Oliver Pearson's funeral in Roswell last Wednesday.

Charley Powell and Keneith Funk-houser made a quick trip to Pecos last week, on business.

Values Our social order is safe just in so far as we can translate its values into terms of human life. The ultimate values are human values always; the sanctions of property itself are sec- ondary; our last claim to our pos- sessions is that we hold them for the common good - the will de Solla-court.

Dangerous It is said that a soft answer turneth away wrath, but occasionally a soft an- swer starts a matrimonial engagement which ends in war.

Lew Cody, known as the handsome villain of the "movies," was born at Waterville, Maine. He attended school in Montreal, Canada. His first theatrical experience was with a stock company. After a couple of seasons with his own company, he entered the moving picture business, and his rise to stardom is well known to the lovers of moving pictures.

Have You This Habit? By Margaret Morison

ANOTHER'S MONEY

TRUMAN SMITH went over fifteen- year-old Elizabeth's lessons with her each evening. Elizabeth was no student, and Latin was the worst.

"Aes allenum"—what does that mean?" asked Truman. "Another's money," said Eliza- beth, glib as possible.

Her father laughed. "Literally!" said he. Practically "another's money" is translated "debts."

Several years later Elizabeth re- membered this conversation. Her first year out of school was gay beyond her wildest imagination. Her father told her that she was grown up now, and gave her an allowance. Her first month's income and her charge ac- counts started at the same moment; consequently her second month's in- come went to pay the first month's bills. After that the bills waited.

Gradually Elizabeth's financial policy developed. Her club dues were so small that they could wait. Her dress- maker's bills were too big to pay all at once—she would have to put them off entirely for a while. She consult- ed a woman friend. The friend as- sured her that the shops were too de- pendent upon such customers as they, to make indebtedness disagreeable!

She opened up the subject with a debonaire man of her acquaintance and he laughed and said that he paid his bills once a year and his creditors just had to wait.

Then Elizabeth found that having forgotten her purse was very con- venient when she and two or three friends were out together and it was a question of paying for tea. A month after Christmas she sold her watch, a present from her father, in a desperate resolve to begin to get square. But she found herself after all putting the money into a new hat, and the situa- tion was just as bad as ever.

Then one day she went home to find the little Englishman who made her shoes for her waiting in the hall. As he stood there with his hat in his hand he told her the story of his wife's illness, for the necessity of her going away to the country if she was to get well, of the doctor's bills that they must meet. Elizabeth's long overdue account would make all this possible to them. "Aes allenum," "an- other's money," came from the for- gotten but never obliterated records in Elizabeth's subconscious mind—"debts" means "another's money."

For the first time she went thor- oughly over her accounts; for the first time she planned a budget. She was appalled at the unfairness of her own methods. With intelligence, foresight and a stiff backbone her income would be quite sufficient to meet her needs. Dental she must practice till she got even. And then she swore that in future she would acquire the habit of "Pay as you go. Right spending and right paying."

In the suit club drawing at E. B. McCaw's tailor shop Saturday night Geo. Beaf (No. 12) proved to be the lucky winner. The drawings are held every Saturday night.

Cal Beckett and family left last Thursday for Hope. After a few days visit with friends there they expected to go on to Arizona, where they intend to make their home.

John Anderson, a prominent busi- ness man of Vian, Oklahoma, was an arrival this week to look over the busi- ness prospects here. Mr. Anderson has two daughters at Hope, where he has gone for a short visit.

Mrs. Graham came over from Lov- ington last Saturday to spend a week or ten days with her daughter, Miss Mary Lou, who teaches in our schools. Two sisters of Miss Mary Lou came over with their mother, but returned home on Sunday.

METHODIST STUDENTS

ATTACK KLAN

The Methodist student body recently launched a bitter attack on the Ku Klux Klan, the first religious body so far as we know to come out boldly and declare themselves opposed to an organization of this kind.

The context of the attack follows. Louisville, Ky., April 19.—Any so-called patriotic organization "which thrives upon or seeks to propagate race, creed or class prejudice" constitutes a "real peril to the establishment of the 'good will ideal' among men" was the sentiment of the national conference of Methodist students expressed in an address at tonight's session.

The conference previously had rejected by a close vote a resolution declaring opposition to the Ku Klux Klan, and "any organization declaring such un-Christian principles" as contained in the statement of principles of the Klan.

JAPANESE EXCLUSION CLAUSE IN RECENT IMMIGRATION LAW

Much comment has been occasioned over the threat of the Japanese government when it was learned that congress would likely pass the immigration bill containing the Jap exclusion clause. Haniara, the Japanese ambassador to this country, has disclaimed the veiled threat, contained in a recent note to Secretary Hughes.

The threat probably hastened the decision of congress relative to the Japanese exclusion and we are glad of it. It will be a poor day for us when we allow the Japanese government to dictate our foreign policy. We excluded the Chinese long ago and thought nothing of it. We are reminded here that the Jap immigrant has in most cases refused to be Americanized, planting himself in a Jap colony, continuing to speak his native language, worshipping his native god and in fact conducting himself as though he still resided in Japan.

The fact that he has colonized himself on coming here leads us to the conclusion that his coming means no good for us, especially for the masses of American people because his standard of living is so low no native American can compete with him and it would be only a question of time until this country would reach a saturation point in Jap population.

HONEST PEOPLE STILL EXIST

Recent congressional investigations have uncovered so much on public officials, one often times wonders if a man can be a public official and be honest. People have read so much about the mess in Washington that they have become almost disgusted and some of them we believe have almost had their faith in the goodness of humanity shaken. There is no doubt Washington needed a house cleaning but in some instances it appears to have been carried too far and due to the exaggerating reports which have gone out from the capital it has been made doubly worse.

We believe there are just as many honest people as ever, despite the fact that it sometimes appears otherwise. Where one trouble really lies is the poor pay of a public official. While this condition is not as bad in national politics as it is in state affairs, we can not expect a $10,000 a year man to accept a $1000 a year job in politics and be satisfied. It is true that some of the greatest men of the nation have worked for practically nothing for patriotic reasons, a short time only, but usually the same rule should work in politics as in private affairs. If we expect to get a good man we must pay him what he is worth.

There has been a time when a man of moderate circumstances was willing to accept a political position chiefly for the honor, but where will any honor be if conditions go as they are?

One solution is to offer a public official a remunerative salary the same as he is entitled to in private life and take some of the politics out of the political jobs.

WHERE WE ARE

Statistics of repairs, gasoline and oil consumption, depreciation and loads hauled, demonstrate that the average difference in cost in running a car or truck over good hard roads and poor roads is approximately 5 cents per mile.

The average mileage of all cars and trucks in this country exceeds 6000 yearly.

There are 14,000,000 cars and trucks running in the United States. A simple multiplication proves that if all the roads in the United States were poor roads, making them all into good roads would save more than four billions every year, or more than five times as much as is spent annually in this nation for good roads.

Of course, all the roads are not poor roads, and more than 80 per cent of the travel of our vehicles is over the good roads and not poor ones. But if we had good roads vehicles would travel over them. Vehicles are now forced from the many poor to the few good roads miles in order to avoid loss of time and the tremendous cost of travel over poor roads.

Any individual, asking himself whether his share of a new road tax will pay him, has only to figure the number of miles he will travel in a year over the good road and see what he, personally, will save. This computation, of course, leaves out of calculation any such factors as the saving he makes by the lowering of prices of goods he buys which travel the good road, and any increase in his assets due to the increase of land values on the good road, and any increase in earning capacity due to the time saved on good roads. With figures so plain and savings so obvious it is difficult to understand why anyone thinks that national highways, built and maintained by the national government, will not more than pay for themselves in a very short period.

ALBUQUERQUE IS MAKING EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS TO CARE FOR ROADS SHOW

During the past eight weeks most active work has gone forward at the temporary headquarters of the United States Good Roads Association, United States Good Roads Show and Bankhead National Highway Association at Albuquerque, also at the permanent headquarters at Birmingham, Alabama, in arranging the details and promoting the meetings, which are to be held in Albuquerque, May 26-31. Director-General Rountree, who is in charge of the details, has been ably assisted by a competent staff. Full time has been devoted to writing letters, sending out literature and stirring up interest throughout the country. The results are shown by the appointment of over four thousand delegates to governors, Chambers of Commerce and various good roads organizations all over the United States.

Forty-four governors have written their hearty endorsement of this convention and promised that their states will be represented at the coming meetings.

Sixteen state highway departments have agreed to have exhibits at the United States Good Roads Show, composed of maps, pictures, profiles and road materials from their respective states.

Hon. Thos. H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, has notified Director-General Rountree that one of the best and most comprehensive exhibits from the bureau will be sent to the United States Good Road Show.

Leading machinery manufacturers from all parts of the country are making reservations and applying for space at the United States Good Roads Show, which promises to be most successful in every way. Hundreds of contractors and road officials that expect to buy machinery and road materials will defer same until they see the road exhibit at Albuquerque.

The general arrangements committee of the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce have prepared a most interesting and unique program for the visitors which includes a number of original western stunts and will show in true Mexican style that hospitality for which this state and the west is noted.

The railroads throughout the country will sell summer rate excursion tickets to Albuquerque during "Good Roads Week." Tickets for eastern passengers will go on sale May 15th, for western passengers on May 22nd, good until October 31st. Rates secured are the best that have ever been given to any national convention.

MODEL FARMS

OF THE PECOS VALLEY

Editors Note: This is the first of a series of articles about the many good farms surrounding us. The next will appear in an early issue.

GREEN VALLEY RANCH
G. B. Dungan, Owner

Green Valley Ranch, perhaps not so catchy from the standpoint of beauty, but certainly one of the most productive farms found in the valley. Adjoining the beautiful C. P. A. ranch, it is made doubly attractive at this season of the year. But we must not judge by looks alone, for a closer examination reveals that the land has been in the hands of a real farmer. The manner in which the soil has been prepared indicates that much labor has been expended upon it each year and is further attested by the fact that Mr. Dungan has made a productive farm out of a run-down place.

No miracles have been performed. Mr. Dungan has just worked at his job since he has been here, seven years to be exact, and during this time he has proven that the right kind of farming pays.

Between fifty and sixty acres of cotton was planted last year and from this acreage fifty bales of cotton were gathered. The land was never watered except at planting time, so we may say fifty bales of cotton was raised without any irrigation. In addition to the cotton Mr. Dungan has about fifteen acres of alfalfa from which he expects to get four or five cuttings. This year he will have 100 acres in cotton, however, this acreage will probably vary from year to year as he plowed up some of the alfalfa on account of the grass, which will be replanted after this year and in this connection it may be well to mention that Mr. Dungan has some bottom land especially adapted to alfalfa, as it is only three or four feet to water.

On the farm there is a strong artesian well, flowing in the early spring more than 1800 gallons of water per minute and testing approximately 33 pounds pressure. The pressure of the well is utilized by Mrs. Dungan for turning her washing machine.

On the farm, which consists of 160 acres, there are two modern dwelling houses, a large barn, stables and sheds. All of the land is in cultivation except where the two houses and barns stand.

ZANE GREY'S "WILDFIRE"

Zane Grey has never written a more powerful story of the west of today than "Wildfire." This has been made into a motion picture by the B. B. Hampton Productions that promises to prove one of the most thrilling offerings of the year. Two big elements in the story are a horse race in which a girl rides the winner and her kidnapping by a half-wit and her rescue in an amazing manner. This Goldwyn distributed picture comes to the Majestic theatre April 30 and May 1st.

GLIMPSES OF THE PAST

From the files of the Advocate,
April 22, 1903.

R. L. Carson was in Roswell Sunday.

G. U. McCrary spent Monday and Tuesday in Portales.

E. A. Clayton, W. Buckhart, John Richley and W. W. Allison were in Roswell Tuesday.

The first session of the United States district court ever held in Roswell convened Monday.

A large number of farmers at all points in the valley will try sugar beets this summer as an experiment.

Those who have wells in the vicinity of Artesia, law or no law, should keep the water off the public highways and streets.

The president, who has been deer hunting this week, near Glenwood Springs, Colorado, killed a bear last Monday.

R. M. Ross reports from Cherokee, Kansas, that himself and family are having a pleasant outing and general good time.

Rev. E. McQueen Gray, so well and favorably known throughout the Pecos Valley will lecture in Artesia Friday, April 28th at 8:00 p. m. at the Methodist church for the benefit of the Artesia library.

There will be Easter services at the Methodist church tomorrow. Our pastor, George R. Ray, will occupy the pulpit and we expect to hear the sweetest music of the year as the choir has spent the whole week practicing for the services.

C. J. Moore is the best satisfied man in any country. He says he has traveled over twenty-seven foreign countries and over nearly every state in the Union. Of all the states and territories he likes New Mexico best and thinks Artesia decidedly the best town in the territory.

WAYS WITH LEFTOVERS

A nice dish and one which will not have any reference to food previously served is:
Stuffed Peppers.—Cut off the tops and remove the white membrane and seeds from as many peppers as there are people to serve. Parboil them until soft in boiling water to cover, then fill with the following: Drop a half-teaspoonful of beef extract into each pepper mixed with buttered crumbs, chopped meat of any kind seasoned with onion, pepper and salt. Put to bake in gems so they will keep their shape. Bake until well-heated through and serve hot.

Meat and Potato Pie.—Moisten two cupfuls of cold minced mutton or beef with canned soup, and season well before putting into a greased baking dish. Have ready a large cupful of mashed potato, seasoned with melted butter and warm milk. Cover the meat with this seasoned potato; smooth the surface and bake until it is well-heated through, then brush with the beaten white of an egg and return to the oven to brown.

Molded Rice.—When putting away the leftover rice of today, press it while warm into a buttered mold. When ready to prepare the meal, turn it out carefully on a plate and set into the oven. When it is heated through, butter well and return to the oven to brown; butter again and sprinkle with grated cheese and return to the oven until the cheese begins to melt. Serve hot.

Cheese Custard.—Place slices of buttered bread in a baking dish in layers, using enough bread to supply the family, sprinkling each buttered slice generously with finely-minced or grated cheese—the rich kind, which will not become stringy when heated. Pour over a pint of milk to which two beaten eggs have been added, salt and cayenne to taste for seasoning. Bake in a moderate oven until the custard is set. Serve hot from the dish in which it was baked. This is a good way to use leftover slices of bread.

VALUE OF HEALTH DEPARTMENT

"Do you know that you were ever born?"

"Suppose the question were asked you. 'Could you prove it?' 'That was the question put to a man of middle age during the war when receiving an assignment for overseas service he applied for a passport. He was given one month to produce evidence that he had inherited the rights of American Citizenship by birth. He had never before had occasion to hunt up his birth certificate. He had no proof that he had ever been born. Was he a man of phantom?"

"Hopeful of finding the physician or nurse who assisted at his birth he went back to the little town in Kansas to obtain their signatures under the statement that he had been born on a certain date in that village. The old family physician had died several years before. His parents, too, were gone. The village clerk had no record of his birth."

"The man applied to the State Department of Health for assistance. There was only one possible procedure left. Possibly the attending physician at his birth had made an entry of his services in his ledger. The physician's son, now past middle age, had taken over his father's practice and with the man-of-no-birth he scanned the yellow, crackling pages of the closely written ledger. There was the doctor's entry of the man's birth. The entry was photographed and the physician signed the affidavit attached to the facsimile of the page. But it was then too late for the man to sail on his special mission."

"If his father had only been as conscientious about registering his son's birth as he had been his pedigree cattle."

SELF-MADE WIFE STORY OF LIFE THAT RINGS TRUE

The locale of the Universal all-star photoplay, "The Self-Made Wife," shifts from a lowly shack in the oil fields of Texas to a mansion in New York. It comes to the Majestic theatre on May 2-3.

It is the story of a poor couple who slaved and struggled to save a few dollars with which to buy oil stock.

One day an oil gusher made them immensely rich. They moved to New York, purchased a fashionable home and began a new mode of living. To her life in the city was artificial. She came to believe that there could be no happiness in the city, despite the luxury of her new surroundings, but eventually learned that friendships can be just as true and happiness just as complete in a city of millions as it can in a community where everybody calls everybody else by his first name.

NEW MEXICO LIVE STOCK AND RANGE REPORT APRIL 1, 1924

Conditions of Ranges and Stock:— In many localities in the state the ranges were covered with snow, old grass was scarce, and little green feed had appeared. As a result the condition of the ranges showed a decline from 84 per cent of normal on March 1, to 82 per cent on April 1. However reports from all over the state indicate an abundance of stock water, and soil moisture sufficient to insure lots of early spring feed.

Cattle showed a decline in condition during the month from 86 percent to 84 percent. Feed was scarce and high and the condition of the range made considerable feeding necessary. Many cattle that were not fed are thin, and there have been losses, but not above the average for this season of the year.

Sheep were reported in 90 percent condition April 1, compared to 92 percent on March 1. They have wintered well and are now reported in good shape for lambing and shearing. A big crop of lambs are in prospect from April 15 to May 15. They are in strong demand and are being contracted for October delivery from 10 1/2 to 12 cents. A good wool clip is also in prospect between May 15 and July 1. It has been largely contracted in some localities, but probably not in excess of 15 percent of the state production. Very little of the wool is pooled. Dealers are offering from 30 to 45 cents depending upon the quality.

March cattle movement: 6963 head of cattle were moved during the month. The March movement last year was 9591, and the five year average for this month is 11,743. During the first three months of this year the movement has amounted to 38,411. This is 84 per cent of the number moved during this period last year, and 89 per cent of the five year average for these months. 784 head were moved inter-state; Texas took 2948; El Paso 706; Kansas City 727; Colorado 684 Denver 241; and Wichita 374. The counties showing the largest movement were: Quay 908; Union 794; Lea 787; Valencia 604; De Baca 598;

Curry 571; Roosevelt 503; Chaves 426; Eddy 376; and Luna 361.

No report has been received from the sheep sanitary board of the March sheep movement. They reported 11,260 moved in January and February.

Good quality beef cattle sold for higher prices in February and March than during the same period since 1920. The spread in price between feeder and beef cattle has been the largest for the winter months in four years. In spite of this less range cattle have been moved to the corn belt states than usual, and the numbers on feed there on April 1, was only 95.5 per cent of the numbers on that date one year ago.

Indications are that the market supply of sheep and lambs during April and May will be the smallest in some years, and the June and July supply may be somewhat larger. 250,000 California lambs, 60 per cent of which are now ready for slaughter, can not be moved because of the foot and mouth quarantine. Efforts are being made to induce local packers to butcher a part of these and ship the dressed carcasses.

Mercurized Wool

Under high temperature and at high tension wool can, it is said, be successfully mercurized. The yarn is immersed for about five minutes in a sulphide of soda at a high temperature. Shrinking is prevented by a mechanical apparatus that holds the yarn at high tension. The tension is then relaxed and the yarn is boiled in a weak neld solution.

Origin of Sodas

It is not definitely recorded just who first suggested ice cream sodas in their present form. Snow-coated beverages were known to the Jews, ancient Greeks and Romans. It is recorded that in Rome a certain Quintus Maximus Gurgus, nicknamed the Glutton, wrote a recipe for a similar preparation in one of his books.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

SPRINGTIME

THE richness and profusion of the verdure of the great outdoors, the waving fields of colorful wild flowers, the streams that have shaken off their frosty fetters, the lacy white clouds and the soft blue sky call to you to indulge in springtime saunterings.

The most ancient wisdom sings of life-giving air and golden sunshine, the healing balsms for a thousand ills of harried minds, ragged nerves and poisoned bodies.

Who shall say that those men and women who take frequent saunterings in the open, are not better citizens and better equipped to solve life's perplexing problems than those who do not?

Who shall dispute that they are not happier, clearer thinkers, greater originators than those languid souls who find little journeys afoot too dull and wearisome for their pleasure?

What are more beguiling to lovers of nature than the winding wayside paths and the silent aisles in the solitary woods?

The better artists, better editors, better merchants, better men and women in all classes of existence are those who go often to the glorious temple whose dome is the superbly illuminated and ever-changing sky.

Comfort, knowledge, opportunity, resources and health are multiplied a thousand fold in this broad, free air—free alike to the barefooted boy wading the brooks and the golfer in quest of a little white sphere.

Do we find more civic virtue, more lofty thought, more joyous inspiration, more truth and mercy in the sunlight or in the dark?

The outdoor people you will find are more truthful, more upright, more humane and more charitable than the folk who habitually dwell in morose twilight.

They get nearer to heaven, a firmer hold on faith. They have a keener sense of duty and loyalty to one another, and are more benevolent and sympathetic. The elixir of youth is theirs without price.

They laugh often. They whistle and sing to the music of birds, the merry waters and the dancing leaves. Trees and shrubs and flowers! Who would not saunter among them?

Who would not roam the woods, climb the hills, tread the moss-bordered pools and streams for one draught of the priceless nectar that assures vigorous health and dreamless sleep?

Has Anyone Laughed At You Because—

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

You admit you want to get married?

Here is a list of things said to you if you be male or female: You are indelicate; you let people know you are not popular; you will never get a mate if you say you want one, etc. But it's just the contrary; you are not indelicate, but sensible; you show you are popular by daring to talk of marriage as something you want but haven't as yet; of course you'll get a mate if you say you want one, or what would become of the basic facts of advertising a want? The trouble is people are usually too shy to advertise, and life says: to advertise!

SO

Your get-away here is: You are probably telling the truth.

Her daughters will remain here until after commencement, Miss Iris being a member of the graduating class.

Ben F. Eakle, a well known Artesian, had his right arm badly sprained over at the Turkey Track Ranch Tuesday. An unbroken horse he was preparing to ride made a vigorous protest against being saddled, with a series of jumps, bucks, spurts and the various other stunts known only to untamed bronks, resulting in the painful though not serious injury to his arm above mentioned. He was brought over to town in a car by friends, where Dr. Russell gave his arm proper attention.

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

A MAN values anything, from a kiss to a heart, according to the trouble he had in getting it; a woman according to the trouble she has in keeping some other woman from getting it away from her.

Judging from the prompt way in which they begin "checking up" on one another right after the honeymoon, marriage is the miracle that turns a soul-mate into a checkmate.

Eve was the first woman to be blamed for whatever went wrong in the garden; but, as the wife of every suburban amateur Burbank can testify, Heaven knows she wasn't the last!

Man's life is a series of shocks— Yet, let not young lovers despair, Till the mermaids start rolling their socks. And the Lorelei bobs her hair!

Alas, what can a poor wife do? If she lets a man cling to all his little bad habits, he is apt to lose his chances in the future life, and if she makes him give them up, he is sure to lose all his interest in THIS one!

A woman's heart is a "one man" affair; but no man was ever so completely absorbed in one woman as to deaden his subconscious interest in the possible "next woman."

Marriage is the only condition that affords a woman the pleasure of company and the delightful sensation of solitude, at the same time.

A BIT OF BOTH

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

"YOU'LL rise and fall," my mother said,

"Have happiness and woes; No man has known just luck alone, Whatever folks suppose.

You'll smile and sigh, and laugh and cry,

Whatever height you reach, Have loss and gain, have joy and pain, A little bit of each.

"You'll fall and rise," my mother said;

"That makes it worth the while. For ev'ry loss and ev'ry cross I know you'll know a smile.

Don't think to find the world so kind When you have got your growth; You'll find the earth is sadness, mirth, A little bit of both.

"But, rise or fall," my mother said,

"You'll never fall so far If you are wise and realize Like all the rest you are.

You'll take the joy and pain, my boy, And both will serve to teach That life all through will bring the two, A little bit of each.

"Then, fall or rise," my mother said,

"You'll never grow so proud But you'll recall that, after all, You're part of all the crowd.

If work and play make up the day You'll labor, never loth, A little glad you always had A little bit of both."

MEN YOU MAY MARRY

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: An unmistakable gentleman; you know it the moment you set eyes on him. He took you to dinner and actually ordered from the word side of the column. He did it with pride like an artist—he enjoyed it more than you wished; for you'd rather have him talk of you than of "strawberries out of season." He loves restaurants—all the head waiters love and flock to him as he enters the room. You are proud of him. Every place he goes he invents new ways to tip.

A letter from Mrs. A. C. Keinath a short time ago states that Mr. Pasco, former teacher of manual training in our high school, was in a hospital at Burbank, California. While on route to California, some time ago, Mr. Pasco fell from a passenger train and was picked up by a freight crew, some four hours later, and taken to a hospital in Yuma, Arizona. He did not regain consciousness for three days. No bones were broken, but he was nearly dead when they found him, and his health is still in a serious condition. The family have been living in Long Beach.

"Life" of a magnetized in any has never been determined. Under the best of conditions would probably be a negligible amount in a single observer.

BAPTIST MISSIONS GREATLY EXTENDED

THE WORK ON FOREIGN FIELDS SHOWS LARGE EXPANSION FROM FORWARD MOVEMENT

NEW COUNTRIES ENTERED

Southern Forces Now Have Missionary Fields on Every Side of Globe With Audience of 900,000,000.

DR. J. F. LOVE, Sec. Foreign Mission Board

Indicating the extent to which the foreign mission work of the Southern Baptist Convention has been set forward by the larger proceeds that have come to it from the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, Dr. J. F. Love, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, reports that since 1919, when the Campaign was projected, the following increases in the work of that board have been made: Number of foreign missionaries on the field has increased from 328 to 540; number of native workers from 627 to 2,820; number of churches from 505 to 891; number of church members from 49,559 to 103,328; number of self-supporting churches from 143 to 211; number of baptisms per year from 5,635 to 12,611; number of Sunday schools from 769 to 1,447; number of Sunday school pupils from 36,114 to 67,407; number of day schools from 512 to 796; number of pupils in day schools from 15,722 to 32,789; and contributions per year from $173,372 to $437,568.

Baptisms Gain Rapidly
 Nearly as many persons have been baptized by the missionaries on the foreign fields since the Campaign began as had been baptized during all the seventy-five years of missionary operations prior to the inception of this movement, Dr. Love reports. This does not include Russia, where more than one million members have come into the Baptist churches in recent years. Nearly one-fourth as many persons were baptized on the foreign fields last year as there were members, all told, on the foreign fields when the Campaign began.

At the time the Campaign began Southern Baptists were operating only in Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, China, Japan, Africa and Italy. As a result of the larger proceeds made available from the Campaign the board has been enabled to enter the new fields of Spain, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Roumania, and Russia in Europe, and Palestine and Siberia in Asia. This gives to Southern Baptists a total missionary audience of 900,000,000, or more than one-half the total population of the globe.

Older Fields Re-Enforced
 But of more significance than the entry into these new fields is the reinforcement that has come to the work in the older fields, in the estimation of the officials of the Foreign Mission Board. This reinforcement consists not only in sending out many new workers but providing larger equipment in the way of church houses, mission residences, schools, hospitals, orphanages, publishing houses and the like. Summarizing the growth that has come in the forces on the older fields since the Campaign began the following results are pointed out:

Number of churches, 75% increase; number of church members, 108% increase; number of church buildings, 45% increase; number of schools, 15% increase; number of pupils, 108% increase; number of residences for missionaries, 94% increase; number of foreign missionaries, 63% increase;

THE GOVERNMENT NEEDS YOUNG ENGINEERS

The Civil Service Commission states that on May 7 it will hold throughout the country examinations for junior engineering positions in various branches of civil service. The examinations embrace most of the leading specialties in the field of engineering. The magnitude of the engineering work of the Government is indicated by the fact that it employs approximately 2,000 civil engineers alone. All told, the Federal Government employs in civil positions in the neighborhood of 8,000 engineers of various kinds. Each year, hundreds of recent graduates are appointed.

The Commission states that the water resources branch of the geological Survey will appoint 50 junior hydraulic engineers, and the Bureau of Public Roads will appoint 20 junior draughting engineers, and the Bureau of the Government service employ at least a few engineers of some kind.

Full information and application blanks may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or the secretary of the local board of civil-service examiners at the post office or customhouse in any city.

SCHOOL NOTES

We are informed by one of our teachers, Mrs. Iler that she will be here no longer, after Friday, April 25th. Mrs. Iler goes to Charleston, West Virginia, and is taking the position of principal of the typing and shorthand department in the Charleston Business college. She has been instructor of commercial subjects here and on all occasions has done everything possible for the good of Artesia. Mrs. Iler has carried on her work in such a way that the students of the shorthand and bookkeeping classes will have finished their courses before she goes. Also, many in the typing department have completed their work. However, for those that have not completed their typing, a substitute will take the place of Mrs. Iler.

The public speaking class, feeling that its course would not be complete without some practice in after-dinner speeches, gave a five course dinner Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The entire dinner carried out the idea of a base ball diamond and game. The place-cards, menus, programs, etc., were in the form of base balls and bats. The toasts to people in and around school were symbolical of the great national game. The following menu was served:

- Fruit Cocktail
- Chicken Loaf with Brown Sauce
- Rice Croquettes
- Peas in Timbals
- Buttered Rolls
- Combination Salad
- Peach Shortcake
- Coffee—Mints

PROGRAM

- Toastmistress, Anna Frances Jackson
- Diamond, Vera Madge Eaton
- Equipment, Burton Cecil
- Practice, Baxter Pollard
- Umpire, Nellie Horne
- Response, Miss Givens
- Scorekeeper, James Cowan
- Response, Mr. Dixon
- Pitcher, Thelma Huffman
- First base, Edna Dungan
- Second base, Katie Cowan
- Short stop, Herman Cole
- Third base, Cecelia Rohburg
- Sliding for home, Minnie Dungan
- Home, Anna DeArcy
- Committee—Herman Cole, Nellie Mae Horne and Thelma Huffman, chairman.

The dinner was given in the newly finished dining room of the high school. The decorations of base ball diamond, balls, bats and the beautiful flowers made a very pretty room. The occasion will be long remembered by the class itself, as their first effort to give toasts at a formal affair, and for a nice time they had. They also hope the few guests enjoyed the occasion and were not too critical at the amateur attempts at after-dinner speeches.
