THE PARSON POPS OFF

Parson Shepherd of the Southwestern Dispatch, hands us one of his brain storms red hot from the pen.
Listen:

"The editor of the Artesia Advocate had to go out of his way to give us a slap this last week. Really we are rather glad he did this. Honestly this is the first real evidence we have had that he wasn't dead from the neck up. Aside from the fact that the Advocate is printed on good paper and is mechanically nearly perfect, that isn't anything to the sheet. It's the poorest excuse we have ever seen in the way of a newspaper to come from a wide awake town like Artesia. We know of no place that needs a newspaper as bad as does Artesia. Lots of business men there realize this. That is why we have been solicited so many times to publish a newspaper there. We have given Artesia more worth while publicity than has the Advocate, but the editor of that paper didn't come alive to this fact, he woke up from his Rip Van Winkle sleep only when he thought he saw a chance to give us a "dig." He thinks he is publishing a great paper. He doesn't know any better. Don't blame him; pity him. Now little'un you had better run on home. You shouldn't stay out so late. The goblins might get you."

Judging from the above spasm, the Parson must have "et" something that did not agree with him or else he lost his temper. In either case he has our sympathy. A more scientific explanation of the above squibble is this. For "nigh" on to three months now the Parson has used a double column in his sheet to rave about how good his paper was and has spread so much hot air that the above squibble is the result of spontaneous combustion. This leads us to the conclusion that the Parson is badly in need of a "pop off valve".

In an early issue of his paper, he referred to the Advocate as that splendid paper published at Artesia. Again in the current issue, the same issue in which the above editorial appeared in speaking of Artesia The Southwestern Dispatch says: It (Artesia) was advertised to the outside world by a good weekly paper." It is very evident then that the editorial policy of this paper must be of one kind while the news and advertising policy is another.

The statement in the above editorial that this paper gives Artesia more worth while news from Artesia than the Advocate is just about as wild as their claim on 2000 paid up subscribers, which is further evidence that the editor is badly in need of a "pop off valve."

And Parson as a last request before you put us out of business as you say you are going to, won't you please furnish us with a list of merchants who have been begging you to come to Artesia? Our readers would like to know who they are. If you'll do this Parson, we might reciprocate by letting you preach our funeral.

COMMUNITY COOPERATION

Close cooperation among the business men and the residents of any community is necessary before the community can forge ahead. Practically every live town is a living example of this force, which is so necessary to keep building. Petty factions are laid aside, personal differences are forgotten when an effort is made to secure an enterprise for a town.

The most successful towns which have been rewarded for their efforts are the ones who have kept persistently at the job, when prospects for securing a railroad, a factory or a school were in sight, the citizens did not sit idly by and dismiss the prospect with a thought that the rail-

TAKING THE COTTON OUT OF COTTONWOOD

It is hard to think of the pleasant shade afforded by the spreading cottonwood tree with out a sneeze at the thought of the bits of cotton floating around in the air. In fact, we sometimes hear that no trees at all are preferable to cottonwoods. The cotton, which is usually the chief objection to the tree, can easily be avoided by planting cuttings taken from a staminate or so called "male" tree, says R. F. Crawford of the New Mexico A. & M. College.

The cottonwood belongs to that group of plants in which the two organs necessary to the production of seed (i. e., stamens and pistils) are borne upon separate trees. The stamens furnish the pollen, or yellow fertilizing dust, and after a very simple flower which contains the stamens ceases blooming, the trees bearing them show no further evidence of being concerned in seed production. The troublesome cotton consists of numerous hairs which surround the seeds to assist in their distribution, hence, is only produced by the seed bearing or "female" trees. The staminate flowers are reddish or brownish, or sometimes a dull yellow, and hang in pendulous spikes which appear on the trees before the leaves. They show no sign of the green, berry-like balls which contain the seed. The pistillate catkins, however, are green, and each flower consists of little else than a rudimentary ball with the expanded stigma above it. There are fewer flowers on these catkins and they usually appear with the first leaves or a little later.

The staminate or "male" trees may be purchased from any reliable nursery or may be propagated by cuttings. Those wishing more mature trees should visit the river bottoms now and select and mark trees which are not bearing cotton, for transplanting next winter; or they should secure the services next winter of one of the Forest Service men in helping them select the trees which will not bear cotton.

road could not miss the town, or the factory could go no other place. Or worse still say the other town had the pull which they could not get.

While Artesia has had a wonderful growth in the past year, she has never been so fortunate as to be able to put over a community enterprise without opposition. She has never been able to get all the people interested in any proposition like they should be. The Chamber of Commerce has never been able to get a full representation at any meeting regardless of its importance.

The broad minded citizen says that any thing which is good for the town is good for him, that when the town is helped he is helped and visa versa. It is only the man with a narrow vision who refuses to lend his aid to a community enterprise because of some personal difficulties. Sometimes people even go so far as to stop their Chamber of Commerce dues because things are not going to suit them. Such actions are classed as childish. No one has ever been able to have his or her way about everything. There are lots of things which do not exactly suit us, but we have a poor way of helping ourselves.

We can not have our own way about everything and the sooner we learn the needed lesson the better off we will be, and likewise the community in which we live.

ADVANTAGE OF SMALL PAPERS

From an ethical standpoint it can fairly be claimed that the country press and the small city dailies have a marked advantage over the big metropolitan newspapers.

The smaller papers are conducted by their owners who are personally known to the people and business men of the community and read in nearly every family.

The owners, editors and publishers are freer to express their honest convictions than the highly commercialized city press, too often run by hired employees, principally to earn dividends.

The small daily or country weekly that lives up to its opportunities represents the stand of personal journalism in behalf of the community.

As long as the small city dailies and country weeklies remain true to their best traditions, with their editorials devoted to constructive policies, their influence in journalism will increase.

OIL, INDOMITABLE INDUSTRY

In spite of the periodical investigation and burdensome and unfair taxes which it must pay, the oil industry continues to grow.

During the last three months, April May and June, there were 100 new oil companies incorporated under the laws of the various states, having a total capitalization of some $75,000,000.

Gasoline output for May broke all records with 922,000,000 gallons, 61,000,000 gallons more than the previous high record of April.

Consumption of gasoline during May increased 24 per cent over the same month of 1924.

Production of gas and fuel oils in May was 1,275,000,000 gallons a daily average of 41,100,000 gallons, more record figures.

Producing, refining and marketing petroleum and its products in the United States requires the services of 780,000 employees. This means that more than 3,500,000 persons are dependent upon oil for a livelihood.

ARTESIA AND SUNBURST OIL FIELD STAND OUT

In making a brief review of the Rocky bountain district fields for the first half of 1925, Artesia and the Sunburst fields stand out, says F. B. Taylor in the Oil and Gas Journal of July 30. Continuing the article of July 30. In reviewing the Rocky states. In reviewing the Rocky mountain fields for the first half of 1925, Wyoming is found to have fallen off greatly in the amount of new production developed as well as to have slumped alarmingly in the field production as compared with the same period last year. The development of the Artesia field in southeastern New Mexico, a field that in some ways resembles the Sunburst area in Montana; the extension of the Sunburst field and the completion of a number of very large initial producers were the most important events of the most importance.

The last paragraph of the article also contains interesting information about the field. It says "New Mexico has developed three operations of worth, the Artesia field, Hogback and Rattlesnake. Considerable wild-cattling is in progress. Artesia is growing steadily and will make a field similar to the Sunburst field in Montana.

A table has also been prepared showing the completions, the production and dry holes. In fairness to all the New Mexico fields, it is well to state that the data secured was evidently at an early date, as the Artesia field has already passed the 50 mark in the number of completions.

THE TWELVE MILLIONTH FORD NOW ON ROAD

Announcement comes from Detroit that the twelve millionth Ford Car has just been completed and sent out on the road to brush sides with the other 11,999,999 Fords. The 10,000,000th Ford was built just about a year ago and passed through a portion of Colorado on the Lincoln highway on the 7th of July, 1924, on a coast to coast tour in commemoration of its production.

While this remarkable production has been going on in the United States, foreign plants of the company also have been making records. Manchester has just celebrated the building of the 250,000th British Ford. The 50,000th Belgium built Ford is now making a 2000 mile trip through Belgium. Sweden's 30,000th Ford is on a 1200 mile trip from Ystad to Haparanda, and the 100,000th Ford to be built in Argentina has just completed a tour. Big receptions have been given to these cars in every city along the routes on their tours and they have created intense interest.

With this immense production saturation would seem almost inevitable. However, reports indicate continued large volume of sales through the summer months with a higher buying level than is usual during this season of the year.

Sales figures just given out by the company show that the total sales for June were 195,300 Ford cars and trucks. Of this number 170,547 cars sold in June a year ago.

This establishes a new June sales record with approximately 6000 more Fords cars and trucks being delivered to retail customers in the United States than during this same month a year ago which held the previous high mark.

MISS TOOTSIE GALVIN

GALVIN PLAYERS TO OPEN MONDAY AUGUST 10

The Galvin Players who were to start a week's engagement last Tuesday under their tent theatre were forced to postpone their opening until next Monday night owing to the severe illness of Miss "Tootsie" Galvin's mother.

Saturday night during the performance at Dalhart, Miss Galvin received word that her mother was critically ill. Arrangements were immediately made for a thorough diagnosis which verified the severity of the case. It was decided to rush Miss Galvin by special train to Santa Fe where her home physician from New York happened to be summing. An operation will be performed to-day.

The management states that the same show planned for next Tuesday night will be presented next Monday and ladies will be admitted free to the seats in the rear section. A number of commercial travelers and tourist that have seen the show in other towns verify all the talk and propaganda of the Galvin players having the best company of players and the most elaborate equipped tent theatre on the road.

The company's repertoire of plays include such well known successes as, "Just Married" by Anne Nichols, the author of "Abies Irish Rose," "Nightie Night" a play that took Los Angeles like a storm. "The Brat," Maude Fulton's great old stand by. "The Alarm Clock," a play that is now running on Broadway, and perhaps the cleverest comedy ever written. To produce this play requires special scenery and lighting effects, one hundred and seven different props and a grand piano. "Here Comes the Bride," Irving Cobbs latest and a side splitter. "The Bat," the greatest mystery play of all times, and a dozen more of the big city hits which were presented last winter in Los Angeles for just three times the admission price they will charge here at Artesia.

The tent is located next to the Post Office and only awaits the return of Miss Galvin to make it the bright amusement spot of the town. A few of the company have been in town all week.

REV. JONES ENTERTAINS

The Rev. Mr. Jones entertained the members of his official board at a luncheon at the Hardwick Cafe at noon on Monday. During the luncheon matters of business pertaining to the church were discussed and definite action taken upon one important subject. It was decided to build a manse upon the lot owned by the church, north of the church building, and to begin the construction of the house at once. It is to be of good size and cost approximately $3000. In the present condition of affairs the owning of its preacher's home seems to be a very desirable thing and the board undoubtedly made a wise decision. Residences of any description can hardly be secured now and the indications are that many will have to be built. The members of the board who enjoyed the luncheon with Mr. Jones were Elders S. W. Gilbert, V. L. Gates, G. R. Brainard, Judge Jackson and Dr. Russell; Deacons R. L. Paris, Rex Wheatley, S. D. Gates, Bert Bryan, D. E. Buckles and D. I. Clowe.

HONORING THE ALEXANDERS

Mrs. C. Bert Smith and Mrs. John Lanning entertained with a bridge party last Thursday evening, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Alexander, of Douglas, Arizona. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served. The guest list included Messrs. and Mesdames J. J. Many New Ideas in Better Buicks

Standard Six, five passenger two-door sedan

Water Power, More Protection to Working Parts Included; Prices Lower

...again demonstrated the resources and abilities of the present Better Buick. In this latest Buick offering additional power and the newest engineering developments designed to give even more motor car life, the maximum comfort and safety, besides new refinements of design representing the latest in body craftsmanship. And these material and costly improvements lower prices are maintained throughout the entire line standard and Master Sixes.

...announcement and the show-off the better Buicks silenced the critics that Buick would abandon the old Buick for another type which would permit of cheap construction. The same principles were inaugurated by Buick 21 years ago and which have made it the leader in the industry have been adhered to throughout.

The mechanical improvements introduced would have been considered impossibilities only a year ago. They represent the work of Buick research and engineering staffs constantly striving for betterments.

The new prices likewise represent achievements of the engineering, production and business departments of the Buick organization, and are in no small measure due to the phenomenal approval of Buicks by the public. This latter factor has resulted in continuously increasing sales with the attendant possibilities of economies in purchasing and production.

The complete line includes 14 models, six in the Standard Six and ten in the Master Six class. In all cases the distinctive Buick lines have been continued, with refinements such as the rounding of radiator moldings. All are finished in new and beautiful tones of durable Duco. Some of the models have Duo-tone Duco finish in distinctive combinations. All closed bodies are by Fisher and are upholstered in quality plush.

Buick has always been noted for its sealed chassis, which prevents dirt or water entering any of the moving parts. Now it has added an air cleaner, oil filter and gasoline strainer. These, combined with the standard Buick construction, practically eliminate the possibility of engine or moving parts of the chassis and, consequently, minimize service requirements and add to the life of the car.

Because these three new units have no moving parts, there is nothing to get out of adjustment. They require no power—in fact are thoroughly automatic, and require only occasional cleaning to remove the dirt and grime gathered from the air, fuel and oil.

The above illustration shows the Standard Six five-passenger, two-door sedan. The price of this model, $1,195, is representative of the increased values included in the entire line of Better Buicks.

"Expert and daring leaders in the great sport to which they have brought fame, are the cowgirls from the western ranges who will compete in the Chicago Roundup and World's Championship Rodeo, to be held for nine days beginning August 15. Champions past and present, as well as new seekers after fame, will add thrills to the cowboy contests which will be presented in the new $5,000,000 stadium under the auspices of the Chicago Association of Commerce. A group of these cowgirls started the staid Britisher when they appeared in the International Championship held by Tex Austin at Wembley, England, recently, and the same champions will compete in the Chicago spectacle. NEW MEXICO LEADS U. S. IN SUCCESSFUL TESTS FIRST SIX MOS.

For percentage of successful oil well tests during the first six months of 1925 New Mexico made the best showing of any other district in the United States, according to statistics appearing in the July issue of the Oil and Gas Journal of Tulsa, Okla., generally regarded as the official oil journal of the crude oil industry.

The report states that between January 1 and June 30, tests completed in New Mexico totalled 35 of which only three were dry holes or less than 10 per cent. The average initial production of the 32 producers is listed at 189.84 barrels daily.

Wyoming made the next best showing. Out of a total of 241 completions in that state there were 29 dry holes.

More dry holes than producers were obtained in Colorado during the six months' period 18 out of 27 completions, or about 60 per cent having gone bad.

California during the first half of the year completed 459 wells of which 152 were failures, or about 34 per cent.

Two wells were completed in Utah during the same period and made a 100 per cent record of being dry.

Taking the United States as a whole, the report shows a total of 11,928 wells completed during the six months, of which 3,969 were dry, or about 28 per cent. New Mexico's record is an outstanding feature of the report, with less than ten per cent failures.

CALLS ATTENTION TO NEW RULING OF THE LAND OFFICE

Chapter 326, 44 Stat. 982, "An Act to Restore Homestead Rights," provides:

"That from and after the passage of this act any person who has heretofore entered, under the homestead laws, and paid a price equivalent to or greater than $2.50 per acre, lands embraced within a ceded Indian reservation, shall, upon proof of such fact, if otherwise qualified, be entitled to the benefits of the homestead law, as though such former entry had not been made: Provided, That the provisions of this act shall not apply to any person who has failed to pay the full price for his former entry, or whose former entry was cancelled for fraud.

Approved February 25, 1925

Another act of the same date provides for the granting of a further extension of time, not exceeding three years, to desert land entrymen, who through no fault of their own are unable to secure water in time to complete the reclamation of the land within the period prescribed by the original desert land act.

Attention is called to the foregoing by the local U. S. land office.

OFFICERS LOCATE BIG STILL AT CARLSBAD

For a long time the sheriff's office has been on the lookout for those who are supplying the population of San Jose with bootleg, but it was not until Wednesday that they were successful in locating the cache where the stuff was being manufactured.

While making a search of the village of San Jose for stolen fire arms, the officers ran across a whiskey still in the home of Pedro Mejia, a Mexican who has given the authorities more or less trouble, being out on bond on a bootlegging charge. This man, Mejia, was arrested here for selling whiskey, but escaped afterwards being arrested at Sierra Blanca, but escaped from the officers there, only to be arrested again here, giving bond for his appearance at the next term of court.

Along with the still, the officers found one and a half barrels of mash and a quantity of vile whiskey. The mash was made of banana peeling, sour beans, and about all the table scraps usually obtained from a Mexican bill of fare.

Here also, the officers found not only the stolen fire arms they were searching for, but a small arsenal, the collection embracing four six-shooters, one target rifle, one 50-30 rifle, one 12-gauge shotgun, owners having been found for one six-shooter and a probable owner for the target rifle.

Continuing their search in the afternoon, the officers found another still in the home of Juan Suniga, who was arrested along with his wife, who was later released but the man placed in jail to await trial.

The stills are rather crude affairs one being made out of a milk can and the other of copper, both coils, however, being made of copper, all being about as filthy as it is possible to imagine. A five-gallon oil can was also found which had evidently been used as a still, but was not in use when atken.—Carlsbad Argus

QUICK WORK

A young country fellow rushed up to a country parson. He had his girl in the buggy. The horse had about given out. He jumped and said,
"Parson, marry us quick. The old man is just a mile behind and his horse is traveling much faster than mine and it is necessary to make this ceremony brief."
The parson said, "Jine hands, you're hitched—git."

FLOOD OF RIO GRANDE NEAR FABENS REPORTED AS SLOWLY RECEDING

El Paso, Tex.—Call for more men to help hold the dikes along San Elizario "island" near Fabens, Texas, was sent out late Wednesday by reclamation service officials. The Rio Grande was rising steadily and the water was near the top of the dikes.

Estimates this afternoon placed the number of houses lost, practically all of them adobe, at fifty. No casualties have been reported, people abandoning their homes before the water reached them.

L. M. Lawson, project manager of the reclamation service, made the call for additional men and some were sent from El Paso. It was said at the county engineer's office that 100 or 200 men would be added to the force of 1,000 which had been working all day. The flood which reached Fabens Sunday has inundated 2,800 acres of land, it is estimated, a large part of which is planted to cotton. Eight hundred acres were flooded just before noon today when a dam opposite Fabens broke and sent water rushing down an old riverbed, covering land which had been placed in cultivation.

Guards were placed about the crumbling houses in Riverside addition in Fabens to prevent people from endangering their lives in trying to salvage household goods from the buildings. Twenty-two people had been left homeless at Guadrillo, a small settlement above Fabens, and the total in the flooded area will reach 75, it is estimated.

Romaldo Perez is under arrest in Fabens, charged with cutting a dike and flooding an adjoining farm in an effort to save his own. His land is now under water also.

Women and children have worked with shovels alongside the farmers to save their homes and farms from the flood. Most of the flood victims have found refuge with friends or relatives and as yet no calls have been made upon the Red Cross in El Paso for aid.

The flood which now threatens to break over the San Elizario "island" dikes and flood hundreds of acres of farm land, is carrying its menace farther down the valley to Fort Hancock and McNary, where other crews are at work throwing up protective works.

ILLINOIS PIPE LINE BUILDING

The Illinois Pipe Line company, a recent arrival in the field, has already evidenced faith in the future of the field with an extensive building campaign. Some have estimated the expenditures of this company at more than a million dollars to date, while these figures may not be authentic, the improvements made by the Ohio Oil company, and the Illinois Pipe Line company, a subsidiary of the Ohio company, will amount to more than $1,000,000.

A 55,000 barrel storage tank, completed by the Illinois line has already more than five feet of oil in it. A telephone line to Artesia from Dayton is about completed. A line paralleling the pipe line has already been completed from Dayton to the terminus of the line near the 55,000 barrel storage tank, which gives Artesia a direct connection to the field by telephone. A modern plant to be used on the pipe line is almost finished.

Several houses for the accommodation of the workers are being built, in the Ohio camp which will resemble a small town when finished. This item alone represents an investment of several thousand dollars.

MAJ. COMPANIES INTERESTED (Continued from page one)

Big Lake and other fields have been arriving daily.

The Rio Grande Oil Company, Lockhart Bros., has received shipment of their steel derrick and most of their drilling tools for their location north of Orla.

The Pure Oil Company has not yet made known its location for its well in this section.

The derrick for the Rio Grande Oil and Refining Company's well is of tubular steel. It is the first derrick of this kind ever erected in the Pecos valley. Similar derricks have been known to have drilled as many as 65 deep wells and to be still in condition to drill more. It is believed that this derrick will be used on many tests in the Orla section, and it is understood that four more similar derricks have been ordered for this locality.

Many locations are expected to be announced in this territory in the coming few months. The rapidity with which locations are going south-eastward from the Artesia field in-

COMMUNITY PICNIC FOR THE ARTESIA BOYS

According to an announcement made at the Rotary luncheon Tuesday a community picnic for all boys of this community will be staged on Wednesday August 19th under the auspices of the Rotary Club. The picnic will likely be made an annual affair, but the place has not yet been announced. Complete plans for all of the events to be put on for the benefit of the boys will probably be announced in next week's issue.

sure this as does also the discovery of oil in the Adams well, southeastward in Pecos county, which is in line between this field and the Crockett county field.

The geology of Lee Hager, who first laid down the prospective productive area along the Marathon Fold, or the third great oil belt of Texas, is still winning as is shown by the Adams well and the approaching big development in northern Reeves county in the Orla section, where oil men seem to agree that very probably the mother pool of the entire Marathon Fold will be found, as oil formations are known to exist of a thickness of more than 500 feet in this territory, which would naturally insure extremely heavy production, also, that would hold up for many a year. It is production of this kind that the best oil companies desire, as drilling costs are minimized and wells once brought in continue indefinitely at a very high rate of production.—Western World.

"What do you want?" asked Atencio and, according to the story told Cleary, Escarza fired at him with a revolver without saying a word. The bullet struck the young man on the forehead, but glanced upward. He will recover. A second shot put out the kerosene lamp.

Escarza then seized Mrs. Carabajal Cleary was told, and rode out of town into the night.

When the woman was rescued by the Indians and brought home she said Carza had pressed ahead, traveling day and night with little rest, and they had not had anything to eat during the flight. There was a wound on her neck, apparently made by a bullet, but she said she had no recollection of being shot. When she was brought home the woman fainted and when she was revived she fainted again. It was thought, however, that she would recover.

Deputy Sheriff Sambrano took up the trail with two or three men in a Ford, but realizing Escarza had the advantage in the broken country, enlisted the aid of the Indians. He found they had seen Escarza, disarmed him, and taken his horse away setting him afoot. He was said to have left the woman after this.

The Indians caught Escarza 85 miles from Cuba and delivered him with his hands and feet roped together to the deputy sheriff Saturday. Escarza was held at Cuba awaiting a preliminary hearing before the justice of the peace.

tioned at the river has brought several cases before the justice court here.

The new ruling as we understand it does not permit fishing in the river except by hook and line or using a kindred method, regardless of the kind of fish you may catch. A number of people from here have been accustomed to catching carp at the dam, but in as much as the Pecos has game fish in it, a fisherman is subject to prosecution, even though he catches only carp. The ruling as we understand it provides for the use of certain kinds of fishing paraphernalia, regardless of the kind of fish you may catch.

LAKE ARTHUR WALLOPS ARTESIA BALL TEAM

The Artesia Auto ball team, it seems from reports, met their Waterloo in the first game of the season with the fast Lake Arthur team on the diamond of the latter Sunday afternoon. Lake Arthur received the big end of the score; the Artesia boys lost count of the runs early in the game. They are not down hearted. They have the making of a first class nine and will give a better account of themselves at the next exhibition.

Dr. Williams and son, Rex, drove up to Canyon, Texas and spent a few days with the Doctor's daughter, Mrs. Oscar Gamble and family. They returned home last Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. Williams, who had been there for several weeks, also by Mrs. Gamble and little daughter, Ruth, who will visit them here for some time.
