Hinshaw and M. A. Corbin.

Artesia Children Show Kindness To Dumb Animals

"If we find it necessary to kill a dog, kill him dead," says an Advocate subscriber after his children had found an old dog suffering, but slowly dying near the pound grounds of the city. The kiddies performed an act of mercy by carrying water and food to an old dog, after they found him almost "kicked off," but still living with a nasty lick in the head aimed to kill him. As an act of kindness the children put a pillow under the dog's head and carried water and food to him daily. Whether he survived we never learned.

Events in the Lives of Little Men

Artesia Post Office Is Advanced To Second Class Office

The Artesia post office will be a second class office after July 1st, 1924, according to information received by Postmaster E. A. Hanna, recently. The new change will permit the employment of two postal clerks at a salary of $1400 per year with the addition of an assistant clerk, the assistant clerk to receive the same pay during working hours as the regular employees. Applicants for the position of postal clerks must take the civil service examination to be held soon. Increased receipts for 1923 resulted in putting the Artesia office in the second class. Only one other town in the state approaching the size of Artesia will have a second class office, Portales, our neighbor to the north.

Fats-Leans to Stage Annual Ball Game Next Week

Proceeds of Game Will Go To Beautify Park—Leans Expect to Put Up Stiffest Fight Ever Pulled Off On the Artesia Diamond.

Some people may not believe in predestination, but somehow we'll "allus" felt in bur bones the shadows cast by great events. And really we felt like something was going to tear loose real soon. Were we disappointed, no sree? We had not got to more en rolling good this week when in comes the Honorable Diables Epicurus Bryant, manager of the afore-said Artesia Auto Company hereinafter mentioned and said that the greatest event of the year was about to take place and that was that the annual fats versus leans baseball game. Somehow the fats have just naturally got a notion that they can wallup it over the leans and the leans not to be out done, aim to retaliate. We do not know the official position of Diables Epicurus, but presume it is his intention to pilot the onslaught of the fats, since he has had 16 years experience in an Arkansas barnyard. Boliver Socwad Smith (C. Bert) who received his early base ball training, splitting rails under the tutelage of Abraham Lincoln on the plains of southeastern Missouri, will officially pilot the hungry looking "rents." He is reputed to be the best skinner chaser in the entire section. Ole Cepuricus Wilm Bartlett, who showed Ty Cobb how to bat 445, will appear in the official line up we are assured and will show Artesia fans some real stuff despite the fact that he has long since abandoned his boyhood amusement for the profession of showing Artesia folks how Lar Semon "kin" throw pies. Benjamin Franklin Procrastinator Donahue, who thrice has spurned proffered offer from John McGraw of the New York Giants, says these guys will never get a look in at base so long as he tosses the pill. He tells us confidentially that he will take the game will not last over two innings. It takes too long to name the mighty base ball stars slated to appear in the line for verify the numerous as the Heavenly creation, however, here's a few that you may look for.

FATS LINE UP

LEAN LINE UP
Skipper Boliver Socwad (C. Bert Smith) 2nd base, Rastus Geneve Knoeder, 1st base, Petrusky Loving, short stop, Lucifer Slim Evans, right field, Franklin Seale, left field, Onorous Othography Brown, center field, Chestey Rakensack Russell, 3rd base, Reztum Ramonious Wheatley, pitcher, Rookie Marathon Harmonious Ferriman, chief hungry pig tail, Jeams M. Story, utility, Charleymane Mann, assistant twirler, Ephraim Baclidious Bullock, pinch hitter, Carthorous Cunningham, utility, Carsephus Kuykendall, catcher. Skipper Smith states the line is yet hardly complete, since right fielder Lucifer Slim Evans is on probation. Slim will be put through a daily workout every afternoon at 4:00 p. m. until the game next Wednesday. Those wishing to witness a marvelous exhibition of the National past time can do so by reporting to the Stradium of the leans immediately east of the railroad track, where they will see Slim put through the daily grind. Here's the interesting part of this story. The game that we have been talking about will be staged at the grounds east of the railroad track on Wednesday afternoon June 11th, at four o'clock sharp. All business houses will be closed for two hours on next Wednesday. The admission will be children 15 cents, adults 35 cents. The proceeds of the game will be used to beautify the city park. Every single solitary soul in Artesia is expected to be present to witness (Continued on page 8 column 4)

SLOW PROGRESS MADE IN HALSEY MURDER CASE

Special Venire is Summoned When Jury Empaneled Releases Jean Perdue. Defense Fails to Get Case Transferred.

An eleventh hour attempt to have the Halsey case transferred from Chaves County to some other county in the Fifth Judicial District failed when Judge Brice overruled a motion for a change of venue made by Robert C. Dow, attorney for Mrs. Halsey. In this motion Dow alleged that it would be impossible for the defendant to secure a fair and impartial trial in Chaves County, because of wide spread discussion. After forty-eight hours of work, not a juror has been finally accepted by both sides. Five special venires have already been called and excused. Conscientious scruples against the death penalty and fixed opinions accounted for a majority of the prospective jurors being excused. District Attorney Wyatt, in examining the talsmen, was particularly cautious about examining them as to their scruples concerning a verdict of first degree murder against a woman when such a verdict would carry with it the death penalty. Mrs. Nannie Halsey, widow of the slain man together with Luther Foster and William Archer are charged in this case with first degree murder. Jene Perdue, one of the four defendants in the Halsey murder case was given his freedom Monday morning as the court adjourned its morning session. His acquittal came through the granting of a motion that was filed by the office of the District Attorney which frees him from the charge of murder but it is presumed by court officials that he will be retained as a witness for the state. However no official statement was issued by the district attorney to this effect. Because of this acquittal a technicality has arisen which made it necessary to discharge the panel of jurors drawn and draw a special venire. It was later stated here that only two jurors had been selected up to a late hour Wednesday afternoon.

ED LAMB DIES AT HOME OF SISTER IN OKLA. CITY ON MAY THE 28th

E. C. Lamb, age 39, a former Artesia resident died at the home of his sister in Oklahoma City May 28th and was buried in a local cemetery there May 31st at 4:00 p. m., according to a telegram received by Frank Donahue. Mr. Lamb, who had been in poor health for some time was operated on in the Battle Creek Sanitarium last winter. After remaining in Battle Creek for sometime he went to the home of his sister, apparently improved in health, but gradually grew worse. He first came to the Pecos valley about fifteen years ago and bought a farm near here. During his stay in Artesia he made many friends, who will regret to learn of his death.

DR. CLARKE APPOINTED TOASTMASTER FOR N. M. DENTAL MEETING

Dr. J. J. Clarke, local dentist has had a recent honor thrust upon him, in an invitation extended to him by the president of the New Mexico Dental society, H. S. Murdock. He will act as toastmaster of the Albuquerque meeting to be held in June. Probably his local fame as a toastmaster has spread through the entire state. He has also been asked to speak at the American dental association held at Dallas, Texas, in November and the Chicago dental society in January.

NEW LOCATIONS HAVE CREATED ADDITIONAL INTEREST IN OIL FIELD

Drilling Wells Now Pounding Away Without Interruption—Shooting of the Illinois No. 3 Expected to Create Excitement.

Oil operators continue in an optimistic mood, despite the fact that some of the major developments looked for have been delayed. Drilling in all the deeper tests goes forward at a steady rate, however, in the majority of best wells no completions are expected within the next few days. A number of new locations have been made this week, although we were not able to secure the map locations on some of them. Test wells both east and west of the river will be put down soon, extending the present drilling field east of the wells now going down. The Akron Leasing Co., of Akron, N. Y., owning a government lease of 2560 acres some six miles east of Lake Arthur, have commissioned Virgil Moore, of Lake Arthur to procure a rig and start a test hole at once. All arrangements have been made to drill the first 500 feet to be completed by July 1, in order to comply with the law, and of sufficient size to deepen to 2000 feet later this summer. A drilling contract has been closed this week on what is known as the Walker permit, located east of the Tigner-Windsor well. Drilling on this well to commence by June 11th. Field manager Arba Green, who previously spent several days in Artesia, is expected to arrive this week to take active charge of drilling operations. Location to be announced later. The Tigner-Windsor well in sec. 14-17-22 is drilling at 1500 feet. Considerable oil is being baled out of the well daily. The log of this well as mentioned previously, shows up practically the same as that of the Illinois No. 3, but producing more oil and gas at the same depth. It was learned here that the Adamson et al well is to be started next week in sec. 5-17-28 and is to be a thorough test. Drilling will continue until the producing sand is reached. Illinois No. 2 in sec. 25-18-27, drilling at 2100 feet. The bit has penetrated a sand which appears to be saturated with oil. Drillers on the well are said to regard this as a very encouraging prospect. Brainard No. 1, Welch et al., drilling at 900 feet. Picher Oil and Gas Co., in sec. 12 (Continued on page 8 column 4)

MRS. JENKINS BADLY INJURED IN TRUCK ACCIDENT MONDAY A M

Monday morning a truck turned over on the highway north of town about five miles and Mrs. C. F. Jenkins, who was in the front seat, was thrown out and sustained a broken ankle and minor injuries. Her injuries were cared for and she was brought to town where she is resting as easily as could be expected. Mrs. Jenkins and children arrived from Caddogap, Arkansas, last week and had been staying with her daughter, Mrs. Caldwell, and family on the Cottonwood. She had rented a house, just east of the railroad on Main street and the family were proceeding to their new home, when the unfortunate accident occurred. Frank Drigan, a son-in-law of Mrs. Jenkins, was driving the car.

HEROES GRAVES DECORATED BY C. KEPPLE POST

Good Crowd Attend Memorial Services Despite Inclement Weather—Rev. L. R. Simmons Delivers Principal Address.

Threatening weather interfered somewhat with the celebration of Memorial Day last Friday morning. But by ten-thirty a fair audience had assembled at the Methodist church and the usual services were conducted. There was a fair attendance of World War veterans, no Spanish American war representatives and only one Civil War soldier. A choir composed of Mesdames V. L. Gates, Yates, Wheatley and Corbin, with Miss Dora Russell at the piano, lead the singing. This quartet accompanied gave an unusually fine rendition of a medley of patriotic songs. The sermon was by Rev. Simmons, pastor of the Baptist church, who was assisted in the service by the Revs. Jensen and Walker. Rev. Simmons paid a glowing tribute to the bravery and patriotism of the men, who place their lives upon the altar of their country, and then discussed the problem of world peace, which would make the terrible sacrifices of war unnecessary. The solution, which he advanced, was the Christianization of the world and the love of God in the hearts of all men. It was a most fervent and inspiring sermon. The American Legion took charge of the after service and, after remaining a moment with bowed heads in tribute to the honored dead, the people proceeded to Woodbine cemetery, where the closing exercises were conducted at the grave of Clarence Kepple, the only Artesia boy, who made the supreme sacrifice and in whose memory this post of the American Legion is named.

EFFORT BEING MADE TO HAVE AGR. AGENT FOR EDDY COUNTY

It is understood here that a strong effort will be made to have a county agricultural agent appointed for Eddy county. Jas. Bates and R. G. Brainard went to Carlsbad Monday and put up a proposition to the Eddy county commissioners, but no definite action was taken at the time on account of the absence of one or two of the commissioners. Part of the court favor an appointment of an agent, but it is not known what view the other members will take. Next Friday a committee from the north and south end of the county will meet with the commissioners and take up the matter. Mr. Bates, an Extension service representative will also be present and outline a plan which it is believed can be accepted.

H. J. WINDSOR RETURNS FROM ILLINOIS TRIP

H. T. Windsor of Batavia, Ill., returned Saturday from his home at Batavia. Mr. Windsor, in commenting on the conditions in the north states says that there has been a noticeable slow down in business in general, due partly to the retarded summer weather. Snow fell there a short time before his departure for the valley. Mr. Windsor will remain here for some time looking after his oil interests, probably until fall or winter. He says he will spend his leisure time in either writing poetry or giving lectures, he has not yet definitely decided which.

BOY SCOUTS ORGANIZE

The Boy Scouts of Artesia met last Saturday and effected an organization. Twelve boys, all of whom made formal application to join the order were present at the meeting. French Gray was chosen as Patrol leader, Chas. Bullock was elected secretary. The scouts will hold a meeting each Monday night at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce hall, at the rear of the Ferriman building.

MUST PEOPLE BE MADE LIABLE FOR FIRES?

During the past ten years, the fire waste of the United States has more than doubled until we are now annually burning up values amounting to approximately $506,540,000, which represents the annihilation of material wealth at the rate of $964 a minute. This destruction, furthermore, is accompanied by injury and serious loss of life so that the country's human resources are also depleted by fire. These facts are striking enough in themselves but what particularly impresses those who have studied the reasons for our tremendous national fire-loss is the fact that it is largely the outgrowth of carelessness and is, therefore, preventable. Since most fires are due to carelessness of the individual—the American habit of "taking a chance," with all of its faults and virtues—it is to the individual we must look for betterment of the situation.

It is true that the value of property has been largely enhanced during the period of the growing fire losses, but, in terms of percentages, the incineration of building and commodities has increased to a greater extent than the population. The remedy lies, therefore, in causing the public to be more careful in making it realize more fully how the nation and the individual are harmed by the continued ravages of fire.

This process of education is under way in the public schools of the country and means much for the future but what of the adult population whose habits are largely fixed? They are less susceptible to education than the younger generation, but economists say that the adults must, nevertheless, change their ways. Since moral persuasion appears to lack the required "punch" perhaps we must fall back upon the law and enact statutes that will make each person liable for the damage due to the fire he causes. This is the custom of the continental countries of Europe where one is held responsible also for the spread of fire to his neighbors' property. As a result, European fire losses are infinitesimal as compared with ours. Of course, structural conditions abroad are less favorable to burning, but the matter of personal liability looms large as a preventive of fire. Must we, too, follow, as a nation, the example of the Old World, as several American cities have already done, and attack the disease from the same standpoint before we can effect a cure?

And the Ford rambled right along in the El Paso Herald endurance contest.

"HOG TIED TO MCADOO"

New Mexico Democrats are now "hog tied" to McAdoo if we accept the decision of the delegates at Las Cruces. To pledge ourselves for any one candidate is bad enough, but to vote for McAdoo and just keep on voting for him is even worse, for he will have complete control of the State delegation until he releases them.

Well, he is going to be a target for the opposition and the democrats might as well be preparing themselves for some sort of defence. Some tall explanations will soon be in order.

KLU KLUX VS POLITICS

The Klu Klux seems to be mixing considerable politics with their order as well as mixing Klu Klux with politics, despite the fact that they maintain it is a non political organization. At least they are accused of doing such at a recent state convention held at Waco, Texas and there has been no denial of this act by any official so far as we have read.

This organization literally railroaded the entire meeting with a cut and dried program. What their motive was we do not know, but it certainly was not Democratic. Such doings as this is enough to disgust the average voter with the convention system.

THEORY IS NOW "DOPE" RESPONSIBLE FOR CHICAGO MURDER

The murder of the Frank boy, son of a Chicago millionaire, has been cleared of mystery and will furnish the chimologists a new angle for their study and may result in writing a new chapter on criminology. Both of the murderers are sons of the first families of Chicago, both are well educated, one holding a degree of bachelor of philosophy from the University of Chicago, the other received his A. B. degree at 17 years of age, from the same institution.

While the motive of the murder is yet unknown, one theory lays it's responsibility at the door of "dope," said to be increasing at a rapid rate in the larger cities.

OPTIMISM IN OIL INDUSTRY

Recognized leaders and experts in the oil industry declare there is nothing in the present situation to cause any great concern regarding outlook for the industry during the remainder of the year.

Record-breaking consumption of gasoline is expected during the summer, also a large consumption of lubricants and other products. This increase and reduction in the price of crude oil, they state, will be expected.

MOUNTAIN SCENES OF RARE BEAUTY IN BIG PHOTOPLAY

Sections of Kentucky Cumberlands Finely Shown in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine"

Lifting two acres of land bodily out of the valleys of the Cumberland mountains and planting it in the foothills surrounding Hollywood, Calif., is literally what was done by the Paramount company producing "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" a picture starring Mary Miles Minter, with Antonio Moreno, featured as leading man, which comes to the Air dome next Monday and Tuesday.

Picturesque in its resemblance to the actual thing, the scene was made for sequences of the photoplay mentioned. Two acres of land on the Laskey ranch were fenced in with long rail fences. Golden corn, stacked and appearing like sentinels guarding the little farm house, wait to be hauled from the field.

A cabin home of three rooms, with several coon dogs, a couple of horses, scores of chickens and ducks, two donkeys and other common natives of the Cumberland barnyard, stand demurely in the center of the two acres.

Even a barn, with a hay loft and cackling hens, with stalls and cows and a nearby pen of hogs, adds color to a scene beautiful reminiscent of the Cumberland mountains of East Tennessee and Kentucky during the past Civil War period.

The story of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," was written by the late John Fox, Jr., and deals with a family feud in the Cumberland mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee. Miss Minter is seen as June Tolliver, a sprightly mountain girl, who meets and loves John Hale, a coal mining engineer and head of a local law and order organization. He sends June to school, and within two years she is educated and civilized, as it were.

On her return home her uncle kills a policeman, and Hale is obliged to arrest him for murder. Then the feud breaks out afresh, and many dramatic incidents follow. There are many thrills in the subsequent scenes, all of which contribute to make this picture one of the most entertaining seen here during the current season. Ernest Torrence, a noted screen player, is featured in the cast.

HOW TO TREAT DISTEMPER IN HORSES

In combating distemper the first thing to do, says Dr. Hurst, livestock specialist of New Mexico Agricultural College, is to keep all young stock away from public feed yards, watering troughs, and tie posts, as distemper is an infectious disease, and is especially liable to attack young horses and mules.

If there is an outbreak of the disease in the vicinity, it is well to vaccinate all young horses. Vaccination renders only passive immunity, but it will bridge them over an emergency.

Colts may be nursed through a touch of this disease without serious difficulty provided they are properly housed, protected from inclement weather, and given laxative and nutritious foods. They should have plenty of fresh water and ventilation, and their bowels should be kept well open. If they have trouble in breathing it will be due to swellings in the head or neck, or possibly to congestion of the lungs.

The swellings are best treated by liniments or even blisters, which will soften the lumps and bring them to a head so that they may be lanced. After lancing, these abscesses should be syringed out daily with some mild, antiseptic solution until they heal. Steaming also helps.

To steam, pour a spoonful of turpentine, oil of eucalyptus, or beechwood creosote into a pail full of hot water and place in the bottom of a nose. Hold the animal's head over the steam, the animal should be kept warm. This steaming process may be repeated daily until the animal is relieved. If there is a tendency toward coughing, smear pine tar on the animal's molar teeth by means of a long paddle whittled from a board.

Better Not.

The El Paso District conference M. E. church, was held in Artesia last week and was well attended by pastors, delegates and visitors.

The Carlsbad boys came all the way to Artesia last Sunday with plenty of company, only to be defeated on the diamond of the Artesia cyclones.

Mr. Major will attend the reunion at Louisville and we do not blame him. He will certainly find some of those old boys he knew in the 60's.

The first Children's Day exercises ever held in Artesia, will be held at the Christian church Sunday evening June 4th, 1905, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. S. A. Walling, of Dayton, while walking in the yard a few days ago, accidentally stepped into a hole and broke her leg, just above the ankle.

A big cattle round up on the Cottonwood attracted quite a number of our citizens on Thursday. This is the largest round up this year with probably fifty cowboys in charge.

Mrs. Harjis died at the family residence, Hagerman heights, Carlsbad, Monday evening. Acting upon the advice of physicians they came to the Pecos valley two years ago from Paris, France. Mrs. Harjis was improved in health for awhile, but she came too late to be cured.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

ELIZA

ELIZA is another of the Elizabeth cycle of feminine names. With the single exception of Mary, there is no other name in the language of any country which has so many full-grown, fully independent offsprings. Eliza, which at first glance would seem to be Elizabeth with one syllable removed, has really an interesting little history of her own.

The name means, of course, "God's oath." The Divine title known to man before especial revelation to Moses in the burning bush was the Hebrew word EL, which corresponds to our term Deity. This word served as a prefix to many Biblical proper names. The first was Eliezer, the name of Abraham's steward who went to bring home Rebecca. Later the name changed to Eleazer and was applied to Aaron's eldest surviving son.

Following this bit of etymological history, Eliza would seem more likely the feminine of Eleazer than a mere contraction of Elizabeth. The latter explanation, however, is most generally adhered to, due, perhaps, to the influence of Elizabethan poetry and drama, which endeavored to improve on the name of the good queen, by terming her Eliza.

The popularity and prevalence of Eliza became widespread early in the Nineteenth century, and there are frequent instances of both names being given in baptism to different children in the same family.

The aquamarine is Eliza's talismanic gem. It promises her travel and change, and many friends. Saturday is her lucky day and 2 her lucky number.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. WAITE, Secretary of Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT some people think a lawyer is an unnecessary evil.

THAT a lot of people don't seem able to think before they speak.

THAT if they did they would speak differently.

THAT the legal profession is one of honor and distinction.

THAT the world would have a rough road to ride were it not for the lawyers.

THAT today the really great lawyer is a counselor.

THAT he is really a trained advisor who tries to keep his client out of court.

THAT he does it by trying to dispose of controversies by negotiation rather than by litigation.

THAT the lawyer of today is a man who is usually a man of knowledge of general business and often a business man of training and experience.

THAT his advice and help is always needed to steer business and even cities to the road of progress and development.

LAWYERS SHOULD ADVERTISE SO ALL THE PEOPLE MAY KNOW THESE INTERESTING FACTS.

FAMOUS PLAY, GRUMPY FINELY SCREENED BY WILLIAM DE MILLE

Theodore Roberts Featured in Title
Role

That delightful and popular stage play, "Grumpy," familiar to the theatre going world, has been brought to the screen and with such a cast as even the most optimistic admirers of the famous drama desired but hardly expected. William de Mille was the producer.

The character of Grumpy is played by Theodore Roberts, whose "Uncle Josh" in "The Old Homestead" stands as one of the greatest character ever established in the screen world. In "Grumpy," which will be the feature at the Airdome theatre for two days, beginning Wednesday next, Mr. Roberts has a character none the less powerful—if anything even more adaptable to his actual ability.

Featured in this William de Mille production with Mr. Roberts are Conrad Nagel and May McAvoy, respectively enacting the roles of the hero, Ernest Heron, and the heroine, Virginia Bullivant. The romance and the dreamy small-town atmosphere of the picture could not have been placed in better hands than those of Miss McAvoy and Mr. Nagel.

The story of "Grumpy" deals with the love affairs of a young couple fostered by Grumpy, an irascible though lovable retired criminal lawyer. A valuable diamond is stolen, and its recovery is wholly due to the discovery of the identity of the robber by means of a gardenia, of which one each was worn by three of the leading characters. How Grumpy gets his clew and runs it down makes one of the most suspenseful picture stories ever screened.

The heavy role was given to Casson Ferguson, whose artistic portrayal of the cripple poet in "Drums of Fate," a recent Paramount picture, won great praise. The remainder of the roles in the picture are played by Bernice Frank, Bertram Johns,

Next week the pastor and others will attend the Standard Training School to be held at Portales. We hope to have a large delegation.

A most cordial invitation is extended to all to attend our services. Strangers and visitors accorded a hearty welcome.

JAMES H. WALKER,
Pastor.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The revival meeting continues to grow. Each service becomes more impressive and great results are being obtained. So far, nine have united with the church and a number of others have promised to do so.

Monday night was a record breaker for Monday night. The following men, members of Rev. Cook's church of Roswell gave him a surprise by coming from Roswell to attend the meeting:

B. F. Fields, H. A. Weiss, J. F. Boyster, E. C. White, W. H. Cole, D. L. Reed, H. E. Brennan, J. D. Page, C. Conella, J. F. Sullins, J. Suke, J. L. Mabie, C. Smith and James Wolfe. It is indeed great for any pastor to have a loyal bunch of men like this. We were truly glad to have them.

The ordinance of Baptism will be administered to those who are ready Friday evening at seven o'clock.

We greatly appreciate the co-operation of the other churches during our meeting, and feel this is the spirit that should characterize God's people at all times.

BRIDGE CLUB ANNUAL PICNIC

The zest in any game comes from competition and it is for this reason that the ladies of the first Bridge Club keep their scores during the year. At the end of that time the six holding the highest scores are rewarded by an annual picnic, which is given by the others as a penalty for their remissness and an incentive to greater zeal in the future.

The annual picnic this year proved to be an elegant luncheon, which was served at the home of Mrs. J. J. Clarke at noon last Thursday. The other members of the group vanquished in the race were Mesdames Brainard, M. H. Ferriman, Walter Ferriman, C. Bert Smith, Ferson, and Ferrer, the latter substituting for Mrs. S. D. Gates. Those who enjoyed the spoils of victory were Mesdames Bigler, Corbin, C. W. Welton, George Welton, Yates and Brooks.

FAMILY DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ferriman entertained at a family dinner party Tuesday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Orrie Houger and daughters, the Misses Juliette and Joan, of Denver. The other guests were Mrs. C. W. Welton, Mr. and Mrs. George Welton, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ferriman and sons, Robert and George Holden.

Charles Ogle, Robert Bolder and Charles French.

Guy Wilkey was chosen as cameraman. Clara Beranger adapted the screen version from the stage play, "Grumpy," by Horace Hodges and T. Wingney Percyval.

F. A. Thorold Eller,
Priest-in-charge.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The Children's Day program held immediately after the Sunday school hour, was a splendid one. The voice of the hour was that of unselfishness (or helping others). Such should be the spirit of all christians. If we cannot all go to distant lands in person, we can at least encourage others, and send means of support for those who can go. Some of our choicest manhood and womanhood is being sacrificed that others might see the light. And so it must be, for such is heaven's message. The offering taken for the work at the close of the program proved that hearts were back of this noble work.

Next Lord's day we will have Bible school at the usual hour, with preaching service immediately following. There will be no preaching during the evening hour, as it is the wish of our people to co-operate with the Baptist people in their evangelistic efforts during that hour.

Please don't forget our prayer meetings held every Wednesday evening. We invite you.

Services as follows beginning June 8th.

Bible school at 9:45 a. m.
Preaching service 11 a. m.
Christian endeavor 6:30 p. m.
Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

All are welcome.
PETER JENSEN,
Pastor.

MUST PEOPLE BE MADE LIABLE FOR FIRES?

During the past ten years, the fire waste of the United States has more than doubled until we are now annually burning up values amounting to approximately $506,540,000, which represents the annihilation of material wealth at the rate of $964 a minute. This destruction, furthermore, is accompanied by injury and serious loss of life so that the country's human resources are also depleted by fire. These facts are striking enough in themselves but what particularly impresses those who have studied the reasons for our tremendous national ash-heap is the fact that it is largely the outgrowth of carelessness and is, therefore, preventable. Since most fires are due to carelessness of the individual—the American habit of "taking a chance," with all of its faults and virtues—it is to the individual we must look for betterment of the situation.

It is true that the value of property has been largely enhanced during the period of the growing fire losses, but, in terms of percentages, the incineration of building and commodities has increased to a greater extent than the population. The remedy lies, therefore, in causing the public to be more careful in making it realize more fully how the nation and the individual are harmed by the continued ravages of fire.

This process of education is under way in the public schools of the country and means much for the future but what of the adult population whose habits are largely fixed? They are less susceptible to education than the younger generation, but economists say that the adults must, nevertheless, change their ways. Since moral persuasion appears to lack the required "punch" perhaps we must fall back upon the law and enact statutes that will make each person liable for the damage due to the fire he causes. This is the custom of the continental countries of Europe where one is held responsible also for the spread of fire to his neighbors' property. As a result, European fire losses are infinitesimal as compared with ours. Of course, structural conditions abroad are less favorable to burning, but the matter of personal liability looms large as a preventive of fire. Must we, too, follow, as a nation, the example of the Old World, as several American cities have already done, and attack the disease from the same standpoint before we can effect a cure?

And the Ford rambled right along in the El Paso Herald endorsement contest.

"HOG TIED TO MCADOO"

New Mexico Democrats are now "hog tied" to McAdoo if we accept the decision of the delegates at Las Cruces. To pledge ourselves for any one candidate is bad enough, but to vote for McAdoo and just keep on voting for him is even worse, for he will have complete control of the State delegation until he releases them.

Well, he is going to be a target for the opposition and the democrats might as well be preparing themselves for some sort of defence. Some tall explanations will soon be in order.

KLU KLUX VS POLITICS

The Klu Klux seems to be mixing considerable politics with their order as well as mixing Klu Klux with politics, despite the fact that they maintain it is a non political organization. At least they are accused of doing such at a recent state convention held at Waco, Texas and there has been no denial of this act by any official so far as we have read.

This organization literally railroaded the entire meeting with a cut and dried program. What their motive was we do not know, but it certainly was not Democratic. Such doings as this is enough to disgust the average voter with the convention system.

THEORY IS NOW "DOPE" RESPONSIBLE FOR CHICAGO MURDER

The murder of the Frank boy, son of a Chicago millionaire, has been cleared of mystery and will furnish the chimologists a new angle for their study and may result in writing a new chapter on criminology. Both of the murderers are sons of the first families of Chicago, both are well educated, one holding a degree of bachelor of philosophy from the University of Chicago, the other received his A. B. degree at 17 years of age from the same institution.

While the motive of the murder is yet unknown, one theory lays it's responsibility at the door of "dope," said to be increasing at a rapid rate in the larger cities.

OPTIMISM IN OIL INDUSTRY

Recognized leaders and experts in the oil industry declare there is nothing in the present situation to cause any great concern regarding outlook for the industry during the remainder of the year.

Record-breaking consumption of gasoline is expected during the coming summer, also a large consumption of lubricants and other products. Weekly increases and reduction in production of crude oil, they state, are to be expected.

MOUNTAIN SCENES OF RARE BEAUTY IN BIG PHOTOPLAY

Sections of Kentucky Cumberlands Finely Shown in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine"

Lifting two acres of land bodily out of the valleys of the Cumberland mountains and planting it in the foothills surrounding Hollywood, Calif., is literally what was done by the Paramount company producing "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" a picture starring Mary Miles Minter, with Antonio Moreno, featured as leading man, which comes to the Airdome next Monday and Tuesday.

Picturesque in its resemblance to the actual thing, the scene was made for sequences of the photoplay mentioned. Two acres of land on the Laskey ranch were fenced in with long rail fences. Golden corn, stacked and appearing like sentinels guarding the little farm house, wait to be hauled from the field.

A cabin home of three rooms, with several coon dogs, a couple of horses, scores of chickens and ducks, two donkeys and other common natives of the Cumberland barnyard, stand demurely in the center of the two acres.

Even a barn, with a hay loft and cackling hens, with stalls and cows and a nearby pen of hogs, adds color to a scene beautiful reminiscent of the Cumberland mountains of East Tennessee and Kentucky during the past Civil War period.

The story of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," was written by the late John Fox, Jr., and deals with a family feud in the Cumberland mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee. Miss Minter is seen as June Tolliver, a sprightly mountain girl, who meets and loves John Hale, a coal mining engineer and head of a local law and order organization. He sends June to school, and within two years she is educated and civilized, as it were.

On her return home her uncle kills a policeman, and Hale is obliged to arrest him for murder. Then the feud breaks out afresh, and many dramatic incidents follow. There are many thrills in the subsequent scenes, all of which contribute to make this picture one of the most entertaining seen here during the current season. Ernest Torrence, a noted screen player, is featured in the cast.

HOW TO TREAT DISTEMPER IN HORSES

In combating distemper the first thing to do, says Dr. Hurst, livestock specialist of New Mexico Agricultural College, is to keep all young stock away from public feed yards, watering troughs and tie posts, as distemper is an infectious disease, and is especially liable to attack young horses and mules.

If there is an outbreak of the disease in the vicinity, it is well to vaccinate all young horses. Vaccination renders only passive immunity, but it will bridge them over an emergency.

Colts may be nursed through a touch of this disease without serious difficulty provided they are properly housed, protected from inclement weather, and given laxative and nutritious foods. They should have plenty of fresh water and ventilation, and their bowels should be kept well open. If they have trouble in breathing it will be due to swellings in the head or neck, or possibly to congestion of the lungs.

The swelling is best treated by liniments or even blisters, which will soften the lumps and bring them to a head so that they may be lanced. After lancing, these abscesses should be syringed out daily with some mild, antiseptic solution until they heal. Steaming also helps.

To steam, pour a spoonful of turpentine, oil of eucalyptus, or beechwood creosote into a pail full of hot water and place in the bottom of a sack. Hold the sack over the horses' nose. When the animal sweats freely, the steaming should be stopped, and the animal well blanketed and kept warm. This steaming process may be repeated daily until the animal is relieved. If there is a tendency toward coughing, smear pine tar on the animal's molar teeth by means of a long paddle whittled from a board.

Better Not.

The man who can read a woman like a book should not slip the introduction.—Boston

"What's in a Name?"
By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day, lucky jewel

ELIZA

ELIZA is another of the Elizabeth cycle of feminine names. With the single exception of Mary, there is no other name in the language of any country which has so many full-grown, fully independent offsprings. Eliza, which at first glance would seem to be Elizabeth with one syllable removed, has really an interesting little history of her own.

The name means, of course, "God's oath." The Divine title known to man before special revelation to Moses in the burning bush was the Hebrew word ELL, which corresponds to our term Deity. This word served as a prefix to many Biblical proper names. The first was Eliezer, the name of Abraham's steward who went to bring home Rebecca. Later the name changed to Eleazar and was applied to Aaron's eldest surviving son.

Following this bit of etymological history, Eliza would seem more likely the feminine of Eleazar than a mere contraction of Elizabeth. The latter explanation, however, is most generally adhered to, due, perhaps, to the influence of Elizabethan poetry and drama, which endeavored to improve on the name of the good queen, by terming her Eliza.

The popularity and prevalence of Eliza became widespread early in the Nineteenth century, and there are frequent instances of both names being given in baptism to different children in the same family.

The aquamarine is Eliza's talismanic gem. It promises her travel and change, and many friends. Saturday is her lucky day and 2 her lucky number.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. WAITE, Secretary of Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT some people think a lawyer is an unnecessary evil.

THAT a lot of people don't seem able to think before they speak.

THAT if they did they would speak differently.

THAT the legal profession is one of honor and distinction.

THAT the world would have a rough road to ride were it not for the lawyers.

THAT today the really great lawyer is a counselor.

THAT he is really a trained advisor who tries to keep his client out of court.

THAT he does it by trying to dispose of controversies by negotiation rather than by litigation.

THAT the lawyer of today is a man who is usually a man of knowledge of general business and often a business man of training and experience.

THAT his advice and help is always needed to steer business and even cities to the road of progress and development.

FAMOUS PLAY, GRUMPY FINELY SCREENED BY WILLIAM DE MILLE

Theodore Roberts Featured in Title
Role

That delightful and popular stage play, "Grumpy," familiar to the theatre-going world, has been brought to the screen and with such a cast as even the most optimistic admirers of the famous drama desired but hardly expected. William de Mille was the producer.

The character of Grumpy is played by Theodore Roberts, whose "Uncle Josh" in "The Old Homestead" stands as one of the greatest character roles established in the screen world. In "Grumpy," which will be the feature at the Airdome theatre for two days, beginning Wednesday next, Mr. Roberts has a character none the less powerful--if anything even more adaptable to his actual ability.

Featured in this William de Mille production with Mr. Roberts are Conrad Nagel and May McAvoy, respectively enacting the roles of the hero, Ernest Heron, and the heroine, Virginia Bullivant. The romance and the dreamy small-town atmosphere of the picture could not have been placed in better hands than those of Miss McAvoy and Mr. Nagel.

The story of "Grumpy" deals with the love affairs of a young couple fostered by Grumpy, an irascible though lovable retired criminal lawyer. A valuable diamond is stolen, and its recovery is wholly due to the discovery of the identity of the robber by means of a grand-idea, of which one each was worn by three of the leading characters. How Grumpy gets his claw and runs it down makes one of the most suspenseful picture stories ever screened.

The heavy role was given to Casson Ferguson, whose artistic portrayal of the cripple poet in "Drums of Fate," a recent Paramount picture, won great praise. The remainder of the roles in the picture are played by Bernice Frank, Bertram Johns,

BAPTIST CHURCH

The revival meeting continues to grow. Each service becomes more impressive and great results are being obtained. So far, nine have united with the church and a number of others have promised to do so.

Monday night was a record breaker for Monday night. The following men, members of Rev. Cook's church of Roswell gave him a surprise by coming from Roswell to attend the meeting:

B. F. Fields, H. A. Weiss, J. F. Boyster, E. C. White, W. H. Cole, D. L. Reed, H. E. Brennan, J. D. Page, C. Conella, J. F. Sullins, J. Suke, J. L. Mabie, C. Smith and James Wolfe.

The ordinance of Baptism will be administered to those who are ready Friday evening at seven o'clock.

We greatly appreciate the co-operation of the other churches during our meeting, and feel this is the spirit that should characterize God's people at all times.

BRIDGE CLUB ANNUAL PICNIC

The zest in any game comes from competition and it is for this reason that the ladies of the first Bridge Club keep their scores during the year. At the end of that time the six holding the highest scores are rewarded by an annual picnic, which is given by the others as a penalty for their remissness and an incentive to greater zeal in the future.

The annual picnic this year proved to be an elegant luncheon, which was served at the home of Mrs. J. J. Clarke at noon last Thursday. The other members of the group vanquished in the race were Mesdames Brainard, M. H. Ferriman, Walter Ferriman, C. Bert Smith, Ferson, and Ferec, the latter substituting for Mrs. S. D. Gates. Those who enjoyed the spoils of victory were Mesdames Bigler, Corbin, C. W. Welton, George Welton, Yates and Brooks.

FAMILY DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ferriman entertained at a family dinner party Tuesday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Orrie Hourger and daughters, the Misses Juliette and Joan, of Denver. The other guests were Mrs. C. W. Welton, Mr. and Mrs. George Welton, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Ferriman and sons, Robert and George Holden.

Charles Ogle, Robert Bolder and Charles French.

Guy Wilkey was chosen as cameraman. Clara Beranger adapted the screen version from the stage play, "Grumpy," by Horace Hodges and T. Wingery Percival.

Priest-in-charge.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The Children's Day program held immediately after the Sunday school hour, was a splendid one. The voice of the hour was that of unselfishness (or helping others). Such should be the spirit of all Christians. If we cannot all go to distant lands in person, we can at least encourage others, and send means of support for those who can go. Some of our choicest manhood and womanhood is being sacrificed that others might see the light. And so it must be, for such is heaven's message. The offering taken for the work at the close of the program proved that hearts were back of this noble work.

Next Lord's day we will have Bible school at the usual hour, with preaching service immediately following. There will be no preaching during the evening hour, as it is the wish of our people to co-operate with the Baptist people in their evangelistic efforts during that hour.

Please don't forget our prayer meetings held every Wednesday evening. We invite you.

Services as follows beginning June 8th.

Bible school at 9:45 a. m.
Preaching service 11 a. m.
Christian endeavor 6:30 p. m.
Prayer meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.
All are welcome.

PETER JENSEN,
Pastor.

LOW RATES AND LIBERAL USE IS AIM ON THE ELECTRIC FARM

Minnesota Experimenters Suggest Consumption of 300 KWH Per Month and Set Up Rate of Five Cents Per KWH After Fixed Charges.

To induce farmers who electrify their farms to use as much as 300 kilowatt hours of energy a month, by reason of attractive rate schedules, is one of the basic objects of the experimental farm transmission line now in operation outside the city of Red Wing, Minn. On most farms where electric energy is supplied by a power company, the farmer seldom uses over 30 or 35 kilowatt hours of energy per month—a rather startling difference between present practice and hoped-for accomplishment.

In that gap between 30 kilowatt hours and 300 kilowatt hours lies the hidden reason why electric energy for farm use, when provided by a power company, has heretofore been an economic failure, according to the promoters of the Red Wing experiment.

Speaking for the joint committee which is in charge of the farm line extending five miles out of Red Wing 25 kilowatt hours, showing that he is still fighting to keep under this minimum.

Low Rates for Large Usage
Mr. Stuart then showed how the carefully studied rate tentatively established for the Red Wing experimental line is expected to operate by contrast with rates just alluded to. Having determined an equitable fixed charge for each customer of $6.90 a month, covering insurance, depreciation, maintenance of the line, taxes and overhead expenses, the energy rate was made low. It is 5 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 30 kilowatt hours, and 3 cents per kilowatt hour for the excess.

Under these rates it develops that the farmer who seeks to secure electric energy solely for electric lights and nothing else has necessarily and unavoidably taken on an expensive proposition. But, if he uses electric energy and serving eighteen typical farms, Charles F. Stuart, assistant to the vice-president and general manager of the Northern States Power Company, which built the line, told of an investigation just made of more than thirty existing farm lines, in various localities, which serve 1,452 customers.

COMMITTEE BACKING MINNESOTA LINE

Why Farm Lines Haven't Paid
"It was found," he said, "that every one of these farm lines was losing money. The reason why was soon made all-apparent, for the average consumption for these 1,452 farmers was only 23.7 kilowatt hours per month, which is less than the average city resident customer uses. It seems probable that this low consumption is due to two factors, one being rate structures not inviting to liberal use of current and the second being that the farmer never has been shown how to use electricity liberally to his own advantage.

"Farmers have financed the building of rural lines and deeded them over to the power companies, which usually charge at least 12 cents per kilowatt hour for the first hundred kilowatt hours, with a minimum bill of $5 a month for the next hundred kilowatt hours, at a step 1 cent lower, and the excess perhaps at a further 1 cent reduction.

"These rates are not exorbitant, but do not invite the progressive farmer to a liberal consumption, in that the farmer never gets down to cheap electricity, no matter how much he uses.

"Take a rate of 100 kilowatt hours per month at 12 cents net, with a minimum charge of $5 per month. A study of lines with this rate reveals that the farmer makes very sure never to exceed his minimum bill. His $5 entitles him to approximately 41 kilowatt hours, but his average consumption is about $5, showing that he is determined never to go over his minimum.

"Where the minimum bill is $3 per month, his consumption is held under for various other purposes, so that his total consumption increases, and thereby the benefit resulting from the electric energy on his farm also presumably increases, it becomes worthwhile. The reason for this was shown by an imaginary case, worked out by Mr. Stuart.

Cost Per Kilowatt Hour Decreases
It assumed that a farmer used 20 kilowatt hours per month, at the energy rate established for the Red Wing line. This would cost him the fixed charge of $6.90 plus $1 for the energy, a total of $7.90, or 39.5 cents per kilowatt hour. But if he used 50 kilowatt hours per month, his total bill would amount to only $9, or 18 cents per kilowatt hour. If he used 100 kilowatt hours, his bill would be only $10.50, which is 10.5 cents per kilowatt hour; and if he used 300 kilowatt hours, his bill would amount to $16.50 or 5.5 cents per kilowatt hour.

"This," said Mr. Stuart, "is what we call a rate schedule which would invite, rather than prohibit, the liberal use of electric energy."

As to Effective Usages
The practical tryout of such a rate is one of the two big objectives of the Red Wing experiment. The second is a serious study of the application of electricity to agriculture.

This dove-tails into the other objective in a very practical manner. "We realized," said Mr. Stuart, "that there would be no common sense in getting the farmer to consume a large amount of electric energy just to earn a low kilowatt-hour rate, and that the job was ours to show him how to use, to his own advantage, some ten times as much energy as he now consumes. We have got to find that out, and we must not do it at the expense of the farmer."

This part of the Red Wing investigation is now being followed through with every indication of some interesting results, although it is still too early, the joint committee declares, to try to indicate these results.

You pun?
Never you mind, you get a laugh, don't you? They may laugh at you, but they do a lot of laughing with you, too. There are some awfully vapid puns, yet some of the wittiest people in the world have made puns, and a great bulk of the jokes that people pay for seeing in the "movies" are puns, some good and some bad. I remember a "movie" where the puns in the titles made the "movie" a success. So let the heathen laugh at you, because they will have a laugh with you for entertaining them—if you don't do it to excess.

WOMAN'S CLUB PARTY

A delightful party, which was held at the lovely new home of Mrs. R. L. Paris, last Wednesday afternoon, closed the year very pleasantly for the Woman's Club. The party was in honor of three retiring officers—Mrs. Stroup, who was retiring from the office of president after an incumbency of four years, also Mrs. Hartell, secretary and Mrs. Wheatley, treasurer, all of whom were surprised to find themselves guests of honor. The affair was in charge of the social committee, the chairman, Mrs. Paris, being assisted by Mesdames Hamilton, Ferson and George Welton, Mrs. Atkeson, chairman of the program committee, conducted a number of clever and interesting games. The club is usually fortunate in its musicians and a number of these helped in making the afternoon a success. Mrs. Ferriman rendering instrumental music of a high order and Mesdames V. L. Gates and Corbin favoring the company with beautiful vocal solos. Mrs. Walter Graham made a "hit" with two humorous readings. Refreshments of brick ice cream, in the club colors, pink and white, cake and coffee were served.

A number of the club members were away and a few were unavoidably absent. Those present were Mesdames Paris, Atkeson, Blake, G. R. Brainard, Otis Brown, Corbin, M. H. Ferriman, Ferson, V. L. Gates, Hightower, Gilbert, Graham, Hamilton, Hartell, Lowry, Seale, Schenck, Stroup, Welsh, George Welton, Wheatley, Wilson, Albert Richards and Keller. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Orrie Hourger and daughter, Miss Juliette, of Denver, Miss Mary Strunk of St. Joseph, Mo., and Miss Myrtle Brown of St. Louis.

Men You May Marry

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: Very tall, broad face, large mouth, hair parted on side, slow stride, heavy tread. Likes to wear caps. He is very serious—life to him has been a struggle. Hasn't had any home, has lived on railroad trains and in nearly every city. Traveled a lot but not a traveling man type. Crazy to settle down in a small town—and be a big man in Y. M. C. A. and other quiet institutions. He likes you because you are lively. Coughs before he says anything he thinks is weighty—

IN FACT

He himself is more weighty than his words.

Prescription for the bride-to-be:

Forget the sowing of wild oats. Sew your way well among his socks.

The Why of Superstitions

By H. IRDING KING

MARE-BROWED MEN

MARE-BROWED men are described as those whose eyes meet above the nose. In many sections of this country and Canada it is considered unlucky to meet such a man when starting on a journey, going hunting, or about to engage in any new enterprise. The superstition is patently a form of the superstition of the evil eye which, having come down to us through unnumbered centuries, is as potent now in some countries as it ever was. In Italy and in the Levant, for instance, the belief in the evil eye is taken as a matter of course and few there be in those lands who would question it. The superstition as a whole has already been dealt with in this series. That the mare-browed man superstition is a phase of it is evidenced by the fact that in some sections of Canada and this country such a man is supposed to be able to "cast spells." The uniting of the eyebrows gives a peculiar look to the eyes and oftentimes a sinister one—it emphasizes the power of the glance, as it were, and thus naturally calls to mind the "evil-eye." The superstition regarding ill luck attached to cross-eyed persons and mare-browed persons are the two most common forms in which the evil eye superstition manifests itself in this country; except in cases where immigrants have brought with them across the Atlantic the superstition in its original form.

MEXICAN CHARGED WITH ROBBERY HOTEL

Joe Frausto, former porter at the Crawford hotel, was arrested in Roswell last Saturday, charged with the robbery of the hotel Thursday night of last week. Frausto and his bride were doing some shopping, having spent about $175 for clothes, and the man had about six dollars in his pockets and the woman forty dollars. The amount of money stolen was $545 so the couple must have a cache somewhere with the remainder of the money safely hidden, if they are guilty, and there is hardly any doubt as to that, as the man confessed that he was a party to the robbery, although another man did the actual work, Frausto furnishing the combination to the safe, for which he said he received $150. The accomplice of Frausto is thought to be mythical, as he is not known by the description given with any man arrested in Roswell, where the man was picked up for three or four days. At any rate he has not been out leaving any trace. The man has gone. The woman is likely to plead guilty to the robbery sentence. The woman is concerned as having some of stolen property.

Where Shall We Fly the Flag?

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WHERE shall we fly the flag?—above
The ranks of marching men? Ah, yes, because that flag they love, Would die to save again.
But not alone the soldier lad
The flag should proudly bear;
Let none parade the land he made
Unless the flag is there.

Where shall we fly the flag?—upon
Our ships that go to sea,
Whose flaming guns will light the dawn
For all humanity?
Ah, yes, and peaceful merchantmen,
East, West, and ev'rywhere—
In ev'ry port of ev'ry sort
Let men behold it there.

Where shall we fly the flag?—display
The standard of our sires?
Above the judge's brow of gray,
Upon our gilded spires,
Yes, over ev'ry altar rail
And ev'ry judge's chair—
Because we need no court nor creed
That does not want it there.

Where shall we fly the flag?—that all
The flag may learn to love?
O'er ev'ry college, great or small,
And ev'ry school above,
Yes, over ev'ry teacher's desk
With children in his care,
For in this room our buds will bloom—
We want no treason there.

Where shall we fly the flag?—that you
And I may understand
The treasures we possess,
Our liberties, and our duty, too,
To home and God and land?
The greatest wealth, the highest wage,
Of mortals anywhere—
O'er fertile hill and busy mill,
Oh, let us fly it there.

Where shall we fly the flag?—with these
The treasures we possess,
Our liberties, our luxuries?
What better place, ah, yes,
What better place our love to show,
Our loyalty to wear?
Where'er we roam, when we come home,
Oh, let us find it there.

Where shall we fly the flag?—that each
May understand and see:
Yes, all who toil, or trade, or teach,
Whoever we may be?
O'er marching men, o'er sturdy ships,
Schools, churches, ev'rywhere,
O'er mill and mart—and in the heart,
Oh, let us fly it there!

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl
By HELEN ROWLAND

THE Wife Who Insists On Cheering a Man Up When He Is Feeling "Sorry for Himself" Is Just a Spoilsport.

The first thing a bride has to learn, after the honeymoon, is that she is no longer a fascinating mystery but merely an accepted "fact." But, after all, FACTS are the only things which a man values, respects—and clings to.

At ten, a boy regards girls as pests; at twenty as a mystery; at thirty as a danger; at forty as a divine dispensation; and at fifty, as a rejuvenator.

The first sign of advancing age is a predilection for the "toddie"; the older and fatter a dancing man, the more violently he takes it.

Temperament is a "gift" if you have it yourself—and a "curse" if you are married to it. Because, then, you never know whether you are going to have bouquets, kisses, or the cream jug thrown at you.

A girl is not really in love until she discovers that a kiss can be just as satisfying and thrilling in a 1916 Flivver as in a 1924 Twin-six.

Never try to break the heart of a man of forty-seven. For if the woman of the moment falls him, there are still his philosophy, his work, his golf, his tobacco, his clubs, his books—and another woman—to console him.

EXPERIMENTS SHOW PROMISING GRASSES FOR THE IRRIGATED VALLEYS

The two most promising grasses of the twenty-four different crops planted by the agronomy department of New Mexico College of Agriculture in a recent experiment to determine the adaptability of various crops to New Mexico conditions proved to be Italian Rye Grass and English Rye Grass.

In the fall of 1923 the agronomy department began this study of grasses and clovers, seeding down the different varieties in small test plots. The Italian Rye Grass grew more vigorously in the fall than any other grass, maintained a growth comparable to ordinary rye throughout the winter, and by May 15 had made a growth of 30 to 36 inches. From present indications it should make a good fall, winter, and early spring pasture, and also give two or three cuttings of hay during the season. Unfortunately it does not ordinarily last more than two years but since there exists at present a demand for crops for short time rotations, Italian Rye Grass may find a permanent place in the agriculture of this state.

English Rye Grass in the same period of time has made a growth of one and one half to two feet, and makes an excellent crop for lawns and pastures, but does not yield as much hay as the Italian Rye variety. It is a perennial, and may be expected to last for several years. The most promising legume from the standpoint of growth is Hairy Vetch. It grew vigorously early in the spring, and by May 10 was a tangled mass of vines, eighteen inches to two feet high, with indication of giving a satisfactory hay yield. It should also be valuable as a winter cover crop, and as a winter and early spring pasture. The greatest disadvantage of this crop is the fact that the seed is rather expensive. It also needs a support crop such as rye, since it is very viney and hard to handle. It can not be expected to take the place of alfalfa as a hay crop, although it remains green longer in the fall and gets an earlier start. None of the clovers, such as Red, Crimson, Alsike or White, give promise of much value here.

House Irrigation Bill
Reported Favorable by Chairman Smith

Washington, June 3.—A bill designed to afford relief to settlers on reclamation projects and to provide sweeping changes in the reclamation laws was reported today by the house irrigation committee. The measure is in line with the recommendations of Secretary Work's fact finding commission on reclamation which has been approved by President Coolidge. The vote was 12 to 1.

House action on bill will be sought before adjournment, Chairman Smith being instructed to use every effort to call it up under the suspension of the rules, which would shut off amendments, limit debate to 40 minutes and require a two-thirds vote for passage.

Committee work on the bill was speeded in view of the numerous demands in both house and senate that reclamation legislation should be enacted before adjournment. The measure, introduced by Mr. Smith, would provide for the establishment of a bureau of reclamation in the interior department and readjustment of water charges which would be based on the average estimated crop value extended over a period of years. Settlers on new projects would be given thirty instead of twenty years in which to pay off charges.

Representative Raker, Democrat, California, opposed the bill in committee. He said he expected to file a minority.

The committee eliminated a proposal which would have enabled the extension by the secretary of the interior of short time loans of $600 to settlers for the purchase of livestock and equipment and another provision which would have authorized him, after an investigation to charge off the cost of land not suited for irrigation. The cost of charging off such lands had been estimated at $28,000,000.

JOHN VAN TRIM, JR.

JOHN VAN TRIM, JR., was assistant business manager in the big office, and, when his chief learned that John's wife was expecting her first baby he asked the Van Trims to spend a week-end out of town with him and his sister. The night of their arrival was hot and breathless. Mrs. Van Trim appeared for dinner in a simple, fresh-looking dress, open becomingly at the neck, that set off her pretty fair hair. Her husband, who had arrived from the city on the same train, came in wearing his business suit, his collar wilted, his trousers needing pressing, his hair disheveled.

Afterward the chief-spoke of charming Mrs. Van Trim, but when his sister suggested asking out the young couple again, he was silent. She answered his unspoken comment:

"It wasn't very worldly wise of the boy to come in so dragged-looking, my dear; but there wasn't much time, and he must have been hot and tired."

"That's just my objection," replied the chief. "If by this time Van Trim can't manage, in spite of obstacles, to be presentable on a visit to his boss, he hasn't the brains I'm looking for."

Nevertheless, the chief's sister kept in touch with the Van Trims. One day, five years later, when her brother asked her what she knew of their fortunes, she had to admit that John had gone down hill. For she was remembering his baggy knees, his unpolished shoes, his frayed cravat and soiled collar and neglected nails. What might have been explained as "mere" laziness five years before was actual slovenliness now.

Then the chief retired and he and his sister went abroad to live. Year later they returned for a visit. One day the new president of the old concern came out to see them. He was a distinguished, energetic, courteous gentleman of forty-five or fifty. They remembered him as a clerk working under John Van Trim, and they asked him what he knew of the Van Trims.

He hesitated. "A sad thing," he said finally. "Van Trim simply didn't make good. We kept him on as long as we possibly could, but at last he became so seedy, mentally and physically, that people would stare at him when they came into the office. He looked like a tramp. We simply had to drop him."
