Clark Lake Will Be Made Into a Free Public Resort

M. W. Evans Buys 45 Acre Tract For Game Commission—Small Hatchery To Be Added, Lake Stocked With Bass.

M. W. Evans, acting for the state game and fish commission has recently closed a deal for the purchase of the Clark lake, located six miles north of Artesia. The purchase includes forty-five acres of ground. The lake proper covers about twenty-five acres, sufficient land adjoining the lake was included in the deal so as to permit a drive way around the lake. The sale also included a water right from an artesian well west of the Clark lake to supply the project with water when needed. According to Mr. Evans it is the plans of the department to install a small hatchery for the propagation of bass. The lake is well stocked with bass and blue gill at the present time, but there is also a quantity of carp. Efforts will be made to rid the waters of the carp and other undesirable fish either by poisoning the fish or pumping the lake dry.

The Clark lake will provide the public with free hunting and fishing. It is also understood that interested parties may be permitted to build a bath house and other amusement accessories for the public. It was thru the efforts of the Artesia Game Protective Association that this property was acquired for the state.

DURRETT GUILTY

Warren Durrett, on trial in federal court at Roswell, charged with attempt to bribe a federal prohibition agent, was found guilty by a jury Tuesday of all six counts in the indictment returned against him. Sentence was deferred by Judge Neblett until a later date.

According to testimony introduced by federal prohibition agents, Durrett was accused of having given Howard Beacham, prohibition agent, $200 in payments of from $95 to $200 at a time. Durrett in return expected protection of his liquor business in Hobbs, N. M., testimony revealed.

The defense in developing their case Tuesday claimed that Durrett had been trapped by federal officers and that Howard Beacham had broached the protection proposal.

MONOXIDE GAS ALMOST FATAL TO MRS. C. R. BLOCKER ON TUESDAY

Carbon monoxide gas, which developed from a faulty vent in a gas furnace at the home of C. R. Blocker on West Main street, almost proved fatal to Mrs. C. R. Blocker Tuesday evening. Occupants of the Blocker home had complained of a headache, evidently caused from the gas, but the fumes had caused no serious results until Tuesday, when Mrs. Blocker was found in an unconscious condition by a neighbor, Miss Ella Bauslin, who called a physician and went for help. Upon the arrival of the attending physician, Dr. H. A. Stroup and Mrs. I. C. Keller, both were almost overcome by the deadly fumes, Mrs. Keller later had to be removed to her home. More aid was summoned and Mrs. Blocker was carried to the home of Mrs. Rex Wheatley, where she improved sufficiently to regain consciousness within a few hours and is resting well at this time.

DIVERSIFICATION OF CROPS PAYS IN PEGOS VALLEY SAYS BRAINARD

G. R. Brainard, a leading farmer of the Artesia section has proved that it pays to diversify, even though a recent experiment was made under adverse conditions. In Mr. Brainard's case it is demonstrated that it is possible for a farmer to capitalize his misfortunes. On June 10th 1929, Mr. Brainard had 150 acres of cotton hauled out. Knowing that late cotton did not always prove profitable he consulted W. A. Wunsch, of Carlsbad, who was at that time acting as county agent. Mr. Wunsch advised a diversified crop and on June 15th, Mr. Brainard started replanting. He planted 80 acres of hegari; 30 acres in beans; 10 acres in Indian corn; 16 acres of cotton and 12 acres of cane. The cane was the last crop planted. Thus all of the cotton ground was replanted except about 2 acres.

All of the crops have been gathered and ready to market, except a few bushels of beans which remains to be thrashed.

Because of the late planting some of the crops were grown under adverse conditions. The beans were neither irrigated nor cultivated after they were planted. Ten acres of the beans were classed as poor. From the remaining 20 acres a yield of 700 pounds to the acre was secured. Mr. Brainard plans to market part of the crop at the present market price which is seven cents per pound. The remainder he will hold until spring and hopes to secure a better price. At the present market value, the bean crop could be figured at $780.00.

From the 80 acres of hegari, he secured between 350 and 400 tons of roughage. The present price of the hegari in the bundle would net $12.50 per ton, however, Mr. Brainard created a home market for part of his produce, when he purchased 350 head of old ewes several months ago. He estimates that it will take 75 tons of hegari to feed the ewes and fall lambs until market time next spring. About $1,000 worth of hegari will be fed to the sheep and the profit on the feed will of course depend on the price of the sheep next spring. At the present market price, the hegari could be estimated at $5,000.

Owing to the late season of planting the corn yield did not come up to expectations, but made a turn out of ten tons, valued at $25.00 per ton or a total value of $250.00. The ten acres of cane made about the same cash return or 25 tons at $10.00 per ton.

From the 16 acres of cotton, he gathered four bales of fairly good staple cotton and four bales of bolies. The cotton patch made a gross return of $660.

The gross cash return on the 148 acres could be estimated at $6,940 based on the present market value of the various commodities or a gross cash return of approximately $46.90 per acre.

The Greatest Need

Diversification is one of the greatest needs of the Pecos valley farmers, Mr. Brainard believes and a number of prominent farmers concur with him in this view. Since the modern farms are becoming motorized, horses and mules are disappearing and along with them the dairy cows and other farm animals that supply the much needed barn yard fertilizer. Alfalfa growers right now are experiencing considerable difficulty in replanting some of the old ground. Alfalfa appear to take some of the needed substance out of the ground, which no commercial fertilizer can properly replace. There is nothing that beats the barn yard fertilizer for rejuvenating the alfalfa land. While cotton is a comparatively new crop, (Continued on last page, column 6.)

ROBT. N. MILLER FORMER RESIDENT OF HAGERMAN DEAD AT LUBBOCK

Hagerman people were shocked Saturday night to learn of the death of one of its pioneer and best loved residents, Robert (Bob) Miller, who succumbed to a heart attack at his home in Lubbock, Texas, Saturday afternoon at a 5:00 o'clock.

Mr. Miller was for several years in the mercantile business here having lived in the community for thirty years. His wide acquaintance up and down the valley had won friends by the hundreds who mourn his passing.

For the past year he had made his home in Lubbock, Texas, where he was manager of the Union Stage Depot, having been transferred from Roswell.

At the time of his death, Mr. Miller was 52 years of age. He was born in Arkansas in 1877. He is survived by his widow, four children, two sons, Harold, of Hagerman, and Victor, of Albuquerque, and two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Vietch, of Albuquerque, and Marjorie, of Lubbock. He also leaves two brothers, Bert Miller, of California, and E. C. Miller, of Texas.

The death of his father comes as a second bereavement in less than three weeks to Victor Miller, who lost his wife, Mrs. Hazel P. Miller at Albuquerque, December 31, dying of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

Robert Miller was a teacher for many years of the Men's Bible class at the Christian church. He was a sincere and fluent teacher and an earnest worker in that church.

He was an active member of several lodges, one of which, the New Mexico Odd Fellows Grand Lodge, had charge of the services at the grave. He had held important offices in these lodges, as past grand master for New Mexico of the Odd Fellows; past grand patriarch of the grand encampment, and past grand representative of the Odd Fellows Sovereign Grand Lodge. He was also past grand patron of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services were held in the Christian church at Hagerman Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with Rev. C. C. Hill in charge of the services. There were about five hundred people in attendance with about one hundred cars making up the procession to the grave. The church was packed to capacity, and a large crowd stood outside, unable to get inside. There were beautiful floral offerings with seventy-five sprays of flowers sent by friends. Rev. Hill preached a comforting message upon the theme, "Look Above."

Interment was made in Hagerman cemetery. C. G. Mason was in charge of funeral arrangements.

A DEMOCRATIC PAPER

This being the year that we are likely to hear more or less about politics, and it is of passing interest to mention the squib of the Cavern City Chronicle editor, Will Robinson of Carlsbad, concerning his politics in which he like the negro Sam, "Recommends himself most highly." We read:

"Probably the most comment we hear is on the fact that the Chronicle is a democratic paper. There has not been such a thing in Eddy county since dear old Jim Wood faded out from Lakewood and the valley knew him no more. There are more republicans in Carlsbad than the outsider ever dreamed of, but they take to the idea. They like the idea of knowing just where the editor is at and all they ask is a square deal, which they know they will get."

We have not lived in Eddy county more than a half century, and may be more or less confused on the early history of Eddy county politics, but if the writer remembers correctly there were a number of old time newspaper boys who attempted to run a democratic paper, but who could have possibly been laboring under a delusion. Assuming that most of the editors of the so-called democratic papers in Eddy county, both past and present are honest, we are gullible enough to take them at their word and believe what they say.

We would even take Editor Robinson at his word and assume that he is a real democrat, notwithstanding that old timers say he ran a republican paper in Roswell for fifty years or more before going over to the democratic camp in Chaves county.

We realize that running a democratic paper or a republican paper too, for that matter, has its difficulties.

We know that Editor Robinson must have been more or less discouraged two years ago at Roswell when he championed the democratic cause in Chaves county and tried to persuade all good democrats to come to the aid of their party, through the columns of a straight democratic paper, only to have a democratic stronghold of the state pile up the biggest republican vote in the history of the county, electing three republicans on the county ticket. Eddy county which has been struggling along all these years without a real democratic paper, did not do this bad.

Two or three ex-Texans, including the writer have kidded ourselves into thinking that we were making or trying to make a democratic paper out of the Advocate, but we live to learn. Perhaps we have not. If the demand is as great as has been represented to us in Eddy county, we know that the demand is just as great in other places, including Texas, so we are going to do our damndest to learn how and return to Texas and show the old boys over there how its really done. We have found out since we've been here that there are other people besides post masters, who vote the republican ticket and this too, will be news to a number of citizens over there.

ENFORCING THE LAW

We noticed that a number of communities throughout the United States recently celebrated the tenth anniversary of national prohibition. Whether such a procedure is right and proper under the present circumstances is questionable. We were just thinking how much better it would have been to have expended the extra energy in giving local officers a little more moral support, not only in enforcing the prohibition laws, but other laws as well.

We still have a vivid recollection of attending an indignation meeting held at the Baptist church here about a year or a half ago. The indignation meeting was occasioned by the fact that a bootlegger had grown too eager and sold whiskey to a minor.

Within about two weeks after the meeting, the town was traveling about its usual pace. Where one bootlegger moved out, two moved in. Parents who were so furious about the possibility of their children getting a hold of a little liquor had apparently dismissed the incident as trival. Their fury had spent itself and they were willing to take another chance with the bootlegger, hoping that it would be somebody else's boy or girl that got hold of the liquor, if any was sold.

Officers say they could make Artesia a pretty clean place, if they could get the public cooperation. Local officers, however, have never received the moral support needed to drive out a few of the worst whiskey peddlers.

Driving by the City Park the other day, we note that a considerable number of gophers appear to be working in the park. Unless stopped these pests may destroy many of the trees and shrubs.

WHAT IS BEING DONE FOR COTTON

Cotton farmers throughout the south have grown impatient over the apparent delay in doing something for the staple which figures so largely in the balance trade of this country. In fact no one now expects anything to be done much before another crop is planted, picked and made ready for the market. Something has been done for wheat. "Wheat," according to Senator Tom Connally, "is a political crop," and therefore came in for immediate attention following the organization of the federal farm board. Cotton, although represented on the board, has been the subject of considerable dilly-dallying with an apparent purpose of forcing every grower into a cooperative association. It was different with wheat. A stabilizing corporation was almost immediately organized and when wheat started to decline below cost levels, this corporation appeared in the market with an offer to buy. Wheat jumped five cents per bushel without the corporation having to invest a dollar.

Farm and Ranch hopes that every cotton grower will become an active member in some recognized cooperative association. It also believes that it will never see the day when there will not be thousands of small farmers, tenants and others, who are not in a position to become members of any association. These farmers have just as much equity in the money appropriated for farm relief as any other grower, and this must be recognized. Furthermore, we again agree with Senator Connally that the relief sought cannot be found for all the growers without the aid of stabilization corporations.

So far as Farm and Ranch has been able to discover Mr. Williams is not thinking out loud about anything but organizing more co-operatives, and while we express the hope that he will succeed in greatly increasing the numbers of farmers willing to work together co-operatively, we still believe that he will fall far short of rendering the cotton growers the service they have a right to expect until he does something to bring about a stabilization of prices.—Farm and Ranch.

CALLING OUT THE ARMY

Governor Dillon suggests that one method of enforcing prohibition is to put the American army along the border to stop smuggling of liquor.

The army, it is true, could probably halt importation of better brands of spirits.

The army would not, of course, extinguish the smoke of a thousand stills that nestle in hill and dale. The border patrol would not influence illegal withdrawal of alcohol from distilleries. The corporal's guard would not impress the politician office holder in connivance with bootleggers. The border guard would not penetrate the thousands of basements in which home brew is manufactured for personal use in violation of the law by citizens who in every other respect are law abiding, useful members of their communities. The army could not do much with legislatures that pass prohibition laws legalizing a quart of hooch. Nor could it affect enthusiasts who in the heat of political campaign pronounce a partisan on such law.

Calling in the army to enforce this particular law would not, it is apparent, avail much unless troops were sifted into the population, quartered in the homes.

Effectively to establish this martial surveillance over the American people we should need an army some 10 or 20 times as large as the one we now maintain for the less moral objective of defending the nation from external enemies.

It might develop that half the population would need to be induced into service to spy on and arrest the other half.

We permit ourselves to doubt that Governor Dillon has, as yet, solved the problem of enforcement.—State Tribune.

WHAT TO DO WITH THEM

The question of what to do with a policeman found drunk has arisen in Washington and the chairman of the District Commission says that according to the police regulations and the organic act of the District that policemen who have passed the probationary period cannot be dismissed from the force without trial. Or, in other words, a drunken cop cannot be fired until he is convicted of the charge. This same rule is said to exist in the police departments of most of the large cities, and despite the opinion of Senator Jones of Washington, that policemen under the influence of liquor should be kicked out without ceremony, it is claimed that there is so much politics, jealousy, and spite work in all police departments, that the greatest care has to be exercised by officials in the highest responsible positions to protect their policemen against being "framed" and dismissed. Therefore all charges must be sustained and proved on the theory that policemen, like everybody else, are innocent until they are proven guilty.

HELP THE ENUMERATOR

Work of taking the 1930 census will soon start. Residents of Artesia and the surrounding section should be interested sufficiently to aid the enumerator in every way possible. We know from experience that it is a comparatively difficult task to get complete data on every resident. It behooves the Chamber of Commerce and the progressive citizens to be on the lookout and report any names that may be likely to be missed. All should be anxious to make as good a showing as possible.

THE WAY OF LIFE

Most of the people in this big old world are in a rut. One is born, lives and dies, and the world rocks on as though one more or one less had never been.

A vast majority invert the natural order of the elements that make for success. The order should be: character, common sense, and intellectual training.

Age softens the heart and transmutes everything into neglect. One finds himself longing for the touch of a vanished hand. In the night we think we have them once more close to our bosom—it turns out to be only a phantom visit of other days. We shall all someday reach the estate of the aged. Let's love these lingering spirits. Someday we ourselves are going to sit in the twilight that's filled with dreams and a longing for the scenes that are past.—Exchange.

A pessimist suggests that if President Hoover can keep the nation's high-powered executives in conference for a while, business may have a chance to get going again.—San Diego Union.

CHARGES LOW COTTON PRICES FORCED BY THE LARGER COMPANIES

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Arthur Marsh, former president of the New York Cotton Exchange, suggested before a senate sub-committee investigating cotton exchanges, Tuesday, that Henry Ford and Julius Rosenwald, or Sears Roebuck and Company be called to tell how the condition of the cotton farmer of the south could be improved.

The proposal was a preliminary to an attack on methods used by the concerns of which Ford and Rosenwald are heads. Marsh said that Ford was an outstanding exponent of high wages for labor but that his buyers were "remorseless" in using every "possible expediency" to drive down the price of cotton fabrics, used by Ford's plants in large quantities.

The witness also told the sub-committee that buyers of Sears Roebuck and Company; Montgomery Ward and Company, and Woolworth's who use one fifth of the cotton goods manufactured, were the "most remorseless drivers down" of cotton prices.

He added that in an attempt to meet competition of the chain stores independent dry goods stores had organized buying syndicates with great purchasing power.

"All are combined," he said, "to throw the rise of price back on the poor devil (the cotton farmer) who cannot help himself."

TEXAS OIL TOWN PAPER GIVES PECOS VALLEY ORCHESTRA A BOOST

The Wildcat family this week received a clipping from the Roswell (N. M.) Daily Record giving an account of probably the largest orchestra in the southwest, represented by the New Mexico towns as follows:

Hagerman, Artesia, Dayton, East Grand Plains, Lake Arthur and Roswell.

This orchestra has a combined membership of one hundred forty-one including the beginners of this year, states the Record. It was organized and is now under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harp, warm friends of the Wildcat family, and who also organized one of the finest orchestras in the state at Pecos before removing to Roswell. They are fine people and as educators and directors in orchestral work have no superiors in Texas or anywhere else for that matter, is the honest opinion of the writer.

They have done a work which cannot be but appreciated by the public and is a boon to humanity. Mr. Harp not only teaches music but stresses the moral part of life and will not have a pupil who smokes or who cannot keep himself or herself clean morally, and the work he and his splendid wife are doing will be felt for generations to come in the betterment of the communities where they work. May God, in his divine wisdom, preserve and keep them for many years yet to do work in the uplifting of humanity.—The Big Lake Wildcat, Big Lake, Texas.

Each occupant of the winning car received a box of candy, which he or she had to retrieve from the limb of a tree. A delicious supper awaited the young people on their return and the latter part of the evening was spent in playing games. The young people participating in this lively party were Lawrence and Virginia Goodell, Louise and Kenneth Compton, Lawrence Clarke, T. J. FOUNDER'S DAY

Founder's Day was delightfully celebrated by the P. E. O. Sisterhood at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Fred Cole last Friday afternoon with an old-fashioned party. Seven members were gowned in period costumes representing the seven founders of the organization, which dates back to January 1869. These members, Mesdames C. E. Mann, J. H. Jackson, R. L. Paris, Chester Russell, and Ralph Shugart and the Misses Ruth Morgan and Merrill Bradley, presented an interesting little playlet, which featured the second meeting of the P. E. O., which is really the oldest exclusively women's organization unattached to any organization of men.

Following the play the hostess served lovely refreshments.

CALIFORNIA SURGEONS DISCOVER THE CURE FOR CANCER--REPORT

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Discovery by two San Francisco surgeons of what they called a "cancer killing serum" was disclosed Tuesday when it became known that medical agencies of the University of California had decided to cooperate in further experiments with the substance.

The originators, Dr. Walter Bernard Coffey, chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific hospital here, and Dr. John D. Humber, his colleague, specified that the serum was not to be regarded as a cancer cure but asserted that it was able to kill cancerous tissues. Dr. Coffey said it produced "striking results" in one case.

Dr. Karl Meyer, director of the Hooper Foundation of the University of California, described the discovery as "the most notable advance made in the field of cancer research" and as being "of the utmost possible importance."

Dr. John Gallwey, prominent San Francisco surgeon said that the serum had "proved itself potent in killing malignant tissues," but that at this stage it would be inadvisable to hail it as a cancer cure.

C. E. MANN, Chairman
Attest: THELMA T. LUSK, Clerk.

Sweet clover is much more liable to make a good stand if unhulled or unscarified seed is used. It should be sown on a firm seedbed very early in the season.

It is estimated that one-third of the dairy cows in the U. S. are kept at a loss, about one-third return little or no profit, and only one-third yield large profits. Close culling, proper feeding, and good breeding are the things that build up a dairy herd.

In some sections of the country pregnant cows are affected by the lack of iodine in the ration. This deficiency produces goiter, or big neck, in the calves at birth. Iodine can be effectively supplied by sprinkling on the feed of the pregnant cow once each week a tablespoon of a 5 per cent solution of potassium or sodium iodide.

Far more important than to kill weeds on the farm is to avoid having weeds to kill. A farm can be kept almost free of weeds by strictly observing these three rules: prevent weeds from going to seed on the farm; prevent weed seeds from being brought to the farm and in case of perennial weeds, prevent them from making top growth, so that the underground parts will finally be starved out.

Grain mixtures for dairy cows should be sufficiently palatable so that every cow will consume as much as is required for highest milk production. Fortunately, little difficulty is ordinarily encountered in this respect as most concentrates of good quality are palatable. Among these are corn, oats, bran, beet pulp, and oil meals. Velvet beans, rye, coconut by-products and some of the other uncommodities are lacking in palatability. Such feeds sometimes are eaten more readily and completely when mixed with molasses.

Some feeds when moistened become pasty, in which condition the digestive juices can not readily act on them. Combine such feeds with more bulky ones in order to prevent this condition. The best feeds for this purpose are wheat bran and ground oats. If the grain ration contains one-third to one-half of either or both of these two feeds it will not stick together when wet. Dried beet pulp or a ground roughage also may be used. In some cases the concentrates are mixed with the silage at feeding time. Cobs are sometimes ground with the corn in order to provide bulk to the grain ration. Although the cobs do serve this purpose they add very little nutriment.

MAY EXTEND OIL PERMITS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant extensions of time on oil and gas prospects permits in meritorious cases under a bill by the late Senator Warren of Wyoming, which has been passed by the house and sent to the president.

The house committee on public lands incorporated in its report a letter from Secretary Wilbur denominating "relief in some form for meritorious cases as desirable."

John Deere GP Tractor Cultivator doing good work in small cotton, four rows at a time

THE CHANCE YOU'VE WAITED FOR . . . to get a General Purpose Wide-Tread Tractor with Special One-Man Equipment.

THE tractor you have waited for is here—the new John Deere General Purpose Wide-Tread with its special one-man equipment for the South.

Because it includes new developments of utmost importance to every farmer in this section of the country, you will want to see it at your very first opportunity.

With this equipment one man can now plant and cultivate two or four rows and do it easier, better, and faster than ever before. Eighteen to twenty-five acres a day with the two-row outfit, thirty-five to forty-five acres with the four-row outfit—that is the big daily capacity you can expect.

And you'll be surprised how little work there is. Driving the tractor is about all. No levers to operate.

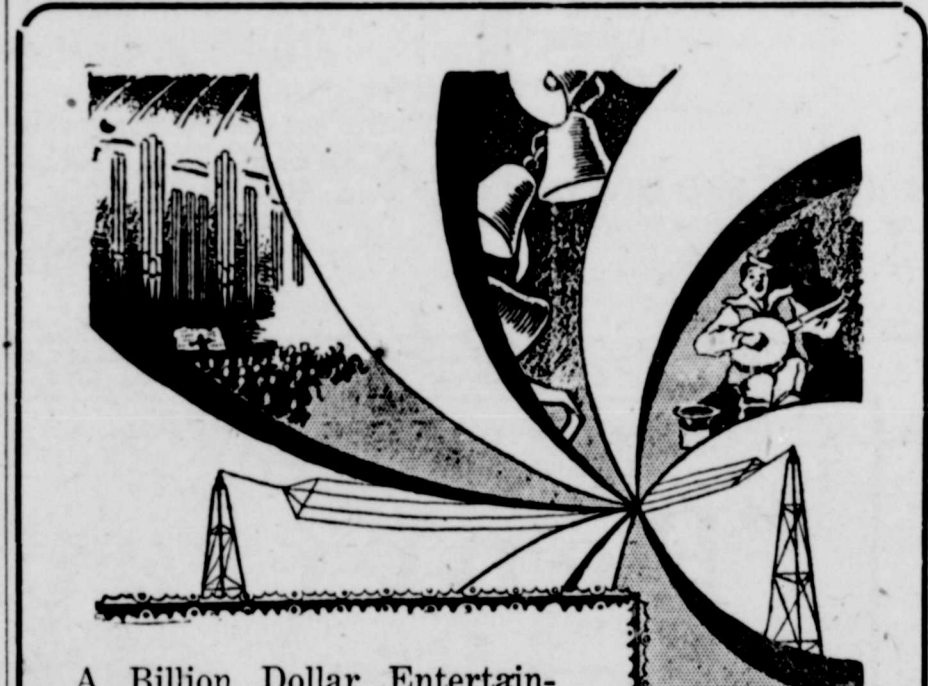

Plants Four Rows at a Time—simply press a pedal to raise or lower the planter beams or the cultivator rigs. THE POWER LIFT DOES THE WORK.

Another important feature of this equipment is the ability to secure the desired even depth of planting and cultivating in fields that are uneven, and automatically maintain it. Independent gauge wheels control the depth of each rig or runner.

You can plant in rows 36" or 38" apart—an advantage that many cotton farmers want.

You can't really appreciate this new and better equipment until you know all about it. Come in now and get the facts.

STRENGTH

Trees grow slowly, but they grow exceedingly well—hence their strength. And thus must an industry grow if it would become strong. The tree adds its annular rings of strength year by year. An industry must painstakingly strive for better products day by day. Every improvement is added strength.

Through our connection with The Home Builders Investment Company, we have added another annular ring of growth. We can now furnish you material for the building of or improvements on your home, just as you purchase an automobile or a radio—a small payment down and the balance in monthly installments.

We will be glad to explain our financing plan to you, and remember, nothing is too small. It applies to any building from a poultry house to a fine home.

A NEW AGE OF LUBRICATION BEGINS WITH THIS NEW MOTOR OIL CHARACTERISTIC:

"Penetrative Lubricity"*

CONOCO Alone Has this New Characteristic

Since the discovery of the wheel, lubrication has been a necessity and a problem. The first rude barrows which pre-historic men built, needed lubrication, and one of the brighter tribesmen began rubbing the axles of his primitive cart with raw animal meat.

With Watt's invention of the steam engine in 1763, metal-on-metal friction resulted. Then it was that animal and vegetable oil lubricants became definitely unsatisfactory. Their tendency to leave corrosive deposits ruled them out.

Mineral Oils Are Discovered
After the drilling of the first oil well in 1859, mineral oils became commercially successful. Because petroleum was plentiful and was free from gumming and corroding tendencies, it rapidly supplanted animal and vegetable oils. But since 1901 there have been practically no changes of fundamental importance in refining motor oils.

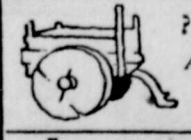

Now since 1901, think of the changes that have been made in motors! Probably the make of car you drive today was not even manufactured in 1901. Certainly its needs for oils are far more exacting!

The Development of Germ Process
Foreseeing that ordinary mineral oils would eventually fail to meet the increasing strains put upon them, Wells and Southcombe, two British scientists began a study of the problem which occupied 16 years. The result of their efforts was the isolation of the Germ Essence—a property that provides increased "oiliness" when introduced into mineral oils. These processes were patented and Continental acquired them exclusively for North America. Thus Continental brings you the first and only fundamentally better oil of the century!

Germ Process and Penetrative Lubricity
The Germ Process adds one startling characteristic to CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oils. It enables them to penetrate metal surfaces! This means that an enduring oil film actually penetrates all working parts and clings under all conditions. In starting when 40% to 60% of motor wear occurs . . . in speeding when any failure of the film is fatal to motor life, remember this—the permanence of this film precludes any possibility of metal abrasion. The germ-essence naturally adds greater "oiliness" and we call that lubricity. So we have Penetrative Lubricity as the outstanding characteristic of this new oil.

When will you begin using CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil?

THE FOUR AGES OF LUBRICATION

 ? Years B. C. to 1763 Animal Fats for Wood-on-Wood Friction	 1763 to 1859 Vegetable Oils and Animal Fats for Metal-on-Metal Friction
 1859 to 1918 Petroleum discovered and used—not as "oil," but does not corrode	 GERM-PROCESSED OILS 1929 The first fundamentally better oil of the Century!

* Means—Slipperiness, smoothness, freedom from friction; also the property that diminishes friction, as the lubricity of oil, coupled with the unique ability to penetrate metal surfaces.

Is Your Business

Good ?

The answer to this question is of the greatest importance to us.

If the business of the community is prosperous, we are prosperous. If prosperity is lacking, we are the first to feel it.

The electric light and power industry representatives assured President Hoover that its program of improvements and extensions for this year is bigger than that of any previous year. It believes that the commerce and industry of the United States will march steadily forward.

There will be no recession in the capital expenditures required to meet the constantly increasing demand for electric service.

RENTS AND ROYALTIES ON FEDERAL OIL LANDS IN NEW MEXICO GROW

SANTA FE—Total rent and royalties accrued on federal lands in New Mexico totaled $50,978.45 during the year 1929, according to a report received by Governor R. C. Dillon from the Geological Survey of the Department of Interior at Washington.

On federal lands in the state during the year there was produced 158,202 barrels of oil; 253,924,000 cubic feet of natural gas; 3,729 gallons natural gas gasoline; 84,441.64 tons of coal.

The conservation branch examined ten tracts for agricultural classification, continued through the geologic branch detailed examinations in McKinley and Sandoval counties for coal classification, supervised on public land 8 leases and 3,601 prospecting permits for oil and gas, 16 leases and 64 prospecting permits for potassium, and 5 prospecting permits for sodium, supervision on Indian land 57 oil and gas leases, made technical investigation and report on one coal mining operation in each of the northern Navajo, eastern Navajo and Zuni reservations.

The geologic survey continued its search for potash in the permian salt basin of southwestern New Mexico and western Texas under the direction of W. B. Lang with offices at Roswell. Mr. Lang kept in close touch with drilling operations in the territory and so far as was possible obtained samples for potash testing from all wells being drilled in the area. He also obtained for study by the geological survey portions of cores from special tests for potash made in Eddy county by two private companies.

Four sites have been recommended in Eddy, Lea and Chaves counties for government tests to be made during 1930 under the supervision of the bureau of mines. Mr. Vanderbilt who assisted Mr. Lang has started a structure map of the southeastern New Mexico area showing the top of the salt series.

MAD MEXICAN SHOOTS WIFE—NOT FATAL

Becoming violently insane at his home at the Earl Donaldson farm south of Loving Saturday morning, Alijandro Sigali shot his wife close to the right eye. The bullet made exit after penetrating about an inch of flesh and bone. It was not believed that the wound was serious.

Mrs. Sigali said that her husband had been acting strangely for a week and that he had threatened to kill himself. She said that Saturday morning he left the house, returning with a .22 calibre rifle, poked it through the doorway and fired. Then she said he tried to kill their child, which she shielded with her body as her husband's brother, Pedro Sigali, overpowered the crazed man.

Alijandro Sigali continued in violent condition on his arrival in Carlsbad. He was put in the padded cell in the jail and there tore the clothing from himself.—Current-Argus.

THRIFT TO BE BENEFICIAL MUST BE VOLUNTARY—NOT UNDER COERCION

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

The practices of thrift should be undertaken voluntarily. Seldom if ever is good accomplished when efforts are made to compel others to be thrifty. The only approach to thrift is educational. Those who are to profit by adherence to this simple virtue must first be convinced in their own minds that it is essential to their welfare and progress.

There are many devices now being made use of to encourage thrift. Where these are inspirational they will bring results. But no good will come of efforts to force habits of thrift on others.

The executive heads of a large business organization, believing they were doing their employees a favor, made an arbitrary arrangement by which a certain percentage of each person's salary was to be withheld for saving purposes.

Although the plan was originated with the best motives, it proved unsuccessful. The apparent paternalistic attitude was resented by the rank and file of the organization. Later, the plan was discarded and a voluntary arrangement was substituted. Each person on the payroll of the concern was then permitted to order a certain percentage of his salary withheld. These savings were administered by the company's officials and the plan developed into a great success.

Even in school savings bank work, loud protests frequently are provoked when efforts are made to COMPEL the children to deposit certain fixed amounts.

The practices of thrift include a considerable amount of discipline and sacrifice. Most of us are willing to undergo these severities when self-imposed but we rebel when efforts are made by others to compel us to submit to them.

These are timely suggestions because around the beginning of each year much thought is given to the development of thrift societies and organized savings work. It should be borne in mind that all such activities will succeed only when their impulses are inspirational.

FIFTYTHREE BAPTISTS ATTEND MONTEZUMA BANQUET HERE THURS.

Fifty-three Baptists of southeastern New Mexico met at a banquet table in the roof garden of the Artesia Hotel in Artesia last Thursday evening, January 16th for the purpose of organizing a permanent committee to further the interests of Montezuma College, located at Las Vegas.

The night was cold and stormy, with flurries of snow, and the mercury standing near the zero mark. Despite the menace of cold, one car of earnest laymen came eighty-three miles from Lovington. Other automobiles made the trip from Hope, Carlsbad, Lake Arthur, Hagerman and Roswell.

Between the courses, delightful musical number were given, both instrumental and vocal. The main inspirational address of the evening were brought by Rev. C. W. Stumph, corresponding secretary of the Baptist convention of New Mexico, E. W. Provence, president of Montezuma College and Dr. T. V. Neal, pastor of the First Baptist Church of El Paso.

Rev. Stumph made an introductory address, presenting Mr. Provence as president of Montezuma. Mr. Provence came to Montezuma from Lubbock. He was business manager at Baylor University in Waco for fifteen years. His talk brought vividly before the eyes of the listeners the picture of the beautiful college building, campus and student life with its sacrifices, its ideals and its spirit, revealing an indomitable spirit of optimism in regard to the future awaiting the school. At the conclusion of his address, he introduced the main speaker for the evening, Dr. Neal, program manager for the campaign.

The address of Dr. Neal was impassioned and inspiring. He seemed animated by a great zeal for the message he delivered.

Mr. Neal in speaking of the new hotel recently completed, paid tribute to Artesia in the following terms: "I congratulate this splendid little city on this great new enterprise—this magnificent new hotel. It will prove a great benefit to this entire southeastern portion of New Mexico."

Then growing into his subject for the evening, Dr. Neal discussed the need of a christian college in the state, its problems, its challenge. Speaking of the need for western christian educational centers, created and endowed by the contingent citizenship, he said, "I lay this down as fundamental—when better western institutions are built, western people will build them."

Leading up to the main topic for discussion, Dr. Neal told of the other educational institutions and their successful combat, mentioning Leland Stanford University, Columbia, Yale and Howard College.

Then the following program was outlined for Montezuma: In a campaign for securing $100,000 for improvements and building at the college, the state was to be divided into seven districts, these districts to be under the direction of different men elected by the gathering. This campaign would be made among the citizens of New Mexico.

Following Mr. Neal's address, with Rev. Julian Atwood of Roswell, temporary chairman of the committee presiding, the following executive committee was elected: Chairman, J. B. Leck, Carlsbad; vice-chairman, C. C. Cagle, Roswell, and secretary, Miss Madge Brown, of Carlsbad.

The members of the general committee as elected were: J. B. Savage, Roswell; W. L. Greebon, Hobbs; Martin Yates, Artesia; Archie Nelson, Carlsbad; H. L. Groner, Lovington. Four members of this committee are still to be selected.

This program will be a monumental step in the building of Montezuma College in New Mexico, an institution, of the Southern Baptist convention, founded in the interest of consecrated education of young men and women.

Those attending the banquet and meeting were: From Artesia—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ransbarger, Wallace Goodwin, Mrs. J. R. Attebery, Chas. McNeil, Lillian McNeil, Ora Briscoe, Dora Hailley, Mrs. C. E. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Muney, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Deane, R. N. Russell, L. G. Monschke, B. A. Bishop, Mrs. B. A. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cole, Floyd Young, Rev. R. Peterson, Fred Cole, Wm. Daugherty, Mrs. George Beal and Mrs. W. C. Brown.

From Roswell—Mr. Kuykendall, W. W. McKnight, Rev. Julian Atwood, D. J. Shrencongost, E. A. Herron, C. C. Cagle, C. J. Stillwell, E. C. White, F. S. Smullins, H. T. Hunter, Earl McDowell, J. B. Savage.

TWENTY EIGHT NEW FEATURES FOUND IN THE PLYMOUTH MODELS

"Twenty-eight improvements are contained in the car with which Plymouth enters the new year," says A. vanDerZee, general sales manager of the Plymouth Motor Corporation. "Among these improvements are features that are entirely exclusive to cars in the Plymouth price class. The exceptional value that the present model represents is the result of the successful carrying out of the program of continuous improvement established for Chrysler Motors' low-priced quality car."

"The improvements that have been put into the new models now presented include increased power, more speed, faster acceleration, greater climbing ability, roomier bodies, more distinctive lines and more comfort. These features represent twelve months' continuous effort towards increased quality and performance by the Chrysler engineering staff," Mr. vanDerZee says, and continues:

"The Plymouth engine has been given longer connecting rods; a heavier crankshaft; larger crankshaft bearings; a more efficient exhaust manifold; an improved carburetor and a gasoline filter—all the direct result of ascertaining just how the car could be made a better automobile for the already extremely low price fixed for it. Weatherproof, non-leaking ignition cables, as well as an improved, moisture-resisting distributor head are now standard on Plymouth."

"Plymouth drivers find a faster acceleration and a more efficient muffler on their cars. Bodies are stronger and sturdier and are equipped with heavy wheels. Larger, more attractive hub-caps have made their appearance and the safety factor has been stressed by a heavier parking brake. Plymouth is the only car in the low priced field equipped with self-equalizing, hydraulic four-wheel brakes."

"The re-designed springs have added resiliency, while other improvements include a 19-inch base wheel; improved speedometer; a heavier, more rigid frame; improved headlamps; manually-operated starter and the application of bondrite to all enameled parts, thus eliminating possibility of rust."

"The full-size, big-car type of body for which Plymouth has become famous has been made even roomier than it was originally."

"One of the reasons why these improvements have been made possible is the increased production that growing sales of the car have demanded. The Plymouth car is not 'built down to a price' but, on the contrary, is built up to the quality standards demanded by car buyers. This results in giving steadily in-

BIG GAME SEASON WILL NOT BE CHANGED SAYS REPORT FROM SANTA FE

SANTA FE—Suggestions that the big game season be changed failed to strike a popular chord at the game conference in the senate chamber Tuesday. There was no formal action. However, most of those who spoke appeared to favor "letting well enough alone."

The dates now in force, November 10 to 20, seem to be the only neutral ground on which the north and south sides of the state can meet. If the season is advanced, the southern sportsmen say the meat will rot, and if it is made later, the northern hunters say the snow will be too deep on the mountains.

"How about a split season?" queried State Game Warden Edgar L. Perry, who presided at the afternoon session.

"We tried that plan once," replied Fred Sherman, Deming president of the State G. P. A. "It wasn't satisfactory and didn't last long."

Mr. Sherman remarked that if the season were split it would be possible for a man to get his deer in the northern part of the state, then go into the southern part when the season opened there and get another.

The state game warden did not believe there would be much trouble from that source. The law allows only one deer, he pointed out.

cotton growers will soon have the same difficulty. The present in growing cotton is a serious one. Large measure to the fact that land is new to this plant.

Feeding Sheep

For the farmer, who has a number of livestock around to feed sheep is suggested a profitable income. Feeding of steers has not been so profitable owing to the present price of cattle. Sheep will provide a market for the surplus feed. Feed raised on the farm is a section has not been a popular crop, because there is a limited market. ROBT. N. MILLER FORMER RESIDENT OF HAGERMAN DEAD AT LUBBOCK

Hagerman people were shocked Saturday night to learn of the death of one of its pioneer and best loved residents, Robert (Bob) Miller, who succumbed to a heart attack at his home in Lubbock, Texas, Saturday afternoon at a 5:00 o'clock.

Mr. Miller was for several years in the mercantile business here having lived in the community for thirty years. His wide acquaintance up and down the valley had won friends by the hundreds who mourn his passing.

For the past year he had made his home in Lubbock, Texas, where he was manager of the Union Stage Depot, having been transferred from Roswell.

At the time of his death, Mr. Miller was 52 years of age. He was born in Arkansas in 1877. He is survived by his widow, four children, two sons, Harold, of Hagerman, and Victor, of Albuquerque, and two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Vietch, of Albuquerque, and Marjorie, of Lubbock. He also leaves two brothers, Bert Miller, of California, and E. C. Miller, of Texas.

The death of his father comes as a second bereavement in less than three weeks to Victor Miller, who lost his wife, Mrs. Hazel P. Miller at Albuquerque, December 31, dying of pneumonia following an attack of influenza.

Robert Miller was a teacher for many years of the Men's Bible class at the Christian church. He was a sincere and fluent teacher and an earnest worker in that church.

He was an active member of several lodges, one of which, the New Mexico Odd Fellows Grand Lodge, had charge of the services at the grave. He had held important offices in these lodges, as past grand master for New Mexico of the Odd Fellows; past grand patriarch of the grand encampment, and past grand representative of the Odd Fellows Sovereign Grand Lodge. He was also past grand patron of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services were held in the Christian church at Hagerman Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with Rev. C. C. Hill in charge of the services. There were about five hundred people in attendance with about one hundred cars making up the procession to the grave. The church was packed to capacity, and a large crowd stood outside, unable to get inside. There were beautiful floral offerings with seventy-five sprays of flowers sent by friends. Rev. Hill preached a comforting message upon the theme, "Look Above."

Interment was made in Hagerman cemetery. C. G. Mason was in charge of funeral arrangements.

FRED BRAINARD IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Plans Made To Stimulate Interest In The Work Of The Organization—Hold General Meet Once Each Month.

Fred Brainard has been chosen to pilot the Artesia Chamber of Commerce for the ensuing year. Election of officers took place at a call meeting of the board of directors held in the office of J. S. Ward, manager, Monday evening. New officers of the organization includes: Fred Brainard, president; Martin Yates, vice-president; Dr. J. J. Clarke, secretary and J. S. Ward treasurer. Mr. Ward will also act as manager until his present term of office expires in March.

The matter of employing a full time manager or secretary will be thrashed out as soon as a survey has been made of the community to ascertain the amount of funds that can be secured. Before the directors fully decided whether or not a full time manager will be employed, it was deemed expedient to have the membership committee at least make a preliminary survey of the community to determine whether or not the public will lend the proposition their support.

In announcing some of the plans of the organization for the coming year, President Brainard made it plain that the Chamber of Commerce desired the full cooperation of the townspeople and the farmers. "If the farmers have any problems, bring them to the Chamber of Commerce, we shall be glad to assist in any way possible," Mr. Brainard said.

In order to increase the interest in the affairs of the Chamber of Commerce, plans have been made to hold a directors meeting at least twice a month on the first and third Mondays in each month and a general meeting on the second Monday of each month.

There are twelve outstanding committees to be appointed for the Chamber of Commerce work this year. The personnel of two committees was made known yesterday by President Brainard. The membership committee is composed of Martin Yates, V. D. Bolton and Ike Keller. The good roads committee consists of Mark Corbin, Z. B. Moon and Martin Yates.

P. MILLER EXPLAINS PLAN OF FARM BOARD TO AID WOOL GROWERS

In an address before the Artesia Rotary club here Tuesday Prager Miller of Roswell, a representative of the federal farm board, explained briefly the proposals of the board as they affect the wool and live stock industries. According to Mr. Miller, who has recently returned from Washington, where he obtained the working plan of the board, the National Wool Marketing Association is set up and ready to make advances to wool growers, where a state organization has been perfected. Under these conditions the board will make a pre-shearing advance of $1.00 per head. Advances can now be made on wools against warehouse receipts up to 90 per cent of the estimated market price of the wool. Everything awaits a growers cooperative association, which is expected to be formed when the wool growers of the state meet at Albuquerque in February. The chief purpose of a national cooperative marketing association is to keep individual growers or buyers from competing against each other and running the price down, Mr. Miller explained. Every organization selling through the national agency will be required to purchase a percentage of the stock. The federal farm board has loaned the National Wool Marketing Association $1,000,000, which has been used to buy stock and set up the necessary units for the credit corporation.

Plans have also been made to extend aid to the livestock industry through the intermediate credit banks which will enable the stockmen to obtain a twelve months loan on their livestock.

MONOXIDE GAS ALMOST FATAL TO MRS. C. R. BLOCKER ON TUESDAY

Carbon monoxide gas, which developed from a faulty vent in a gas furnace at the home of C. R. Blocker on West Main street, almost proved fatal to Mrs. C. R. Blocker Tuesday evening. Occupants of the Blocker home had complained of a headache, evidently caused from the gas, but the fumes had caused no serious results until Tuesday, when Mrs. Blocker was found in an unconscious condition by a neighbor, Miss Ella Bauslin, who called a physician and went for help. Upon the arrival of the attending physician, Dr. H. A. Stroup and Mrs. I. C. Keller, both were almost overcome by the deadly fumes. Mrs. Keller later had to be removed to her home. More aid was summoned and Mrs. Blocker was carried to the home of Mrs. Rex Wheatley, where she improved sufficiently to regain consciousness within a few hours and is resting well at this time.

DIVERSIFICATION OF CROPS PAYS IN PECOS VALLEY SAYS BRAINARD

G. R. Brainard, a leading farmer of the Artesia section has proved that it pays to diversify, even though a recent experiment was made under adverse conditions. In Mr. Brainard's case it is demonstrated that it is possible for a farmer to capitalize his misfortunes. On June 10th 1929, Mr. Brainard had 150 acres of cotton baled out. Knowing that late cotton did not always prove profitable he consulted W. A. Wunsch, of Carlsbad, who was at that time acting as county agent. Mr. Wunsch advised a diversified crop and on June 15th, Mr. Brainard started replanting. He planted 80 acres of hegar; 30 acres in beans; 10 acres in Indian corn; 16 acres of cotton and 12 acres of cane. The cane was the last crop planted. Thus all of the cotton ground was replanted except about 2 acres.

All of the crops have been gathered and ready to market, except a few bushels of beans which remains to be thrashed.

Because of the late planting some of the crops were grown under adverse conditions. The beans were neither irrigated nor cultivated after they were planted. Ten acres of the beans were classed as poor. From the remaining 20 acres a yield of 700 pounds to the acre was secured. Mr. Brainard plans to market part of the crop at the present market price which is seven cents per pound. The remainder he will hold until spring and hopes to secure a better price. At the present market value, the bean crop could be figured at $780.00.

From the 80 acres of hegar, he secured between 350 and 400 tons of roughage. The present price of the hegar in the bundle would net $12.50 per ton, however, Mr. Brainard created a home market for part of his produce, when he purchased 350 head of old ewes several months ago. He estimates that it will take 75 tons of hegar to feed the ewes and fall lambs until market time next spring. About $1,000 worth of hegar will be fed to the sheep and the profit on the feed will of course depend on the price of the sheep next spring. At the present market price, the hegar could be estimated at $5,000.

Owing to the late season of planting the corn yield did not come up to expectations, but made a turn out of ten tons, valued at $25.00 per ton or a total value of $250.00. The ten acres of cane made about the same cash return or 25 tons at $10.00 per ton.

From the 16 acres of cotton, he gathered four bales of fairly good staple cotton and four bales of bolies. The cotton patch made a gross return of $660.

The gross cash return on the 148 acres could be estimated at $6,940 based on the present market value of the various commodities or a gross cash return of approximately $46.90 per acre.

THE GREATEST NEED

Diversification is one of the greatest needs of the Pecos valley farmers, Mr. Brainard believes and a number of prominent farmers concur with him in this view. M. W. Evans, acting for the state game and fish commission has recently closed a deal for the purchase of the Clark lake, located six miles north of Artesia. The purchase includes forty-five acres of ground. The lake proper covers about twenty-five acres, sufficient land adjoining the lake was included in the deal so as to permit a drive way around the lake. The sale also included a water right from an artesian well west of the Clark lake to supply the project with water when needed. According to Mr. Evans it is the plans of the department to install a small hatchery for the propagation of bass. The lake is well stocked with bass and blue gill at the present time, but there is also a quantity of carp. Efforts will be made to rid the waters of the carp and other undesirable fish either by poisoning the fish or pumping the lake dry.
