Blown In Pueblo Gas Or Is Struck

Flow of Either Oil Gas Found at 3704 Ft. Drill Around Lost The Maljamar Gets 100 Feet of Gas.

During the past week Maljamar area have served to the belief of the optimistic operators that the major pool in this sector. Of chief importance is the strike in the Pueblo Gessert, sec. 1-17-31. This is expected to hit the big gas flow, but what appears to be a heavy flow of oil or gas encountered at 3704 feet. The well was blown 25 feet up in an uncontrolled and tightly bridged. Efforts to jar the tools were unsuccessful and the well was moved back and a new installed, preparatory to the tools. The Pueblo well located 42 miles northeast of the city and a mile and a half from the twenty million foot Robinson No. 1 of the production Co. The Robinson well has the big gas at 3885 feet, however, about 170 feet in the elevation of the well and the Robinson No. 1 of the Co., which accounts for the gas was expected to be well around 3715 feet. The well which has been drilled during the past week, Maljamar Oil and Gas Corp., No. 2, sec. 15-17-32. This well was expected in this well to be, but instead a blue gas was found carrying 500,000 gals. The depth of the well is 3330 feet and officials are of the fact that the sand will yet be reached. The Maljamar is today, moving the boiler zone of safety.

CAR OVERTURNS IN A COLLISION ON THE NORTH HIWAY SUNDAY

A near fatal auto accident was narrowly averted Sunday afternoon, when one car was turned over on the north highway, about four miles north of Artesia. While the details surrounding the accident are not clear, it appears that Russell Simmons, who was driving a Ford touring car, attempted to cross the highway. He was following the old road, which led down the highway a distance of about 100 yards, before it turned off to the east. A Ford driven by Miss Parnell was coming south and in some manner the driver of the rear car did not see the turn signal given by Simmons, which resulted in a collision as the Parnell car attempted to pass the Simmons auto. The Parnell auto was overturned in the collision and badly wrecked. Fortunately neither Miss Parnell nor any of her companions were seriously injured, although Miss Parnell was thrown out of the car when the collision occurred and sustained several bruises about the body.

ALBERT HARRINGTON PLEADS GUILTY TO THE CHARGE OF BURGLARY

Albert Harrington, familiarly known as "Shoot em up Red," one of the three men charged with burglarizing Hoots Service Station at Esbula last week, was taken into custody at Clovis Saturday after he made his get away from Constable Bailey at Roswell a few days previous. His companions, Connie Martin and Troy Dufer, were taken to Carlsbad and placed in the county jail, following their apprehension near Lake Arthur last week.

In the case of Harrington's capture, it appears that his tongue proved his undoing. After his arrest the first time he was taken to Roswell by Constable Bailey of Lake Arthur. While there he requested permission to visit his mother and as the officer waited at the front door for his return, Harrington in some manner made his escape, which still remains a mystery. Saturday Harrington told a crowd on the streets of Clovis about his escapade at Roswell. An officer standing nearby happened to overhear the conversation and while Harrington proceeded with his story the officer got busy and telephoned Roswell officers. The Clovis officer was waiting for him when he finished his story.

Harrington again attempted to make his escape by jumping from a running car while being transported to Roswell, but was unsuccessful. When arraigned before Justice S. W. Gilbert, Monday evening he pleaded guilty as charged. He was taken to Carlsbad Tuesday morning and will await the action of the district court. Connie Martin, one of the other two men implicated in the burglary has been released.

ROWAN LEGALLY DISMISSED

A decision was handed down by Judge C. R. Brice of Roswell Friday in the case of Robert Rowan versus the Lake Arthur School board to the effect that the board was without its rights when Rowan was discharged as superintendent. This matter was referred back to the Chaves county district court by the state department of education and may be appealed to higher courts, according to information from Roswell.

ARTESIA HI SET FOR THE ANNUAL BATTLE WITH ROSWELL FRIDAY

The Artesia High School is making elaborate plans to create a high spirit for the Roswell game tomorrow afternoon. Roswell has not been defeated this year as yet, and the locals are going to do their best to mar the record. Earlier in the season Roswell took a game from Artesia. Since that time the high school has been through many battles. Coach Priest has drilled the boys until dark all this week in an effort to get best results.

Leon Clayton will direct play with J. D. Jackson, J. Naylor, Harry Jernigan, and Williams assisting in the backfield. Horne will probably start at center with Littlejohn, Yates, or G. Naylor at guards. At tackles will be Montague, McCaw, Simmons with House and Pollard playing the wing positions.

All things are pointing towards a big afternoon. This will be the only time to see the locals in action until Thanksgiving.

Eddy County Votes Light On All Four Amendments

Amendments Defeated in Both County and State—Second Amendment Defeated by a Large Vote, But Carries in One Box.

A light vote was cast in the election held Tuesday for the purpose of voting on four proposed amendments to the state constitution. Eddy county defeated all amendments, except No. 3, according to the tabulations compile by the Advocate yesterday afternoon, with only four small boxes yet to be heard from. Amendment No. 2, the only outstanding party amendment was overwhelmingly defeated. The oil field was the only box in the county to give it a majority vote. A last minute effort to carry it over here failed by twenty votes.

Other counties in southeastern New Mexico dealt amendment No. 2 a death blow, other amendments were defeated by smaller majorities. Amendment No. 2 also failed to carry in some of the republican strongholds. Early returns from various parts of the state indicate that all amendments went down.

THE BOOTLEGGER

Despite the fact that we are virtually a dry nation, made so by an amendment to the constitution, the liquor question is a major issue in our politics and will likely remain so for several years to come.

The bootlegger we have with us always. Nothing can be said in his favor. He has been responsible for more deaths than any one factor in our existence, save possibly the automobile. Yet with all that has been said and written about liquor and the liquor bootlegger, there is another bootlegger that threatens to overshadow even the most gigantic operations ever undertaken by his whiskey peddling brother. He is the alien bootlegger and so far as the profits are involved he can make his cousin, the liquor bootlegger, ashamed of him self. While the whiskey peddler is making a few hundred, he can just as easily make a few thousand. If reports are true the alien bootlegger commands a thousand dollar per head for every Chink, Bohunk or whatnot he can smuggle across the border.

The alien bootlegger is a greater menace to the American institutions than the whiskey bootlegger ever dared to be. He is doing his part to fill up the nation with an undesirable class of citizenship. He is bringing in by the thousands men, women and children, who would never get nearer America than the sight of the statute of Liberty, if they tried to pass the immigration inspection. Men, women and children, who are diseased, low bred and mentally defective and who will be a liability rather than an asset.

If we are to keep American institutions intact, if we expect to maintain our present American standards of living, it appears vitally necessary that we give at least as much attention to the alien bootlegger as we do to the liquor bootlegger.

The statement made by a prominent federal judge the other day in charging the grand jury at Pittsburg is rather significant. This judge sees the time approaching when the large cities must place a ban on the undesirable immigrant, if such cities expect to maintain a high standard of living, such as would attract the best class of people.

NEW MEXICO ROADS (Fl. Worth Star Telegram)

New Mexico has an admirable highway system. The great distances of our neighboring State, greater even than those of Texas,
are traversed by splendidly engineered, splendidly constructed and splendidly maintained roadways. New Mexico has evaluated the tourist factor in the traffic on its highways.
It is a developing state. It needs new citizens, new investments. It has found that travelers become settlers, and that the casual holiday visitor may become an investor. New Mexico endeavors to make a good impression. Pleasant highways unroll the vista of plain and mountain. Uniform markings facilitate the progress of the stranger.
New Mexico keeps books on its highway traffic and finds that it pays.

The automobile tourist in the state finds everywhere, at garages and filling stations and hotels, evidence of the state's thoughtfulness. He receives a road map of the state, an admirable map, showing distances, elevations, sights to be seen, condition of roads. Along with it is a postcard questionnaire, carrying a postage-paid stamp. The tourist is asked to fill this out, giving the length of his stay in the state, the approximate amount of his spending, his suggestions as to highway and travel improvements. These postcards come in an unending stream into the office of the State

"AUTO NECKING" IS DESCRIBED AS ROAD EVIL

DENVER, Colo.—That staid body of sober technicians, the American Association of Highway Officials, has added "necking" by youthful lovers to its list of highway problems yet to be worked out.

"Wild parties," "one armed drivers," declared Frank F. Rogers, past president of the association and Michigan state highway commissioner, are among the most serious hazards facing highway engineers.
Rogers attended the annual convention of the association here.

"No matter how hard we work to remove the dangers of motoring," he said, "we cannot compete with the 'neckers' whose thoughtlessness and carelessness does much to fill hospitals with dead and maimed."

"America can spend millions on highways and still there will be accidents—just because of these one armed drivers."

ures in the United States last week

Highway Commission at Santa Fe.
They are tabulated, and the suggestions are digested for the consideration of the engineers and highway authorities. Short-cuts have been built because of these suggestions, mountain highways have been improved.

New Mexico profits from the tourist trade. A great part of the state's 5c gasoline tax is paid by outsiders. But the tax goes entirely to building and maintaining splendid roads. New Mexico has the right idea.

SIDELIGHTS ON OUR AGRICULTURAL PROBLEMS

Some of our agricultural ills are due to the fact that the valley in general has never fully recovered from the boom of the early days.
Booms of this sort launched by the land sharks for the purpose of roping in the sucker, have their back kick and sometimes the normal conditions are rather slow in coming about. We have been hurt, but are slowly emerging from the bottom slump.

The successful growth of cotton has caused a renewed interest in the valley farm lands, and this one crop has started the farming industry on the upward trend and as the pendulum slowly swings on the upward stroke, successful men who have made a study of the conditions, tell us not to go too strong on the life saver, cotton. Farming is one profession where few have made good by putting all the eggs in one basket. Too many hogs, too many dairy cattle, too many chickens, have caused numbers of farmers to operate their farms at a loss. Apparently the only safe rule is to diversify and stock farm on a small scale.

The average farmer can feed a few hogs, a few milch cows, a few turkeys and a hundred or so hens principally on the waste products, whereas if he attempts to increase any variety of his livestock to great numbers, he usually finds his expense has increased in a greater proportion than his returns from the variety.

BRIGHTER DAYS (Amarillo News)

Brighter days are near at hand for the oil man. The turning point in the depression in oils has already been reached, if news items from financial centers are a safe indication, and if operators with an ear to the ground are correct in their interpretation of conditions.

The most significant reaction of the week is that all oil shares in the New York market have advanced.
The most striking case of an optimistic trend is Marland Oil Company's showing. Marland Oil company lost approximately $3,000,000 during the first nine months this year, but its stock advanced more than a point on the New York market last Tuesday.

"The fact that Marland shares went up a point in the face of the deficit suggests that prominent men interested in the company believe that better times are ahead for the industry," reads a special market dispatch from New York.

A typical interview with operators who see a turning point in the industry was in the Kansas City Star yesterday. It quoted Mestre Olcott of Fort Worth, a man in close touch with Texas fields.

He says the outlook is brighter, because dry holes have been found in the Hendricks pool of Winkler county, and the encroachment of water in the Yates pool, also in West Texas.

"The Winkler pool," he said, "is fairly well-defined. The Humble well in the Hendricks' pool and some distance out is a dead one.
The Southern-Pure well, south of the pool, is unpromising as it has passed the pay horizon with nothing showing."

Mr. Olcott's interview indicates that the overproduction worry in West Texas is passing. The stock quotations from New York are an infallible indication of how financiers view the industry today.

STATE BRIEFS

office, but the amount of money obtained at Belview was undetermined according to early information.

LYE SOLUTION EXPERIMENT

veloped production in its No. 5 Lind for the first time which promises to become an accepted method in the Kevin-Sunburst oil field. The well was dry following two shots of nitro-glycerin and it was converted into a 15-barrel producer by the use of concentrated lye with the prospect that the flow will further increase.

When completed the well produced 30 barrels daily, but the oil disappeared after a 20-quart shot. A 100-quart shot was used, but the status of the well was not improved. Several hundred pounds of concentrated lye then were placed at the bottom of the hole, water was poured in and after a short time the well was bailed out.

The walls of the well had been so cleaned by the lye that oil began to come back and Wednesday the well was rated at 15 barrels. Experienced operators say that a large number of wells could have been saved by this method and it is possible that lye will be used in some of the old wells at which production has decreased.

PRETTY FAIR PAPER TODAY - GOOD LOT OF ADS - RUFUS GIMLEY HAS FINALLY DECIDED TO TRY SOME NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING, AFTER PATRONIZING ALL THE "BUSINESS DIRECTORY," "PROGRAM," "TOWN THERMOMETER," AND "SIGN BOARD" SCHEMES EVER INTRODUCED INTO THIS TOWN BY "HERE-TODAY AND-GONE-TOMORROW" SOLICITORS

I WISH I WERE FREE TO TELL RUFUS TO CO-OPERATE WITH HIS NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BY CLEANING UP HIS DIRTY OLD STORE AND WAITING ON HIS CUSTOMERS LIKE A LIVE MERCHANT INSTEAD OF A SLEEP WALKER - THE LIFELESS WAY HE SHUFFLES AROUND IS MADDENING TO A BUYER IN A HURRY

OLD RUFUS SELLS AT LOW PRICES AND HE HAS A GOOD STOCK, BUT STILL HIS STORE LOOKS LIKE THE "OLD CURIOSITY SHOP." IF HE WOULD ONLY DISPLAY HIS GOODS ATTRACTIVELY, FIX UP HIS SHOW WINDOW NICE AND SHOW A LITTLE SALESMANSHIP WITH HIS CUSTOMERS! AND HE SHOULD CUT THE PRICE IN TWO ON SOME OLD STOCK, INSTEAD OF HOLDING IT FOR THE LAST PENNY - BUT SHUCKS! RUFUS WON'T LOOK THE SITUATION IN THE FACE

HE WILL BE DISAPPOINTED BECAUSE THESE ADS WON'T HOLD THE CUSTOMERS THEY GET FOR HIM, AND SOON RUFUS WILL BE TELLING FOLKS THAT "IT DON'T PAY TO ADVERTISE!" ADVERTISING CAN ACCOMPLISH MIRACLES, BUT IT CAN'T RAISE THE DEAD!

CHEVROLET ROUNDS ITS SIXTEENTH YEAR OF EXISTENCE

...the close of the most successful year in its history, and with its outstanding as the largest builder of gear shift trucks, the Chevrolet Motor this week rounded out its year of existence.

...for Louis Chevrolet, well known driver of an earlier decade, the automotive industry, the Chevrolet Motor Company of Detroit was organized on November 11.

...five cars were built. This year's million cars will be built in the combined output for the eleven years of the company's existence.

...last year a handful of men in an obscure factory at Highland Boulevard and the Via... to turn out mostly by methods those first five cars. More than 100,000 people are employed in producing, selling, servicing Chevrolet cars.

...eleven great factories—exclusive export operations—are in capacity to meet the demands of Chevrolet's infinitely superior listing at one-fourth the cost of the first cars.

...Royal Mail" and "Baby models brought Chevrolet popularity in the early days. The 1907 model, so named because it cost $490, placed the Chevrolet definitely in the field as a producer of motor cars. That year 70,701 cars were sold.

...afterward the first assembly began production at Oakland, California, to supply the west. Seven more such plants have since been erected, and one is now in construction at Atlanta. These are located at strategic points throughout the country for the greatest possible service to the car purchaser.

...Motors took over Chevrolet, with wide expansion in 1925 for the first time exceeded the half million. The 1926 production was 1,000,000 cars and trucks. That record was equaled this year on August 1st, when company officials look confidently to one million cars in 1927.

...Chevrolet's birthday, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, upon the extraordinary life. These records, he said, the confidence placed in Chevrolet and its car by the public. Mr. Knudsen pointed out that Chevrolet is a deep source of gratification to the car owner, and in turn places the obligation to adhere to the exacting standards of the public has learned to expect of Chevrolet products. The fact that marked Chevrolet's years of past achievement—of turning back into the manufacturing economies resulting from volume production—will be remembered, Mr. Knudsen stated.

OBITUARY

In memory of Benjamin Decatur Briscoe, who passed away from his home on Upper Cottonwood Monday morning at 2 p. m. on October 31 and the funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church in Artesia by Rev. John P. Sinclair. After that tender and affectionate service the body was kindly and lovingly laid to rest in Woodbine cemetery, evidenced by a most beautiful floral offering dedicated by his many friends and loved ones.

Mr. Briscoe leaves as his survivors his wife, Mrs. Virginia E. Briscoe, one son and four daughters, Misses Hannah and Emma Briscoe, who live at the home, the son, Ben Briscoe, who lives there also, and Mrs. Elnora Summers, of Marshville, Oregon and Mrs. Ruth Fallen, of Fayetteville, Arkansas; and also many friends to mourn his untimely death.

Mr. Briscoe was born at Bristol, Tennessee, on September 1st, 1849 and was 78 years old when he died. He spent all his young life at Bristol with his parents and at the age of twelve the Civil war broke out, he joined the home guards and often stood guard in his father's place to protect their home and loved ones in the surrounding country.

After the war was over, Mr. Briscoe entered Kings College at Bristol and continued in school at that place until he graduated in 1873. He then taught school in Virginia two years, after which he moved to Texas, taught school several years then settled at Gainsville, Texas and engaged in the Mercantile business.

In 1884 Mr. Briscoe returned to Tennessee, his father having died during his absence. He took charge of his father's business and took care of his mother as long as she lived. He was then married to Miss Virginia Elnora Boy, daughter of a pioneer family at Bristol, Tennessee, and their young married life was happily spent at his old family home. Mr. and Mrs. Briscoe came west in 1907 and have lived in New Mexico nine years. Mr. Briscoe united with the Presbyterian church in early childhood and later was an Elder in that church. He lived a consistent Christian life and manifested the Christ like spirit through all his sufferings, and was kind and loving to all his friends and loved ones and will not doubt be standing at the gates of pearl, robed in Heavenly attire, ready to welcome his loved ones and friends as they shall seek to enter in through the gates into that eternal city. PLEASES STUDENTS IN SOLO NUMBERS

Miss Elizabeth Hogue was enthusiastically received by the students at the assembly at the University, Friday morning and responded with an encore to the main number "Brown Bird." Mrs. L. B. Thompson played her accompaniments. Miss Hogue, of Carlsbad won the state Atwater-Kent audition contest at Las Cruces and will represent the state at the divisional contest to be held in Dallas, Texas. She may win the national contest if all the state people who hear her on the radio will vote for her. The details will be printed at a later date. The voting is done by number and sent by mail.—State Tribune.

CARL REDIN, THE ONE-MAN ART CENTER

Carl Redin is responsible for the phrase "a one-artist town" being applied to Albuquerque, New Mexico. That city is his home, preferring it to more popular art centers at Santa Fe and at Taos. He paints bright, happy landscapes of the Jemez mountains, the adobe buildings, the patios and the Indians. Unusual enough is the fact that many of his townsmen have bought his work. He was especially distinguished through the purchase of one of his paintings for the Swedish Royal Galleries by the Crown Prince and Princess of Sweden, who visited the southwest recently.

Redin was born in Sweden, but came to the United States in 1913 and soon afterward found his way to New Mexico. His work has been exhibited in many of the larger cities and has been purchased for public buildings and private homes in his own city. Redin has become a confirmed westerner and, especially because of his choice of subjects may be said to be a true painter of the west.

Mr. Redin is bringing all new pictures for his exhibit here.

LOPEZ GIVEN A CERTIFICATE BY BOARD OF EDUCATION

SANTA FE.—The state board of education, meeting at the call of the governor, Monday issued a teacher's certificate to Juan J. Lopez, principal of the Santa Cruz schools.

This may not end the long fight before the board and in the courts, however, for it was understood that Miss Lios Randolph, state superintendent of public instruction, said she would not honor the certificate.

The fight began when patrons sought Lopez's removal on the ground that he was unqualified and immoral. After two hearings the state board ordered Miss Randolph to grant him a certificate. When she refused Lopez brought mandamus action against her. District Judge Reed Holloman held that only the state board had the power to grant certificates to teachers.

CLAYTON—PORTER

The following taken from the Press Telegram, of Long Beach, California will be of interest to the Artesia friends of Vernon Clayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clayton. Vernon took his first year or two in the Artesia high school and was popular with the younger generation and well liked by the older as well.

One of the pretty home weddings of the early fall was that of Miss Verna W. Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Porter, and Vernon E. Clayton of Artesia, N. M., last night at the bride's home, 2056 Linden Avenue. Dr. I. Frank Roach officiated.

Pink carnations and white chrysanthemums varied with dainty fernery made beautiful home decorations. The marriage service took place under a wedding bell of pink and white.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta and tulle with a veil caught in a tiara of pearls. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Porter was assisted by Miss Lorraine Kinnard, who was costumed in orchid and white taffeta. Her flowers were white roses, interspersed with orchid sweet peas.

J. Cy Barry, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The wedding processions were played by Miss Laura Carlyon, who also played "I Love You Truly" during the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton are graduates of Poly High School. Mr. Clayton is a member of Beta Epsilon Chapter of the Phi Delta Fraternity.

Velvet Millinery Is Decree From Paris

A "velvet season" this—gowns, blouses, suits, coats, millinery n' everything of velvet! Both brimmed and brimless velvet hats are in fashion, the entire trend being toward collapsible types. Ripple or "flop" brims with row upon row of metal machine stitching are popular types. Paris models stress intricately worked skull caps and toques, many of which carry as a new feature, enormous choux of self-velvet at one side. Ornaments were never better. Tiny "flattery" vells are also here.

 Protracted meeting was a success in more ways than one. There were eighteen added to the congregation, seven by baptism and eleven being identified by church membership. There was a service at every service. Wainwright's sermons were heard by all that heard him. He was a great joy to the congregation rejoicing for the good that was done. Who did not hear his wonderful sermons missed a great spiritual feast. Brother Wainwright is to be with us again Friday evening. We will start our young people exercises. Everybody in come and be with us, especially the young people. Makes a difference whether you are a member of the church or our Bible school. We want you. Had the largest attendance at school last Sunday in the history, and we expect a larger number next Sunday. Membership is greatly encouraged and the prospects are very bright for the Church of Christ at Roswell. A hearty welcome is extended to everybody to each and every service. If you come once, you will want to come again.

ANOTHER CASE OF PAPER
 Perhaps you have heard the tale of the contractor who had purchased a sub-division and was rushing through to completion about fifty cottages so as to put them on sale before winter. One morning the foreman rushed into the contractor's office and exclaimed: "Bad luck, boss! One of them new houses of ours fell down last night."
 "What was the matter?" queried the boss. "How could that happen?"
 "It's them new inexperienced workmen we hired last week," replied the foreman. "They went and took the scaffolding down before they put on the wall paper."

HONESTY
 If you doubt that honesty is the best policy take a lesson from the man who stole a dog and tried unsuccessfully for two days to sell it for three dollars. Discouraged at last in his attempts to find a buyer who would offer him more than two dollars, the thief took the dog back to the lady who owned him and was rewarded for his honesty with a five dollar bill.

MANY HAVE RESPONDED TO SAVE WEST'RN DUCKS FROM ALKALI POISON

CHICAGO.—Conservation leaders throughout the west have responded enthusiastically to the announcement of the Izaak Walton League that it will wage war to save the ducks of the inter-mountain region from the alkali poisoning that has been taking a toll of millions of ducks annually, according to advice from the National Headquarters of the League today.

"We are vitally interested in this proposition here in Montana," said Thomas N. Marlowe, chairman of the game and fish commission of that state, "and not only do we want to lend our moral support, but we want to get in and do some of the real work. I am sure we can get all of our members in Congress behind such a proposition."

"The sportsmen of America should unite with all the conservation organizations of the country in securing the passage of remedial bills, and the Izaak Walton League should have the support of all of its chapters and of sportsmen generally, and especially of sportsmen throughout the west," said D. H. Madsen, commissioner of Game and Fish of Utah.

According to E. L. Perry, state game and fish warden of New Mexico, things will happen when the Izaak Walton League gets into action. He said: "It is gratifying to know that the League is swinging its tremendous weight into the right on the side of the ducks. It has been my observation that things usually begin to happen when the League roars up its sleeves and begins to look for the best place to nit."

It was particularly emphasized by Fred H. Doellner, general manager of the Walton League, in a communication directed to sportsmen throughout the west, that it is imperative that the League receive suggestions as to procedure from every sportsman or conservationist interested in the fight which is starting. "We must have the ideas of all," said Mr. Doellner, "in order that our course may be laid on a firm foundation. Those of us who are mapping this campaign earnestly solicit any work, any suggestion, any idea, that the sportsmen of the west will give. Every humanitarian as well as sportsman should be unable to rest until he has written his ideas to the Izaak Walton Headquarters at 536 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. We want—we must have—great and instant response."

The old couple were celebrating their wedding anniversary. "Martha, dear," said the old man tenderly, "today is our diamond wedding, and I have a little surprise for you!" "Yes?" said the silver-haired wife. He took her hand in his. "You see this engagement ring I gave you seventy-six years ago?" "Yes" said the expectant old lady. "Well, I paid the final installment on it today, and I am proud to announce that it is now altogether yours!"

After wondering thousands of years how to fix her hair, women finally decided to cut it off.

NEW ENGLAND EMERGES FROM FLOODS---DEATH TOLL OF AT LEAST 150

New England, with a death list of at least 150, was digging itself out Monday from the wreckage left by the floods of the last few days. The water was receding except in Connecticut.

Snow and freezing weather caused considerable suffering in many sections. There was a food shortage in some Vermont communities and efforts were being made to relieve this with supplies sent by airplanes. A plane landed food and medical supplies in Montpelier.

Much attention was devoted to the prevention of disease in the flooded areas. Basements were being cleared of mud and water-soaked rubbish, residents were warned to boil their drinking water and premises were being disinfected.

Railroad service had been restored on some lines in western Massachusetts and southern and central New Hampshire but was still badly disrupted because of the scores of bridges swept away and the innumerable washouts and land slides.

In Lowell, Massachusetts, and other places many mills were shut down because of the high water which had flooded their power plants. Refugees were cared for in the homes of neighbors and in public buildings.

Hartford and other Connecticut cities along the Connecticut Valley were feeling the brunt of the flood as it worked its way south and east. Tales of heroism came from all the devastated areas.

SCRAPS AND CUTTINGS

A gentleman slipped on the top stair of the subway and started sliding to the bottom. Half way down, he collided with a lady, knocked her off her feet and the two continued the journey together. After they had reached the bottom, the lady still dazed, continued to sit on the gentleman's chest. Looking up at her politely, he finally exclaimed, "Madam, I'm sorry, but this is as far as I go."

Nine-year-old Rastus was so black he was nicknamed "Midnight" and was somewhat touchy on the subject.

One day a coffee-complexioned youngster of his own race called him "Midnight."

This county was a pioneer in the livestock business, the first big herds of the state being ranged here during the civil war. It is claimed that the first big herd was driven to this county in 1863, wintering in the Fort Stanton district. Prior to that time there had been in New Mexico only the small Spanish and Mexican herds which had been kept close to the valley settlements.

When Lincoln county was created in 1869 it embraced the territory which now includes Lincoln, Chaves, Eddy, Lea, Roosevelt and a part of Otero counties.

"Cohen, I've been to the bank to borrow some money, and they say all I need is that you should sign to this note your name. Then I can have all the money I need. Ain't they fine?" "Abie," answered Cohen, reproachfully, "you and I have been friends for many years, and yet you go to a bank when you need money. Abie, you just go again to the bank and say that they should sign the note, and then Cohen will lend you the money!"

PICKED UP ON MAIN

About the time we reach the depth of despair and conclude nobody even thinks of us, along comes the first and a bunch of reminders.

Charley Blair, a former resident of Artesia, now residing at Los Angeles says that he has always wanted to be a hero. Taking advantage of a couple of warm days, he went swimming in the beach near the city and thought he snatched the opportunity of a life time when he rescued a bathing beauty. Instead of getting a Carnegie medal, however, he received a dressing down from the head of household and is now under quarantine at his residence.

One of the best evidences we have seen of a long hard winter, was the other day when we heard a new comer offer a nice reward for a new recipe for cooking beans.

A man from Chicago boarded a street car in the South. A Southerner got up to give a lady his seat.

The Chicago man beat the lady to it.

The body will be shipped back to Chicago for burial.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

H. A. Pearce, Pastor

"In the School of Christ" will be the sermon subject at 7:30 p. m. next Sunday.

The Sunday school workers are preparing to enter into an intensive study of religious pedagogy, and as the classes are to hold these sessions on Wednesday evenings, an invitation to Sunday school workers of other churches is extended. Such studies are interdenominational and are very similar to the special school of methods recently put on by the Methodist church here—except that the present plan is intended for ten week periods. The pastor and wife have specialized in this department for many years and are fresh from an extended tour of hundreds of Sunday schools.

A series of special work-night meetings are being planned to begin November 29.

ELECTION IS VERY QUIET

POST-MORTEM PRAISES

I've noticed when a fellow dies, no matter what he's been— A saintly chap or one whose life was darkly steeped in sin— His friends forget the bitter words they spoke but yesterday, And now they find a multitude of pretty things to say. I fancy when I go to rest some one will bring to light Some kindly word or goodly act long buried out of sight; But, if it's all the same to you, just give to me instead, The bouquets while I'm living and the knocking when I'm dead.

Don't save your kisses to imprint upon my marble brow, While countless maledictions are hurled upon me now; Say just one kindly word to me while I mourn here alone, And don't save all your eulogy to carve upon a stone! What do I care if when I'm dead the Bloomingdale Gazette Gives me a write-up with a cut in mourning borders set; It will not flatter me a bit, no matter what is said, So kindly throw your bouquets now and knock me when I'm dead.

It may be fine, when one is dead, to have the folks talk so, To have the flowers come in loads from relatives, you know; It may be nice to have these things for those you leave behind, But just as far as I'm concerned, I really do not mind. I'm quite alive and well today, and while I linger here Lend me a helping hand at times— give me a word of cheer, Just change the game a little bit, just kindly swap the decks, For I will be no judge of flowers, when I've cashed in my checks. —Michigan Tradesman.

Charging Rate Is Factor in Choice

Different Types of Chargers; High Rate Is Better for the Battery.

Before purchasing a battery charger, the amount of attention you are able to give during the process of charging is an important consideration. This results, also, in a decision relative to the charging rate that it is desired to use. A short article in the Radio Broadcast Magazine covers the subject in the following words: "There are many different types of 'A' battery chargers now available; some of them are satisfactory for use as trickle chargers and others only efficient when used to charge the battery at comparatively high rates of charge. The charger employing an electrolytic type of rectifier, for example, is very well adapted for use in trickle charging. It is very efficient, requires little attention, and has long life.

The Dry Crystal. "Another very satisfactory type of rectifier for a trickle charger is the so-called dry crystal, which was developed rather recently. A third type of rectifier that can be used for trickle charging is the Tungar, but it is not especially efficient as a trickle charger, because of the comparatively large amount of power required to heat its filament.

"There are three types of rectifiers that are satisfactory for use in high-rate charging. They are the Tungar, the vibrator type, and the new cartridge recently developed by Raytheon. All of these chargers are capable of delivering fairly large amounts of rectified current for charging a battery and are fairly efficient when delivering these currents.

Efficiency of the Methods. "There is little to be said regarding the comparative efficiency of the two methods of charging. Trickle charging has the advantage that it requires somewhat less attention than does high-rate charging, but it has the disadvantage that it is somewhat difficult to determine just what the best rate of trickle charge should be in order to prevent the battery from being overcharged or undercharged, also slow rates of charge used in trickle chargers are hard on a battery. With a trickle charger, a low-capacity storage battery can be used because it is not called upon to supply any great amount of current for a long period of time.

"With high-rate charging, on the other hand, it is usual to charge the battery every one or two weeks and also a fairly large storage battery is necessary in order that it will have sufficient capacity to supply the receiver between charges. It seems to be generally agreed among battery manufacturers, however, that the high charging rate is somewhat better for the battery in that it makes possible longer life. For best results," concludes the article, "the charging rate should gradually taper off as the battery becomes charged."

Trickle Charger Must Have Proper Attention

The trickle charger employs a chemical solution to change the alternating house current to pulsating direct current for charging the battery. As current is passed through this solution certain chemical changes take place which bring about evaporation of the liquid. This chemical action coupled with evaporation due to atmospheric conditions and room temperature, causes the level of the liquid to drop below its point of greatest efficiency in a few weeks. To rectify this condition, distilled water should be added whenever the solution falls below the point of efficiency indicated on the glass jar. After considerable use, the trickle charger should be taken apart, the elements washed and new solution substituted for the old. This new solution can be obtained from the manufacturer of the charger.

Easy Way to Compute Radio Electric Costs

An easy way to get a clear picture of the cost of operating certain power sets and additional power equipment may be had from comparisons with electric light. The total current consumption of one set is less than 50 watts. The light in the lamp next to the radio set is probably a 40 watt, perhaps higher. A power amplifier, which is inserted between the set and the loud speaker, and which gives the appearance of being something that might consume a lot of current, has a consumption rate of 40 watts. Just leaving the lights on in one room may mean wasting twice as much current as is being used to obtain the newer results with the radio set.

Tube Placement

Because new sets use different kinds of tubes for different positions, it is a mistake to follow the old rule of shifting the tubes around in order to get better results. As a matter of fact, the neutrodyne circuit, even without a power tube in the last stage, is better off if the tubes are not changed about.

HUNTERS WHO ENTER THE WOODS MAY FIND MANY DEER AND TURKEY

Hunters who enter the woods today will have 41,000 deer and 21,000 turkeys to shoot at in New Mexico, if they can find them, State Game and Fish Warden E. L. Perry said.

A number of guides have been licensed in the past few days and indications point to a large influx of non-resident hunters, Perry said. Hunting probably will be centered in the Black Canyon refuge in Catron county, which was opened to sportsmen this year because it is estimated the range there now has 500 more deer than it can carry.

In addition to the large revenue from non-resident license fees which goes to the state, communities where these out-of-the-state hunters will buy provisions and employ guides will greatly benefit, Perry said. A group of Texas oil men paid $500 for the use of a ranch during the hunting season last year, he said. Indians who last year slaughtered does and fawns in the Datil national forest have promised to be good, according to letters written by them to the forest supervisor. However, he will have rangers on guard and the state will have special wardens there.

The fifty special wardens employed by the state for the season will keep tab on the number of hunters, estimate the number of game animals and turkeys they see and take other data which is useful to the state department, Perry said. These estimates will show the number of does bucks and fawns.

While there are deer in practically every county in the state, they are most plentiful in the Gila and Mogollon mountains and Perry believes that the hunters will find their best shooting there.

LINIMENT AND CEMENT

A druggist lately received a hurried call from a small girl, who desired to purchase liniment and some cement.

"Yes," promptly answered the youngster, "ma hit pa with a pitcher."

THE ARTESIA ADVOCATE

BRAINARD LETTER

Since June 30th nothing has been paid to the Woman's Club by the county, and it does not look as if we will be able to do anything further for them this year.

During this time the county has allowed two bills for Artesia—one for $100.00 and one for $193.00, this last one being for one of the men who was burned in a gasoline explosion. In addition to this we are paying $35.00 per month for the care of a paralytic on the Cottonwood and $20.50 per month at Dayton for two old Mexican women.

The larger part of the indigent fund is spent at Carlsbad. But it seems as if the needy people gravitate there on account of its being the county seat.

The indigent fund is the most perplexing one the commissioners have to handle. Demands are constantly increasing and we do not have sufficient funds to care for the needy.

At the last session of the legislature a bill was introduced looking toward the establishment of a state home for the poor and helpless. This is a much needed institution. Something of this kind could take care of our chronic indigent cases and do it at a minimum cost.

Our present fund is $2000.00. We made a levy for $3000.00 with the idea in mind of relieving the business men of the different communities from the necessity for private subscription. This was cut back to $2000.00 by the State Tax Commission.

If there is anything more you would like to know I will be glad to be at your service.

Very truly,
G. R. BRAINARD,
Chairman Board of Co. Com.
