ATTENDING WORKSHOP—Sixteen leaders and assistants attended an all day Scout Workshop Saturday in the community room of Muleshoe State Bank. Consider Source Of Diet Advice

Three national health agencies have issued dietary guidelines that cut through the flood of often misleading advice on how to lose weight, prevent disease and "eat right."

Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutritionist and Registered Dietitian, says many diet plans are designed to sell books, magazines, products, vitamins and special foods.

Even legitimate nutrition research findings are sometimes used as a basis for overstated claims about certain diets or "miracle" foods, notes the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist.

To reduce some of the confusion, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and Health and Human Services (HHS), the American Heart Association (AHA) and the American Dietetic Association (ADA) have each set forth their own dietary recommendations this year.

The USDA has provided guidelines for the general public on balanced and nutritious meals, she says. The Heart Association recommendations emphasize controlling certain dietary substances to reduce the risk of developing heart disease, and the Dietetic Association guidelines focus on the dietary needs of women.

These guidelines are based on the results of research, and made in the interest of public health, rather than to promote any particular diet or product," Hunt stresses.

According to the nutritionist, the health organizations make the same or very similar recommendations:

- Eat a variety of foods daily. These include foods from the four basic food groups of meat, poultry, fish and protein alternatives; fruits and vegetables; breads and cereals; and dairy products. The ADA recommendations also encourage women to eat more iron- and calcium-rich foods.

- Maintain ideal weight by adjusting calorie intake downward and increasing physical activity. If you need to lose weight, do so gradually.

- Avoid too much fat, saturated fat and cholesterol. The ADA recommendations suggest limiting fat to no more than one-third of daily calories and selecting a variety of saturated, polyunsaturated and monosaturated fats as well as eating lean meats and low-fat dairy products.

The Heart Association has more specific recommendations on fat, advising that saturated fat should be reduced to less than 10% of total calories and polyunsaturated fat should also supply less than 10% of total calories, with total fats in the diet not to exceed 30% of daily calories. The AHA also recommends that dietary cholesterol be reduced to 300 milligrams per day.

- Eat more complex carbohydrates and fiber from whole-grain breads and cereals, fruits and vegetables. The ADA further suggests that at least half of a woman's daily calories should come from carbohydrates.

- Avoid too much sugar. Eat fewer concentrated sweets such as soft drinks and sugared foods.

- Avoid too much sodium. Eat fewer highly salted foods and processed foods that contain excessive sodium. Do not salt foods at the table.

- If you drink alcohol, do so in moderation. The Heart Association makes no recommendation about alcohol, while the USDA recommends moderation and the ADA defines moderation as no more than 1-2 drinks per day.

Hunt says these recommendations are sufficient guidelines, she suggests contacting the county Extension Office, your local Heart Association Office or a registered dietitian.

Poor Water Quality Produces Laundry Problems

Despite what the commercials say, using the "right" detergent and water temperature aren't the only factors that determine what your clothes look like after they've been washed.

The quality of your local water supply has a lot to do with whether detergents can actually work to get clothes clean, says Dr. Ann Beard, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service clothing specialist.

"In hard water, much of the detergent added to the washer goes to soften the water instead of clean the clothes," she says. "Over time, clothes washed in hard water become dingy or yellow, develop a build-up of soil, may have a stiff, harsh feel or show white or gray streaks on colored fabrics."

The specialist says that you can compensate for hard water -- to a certain extent -- by using adequate amounts of low-sudsing phosphate detergent and water as hot as recommended for the fabric.

The harder the water, the more phosphate detergent you will need to use, she says, although this can be expensive and contribute to water pollution.

Non-phosphate detergents and soap will not perform satisfactorily in hard water, Beard notes.

In addition to using extra detergent, water can be treated in the washer with a non-precipitating water conditioner, or water softener, commonly sold in powder form in the detergent section of grocery stores.

Beard points out that the best solution for hard water is to install a water softener system to the water supply lines for the washer and kitchen or the entire house.

However, people on sodium-restricted diets will need to consult a physician before installing a water softening system that supplies water for drinking or cooking, since it will increase the sodium content of the water.

The specialist says that some of those "mystery" spots and stains you find on laundered clothing may also come from the water supply.

Yellow, red or brown stains, for example, can come from iron in the water supply or from rusty metal parts in the well or water heater. The use of chlorine bleach in water that contains dissolved iron will cause the iron to be deposited in fabrics.

"Commercial rust removers are available for treating stains on white and colorfast washable fabrics," Beard notes. A second method is to sprinkle salt on the spot and dampen it with lemon juice. Dry in the sun and then rinse.

She advises testing either form of rust removal on a hidden part of the item first, since the process can cause color change. Non-colorfast fabrics should be taken to a commercial laundry for professional treatment.

The specialist says that red, reddish brown, green or blue stains on clothing are often caused by acid water. The stains are caused by the corrosive action of the water on the pipes. The type of metal in the pipes determines the color of the stains.

Red or reddish-brown stains may be treated as rust stains. Blue or green stains may respond to bleach if it is safe for the fabric, she says.

"Water quality affects more than laundry," says Beard. "It may also affect the operation and life span of appliances, the taste and odor of the water and your health."

For information on having your water tested, or treating specific stains, she suggests calling the County Extension office.

of non-food items, including toothpaste, school supplies, and cosmetics. But we tend to remember only the total amount we spend at the supermarket, because our primary purpose of going was to buy food. Actually, the percentage of income we spend for food has fallen over the years. How much an individual or family spends on food depends on family size and composition, income level and what food items are actually purchased. In general, the higher the income, the lower the percentage of total family budget that is spent on food.

Home economics researchers at the U.S. Department of Agriculture publish periodic figures to help people plan food purchases. The figures show the cost of food at home at four cost levels: the thrifty plan, the low cost plan, the moderate plan, and the liberal plan.

A childless couple can plan to spend $40 to $70 per week. Single people can budget from $19 to $30 per week. Families with school age children need to budget the most money for food. A family of four with two school age children can plan to spend from $65 to $115 each week. The figures at the lowest end of the scale will buy just as much nutrition as the figures at the upper end of the scale.

So the next time you go to the supermarket, plan your purchases carefully and sort out the non-food items from the food items before your make judgements about the cost of food for your family.

Grass Seed Demand Expected By Soil Conservation

If you have grasses or forbs that can be harvested for seed this fall, you might make a bundle of money. That's because at least five million pounds of seed will be needed to plant 1.1 million acres of land accepted in the Conservation Reserve Program in Texas this year. And with another sign-up expected this winter, the demand could be even greater.

Vineyard Owners Shortcourse Scheduled

Grape production and wine making, once a fledgling business in Texas, is hitting the big time, and officials of The Texas A&M University System are helping to lead the way. Officials will be presenting the latest information on grape production and wine making at a special shortcourse at Texas A&M University Nov. 8. The shortcourse will begin at 8 a.m. in the Horticulture/Forest Science Building on Texas A&M's west campus. "Vineyard managers as well as individuals investigating the feasibility of commercial grape production are invited to attend," says Dr. George Ray McEachern, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Discussions will deal with all phases of grape production, from site selection and preparation to varieties, pruning, irrigation, fertilization and pest management." The Texas grape industry is just over 15 years old, according to McEachern, and is making rapid gains. The state currently boasts some 3,000 acres of commercial grapes and a state-wide investment of more than $50 million. "Annual gross income from the industry now totals about $20 million and should double in less than five years," McEachern points out. Texas now has some 150 commercial grape growers with significant individual investments, notes the horticulturist. In addition, some 350 individuals are experimenting with trial vineyards. "Both the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (agencies of The Texas A&M University System) have been involved with the state's grape industry since its beginning in the early '70s and have played key roles in its expansion," notes McEachern. "Through research and field demonstrations, we have helped the industry along its way to prominence." And that prominence is continuing to spread. Texas is gaining worldwide recognition for wine quality, according to McEachern. Two Texas wines

Jim Lutz, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Muleshoe, said several kinds of seed are needed. "There is going to be a strong demand for both native and introduced species," Lutz said. "And the seed will probably bring premium prices." Some of the grass seed needed include native bluestem mixtures, little bluestem, indiangrass, switchgrass, side-oats grama, blue grama, King Ranch bluestem, and green sprangletop. Since land placed in the CRP can be leased for hunting, seed for wild plum and forbs including Maximilian sunflower, Illinois bundleflower, and engelmansdaisy will probably be in very short supply. "If you have land that can produce any of these seeds and it can be harvested, now is the time to act," Lutz said. "Removing all livestock from the

Texas Educators Endorses Clements

Bill Clements campaign announced today that the Unite announced today that the United Texas Educators Coalition is endorsing Bill Clements for Governor in the November 4 general election. "Educators in Texas are making their choice and that choice is for leadership for the future of Texas," Clements said. "It is a great pleasure to have the support of the United Texas Educators Coalition. This fine coalition is working towards the betterment of education. Teachers and administrators, like other Texans, are tired of Mark White. They are tired of his broken promises. Tired of him claiming education is a priority and then proposing to cut the education budget by $1.3 billion." Chairman of the UTEC, Dough Ward said, "We think Bill Clements is the best leader for the state. He is willing to listen to teachers and cooperate with teachers. Bill Clements' record on education is clear-he has a proven record of leadership and support for education. Mark White has shown a lack of leadership and responsiveness to the needs of teachers. As educators, we feel that we have a lot to say about the future of education in our state. It is time for educators' land will give it a chance to produce a seed crop. "I also recommend that you contact a commercial seed grower to learn if you can work out a contract for handling the seed." City Tax... Con't From Page 1 $9.8 million brought its total to $129.4 million this year. Austin's Capitol Metro received $2.8 million, increasing this year's payments to $34.5 million via in San Antonio received a check for $1.8 million, a total of $25.3 million for 1986. Fort Worth's MTA received $556,509 for a $6.8 million total this year. Corpus Christi's MTA check for $478,201 brought total payments this year to $4.5 million. voices to be heard. For too long Mark White has left educators in the dark," Ward added. Nine different teachers/administrators organizations joined forces to form UTEC. Thirty two hundred educators from across the state are now part of this politically active group. One of its main purposes is to speak out on issues and support candidates.

Richard Heizer, state plant materials specialist for SCS at Temple, has offered to serve as a clearing house to put farmers and ranchers who can harvest seed this year in contact with members of the Texas Seed Trade Association. An eight-minute VHS half-inch videotape designed for use on home systems is available from Supak at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, Rt. 3, Box 213AA, Lubbock, Texas 79401. It was prepared by Tommy Valco, Extension agricultural engineer at Weslaco, and Bill Lalor of CI, and shows how to adjust and modify a stripper. The pamphlet, "War on Bark," was prepared by the Barky Cotton Research Task Force organized by CI and chaired by Wolforth farmer Don Bell, vice president of Plains Cotton Growers. It is available from county Extension offices, PCG and area gin offices.

Farm Bureau Awards Gramm High Rating

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas has supported the American Farm Bureau in 86 percent of the key farm votes in the Senate, according to the Farm Bureau News. Gramm was ranked 4th out of 100 senators in his backing for the Farm Bureau. "We work with Sen. Gramm constantly on the crucial issues facing agriculture," said Pat Smith, national affairs director for the Texas Farm Bureau. "We can routinely count on the senator for an open door and a willing hand." "The Farm Bureau and I share a deep concern about the future of agriculture in Texas and America," Gramm said. "I believe strongly in expanding markets and opening new markets overseas for the agricultural products that American farmers produce." "Our goal is to make the farm not just a good place to live, but a good place to make a living again," Gramm said. The Farm Bureau considered 15 critical votes in assessing the performance of individual senators during the 99th Congress, the News reported. "Selection of the votes follows this criteria: (1) an issue on which the Farm Bureau has a policy position; (2) is critical in the success or defeat of a policy position; (3) each senator was informed of Farm Bureau's position prior to the vote. Issues included these:

- Opposition to a freeze on target prices.
- Support for a referendum among farmers on the pork promotion program contained in the farm bill.
- Opposition to textile imports quotas due to potential retaliation against U.S. farm exports.
- Opposition to a referendum on the wheat and feed grains marketing program.

MHS Annual Staff Hosts Chili Supper

On October 24th the Annual Staff and their mothers will host the pre-game dinner in the cafeteria from 5:00 until 7:00. The menu consists of chili, beans, slaw, cornbread, cobbler, tea, or coffee. Due to the types of food being served, there will not be any carry out orders. To get your tickets contact any Annual Staff member, Mrs. Watson, or Mrs. Adrian. The tickets are $3.00 for children and $4.00 for adults.

The Chili Dinner is a very important money making project for the Annual Staff because of the $10,000 budget needed for the production of the annual. Please help support this need and help us make another "outrageous" annual.

The current annual sales were very successful, but if you failed to buy yours, be sure to see an annual staff member.

We wish to congratulate the 86-87 FFA officers: president, Brent Black; vice-pres., Shawn Bussey; Secretary, Todd Bessire; S.C. rep., Michael Dunham; treasurer, Michael Angely; sentinel, Scott Bicket; parliamentarian, Shawn Wheeler; historian, Scott Kline; sweetheart, Lisa Black.

Mrs. Adrian, we weren't aware that you had a photogenic stomach!

Unfortunately, the Powder Puff game was postponed due to bad weather. However, the game has been rescheduled for October 20.

The senior class will be having a pregame supper on October from 5 to 7 at the high school cafeteria. Tickets are four dollars for adults and three dollars for children. This chicken supper promises to be delicious, so come with a hearty appetite!

Martina Schornhorst

Galo Tapia

Muleshoe High School students and faculty welcome two foreign exchange students to the school and community. Galo Tapia and Martina Schornhorst are now familiar faces around MHS campus.

Galo, whose home country is Ecuador, is staying with Alton and Elaine Parker; he chose to become a foreign exchange student because he wanted to live a beautiful experience and also wants to learn the customs and the language of the United States. He hopes to be able to graduate from Muleshoe High School and then plans to study at a university somewhere in the U.S. He will be seeking a profession as a lawyer or in some form of business.

Galo likes to listen to music, read, and watch television. His favorite sports are swimming, playing soccer and basketball. When asked about his reactions to Muleshoe and MHS, he stated, "I think that Muleshoe is a healthy and attractive town and I like it. I like high school, also, because the people are kind and try to help me in the English that I need to learn." He commented that he has lived almost all of his life in Ecuador and that he likes it very much, especially Quito, which is the capital of Ecuador as well as Galo's home city.

Martina Schornhorst is from West Germany and is living with Curtis and Juana Shelburne. We interviewed Martina last week and the following are her responses:

Annual Staff: Is this your first time to visit America?

Martina: No it is not. Last year I stayed here in Dallas for three weeks during my summer vacations. I really enjoyed it and this stay was my final decision to become an exchange student.

A.S.: Is Muleshoe smaller than your hometown?

Martina: Oh yes! My town has about 70,000 inhabitants. The downtown is much bigger and very old.

A.S.: What is the difference between school here and there?

M: I think American school is much easier. I'd like to have your tests in our school system! School lasts from 7:55 until about one or two. You go home and have lunch at home. We do not have the same schedule every day, and we have more classes. Until the 11th grade you cannot choose your classes. The school has the same requirements all over Germany and so they tell you your classes.

A.S.: Briefly describe Germany's legal system.

M: The Federal Republic of Germany is divided into 11 sections. Every section has a government. These sections are divided into smaller sections, like your counties. Every four years we vote for our government, and for the government in our section. I live in Lower Saxony. I'm going to vote for the government for Lower Saxony and also our government over whole West Germany. Well, the political parties have to get more than 5% to establish the right to have power. This is a protection of preventing a rule under Hitler. We have two big political parties.

Child Development Class Studies Timely Topics

On October 9, Sheri Boudier from Lubbock spoke to the child development class about abortion. She brought out many important facts concerning abortion, including the legal aspects as well as the emotional factors involved when a woman seeks an abortion. She stressed the fact about 60% of women who obtain an abortion have problems with future pregnancies and that for most women, it takes from two to five years for reality to set in, and that the emotional upheaval of their lives can cause mental stress.

Also during the month of October, the child development class studied the adoption process. Mrs. Bruce Purdy came and discussed this subject with the class. She defined adoption as love, happiness, laughter, and hurt. Mrs. Purdy described adoption as an act of love because the parents want the baby to have a good time, the baby to have a good home, love, and a stable family. She also presented the fact that four out of ten women cannot have children.

Mrs. Purdy discussed the two kinds of adoption: private adoption and adoption through an agency. If a woman chooses to go through an agency, it can cost from two thousand to parties. One of these normally represents the government. We have a parliamentary democracy and we are a member of the NATO.

A.S.: Are the fashions ahead in Germany compared to use?

M: Fashion here and there is on the same level. Maybe our fashion is more influenced by European designers. I do not think that my clothes differ very much from yours.

A.S.: What is your religion?

M: I'm as almost all West Germans, a Protestant Lutheran. We believe in God and Jesus. Here in Muleshoe I go to the Church of Christ that does not differ very much from my church system at home.

A.S.: Is American food better than German or just as good or worse?

M: I'm sorry but you asked to answer the question honestly. All in all German food is much better. Juans (the wife of my family here) cooks very good, really, I love her dishes. But all in all I would say German food is better. If you'll ever come to Germany come to my house and I'll serve you real German food and a lot of different kinds of delicious (ambrosial) bread. Since I've been here I'm crazy for Mexican food. I love it!

A.S.: What is your favorite class?

M: Theater! Why? It is fun. Darren makes me laugh with his attempts to pronounce every word I say with his German accent. As he always tells me, Nanana!

Band Beats Its Drum

This year is a year of changes in the Mighty 'M' Band, but that has affected the band's enthusiasm very little. Mark Heidel, the new band director, came to us from Texas Tech University, and he has brought with him a desire to win and the determination not to quit in any circumstances.

This determination has placed the band in some very interesting situations, such as rainstorms. The band suffered through rain and wind at the Friona game but that did not dampen the halftime spirit of the band. Even though the band changed to dry clothes, which soon become very wet, they laughed it out and performed where some bands would have just given up and gone home.

Mr. Heidel also has a very competitive outlook, so he took the band to the South Plains Fair parade. The band had not competed in the parade for several years, but they still performed like it was nothing new. Matter of fact, the band placed third out of seven bands in the 3-A competition. This was quite an accomplishment for their lack of experience in this area. This win encouraged the students to work hard on their contest show. The show is one in which the band and the town can take pride because it is a tribute to the Texas Sesquicentennial.

The show opens up with "How the West Was Won." The band then plays "Texas, Our Texas" while the state of Texas is formed. The band belts out the familiar song and the Flag Corps twirls replicas of the state flag. This song has gotten the band standing ovations from home crowds as well as out of town crowds. The show then closes with the theme from "Silverado."

Mr. Heidel, when asked about this year's band, commented: Mere words cannot express my feelings concerning the Mighty 'M' band. Their dedication, hard work, and pursuit of excellence have combined to make this band into the very fine band that it is. We have accomplished a great deal this year, but we have miles to go toward our goal of perfection. "99 1/2 right is still 1 1/2 wrong" is the band's motto and shows their dedication to excellence. I am so very proud of all the ladies and gentlemen I have had the privilege to work with this year. We have a great band and will have a great year!

The band works hard to prepare for contest which is just around the corner. The Texas Tech Marching Festival is Saturday, October 18, and U.I.L. marching contest is Saturday, October 25. The band marches first at U.I.L. and competition will be tough. The Mighty 'M' appreciates the town's support and invites everyone to attend the two contests!

Miss Martha Anthis, assistant band director, sums up her confidence in the band by saying, "I'm so proud to work with people who truly believe that 'the sky's the limit!' The last thirteen years have been a constant improvement, but this year proves to be the best yet. The attitude and enthusiasm of the Mighty 'M' shows just how good you feel about yourselves. I believe in you, too."

Forecasters expect economy to grow.

WAYNE PETERSON

Firefighter's Report by Wayne Peterson

The fire department would like to thank the local news media, Channel 6, KMUL and the Muleshoe Journal for their participation in this years "Fire Prevention Week."

While some of the departments firefighters gave demonstrations at this years Bailey Co. Fair they were asked by some viewers if it would be possible to make a film for programs and education. J.O. Parker reports this request is getting consideration and planning is underway.

The department viewed a film last Wed. nite concerning heat detectors. It was a very educational film and contained some startling facts on fires. The heat detector is not to take the place of the smoke detectors but to work with the smoke detector to help save lives and destruction of property.

Fire prevention week is over but, the education of fire and prevention must go on. Each year thousands of americans come face to face with one of the most dreaded causes of death and disfigurement. Ironically, for every American who confronts flames or choking smoke, hundreds will never give this threat a moments thought or take the slightest precaution to guard against fire.

We are proud to state there was only two fire calls during September, both out of the city limits, 1 in the home the other a fuel wash down at a truck wreck. There were 40 man hours useu and 193 miles put on the fire units trucks.

The Oct. firemans profile is Wayne Peterson, who presides at 409 East Dallas with his wife, Sandy. They have two children a daughter Denise and a son Kevin, both have flew the coop.

His application was accepted March 10, 1971, he has attended Lubbock Fire School 3 years and Canyon twice. He is a certified fireman and completed two emergency medical service schools as a emergency care attendant.

Dear Editor:
I don't know what the problems are with our hospital and Westworld. But there is something very much wrong when our nurses and doctors can't work for Westworld.

Westworld, we can not trust you under these conditions. So we find our people are going out of the community to other hospitals.

Our Drs. and nurses still respond when called to emergencies. This was shown when wreck victims were brought in last week. Our Drs. are still working for the community. I understand you are not paying them. We will not patronize new ones we don't know.

COMBEST COMMENTS

by Congressman Larry Combest

The United States Congress recently voted to overhaul the nation's federal tax code. This so-called "tax reform" legislation will ultimately impact each and every taxpaying citizen.

Tax reform was born with three basic goals in mind -- fairness, simplicity and economic growth. These are goals I share and have worked for since I was elected to Congress.

Let me say from the beginning that there are portions of this legislation that I like. There is obvious good in tax law changes that reduce marginal tax rates and eliminate tax loopholes and special preferences. For us in West Texas, however, the good just doesn't outweigh bad.

I visited with and heard from thousands of people in the 19th District in an attempt to have their input and thoughts about this tax bill. It became evident that Washington, D.C. was caught up in "tax reform euphoria".

I share this concern and believe the tax bill will unfairly penalize us in West Texas. We will lose our state and local sales tax deduction. Farmers lose their income averaging deduction, investment tax credits, and much of their farm equipment depreciation.

prices when our shop keepers and store owners are forced to pass along their higher taxes.

Another frightening aspect of this tax reform legislation is that there are predictions and rumblings in Congress of raising the individual rates again in an effort to meet deficit reduction targets.

Increasing individual tax rates on the heels of repealing individual deductions would result in individuals paying more taxes than ever before. I fear that this tax bill will make it easier to force even higher taxes on the American people.

I do not believe that this tax legislation is the best that Congress can do. If we are ever going to truly reform our tax code we should do the job right. The American people expect more and we in West Texas deserve more from the United States Congress.

A Quiet Walk

How wonderful it is to take a walk in the woods after the hectic pace of our modern living. The soft rustling of the leaves seem to bring a peaceful contentment to our racing hearts.

As we find peace in a quiet walk so will we come to know peace and satisfaction in attending the service in God's house. Go to your church this Sunday and receive the blessings that only God's word can give you.
