GENERAL RAINS FALL OVER ENTIRE STATE AS TEMPERATURE DROPS

Rain Storm Lasts for 102 Hours Amounting to 2.17 Inches—Cotton Damaged Slightly—Roads Are in Fair Condition Now.

That it can and does rain in the Pecos Valley has been fully demonstrated during the past week to the satisfaction of everyone. Rain followed a sudden drop in temperature here which swept in from the north and appears to have been heavier here than in the Roswell section, although it was general practically all over the state. News from the Panhandle and Amarillo sections state the north plains shivered in cold and snow during the early part of the week. Reports from Amarillo state that the recent cold spell was one of the coldest experienced by that city for a number of years. From the vicinity north of Amarillo south to Lubbock was blanketed in snow. Damage was reported to growing crops in many localities and cotton appears to have been the hardest hit of any one crop. One estimate has it that cotton near Clarendon, Texas was damaged approximately twenty per cent.

The Valley escaped the snow of the Texas plains, however, Saturday and Sunday were two of the coldest days experienced here this fall. Weather Observer R. W. Bruce reports that the minimum temperature recorded here this month was 39 degrees, while the maximum was 100 degrees. The rain fall for the first part of the month amounted to 1.65 inches and for the latter part, including the recent rains up to Tuesday morning amounted to 2.17 inches. The latter rain storm extended over a period of 102 hours.

Crops are not seriously damaged. Cotton is of course the greatest sufferer and the principal damage inflicted is that the grade will be lowered. Little of the cotton was blown from the boll and beaten in the ground, due to the slow rain fall. Road conditions are passingly fair. No detours are necessary so far as known on any of the valley high-ways.

Reports indicate that the storm extended over this state, Arizona, Oklahoma, Texas and part of Kansas.

MEXICAN FIRES CAR MATCH IS USED NEAR HIS GASOLENE TANK

A Mexican, whose name was not learned caused a flurry on Main street Saturday night, when he attempted to look at his gasoline tank with a lighted match, as an attendant at the Artesia Auto Co. was filling his tank with gasoline. The fire department made a quick run, but the flames were practically extinguished before the truck arrived. It is regarded as very fortunate that the damage from the fire was checked before it spread to the gasoline pump of the Artesia Auto Co., as it was running at the time the blaze first broke out.

The moral of this story is that the hombre will undoubtedly seek another form of light, in the event he wishes to look at his gas tank hereafter.

NEW VOTING BOX FOR THE ART EXHIBIT AT OIL FIELD CREATED MIZE BLDG. OCT. 6 & 7

The Commissioners Court, in session recently at Carlsbad created a new voting box in the oil field. The polling place or voting box was granted following a written request signed by one hundred and ninety-two voters living in the field. The box will be located at Max's Grocery building, situated near the center of township 18, range twenty-eight, approximately half way between the Maljamar and Flynn Welch and Yates camps.

The boundary of the voting box is defined as follows: Beginning at the northwest corner of section 3, twp. 16, range 27; thence east to Lea county; thence south to the southeast corner of sec. 36, twp. 19, range 31; thence west to the southwest corner of sec. 34, twp. 19, range 27; thence north to the place of beginning.

Voters in this precinct should hold in mind that it will be necessary to register at least ten days prior to the general election.

COTTON CONDITION IN NEW MEXICO IS 92 PER CENT ON 129,000 ACRES

The 129,000 acres in New Mexico had a condition of 90 per cent normal, which is higher than any other state, except California with 92 per cent. The yield per acre for New Mexico is indicated at 292 pounds, which is also higher than any other state, except California with an estimate of 350 pounds. The production in New Mexico is indicated at 79,900 bales of which 640 bales, or 8 per cent were ginned prior to September 16, compared with none ginned on this date last year.

Last year prior to September 16, 4,275,928 bales of the United States crop had been ginned, or 26.6 per cent of the total ginnings. This year only 2,511,317 bales, or 15.9 per cent were ginned prior to September 16, if the final ginnings amounts to 15,810,000 bales, the forecasted number. This indicates that the United States has ginned only 59.8 per cent of last year's ginnings on this date.

Texas last year had ginned on this date 30.8 per cent of its crop, while this year the ginnings are indicated at only 20.9 per cent; Oklahoma, 6.5 per cent against 2.2 per cent indicated this year; Arkansas, 17.7 per cent against 10.3 per cent; Louisiana, 45.4 per cent against 27.1 per cent; Mississippi, 28.8 per cent against 18.2 per cent; Alabama, 37.7 per cent against 19.5 per cent; Georgia, 51.7 per cent against 29.5 per cent; South Carolina, 34.0 per cent against 15.0; and North Carolina, 10.0 per cent against 3.0 per cent. The ginning figures for the two years indicate that this year's crop must be very late and hence still subject to unfavorable weather conditions.

THE ART EXHIBIT AT MIZE BLDG. OCT. 6 & 7

The Artesia Woman's Club is sponsoring an art exhibit here next week, which should be of general interest to the people of this section. Funds derived from this exhibit will be used to assist the Artesia schools to purchase pictures. Recognizing the educational advantages from the opportunity to see good art as well as to assist the schools in the purchase of some needed pictures, arrangements have been completed with the Elson Art Publication Co., Inc., of Belmont Massachusetts, for an art exhibition of two hundred pictures to be held here in the Mize building each afternoon, October 6th and 7th.

This collection, consisting in large part of carbon photographs, photographs and prints in full color, made directly from the original masterpieces, is selected by art experts and should attract large crowds. A small admission will be charged, the entire proceeds of which, after de- (Continued on last page, column 3)

INTEREST MANIFESTED AT REPUBLICAN RALLY HERE SATURDAY P. M.

Republican Candidates for State Offices Make Brief Talks—J. Adam Bede Is Chief Speaker for Party Touring This Section.

Despite the inclement weather a number of people turned out to greet the republican candidates here Saturday afternoon at the Majestic Theatre. All of the candidates for state office on the republican ticket were introduced by Judge S. E. Ferree. In as much as the time was limited, all of the candidates spoke briefly. The first to be introduced was R. C. Dillon, candidate for governor, the next introduction was Miss Mary Martolins, candidate for secretary of state; Nathan Jaffa, candidate for state treasurer. Mr. Jaffa is a former resident of the Pecos Valley and has lived in the state for about forty-four years. M. A. Otero, candidate for state auditor was next introduced, then followed Miss Lois Randolph, candidate for school superintendent; B. F. Pankey, candidate for land commissioner and Hugh Williams, for corporation commissioner.

The principal speakers of the afternoon, Congressman J. Adam Bede of Minnesota and Francis Wilson, attorney from Santa Fe were the last visitors to be introduced. In his remarks to the voters of the district Mr. Wilson, confined himself to what he termed the issues of the present campaign. "This is not a campaign of vilification, so far as the republicans are concerned," remarked Mr. Wilson.

The speaker referred especially to the coal lands and the national policy of the government in regard to the same. He stated that the government has given back coal lands in a greater degree than they had taken from the state. Along the same connection he also remarked that his party was planning to take care of granting of oil lands to the state, which at present appears rather unsatisfactory under the enabling act. The delinquent tax bill, which he stated the democrats claimed credit for was passed by a democratic house and a republican senate.

He referred to the fusion of the San Miguel independents and the democrats at the recent state convention at Las Vegas as the "Unholy Alliance," stating that when Governor Hannett and the state democratic organization accepted L. Delgado as lieutenant governor, Hannett put himself on the same stool that he previously fought in his home county. (Continued on last page, column 3)

AUTO OWNERS SHOULD RENDER CARS DURING MONTH OF SEPTEMBER

County Assessor Richard Westaway, of Carlsbad wishes to again call special attention of all car owners living in Eddy county that now is the time to send in a rendition of your car to the assessor's office. The law specifies that all cars must be rendered in September of each year, however, quite a number have evidently overlooked this important matter. In conversation with an Advocate reporter Tuesday Mr. Westaway stated that out of approximately 3000 cars listed in Eddy county, only 400 owners had made renditions. See the announcement of Mr. Westaway in this issue.

Democratic Speakers Are Given Glad Hand Here

Four Candidates Speak to Large Audience—Bratton and Hannett Discuss State and National Issues—Will Go to Hope Today.

Speaking before the largest crowd ever assembled at a down town meeting place last night, Gov. A. T. Hannett and Senator Sam G. Bratton made a stirring appeal for the democratic party. Unusual interest was manifested by the entire audience and the speakers held the rapt attention of the hearers for more than two hours.

Governor Hannett, who was the first speaker to be introduced by Chairman C. Bert Smith, struck the key of the present state issue when he declared that the democratic party had kept faith with the people by carrying out its promises.

In reviewing some of the accomplishments of the present administration, the speaker told of the present highway program, which was started under the Hinkle administration. Good highways appears to be a hobby of the Governor and he has reason to be proud of the progress in road building over the state. Approximately 1424 miles of highways have been completed with federal aid. Previous to his term as governor, Hannett served as one of the highway commissioners of the state department. Possibly this accounts for the beginning of his interest in road building.

Referring to the concrete roadway running through part of Artesia, the speaker stated that he would leave it to the old timers as to whether or not the administration has kept its promise.

The prevailing prices of text books in New Mexico is chargeable to the last republican state administration, according to Governor Hannett. He asserted that text books over the state sold from forty to sixty per cent higher than the same books in the adjoining states. He pledged a square deal to the school children of New Mexico in the matter of a fair price when the contract with the publishing companies came up for renewal next January. The speaker declared against the free text book law unless some new system of revenue was devised. He is opposed to increase in taxation unless urgently needed. He suggested that revenue for free text books might be secured from a tax on a luxury and had recommended this means of financing the measure at the last session of the state legislature, but the bill submitted was passed by the house and killed by the republican senate.

Touching upon the operations of the state land office, Governor Hannett told of the amount allotted from the land office to the common schools. The largest allotment of this kind under a previous republican administration was $5.23 per capita. This year the allotment would run $9.10 per capita; not one dime of which was derived from oil operations on state lands. Governor Hannett thinks this is a record to be especially proud of, in view of the fact that during the time of the present administration the depression period following the war was a large factor in the general financial condition over the state.

Governor Hannett also stated that the administration would stand behind the five year leases and that he did not believe it would be fair to in- (Continued on last page, column 4)

MONEY TO BURN

$562,751,466!
That was our nation's fire-loss in 1925, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the country's authority on the subject.
$13,689,432!—That was the increase over 1924. The increase in the annual fire-loss since 1923 is $403,759,969!

Who pays this tremendous annual tribute to destruction? Not only the owners of the property destroyed.
Not only the families of 20,000
persons who die in fires every year.
Every resident of the country pays his share.

For this loss, exceeding half a billion dollars annually, is what keeps insurance rates high. These destructive fires—one dwelling house burns in our country every four minutes day and night!—are what make it necessary for the tax payers to maintain fire departments. The national fire-loss is a national problem. For that reason, President Coolidge has set apart the week of October 2nd to October 9th for public instruction as to the causes of fires and means of preventing them.

Just what this half billion dollar drain on our national wealth means may be visualized this way—Uncle Sam, in taxing the incomes of his people, allows an exemption of $200 for every child. That is exempted, presumably, because it is sufficient to keep a child in school for a year.
On this basis, it appears that the money we waste by fires every year would keep more than 2,000,000 children in school.

Yet we go on wasting it—for it is waste because it can be prevented.
Insurance experts, fire department officials and engineers firmly state that 75 per cent of the fires that cause this tremendous total loss are preventable.

How? By being careful with matches, cigars and cigarettes? Certainly; that would help. By keeping chimneys clean so that they don't throw burning embers upon roofs? Surely; that's a wise precaution. These measures—all measures of common sense carefulness are necessary.

But caution alone won't save our nation $562,751,466. What is more needed is precaution. The reason why buildings burn is that they are built so they will burn. The fundamental way to prevent their burning is to "build so it won't burn."

TO HELP THE COTTON FARMER

The plan of extending aid to Texas bankers should at least prove interesting to cotton farmers of the valley, regardless of whether it would be a feasible solution to offer at this time. Other southern states will adopt the same plan if it is understood and if the plan is carried through it should be of more than passing interest because it should be of some relief to every cotton farmer.

Press dispatches gives the following account of the meeting.

DALLAS, TEXAS.—A plan adopted by 100 representative Texas bankers here Friday provides for raising a fund of $100,000,000 to be loaned at $50 a bale at six per cent per annum to retire 1,000,000 bales of Texas cotton or one in five bales of the prospective 5,000,000-bale crop. The fund is to be raised through the clearing house associations of Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Waco, Galveston, Austin and other large cotton centers. Friday's special conference was called by the Dallas clearing house association.

Texas bankers will be urged to turn some of their present loans on the cotton crop into new loans on the actual cotton insured and warehoused, with warehouse receipts or chattel mortgages attached, thus helping growers to market the crop orderly, and stop dumping.

The Wisdom of Nature

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne

The one great lesson men should learn from Nature
Is that cooperation brings success!
We know that rain and sunshine work together
To fill the world with health and happiness.
Consistently the elements contribute
Their service for the benefit of man—
Each force, though great or small may be its duty,
Does well its part in God's unfailing plan.

The songs of birds, the colorings of flowers,
The blush of morning and the kiss of night—
These all combine to form the charm of Springtime,
And so caress our spirits with delight.
Without the aid of Winter's rest, all Nature
Would soon become exhausted and decay:
Just so does darkness give new strength and vigor
And fit creation for another day.

Let us, then, borrow wisdom from the seasons,
And knowledge that shall guide us as we go Along the busy path of life's endeavor.

Let us remember that we all may know
Success when each is faithful in his service,
And mindful of the needs of other men;
For what we give in true cooperation
Will surely come to bless our lives again.

© 1925 O. Lawrence Hawthorne.

The same plan is to be introduced in Oklahoma, Arkansas and other southern states until at least 2,000-000 bales of cotton in these states or a total of 3,000,000 bales will have been retired from the market. This would leave only about 12,000,000 bales in the active market, experts pointed out, although in the last twelve months the world consumed 15,000,000 bales of American cotton.
Coupled with this financial plan is one of a 25 per cent acreage reduction in Texas cotton and in other southern states for 1927, starting early this fall through an intensive campaign of education and pledge signing. With proper acreage reduction next season, it is estimated, the 3,000,000 bales should be easily absorbed with the 1927 cotton crop.

COTTON FORECASTS

Something sane was accomplished
by Representative Black, of Texas, and his fellow objectors this week in inducing the federal government to cut down on the complexity of cotton forecasts. A good deal is to be said against regular forecasting of the cotton crop by the department of agriculture in any case, but when it is complicated with maximum and minimum guesses, the evils of the system tend to increase. Juggling two sets of unreliable figures as a means of exciting speculation is worse than juggling one figure.

This, of course, is not a criticism of the agricultural department for making public such information on the cotton crop as it can legitimately gather. It is a proper part of its business to follow the whole cotton production process through from planting to marketing. It is useful to everyone engaged in any of the ramifications of the cotton industry to know what the department, with its broader sources of information, knows.

The difficulty comes in when the department commits itself to a system of forecasting which compels it from time to time to give out more than it knows. Each time it estimates that the crop condition of a given date is so many per cent of the average and that, on this basis, the final yield should be a specific number of bales, it is doing this sort of guessing.

Consequently, most of the guesses turn out to be generously wide of the mark, and in the meantime they have become, through their excessively specific character and the regularity with which they are issued, the dominant factors in fixing the prices of cotton.

Other factors of equal, and often greater importance, such as the activity and financial strength of the textile trades and general business conditions, tend to be neglected.
About the time these factors begin to be taken into proper account again, along comes another government report and upsets everything.

The arrangement is abnormal and unwholesome, because artificial and frequently in error. Its effect is to produce a large crop of unnecessary cotton speculators whose art consists chiefly in guessing how wrong the government is going to guess.

Cotton trading would be in far more satisfactory condition if the federal government confined its bulletin service to reporting on growing conditions only as fully as they can be actually ascertained, and in estimating crops from this, not in specific figures, but only as to approximate size. This much might be done periodically or not, as convenience dictated, but certainly estimates of the actual number of bales should be made only when the government had enough figures of actual production to go on.—El Paso Times.

THE GAME

It takes some time to step out of life's toil and strife and noise,
To put your mind on pleasing little girls and little boys, To enter into their small plans, to tell them things you know, To talk to them of ways of life, in which they ought to go, To tell them that you think they're sweet, and say you know they're strong,

To praise them for some thing
they've done, before you go along.
But just the doing of that thing may help the old world more Than will some big work you have planned, or all you've done before.

You will go on back into life, its striving and its fret,
But boys and girls will grow up tall,
and some will not forget
The things you said to make them
glad beside that summer way,
The seeds you planted in their hearts
will sprout some future day;
And out of what you did that day
may grow a master-song, May flame a torch which held on high will light the world along.
New paths. Of course you'll never know you helped to light the flame,
But you will have done what you could—you will have played the game.

PHILOSOPHIN

When I am wearing worn-out shoes and down to my last bit of kale, I do not have a fit of blues, I do not tremble and turn pale. I smack my fau until I shake a half a dozen freckles loose, I grab a slab of ginger cake and march out prouder than a goose. The thought that makes me bless my lot, that makes me step out with a grin, is: "All the things I haven't got are in the world for me to win."

Chic Flannel Blouse Fills Many Needs

Interest in blouses for fall and winter is centered more on new fabrics and colors than on changes in styling, which remains conservative. Moire and chiffon velvet have entered the field of dressy styles and are very handsome in the new dark-red shades,
the red-browns and black and gold combinations. High or V-shaped neck treatments and long sleeves are details that predominate in all styles. A smart sports blouse is shown here made of striped flannel.

The Passing Show

COUNTY FAIR

OLD TIMERS PARADE TO BE AN INTERESTING FEATURE OF CARNIVAL

While the big spectacular parade will be on the opening morning of the Chaves County Cotton Carnival to be held in Roswell October 14, 15 and 16, the Old Timers parade on the second morning will be none the less interesting. It will recall the days of Billie the Kid, the days when Carlsbad was Eddy, and Roswell nothing more than a blacksmith shop. On burros, horses, in hacks and chuck wagons the old timers will ride. And it is hoped that every man or woman who was in eastern New Mexico thirty or more years ago will take part in the parade. J. S. Lea, of Roswell, is chairman of this committee and will be glad to hear from those planning to come. It has been suggested that the old timers may get together for a dinner on that day, and that a group picture be taken. There are many other details not yet completed.

Standing out above all the other entertainment features will be the music and programs provided by the famous Cowboys band of Abilene. And there will be other bands to keep the crowds happy from morning until late at night. The automobile show, housed in a tent 120 by 220, will be greater than last year. The agricultural building will be crowded to the limit. The canned fruits and vegetable departments and the fine arts division, open to all the ladies of eastern New Mexico are attracting a lot of interest. The decorations will be gorgeous. The athletic events, the rodeo and dozens of other features will all combine to make the fourth annual carnival an enjoyable as well as a profitable event for eastern New Mexico.

Thousands of dollars are being spent in preparation and if indications mean anything the largest crowds ever in Roswell will be there for three days of the carnival.

Little "Rest" in Sleep

The average amount of "absolute rest" that is gotten during a night's sleep is only 1 1/2 minutes, according to Prof. H. M. Johnson of the Mellon institute, at Pittsburgh. The remainder of the time, he says, there is usually muscular or mental action, such as take place during a dream. Seven and three-quarters hours of sleep is plenty for any normal man or woman, the scientist declares.

Mail Armor

The use of mail armor probably was known in very early times, but owing to its propensity for rusting unless steadily cared for, few relics of early armor are found. Some fragments have been found in the graves of Vikings, and Rome knew it. The use of chain armor died out with the fall of the Roman empire, but had been revived in the Eleventh century.

TO OUR Cotton Farmer Friends

We have just recently purchased and are operating this season for the Public the Larsh Cotton Gin situated south of Artesia on the Artesia-Carlsbad Highway.

This outfit is a complete Continental Gin System throughout with Munger Double Breasted Brush Gin Stands and all the latest improved modern cleaning devices.

LONG EXPERIENCE has taught us that the above equipment is the best that money can buy and especially adapted to the ginning of Pecos Valley Staple Cotton, as our slow speed brush gin does not gin cut or napp the staple while in process of ginning, and makes grades unexcelled by any gin.

LET US PROVE THIS TO YOU; Bring us your next bale and when ginned, take the sample, compare its grade and staple with other cotton ginned on the High Speed Air Blast Gins, which are designed to gin Texas short cotton; not Pecos Valley Staples. When the cotton is finally sold see for yourself which brings you the most dollars and cents.

Let the HIGH DOLLAR be your GUIDE, We Want You To Convince Yourself.

We solicit your ginning patronage on the basis of Efficient Service, Courteous and Fair Treatment to All and we will make you money on your cotton.

SUMMARY OF THE WEATHER FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST

Temperatures of the month averaged nearly normal, although they were exceedingly variable. A deficiency occurred at many stations throughout the state, but conditions were so local that nearby stations showed an excess. The month began warm and continued with rather high temperatures until the 11th or 12th. A second warm period followed from the 18th or 19th to the 21st, and a third from the 25th to the close. The only pronounced cool period was from the 12th to the 17th or 18th, although parts of the state had brief cool periods on the 10-11th, 20th and 28-29th.

The precipitation of the month, even more than the temperature, was exceedingly local in character, and averaged much below the normal. All parts of the state shared in the deficiency, although it was greatest in the northeast division. The showers came largely as thunderstorms, and these were most frequent and general on the 6-7th, 10th to 16th, and 21st-23rd. Showers, however, occurred at some point within the state practically every day. Hail accompanied the storms in a few instances. Thus far special reports have been received of destructive storms at Cacon on the 6th, at Palo Verde on the 16th, and at Black Lake on the 29th.

The month began rather favorably. Fairly general and frequent showers occurred during the first half, but became less frequent, local, and lighter during the last half. Row crops suffered, ranges largely browned-up and water became scarce in a few localities, but stock continued in good condition.

The monthly mean for the state, based upon the records of ninety-five stations having a mean altitude of about 5,000 feet, was 70.5 degrees or 0.4 degrees above normal, as determined from sixty-eight stations having records for ten years or more. The highest monthly mean was 81.4 degrees at Columbus, and the highest recorded temperature, 108 degrees near Nara Visa on the 3rd and 4th. The lowest monthly mean was 56.0 degrees at Lee's Ranch, and the lowest recorded temperature, 28 degrees near Senorita on the 18th. The greatest local daily range was 59 degrees near Senorita on the 28th.

The average precipitation for the state, based upon the records of 160 stations, was 1.56 inches, or 0.88 inch below the normal, as determined from 124 stations having records for ten years or more. The greatest monthly amount was 4.52 inches at Glenrio, and the least, 0.17 inch at Tularosa. The greatest amount in any twenty-four consecutive hours was 2.00 inches at Glenrio on the 13th. There was an average of six days with 0.01 inch or more precipitation, while seventeen were clear, twelve partly cloudy, and but two cloudy. The prevailing direction of the wind was from the southwest.

TOMATOES EASIEST VEGETABLE TO CAN

Tomatoes May Be Canned in Glass or Tin.

The United States Department of Agriculture has determined that tomatoes are the easiest of all vegetables to grow at home. Because they are so easy to grow, many fruits and vegetables can be grown in the water-bath method of canning. Tomatoes are not so acid and need to be processed under a temperature higher than 100 degrees Fahrenheit. From the standpoint of health and appetizing value, tomatoes are so good that they are one of the richest sources of vitamins. They are also one of the most valuable sources of food value from soup to salad. Furthermore, almost every home garden grows tomatoes which can be used from vines to cans unadorned.

canning tomatoes: Select firm, ripe tomatoes of medium size and uniform shape. Do not use tomatoes which are overripe or parts of which are spotted or decayed. Put them into trays or shallow layers in wire baskets and dip in boiling water for about a minute, according to ripeness. Remove and plunge quickly into cold water for an instant. Drain at once, and core and peel promptly. Pack into jars or cans as closely as possible. Or better still, bring the tomatoes to the boil in an open kettle and pack them hot into the containers. For home use the jars may be filled with a thick tomato sauce or with the juice of other tomatoes. If the tomatoes are to be sold under federal regulations, add only the juice which drains from them during peeling and trimming. Season with one teaspoonful of salt per quart. Process quart and pint glass jars for 45 minutes in boiling water, counting the time when active boiling begins, and No. 2 and No. 3 tin cans for 35 minutes.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

A program of activities has been planned for the Boy Scout Council of the Eastern New Mexico District. The program is being directed by Minor Huffman, District field manager. District field meetings will be held in three different sections of the district. These district meetings will be held at Artesia, Portales and Roswell. An interesting program will be presented for each of these meetings.

A contest in which all the boys will participate is being held. The contest will extend over a period of three months. This contest is for advancement and service.

Something which is appealing to the boys in the area is a Scout trip to the Carlsbad Cavern. This trip will be an enjoyable occasion. Instruction for the first eight months of the year has far exceeded any previous year in the history of scouting in the Eastern New Mexico District. Present indications the year will be a very productive one.

HOT-PACK METHOD REDUCES SPOILAGE

Quick and Easy Plan Combining Many Good Points.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Hot-pack canning is the feature of a bulletin by Dr. Louise Stanley just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture telling how to can fruits and vegetables in the home. The hot-pack is a quick and easy method which combines all the good points of the other popular methods and has some additional advantages of its own.

Briefly, the hot-pack method is to wash and otherwise prepare the vegetable or fruit for canning, cook it for 10 or 15 minutes in water or sirup in a kettle, pack it boiling hot into the glass jars or tin cans, and process in the water bath or pressure canner according to the time and temperature recommended. This short precooking of the fruit or vegetable wilts and shrinks it so that it can be packed more easily. It drives out the air and makes exhausting unnecessary. Most Packing Material Hot Into Hot Containers.

Important of all, the food packed boiling hot into the jars or cans and put at once into the hot canner reaches the temperature required for processing far sooner than if it were packed cold, and makes possible shorter processing periods.

The directions given throughout the bulletin are concise. Wherever possible, the scientific reasons behind them are stated so that the homemaker will understand why she must follow directions if she wants to put up foods that will keep. Types of water-bath canners for use with fruits and tomatoes and pressure canners for use with all other vegetables are described and illustrated. A series of pictures and brief statements give the steps in canning in glass jars and tin cans. Directions and time-tables for handling the various fruits and vegetables from apples to strawberries and from asparagus to sweet potatoes are included. Request should be made to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for Farmers' Bulletin 1471-F, "Canning Fruits and Vegetables at Home."

Effect of Raw Onions

The idea that raw onions make a person drowsy has no basis in fact. So far as it is known there is nothing in onions either raw or cooked that would tend to affect a person in this way. If one feels drowsy after eating a meal including onions, it is probably just the relaxation that often comes after eating good food and perhaps more of it than the body really needs.

DOG SAVES BABY FROM FATAL RATTLESNAKE BITE

Mrs. Ural Boyd and young son visited at the ranch home of Babe Campbell, on Rocky Arroyo, last week, and while there the youngster had a narrow escape from being bitten by a rattlesnake.

While playing in the yard, the baby started to enter one of the out-buildings, but a dog playing with the child darted in the building ahead of it, and was bitten by a rattlesnake which lay coiled in the building. The dog died in convulsion in about forty minutes. The narrow escape of the baby is a matter of rejoicing on the part of the parents and friends.—Carlsbad Argus.

PACK CANNING FOR STRING BEANS

Method and the Pressure Canner Should Be Used for String Beans.

The United States Department of Agriculture has prepared a more delicious vegetable product. Also when they are served, they take up the seasonings better.

Add enough boiling water to cover the beans and boil them for five minutes in an uncovered vessel. Pack them boiling hot into your containers, cover with the water in which they were boiled, and add one teaspoonful of salt to each quart. This short pre-cooking wilts and shrinks the beans so that they pack to better advantage. It drives out the air in the tissues and thus makes exhausting unnecessary. Also when the hot-packed containers are put at once into the hot canner the beans, even those in the center of the jar or can, reach the temperature required for processing sooner than if they had been packed cold.

Process at 10 pounds pressure or 240 degrees Fahrenheit. Quart glass jars are processed for 40 minutes, pint jars for 35 minutes, and No. 2 and No. 3 cans for 30 minutes.

If you expect to do much canning this year, send to the United States Department of Agriculture for Farmers' Bulletin 1471, "Canning Fruits and Vegetables at Home." It is free while the supply lasts.

CHARGES AGAINST L. DELGADO DISMISSED BY STATE COMPTROLLER

SANTA FE.—Suspensions and direct charges amounting to a total of $4,678.18 placed against Lorenzo Delgado, sheriff of San Miguel county and democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, by the audit of his office made by representatives of the state comptroller's office, were Monday dismissed by W. S. Barnes, assistant state comptroller after hearing of evidence last Saturday afternoon at the comptroller's office.

Mr. Delgado was charged along with Secundino Romero, and Amador Ulibarri, former sheriffs of the county. W. B. Stapp, clerk of the sheriff's office was present at the hearing in behalf of Mr. Delgado. Although Mr. Romero and Mr. Ulibarri were not present or represented, and in spite of the fact that their cases were not heard, A. C. Wagner, first assistant state comptroller, Monday announced that insofar as the charge against these men were identical with those against Mr. Delgado, their cases would be dismissed on the same grounds. Chester A. Hunker, district attorney for the fourth district, was also present at the hearing and aided in the questioning of witnesses.

Charges against Mr. Delgado were based on an interpretation of the law relative to the board of prisoners, the board of jailer, and travel mileage expense. The auditor questioned the right of the sheriff to board prisoners and jailer at a flat rate of 75c per day per prisoner, and to charge a flat rate of $25 per day for the use of the sheriff's automobile for carrying on county business rather than the rate of 12 1-2c per mile as prescribed by law. In his testimony Mr. Stapp stated that the rate of 75c per day was the same as charged by federal authorities and that that, as well as the $25 per diem expense rate for the sheriff's actual expenses had been in long use by sheriffs of the county and had been duly sworn and approved by the district attorney, the judge of the district court and the board of county commissioners.

Mr. Barnes, in his decision stated that inasmuch as precedence had been established, relative to the feeding of prisoners and the rate was duly approved by the county commissioners that suspension would be dismissed. In referring to the board of the jailer, the comptroller stated that the law provides for the feeding of a board of prison guards, and that as the testimony proved that the duties of a prison guard and a jailer were identical, and insofar as no court had ever differentiated between the two, these charges were also dismissed. The charges based on excess mileage were dismissed. Mr. Barnes said because the flat rate of $25 per day had been established for some time and approved by the proper authorities. One other charge against Mr. Delgado, amounting to $102.83 for civil fees not turned over to the county, was dismissed on the showing of the county treasurer's certificate that this sum had been received.

The charges and suspensions recorded against Secundino Romero for the same causes, amounted to $5,067.30, while those against Amador Ulibarri totalled $7,596.90. By Mr. Wagner's statement, these will also be dismissed.

Wall Paper Making in 1790

John B. Howell established the first wall paper factory in the United States at Albany, N. Y., in 1790, but the paper was in sheets only. In 1799 Louis Robert, a Frenchman, invented a process for making paper in rolls, and in 1803 John Gamble, an Englishman, secured a patent for making paper in endless sheets.

CHEVROLETS MUST REACH CUSTOMERS IN PERFECT CONDITION

Taking another step forward in the perfection of its drive-away system and to make sure that its cars are delivered into the hands of its customers in perfect condition, the Chevrolet Motor company has sent instructions to all its assembly factories and dealers stating that in the future no cars may be towed on drive-aways.

"Careful study has shown that the practice of towing drive-aways may result in impairment to the towing car, the car towed, or both," said C. E. Dawson, assistant general sales manager of Chevrolet, explaining the order.

"The towing of one car by another, no matter how scientifically they are coupled, always places a strain upon the first car. When this is a new car the possibility of damage is increased. Its bearings are tight and its piston clearance is but a few thousandths of an inch, causing a tendency to tighten up and overheat even under normal usage. The chance of overheating is especially great when a new car is used for towing.

"The second car suffers too, in many instances, it has been found, it inevitably gets the first car's dust, which it would escape if following at a normal driving interval, and it sometimes is damaged by stones cast up by the leading car."

The order abolishing towed drive-aways is already in effect.

HOW to get the Most Money from Your Cotton Crop

Three things determine the amount of money you get from your cotton crop—Nature, Turnout and Sample.

There isn't much that you can do about Nature now, but you can get all the Sample and Turnout due you by having your cotton ginned on a Murray High-Speed, Loose-Roll, All-Steel, Air-Blast Gin.

In the Texas Cotton Contest last year, eight of thirteen prizes went to farmers who had their cotton ginned on The Murray. This included first, second and third in production, and most of the prizes for staple.

We have a modern Murray-equipped gin plant, and we know from experience that it will give you the best sample and the biggest turnout every time. Farmers who KNOW will pass up other gins, if necessary, to get to a Murray—because they know it means more money in their pockets. If you want to get the most money out of your cotton crop—and who doesn't?—bring your cotton to us and have it ginned on the Murray—the most modern and scientific gin ever built.

BE ON TIME WITH ONION SEED BED

It is very necessary that the onion seed be planted at the right time. If planted too early, too many plants may produce seed pods the following year. If the seed is started a little too late in the fall, the germination is poor, as the ground is too cool and many of the plants may not develop root systems sufficiently extensive to withstand the extreme cold of December and January. Fabian Garcia of the New Mexico A. & M. College advises that for the lower and irrigated New Mexico valleys the best time to plant the seed bed in the fall is from September 25 to October 10. In the northern and higher sections of the state the seed is not planted until spring.

The seed may be planted in field seed beds and the seedlings transplanted to the field the following spring. If the seed is not started in beds it can be planted in the fall in rows at the proper distances in the field and the seedlings thinned in the spring.

If the growers cannot start the seed in the fall, either in the bed or in the field, the next best thing is to prepare the land for planting in the field in the early spring. In the southern part of New Mexico, everything remaining equal, best results may be obtained by planting in February and early March. In northern and higher parts of the state the planting in the spring may have to be done later, depending on the altitude and latitude of the locality.

If the seed is planted in field seed beds in the fall, the soil should be properly prepared and well enriched so that the little seedlings can get a good start and be large enough for transplanting at the right time in the spring. It is very necessary to get the plants transplanted to the field as early as possible.

Grasshoppers are very fond of small onion seedlings and during the fall sometimes do more or less injury to the young plants in the seed beds. If it is possible the seed should be planted away from hedges, shrubs, alfalfa, or any other vegetation that will offer protection to the grasshoppers.

During the winter the seed bed should not be allowed to get too dry. If this occurs and the winter is unusually cold, many of the little seedlings may be winter-killed.

FOURTH METHODIST CONFERENCE MEETS AT ROSWELL OCT. 6

For the fourth time since it was organized in 1890, the New Mexico annual conference of the M. E. Church South, will be entertained by Methodists of Roswell, the session opening on Wednesday morning, October 6, at nine o'clock. Bishop John M. Moore, appointed in charge of the New Mexico conference at the recent session of the general conference of the M. E. Church, South, at Memphis, Tennessee, will preside over the approaching session. The Rev. C. K. Campbell, pastor of the First Methodist Church, South, at Roswell will be host to the conference.

In addition to Bishop Moore, conference president, officers of the New Mexico conference are: Rev. J. H. Walker, Las Vegas, New Mexico, secretary; Rev. R. C. Edwards, Fort Bayard, New Mexico, assistant secretary; and Rev. Fred L. Glisson, Clovis, New Mexico, statistical secretary.

Presiding elders and their districts are: the Revs. W. S. Vanderpool, Albuquerque district; J. H. Walker, Las Vegas district; S. E. Allison, El Paso district; and J. B. Cochran, Roswell district.

Connectional visitors from Nashville, Tennessee, Louisville, Kentucky, St. Louis, Missouri and Atlanta, Georgia, where are located the general denominational boards of missions lay activities, Epworth League, Sunday school, education, and publishing interests (Nashville), board of church extension (Louisville), board of finance (St. Louis), and hospital board (Atlanta) will be introduced and will speak in the interest of denomination-wide activities.

Chairmen of conference boards and commissions will also report on Methodist activities in the territory covered by the New Mexico conference. Conference chairmen and the interests they represent are: Rev. R. F. Davis, Alpine, Texas, board of finance; Rev. L. L. Thurston, Portales, N. M., board of education; Rev. J. H. Walker, East Las Vegas, N. M., board of church extension; Rev. F. L. Glisson, Clovis, N. M., Epworth League board; Rev. A. C. Douglas, Albuquerque, N. M., Sunday school board; Rev. W. H. Vanderpool, Pecos, Texas, Bible society; Rev. C. K. Campbell, Roswell, N. M., board of missions; Rev. A. C. Searcy, Magdalena, N. M., board of temperance and social service.

The high point of the conference session will probably come Monday, October 11, with the reading of the conference appointments for the ensuing year. Interest will center around those men who have served the same charge for four years or more continuously, since under the Methodist itinerant system they are more than apt to be changed. However, since the meeting of the general conference of 1922, the old "four year limit" has been removed from the pastorate under certain conditions.

The New Mexico conference represents a constituency of approximately 14,000 members; there are eighty-eight Sunday schools with 1,061 officers and teachers and 11,317 pupils enrolled; sixty-one Epworth Leagues with 1,708 members; and seventy-one women's missionary societies with 1,922 members. During the past year the New Mexico conference contributed to foreign missions $4,700; to the superannuate endowment fund $4,700; and for all purposes a total of $256,574.

Sessions of the New Mexico conference formerly held at Roswell were in 1896 with Bishop Joseph S. Key presiding; in 1903, with Bishop Key presiding; and in 1918 with Bishop James Cannon, presiding.

Other Southern Methodist conference meeting simultaneously with the New Mexico conference are the Holston conference at Johnson City, Tennessee, Bishop H. M. DuBose presiding, and the St. Louis conference, at Cape Girardeau, Missouri, Bishop W. F. McMurry presiding.

Mrs. Jeff Hightower, daughter, Miss "Jack" and Mrs. Rose Baish and baby expect to drive to Clovis tomorrow to visit friends until Sunday.

MINING PROSPECTS IN NEW MEXICO AS SEEN BY R. W. ELLIS

Mining prospects in New Mexico are better than they have been in many years, Professor Robert W. Ellis, head of the department of geology of the State University said in a statement last week.

Professor Ellis spent the major part of the summer in a survey of New Mexico mines, covering more than 3,500 miles in his itinerary. The mining industry in this state has been in a state of decadence for a number of years owing to the financial panic of the 90's; the low price of copper following the World War; litigation of various kinds; the "hogging" of the richest veins at little expense; and various other factors, he commented.

Dr. Ellis pointed out that the present indications of state wide revival of mining operations is of great significance to the industry of the state. Many of the camps visited by Dr. Ellis were "ghost towns,"—relics of prosperous times in the past. At some places, particularly at Kingston, once a thriving community of 2,000 but now numbering only about 100 people, there are elaborate stone buildings now fallen into disrepair, but testifying to the former importance of the camps. At Rosedale, once a prosperous camp, only one man remains, he said. Other camps in various parts of the state are typical.

In all of the camps there is a feeling of hopefulness, and indications are that many of them will open up again, Professor Ellis stated. Although many large deposits cannot be developed for lack of capital, and many of the mines now running are handicapped by this fact, there is a pronounced movement of outside capital into the state which is regarded as very hopeful in most of the mining districts, he learned.

Gold Dust, a new mining camp northeast of Hillsboro, was the scene of much activity at the time of Professor Ellis' visit. Placer gold seems to be plentiful there, and many claims have been staked out, he said. Almost all of a district five or six miles square in this district contains "colors". Professor Ellis told of picking up a handful of dirt from the streets of Gold Dust which yielded fourteen "colors". It is estimated that the soil of this region will yield from 25 cents to five dollars per cubic yard.

Many likely prospects in Hidalgo county have never been touched, and there are enormous deposits of copper ore all over the county which would yield great returns under scientific operation, said Professor Ellis. Salt Lake, in Catron county, is one of the geological wonders of the state, he observed. The lake lies within the crater of an extinct volcano and within the lake is another small cone, the crater of which contains another lake.

The level of the water in the two lakes remains the same. The postmaster of Salt Lake takes more salt from the lake than he can sell, there being no market for it except to the neighboring ranchers. The Organ district in the southern part of the state contains more than 200 abandoned prospects and mines, Prof. Ellis said. An evidence that the industry in this region is undergoing a revival is seen in the fact that the school there, which has been closed for several years, has reopened with an enrollment of thirty pupils.

"I have read about two or three hundred of your articles about what kind of girls men want to marry and what kind of men girls fall in love with," writes in a damsel who signs her letter "A Laurel Gray Fan." (Ahem! Thanks for the compliment. I feel like a movie queen.) "But (she goes on) 'why don't you write something about the kind of men no self-respecting girl would look at. And about the types of girls so common now-a-days whom no real man would dream of wanting to marry?' Dear me, Fan, I'm afraid you are pessimistic. I'll tell you what. You go over to the library and get a book of synonyms and antonyms. Whenever you see a virtue described in this corner, just look up the antonym and you'll see the kind of fellow or the kind of maiden who won't do. A man desires to marry an amiable girl, for example, but he will jump out of a third story window to get away from a cranky, bad-tempered, peevish, sulky girl. See? Simple, isn't it? A girl will go wild over a fellow who is generous, but she will shrivel up into zero when courted by a fellow who is stingy, mean, petty, small, penurious, miserly. Get the idea? The formula is very simple. Let's not emphasize the weaknesses and defects and vices of the well-known clan of would-be-lovers. Let us consider the virtues and sweet attributes of character. I mean, Fan, let's be optimists instead of pessimists. Dear heaven knows that if there is any place in the world where optimism blossoms fairest it is in the heart of one in love!

CALIFORNIA LEADS ALL OTHER STATES IN GASOLINE USED

California used more gasoline than any other state in the Union in 1925 with a consumption of 741,839,462 gallons. New York was second with 715,256,520 gallons. Four states used more than 400,000,000 gallons, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas. Nevada consumed the least, only 8,850,407 gallons being charged against her. The total consumption for all the states and the District of Columbia was more than 8,588,000,000 gallons. Montana used 33,735,479 gallons.

Only four states, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and New York have not inaugurated a gasoline tax. North Dakota passed an initiative measure increasing her gas tax 1 cent on June 30. Twenty-eight other states have either inaugurated a gas tax law or increased their rates since January, 1925.

Twenty-one states, many of them with highway systems well along toward completion and adequately maintained, are carrying gas taxes higher than those of Montana. Only two states, Rhode Island and Texas, have a 1 cent tax. The highest tax is 5 cents per gallon in Kentucky. Arkansas has a tax of 10c a gallon on motor oil.

MAY RAISE AVALON DAM

According to unofficial advices from Carlsbad, the dam at Lake Avalon may be raised to furnish increased storage capacity, as a result of a recent preliminary survey of the board of engineers. The dam may be raised either fourteen or twenty-one feet. The estimated cost of a fourteen foot raise would be $400,000 and the twenty-one foot $600,000. If such a measure is adapted it would insure 175,000 acre feet of water every year for the Carlsbad project, with a probability of failure of one year in fifteen when only the maximum amount would be available. Should the dam be raised to the twenty-one foot level it would put five feet of water where the Pecos and Rocky Arroyo converge and would also probably mean a change in the trackage of the Santa Fe running near Avalon to a point further in the hills.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By E. R. Waite

F. A. Miller, Editor of the South Bend (Indiana) Tribune, says: That we are in a period when respect for the laws of God and man is at an exceeding low ebb.

THAT one of the greatest causes of the present extraordinary amount of crime of all kinds among the young is this low state of respect for laws.

THAT to a very great extent the reason for this condition among people is the failure of parents to exert tactfully, firmly and successfully parental authority.

As a result of this weakness on the part of parents young people are today exercising liberties of body, mind and conscience which are going to create regrets in middle life and later.

OIL LASTS LONGER IN BUICK FOR 1927

Device stops crankcase dilution in new models

It is necessary to completely change the oil in the 1927 Buicks only four times a year, Buick engineers claim. This result is accomplished through the elimination of crankcase dilution.

A crankcase ventilator in combination with thermostatic water control removes the water and acid fumes as well as the greater portion of kerosene dilution from the crankcase. This keeps the oil in good condition even in extremely cold weather.

The elimination of oil dilution is one of the greatest problems that has been solved in recent years. It eliminates all the objectional features of winter driving, such as freezing of the oil pump, frequent oil change, and the formation of acid in the crankcase which is so injurious to all working parts of the engine.

One of the chief products of the explosive mixture in a gasoline engine is water. For every gallon of gasoline burned, a gallon of water is produced in the form of steam, and when starting up a cold engine water and the heavy ends of fuel which are not combustible in a cold engine find their way down past the pistons in the form of vapor. Unless they are removed before condensing, they will mingle with the oil in the form of water, kerosene and acid. That is crankcase dilution.

In the Buick crankcase ventilator, the fan blows air through a funnel past an opening in the crankcase, causing a suction which pulls these vapors from the crankcase. It adds no complications to the engine, however, as there are no moving parts to get out of order or require adjustment.

The thermostatic water control is built into the radiator and blocks the water circulation so that under severe weather conditions the engine will warm up from zero to 120 degrees in less than three minutes. When this temperature is reached the thermostat automatically opens and allows the water to circulate. But it never allows the water to drop below 120 degrees under even the most severe driving conditions, which is above the temperature at which crankcase dilution occurs. It prevents excessive use of the choke and gives a summer operating temperature in a very short period of time.

GAME COMMISSION MAKES CHANGES IN OPEN QUAIL SEASON

SANTA FE.—The state game commission, composed of Charles E. Proebstel, T. C. Hill, chairman, and Arthur H. Sisk, met last week, and on the petition of game associations at Silver City, Deming and Hot Springs decided to open the quail season in Grant, Luna, Hidalgo and Sierra counties for November as well as December. The law provides a two months' open season on quail, with the game commission having the power to cut it to less than that period in any given locality. Heretofore the open season has been for December only.

In addition to the change of the open season on quail, the commission established four additional game refuges in various parts of the state and changed the boundaries of one already established.

New refuges were established in Roosevelt county just south of Portales, Chaves county, near Hagerman, Torrance county in the Manzanola forest and Union county near Folsom. The total area of the new refuges will approximate 90,000 acres. On the petition of the Wagon Mound Sportsman's club, the boundaries of the Halls Peak refuge in Mora county were slightly changed.

DUCK SEASON IS TO OPEN OCT. 16 AND CLOSE JAN. 31

SANTA FE.—Thomas P. Delgado, state game warden, Thursday announced that the season for hunting ducks in the state would open October 16 and close January 31, instead of the season from October 1 to January 15 as has been announced.

Mr. Delgado stated that the cause for the change came in the change in the season by the migratory game department of the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Mr. Delgado wants it known to sportsmen that the state game department will enforce the law under the new dates.

No matter if you do get more for your money in telephone service than anything else you buy—

You'd like to keep down the cost.

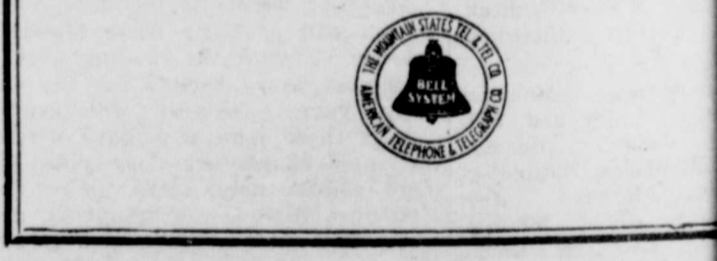

The simplest way is to use Station-to-Station service. It is quicker and costs less.

Instead of insisting on a particular party, just tell the Long Distance operator that you will talk to any person who answers at the distant telephone. Chances are you will get your party just as quickly or can talk business to someone else in the same house or office.

Station-to-Station rates are from 20 per cent to 50 per cent less than Person-to-Person rates.

We encourage you to use this less expensive service because it takes us less time to complete the call and therefore costs us less.

JUNIOR HIGH FOOTBALL SQUAD DEFEATS LAKE ARTHUR BY 2 TO 0 SCORE

The Junior High football team journeyed to Lake Arthur Friday afternoon and brought back the big end of a 2-0 score. The game was hotly contested throughout, and, as may be seen by a look at the score, was much in doubt until the final whistle.

Although the playing of the teams was ragged at times, each showed that they were well coached in the fundamentals of the game. This statement is borne out by the fact that the game, for an early season affair, was remarkably free from fumbles.

There was very little line play, and end runs featured the contest. Only one pass was attempted. It was successfully completed, Glenn to Rogers, for a gain of about 30 yards, and almost resulted in a touchdown for Artesia.

The two points for the Junior High aggregation came as the result of a safety, early in the third period. Lake Arthur was held for downs in the shadow of their own goal. When they attempted to punt, the pass from center went wild, causing the full-back to fumble. He recovered the ball and was tackled behind his own goal line, the play going for a safety.

For Junior High, the end play of "Yellow" Rogers was outstanding. Many times, he broke through to smother the ball-toter before he could get started and, for a 95

INTEREST MANIFESTED AT REPUBLICAN RALLY HERE SATURDAY P. M.

(Continued from first page) It was the speaker's opinion that Delgado is not a democrat from principle, but for revenue only. Mr. Wilson asserted that the democrats would lose more votes than they gained by the "Unholy Alliance."

J. Adam Bede, Minnesota congressman and a chautauqua lecturer made the hit of the afternoon and was the last speaker to appear. Mr. Bede's address could not be classed as purely political, although the speaker frequently referred to the national issues of the republican party. His remarks were chiefly confined to the everyday philosophy of life and his sparkling wit kept the audience in a constant uproar.

Mr. Bede stated that he felt sorry for the fellow who wasn't born on the farm, he'd missed so much life. "How many of you have gone out barefooted after the cows on a frosty morning and warmed your feet where the old cow lay?" asked the speaker. "Well that's the way the republicans will do the democrats this fall," he said.

"We need two strong parties, asserted Mr. Bede. "One to do the watching and the other to control the affairs of the nation."

In the course of his remarks the speaker said that shortly after the war there were one million workers idle in Chicago, two million workers idle in New York and long about this time one of the biggest tooth pick factories in Michigan failed because there was nothing to pick.

Referring to the national issues Mr. Bede stated that the public should get away from the free trade idea, so far as it concerned the tariff. Some of the accomplishments of the republican national administration were that they have brought all liberty bonds to par, put 5,000,000 idle men to work and paid off $5,000,000,000 of the national debt. According to Mr. Bede common laborers now live as well as Kings did 100 years ago.

"The purpose of the government is to make man free, to make him happy and to make the nation great," said Mr. Bede. "And so far as I have been able to reason the republicans have accomplished this purpose."

ART EXHIBIT OCTOBER 6 AND 7 ducting the expense of the exhibit will be used in the purchase of pictures for wall decoration. The purpose of the exhibition is thus clearly two-fold:

First—To give people an opportunity to see a collection of the world's famous masterpieces of painting, sculpture, and architecture.

Second—To make it possible for the public schools to own a few of these pictures.

Why should this exhibit interest you? Because, throughout the country, people are awakening to the importance and value of good art as creative of a refining influence and inspiring atmosphere—and just so surely as people become familiar with the best in art, just so quickly will the crude in art be displaced through appreciation of something better. It is, of course, idle to suppose that one shall become a competent judge of art simply through studying for a time photographs of prints.

But what can and should be obtained is a large measure of appreciation. A work of art which is really great will bear reproduction, and even though this may not possess the pleasure-giving power of the original in a gallery three thousand miles away, that measure of power which it does possess is well worth taking.

One great object of picture study is that of opening the eyes to the beauty all around which an artist's trained eye perceives, while it is missed by others. This is the essential service of all great men—to draw us up in some measure to their own level of insight, enjoyment, and inspiration.

LAKE ARTHUR ITEMS

(Continued from page 4) being out a greater length of time than they were. Some of the boys had never seen a football game, and many had never seen a football. Our next game is with Roswell, next Friday, at Roswell. We hope to have a game every week with the following teams: Artesia, Institute Preps, Roswell High and several other games with teams that have not completed their schedule.

The largest and most beautiful moon that was ever beheld by the Lake Arthur youngsters, was last Tuesday night, September 21, when a bunch of lively high school and grade girls met with Miss Bailey at the Rowan home. The purpose of the meet was to organize a helpful girls club. The name adopted was "Girls Improvement Club" (G. I. C.). Officers elected were as follows: Jewell Flowers, president; Nantie Spence, vice-president; Montine Pate, secretary; Helen Waldrip, treasurer; Nantie Spence, yell leader; Miss M. S. Bailey, sponsor. After the meeting, fourteen of the members boarded a big hearted Ford and motored to the Graham home. Having a dependable chauffeur the destination was reached and an enjoyable social hour followed. Active games were played in the moonlight and refreshments, consisting of "H2O" melon and cider were served. All the girls were delivered to their homes by ten o'clock.

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKERS ARE GIVEN GLAD HERE

"I am not an office seeker, because I happen to be a candidate for reelection," said the governor. "Coolidge has held office practically all the time since he was twenty-one and you don't hear the president referred to as an office seeker, do you?" he asked.

He answered Francis C. Wilson, Santa Fe attorney, who has been speaking for the republicans over the state by saying that Wilson was an attorney for the bonding companies doing business in the state. Mr. Wilson is not in sympathy with the present administration because during the Hinkle-Hannett administration they insisted that the bonding companies pay one hundred cents on the dollar, when a loss would occur in which the state was involved.

The republicans have made the election code an issue in the northern part of the state, but they don't say anything about it when they come down in this section," said the governor. In discussing the election code, Governor Hannett said that he appointed a non partisan committee to work out a code, because he realized some kind of an election law was badly needed. He according appointed three republicans on the committee consisting of C. M. Botts, J. M. Hervey and Senator Holt. A code was drawn up and submitted to the legislature in a manner which would save the expense of calling an extra session. Republicans rejected the code and then submitted an amendment, which was rejected by the non-partisan committee.

The governor referred to the vicious propaganda, which was being spread among the natives in the Spanish edition of the New Mexican, which state in one particular instance that a vote for A. T. Hannett is a disgrace to every native.

Discussing briefly the prohibition amendment submitted in the last legislature, Governor Hannett stated that he vetoed the bill because he believes that it was unconstitutional and would conflict with the Volstead law. He stood squarely for law enforcement, however.

Al S. Roughton, candidate for corporation commissioner was the next speaker introduced. Mr. Roughton pledged his best efforts toward a more equitable freight rate.

Miss Jessie Fortune, candidate for secretary of state was also introduced and asked for the support of the party.

Sam G. Bratton, junior United States senator from New Mexico was the last speaker to appear for the evening and confined his address principally to the discussion of national issues. Senator Bratton is well acquainted with the older residents of this section, having served as judge of the fifth judicial district in 1918, before the northern counties were cut from this district. In the beginning of his talk, Senator Bratton stated that the democratic party proposed to wage an offensive campaign, not a defensive campaign.

Senator Bratton was loud in his praise of the last national democratic administration. He stated that there was more progressive legislation enacted during the Wilson administration than any fifty years of a previous republican administration. In reviewing some of the acts passed during the last democratic administration he named the federal reserve act, the federal trade comission act, the Clayton amendment to the Sherman Anti trust law, the parcel post and the savings bank act, the income tax law as devised by the Wilson administration, the granting of federal aid to the highways, a vocational training act, an effective corrupt practice act, direct election of the United States Senators, a minimum wage act and the creation of a department of labor by a democratic administration. After summing up the outstanding achievements of the Wilson administration, he challenged a comparison with any previous republican administration.

Reviewing some of the accomplishments, which have proved an aid to his state since taking a seat in the senate, Senator Bratton stated that an act had been passed condemning Indian lands, so that railroads might be allowed to build into the reservations, etc. An act was also passed relieving the water users of the Carlsbad project of $370,000 indebtedness, also a like indebtedness of the Elephant Butte dam, which was unjust. An act was also passed whereby the state could exchange timber lands for grazing lands of equal value. Also an act quit claiming to all western states federal lands, this bill, however, is still pending.

In his discussion of the things accomplished by the state administration he called attention to the taxable valuations of the state under the republican rule, which totalled $370,000, with a tax rate of $26.83 per $1000 valuations. Because of the depression of the cattle industry and bank failures following the war the total renditions dropped to $317,000 during the Hinkle-Hannett administrations, yet they were able to reduce the tax rate to $26.74 per $1000. He also stated that during the democratic administrations $814,000 in bonds had been retired, besides a school indebtedness of some $400,000 to $500,000.

Have the republicans given out any promises as to what they will do? asked the speaker in closing his ad-

ARTESIA "BULLDOGS" DEFEAT PECOS ON A MUDDY FIELD 24 TO 0

The Artesia "Bulldogs" journeyed to Pecos, Texas last Friday and opened the football season with a bang by defeating the Pecos gridiron players on a muddy field and in a drizzling rain to the tune of 24 to 0. Though it was the first game of the season, the game had all the earmarks of a seasoned conflict, the combat being hard fought all the way through in spite of the wide difference in the score.

There was little starring during the game, however several men on both sides played remarkable ball for this stage of the season. Among the locals, Terry and House at ends were especially good on defensive play. Shockley and Naylor attacks worked well; Shockley did unusually well for a new man at the game. Teal and Cave, the baby elephants at the guard positions, were like stone walls and Fleming, a veteran of many battles, performed remarkably well at his new position at center. In the backfield, Conner and Jernigan appeared true to form in the positions beside Captain Jackson at fullback. With Muncy at quarter the backfield was well balanced and was able to gain almost at will on the opponents.

Pecos had one giant on their team at fullback who insisted on tramping on our men in some of the terrific line plunges he featured in, so much dress. The party will journey to Hope this afternoon and from Hope they will go to Carlsbad for a meeting tonight.
