EDDY COUNTY HONEY CROP IS ESTIMATED AT 22,800 POUNDS 1928

Two hundred twenty eight thousand pounds of honey is lots of sweetening, yet it represents Eddy county's honey crop for the year, according to a recent estimate made by M. R. Jones, county bee inspector. The estimate is based on an average of sixty pounds of honey per colony and a total of 3,800 colonies in the county. Last year it was estimated that there were 4, 000 colonies in the county, however, a later count reveals that the correct number is near 3,800.

In dollars and cents value, Eddy county's honey crop is worth $22, 800 this year, if we accept the estimate or about $4,800 more than last years on the basis of an average yield of 45 pounds to the colony and 4,000 colonies.

Or if you would prefer to think in larger terms, this year's honey crop, represents one hundred fourteen tons and is of good quality.

OCTOBER 5 WILL BE OLD TIMERS DAY AT THE COTTON CARNIVAL

The days of the seventies, eighties, and ninties will be brought back again on old timers day at the Cotton Carnival and rodeo at Roswell.
The carnival dates are October 3, 4, 5, and 6, and old timers day will be on October 5. The big event of old timers day will be the parade at ten o'clock in the morning. Automobiles will be barred in this parade, and once more the chuck wagon, the back and stage will rumble down the main trail in Roswell. All those who have been in New Mexico thirty years or more are invited to ride in the parade. Following the parade, those who take part will be guests at a real chuck wagon dinner.

There will be two other parades during the carnival. On the opening day will be the grand parade of floats and other features. This is always a big spectacular event and this year the Santa Fe railroad is sending a miniature train from the Topeka shops to appear in the parade. On the second day of the carnival will be the all state parade in which will be a section for each state. People will ride with the state in which they were born. This proved a great attraction last year.

The rodeo is attracting wide spread attention from riders and ropers all over the country. With cash purses of $2,000 and merchandise prizes in addition, O. P. Foster, arena manager, is receiving entries from all over the west. Several high class specialty men also have been engaged to entertain the crowds at the rodeo.

Indications point to the largest agricultural display ever assembled in eastern New Mexico.

SUIT TO TEST PRESENT ARTESIAN WELL LAW IS TRIED AT ROSWELL

A suit to test the constitutionality of the 1927 artesian well law opened in the district court at Roswell, Tuesday morning with Judge Carl Hatch of Clovis presiding. The style of the case is Herbert W. Yeo, state engineer versus Clarence and Oscar Pearson. Mr. Yeo is represented by Robert Dow, attorney general and the defendants by attorneys Roberts and Brice of Santa Fe and Reese and Reese of Roswell.

The early part of the trial was taken up with the testimony of A.
G. Feidler, expert of the U. S. Geological survey, who spent several years in the valley, studying and surveying the artesian basin.

The testimony was completed Tuesday, but Judge Hatch had not rendered a decision, according to information received here yesterday morning. Seventeen witnesses were summoned to complete the evidence.

Under the present law, the constitutionality of which has been attacked, it is necessary to secure a permit from the state engineer before a land owner can drill a well in the area designated as the artesian basin.

Help Yourself When You Buy a Home

No man lives to himself nowadays. Happy is the man who has found his place in the life of the community; who realizes that he alone can not prosper and maintain a community, which offers the many advantages for rearing a family and who realizes that he owes the first duty to his family, the second to his community.

A man owes much to the community in which he lives; he owes something to his neighbor. In fact, a close analysis will reveal that every other resident has played a small part in his being here. Therefore if a man lives up to his obligations as a citizen he will shop at home and reap the benefits, both for himself and to his town.

Your success means the success of your town. You help yourself when you buy at home.

TRIAL OF MRS. HALSEY AT CLOVIS IS SET FOR FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 20

Absence of Material Witness Zack Teal, Not Expected to Delay Trial—Number of Local People Summoned as Witnesses.

The case of the state against Mrs.
Katherine Halsey, charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of her husband, Fred Halsey, which occurred near Hope in 1924, has been set up for two days. The case was scheduled to open at Clovis yesterday, but was moved up in order to give more time to secure one or two important witnesses. The case was first transferred from Eddy to Chaves county on change of venue and later to Curry county. During the early part of the week doubt was expressed as to whether the case would come up for trial due to the absence of a material witness Zack Teal. A later report states that Teal was located in Pecos, Texas, a report which caused the sheriff's department to make a trip to Texas without results. Local officers have no information as to whether Teal had been located this morning. After the case was transferred to Chaves county, Mrs. Halsey, together with Luther Foster and Claude B. Archer, was tried and found guilty here of first degree murder. The three were sentenced to be hanged and upon review the state granted Mrs. Halsey a new trial, affirmed the decision of the lower court as to Archer and order that Foster be sentenced to life imprisonment.

The death sentence of Archer was later commuted to life imprisonment by Gov. Dillon.

Among the local witnesses sum-

GINNINGS OF AREA TOTAL 197 BALES UP TO LAST EVENING

Cotton picking is in full swing in this section now. All gins are expected to be running full time within the next week. The production generally is holding up well, although disappointing in a few instances. Cotton on the high lands is opening rapidly due to a smaller stalk.

A total of 197 bales had been ginned by the four gins in this section up to last night. The totals by gins follows:
Association gin, Artesia.....43
Farmer's gin, Artesia.....43
Association gin, Espula.....43 Association gin, Atoka.....68

FULL SEASON GRID SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED FOR ARTESIA BULLDOGS

Locals Lose First Contest To El Paso High Saturday by Score of 38 to 0 Defense is Being Built in The Daily Practice.

The Artesia Hi Bulldogs dropped their initial gridiron contest at El Paso Saturday, when they met the heavy El Paso eleven, the score being 38 to 0. El Paso penetrated the local line almost at will in the 1st, 2nd and 4th quarters, with the locals holding their own in the 3rd quarter. The locals fought hard and put up a game scrap, notwithstanding the fact that they had only four days practice. Montague, Littlejohn, Miller and Clayton were the outstanding men for the Bulldogs in the El Paso game.

Since Saturday's defeat the Bulldogs have turned to build up their defense in the daily drills. The next game is scheduled with the Pecos Hi at Pecos, Texas. During the coming week the practice will be on the fundamentals of football. Many new men are showing up for the daily grill including Blair, Nicholson, W.
Compton, E. Robertson, Stuart Ransberger, Blount and others.

Captain Horne is confident that the locals will be at their best when they meet the Albuquerque Indians, here. The schedule for the remainder of the season follows: Sept. 28, Artesia at Pecos.
Oct. 5, Artesia at Roswell.
Oct. 12, Albuquerque here.
Oct. 19, Carlsbad here.
Oct. 26, Tularosa here.
Nov. 12, Portales, here.
Nov. 16, Military Institute here.
(tentative)
Nov. 29, Artesia at Carlsbad.

ELECTIC POWER TO BE OFF AGAIN A SHORT TIME SUNDAY A. M.

In order to give the public better electric service, the Southwestern Public Service Co., has found it necessary to install a number of transformers at the sub-station at Artesia.
The interrupted service was occasioned by the installation of equipment necessary to properly serve the power customers. Last Sunday the current was off in Artesia from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., however the company was able to give intermittent service to residents of north Artesia throughout the day, but experienced a delay in getting a cut in on the south side of town.

It has been found that it will be necessary to shut off the power again, but not during day time or early evening. The power will be off from midnight Saturday night until 6 a. m. Sunday morning.

UPPER COTTONWOOD SEINED FRIDAY MOST ROUGH FISH CAUGHT

M. Stevenson deputy game warden and B. R. Brittan of Socorro, assisted by a number of the Cottonwood citizens, seined a portion of the Upper Cottonwood Friday with fair results. The purpose of using the seine was to rid the stream of all undesirable fish. A large percent of the rough fish was obtained by this method, but owing to the condition of the bed of the stream, some of the fish escaped. The results of Friday's work also indicates a surprising number of bass, Mr. Stevenson states. The Cottonwood was seined from the dam passed Judge Doering's farm. Mr.
Stevenson hopes to finish the work on the lower part of the stream at an early date and also to do some seining in the Pecos.

About a hundred pounds of the fish caught were consumed at a fish fry during the noon hour Friday.

A NUMBER OF WATER FILINGS APPROVED BY THE STATE ENGINEER

Santa Fe.—State Engineer Herbert Yeo has taken action on the following filings: An extension of time has been granted the Carson reclamation district in which to file its formal application and plans. The new date is November 27.

A final license and certificate of construction have been issued under the filing of the Farmer's Mutual Ditch company to appropriate 1-70 acre feet of water per acre annually from the Animas river to irrigate 4,751 acres.

A final license and certificate of instruction were issued to William E. Scroggin of Hope to appropriate one acre foot of water per acre from the Penasco to irrigate forty acres.

A final license and certificate have been issued to Mrs. Rebecca J. Jeffers to appropriate 43.24 acre feet of water from the Raydo river to irrigate 27.34 acres.

A certificate of repair of an artesian well has been issued to W.
M. Schneider of Artesia for the repair of his artesian well in the artesian basin in Eddy county.

STATE BANK ORGANIZED FOR LOVINGTON

The last issue of the Lovington Leader contains the information that a new state bank has been organized at Lovington. The new institution has the approval of the state bank commissioner and the required capital stock $25,000 has been subscribed. It is expected that the new bank will be ready to function by October 1. The officials of the bank include W. M. Snyder, president; Seth Alston, vice president and D. C. Berry, cashier.

ROTARY PROGRAM

Constitution week was observed at the meeting of the Artesia Rotary club, Tuesday noon. The program was in charge of the educational committee of which S. W. Gilbert was chairman. Rev. Mims Jackson and Mr. Gilbert were the principal speakers during the program hour, discussing the origin and history to the United States constitution. Visitors at Tuesday's luncheon were Chas. Brown, Roswell, Dr. O. E.
Puckett, county health officer, Carlsbad and Rev. Mims Jackson, city.

W. L. Gage A Civil War Veteran And Pioneer Dies

Death Follows Long Illness—Came to Valley in 1909—Business Houses to Close For The Funeral
At 3 P. M.

The vanishing line of those who wore the gray in the struggle between the states, is slowly dimming.
The grim reaper has taken another member away, W. L. Gage, age 83, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. M. Cole, yesterday morning at 2:10 a. m., following an illness extending over a period of three months.

Something like a year ago, Mr.
Gage was awarded a bronze badge and had his name inscribed on the gold star book of memory, placed in the archives of the hall of fame in the stone mountain, near Atlanta, Georgia, as one of three surviving Confederate veterans of this section. His remaining comrades being William Daugherty and Rev. J. D.
Terry.

Four Years of Service

During his boyhood days, he lived with his parents in Green county, Arkansas among the pioneer settlers of that section of the state. At the age of sixteen years, he enlisted in company G, of the Eight Missouri cavalry under Col. Kitchens in Mar-nadukes Brigade. While thus enlisted he saw service at the evacuation of Little Rock and in the battles at Poison Springs, Prairie-de-hand, Mark's Mill, Jenkins Ferry, Glasgow, Blue Mills and was under Price during his border raids of the fall of 1864.

During the winter of 1864, he was wounded by a bullet in the thigh in a battle at Fort Scott, Kansas. He was hauled on an ammunition wagon from Fort Scott, Kansas to Mount Pleasant, Texas with snow packed on his wounds as the only treatment received, going twenty-one days without bread or salt and four days without a bite to eat. At dusk on the fourth day, a poor mule was unhitched from the ammunition train and shot for food. While at Cane Hill, Arkansas, his father, who had been wounded in the same battle, died.
The commanding officer, declaring his case hopeless, ordered him left to die at the same place as his father died. However, the regiment doctor took pity on him and loaded him into the ammunition wagon and carried him on.

Following the civil war he was actively engaged in farming and lumbering in Arkansas until the entry of the railroads in that section, at which time he began his career as a railroad builder and constructor.
During the Spanish-American war he was commissioned as a colonel in the Arkansas state troops, receiving his commission in July 1897.

He came west in 1908, first locating at Kress, Texas and a year later in the Pecos valley. Since coming here he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. C. M. Cole. Although he retired from active work in agriculture many years ago, he assumed personal management of his properties and led an active life until a few months ago. In addition to his farming interests in the valley and in Arkansas, he has served for several years as a director of the Citizens State Bank.

Oldest Oddfellow

Mr. Gage has been a member of the I. O. O. F. fraternity for over fifty-five years and so far as known was the oldest member of this order in the state from the standpoint of continued affiliation. He was also a member of the local Baptist church and had served this organization in the capacity of deacon for a number of years.

Surviving the deceased is his only living child, Mrs. C. M. Cole, of Artesia, a brother Ben C. Gage, of Egypt, Kansas and a number of grandchildren. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3:00 p. m. at the Baptist church. The body will be in charge of the local Odd-fellows at the graveside. Interment will be in the Woodbine cemetery.

The stores will be closed this afternoon from 3 to 4 p. m. in order that the business men and their employees may have an opportunity to attend the funeral.

Announcement cards, blank or preed—Advocate.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF EDDY COUNTY

TELEPHONE NO. 7

"THEY SHALL NOT PASS"

Once this was a battle cry which raised patriotic echoes in hearts all over the world. Today, it is the resolute ambition of thousands of walking tourists.
And what is the result?

The Rio Grande Farmer notes that "A tourist is slain in Oklahoma and his wife brutally beaten by two men they had picked up for a free ride.

The highways through Dona Anna county are lined with young men seeking a free ride, who hail all passing cars, and curse the driver who fails to stop on signal. It would seem that in view of the great number of tragedies that have occurred through picking up these bums that the tourist would refuse to take them in. The safest course is to pass them at 50 per."

A few months back a rancher was slain in California for $15.00 by two young fellows he picked up to give a lift toward Frisco and a job. A whole family is killed in Illinois. A man is accosted for a ride near Gallup. After giving not only a ride but meals as well, he is beaten to death in the most inhuman manner possible near the Big Cut north of Algodones.
Two boys on U. S. highway 30 gave a ride to three bums on a winter's night. They are found at two in the morning, coatless and hatless, their car and money gone, influenza starting to attack both of them from exposure. Their only crime was sympathy.

The Clovis News states succinctly that "Although "hitch hiking" was at first an innocent thriller for adventurous youth, today it has become what is classed not only as a national nuisance but also as a custom that entails unusual personal risk. The risk is that the army of migrating "sons of rest," to say nothing of numberless underworld gentry are taking full advantage of this free and accessible form of transportation and at the same time, as newspaper accounts indicate, are extending their criminal activities to the person and property of the person who stops to pick them up."

The first law of nature is self-preservation. This is not to be confused with selfishness. The best way to make our highways safe from criminal addicts to "mooching" and repayment by violence is for every motorist in the state to refuse to all and sundry. New Mexico will then get the name of a "hard state on a bummin' gent" with a result that such persons will take other routes until a time when all America joins in.
"They Shall Not Pass" should be met by the motorist with "I shall not be killed for my kindness."

THE COTTON FARMER

The cotton farmer, it appears has been left out of the prosperity program of the republican party. At least he does not seem to be riding prosperity's crest judging from the general downward trend of the cotton market during the past week, following the forecast of September 8th. There is a peculiar situation existing with reference to the market as this is written. According to a report of September 8th, the production is less than 150,000 bales more than at the corresponding period of last year, while the carry over is approximately a million and a half less and yet with this condition cotton was bringing around 24 to 25 cents per pound a year ago today. There is a bull in the woods somewhere and it looks to us as if some of the big boys, who have been enjoying some of the republican prosperity as well as the high tariff, are manipulating the market.

The cotton farmer must sell his product on the world market, without protection afforded by tariff, yet the products he uses including his farming implements, most of which can be bought in a foreign country cheaper than at home, is fully protected from loss. An unfortunate circumstance, but one which is destined to receive increasing attention in the next few years and one which both political parties must give some attention, if they expect the vote of the cotton raiser.

There is one and only one solution according to those who have given this problem a close study and that is for the market to be regulated by the government. Such a regulation will of course materially affect the entire cotton industry and will involve some plan to control the acreage, a difficult task, but one that can be accomplished in the course of time.

Drivers eighteen and nineteen years old have more than three times as many accidents as those over fifty, in proportion to the number licensed, according to a study of Connecticut motor vehicle accidents in 1927, just published by Yale University in connection with the state motor vehicle department. The accident rate steadily decreases as the age of the driver increases. This study takes no account of the mileage driven, which probably varies among the several age groups.—(Public Safety, Sept. 1928)

HEALTH IS PUCHASABLE

That health is purchasable, that we can buy as much of it as we are willing to pay for, has been repeated by health workers for years, out of their accumulated experience. Now comes the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company with figures to prove it beyond a doubt. Everyone knows of the life saving, disease preventing work of this mammoth organization, but few persons realize how stupendous it is. From 1911 through 1927 it has spent over thirty-one and a half million dollars in this one department.

The results: 278,000 lives saved, three quarters of New Mexico's population, above what would have occurred had nature taken her regular course. In money a saving of more than sixty four million dollars in death claims, a profit of over 100 per cent on the financial side.

The whole story is told in a pamphlet, "Educating for Longer Life," published by the company. Summing up, the president puts it this way: "The activities undertaken by the Welfare Division over a period of years have been detailed in the preceding pages.
The results are best told in the story of the improvement of the company's mortality. It is obvious that an anti-diphtheria campaign or a tuberculosis hospital or a visiting nurse affects the death rate. It will appear equally obvious that a pamphlet about pure milk, a class in English for the foreign born, or a campaign for a new tenement house law may likewise affect the death rate. In short, that the program described herein is a program of lengthening life. Steadily mortality among industrial policyholder has gone down, in spite of the fact that the industrial policyholder belongs to a group which has lower standards of living and was subject to greater hazards than the general population, yet in the last fourteen years he has gained more than eight years in his expectation of life, compared with less than a five year gain in the population at large.

"There were 72,570 fewer deaths among the Metropolitan industrial policyholders in the United States and Canada during 1927 than if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

"There were 489,638 fewer deaths among Metropolitan industrial policyholders in the United States and Canada between 1912-1927 than if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

"The death rate from tuberculosis in 1927 among Metropolitan policyholders was 53.4 per cent lower than in 1911.

"From typhoid fever it was 79.4 per cent lower.
"From communicable diseases of children it was 66.7 per cent lower.

"In each of these cases the death rate went down much faster than in the general population.

"Measured in terms of lives, the improvement in industrial mortality in 1927 over 1911 means a saving of 72,570 lives; measured in terms of dollars and cents, it means a saving of more than $22,206,000 in death claims in 1927 and an accumulated saving of 489,638 lives and $122,116,000 between 1911 and 1927.

"When compared with statistics for the general population, the figures for industrial policyholders show accumulative saving of 278,395 lives over and above that expected from the mortality improvement in the registration area for the period 1911 to 1926, and a saving in death claims of more than $64,000,-

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

The republican convention went off harmoniously as usual. The big boys saw to that, they are past masters when it comes to having harmony prevail, for witness the return of Lorenzo Delgado, who was given a hand when he returned to the grand old party of his uncle, Sec. Romero. Sec. Romero and Lorenzo have joined hands now and it will pay the property owners of San Miguel county to be on the watch out and count their sheep often. These birds don't play politics for fun.

The ticket nominated contains some weak sisters, as more attention was given to the popularity of the candidate than to their qualifications, which of course is nothing out of the ordinary. A mighty effort is being made to corral the native vote, so as to keep them away from Al Smith.

In this connection it may be stated that regardless of the mistakes made by the democratic leaders in convention, it is to their everlasting credit that they did not let money stand in the way of one nomination, if reports be true and another creditable thing accomplished was the refusal of the committee to accept the overtures of the independents or independent or what ever you call 'em.

WATCH OUT FOR PRAIRIE FIRES

You have heard of the slogan, "Watch out for forest fires," there is however, another hazard to be on the lookout for during the next few months, prairie fire. For the first time in a number of years, the local range contains an abundance of grass and weeds, which will soon pass through the period of maturity.
After this period, the danger of fire will be the greatest. Carelessness will cause untold loss to the stockmen and sheepmen just at the critical period.

Be careful where you throw a match or lighted cigarette if you do not wish the vegetation of the entire countryside destroyed.

THE VALUE OF OPTIMISM

Here is a challenge: for every satirist, critic, and pessimist who has done a constructive job for civilization we will produce the names of ten equally substantial optimists.

It is the believer in their fellowmen, the leaders who dream dreams and then strive to make their dreams come true, the seekers after the good in mankind in order that it may be nourished and caused to grow—it is these and these alone who have builded the House of Happiness and led the race to higher levels.

The booster attitude may distress some of our intelligentsia as an exaggerated defense erected by a fatu-ous mankind against the evils of life. But the point is that it boosts. Fault-finding doesn't; it merely strips one of all inspiration to help his fellows by accentuating the existence of every possible depressing fact.

When Christian, in Pilgrim's Progress, could not glimpse the wicket-gate, Evangelist asked him if he could see a distant light. "I think I can," said Christian. And eventually, in that thought, he arrived at the gate. Keeping one's eye on the light is far more likely to get one forward than studying scientifically the mud in the Slough of Despond.—The Rotarian.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Summer butter on the farm for winter use should be made from perfectly sweet pasteurized cream, churned without being ripened or soured. The butter-making process is practically the same as when sour cream is used. A few points, however, should be kept in mind. It is especially desirable to have the butter come firm enough so that the body will be waxy. When butter comes soft the body is likely to be greasy or oily, and this undesirable characteristic will increase with age.
It is also important that the butter come in firm granules so that the buttermilk may be washed out easily.
When the granules are the size of kernels of wheat the churn should be stopped. A churning period of about 30 minutes is required. It has been found that when the churning period is less than thirty minutes, buttermilk from sweet cream usually contains more butterfat than that from sour cream. The best way to keep sweet cream butter in storage on the farm is by immersing it in strong brine, and keeping it in the coolest place available.

Shoulder of lamb has long been considered a choice cut, but the shoulder blade running through the center makes it impossible to carve into attractive slices. The shoulder blade and leg bone can easily be removed, however, leaving an excellent pocket for savory stuffing. The stuffed shoulder may then be rolled up or left flat like a pillow. In either case it is sewed together around the edges and roasted in an open pan.
The tasty stuffing helps to conserve the juices of the meat and to add seasoning. Carving difficulties are thus overcome. The boned stuffed shoulder can be carved straight through into shapely slices of just the right blend of meat and stuffing.

YOU CAN VOTE IF 21 ON NOVEMBER 7

Washington.—What part can be played in the election by the thousands who will reach their 21st birthday on November 7, one day after the balloting?

James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican national committee, advised them that they could vote on November 6 provided they had complied with other requirements.

"There is one thing that thousands of first voters overlook and that is the first day they are entitled to vote," Burke said. "While election day is November 6 all persons whose 21st anniversary occurs on November 7 actually become 21 years of age under the law on November 6, and, other qualifications being complied with, they will be entitled to vote one day in advance of their 21-st birthday.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA AUTO CLUB TO LOG N. M. ROADS

SANTA FE, Sept. 9.—Word was received by the state highway department today that the auto club of southern California will come into this state within a short time to log and map the roads of New Mexico with the idea in mind of preparing a map carrying all data of interest to tourists who contemplate trips into this state.

The state highway department has offered every assistance to the auto club, which has been accepted in their work. Highway officials stated today that they believed the work of the auto club in this state would be of inestimable benefit. Thousands of tourists a year are routed on their trips by this organization. With full and complete data at hand on New Mexico's splendid roads the auto club will undoubtedly be of great assistance in sending more tourists to this state than ever before.

THE DUKE AND MAIZIE'S JIM

"BUT," returned Maizie earnestly, "he's a duke and it's a privilege to know him." "I don't see why," returned Miller impatiently; "you were glad enough to trot around with me until—"

"Don't be silly," reproved Maizie, round black eyes still rounder with awe as she stared at the sleek blond head of the nobleman in the seat ahead. "Of course, I like you, but—a duke!"

Moodily Jim stared out at the snow that thudded against the car windows. Somehow the bleak landscape fitted his mood perfectly and he hoped that the predicted blizzard would arrive. Already snow plows were in use and the flyer from Montreal was obliged to go slowly. He wished that the sight-seeing party had not stopped in Montreal, and wished, even more, that the Windsor hotel had not been selected. The ice palace in the park opposite the hotel had been a gorgeous sight with its gleaming blocks of ice glittering from the lights within the chill edifice, but he felt as though his romance had been chilled by the glitter of the frozen palace and the allure of aristocracy and he longed to get back to New York.

"He talks so beautifully, don't you think?" Maizie spoke dreamily. "Who speaks beautifully?" demanded Jim loudly.

Maizie giggled. "Just then the train butcher came through. 'Better buy your popcorn now,' he yelled. 'Might be snowed under pretty soon.'"

The nobleman waved the boy aside pompously: "Beastly stuff, don't you know," he drawled to his companion. "What did he say?" asked Maizie, but Jim, buying two boxes, refused to answer.

Next morning the occupants of the sleeper Minnehaha awoke to find themselves at a standstill. Heaps of snow, frozen on top, surrounded them and in the distance lay Niagara Falls, a rainbow tinted horseshow in the dazzling sunshine.

"Snowed up," was the porter's gloomy reply to questions hurled from the berths, "and the diner left us last night."

"And I'm so hungry," wailed Maizie as Jim came down the aisle.

"Here," he tossed the remaining box of taffy-coated popcorn into her lap, "nibble on that while we wait."

The duke, sitting beside Maizie, graciously accepted Maizie's offer: "Beastly stuff, don't you know but—" he crammed his mouth to its utmost capacity and Jim sulkily watched him.

"Yes, sab," answered George bleakly as Jim questioned him, "dere's a farm over yonder, but look at the snow between us."

Finally the three younger men of the party started off in quest of food and Maizie gazed soulfully at the tweed cap of the nobleman as he floundered through the drifts. "He has such wonderful manners," she sighed, "do you know I find Jim just a tiny bit crude in comparison. I wonder if he wouldn't—" The remainder of her speech was lost as her girl-listener vanished into the dressing room to curl her hair and powder while the men were gone.

"I expect the duke will have a splendid breakfast cooked for us," Maizie said "us," but she really meant "me," but as no one paid any attention to her it didn't matter.

"Such outrageous service," sighed the chaperone of Maizie's party, "I'm so hungry."

"Oh," cried the girl whose head had been turned, "the duke will bring us breakfast."

George cast an odd look as he passed down the aisle and smoothed his crisp linen jacket, grinning toothfully.

The duke came back first, scowling with the exertion of making his way through the ice-topped snow: "Beastly hard, you know. The other men couldn't keep up with me."

Maizie regarded him incredulously, awe vanishing to be replaced by hungry anger: "But surely you brought me, I mean us, something to eat?"

The nobleman, signing for George to brush the snow from his boots, did not answer.

"I can see you have no coffee," pursued the girl, "but your pockets—surely a bun, even—"

The pale blue eyes regarded her with annoyance. "How you chatter," he said, peevishly, "it was very hard on me to have to go such a distance for food and such food!"

The stunned silence in the Minnehaha remained unbroken until a gay halloo was heard outside and Jim and his chum, who worked at the next desk in the insurance office, breezed in, bringing the smell of crisp air and—yes, it was coffee that they eagerly sniffed.

"Here we are," laughed Jim, his face red from the stiff wind. "Coffee and buns and a whole pile of slinkers. Gee, but that woman was all right; offered to bake some griddle cakes to bring, but they would have frozen on the way. Some salt pork, here, too."

"Took you quite a time to get through the snow," drawled the duke, light eyebrows lifted superciliously. "Of course, though, the common people are accustomed to roughing—"

"I'll have you to understand that Jim isn't common," blazed Maizie, her small face scarlet and her speech imped somewhat by the large bite of doughnut, but her meaning was clear. Jim laughed carelessly; his misgivings concerning his sweetheart had been allayed by his stiff walk and this speech completed his content. Maizie was a good little kid, after all.

"Well, well, Duke Smith," came a jovial voice. "George told me you were in his car and I hunted you up, pronto. Where's the rest of the troupe, old man?"

"Stranded in Montreal," admitted the actor reluctantly. "Let's go into the smoker."

"And that's that," giggled Maizie. "To think of you being fooled by a man called Duke Smith, Jim—"

"I knew who he was," returned Jim placidly, "but you seemed so pleased with 'royalty' that I thought—"

"You shouldn't think, Jim," Maizie's tone was saucy, but her eyes told a different story. "Share a doughnut with me? Say," she continued, "isn't it queer how some folks will fall for a title?"

American Jim smiled quizzically at the retreating back of the trouper who had briefly basked in the glamor of pseudo-royalty.

That the surname Smith was unusual in connection with a real duke had been overlooked and that actor had been well pleased at the error.

Legend Tells of Girl Rival to Pocahontas

Florida has a Pocahontas to rival Virginia's Indian maid who saved Capt. John Smith's life in the early days of the Jamestown colony. Florida's Indian heroine was Ulelah, and the Spaniard, Juan Ortiz, was, due to her efforts, saved from being burned at the stake.

Panfilo de Narvaez was the adventurer sent from Spain to supersede Cortez, and he failed in this maneuver for the very simple reason that the conqueror of Mexico was in no humor to accept a successor.

To appease Narvaez's wounded pride, the Spanish king granted to him much of the Florida gulf coast and Narvaez immediately set out to explore it in the hope of finding a treasury of gold and precious stones equal to that found by Cortez.

His expedition aroused among the red inhabitants the most bitter antagonism against the Spaniards. Narvaez returned to Cuba, leaving Ortiz a captive. The story of Ortiz' life among the Indians and the account of the marvelous adventures of Cabeza de Vaca, another captured member of Narvaez' party, were about the only outcome of this ill-fated expedition.

It was the air of mystery assumed by Cabeza de Vaca both in his narrative and in his talks after his return to Spain that led De Soto to undertake his expedition to the Mississippi and the nobles of Spain to back his venture with their wealth.

Of Ortiz' suffering while a captive of the Indian chief, Ucita, there remains abundant details in his story. Buckingham Smith, who made a most exhaustive story of this period of Spanish exploration and whose references and documents are in the government archives at Washington, publishes much of this Spanish youth's trials in "The Captivity of Ortiz," an appendix to his "Letter on De Soto."

Its details in many respects are similar to those of the famous early Virginian drama in which Captain Smith, according to his own report of the incident, was saved from the Indian executioner by the daughter of the great chieftain Powhatan.

Swaps Wife for Auto

A man at Lichtenburg traded his wife for an automobile truck and $50 to boot. The offer was made by the other fellow and was accepted by the husband on the understanding that his wife consented. She consented, but after a few weeks with the new husband she regretted the change and came back to her former mate. The other fellow demanded her back; the husband said "take her," but the wife said, "try to do it." So the matter got into the courts—and into the newspapers.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Old Custom Abolished

Another century-old custom had to give way before the advancing tide of progress. This is the "polterabend," which corresponds to the "horns-bee" or serenade, which, in some parts of the United States, is held before the house of a newly wedded couple.

In Pomerania and elsewhere in Germany the friends of the bride and bridegroom celebrate the night by piling vast quantities of broken porcelain, tin cans and other debris in front of the young couple's home.

Perilous Trawling

Compared with the hardships of Icelandic trawling, North sea boats are always in a haven. From October to March blizzards of snow and sleet sweep the Icelandic regions, and from December to the end of January there is only an hour or two of daylight. Icelandic vessels are much larger than North sea trawlers, and so marked is the difference between the two operations that an Icelandic skipper rarely works the North sea, and vice versa.

Noticed It at Once

I am the owner of two dogs, a black cocker spaniel and a white long-haired Scotch terrier. One day a little girl came in to play with them. We were out in the yard, both dogs sitting on the porch, when I noticed that she would look intently at me, then at the dogs. She did that several times, then said, "Why, your dogs don't look one bit like you."—Exchange.

CATTLE MOVEMENT

A vast movement of cattle out of the Texas Panhandle will take place in October, when sales made for fall delivery are shipped. This class of sales has never been so large before. The cattle will go to Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois, in large part, for pasturing or feed-lot fattening. The Amarillo hotel at Amarillo, for nearly half a century "the meeting place of the Panhandle," has been crowded with cattle buyers. Many also go to the Her-ring, Amarillo's 14 story hotel.

COTTON UTILIZATION TO BE SHOWN AT NATIONAL EXHIBIT

An exhibition of the utilization of cotton fiber and seed, covering literally hundreds of manufactured commodities, is being prepared by the United States department of agriculture, assisted by the Cotton Textile Institute, for the National Cotton show at Memphis, Tennessee, October 13 to 20.

The department's exhibit will cover an area of more than 3,000 square feet the main feature covered by a cotton canopy of vivid stripes. In this area there will be a full exposition of the United States cotton standards and their use in the marketing of the staple. The utilization of cotton seed and of cotton linters will be shown in hundreds of products from animal feeds to cellophane, the new transparent covering for fruits and vegetables, and candy boxes. The processes of cotton warehousing and the workings of the United States warehouse act will be depicted.

Of especial interest in the Government exhibit is a model automobile in connection with which is shown the various ways and places where cotton enters in the manufacture of motor cars. Approximately thirty-five pounds of cotton on the average is used in each automobile in the manufacture of tires, seat cushions and covers, tops and other parts.

Another part of the exhibit is given over to the development of new fabrics and dress designs intended to increase the consumption of cotton. The products of cotton linters such as paints, mattresses, felting, cellulose, explosives, and other commodities will be shown. In still another place there will be exhibited the collection and dissemination of the cotton market news, and the preparation of cotton crop reports. The comparatively new work of the bureau of agricultural economics in the collection and publication of grade and staple estimates will be described.

Four bales of cotton in cotton burlap, shipped from this country to Germany and then returned here to test the durability of cotton burlap, will be part of the exhibit. The Cotton was baled at Henderson, North Carolina; shipped to Norfolk, Virginia, where the cotton was compressed to high density; sent to Bremen, Germany, where it was handled in a warehouse; then reshipped to Philadelphia and handled in a warehouse at that point, and thence shipped to Memphis. The bales received twice the handling usual in international trade yet the cotton burlap used for covering is reported to be in first class condition.

In keeping with the theme of the exhibit, the department representatives at the show will be arrayed in cotton clothing, from cotton hats to canvas shoes. The exhibit is in effect a broadside of what the department of agriculture is doing for the industry from the collection of crop statistics to the designing of new materials, and from the cotton fields to the manufacture and utilization of the finished products.

HUNTERS BRINGING IN PLENTY OF DOVES SAYS GAME WARDEN

The shotgun has come into its own again, according to E. L. Perry, state game warden, and the fields are full of dove hunters. An extraordinary number of these birds were in the state at the opening of the season September 1, and even novices at the gentle art of wing shooting are bringing in good bags. The migration habits of the doves are erratic, and probably the improved storage conditions throughout the state are responsible for the unusual concentration this year. Like all other animals, doves are prone to wander where food is plentiful.

The dove season only serves to warm up the shotguns of the honest-to-gosh, 112 proof scatter gun addicts however, the real bombardment beginning October 15 when the duck season opens. The smaller ducks are already beginning to fill into the state on their way to winter quarters, and by the opening of the season the flight will be in full swing.

New Mexico is particularly fortunate in the matter of waterfowl shooting, since the two great drainage systems in the state run due north and south and are thus ideally suited for migration routes. Despite reclamation work the two valleys still furnish a fair amount of feeding and resting ground, with the result that the birds are in no great hurry to get through the state, and therefore furnish more protracted shooting than is enjoyed in many states.

The warden states that all observers agree that the quail hatch this year was extraordinarily good, and beyond a doubt the state contains more quail this fall than it has for many years past. This is due to the improved food and cover conditions last winter, the fact that the weather this spring was ideal for hatching and the reduction of the number of predatory animals in the plains country. A large number of quail were trapped and transplanted last winter, and in almost every instance the "plants" have multiplied this year.

The quail season runs from November 1, to the end of the year, and furnishes a vast amount of sport, since the birds occur over practically the entire state except in the higher mountains.

DEMOCRATS BELIEVE THERE ARE ENOUGH THIRSTY VOTERS TO ELECT SMITH AND A DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS

But, in 1928, a new sort of campaign is being waged. The Democrats believe there are enough thirsty voters to elect Smith and a Democratic Congress. Smith says the tariff should be revised on the principles of the Underwood bill. Judge Brice, in his keynote speech, a very able presentation of the Democratic cause, said the tariff should be revised in harmony with Governor Smith's views.

Therefore, to vote for Smith, Vaught or Morrow is to vote for a tariff bill which will embody the principles of the Underwood bill—a measure that brought ruin to the chief industry of New Mexico.

Democrats Bolt Smith.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, is the most influential Democrat in Congress. He was chairman of the powerful finance committee during the Wilson administration, and is now the ranking Democratic member. In a telegram to Frank E. Mc-Ninch, September 1, he says:

RECEPTION FOR THE SCHOOL FACULTY

A large number of friends and patrons of the Artesia public schools, attended the reception for the school faculty, given at the Methodist church Monday evening, under the auspices of the Artesia ministerial association. The occasion not only proved enjoyable for those attending, but afforded an opportunity for the patrons to meet the members of the school faculty.

Rev. Mims Jackson, pastor of the Methodist church, acted as master of ceremonies and announced the program, which included two violin solos by Miss Florence Oaks, supervisor of music in the schools. This number was followed by two male chorus selections. Rev. R. Peterson, president of the ministerial association, took occasion to welcome both the new and the former teachers to Artesia. Following the address of welcome, a reading was given by Miss Leona Allinger, next followed the introduction of superintendent W. E. Kerr. The speaker expressed his pleasure for the opportunity of meeting the people of Artesia, told of some of the things that the schools would undertake to accomplish during the coming year. Concluding his remarks, Mr. Kerr requested all of the teachers present to stand in line so that the public would have an opportunity to meet them. After the teachers were introduced to the public, refreshments consisting of punch and cake were served to those present.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Every step mankind has taken has been Spirit led. Every new discovery has been God's revelation of Himself. With every new blaze of light, man comes nearer to the central Power over the world.—Anon.

CEREAL DISHES

There is much good food that goes down the kitchen sink or into the garbage pail that should be saved for various dishes. Even a spoonful of oatmeal or other food if saved and added to gems, muffins, griddle cakes and omelets, will increase the food value as well as the palatability of them. Pour cold water into the cereal dish and after soaking scrape and drain into a sieve. Two or three tablespoonfuls are thus saved for food. When there are leftovers of small amounts the following dishes are suggested:

Cereal Souffle.—To one cupful of thick white sauce add one-half cupful of cooked left-over cereal. Beat well and add the beaten yolks of two eggs, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash or two of cayenne pepper and one-half cupful or more of any preferred meat finely minced, such as ham, cheese, mushrooms or sweet pepper. Any one, or combinations of these foods are good. Cool, add the stiffly beaten whites and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Hominy or Rice Dodger.—Cook together one cupful of cooked rice or hominy in a double boiler with one-half cupful of milk; beat until soft and well blended. Remove, add one tablespoonful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one well-beaten egg, and flour to make a batter—about one cupful. Spread in a well buttered tin in a layer one-third of an inch thick and bake in a hot oven until brown. Eat hot, split and well buttered.

Hominy Muffins.—Mix together one cupful of cold hominy grits or other cereal, one cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of salt, beat until scalded and beat until smooth. Let cool, add one-half of a compressed yeast cake softened in a cupful of warm water and three and one-fourth cupfuls of flour. Beat smooth, let rise over night, cut down and put into gem pans; when light bake. Forcing the cereal through a ricer will help to make the mixture smoother with less beating.

Mrs. F. V. Hagaman left for El Paso yesterday morning and expects to remain in the pass city for several days under the care of a physician.

David Childress and family of Dalhart, Texas came to Artesia Saturday to visit with the Muncy relatives and Sunday visited the Carlsbad Caverns.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mitchell were hosts to a 6 o'clock dinner Tuesday complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hively who expect to leave Artesia soon.

S. S. Ward brought into town this morning the first of his 1928 apple crop produced on the Flying H ranch. The apples are of unusual quality. Mr. Ward estimates the production at 4,000 to 5,000 bushels.

Lloyd Shryock, wife and baby of El Paso came Sunday to visit relatives and returned home Tuesday. Mr. Shryock's friends will be glad to know that he has been appointed a regular clerk in the El Paso Post Office.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boren left Sunday morning for Sapulpa, Oklahoma, where they will make their future home. Mr. Boren will continue his work in the barber shop and Mrs. Boren will take over the management of a beauty parlor at that place.

Mr and Mrs. G. B. Dungan and family arrived Sunday from Delta, Colorado, where they have made their home for the past year. They plan to locate in town for a few weeks and may move back on their farm, the Green Valley ranch, south-east of Artesia, after the first of the year.

Mrs. W. M. Fleisher and granddaughter, son Gay Fletcher and wife, her daughter Mrs. Voile, her husband and two sons of Diamond, Oklahoma, came Friday evening to visit the Muncie relatives. On Saturday the went through the Carlsbad Caverns and started for home Sunday evening.

The Artesia Women's Club held its first meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Clarke. The time was spent in the discussion of the years work. Light refreshments were served by the entertainment committee. The Club will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. J. B. Atkeson on October 3.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dyer of San Bonita, Texas, former residents of Artesia stopped off for a short visit with friends here Tuesday and Wednesday, while en route to the Carlsbad caverns. Mr. Dyer is one of the pioneer merchants of Artesia, having operated a general merchandise establishment here in 1903.

HEALTH NEWS

It seems there are a number of cases of whooping cough in this country.

Only a few have been reported to the health department.

I want to insist that parents, teachers and doctors all co-operate in trying to keep children that have a cough that may prove to be whooping cough, from coming in contact with other children. Keep those that are known to have the disease off the streets and from all public gatherings.

If we do not get the disease under control, some children are going to have pneumonia complications and some death.

All are urged to co-operate in reporting these cases and in carrying out the quarantine regulations.

August Report

During the month of August there were 43 births and 20 deaths filed in the county health department.

Five of the deaths occurred in children under one year old; three between one and five years; three between five and twenty-five; five between fifty and seventy and four were past seventy years.

The causes of death are given as follows:

C. J. Dexter and Ralph Shugart, the only two avowed republicans in Artesia aside from a few members of the colored population, are attempting to create interest in the coming campaign by holding a daily afternoon political session in the office of C. J. Dexter. However, Shugart has almost lost his enthusiasm since receiving a package bearing a revenue stamp from the republican headquarters. They think Shugart is some resident of Old Mexico trying to kidnap 'em.

A colored lady has requested our mayor to assist her in recovering her stolen shoes. Uncle Chas. Mann, however, has turned a deaf ear to the lady's pleading while she walks the streets in house shoes. You would never have thought Uncle Charley could have been that hard hearted.

A young lady school teacher, who never saw cotton growing until she came to Artesia, confesses that she thought all of these tumble weed patches was cotton. What if they were, what a garden of Eden Artesia would be.

We are informed that the Joyce Fruit style show will be under the personal direction of John Richards. John's association with the fairer sex for the past quarter century should eminently fit him for this undertaking and we predict that the style show will be an outstanding success.

7,000 PERSONS LEFT HOMELESS IN TROPICAL STORM OF PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico.—In the face of a steadily mounting death toll, Porto Rico labored Tuesday to care for the 700,000 persons left homeless by the tropical hurricane until help could come from the outside. Half of these homeless were estimated to be hungry and without visible means of support.

The death toll of known dead jumped from 253 to 300 when advices came from three towns which has been isolated. These were Comerio with 29 dead, Coamo, 9 dead, and Barranquita, 9. Doctors and those familiar with conditions estimated that the total deaths would be more than 1,000.

Poor country folks were endeavoring to patch together their damaged homes, using stones for hammer and bent nails drawn from the wreckage. Men, women and children worked together. Noah Sheppard, an agent for the Federal Land Bank, who traveled across the island from Ponce, said he saw no one crying or quitting. One of the greatest needs he thought was nails and hammers.

Announcement!

Since the installation of the High Tension Line by the Southwestern Public Service Company three years ago the 9th day of August, we have been very fortunate in having very few interruptions in service. But owing to the addition of new power for gins, pumps, Frigidaires and stoves, it has become necessary for us to change transformers in our substation at Artesia.

It being impossible to change these without cutting off part of the service we wish to beg of you to be patient with us from midnight Saturday, September 22 to about 6:00 A. M. Sunday, as the power will be off during these hours.

CHEVROLET PASSES THE MILLIONTH CAR MARK IN EIGHT MONTHS

Marking, for the second time within eight months, the passing of a millionth milestone, the Chevrolet Motor Company announced lately that the five millionth Chevrolet was produced at the Flint, Michigan, plant September 8. The four millionth car was built January 11, following quickly on the spectacular nationwide reception accorded the present "Bigger and Better" model.

The early arrival of the 5,000,000th car was in response to a continued demand that has kept Chevrolet plants on a day and night basis since the first of the year and has resulted in the setting of new monthly production records every month this year.

Production for the year promises to go well beyond the million mark and will show more than a 1,000 per cent increase over 1921 when 77,565 cars were built.

The epochal five millionth car was a standard coach and came off the line amid the cheers of a vast army of assembled mechanics who gathered momentarily to see the record-making model glide off the line under its own power. Exacting schedule requirements did not permit of any ceremonies and a few seconds later the five millionth car became history, when number 5,000,001 was driven away.

It was pointed out that, whereas it has required a little more than ten years for Chevrolet to build its millionth car, the last four million were produced in a little more than five years, an indication of the spectacular march that the Chevrolet Motor Company has made in recent years to attain its present position as the world's largest automobile manufacturer. It was shown too, that since January 13, 1927, when the 3,000,000th car was produced, a little less than twenty months had been required to produce another two million.

This record-breaking production program was in response to the greatest demand in the company's history. During the first six months of this year, 50 per cent of all automobiles sold in Chevrolet's price class were Chevrolets. This was an increase over 1927 when Chevrolet outdistanced all competitors by selling 40 per cent of all cars purchased in its price class.

In light of the fact that Chevrolet production is geared to meet the demand, ranking company officials viewed the recent production achievement as a tremendous popular tribute from the motoring public. W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, stressed the point that precision is the father of speed. He explained that to make such a record possible it was necessary to adhere even more closely to precision manufacturing methods and to make the limitations even more exacting. The slightest inaccuracy in workmanship or inspection would increase costs and slow production, he pointed out.

Chevrolet's spectacular march to the 5,000,000 mark is shown in the following dates on which the various millionth cars were produced:

One millionth car.....	Feb. 27, 1923
Two millionth car.....	July 10, 1925
Three millionth car.....	Jan. 12, 1927
Four millionth car.....	Jan. 11, 1928
Five millionth car.....	Sept. 8, 1928

MISSING DAUGHTERS TO BE SHOWN AT ARTESIA

The great filmization of the underworld and its shameful activities, exposing the lives of those whose lives are forever branded, and what becomes of the wayward sons and daughters will be shown at Majestic Theatre, Monday, September, 24th afternoon and night, here. This picture is the result of much study and painstaking on the part of the Detroit police department and shows actual scenes taken from the every day underworld life of Ecorse, the mecca of the rum runners and the red light district of Detroit. Brush street, Hastings and Ripelle street scenes are vividly portrayed. Incidentally, due to the extreme exposures shown no one under sixteen years of age will be admitted and the matinee is for ladies only while the evening picture run will be for men only. This picture has the endorsement of welfare societies, police departments and the leading clergy of the larger cities throughout the country. It is a picture that every father and mother should see and as there will be but one presentation in Artesia you will be missing a most wonderful opportunity if you fail to be in attendance.

YATES APPOINTED

Santa Fe, N. M., Governor R. C. Dillon has appointed the following New Mexicans to represent the state at the international petroleum exposition at Tulsa, Oklahoma October 20.

C. G. Staley, state geologist, Santa Fe; J. H. Riedeman, Albuquerque; J. J. Foley, Albuquerque; Martin Yates, Artesia; Clayton Hall, Carlsbad; A. E. Thurman, Albuquerque; C. G. Scott, Gallup; J. C. Nickols, Shiprock, and Scott Etter, Carlsbad.

WHAT CHILDREN SHOULD KNOW

Your parents never knew much about those cement, and hard-surfaced roads, until a few years ago. Some of the principal streets of cities were "paved," but there were very few people who ever thought the country would ever be rich enough to spend millions of dollars for such roads. We now have for our automobiles. The Government did not start to give the states half the amount of money that new roads cost until 1916. Most of the hard-surfaced roads have been built since that time.

Only about twenty years ago people thought that nobody except the very rich could ever afford to buy automobiles. In 1905 there were 85,000 automobiles in the United States; in 1910, 4,000,000. Now there are between twenty and twenty-five millions. In one of our great factories a car is made in a day, and given several coats of duco, as this material dries quickly, whereas it used to take several weeks when paint was used. And there you are, with a pretty car.

"7TH HEAVEN" A SCREEN TRIUMPH

All that has been claimed for it and more will be the verdict of the audience who witness the first showing of "7th Heaven" at the Majestic Theater tonight. It is the most appealing picture that this reviewer has ever seen, both to the heart and the brain. This marvelous love story that for sheer simplicity can not be equalled, carries to the heights of stardom Fox Films new finds Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. These two give a performance that surpasses in simple sincerity any that has yet been done on the screen. The wistful beauty of Janet Gaynor smiling through her tears, weary of body and soul, but still climbing hopefully with Chico up the windig stairs to 7th Heaven is something many will go to see again and perhaps yet again.

What marvelous photography in this scene and in the one in the garret beneath the stars with Paris stretching at the feet of the youthful pair. But speaking of photography some of the best shots ever seen on the screen are probably those showing the drive of the taxi cabs from the streets of Paris to battle front and holding in check the invasion of German army.

It is a marvelous picture this 7th Heaven with a story that grips the heart and the imagination, with its fascinating revelation of character as portrayed by such artists as Gladys Brockwell, Ben Bard, David Butler, George Stone and Albert Gran as well as many others in parts not so important. But shining above the rest like twin stars of beauty, are the portrayals of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. You must go to see this picture at least once. And the chances are you will go to see it again.

FOUR BIG DAYS AT THE FIRST AMERICAN DUKE CITY SEPT. 24-27

Republicans and Democrats will each have their day at The First American, Albuquerque's big show to be held next week, according to information issued by the headquarters.

On the first day, in the big street parade, one of which will be held each day, Governor Dick Dillon will lead the procession, mounted on a coal black thoroughbred, the property of Charley Clay of Jamez Springs.

On the second day, at the afternoon performance, Bob Dow will show his skill at calf roping to the 5,000 seat grandstand. Efforts are being made to get Vice-Presidential candidate Joe Robinson to be in Albuquerque at that time, though nothing definite has been arranged as yet.

The list of prominent citizens from New Mexico grows as each mail brings requests for reservations. Richard Dix and party, who are now making "The Redskin" at canyon de Chelly and Acoma, will be among those present.

The number of performers has crept up from the original plan of 400 until it now numbers 700. Two bands will provide the music before the performances and two orchestras will perform for the big dances on the last night. Ninty race horses were unloaded at Albuquerque Saturday. Among these are eighteen relay teams and some of the fastest ponies in the southwest. Albuquerque is issuing an invitation to every person inside the New Mexico borders to come to The First American and the management promises a real old west time for one and all, with something doing every minute and bedtime when you get around to it. The show starts September 24th at 10 a.m. and closes the night of the 27th.

REV. A. L. MOORE TO PREACH AT LAKE ARTHUR

Rev. A. L. Moore presiding elder of the Roswell district of the Methodist church will preach at the Lake Arthur Methodist church Thursday, September 20th at 11 a. m. The last quarterly conference of this conference year will be held immediately after the preaching service.

The Lake Arthur-Loving charge is composed of the following churches, the Dayton Methodist community church, the Lake Arthur community Methodist church, the Malaga community church, the Lakewood community church, the Loving Methodist church. The churches will report all obligations paid in full, and one Sunday school checks up 100 per cent on program work—"The Dayton school."

The Epworth Leagues have doubled in membership, and one church reports 87 1/2 per cent increase in active church membership. These churches have reopened the old Lakewood church, and have supported regular services twice a month at Lakewood. This charge has remodelled and furnished the old charge parsonage at Dayton, and the pastor's family has lived in it for the past six months.

Will your Egg Sign be out this winter?

THERE'S a reason why the users of Purina Poultry Chows have eggs for sale when prices are highest. Purina Poultry Chows are made by an organization that's had 34 years experience mixing poultry feeds. Purina has the machinery to mix Poultry Chows thoroughly. Purina has the experimental farm to test Poultry Chows practically. Purina has the chemists and biological laboratory to prove Poultry Chows scientifically. That's why Purina Poultry Chows are rich in the very stuff that eggs are made of. That's why Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Hen Chow build up a reserve that keeps the birds laying all winter—and paying all winter. Order Purina today.

Things WORTH KNOWING

The first air-mail route was established between Washington and New York on May 15, 1928.

The Pension Bureau was created March 2, 1833, in connection with the war of the Revolution and the war of 1812 and various Indian campaigns. It has been almost replaced by the Veteran's Bureau which originated during the World's War.

Practically everything that goes into the home, whether to eat or clothe the family or for any other use, is measured by the "yard stick" maintained by bureau of standards. The bureau is a national agency for standardization and industrial research.

Broken horizontal stripings and zigzag lightning streaks in rust gold and black form the base of a striking new coat material, while over this is worked at irregular intervals knots of white rayon which cause the whole fabric to gleam with metallic luster—a thing quite to be desired as things now stand in the world of fashion.

The United States Secret Service was created in 1865 to prevent counterfeiting of money.

The United States light houses as "aides to navigation" have been operated since 1789. Boston light has been in continuous operation for two hundred and seven years.

The Government employs official heat testers. Fixed standards of grade and quality of tea are enforced by the government against shippers and growers of tea.

Regular systems of firing gun salutes has been maintained by the Army and Navy since colonial days. The president of the United States receives the national salute of twenty-one guns as a mark of honor.

When the Senate of the United States first met, provision was made for the accommodation of many of its members who used snuff. The snuff boxes are still continued in the Senate chamber. Although the only snuff user left is Senator Overman of North Carolina.

Congress passed an act on December 2, 1924, to provide for the two hundredth anniversary birthday of George Washington in 1932. It is going to be a big time.

Our Teachers

BUILDERS OF THE FUTURE!

The Artesia community is fortunate in having many public-spirited citizens, who devote their best efforts to the development of the community. But no one is in a position to contribute more to the future welfare of this territory than are our teachers.

And so, at the beginning of a new school year this bank extends a sincere welcome to the teachers—both those who are returning and those who are taking up their work here for the first time. We consider it a privilege to serve them in every way that is open to a sound, modern, completely equipped bank.

Week after week and month after month the Bigger and Better Chevrolet has swept on to greater and greater heights of popularity—until today it stands acknowledged everywhere as first choice of the nation for 1928!

Never has any Chevrolet enjoyed such overwhelming public acceptance—for never has any low-priced car provided such an outstanding combination of distinctive beauty, thrilling performance and amazing economy!

Its beautiful bodies by Fisher—long, low and racy, and finished in colors that reveal to-day's mode for smartness and individuality—are far in advance of accepted standards in the field of low-priced cars. Inside and out they prove anew that Fisher craftsmanship is a thing apart.

But Chevrolet performance is no less impressive than Chevrolet beauty and style. Never before was a low-priced car so easy to handle—for the steering mechanism is fitted with ball bearings throughout... the clutch and gear-shift lever respond to the slightest touch... and big non-locking 4-wheel brakes give a measure of braking control that is more than equal to every occasion.

Come in and see the car that has won the approval of more than three-quarters of a million buyers since January 1st. Learn for yourself why it is scoring the greatest success of this great automotive year!

BIG CROWDS EXPECTED TO ATTEND TRI-STATE FAIR AT AMARILLO TEX.
 AMARILLO, TEXAS.—With all exhibit hall reported virtually full or running over, with plans and preparations days ahead of previous years indication are that the big 1928 Tri-State exposition with a free gate will open on September 22 one of the greatest fairs in the southwest from every standpoint.
 All department heads report greater interest and a larger number and better class of entries than ever before. Concession and exhibit spaces are at a premium and the fair association has arranged for one of the greatest entertainment programs ever offered in this section.
 Leonard Stroud's rodeo will furnish the major afternoon attraction, Schooley & Collins 1928 Winter Garden revue will be the feature evening offering. A group of Taos Pueblo Indians, fireworks, the Lackman-Carson carnival and a score of other attractions are scheduled.
 Five football games, three of them inter-sectional clashes, have been arranged. Amarillo high school meets Norman, and Oklahoma City, Panhandle and Claude, Tulsa and Dalhart and Pampa and Texhoma have gridiron tilts scheduled.
 Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university, will deliver the principal address at the big religious service to be held Sunday evening, September 23, at the fair grandstand, with Amarillo and Panhandle churches having charge of the free program.
 Amplifiers are being placed on the stage in front of the grandstand so all attending can hear without any trouble.
 An attendance of 300,000 persons is expected as a result of the major entertainment attractions and the free gate from September 22 to 29.
ALL FAIRS TO BE BIGGER AND BETTER
 The usual routine for September includes a large number of county and community fairs and this year is no exception. While the number of fair this year is smaller, those to be held promise to be bigger and better than in any preceding year.
 The Bernalillo county fair will be held at Albuquerque September 24-27. While an agricultural exhibit has been held from year to year, this is the first year for the First American celebration, so the general interest in the fair will probably run higher than in previous years.
 In San Miguel county the fair will be held at Las Vegas, September 27-29. Agricultural exhibits, including livestock, will be an important part of this fair and the work of the boys' and girls' clubs will be featured.
 The annual Curry county fair will be held at Clovis, September 27-29 also, and is planned to include exhibits from several counties in New Mexico and west Texas. The exhibition is to be a free affair and in addition to the usual agricultural exhibits, commercial exhibits will also be featured.
 The Chaves county cotton carnival will be held in Roswell, October 3-6 and promises to draw the usual volume of exhibits and crowds. As a special feature there is to be a sheep State of New Mexico, is hereby authorized and empowered to collect the foregoing taxes mentioned in Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of this Ordinance, as by Statute in such cases made and provided.

and wool competitive exhibit which bids fair to be the center of interest. Community or small county fairs are scheduled for Sandoval, Torrance, Lincoln, Roosevelt and several other counties.
Acquire Charming Personality
 The prizes of life come to those who surround themselves with an aura of geniality. You then make friends easily; and success in every sphere in life is assured you in advance if you are guided by reasonable intelligence. Therefore, make every possible effort to acquire and maintain a charming personality. Try to avoid repression. Try to be your honest-to-goodness self—just as you are. Lay aside all subterfuge; cultivate a kindly feeling toward your fellow man, and try to express it as best you can.—True Story Magazine.

And Men
 If you want something done never ask an idle woman; ask a busy one. Idle women either can't or won't. Busy women work a little harder and quicker and willingly do a little more.—Atchison Globe.

Our Bible school is increasing in number new faces are seen every Sunday.

We extend a hearty welcome to all especially strangers that are stopping in our city, and those that have moved in for the school year.

The teachers of our schools who haven't any special church to go to we invite you to come and worship with us. Everyone receives a hearty welcome. We hope to have a greater increase in our Bible school next Sunday.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

We had a good service last Sunday morning, but on account of having no lights we were compelled to give up our evening service. We are sure this will not occur soon again. Let us make next Sunday a great day in our work. At the morning hour the pastor will speak on "The God of the Bible." Each of us should ask himself the question, What Do I Worship? As we gave up our evening service last Lord's day the pastor will use the same subject announced for that time. The subject will be "Christ at the Door." The male chorus is to sing for us this Sunday evening. We are expecting some splendid music from them. Come and hear them sing.

We shall be glad to have you in one of our Bible school classes. We have classes for all grades. Our B. Y. P. U. s meet at 6:30 p. m. All young people are invited to our young peoples' meetings.

Austin Brown, Supt. Sunday School

A solo by Mrs. John Lanning and a special number by the male sextette will feature the morning service on next Sunday. Plans are also being made for special music for the evening service at 7:30.

The Epworth League reorganized last Sunday evening, efficient officers were elected, and a most inspiring devotional period followed. Six forty-five is the hour of meeting.

The Sunday school starts promptly at 9:40. A new interest all along the line is shown in this department of the great work of the church. A little more co-operation on the part of the parents is especially urged. A very cordial welcome is extended you to all of our services.

section of Scripture Paul is viewing the great doctrine of liberty and forbearance. The of this teaching was the un-as to the right attitude for to take toward things sacril-

Idol is Nothing (vv. 1-8).
People know that there is a God, the creator and sustainer of all things. Since an idol is a matter of indifference.

to be borne in mind that the

to things which are in themselves. Strictly speaking, therefore, teaching cannot be applied to intoxicating liquors.

to be a perversion of teaching. The indulgence in intoxicating liquors, the use of tobacco, and things wrong in themselves which injure the human body and having partnership in sin are things that are against themselves. In applying this to the use of intoxicating liquors should be borne in mind.
People can be applied only to things which are in themselves harm-

All Christians Have Matured (vv. 7, 8).
The Christians were still of the conviction that an idol really a living and powerful being. For those persons to sit down at a meal where such meat was being used to expose themselves to the possibility of being brought again under the bondage of their sins.

The Christian's Behavior in the World (vv. 9-13).
The Christian should take heed lest his liberty become a stumbling block (v. 9).
Liberty must be curtailed for the weak brother (vv. 10, 11).
Do not disregard this is to sin against brethren (v. 13).

regard our brother's interest against Christ, for it is sinful to place a stumbling block in the way of the believer is a terrible sin. In enforcing this, three important considerations are brought out: The fate of the weak brother injures human sympathy, let Christian love, would cause a grave consideration to his conscience because such a loss.

The relation of the man to his brother is his brother.

that Christ did for the "weak brother"; therefore to place a brother is to sin against Christ because the brother is a member of Christ's body.

The Teaching Illustrated in the Bible (ch. 9).
The apostle Paul worked with his brothers lest his mission to them be misjudged. While he vigorously contended for his right to ask for them, he refrained from using force. By means of his own labors and donations which he received from the Macedonian churches he was able to boast that he had not been a burden to them.

The Teaching Applied (10:23).
Christians may indulge in lawful liberty as they are expedient and glorify God (v. 23).
No man seek his own, but the neighbor's good (v. 24).
The principle of love is unselfish.

whether therefore ye eat or drink, do all to the glory of God (v.
31).
The Christian is not at liberty to do anything which he could not ask conscience.
There is no occasion for anyone to be troubled (v. 32).
We should so live that no one can say that we have been the occasion of their downfall.

Thank God
for a gospel that sings to our daily lives, and that sings away sorrow and care!
No such hymns.—Clarence

FERREE GIVES FIGURES ON THE PROPORTION OF VOTERS TO POPULATION

Special efforts are being made in our larger cities to get out the voters in the coming presidential election and it is interesting to not the proportion of voters to population that participated in the 1924 election in the different states.

About one half of the population of the United States are entitled to vote and of these but a little more than one half took part in the last presidential election, so that the general average of voters to population was about one to four.

Taking the states individually there were four states, Delaware, Indiana, Iowa and Wyoming in which one half of the population voted.

In Maine, Maryland, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania one fourth of the population voted. In Arizona and North Carolina one fifth, in Texas one seventh, in Tennessee one eighth, in Florida one ninth, in Virginia one tenth, in Arkansas one thirteenth, in Alabama one fourteenth, in Louisiana and Mississippi one fifteenth, in Georgia one seventeenth, while in South Carolina one thirty-third of the population participated in that election.

In the twenty-eight remaining states one third of the population voted.

Indications point to several million more votes cast in 1928 than ever before, due partly to the interest taken in the southern states where but a fraction of the voters have heretofore participated in elections.

S. E. Ferree.

$1,000,000 WORTH OF BRIDGES FOR N. MEX.

Santa Fe—Figures released Saturday by the bridge division of the State Highway Department show that since January 1927 (beginning of present bridge program) nearly one million dollars worth of Federal Aid bridges have been built or are under construction. The actual figure is $953,284.81 which includes the estimated final cost of bridges now under construction. With bridges yet to be built on the letting which will be held September 19th, this figure will reach the million dollar mark, it is thought.

The above figures do not include the bridges built by state forces which amount to in excess of $75,000 for the first seven months of this year alone.

In the Federal Aid program a scanning of the figures reveals that 22 of the bridges are of all creosot-ed timber construction, 2 are all concrete construction, 8 are steel on concrete substructure, 12 are steel on concrete substructure and one is a combination of creosoted timber, steel and concrete. This latter is the Barelis bridge at Albuquerque.
The figures also include 1 railroad underpass and 2 railroad overpasses.
This makes a total of 48 structures.
Small bridges are not counted in this list, only major structures being enumerated.

Sixteen counties are represented in the list of locations. These range from Colfax on the northeast to Grant in the southwest, San Juan in the northwest and Eddy in the southeast. The largest number built in one county is 8. This is in McKinley county where the government spent a million dollars on the Navajo reservation highway.

The work was done by sixteen different contractors. Beside the local New Mexican firms there is listed one bridge contractor from as far away as South Dakota. This argues well for securing the lowest possible price compatible with good construction.

The three costliest bridges are the Barelis bridge at Albuquerque, the Fort Sumner bridge across the Pecos and the Aztec bridge in San Juan county. These bridges did or will cost in excess of $100,000 a piece.

Highway officials state that these figures are especially interesting in the fact that they denote New Mexico's progress in building all year roads. Each bridge means one less place for traffic to be held up during the rainy season. The creosote timber bridges are estimated to have a life of approximately forty years.
These figures taken together with the fact that not one structure is a toll bridge as is common in other states is a great mark of progress, it was stated.

2 cups nectars raisins
2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons granulated gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg white

Heat food chopper in boiling water and put raisins through using medium cutter. Plump raisins by boiling 5 minutes in water to cover. Cover gelatine with cold water, let stand to soften. When raisins are cooked, remove from fire, add sugar, salt, ginger, and lemon juice, then stir in the softened gelatine. When all is dissolved set aside to cool. When mixture begins to stiffen fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Rinse individual molds with cold water, sprinkle bottoms with shredded coconut or finely chopped nuts. Turn in the raisin sponge. When firm remove from molds and serve with custard sauce.

CREAMED PEAS

1 can peas drained or 2 cups fresh peas
2 cups milk
4 tablespoons flour
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt. Pepper.
Make cream sauce by melting the butter, add the flour to make a smooth paste. Add the milk, one-third at a time, stir to avoid lumps.
Add seasoning and peas. Heat in double boiler until the peas are thoroughly warmed.

ORANGE PINWHEELS

1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking-powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 tablespoon orange juice Grated orange rind
Mix and sift flour, baking-powder and salt, rub in one tablespoon butter, or other shortening, and moisten to a dough with milk. Roll thin; spread with remaining butter, sprinkle with sugar mixed with orange juice and rind, and roll up like a jelly-roll. Cut in slices, and place, cut side up, in buttered muffin-pans.
Sprinkle with remaining sugar, and bake in a hot oven. When small and dainty these are good for afternoon tea.

AGAIN LEADS

New Mexico again leads all other states with a yield per acre of 354 pounds of cotton seed. California is second with 322 pounds and Arizona is third with 321 pounds. Last year New Mexico's yield was 352 pounds, while for California and Arizona the yield was 340 pounds and 315 pounds respectively.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS FROM THE STATE TOTAL 22,852 IN AUGUST

Cattle shipments from the state during August totaled 23,249, as compared to 22,852 the number sent out during August a year ago, according to figures compiled by M. G. Keenan, secretary of the cattle sanitary board.

Most of the cattle were sent to grazing in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado although some were shipped to market at Kansas City, Denver and El Paso.

The largest shipment was from the Deming district there having been 3,807 head of cattle sent from there. The shipments by districts follow:

Springer, 3,155; Las Vegas, 273;
Clayton, 1,714; Tucumcari, 2,111; Alamogordo, 948; Roswell, 1,098;

DEMOCRATS TO START CAMPAIGN WITH BARBECUE AT SANTA ROSA MONDAY

A barbecue and political rally at Santa Rosa Monday evening will open the democratic campaign in the state. J. S. Vaught, candidate for the long term U. S. Senate will be the principal speaker and possibly Robert C. Dow, candidate for Governor, who is expected to be present. Mr. Dow is scheduled to make his first campaign speech at Estancia on Wednesday evening. John Morrow, candidate for re-election to congress, Mr. Dow, and Miss Jennie Fortune, nominee for re-election as secretary of state, are expected to form one of the teams to speak throughout the state. Mr. Vaught will captain another team.

BIGGEST WATERMELON

I. P. Johnson, a farmer living north of Artesia has demonstrated that you don't have to go to East Texas, where the sand is knee deep to grow a big watermelon. Mr. Johnson did it right in our own Pecos valley. Monday he brought in to the First National Bank a seventy-six pound watermelon and presented the melon to J. E. Robertson. Monday evening J. E. demonstrated to his family the melon capacity of an Al Smith Missourian, by consuming something like 20 pounds of the said melon.

SANATOR ROBINSON TO APPEAR IN NEW MEXICO

Senator Sam Bratton announced recently in Clovis that Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas, democratic nominee for vice president would make two addresses in New Mexico, one at Clovis on October 5, and one at Roswell, on the final day of the Cotton Carnival, October 6. An effort is being made to secure a large crowd to hear the vice presidential nominee at Roswell.

NEW FARM DWELLING

E. R. King, a farmer living on the Upper Cottonwood community plans to erect a five room concrete dwelling on his farm. The construction work is scheduled to start this week.

COTTON MARKET

BUT SMITHS HAVE BEST OF IT

C. N. Smith, San Jose, California, has organized a "Smith-for-Hoover" club to which only Smiths are eligible. Now if some Democrat named Hoover will form a "Hoover-for-Smith" organization the campaign can proceed on even terms again.

WORK ON THE HIGHWAY EXTENSION IS SLOW

Work on the highway extension north of Carlsbad has been made unnecessarily slow on account of a labor shortage, due to the starting of cotton picking operations, says a report from Carlsbad. The grading remains to be done on the mile and a half extension, while about two miles of the original contract remains to be surfaced.

ALL CARS MUST BE RENDERED IN SEPTEMBER

County Assessor Richard Westaway of Carlsbad, calls the attention of all auto owners to the fact that all automobiles must be rendered for taxes during the month of September. In order that this work may be completed on time, Mr. Westaway asks that local auto owners kindly attend to this matter at once. Rendition blanks may be had by writing the assessor's office.

CAVERN HIGHWAY IMPROVED

The state highway department has completed setting posts for the guard railing on the cavern highway. The materials for the netting is on the ground and will be completed within a few days. In some places the roadway has been widened, making it safe for those not accustomed to mountain driving.

MUCH SOUND SENSE IN GOVERNOR'S IDEA

A way to prevent counterfeiting, used by the governor of Kashgar, in Chinese Turkestan, is explained by William J. Morden in "Across Asia's Snows and Deserts," the story of his adventures while crossing Asia on a scientific expedition. The tael note, Kashgar currency, printed on rather heavy paper, is worth from 60 to 90 cents. Writes Mr. Morden:

"Several thousand paper taels made a rather bulky mass; so we endeavored to obtain notes of greater denomination, but learned that nothing larger was issued. When I inquired the reason, I was told that were large notes issued there would doubtless be considerable counterfeiting. As the governor felt that crime is death, the lives of many of his people by not putting temptation in their way, since he thought the incentive with only single tael notes not great enough to encourage counterfeiting." — Kansas City Star.

AVIATORS USED ALL SORTS OF WEAPONS

Many of the aviators in the World War had peculiarities which they catered to while on night bombing raids, points out Capt. A. Roy Brown, the Canadian ace who conquered the famous German aviator, Richthofen, in an article in Liberty.

Along with the explosives the flyers would take bricks, bottles, old boots, empty tins, and other kinds of junk, and toss them out, over the German lines, with boyish enthusiasm. "A favorite missile was an empty bottle," explains Captain Brown. "It was not unusual for a bomber to fare forth with a dozen empties on board as added starters."

"An empty bottle tossed out with the right flip from a height of several thousand feet, fell—as the wind caught its open mouth—with the screech of a Valkyrie. It could not do much harm, of course, unless it made a direct hit; but the night-raiding pilots felt that these falling bottles had a moral effect that was not to be sneezed at."

Much Difference in Egotism and Vanity

"Madame, will you walk and talk with me?" says the old song, and the picture before our imagination is one of grace and spirited charm. Meredith's description of Clara Middleton running is as enchanting an account of beauty in motion as ever was written and never was seen.

And speaking of that, which is in his great novel, "The Egoist," brings us back to the egotism that is in all of us and kills our good sound vanity. For when anyone says to an egotist, "Your voice does not do your face justice, my dear, you should pitch it lower," offense is taken and sulking ensues.

Whereas, were the same remark made to the truly vain woman, she would reply, "Does it not? Give me time and I shall." This difference between egotism and vanity shows as much in nations as in individuals. The egotistic reject suggestion, scowling. The wisely vain learn, laughing. —Vogue.

Carp Broke Window

When two policemen of Wilmington, Del., heard the crash of falling glass they expected to find an intruder in a fish store there, but when they arrived on the scene they saw nothing but shattered plate glass and a nine-pound carp lying on the pavement. Ben Weintraut, the owner of the store, explained the mishap by saying that he had taken the carp from a tank and was awaiting the arrival of a rabbit to kill the fish, when the carp, frantic in its struggles to seek water, gave a mighty flap of its tail and broke the window.

London to Be Floodproof

London's great "anti-flood" scheme is nearing completion after nearly seven years' work. Parts of it have been finished, and are credited with having saved the city from a possible deluge during the big storms of last summer. The scheme includes storm relief sewers, with pumping stations fitted with powerful machinery at danger points. When it is completed, experts say, London will be practically floodproof.

TROPICAL HURRICANE IS SPENDING ITS FORCE ON ATLANTIC COAST

Washington.—The hurricane that swept through the West Indies last week rushed with diminished force through Georgia and South Carolina yesterday with the expectation that it would pass over the Atlantic ocean north of Cape Hatteras, N. C., and spend its final force endangering steamer lanes.

It had left a death toll in Florida estimated as above 100, although this could not be confirmed on the basis of fragmentary reports.

The Red Cross at Fort Pierce, Fla., believed there were 85 dead in Palm Beach county alone. Fifteen were reported dead at Bartow, further in land.

Another message, somewhat doubted, to Red Cross headquarters here, said 35 were dead or missing at Bear Beach, near Clewiston.

High winds sucked from all sides to its center, however, were expected to be of gale force all along the Atlantic coast as far north as Boston.

Eleven inches of rain fell at Savannah, Ga., when the hurricane approached there last night.

But the terrific winds that caused such havoc when the hurricane struck Porto Rico and Florida had abated. The highest wind velocity reported to the weather bureau yesterday afternoon was 48 miles an hour.

President Coolidge conferred with his cabinet yesterday on the storm situation. The labor and commerce departments offered every aid as the navy and army had done before them.

Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross, said all funds received in response to the president's appeal would be placed in a single, "West Indies hurricane fund," and would be used as conditions in the Indies and this country demanded.

Local Red Cross Asked to Aid

A telegram received from the Red Cross headquarters has asked the local Red Cross chapter, now a defunct organization to aid the stricken storm sufferers of Porto Rico and the coast. So far as is known nothing has been done toward soliciting funds for this cause, however, some action is expected to be taken within a short time.

J. STOCKEY LIGON HERE

J. Stockey Ligon, of Santa Fe, state game expert, spent the first part of the week in this section inspecting the state game refuges. Mr. Ligon also took occasion to visit the Carlsbad Caverns, while in the south part of the county.

INJURED IN SWING

Dale Rowland, age 11, sustained a severe scalp wound last week while playing on the Central school grounds. He was struck in the head by a rig, which resulted in a cut on the head. The wound, however, is not regarded as serious.

INDEPENDIENTES ASK FOR THIRD PARTY BALLOT

The El Club Político Independiente of Bernalillo county, Monday made application to Miss Jennie Fortune, secretary of state, to have its party emblem "Dawn of a New Day" placed on the ballot in November.

FINE FALL WEATHER

Residents of the Pecos valley are enjoying the fall weather. The temperature here during the warmest part of the day has averaged around 90 degrees, while 50 degrees has been the average for the coolest part of the night.

APPLE CROP READY TO MOVE

The bulk of the apple crop will soon be ready to harvest and ship out. The valley generally is expected to show an increased yield over last year, the largest increase in production will likely be shown in the Hope community, where fifteen to twenty cars will soon be ready to move. The quality of the apples is unusually good in practically all sections.

GAME WARDEN HERE

B. R. Brittain of Socorro, federal game warden, spent the latter part of the week here, looking over the county in the interest of migratory birds. Saturday in company with M. Stevenson, deputy game warden, Mr. Brittain made a trip to the Lovington section.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mason of Clovis N. M. their son Howard Mason, wife and little son of Lancaster, New York, and daughter Mrs. Helen Matheny and little daughter of San Jose, California, spent the week end with the Brainard families and the E. T. Jernigan family. The company made a trip through the Carlsbad Caverns Monday.

moned to appear in the coming trial at Clovis include John Vandagriff, J. C. Floore, Preston Dunn, Frank Seale, Will Benson, Sam Williams, Mrs. Walter Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hill, John Castleberry, Ed Carr, C. C. Pior, Howell Gage, Gail Hamilton and Wade Cunningham.

Local officers, however, are of the opinion that the trial will not be delayed this time on account of the absence of Teal, but that his transcribed testimony as given in the former trial will be used.

ALFALFA SEED SHIPMENTS

It is estimated that about 100,000 pounds of alfalfa seed has been shipped out of Artesia this season as against 300,000 pounds over the corresponding period last year. The small seed yield up to the present has been largely due to the weather conditions.

Dr Chester Russell, and wife and daughter, Miss Dora, returned Monday night from a two weeks visit to their former home at Russellville, Arkansas. Dr. Russell found many changes since his last visit. Crop prospects are poor in the vicinity of Russellville he says and the outlook is not very encouraging. They were accompanied home by John Hogins, a nephew, who will spend the winter with them.
