CAR OVERTURNS ON HOPE ROAD SUNDAY—NO INJURY REPORTED

A near serious car accident was averted Sunday afternoon when a Dodge coupe driven by Miss Effie McCaw overturned on the Hope highway, about four miles west of here. Fortunately neither Miss McCaw nor her companion, E. C. Miller, were seriously injured, although Mr. Miller sustained a slight injury about his left shoulder. Miss McCaw escaped unhurt.

The cause of the accident was due to the fact that the driver lost control of the car.

When the coupe overturned the glass in the windshield was broken, the glass in one of the doors was smashed and one tire was blown out.

TRAINING COURSES FOR GIRL SCOUT CAPTAINS WILL START SATURDAY

Staff of Scout Experts Will Supervise Activities In The Camp—Fifty Girl Scouts Have Registered To Attend Session.

Miss Mary White of Roswell, Girl Scout Commissioner of the Roswell district, accompanied by Miss Pauline Wherry, of New York, Girl Scout regional director, passed through Artesia yesterday en route home from the Girl Scout camp in the Sacramento mountains, where they completed arrangements for holding the summer camp. This camp is now ready for the Girl Scouts, who are registered. There will be fifty girls in attendance this year. The Girl Scouts will be under the supervision of a staff of experts in all Girl Scout subjects and Miss Wherry, regional director, will conduct a school for fifteen Girl Scout captains, who are to learn how to conduct troops in their various home towns.

Miss Helen Sage of Artesia, will attend the training school for the Girl Scout captains and will enjoy camp life with the various captains from Texas and Oklahoma. The Artesia Girl Scouts have not registered for camp this year, but next year they expect to send a representative body.

An article in the Roswell Record of Tuesday gives some interesting data on the personnel of the camp organization for this year. The article follows:

Girl Scout mothers and fathers will be glad to know the personnel of the leaders and staff who are to conduct the Girl Scout camp which is being held July 2nd to 16th in the Sacramento mountains under the auspices of the Roswell Girl Scout council.

Miss Pauline Wherry, regional director of the Girl Scouts is a graduate of both the Universities of Texas and Kentucky, has done a great deal of social work and has been in Girl Scout work for six years.

Dr. Rebecca Mason, physician, is a graduate of Rush Medical College of Chicago and the University of Minnesota, and is resident physician of the Oklahoma College for Women. The health of seven hundred girls depends upon Dr. Mason's work and advice.

Miss Dorothy Anderson, state supervisor of public health nursing, is a registered nurse in charge of all public health nursing in New Mexico. She is most interested in teaching girls the fundamentals of home nursing and care of the sick.

Miss Cecile Wright, local director of Girl Scouts from Houston, Texas, will have special charge of singing, games and folk dances. Miss Wright has studied at Chalf's school of dance in New York and has several times been a student of Miss Burcheal, the famous folk dancing authority.

Mrs. Peggy Williams Ellis, from Port Arthur, Texas, will have charge of teaching the girl nature and pioneering. Mrs. Ellis is an instructor in Physical Education.

Miss Marietta Hedges, who will be dietitian for the entire camp is a graduate of the College of Industrial Arts and an expert on feeding girls appropriate foods.

Miss Laura Wallace from Mineral Wells will have charge of the regular Girl Scout test work. She is a Girl Scout captain and a Master's degree graduate from the University of Texas.

Miss Dorothy Linz, of the University of Oklahoma, who holds a much coveted loving cup in horsemanship, and who ranks as one of the most advanced Girl Scouts in the Southwest, will teach riding, be bugler and teach scoutcraft.

"For A Safe And Sane Fourth"

YOUNG GIRLS CONFESS TO BURGLARY CHARGE MUCH LOOT RECOVERED

Officers believe they have checked a series of depredations, which have been carried on in the residential section of Artesia for the past year or more by two young girls, whose names are withheld from publication on account of their ages. They were arranged before the Justice court Saturday by the police department and on being questioned are understood to have made a confession. The Smith residence on Fourth street was the last dwelling to be visited by these young marauders, who are reported to have made a thorough search of the premises for jewelry and other valuables. The residence of H. Q. Haley was pilfered a few days previous to the Smith dwelling and a quantity of jewelry was taken. Entrance was made into the Haley residence by cutting the back screen and pulling the latch. A neighbor living near the Preston Dunn home, scared the girls away from the Dunn dwelling as they were attempting to enter the house by cutting the screen.

They are said to have taken four inner tubes from the Magnolia station last week and sold them. They also took $3.00 from the home of Joe Richards sometime ago and pilfered and robbed the Otis Brown residence more than a year ago.

BROTHER OF REV. L. R. SIMMONS INJURED

Rev. L. R. Simmons was in receipt of a telegram Sunday stating that his brother, Dan Simmons, of Oklahoma, was in a serious condition following an accident which befell him, presumably while at work on an oil well rig. No details of the accident have been learned here further than Mr. Simmons is in a serious condition suffering from a crushed skull.

REV. McARTHUR TO FILL PULPIT AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUN.

Arrangements have been made to have Rev. W. G. McArthur, superintendent of the Baptist Orphans home at Portales, fill the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday in the absence of Rev. L. R. Simmons, who was called to Oklahoma on account of the serious illness of his brother.

SULLIVAN REFINERY AT CLOVIS SOLD

The plant of the Sullivan Refinery at Clovis was sold yesterday to the Colfax Refining Co., of Indianapolis, Indiana, according to an announcement made this morning by Ralph A. Shugart of Artesia. The terms of the sale were not made known. The Colfax Refining Co., is a new refining company to enter the state.

Mrs. James Coats, of Roswell will have charge of the business and money matters of the camp.

A GET ACQUAINTED TOUR IS PLANNED BY ROSWELL BUSINESS MEN

Plans for the "Get Acquainted Tours" of the Roswell people, as announced last week are now practically completed and a tentative itinerary is as follows:

The first one will be down the valley, leaving Roswell on the morning of July 12 and returning July 13. Short visits will be made at Dexter, Hagerman and Lake Arthur with a noon meeting at Artesia. Dayton and Lakewood will be visited in the afternoon, the caravan reaching Carlsbad in the evening. It is hoped a night meeting can be arranged in Carlsbad. The next morning early the crowd will leave for Lovington, spend the noon hour there and return to Roswell by way of Tatum and Caprock.

The second trip will leave Roswell July 20, visit Kenna, and Elida, spend the noon at Portales and go on into Clovis for the evening, probably with an evening meeting with Clovis business men. The next morning the crowd will leave Clovis, visit Melrose and Tiaban and get into Fort Sumner for the noon hour, and return to Roswell by way of Dunlap.

The third trip will leave Roswell on August 3rd and visit Hope and spend the noon hour in the Penasco country. Some sort of picnic will likely be arranged during the noon hour with the people of Hope and Penasco communities. The Roswell delegation plan to spend the night at Cloudercroft and hold a night meeting there on that date.

VISITORS AT I. O. O. F. LODGE

The Artesia Oddfellow lodge entertained a number of visitors at their lodge session Tuesday evening, and enjoyed a visit from J. M. Doughty, of Tucumcari, grand master of the New Mexico I. O. O. F. Among those present from other valley points were: Past Grand Master R. N. Miller and J. M. Ogle from Hagerman, C. A. Cole, W. S. Medcalf, George W. Chambers and William H. Crockett from Hope.

RECEPTION FOR MALJAMAR EMPLOYEES

An informal reception for the employees of the Maljamar Oil Corporation was given last evening at the M. E. Baish home. The occasion proved to be a very delightful affair. Following the serving of refreshments, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

All employees of the company were present except Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Simons, who were not able to attend on account of the weather conditions.

BIG WOOL SHIPMENT

Messrs. Coffin, Watts and McDonald, of Hope brought into Artesia Saturday and Monday 70,000 pounds of wool from their spring clip. The wool was sold to C. G. Salter, of Roswell and will be shipped direct to Boston. The contract price per pound was 27 1/2 cents, which netted the three growers better than $21,000 for the lot.

The clip of Hope growers brought in Saturday brings the total wool shipments from this point to more than 1300 bags for the season.

The C. V. Lee family went to the mountains yesterday to remain over the week-end.

STATE ENGINEER TO ESTABLISH OFFICE TO ASSIST WELL OWNERS

In accordance with a petition filed in the office of the State Engineer of New Mexico, Herbert W. Yoe, State Engineer, will assume the administration and control of the artesian waters in the Artesia artesian basin. All users of artesian waters in Eddy County should file a declaration of their rights. For the convenience of the users of artesian waters in Eddy County, a temporary office of the State Engineer will be established for the month of July in the Gilbert & Collins building at 103 Roselawn, Artesia where the well supervisor, C. V. Brainard, will furnish the necessary forms and information for filing such declarations. A filing fee of $1.00 will be charged for filing a declaration.

HEALTH INSPECTION HERE REVEALS A FEW UNSANITARY PREMISES

Gives The Oasis Swimming Pool a Clean Bill—Toilets in Bad Condition, Ordered Closed—Water Holes a Menace.

Some features of the report made by Dr. O. E. Puckett, county health officer last week, when he inspected a number of places in Artesia, are not highly encouraging, although in most instances the report is fairly passable.

In making this report Dr. Puckett says "I found a number of garbage cans without lids, I also found a number of toilets in bad order. These toilets have been ordered closed. The cafes in Artesia are in a fair condition.

One report that the Oasis swimming pool was in an unsanitary condition was investigated and is without foundation so far as Dr. Puckett was able to determine, after an inspection of the Oasis premises. A test will be made of the water used in the swimming pool as soon as a container is available.

Dr. Puckett also ordered the owner of one cow pen located in the city limits to clean up the premises in and around the pen.

The rains are responsible for the recent influx of flies, according to Dr. Puckett. "Flies breed in manure piles," he says.

Dr. Puckett also calls attention to the large number of water holes along the highways and streets, which serve as a breeding place for mosquitoes and otherwise prove a nuisance in rainy weather.

FIELD SUPT. FOR OPERATORS OIL COMPANY LOCATES HERE

L. D. Morey, formerly of Tulsa, Oklahoma, has recently moved his family to Artesia and will occupy the Ragsdale apartments on Main street. Mr. Morey has assumed his duties as field superintendent of the Operators Oil Co., the new concern to take over the Danziger holdings in the Artesia field.

CLOSED FOR FOURTH

We are authorized to announce that the garages and filling stations of Artesia will be closed on July 4th from 9:30 a. m. during the remainder of the day. While no announcement has been made with reference to closing the stores, it is presumed that they will follow their usual custom and close their doors for the entire day.

VISCOLIZED CREAM

Boddy's Ice Cream and Bottling Works are advertising the manufacture of viscolized ice cream, which is a new product the plant has been making this summer. This cream is made in a manner which complies with the most rigid health laws and has recently become very popular, according to Mr. Boddy. See his announcement in this issue.

BRYAN'S FORD COUPE IS STOLEN WHILE HE IS ATTENDING CHURCH

The Ford sedan, belonging to W. A. Bryan was stolen Sunday evening while Mr. Bryan and family were worshipping at the Presbyterian church. After church services were over Mr. Bryant failed to find his car and immediately notified the officers who began a search, combing the highways and lateral roads, but failed to find any trace of the car that night. The auto was located at an early hour Monday morning east of the W. R. Hornbaker home by Marshal M. Stevenson.

Evidence which developed when the car was found indicated that the thief was in need of accessories. The steering wheel and the battery were missing, but the sedan was not otherwise damaged so far as it could be determined, when located.

"What work are you doing today?"
asked the king of his three secretaries, with the idea of giving his beautiful daughter's hand to the one who answered best. "I am doing my tomorrow's work today," answered
one. "I am doing today's work today," came the second. Said the third, "Your Majesty, I haven't caught up with last month's mail."
"You, then," said the King, "shall

of these efficient guys anyhow!"—

THE SUGAR BEET

The agitation of the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce for a sugar beet factory for that section will be watched with interest by other valley points. We hardly believe that there is a possibility for the beet to replace cotton as a principal crop in any part of the Pecos valley, yet raising the sugar beet may in the course of time, prove a very profitable industry.

The sugar beet offers another factor in a broader diversification program and the more varied the possibilities of diversification are in any community, the greater are its agricultural resources.

A CANNING FACTORY

Speaking of diversification of the farm, the possibilities of the sugar beet and other industries connected with the agricultural interests of this section, we are reminded that we see an idle canning factory every time we pass down the south highway.
This canning factory, once famous for its product, the Lakewood tomato, can no longer be profitably operated on account of the scarcity of labor in that community, so we are told.

Developments in this community have never lent encouragement to an industry of this kind until recently, but we are inclined to believe that a tomato canning factory for Artesia could be operated profitably within a short time, at least so far as the labor is concerned and there is no reason why tomatoes can not be grown here as well as any other section.

THE SAME OLD GAG

Periodically Artesia, like many other towns is besieged with a horde of magazine peddlers, usually a bunch of young girls, who claim to be working for some kind of a university or college scholarship.
We had our semi-annual siege the latter part of the week. The peddler is usually careful not to let the prospect in on too many of the details of the proposition and makes the approach by asking for your vote. Incidentally you may get a hazy idea that you get a subscription to one or two magazines or periodicals, if you let her talk long enough, but if you fall for her high pressure methods, the most distinct recollection you will have of the transaction is that you have signed on the dotted line and parted with some of your cold cash. Later you may receive a magazine or two, but likely you will not.

PAPERS REFLECT TOWN

It is recognized that a town may be rather accurately judged so far as its progressiveness is concerned, by the way in which it supports its newspapers. In other words, a credible and prosperous looking newspaper may be safely taken as an indication of a live and enterprising community.

The reason is plain. A live town naturally demands a representative newspaper or newspapers, and there will always be found someone to meet the demands. Almost without exception it may be found that a town has just about as good a news-

PICKED UP ON MAIN

Sometimes the folks you think should be the most concerned are the least. Not long ago we asked an oil scout when he thought the oil business was coming back. "Gosh," he replied, "I hadn't missed it."

Last week a resident of Artesia inquired of a business man if Emancipation Day didn't mean that the negroes were freed from the Indians.

Ordinarily you would think that one of the chief duties of the Justice of the Peace was tying knots, however, the canine conception of his duties is just the opposite. Last week when a mischievous boy tied a can to a dog's tail, the dog made a bee line for the J. P. office and Squire Feather preformed the untying ceremony, but failed to collect the usual fee.

It is usually conceded that Sambo and the rest of his colored friends have a corner on the knowledge of crap shooting, however, last week we saw a young business man called as an expert witness in a crap shooting case in Justice court.

FIRST WEDDING IN CAVERN THURSDAY

Miss Peggy Stevens of Roswell, and Mr. Henry J. Hughes of Carlsbad, were married at the base of the Rock of Ages in the Big Room of the Carlsbad Cavern seven hundred and fifty feet below the surface of the ground, at 2 p. m. June 23rd, 1927 by the Rev. H. L. Wheeler of Memphis, Texas.

At the request of the young couple the entire group of one hundred and thirty tourists were invited by Custodian Thomas Boles to be their guests at the ceremony, and additional flares were burned during the ceremony making the setting probably more magnificent than any cathedral in the world—Curren-Argus.

paper as it deserves.
In this connection a quotation
from a recent address by James J.
O'Shaughnessy, executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, is to the point.
In the light of his many years of experience in dealing with newspapers, he says:

"I have been widely quoted as saying that the village weekly newspaper is the cornerstone of American Journalism. No one has disputed that assertion. Modern communities, large and small, grow and prosper in the wake of their newspapers. If their newspapers are prosperous, retail business prospers
and real estate appreciates in value."

THE CONFESSION

The escapade of the three DeAutremont brothers, Hugh, Ray and Roy in the Siskiyou train robbery and hold up, which occurred almost four years ago, has been followed with interest by the people of this section, from the date of the crime through its closing chapters, because of the local connection of the De Autremont family with this and the Lakewood communities. Such is a natural consequence, although the deed of the three brothers has held a place on the front pages of the newspaper, intermittently since the beginning.

Had the officials succeeded in the capture of the brothers shortly after the robbery and hold up, the affair would have been forgotten by this time, but the long chase, aided by an occasional flare up when some one of the brothers would be reportedly captured, has familiarized practically the entire nation with the notorious deed and rekindled interest when it appeared as though the brothers had eluded their pursuers.
In this particular instance it looked like the brothers had cheated the law and they had almost, but not quite and there hangs the tale.

Hugh DeAutremont, in his confession of the crime, made at Medford, Oregon Thursday, admits that it was a dastardly crime and states that it had its birth when Ray was in the state reformatory at Washington. Ray came out of the reformatory embittered against the world, Hugh is quoted as saying.
His bitterness does not appear to have been chargeable to the reformatory life, but to the fact that while there he had been reading Darwin, Huxley et al, which had saturated his mind with hatred for the world at large.

But life in the reformatory evidently did not give Ray his first knowledge of socialism and social unrest. At least not if we believe the testimony of many of the earlier residents, who maintained an acquaintance with the DeAutremont family. The early home training was all it could be so far as the mother was concerned, but the socialistic ideals were instilled into the boys by their father, who doubtless encouraged them to read literature of this sort. Perhaps the doctrine had not gripped Ray on his entrance in the reformatory, but his home training influenced him in this direction, which later caused his downfall.

PUBLIC LANDS COSTLY FOR RANCH PURPOSES

New Mexico has approximately 17,000,000 acres of public land within her boundaries. Under our present system of agriculture, the entire area might be considered of little or no use from a cultivated crop standpoint, says A. L. Walker of the New Mexico A. & M. College.

The semi-desert type of plants which exist on this area are of little or no value as browse, and grasses are sparse even in the best of years.
This great area is used to some extent by livestock operators who find it convenient to do so by developing watering places adjacent to it. Public domain is "free-land" and open to use of all citizens, but this great area is of so little value that as yet no one has found it economical to prove up on it. Consequently it lies idle, except for the use that ranchmen make of it.

Many individuals not familiar with conditions in Western States are of the opinion that ranchmen are getting a lot for nothing when public domain is used for grazing purposes.
A study made on 127 New Mexico ranches in 1925 indicates that it is really an expensive proposition to use "free-land" in ranch operations.

Forty-nine of 122 ranches included in the study used some public domain upon which to run cattle in 1925.
There were 23,096 acres of land included in the ranch area on each of the 73 ranches using no free land, while the ranches using public domain in part for grazing purposes had an average of more than 63,500 acres per ranch. The "no-free-land" ranches had an average of 1108 cow units per ranch and the ranches using public domain had only 1492 cow units per ranch; it requiring 43 acres per cow on the 49 ranches using public domain and only 21 acres per cow on the ranches using no free land in ranch operations.

This great difference in area required per cow gave rise to many other difficulties. The land investment per animal unit on the ranches using free land in their operations was 51 per cent less than on the ranches using no public domain, yet the water and fence investment was appreciably more than on the ranches where land was entirely under the control of the ranchmen. Considering all factors, the total investment per animal unit on the ranches using public domain was only 36 per cent less than on ranches where no free land was used for grazing purposes.

In addition to the facts already mentioned, it was found that in areas where public domain was prevalent, the death losses were 12.4 per cent greater, an appreciably less calf crop was branded, and labor costs were much greater than on ranches where ranchmen had absolute control, or near control of lands used for ranching purposes. These, in addition to the uncertainty of use of public domain under our present system of tenure, indicates clearly that the so-called "free-lands" are rather costly to men using them for ranching purposes. A modification in the present system of control of public domain is earnestly desired by ranchmen
using this class of land.

SIMPLE DIET BEST FOR HOT WEATHER

Altho we need as much food in summer as in winter, if we do the same kind of work, plain living should be emphasized in hot weather says Miss Velma Borschell of the New Mexico A. & M. College. A simple diet is just as good from the point of nutrition and it saves much work in a hot kitchen. Recipes should be chosen which require the minimum of time in preparation and a short cooking process.

In general, cold foods are less appetizing and hot foods more stimulating. On a summer day, however, a bowl of hot cream soup produces discomfort while a dish of ice cream is refreshing, yet both contain about the same amount of calories. Lemonade seems to have a much more cooling effect than hot coffee with sugar and cream, yet they are equal in food value.

Protein foods, of which meat and fish are the most common examples, are stimulating and create body heat which cannot be used for work and must be eliminated from the body as waste. Therefore, it is wise to eat little meat in summer.

Vegetables are the chief sources of lime and phosphorus for the bones and teeth, iron for blood and,
besides supplying other minerals needed in the body, contain the vit-amines which are essential to health.
Fruits also supply minerals and vit-amines.

The following whole meal dish will be found to contain sufficient variety so that by adding bread and butter, with either a salad, fruit sauce or simple dessert, no other food is needed.

Vegetable Chowder

4 potatoes, 3 carrots, 3 onions, 1
pt. canned tomatoes, 2 T fat or a piece of salt pork, 3 level T flour, 2 cups skim milk, 2 teaspoons salt.

Cut potatoes and carrots in small pieces, add enough water to cover and cook twenty minutes. Do not drain off water. Brown the chopped onion in the fat for five minutes.
Add this and the tomatoes to the vegetables. Heat to boiling, add two cups skim milk and thicken with flour. Celery tops and peppers give a good flavor too. Serve in soup dishes with crackers or toast. Rice and okra may be substituted for potatoes and carrots, or almost any vegetable may be used.

For those who insist on a meat dish, the following will be both palatable and nutritious. It might also be called a whole-meal dish, containing as it does both meat and vegetables.

Hamburg Steak a la Tartare
1 lb rump or round steak ground 1 slice onion, 1 tablespoon fat, melted, 1-2 green pepper, 1 1-2 cups tomato sauce, 1-4 cup fat, 4 egg yolks.

Chop the onion and pepper very fine and cook in melted fat until yellowed and softened. Add these to the ground beef, with the salt.
Mix thoroughly and roll into four balls. Press the balls into flat cakes with a depression in the center. Melt a tablespoon of fat in an iron frying pan, set the meat in the pan and cook in the oven 20 minutes. Remove from oven and drop the uncooked yolk of an egg in each depression.
Baste the yolks with a little hot fat, return to oven and let cook about five minutes. Remove to a hot serving dish, pour on the hot sauce and serve at once.

How to Play BRIDGE

A new series of lessons by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 36

In the previous article, reference was made to a duplicate auction and the various tables obtained in the play of one hand that caused considerable confusion at a recent duplicate game of the New York card clubs:

Hearts - A, J, 7, 6, 2
Clubs - J, 10, 9
Diamonds - 9, 8, 5
Spades - none

Hearts - A, Q, 8, 5, 4, 2
Clubs - 7, 5
Diamonds - A, Q, 10, 7, 3
Spades - none

Table No. 1, Z dealt and bid one heart, Y and B passed. Z bid two hearts, A and Y passed and B bid three hearts. Z bid two hearts, A and Y passed and B bid three hearts. Z bid two hearts, A and Y passed and B bid three hearts. Z bid two hearts, A and Y passed and B bid three hearts.

hearts, Y doubled and all passed. A-B just made two hearts doubled and thus scored 125 points for game, 32 points for tricks, 30 points for honors and 50 points for making their contract; a total of 237 points. Z's failure to bid three hearts was thus a very costly mistake. If he had bid three hearts, A would have passed and Y would have bid three hearts, having three spades and only two clubs. Z's mistake thus cost him and his partner a net loss of 428 points. This hand shows the great losses that players suffer by bad bidding, yet which may not be noticed in regular play. At duplicate auction, however, the results are all tabulated, and if you make such a mistake you cannot help but notice it when you compare results with your friends. Duplicate auction thus offers a fine opportunity to improve one's game and should be taken advantage of whenever possible.

Answer to Problem No. 42

In the following hand, given in the preceding article, B is playing the hand at one diamond. The question is, how can B make a little slam against the best defense if Z opens the ace of clubs?

Hearts - J, 9, 8, 3
Clubs - Q, J, 2
Diamonds - 2
Spades - 10, 8, 4, 3, 2

Y : Hearts - A, Q, 7, 2
B : Clubs - none
Z : Diamonds - K, 10, 7, 6, 5, 3
Spades - A, J, 7

Hearts - K, 10, 5
Clubs - A, 10, 8, 6, 3
Diamonds - A, 9, 8, 4
Spades - 6

Trump the ace of clubs with your diamonds. He should now lead diamonds. Z should play the ace and A wins the trick with the queen. B should then lead the queen of hearts and A should discard the deuce of hearts. B should now lead the queen of spades. B should now lead the queen of spades. B should now lead the queen of spades. B should now lead the queen of spades.

now lead his king of diamonds and drop Z's last trump. A should discard the four of hearts and Y the eight of spades. B should now lead three rounds of spades. Z is thus forced to make three discards. Z can discard one heart and one club but what will he discard on the third trick? If he discards a club, A's two clubs are good. If he discards a heart, B's ace and queen of hearts are good. In either event, therefore, A-B must make the balance of the tricks. It is a neat little problem and a fine example of the "squeeze" play.

Answer to Problem No. 43

Hearts - none
Clubs - A, 9
Diamonds - 10, 8
Spades - none

Y : Hearts - K
B : Clubs - none
Z : Diamonds - J, 6
Spades - 6

Hearts - 9
Clubs - none
Diamonds - A, 4
Spades - 3

discards a diamond, Z should discard the nine of hearts and Y-Z then have two good diamond tricks. (2) If A leads the seven of diamonds, Y plays the eight. If A leads the nine of diamonds, Y plays the ten. Now no matter what B plays, Y-Z must win two diamond and one club trick. It is a tricky little problem but of a type that comes up frequently, so study it over carefully.

CONTINENTAL OIL BELIEVES IN ADVERTISING PRODUCTS

Continental Oil Co., is engaged in an ambitious advertising campaign in marketing its refinery products in fifteen states in which it has service stations. It has contracted with 500 newspapers with a combined circulation of 2,500,000. If the space contracted in the newspapers was pasted into a "string" it is estimated it would reach twice around the world. Newspaper advertising will be supplemented with bill board posters and $75,000 will be spent in signs and other helps for the dealers. In addition to all the publicity mentioned, something like 1,000,000 road maps will be distributed to auto road tourists. Advertisements in eastern and southern newspapers carry a coupon which, if cut out and mailed to the company, will entitle the sender to a road map.—Inland Oil Index.

DE AUTREMONT BROS. HANGED IN EFFIGY BY CITIZENS OF ASHLAND

MEDFORD, Ore.—The three De Autremont brothers were hanged in effigy Friday by a crowd of citizens of Ashland, angered by the compromise, which allowed the twin brothers Thursday to receive life sentences.

Several hundred citizens of Ashland, home of Charles O. Johnson, brakeman, for whose murder Hugh DeAutremont was tried and convicted, gathered and strung up three dummies to the Chamber of Commerce sign over Main Street. The dummies labeled Hugh, Ray and Roy, were taken down later by the Ashland police.

WILL ASK NEW HEARING FOR HASSELL

Evidences that Geo. J. Hassell, confessed slayer of thirteen people, will not be sentenced to die in the electric chair at the July term of the Parmer county district court have come to surface since last week when his conviction here was affirmed by the criminal court of appeals. Hassell is now in the Hale County jail at Plainview and from the conversations he has engaged in during the past week, it is presumed he is expecting his attorney, W. H. Russell of Hereford, to file a motion for a new hearing before the appeal court.

In a long distance telephone conversation this morning Mr. Russell informed the Tribune that "I guess I'll have to file a motion for a new hearing; that's part of the game, you know." Mr. Russell said that as yet he had not filed his motion, but would do so.

This means that Hassell will not be resentenced here before the January term of district court. The court of criminal appeals adjourns Saturday of this week and will not meet again till October 3. The motion will not be acted upon before the October term. Pending its action Hassell will not be given his sentence.—State Line Tribune.

Sheepmen started shearing on June 1 and will not complete their work until after the first of next month. Wool is now coming rapidly into the city and by the first of the month it is expected that approximately 1,000,000 more pounds will be stored here.—Roswell Record.

WELSH ASSUMES NEW DUTIES

The following item clipped from a Hibbing, Minnesota paper with reference to Dr. Edward Welsh, a former Artesia boy and son of Mrs.
Laura Welsh will be of interest to the readers of the Advocate.

Dr. W. E. Welsh, successor to C.
T. Frederickson, resigned, has taken full charge of his duties as city dairy inspector and veterinarian.

Dr. Welsh comes here well recommended and well qualified for the post he is to fill.

Born in Ohio, reared in New Mexico, he came to Iowa where he received his technical training. There he obtained his doctor's degree at the Iowa State university.

Dr. Welsh is single and 27 years of age. He is staying at the home of H. A. Drescher, of the high school and junior college faculty here.

In addition to his university training Dr. Welsh has had two years in practice as a veterinarian and has done considerable research work in the field of dairying and pure foods.

Dr. Welsh has taken full charge of his duties here after being acquainted with local conditions for several days under the guidance of Mr.
Fredrickson.

Mr. Fredrickson resigned his position to accept the post of lieutenant commander of supplies with the United States naval reserve at Duluth.

MILLIONAIRES ARE ON THE INCREASE INCOME TAX FIGURES REVEAL

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Americans paid taxes on incomes of $1-000,000 and over for the calendar year of 1925 than ever before in the government's tax history, a treasury analysis shows. The millionaires incomes totalled 207, compared with 75 in 1924 and 206 in 1916, the previous high mark.

Seven persons, including two in Michigan and New York respectively, and one each in Illinois, Oklahoma, and Pennsylvania, filed returns showing incomes of $5,000,000 or over.

Seventeen states proved the residences of the taxed millionaires, together with one from the District of Columbia. New York led with 96, while Pennsylvania was second with 28. Illinois and Massachusetts had 16 each. Michigan 13, Ohio 8, California 6, New Jersey 5, Missouri 4, and Florida 3. Connecticut, Indiana, Maryland and Oklahoma had two apiece, while Iowa, Nebraska, and Wisconsin—each were represented by one.

The 1926 revenue act with its increased exemptions, lightening the burden of the income taxpayer, proved efficacious in producing more revenue, the report indicated.

The number of returns, filed for the incomes earned during the calendar year of 1925 and based upon the act's provisions, decreased 43.4 percent compared to the preceding year but a total tax collection of $734,555,183, an increase of $30,289,- 793 or 4.3 per cent was recorded.

The proportion of the population filing returns was 3.6 per cent compared with 6.56 in 1924.

The average net income of those filing returns was $5,249 with an average tax of 3.85 percent recording an increase of $1,767.90 in the income compared with 1924. The rate for 1924 was 2.74 percent. The total net income for the 4,171,051 tax payers for 1925 was $21,894,576,403.

New York bore the heaviest burden of any state with a payment of $252,157,834, on a taxable income total of $4,109,183,881. Pennsylvania was second largest with a tax payment of $73,364,045, while Illinois, Massachusetts, and Michigan followed in that order.

The 1925 corporation tax also yielded a larger revenue, showing an increase of $288,781,660 over the preceding year. The number of corporations reporting totalled 252,234 an increase of 15,945 while their total income return of $9,583,683,697 produced a $1,170,331,206 tax. Estate tax returns numbering 10,470 were levied for $138,056,542 on a total valuation of $3,150,663,538.

The number of taxable returns and income and total income tax of the states included:

Arizona—$6,819 returns $31,813,- 094 net income, $544,953 net tax.
California—$194,449 returns, $1,- 184,543,579 net income, $37,127,167 net tax.

Colorado—$19,616 returns, $108,- 513,059 net income, $2,840,926 net
tax.

New Mexico—$3,463 returns, $15,- 117,334 net income, $178,762 net tax.
Oklahoma—$23,026 returns, $172,- 225,140 net income, $6,897,119 net
tax.

Texas—$65,103 returns, $380,907,- 846 net income, $9,766,688 net tax.
Wyoming—$5,890 returns, $23,- 101,993 net income, $256,481 net tax.

SNOW BALLING AS A
SUMMER PAST TIME

Estes Park and other summer resorts had nothing on Artesia for one day this week at least, when a truck dumped a lot of snowy ice on the drink fountain, west of the First National Bank building. No it did not come from the mountains, but the truck's refreshing donation was made possible when the Southwestern Public Service Co. decided to clean house at their ice plant.

FOR years the four-speed White Model 15 and Model 20 have been the outstanding quality trucks in the light delivery field. No truck of the same size or capacity (3/4-ton, 1-ton or 1 1/2-ton) compares with them in dependable low-cost transportation over hundreds of thousands of miles.

Whether your trucking problem is expressed in gallons or cubic yards, packages or cases, tons or feet, you cannot ask—or get!—more from a light delivery truck than thousands of owners are getting daily in every line of business from these Whites, singly and in fleets.

The new White lower prices—saving $605 on the four-speed Model 15 and $825 on the four-speed Model 20—bring White quality transportation within the reach of thousands of operators who formerly found price an obstacle.

Throughout the chassis construction of the White Model 15 and Model 20 you will find inbuilt quality, ruggedness and exclusive White mechanical features that are not duplicated in any other light delivery truck at any price.

Be sure you're right—let us show you the White, before you buy.

PANKEY WRITES WITH REFERENCE TO THE RENEWAL OF LEASES

The following letter received from State Land Commissioner B. F. Pankey, with reference to the renewal of the five year lease may be of interest to some of our out of state subscribers.

June 22, 1927.
Mr. W. C. Martin,
Artesia Advocate,
Artesia, New Mexico.
Dear Sir:
Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of June 17th, relative to renewal of five year state leases, with enclosed letter from Mr. H. C. Tate, requesting information as to such renewals.

It is almost impossible to give any general information as to these renewals as different lease forms contain different provisions as to renewals. However, most of the leases made in 1922, which expire this year, were made on form 36, which provides that they may be renewed for an additional period of five years upon payment of double the rental for the first five year period. In enclose a copy of this lease form, copy of the application for renewal form we are using and copy of circular letter we are sending out to holders of leases and assignments which are subject to renewal.

I am also enclosing copy of rules governing issuance of leases for oil and gas on state lands, application and appraisal blanks and copies of lease forms 39 and 40, which are the forms being used at this time; also copy of our letter to Mr. Tate and this original letter to you.

I appreciate the interest you are taking in this matter and will be very glad to furnish you any further information I can give you. With kind personal regards,
B. F. PANKEY,
Commissioner.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By E. R. Waite

sound sense in plain words.
THAT working means something more than working for yourself.

THAT in order to prosper you must work not only for yourself, but also for the general good of your community.

THAT every city has its share of men who have fought and won; men who have risen to high positions not alone in their own home city but beyond the confines of that city.

THAT they have done it with a spirit of comradeship. They shouldered their full share of work and responsibility when called upon to do so for their city's sake, no matter what sacrifices they had to make.

THAT a city's biggest men are the least pompous men there. Inflated self-esteem, exaggerated ego and other human fallacies do not enter their system.

Every day you can meet face to face these real community builders—the men who do things!

DEATH OF VIC COX

Last Wednesday Victor Cox, who had been a patient at Ft. Bayard, the Veterans' Bureau hospital, for some time, passed away at Alamogordo, his former home. His wife and child, who were with relatives in Oklahoma, came back to Alamogordo when he returned there and were with him about a week before his death. His brother, Sid Cox, of Artesia, was also with him when the end came and accompanied the remains to the family home at Ashdown, Arkansas for interment and where his mother is still living. Mr. Cox was one of the disabled veterans, who put up a brave but losing fight against tuberculosis and laid his life as a sacrifice upon the altar of his country.

TWO MEXICANS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE RESULT OF SHOOTING

Juan Jauriz and brother, Eanancio are in jail facing probable murder charges, arising from the death on Sunday night of Manuel Olubis, who was shot during a quarrel at the Harroun ranch near Malaga on the night of June 16th.

His death occurred Sunday night at eight o'clock. The bullet was removed by an operation Saturday, after it seemed impossible to save his life without it. He had been able to regain the use of his arms. The bullet entered the back part of his neck and went down deep into his shoulder, near the neck. He was brought to a hospital here immediately after the shooting.

The affair occurred at a birthday party. Following a rain, the men were unable to work in the fields, and were celebrating. Details of the killing are many but it appears very certain Olubis was not the first man destined to get the "dose of lead" when the gun came into play, but was the victim of the by-stander's bullet when he attempted to stop a fight.

The bullet was fired by Juan, Enancio coming into the fight when he got the gun from another and gave it to his brother. The evidence at the inquest, held Sunday, did not positively determine whether he took the gun from another with the purpose of giving it to his brother, or whether his brother took it from him, and on this point hinges Enancio's responsibility for the crime.

Following the shooting, the two brothers made their getaway, and officers trailed them several days before locating them, finally arresting them on the 23rd. The quarrel started with Juan and a Fredrico Hernandez, who had gone out in front of the house and were quarreling over some liquor near the irrigation canal. Other men joined in the group, and Manuel was trying to stop the fight when he was shot.

When at the hospital, he made a statement to officers and declared he tried to hide behind a woman when he saw that he was to be the object of the bullet. Three shots were fired by Jaurez, only one taking effect. All the principals have families and have crops on the Harroun project. The Olubis family does not include any children under 13 years old, though the two men in jail have large families with small children, and they have hung about the jail, their grief-stricken sobs being a disheartening feature of the case.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

TYPHOID AND TYPHOID PARATYPHOID VACCINES (County Health Department)

Statistics show that this preventable disease stands in fourth place in mortality tables, being exceeded only by tuberculosis, pneumonia and cancer. Aside from humanitarian considerations, the economic loss to the country due to the death of 35,000 people annually, most of them in the prime of life, and the care of ten times this number over a protracted period of illness, is in itself a consideration that deserves serious attention.

The various factors necessary for the complete control of typhoid and para-typhoid fevers are definitely known and are available to the physician. Much can be accomplished by the management of individual cases so as to prevent spreading of infection, and by general hygienic measures directed toward the control of sources of infection, such as water, milk and various articles of food. Physical and biological cleanliness are factors of fundamental importance. Sanitary measures have, however, practical limitations. Their application for the control of the spread of typhoid and allied conditions is much easier in cities than in rural communities, and it is an accepted fact that clean cities now have less typhoid than the surrounding country. Large municipalities can afford the extensive and expensive sanitary organizations which are beyond the financial possibilities of more sparsely settled communities.

Vaccination is a thoroughly dependable measure for the control of typhoid fever.

MISS JACKSON TO ALASKA

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jackson received the interesting news last week that their daughter, Miss Anna Frances, who is now in Seattle, Washington, has definitely decided to go to Alaska in September to teach school. Miss Jackson has been attending the University of Washington the past winter and will spend the summer there with her sister, Mrs. Earl Beck. She will teach at Ketchikan, a town of approximately 2,500 people in the southeastern part of the territory. It requires three days in good weather to make the trip by boat. Mr. Beck, Miss Jackson's brother-in-law, taught in Alaska last winter, but much farther north than Ketchikan and plans to hold his position for the coming year.

Apple butter may be made with or without cider and is a good means of using up windfall and imperfect apples that must be cooked to be saved. The U. S. Department of Agriculture will tell you how to make it.

Cheese straws are made much like pastry. Use as much grated cheese as you have flour in your pastry recipe, season with cayenne pepper, and cut half the cheese into the flour and fat. Roll out the pastry and sprinkle the top with half of the remainder of the cheese and roll again, repeating until all the cheese is used. Roll out finally about a quarter of an inch thick and cut into narrow strips or any desired shape and bake.

Biscuit dough is useful in many ways other than for making hot bread. It has no equal for making fruit shortcakes, or for chicken shortcake. It can be used for a crust for a meat pie or a fruit cobbler. Sweetened and spiced, with raisins added, it is transformed into tea cakes. Pinwheel buns are made by sprinkling the surface of the rolled out dough with sugar, cinnamon, nuts, and raisins, and then rolling it up, to be across like jelly roll. These pinwheels are sprinkled with more granulated sugar and baked, and are wholesome for lunch or afternoon tea.

Cabbage salad with whipped cream dressing is delicious. Whip half a pint of double cream, season with 4 tablespoons of lemon juice, 12 drops of tabasco, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 teaspoon sugar, a little scraped onion, and 3 tablespoons ground horseradish. This must be made just before serving time. Combine with 3 cups of shredded cabbage. If the dressing is allowed to stand on the cabbage the juices are drawn from it and the dressing becomes too thin. Serve very cold. It is attractive served in a head of red or curly green cabbage.

Leave your kodak rolls at Rodden's. In at 9 a. m., out at 5 p. m.

REV COX WRITES

The Advocate is in receipt of an interesting letter from Rev. A. J. Cox, formerly of Hope, telling of his recent trip, overland to Rock Springs, Texas. Owing to the length of the letter, we find it impractical to publish it in full this week, but quote the latter part of the communication with reference to the condition of Rock Springs, the Texas town which was destroyed by a cyclone in the early spring.

"As we neared the once prosperous little town of Rock Springs, we wondered if the newspaper reports of the cyclone's ravages were not exaggerated for we saw no traces of its path until we reached the suburbs of where the town used to be, then we beheld a pile of wreckage which cost several thousand dollars to remove from the streets and building lots of the town. Going into the town from the west we passed a few houses that had been lately built of new and old lumber but in the business part of town we saw only one Drug store, the court house, jail and the bank building that had not been wrecked. The concrete floor and upright pillars of two or three large garages and filling stations were all that was left of these costly and once prosperous businesses. The school house was a pile of stones and the church houses were wrecked beyond using or being repaired without considerable cost. Seeing with our own eyes the wreckage of the town and hearing with our own ears the stories of those who helped to care for the wounded and to give the dead a respectable burial we are sure that the newspaper reports were not exaggerated. But thanks be to God and the Lord Jesus Christ and those who love their fellowmen, the living have not suffered for want of something to eat and wear. "The rebuilding of Rock Spring is only a question of time and means.

is a handicap in achievement. It kills all initiative unless overcome eventually leads to failure. Financial difficulties are, unfortunately, the greatest contributor to discouragement, and the thoughtful progressive man quickly learns to organize his resources to avoid such situations.

Stressing thrift and savings is of course the duty of every financial adviser. However, there are other factors to be considered—and to the experienced man refer you for a testimonial as to the many helpful and profitable ways a good bank can serve its patrons.

FREE DEAUTREMONT CONFESS TO CHARGE HOLDING UP TRAIN

REDFORD, Ore.—Confessions that held up a Southern Pacific train on the Siskiyou mountains of Oregon were made Thursday by the three DeAutremont brothers, Hugh, Roy and James. All were sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary at Salem.

The three brothers were entered by the state on charges of kidnaping, murder and holding up a train. The whole affair was made public Wednesday night by Hugh, the oldest brother, who was convicted of first degree murder Tuesday with the state's charge of life imprisonment.

While this was going on, we saw a man with a fuse over his head coming down the right side of the tunnel. This was getting desperate. "Ray and I took a shot at him when he got close."

"I never will forget him. He staggered toward us, and said: 'Wait a minute, boys!'"

"He was all stooped over, holding his stomach. I don't know how he ever stood up with so much buck shot in him. He staggered out of the tunnel and fell down against the tunnel. We did not shoot him in the back, as the doctor said."

"I had the automatic pistol. The bullet hit him while he was staggering and stooped, went up through the shoulder, and not down, as the state claimed. I'll never forget the look on his face. It has been hell. He dropped down on the ground and died."

"We were all excited now. I made the engineer get back in the cab, while Ray tried to uncouple the mail car, so we could haul it out. The engineer tried to 'kid' me. I told him to go ahead, when Ray gave the signal, but the engineer told me he couldn't."

"You know they testified that the engine was set at a full stop. That's what he was doing when he told me he could not go ahead."

"I told him it was my life, or his. He fooled around and still we didn't go ahead."

"I was mad; I was mad; I was mad—"

Hugh hissed his words, and seemed to live over again the tragedy in the tunnel and was apparently losing his composure.

His interviewer told him nothing was to be gained now by silence, that life imprisonment had been ordained for his fate.

"Well, if you and the world must know, I shot the engineer, Sidney Bates. I'm sorry. Everybody lets his temper get the best of him."

"Then Roy shot the fireman. He was the last."

"We then ran back into the woods where we had a secret cache—they never found it. We hid there for ten days."

"We talked things over and Ray decided that he would go to Eugene and get the car we had bought in Portland. Roy and I stayed behind. He left that night and was coming back to take us away."

"We were giving him a chance. He again refused. He should have come out. I knew it would kill him. I called to him the third time, and told him it was his last chance. I think I told him, 'If you want to keep on sorting mail, you better come out.'"

"All of us, the fireman and engineer, went up to the detonator just as I told you a minute ago, and Ray bore down on the handle of the blaster."

"We then rushed back to the engine. Ray had an automatic shotgun. He had given Roy his pistol, and he kept the fireman covered. I had the engineer. When we got back to the engine, in the tunnel, Roy made the fireman stand with his hands up against the wall and I made the engineer get into the cab. We were going to make him pull the mail car down to White Pine, so as to let the smoke and gas clear out."

"Ray went back to uncouple it and figured the air would hold the train."

"While this was going on, we saw a man with a fuse over his head coming down the right side of the tunnel. This was getting desperate. "Ray and I took a shot at him when he got close."

wait until we got a chance to cook." It was the best meal I ever ate, when we finally got a chance to cook it. I was helpless, and so was Ray, but Roy could go out and rustle. He would come back with biscuits and other food. He is a great little brother.

"We went on to Hornbrook. We passed special agents by the dozens. Whenever we did we laughed and joked and talked like we were home guards and they never bothered us."

"When we were at Hilt, just coming out of the brush, after we stole the beef, there were three railroad dicks on the station platform. We bumped into them before we knew it. We kept on going, while they whistled at us, and yelled: 'Hey, Boys! Hey!' but we went on and they didn't bother us."

The three brothers laughed when Hugh narrated this portion of their flight, and Roy whistled in imitation of the officers.

"We hung around Hornbrook. We knew what we were up against and acted accordingly. One evening we were lying near the tracks and three special agents came along. They were walking right towards us."

"Ray wanted to go out in flashes of guns and all that sort of thing, but Roy kidded him out of it. They never stopped. They kept right on going. It was just another of our close calls."

"The next day we went down to the Klamath river. Ray was blue, and I was the same. Roy speared salmon in the Klamath river, and acted like a Girl Scout. He cheered us up. We stayed there two days."

"It was on the Klamath river that we decided to part and meet again at Santa Ana, Texas, on New Year's. We were to write each other there. I was to be James C. Price, Ray was to be William Elliott, and Roy was to be Ed Anderson. There was nothing to the parting but a handshake."

Ray and Hugh shook hands, to illustrate.

"We went our different roads." "I never went to San Francisco," continued Hugh. "I went to L. A. and to Long Beach, and worked there a few days, and then down into Mexico. I saw our pictures, and vamoosed back across the line, stopping at Mexicali. I then went to Yuma. I was thinking of New Mexico. I then went to El Paso. I knew a girl there. I thought I could see her, but I was afraid. God! how I wanted to get into Mexico. The posters all said we spoke Spanish."

"I want to take you back to the tunnel for a minute. I could still hear that damn bell ringing. When Roy and I boarded that train, our faces were as brown as a Mexican's. We met Mexican section hands, and talked Spanish to them. We wanted to make our pursuers believe it was Mexicans who did the job."

"I don't know where I went after I left El Paso. I couldn't think. That bell was still ringing. I could hear the brakeman saying 'Wait a minute, boys.' I was down in Arkansas and worked for Bill Adams. I got hit in the eye with a wedge, as they said. The testimony that railroad dicks stopped me is all bunk. I then went back to Santa Ana, Texas."

"I went to the postoffice, and asked if there was any mail for J. C. Price—not James C. Price, my army name. The postmaster said no. I asked if there was any mail for William Elliott or Ed Anderson. I asked him two or three times. It made his eyes stick out. No mail from my brothers. The heart went out of me. I then rambled into Missouri and finally to Chicago. Everywhere were posters, with our pictures. Lots of times I said 'You sure are a hunted man.'"

"In Chicago I joined the army. You know the rest. Sheridan and Slocum and the Philippines. I kept seeing the brakeman, and hearing the bell. I lost myself in my duties. I knew some day it would be Jimmy Price no more, and sort of waited for it."

"I want to tell you this," concluded Hugh. "I've told you the story, some of the details we gave the postal inspectors might have been overlooked, but it's right, as far as we've gone. I've told you the high spots."

"Listen to me. Circumstantial evidence is the evidence to believe. Direct testimony can be wrong, but circumstances never. Whenever you hear it, believe it, if it's hooked up."

"That cap they introduced in the trial never belonged to me. It was left for Roy to wear in the getaway, to change his appearance. And those women who testified they saw me at Deter were mistaken. So help me God! they never saw me. And that Mexican who testified he sold me cigarettes, lied. As God is my judge, I never held up that old miner. I never saw him until he came into court."

"And I never said what they said

I said at Alcatraz. When I met my mother, I said, 'Mother, I'm not guilty.' I knew the library was wired. The prisoners told me it had been wired for dictaphones. It was an insult to my intelligence for them to testify that I said 'It's too bad about your 19-year-old boy going wrong.' Give me credit for knowing that much."

"The state had enough circumstantial facts, without slinging in the applesauce."

"It was all a mistake. Lots of people make them. We know it now."

"We talked from eight o'clock last night till dawn. We told everything. We've held back nothing. And we are sorry—that does no good."

The twins gathered around Hugh, as he brought his narrative to a close.

"They have given us life imprisonment. Don't let them tell you it is easier than death. We went into this job, knowing that death was the penalty. It didn't deter us. There'll be no preaching now. We are willing to pay. We want to say that the people of Oregon have tempered their justice with mercy, and we are thankful. I understand we leave as soon as the sheriff can get ready. The only consolation is that I am going with my brothers. We will try and make whatever amends we can in the place we are going."

The other prisoners in the jail held kangaroo court, before the reporters were let out of the jail.

The jail quartet sang, "The Law Has Washed My Sins Away" while a blonde youth plunked away on a ukelele.

The three DeAutremonts were packing up their meager belongings as the "kangaroo court" judge assessed fines upon the visitors.
