FUNERAL SERVICES FOR J. W. WILLIAMSON ARE HELD HERE SUNDAY

Funeral services for W. J. Williamson, 76, pioneer resident of the Artesia community, were held at the Baptist church, Sunday afternoon at 4:00 p. m. Rev. Peterson, pastor of the church, officiated. Services at the grave were in charge of the local Odd Fellows lodge, of which the deceased was a member of long standing. Interment was made in the Woodbine cemetery.

Mr. Williamson came to Artesia with his family in 1904. He operated a livery stable here for a number of years and was later engaged in the transfer and dray business. Three or four years ago he purchased a new and second hand store here and operated the store for as long as his health would permit. He made his home here intermittently for the past year until a short time before Christmas, at which time he established residence in El Paso. Mr. Williamson passed away Friday, at his home in El Paso. His death was said to have been the result of kidney trouble.

Mr. Williamson is survived by six children, three sons and three daughters: Mrs. B. A. Bishop, of Artesia, Mrs. Ethel James of El Paso, Texas, and Miss Jeanette Williamson of Santa Barbara, Cal.; Roy Williamson of El Paso, Edgar Williamson of El Paso and Rev. Sam Williamson of St. Joseph, Missouri.

Among the out of town relatives attending the funeral of Mr. Williamson included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Williamson of El Paso, Miss Jeanette Williamson, of Santa Barbara, California, Mrs. James of El Paso and son, Paul, of Pecos, Texas; Rev. Sam Williamson of St. Joseph was unable to be present.

MOUNTAIN GOOD WILL TOUR WILL BE MADE JUNE 18TH AND 19TH

Plans have been made to stage the second annual mountain good will tour on June 18 and 19. Last year Artesia business men made the first trip of this nature over the new highway west as far as Cloudfroft and visited six or seven communities in the Sacramento. While the date of the coming trip is tentative, any change which may occur will be announced at the next regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Monday evening, May 12. The west-ern excursion will be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and will be under the direction of the manager. Announcement of the coming event is made at this time so that Artesia business men will have an opportunity to purchase favors for distribution, if they care to do so.

Communities to be visited during the two day excursion includes Hope, Elk, Mayhill, Cloudfroft, Weed, Avis, Pinon and Dunken.

VALLEY TO PROTEST DIVERSION OF WATER FROM EASTERN SLOPE

Meetings Held In Various Communities To Form An Organization — Roswell Delegation Spends Short Time Here.

Announcement was made at Roswell Monday that arrangements were being perfected for meetings in various points of the Pecos valley to consider details of the formation of a water association. Sponsors of the move expect to hold a meeting here and at Carlsbad the latter part of the week. The chief purpose of the organization is to oppose any further diversion of waters from the eastern water shed. Continued diversion of water from this water shed will mean a depleted water supply for the valley and numbers of residents of the valley communities are interested enough in the water situation to appreciate what a diversion of mountain waters will mean and have proposed an association for the protection of the communities.

Messrs. E. A. Cahoon, Ross Malone, Dan Wilmont and G. C. Cummins of Roswell met with a number of citizens here this morning to discuss ways and means of forming an organization, which would be formed for the purpose of protesting the action of the Southern Pacific railroad in diverting the waters of the Bonita and Ruidoso from the eastern water shed. Preliminaries have been made for the formation of a valley wide association. The necessary steps of forming this association so far as they affect the community will be made through the Chamber of Commerce, it was indicated at this morning's meeting. It is likely that a committee from the Artesia, Roswell and Carlsbad Chambers of Commerce, will be called upon to work out a plan of action. The Roswell delegation left for Carlsbad after holding a short session here and will discuss the matter with Carlsbad citizens.

Hammond and Adkins are keeping the premises of their dairy plant spic and span and will welcome a public inspection at any time. They are now making delivery with grade A bottle caps. See their announcement in this issue.

GET ELECTION RETURNS. AT ADVOCATE OFFICE

The management of the Advocate takes this opportunity to invite those who may be interested in the returns from the democratic primary, Tuesday evening, to be our guests at this time. We are planning to give the returns as rapidly as they are available. Tabulations from the various precinct will be placed on a specially constructed board which will be lighted, so that all may be given the returns as soon as the counting from any one box may be completed.

Indications point to the fact that a comparatively heavy vote may be expected. Several contests have developed interest during the last few days of the present campaign. Don't forget the date of the returns, Thursday, May 15th, beginning about 7:30 p. m.

H. C. Holcomb, watchman at McMillan dam at Lakewood, was trading in town Saturday.

PROPERTY SHOULD BE ASSESSED FOR 100 PER CENT OF VALUATION

SANTA FE—Revise property assessments upward, orders the state tax commission in a mandate sent out yesterday to the county boards of equalization, where the county boards of appraisal are found to have made assessments on a percentage basis.

In some counties, the commission says, there is an impression that the tax commission has authorized assessments on a basis of 50 to 60 per cent. That is erroneous. The commission is insisting on actual values.

WELL SUPERVISOR PROMOTED

Arthur F. Brown, artesian well supervisor, who has been stationed at Roswell for several months, has resigned his position to accept a place with the department of commerce at Washington, D. C., according to an announcement made here yesterday by State Engineer Herbert W. Yeo, of Santa Fe. A successor to Mr. Brown has not been named yet. Mr. Yeo spent a few hours here yesterday looking into the artesian water situation. He states that the water level is higher at this time than usual.

COTTON UP

Practically all farmers in the middle valley report that they have been able to secure a good stand of cotton. A uniform stand has been secured in practically all sections, with a few exceptions. Farmers ordinarily do not welcome any rain during the planting season, but rains during the past ten days have not been heavy enough to bake the soil, so that cotton could not come through the ground. The majority of the farmers have found it necessary to scratch the cotton fields in order to get a stand.

MANY VISIT DR. PEPPER PLANT

Numbers of local folks took an opportunity to visit the Dr. Pepper bottling plant, recently completed on South First street, on the occasion of its formal opening Saturday afternoon. On Friday, J. A. Stack, of Dallas, Texas, inspector for the Dr. Pepper Co., inspected the local plant and pronounced it one of the most up-to-date plants to be found in the southwest.

A. P. Mahone, manager, has expressed his gratification for the general public interest and response in the new enterprise. Business has started off in an auspicious way, Mr. Mahone states.

Prizes in the Coming Civic Contest Will Total $75.00

Date Of Registration Will Close On June 15th—Cut Flower Exhibits To Be On Wednesday Of Each Week.

Plans were completed Tuesday for holding the third annual City Beautiful Contest. Last year this was known as the Yard and Garden contest, but owing to the fact the local organization is no longer connected with the national association, it was decided that the name, "City Beautiful," was more appropriate. Prizes totaling $75.00 will be awarded in two principal sections of the contest. Prize money will be paid from the Chamber of Commerce budget, which will eliminate soliciting funds from the business men. The first division of the contest, known as the home beautiful, will carry prizes aggregating $47.50, while the prizes in the floral display will total $27.50.

The principal objective of the contest is to encourage more civic pride. The awards total less than last year, but the general committee felt that the pride of the citizenship has increased sufficiently to more than offset any decrease in interest, which might follow as a result of smaller prizes. Sponsors of the City Beautiful Contest do not wish to foster any effort to commercialize the coming event and hope that registration in all events this year will be greater than ever. Even though you do not win a prize, the improvement around the premises of the home, whether rented or owned will more than repay the individual for all efforts put forth.

Registration in all events must be made on or before June 15th. No awards or mention will be made of the entries that are not registered. Contestants wishing to register, may do so at the Chamber of Commerce office or by calling any member of the general committee, which is composed of three members of the Women's club and three from the Chamber of Commerce. The personnel of the committee includes: Mesdames J. M. Story, J. J. Clarke and C. R. Blocker and Messrs. L. N. Kremer, Fred Brainard and Dr. Russell.

Only one prize will be awarded to an individual, but special mention will be made if a person wins more than one entry. All cut flower displays must be exhibited three times during the season, the contest to continue throughout the growing season. For the present cut flower exhibits may be made at the Southern Club cafe.

Cut flower exhibits should be made Wednesday of each week.

The committee is especially anxious to have as many entries as possible. (Continued on last page, column 3)

FINE PAIR FOR BLOWING UP FISH IN THE PECOS

M. O. Drisco and P. W. Malone have been fined 50 each plus costs for dynamiting fish in the Pecos river below Carlsbad, State Game Warden Edgar L. Perry reported.

There has been considerable dynamiting in that section of the state Perry said, but it has been hard to catch the dynamiters.

THE P. V. ORCHESTRA PROGRAM FRIDAY WAS WELL RECEIVED HERE

The programs of the Pecos Valley orchestra given here and at Roswell created much interest and drew unusually large crowds. The Central school auditorium Friday evening was filled to overflowing. One of the features of Friday evening's concert was the appearance of the Artesia Girl's Glee club. A number of local people drove to Roswell Sunday to witness the presentation of the fifth annual Pecos Valley national music week program.

INDIVIDUALITY

Sir Henry Detering, head of the Royal Dutch Shell Oil Co., a recent visitor in Los Angeles, California, declared that the independent oil producer had no business to exist or words to that effect, according to the Los Angeles Times. Such misguided conceptions of modern business methods and ethics is one of the things that is causing friction in the oil industry and one which will cause trouble until a few of the heads of the major companies see the light. American business has been founded on individuality, a factor that has been largely responsible for our present business expansion. Cut out the individuality and there would be little or no incentive for the ordinary individual to go ahead.

In the same article Sir Henry admits that individualism makes the world go round. He further admits that where ever a man's money is, there is where his heart is also, at least Sir Henry thinks so, which perhaps explains his friendly attitude for the United States.

THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY

Voters who go into the democratic primary this year will pledge that they are a democrat and will support the democratic nominee in the general election. This is one of the principal changes adopted by the central committee meeting at Carlsbad several weeks ago and one that has been overlooked by a large number of voters. Whether the new regulation will make material difference in the number of votes cast remains to be seen. This regulation was adopted long ago by most localities that hold a democratic primary.

Press reports from Santa Fe say that the state's taxable wealth will be increased considerable under the new tax law. We have yet to hear anybody worrying over the surplus that the new taxable wealth will bring the state. It is a pretty easy matter to raise the tax rate or increase the rate of taxable property, but a difficult proposition to lower the amount of the individual's taxes, at least we have never heard of it being done.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

A few people continue to bemoan the fact that the good old days have passed. We often wonder just how much time is wasted in comparing the present time with yesterday. Wishing for the return of the ways of a quarter century ago, isn't going to set the clock back and even so, we would not want it done if it were possible. We can remember the time when a town of two or three thousand people had no paved streets, no sewers, a poor lighting system and a main street lined with hitching racks and swarming with flies. When one started anywhere, it took from three to four hours to drive fifteen or twenty miles and often in the hot sun at that.

Only the well to do families afforded such a luxury as a horse and carriage. The rest walked or stayed at home. There was no such thing as piling the kids in the back end of the flivver and going for a day's outing a hundred or so miles away. Time was usually spent in visiting (and we'll admit that a little more visiting would do the modern folks some good).

Few read newspapers and magazines, while the majority in the poorer districts depended on mouth to mouth gossip.

Where were we during this time? We were out in the brush, living close to nature and skimming wiggly tails from a west Texas tank for drinking water.

BOOMS

A community revival is not necessarily dependent upon the wholesale selling of lots.

A town can boom when there is shown a more cooperative spirit to boost all things and hold fast that which is good.

A town can boom when its forces of education, culture and morality bear fruit in well-doing.

A town can boom when business is placed on a fair level competition, when greater service is rendered, and a more thorough method is used to establish growing patronage.

A town can boom when there are more get-together meetings, more neighborliness and more genuine friendship backed up by deeds as well as words.

A town can boom when it takes on a cleaner aspect; when paint, soap, broom and mop are applied to its physical properties and a cleansing of the hearts of its people takes place as well.

A town can boom when orderly society is recognized, and when greater opportunities are given to its people in the enjoyment of their material and spiritual blessings; when its institutions are supported by its own people who are consciously active to prove their loyalty.

FISH DYNAMITERS

One of the worst pests, sportsmen of eastern New Mexico have to deal with is the fellow who will slip around and dynamite a hole of water to catch a few fish. Hundreds of smaller fish are killed in order to get hold of a few larger ones. There is nothing sportsman like in dynamiting a hole of water. It has been one of the chief factors in depleting the present supply of desirable fish in many places.

Officers have managed to catch a few offenders, but the majority have escaped. When ever they are caught, little mercy should be shown them, they should be fined the limit.

IMAGES OF MEMORY

Dr. Crile, of Cleveland thinks that probably images of memory are electrical deposits on the brain.

Many observers, he said, have found that light falling upon the eye causes electrical energy to travel over the optic nerve. This he compared to the new "electric eye," the photoelectric effect. This same potassium is abundant, he said, in certain of the eye nerves, and could operate somewhat the same.

"We know what material the mechanism that holds the memory image must be," he went on, "for the brain consists of water, various compounds of potassium, sodium, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium and a group of highly-specialized fats. In other words, the brain consists of conductors and insulators."

VITAMINS ESSENTIAL FOR HEALTH IN DIET

People have become "vitamin conscious" as the advertisers would put it. They want to know whether a given food "contains vitamins." What they often fail to realize is that there are several different vitamins and that each has a different function in nutrition of the body, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Some foods are a good source of one vitamin and some of another, while a number of foods contribute more than one. If the home maker wants to give her family a diet containing enough of all the vitamins, she must know something about the function of each and the foods likely to supply it in sufficient amount. She can then see that these foods are included in her menus.

Vitamin A, for instance, is essential for growth, well-being at all ages, and successful reproduction. A deficiency of this vitamin leads to the weakening of the body tissues and increased susceptibility to bacterial infection. If laboratory animals are given a diet lacking in vitamin A, they develop infections of the eye and other parts of the body. It is thought that similar inflammatory and infective processes in the human body occur when there is a deficiency of vitamin A.

Fortunately, the body has the power of storing this vitamin to a considerable extent for future needs. An abundant supply of it in early life undoubtedly safeguards the body against later infection as well as provides for present requirements. This does not mean, however, that the need for vitamin A is confined to the young. Nursing mothers, especially, should have food containing vitamin A in abundance.

Milk and dairy products, eggs, liver and leafy vegetables are among the richest sources of vitamin A. Green or yellow vegetables are much richer in it than the corresponding white varieties. Thus, green lettuce is much richer than white, green asparagus than bleached and yellow corn than white. The bureau of home economics gives these foods as good sources of vitamin A; avocado, bananas, string beans, butter, carrots, cheese, codliver oil, dried cowpeas, cream dandelion and other greens, eggs, lentils, lettuce, liver, milk, peas, sweet potatoes, spinach, squash and tomatoes.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Sirups left over from cooking fruits or from canned fruit may be saved to sweeten punches and other fruit drinks.

Nutmeg on apple sauce should be used only when the sauce is to be eaten at once, if it stands it is likely to make the flavor bitter.

Before storing winter blankets, wash them, and put them away with naphthalene flakes between the folds. If they are wrapped in thick, heavy wrapping paper and tied with the ends turned in so no moths can get in to lay eggs, they will be safe from moth damage during the warm months.

Choose a bright warm sunny day for washing blankets. Use lukewarm washing and wringing water and neutral suds. Put the blanket through a loosely set wringer, and hang it out to dry with a quarter or half over the line. From time to time squeeze the excess water from the corners.

Intelligent reading of the labels on foods and an intelligent application of the information obtained in label reading would save the consumers of the nation millions of dollars a year and would promote the cause of truthful labeling of foods most effectively say officials of the Food and Drug Administration.

GAS TAX RETURNS $200,000 FOR APRIL

SANTA FE—The state gasoline tax totaled more than $200,000 last month Miss Mary Bartolino, assistant state comptroller, announced Friday. The figure was $201,118.19.

The increase was $48,780.69 over April 1929. No month has passed in the past three and a half years that the tax has not shown an increase over the corresponding month of the previous year.

The five-cent gasoline tax paid the state during April $201,118.19 and station license fees paid $604.50.

WINDSHIELD FOR RUMBLE SEAT

The Chrysler Imperial roadster has a windshield to protect occupants of the rumble seat. The windshield, of non-shatterable glass, is raised from the rear compartment deck. ## How to Raise Poultry

WHY EGGS ARE GOOD TO EAT

Whenever I have occasion to discuss the food value of eggs, I am reminded of a story told me some years ago by a New York social service ice worker. A group of children from the congested Bowery district were making their first visit to the country. One typical little gamin was asked how he liked the nice fresh country eggs. "Aw, dey ain't no good," was the reply.

"Why, what's wrong with them?"
he was asked.

"Well, explained the youngster,
"dey ain't got no smell and dey ain't got no taste!"

However desirable those two elements may be in most foods, most of us will be perfectly willing to dispense with them in eggs. There are, however, numerous other qualities of such value that we cannot afford to be without them. Practically all the elements which contribute to the building up of and maintaining a healthy condition of the human body are present in eggs. Statistics show that the American people consume but little over one-half an egg each per day per capita for all users.
This is not nearly enough. We should eat and use more eggs.

Compare them with beefsteak, for instance. At 40c a dozen, twelve eggs give you more food value, penny for penny, than a pound of steak at 45c, and don't forget there are no bones in the eggs. On a weight basis, eggs compete successfully with meat in almost every report. They have at least as great protein content, and are more valuable sources of iron than any meat except perhaps liver.

As for those much discussed but little understood food elements, the vitamines, eggs compare most favorably with other foods. Nobody knows what vitamines are, but what they can do is fairly well understood.
Weight for weight, eggs contain ten times as much vitamine A as milk. While it is true we use much more milk at a time than we do eggs their great vitamine A content makes them a valuable addition to milk. As vitamine A is credited by competent investigators with helping to prevent diseases of the lungs, the importance of eggs in the diet is readily appreciated. Eggs and milk have long played an important part in the diet of tubercular patients.

Eggs are quite as rich as milk in vitamine B. This member of that mysterious family is the one which aids bodily growth and gives protection against neuritic disorders. Getting on down the vitamine alphabet, we find eggs comparatively rich in vitamine D, the one which prevents rickets. Generally speaking, they have less value in this particular than cod liver oil. They contain quite enough of this element, however, to make them valuable substitutes for the oil for people whose stomachs refuse to retain it. A daily ration of egg yolks will prevent rickets and, in many cases, heal rickets that have already started.

Having justified our title in one sense by showing the value of eggs

OIL SUITS ARE FILED

SANTA FE—Two suits against holders of government leases who have failed to pay their rentals or have failed to pay their royalties were filed in district court here
Thursday by the United States.

The suits charge that George E.
and Eula Bobb, the Southern Union Indemnity Co., and F. W. and Betty Thompson are delinquent $10,084 in oil lease rentals. The government sues for that amount and asks that defendants be enjoined from removing oil rig and equipment from land under lease.

Michael Cronin, the Parker Oil and Gas Company, J. W. Stalcup, John Combs, Gus Bennett, Chas. Mar-
quard, C. F. Fulbright, J. Bookman and the Phillips Petroleum company are sued for $3,182 which the government charges is due in royalty fees, which Cronin should have paid.

The defendants are enjoined from moving rig and equipment from the land under lease.

Defendants in both cases are ordered to appear on June 9 and show cause why judgment should not be rendered as asked.

REDUCING ENGINE WEAR

Engine wear is saved by the multi-range four-speed transmission and gear shift of the Chrysler Imperial,
"77" and "70" models. The "77" engine makes only 2,568 revolutions a mile in the highest gear or "speed range." The average three speed transmission requires from 79 to 849 more revolutions per mile. In an average season's drive of 10,000 miles, 8,400,000 engine revolutions are saved, at great economy in fuel and depreciation.

ed to appear on June 9 and show
cause why judgment should not be
rendered as asked.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

The roof garden of the Artesia hotel was transformed into an enchanting Japanese garden for the Junior-Senior banquet which was held there last evening. Large Japanese lanterns covered all the ceiling lights and small lanterns obscured the small lights, giving a myriad of colors to the scene. The fan lights at the top of the windows were covered with papers, six different colors being used in the decorating. The spokes of the half-wheels were in black to more closely resemble a fan with a butterfly at the base. Hanging down over the windows were strings of vari-colored cherry blossoms. The table decorations were equally typical. Tiny Japanese parasols with the card attached marked the places and the nut cups were in pink and yellow. Myriads of balancing butterflies were attached to the nut cups, the petals of flowers and the edges of glasses giving a very charming effect. The programs were little colored fans, with one number on each leaf of the fan. The programs also carried out the Japanese idea. They were entitled "A Night In Japan," and were as follows:

The Mikado (toastmaster)..... T. J. Pollard
Fusiyama, (toast to Seniors)..... Wallace Gates Nihungi, (response by Seniors)..... Leon Clayton Duet—Clarinet and Trombone..... Thelma McCaw and Wayne Hornbaker, Miss Oakes accompanist

Sunday, May 11, is dedicated to Mother. On that day we render homage to her devotion, her courage, her self-sacrifice. And no tribute can be too great.

But the next morning will find Mother—in many homes—going back to the same weary, dreary task of washing the family's clothes. She will not complain. But how she longs for relief from this heaviest of all household burdens... and how easily it can be lifted out of her life, forever!

Our modern method does the washing even better than Mother can do it—for we use hundreds of gallons of pure, soft water on each family bundle. And clothes washed our way last longer—in the long run cost no more than those done at home. Phone for our routeman now. Make your Mother's Day tribute last throughout the year!

OIL RENTALS RAISED FROM 50 CT. TO $10.00 ACRE IN HOBBS FIELD

SANTA FE—State Land Commissioner Austin D. Crile announced Thursday that minimum rentals in the restricted oil area of Lea county, including the Hobbs field, will be raised from fifty cents to $10 an acre. The increase become effective May 15th.

The new minimum rates, Dr. Crile said, range from twenty-five cents an acre up to $10. The twenty-five cent rentals, however, represent a revision downward from that peak rental in fields where there is no good geology or where dry holes have been drilled.

The largest $10 area is in the Hobbs fields, and there are two other such areas which surround producing wells, one being the Cranfill-Reynolds. All of the $10 districts are in Lea county.

Proximity to production was the determining factor in fixing the new rental schedule, Dr. Crile said.

Dr. Crile said the minimum rentals were revised to "avoid any possibility of a charge of favoritism against the land office."

A colored map of the oil area has been prepared and hung in the land commissioner's office.

"The rates are all on the map there," he said, "and anyone will know what he has to pay. There won't be one minimum for one person and another minimum for another person."

The map may be changed later, however, he said, if production is obtained in one of the present non-productive areas. When production is obtained in present inactive areas, Dr. Crile said, the minimum rental in those areas will be increased. If dry holes are encountered in now promising regions, the minimum rentals there will then be revised downward.

Employment of Glaze for Ornamentation Old

Among a race as gifted as the Chinese, neither the spirit of inventiveness, which originates new objects and processes of manufacture, nor the love of adventure which by means of travel imports them from abroad, were ever wholly absent, and it is often difficult to prove to which of these two agencies any particular novelty owes its introduction. However, as regards glaze, importation from abroad does seem the most likely. For one thing it was a very ancient possession of the West.

Even before the Pyramids rose out of the sands of the desert, a lovely turquoise glaze had been discovered by the Egyptian artisans. And twenty centuries later the dream city of the Pharaoh Akhnaton gleamed like a jewel against a cloudless horizon, the lintel of its gates, the walls of its palaces, the pillars of its temples, the cornices of its roofs inlaid with a fairylike mosaic of multi-colored glazes. From Egypt glaze spread over western Asia into the full pride of Babylon, unless invented there independently, which is quite as likely. While the baked clay of China was still innocent of all luster, Assyrian potentates decorated their architecture with items and griffins, stepping out majestically in friezes of richly colored glazed tiles. This resplendent art was continued by the Persian king of kings, by the Seleucids and the Arsacids and beyond into the days of Islam.—From "Porcelain Pagodas and Palaces of Jade" by A. E. Gratham.

GOVERNMENT WILL SUPPRESS APPRATUS FOR MAKING LIQUOR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The government moved Tuesday to suppress all sale of paraphernalia for liquor manufacture.

The drive is being undertaken under the supreme court decision Monday that distribution of such equipment was illegal under the Volstead law.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced the step, saying the action of the supreme court in upholding the seizure of bottles, casks and corks in Pittsburgh, on the ground that they had been displayed to attract purchasers who intended to use them in manufacture of illicit liquor, gave the bureau an effective weapon to proceed against every large concern producing such articles.

After the big dealers are "wiped out," Doran said the bureau would "go down the line."

"Our first job is to proceed against the big supply houses of paraphernalia for commercial home brew and for ageing moonshine liquor," Doran said.

"We will proceed against every person and concern where the conditions are similar to the Pittsburgh case which was upheld by the supreme court Monday."

POSTAL EMPLOYEE ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT KONJOLA

Stomach And Bowel Troubles Soon Banished . . . "Should Have Taken New Medicine Long Ago," He Says.

"I suffered for a long time with stomach trouble," said Mr. Frank B. Norman, 828 Mississippi street, Amarillo. I had a very poor appetite and after eating I was subject to painful accumulations of gas. I was becoming very nervous and did not sleep well at night. I was troubled with constipation and found it necessary to take cathartics constantly. I was losing strength and energy and no matter what I tried in the way of medicine nothing seemed to help me.

MR. FRANK B. NORMAN

"I seemed to improve in health from the time I began taking Konjola. My appetite picked up and I was able to assimilate my food better. I did not have that tired out feeling in the morning and my work was easier and more pleasant. After continuing the treatment for a time I realized that Konjola was the medicine I should have taken long ago. I am continuing to take Konjola and am recommending it to all my friends."

Given a real trial over a period of from six to eight weeks, Konjola has made a record without parallel in the history of medicines. Ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness readily yield to its power.

Konjola is sold in Artesia at Palace Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

IS A PRACTICAL RURAL SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

The county superintendent has no connection with the city schools of the county. His is an entirely different field.

Surely it is good business to select for the superintendency of the rural schools one who has spent a lifetime in rural school work. Who has proven to be a capable rural school supervisor.

Mr. Rodgers by years of contact with rural people and their problems has acquired a strong spirit of loyalty and sympathetic understanding of the needs and desires of the average rural community.

LORDSBURG BOASTS OF STREETS THAT ARE PAVED WITH GOLD

SANTA FE—Paving of gold ore is the latest boast of the "most advertised small town in the southwest" as Lordsburg, New Mexico is frequently called, according to a report sent to the state highway department by Willard Holt, secretary of Lordsburg Chamber of Commerce.

The material used in recent paving operations in Lordsburg was donated out of the waste piles of the Calumet-Arizona Mining Co., which has a branch three and one-half miles south of Lordsburg. The ore is largely chalcopyrite and actually carries a gold content, some of it having assayed as high as three ounces to the ton. The pavement is one and one quarter miles long, forty feet wide and utilized a heavy tonnage of the ore during the construction.

Chalcopyrite, such as was used in the pavement, is glistening ore with may yellowish streaks in it which sparkle like gold. These, however, are copper, mining men say. The finding that the waste piles contained actual gold traces immediately sent the Lordsburg advertisers to work with the result that they report already dozens of tourists from California and eastern points call every day at the Chamber of Commerce office asking the way to the street of gold.

A quickening effect has been felt in the town following the announcement, Holt says, as all the houses on the street of gold are either being remodeled or else torn down to make room for new structures.

PROPER LIGHT INSURED

A few years ago legislatures in every state were concerning themselves with glaring headlights. There were laws to compel the motorist to creep along with lights so dim that no one could see ahead. Modern standards require greater but better regulated illumination with scientifically-designed headlights. Chrysler engineers have perfected this type of illumination on the 1930 cars after long research in the engineering laboratories.

THRIFT HELPS SOLVE THE CRIME PROBLEM

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

Is thrift an antidote for crime? This is a question which quite naturally projects itself into the consideration of one of the greatest problems that ever confronted people of this nation. The fact seems to be generally recognized that crime was never as rampant as at present. Jails and prisons are overcrowded; court dockets are clogged, newspapers day after day are filled with stories of crime of all descriptions. It is indeed an appalling situation for a great civilized nation.

Without going into a long dissertation on causes and cures, it may be stated as one fact upon which all will agree that a more general adherence to thrift upon the part of the public would have an alleviating effect. It must be recognized that a considerable percentage of current crime is brought about as the direct result of extravagant habits or mismanagement of personal finances.

A leading criminologist recently analyzed the causes of crime as follows: "Rapidly changing standards of living with failure of individual adjustments, seeking of easy wealth prompted by those who degrade use of it, increasing failure of homes, schools and churches in inculcate the fundamental values of good character, seeming public emphasis on material rather than spiritual values of life," etc.

Thrift is far from a panacea. However, we cannot get away from the fact that those laudable impulses which lead a person to save his money, conserve his resources, guard his health and make advancement toward the goal of success, are the very antitheses of criminal instincts.

As a nation we seem to be in somewhat of a maze regarding methods of reducing the amount of crime. If a national drive for thrift along sound lines were made, it would be a tremendous help. There would still be crime as there always will be but the amount of it would be greatly reduced. Every citizen who can be given the inspiration of true, progressive thrift, automatically turns from the temptations and practices which so often lead to crime to a well-ordered, progressive plan of life.

At Margaret's Office

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright.)

"YES, our business offices are located out here at the factory," Margaret Drew was saying with a smile to the telephone receiver.

"But, of course, I wouldn't want to ask you to come so far out of your way for our little business conference. It happens that I am to be up in the business section today. I can quite easily drop in at your office."

"Oh, I wouldn't think of putting you to that trouble, Miss Drew," came back the man's voice. And Margaret frowned a little.

"But I would very much rather call at your office. It's so—nolsy here—with the machinery—"

And Margaret, having won her point—and got this Mr. John Bailey's consent to call at his office instead of having him call at her "factory"—hung up the telephone with a sigh of relief.

As a matter of fact Margaret's offices and factory occupied a total floor space of about twenty by fifteen feet. She was sitting in what she called the outer office—there was a telephone table and two chairs. There were four closets off the room which with the one window and the door into the outside hall pretty nearly filled the available wall space.

On one of these closets was neatly painted the sign—"Private. M. C. Drew, Pres." Behind that door were a few shelves on which were stowed a battered typewriter and some boxes.

Another door was marked with the neat sign, "Shipping Department—Positively No Admittance," and behind that door was a larger closet in which were neatly stored a supply of candy boxes, hammer, screwdriver, nails and a few empty wooden boxes. The third closet was large enough to stand in. There was one small window and on a shelf by the window a three-burner gas stove. On other higher shelves on the opposite side were neatly arranged kettles, cans and canisters, paper bags and paste-board boxes. On the outside of the door into this more spacious closet were painted the words, "KITCHEN—Please use other entrance."

But even with these deceptions Margaret did not wish to have the important advertising expert see the pathetic limitations of her budding candy factory. Entirely convinced of the goodness of the sweets which she was able unaided to make and pack in her small quarters she had inserted an advertisement in the current number of a fashionable magazine which stated that on receipt of twenty-five cents in stamps she would send a sample box of the New Sweets that society folk were talking about.

Within a week had come just enough twenty-five cent stamps to pay for the advertisement, but not the materials used in the making of the candy. Still, Margaret was not discouraged. And she had also received on very impressive letter-head stationery a letter from the Universal Advertising company suggesting that there might be advantage in a conference between a member of the firm of the Universal Advertising company and the advertising director of the New Sweet Candy concern. The result was the telephone conversation between Mr. Bailey and Margaret.

But she didn't even get to the elevator in the office building mentioned on the letter-head paper of the Universal Advertising company, for as she entered the building she was approached by an entirely presentable young man who asked her whether she were not Mrs. Drew.

"Miss Drew—Margaret Drew," she corrected, and then the young man said he was John Bailey of the Universal Advertising company and that it had occurred to him that it might be pleasant if they discussed business over a cup of tea or coffee or something.

He escorted her not to any of the fashionable hotels in the neighborhood but to a popular lunch room with gleaming white tables where coffee was served in thick cups with paper napkins. Margaret had heard that it was considered quite smart to go to those places.

She talked of her candy factory rather vaguely and Mr. Bailey talked with a vagueness that Margaret did not detect of the Universal Advertising company. Then John Bailey seemed to shake off all formality of manner and began to laugh.

"Let's be frank," he said. "I'm just a beginner—on my own entirely. I've got desk room in a dingy, dark office in that building. But I'm going to win out—I think I can pull some big stuff in candy advertising."

"I wish I had let you come to see my place, then," said Margaret. "I'm all there is to the staff, too. But I've got a three-burner stove besides the desk and telephone. If you'll have faith in me—why, I'll have faith in you."

Two days later when Margaret and John met at Margaret's "factory" they made plans for joining forces. Margaret would proceed with the candy making—and John Bailey would go in tooth and nail to build up the business side of the undertaking.

And thus began the J. and M. Candy company which has since grown to such enormous proportions—and thus began also the romance that resulted just a year later in the marriage of the president and the vice president of the thriving concern.

GRAVE OF BILLY THE KID AT FT. SUMNER TO BE MARKED SOON

FT SUMNER—After years of neglect in which nearly all trace of their graves have been obliterated local organizations here have marked out the boundaries of Billy the Kid's grave.

A marker will eventually designate the spot where lies the remains of the southwest's most famous young outlaw, the light haired boy who had killed 21 men by the time he reached his majority.

Lying in the old cemetery near Ft. Sumner are Billy the Kid, Charley Boudrey and Tom O'Phallion, all of whom wrote flaming chapters of southwestern history.

A concrete curbing has been placed around the three graves, located side by side and a concrete slab has been placed over the grave of Billy. The little cemetery contains about an acre and a half and is enclosed by wire fence.

In the past twenty years only families of the old timers who witnessed stirring history of the 80's have been permitted burial in the little plot. Among the families buried here are the Maxwells, Beaubiens, Abreu and Jaramillo.

When Ft. Sumner set out to designate the graves of the Kid and others the services of pioneers were enlisted to locate the exact spot.

The men who knew the Kid before his meteoric career was ended by a bullet from Sheriff Pat Garret's gun were called in.

Vicente Salguero, 78, was employed by Pete Maxwell at the time of the Kid's death in the Maxwell ranch house. He has always lived in Ft. Sumner and is well posted on location of the grave.

A. P. (Paco) Anaya, 72, of Vaughn is a son of Jesus Anaya, rancher in the days of the Kid. The Anaya ranch was located on the Cibello Arroyo, eight miles south of the fort. The Kid was a frequent visitor at the ranch and was very friendly with the Anaya family.

Jesus Silva, 72, of Ft. Sumner, was a cowpuncher for Pete Maxwell and is recorded in history as a member of the coroner's jury that sat over the body of the Kid. Silva had just killed a beef which reposed in Maxwell's house and which aroused the Kid's appetite on the fatal summer night in 1881. Billy had gone to the house to cut a steak from Silva's beef when he encountered Pat Garrett.

Charles W. Foor, 78, of Ft. Sumner, came to Ft. Sumner two years after the death of Billy the Kid and for years was a tavern keeper at the old fort. He is a surveyor of DeBaca county and well posted on the location of the grave.

Holstein Cattle Winter in Luxurious Quarters

Speaking of the winter care given the famous Holstein cattle by the dairymen of Friesland, Holland, the National Geographic society says: "Barn and dwelling are under one roof, which rises high into the sky in order to provide loft space for the immense amount of hay needed as cattle feed during the long winter. The whole gives the appearance of a one-story cottage pushed low into the earth by weight of an immense pointed roof, which reaches above the tops of the tall trees lining the roadway."

"A hall separates the living quarters of the farmer's family from space set aside for cows, which as a rule is the larger portion of the house. Visitors testify that these barns are spotless and odorless. Each stall is sanded and has a window of its own, inevitably decorated with a fresh white window curtain. Every cow has a bath daily and many of their tails are tied up with ribbon."

Craze for Hairdressing

In the early Eighteenth century hairdressing in France reached its peak. Literally. Many court ladies wore their hair piled so high that they could not sit in coaches but had to kneel or hold their heads out of the windows. It is said that in Paris in 1730 there were 1,200 hairdressers. They were probably kept busy, since it often took an entire day to dress the hair. However, the women who wore it in the most elaborate fashion had it done only about once a month.—Detroit News.

GO ON A SISIAT THE END FISCAL YEAR

For the first time in the history of New Mexico will the fiscal year end immediately after the fiscal year, which the State Treasurer announced Monday.

The estimate of the state will be on a basis of the bills as it goes, and the state will be on a cash basis for the next five weeks of the surplus which will be in the state at the end of the current year.

Mr. Watts figures the state's debts up to the end of the fiscal year at $9,736,911. It is costing the state $404,096.25 in the red. All of this, there is a certificate of indebtedness taken care of.

One of the best systems for building fireproof where cement plaster is used is by means of expanded metal lathing in which is incorporated, every few inches, a steel rib to act as a stiffener. Such a wall requires but few steel uprights to which metal fabric is fixed, so it is exceedingly economical to use on walls and roof.

In building such a garage, it is only necessary to provide a concrete floor on cinders directly on the ground, sidewalk fashion. At proper intervals steel angle uprights are set into the floor, and the ribbed metal fabric is fastened to these. Cement plaster afterwards coated inside and out.

Average Wooden House Rots in a Few Years

Although the average American wooden house is attacked by decay within a few years and is usually rotted to worthlessness with two generations, there is no reason why it could not be preserved for two, three or more centuries, says Prof. Emanuel Fritz, wood technologist of the University of California.

Carelessness, and not the perishable quality of wood itself, is to blame for the costly decay of the average framewell, asserts the expert, writing in Good Housekeeping Magazine. Decay is evidence that the wood is holding a moisture content of more than 20 per cent.

Cheap, careless construction proves more expensive in time than the care and added expense necessary to make a house waterproof, he points out. The factors which usually bring about decay and which can easily be eliminated are: Poorly fitted joints, shingles, and door and window sills which permit water to enter and remain in the cracks; failure to insulate all parts of the house from the moisture of the ground with a masonry foundation of at least six inches; failure to ventilate the space between ground and floors where heat and moisture quickly develop the decaying fungi and failure to see that no mounds of earth or rubbish are left under the house to convey moisture to the parts of the building which they touch.

Cement Plaster Makes Garage Walls Fireproof

Ideal garages are, of course, fireproof. Many useful methods of building garages at moderate cost have been developed. Cement plaster is an excellent material for such use.

One of the best systems for building fireproof where cement plaster is used is by means of expanded metal lathing in which is incorporated, every few inches, a steel rib to act as a stiffener. Such a wall requires but few steel uprights to which metal fabric is fixed, so it is exceedingly economical to use on walls and roof.

Why Called "Cockade City"

In the War of 1812, the Petersburg volunteers were so valorous that upon their discharge President Madison thanked them for their conspicuous gallantry and assured them that they had won for their native city the proud appellation of "The Cockade City of the Union," a title which it still bears.

RICHARD W. CLARKE PICTURESQUE WESTERN FIGURE DIES MONDAY

DEADWOOD, S. D. — Another picturesque figure who embodied the spirit of the old west passed Monday with the death of Richard W. Clarke, 84 years old, who won national fame under the name of Deadwood Dick.

Deadwood Dick, last of the famous Black Hills characters of frontier day fame, unlike many of his former comrades of pioneer times, died with his boots off. His death followed an illness of several weeks.

Despite the fact that he had been depicted as victor in many thrilling gun fights, Deadwood Dick died without a notch on the handle of his gun.

Although to tourists, his buckskin clothes, flintlock musket and weather beaten face typified the part of Indian hunter, scout and gold prospector in the Black Hills frontier, Deadwood Dick made no pretense of having lived up to the legends created by the novels.

On a trip to Chicago and Washington early last year, he admitted his gun handle had no notches, traditionally significant of men killed in gun duels. On this trip, made by airplane, he was received by former President Coolidge.

A colored man got his nerve together and took a flight in an aeroplane. As he climbed out of the ship on its return to the field, he turned to the pilot and said:

"Suh, Ah has to thank you fo' both dem sides."

"What are you talking about," said the aviator. "You only had one."

"No, suh," returned the passenger. "Ah done had two—mah fust an' mah last."

FLEET OF CHEVROLET TRUCKS ARE MOBILIZED TO FIGHT CORN BORER

Renewed vigor in the governments cooperative battle with the farmer against injurious crop insects was promised for this month with the delivery of a fleet of Chevrolet sedan deliveries to the western division of the department of agriculture.

This particular fleet is to be used in the campaign against the corn borer and is to concentrate its work in West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Similar fleets enlisted in the war against the fruit fly, boll weevil etc., are in operation in all parts of the United States.

Every car in the fleet recently delivered is a standard Chevrolet six, with sedan delivery body, in which equipment essential to a successful pursuit of the government's war is transported. As the cars left Flint, plant of the Chevrolet Motor Company, they were paraded through the streets of that city with the national banner fluttering from either side of each car, as though mobilizing for the "war" in which they were soon to take part.

Selection of Chevrolets for this work was made by the government because of their dependability and economy of operation in transferring active from one "battle sector" to another, it was explained.

Origin of Apt Phrases

Said the Greeks: "Even the ant and the worm have their wrath," and from this we get, "A worm will turn." The Greeks also probably furnished Shakespeare with his, "Brevity is the soul of wit," when Sophocles said, "Many wise things are bound up in short speech." And Pliny the Younger supplies this variant: "In the pleading of causes nothing pleases so much as brevity."

IT'S WISE TO CHOOSE A SIX

A demonstration tells you why it's wise to choose a six

Everywhere, buyers in the low-price field are agreeing "It's wise to choose a Six." And if you want to know why—get a demonstration of the new Chevrolet Six.

The Chevrolet Six is always smooth. When you idle the motor—drive fast in second—or travel at top speed—the power flows easily and evenly at all times. And everyone in the car enjoys a pleasant ride.

Developing 50 horsepower, the Chevrolet motor is also a marvel of flexibility. Needless gear shifting is avoided. And on the steepest hill, there is a reserve of power more than equal to every need.

And six-cylinder smoothness protects the entire chassis from the destructive effect of vibration. As a result, the whole car lasts longer—and resale value is increased.

Moreover, a demonstration reveals many other reasons why it's wise to choose a Chevrolet Six.

And, as you do, remember this fact: The Chevrolet Six is just as economical as any car you can buy. It costs no more for gas, oil, or service. It is priced as low as $495 at the Flint factory. And it can be purchased for a small down payment with unusually easy terms.

SIX HUNDRED ATTEND RURAL SCHOOL MEET HELD AT LAKEWOOD

The sixth annual track meet of the Eddy county rural schools was held in Lakewood Friday. More than 600 parents and friends witnessed the events which started at ten o'clock under the direction of Lowell Woolbright, of Loving school, as director. When animals refuse to eat sweet-clover pasture it is usually because the growth is too rank before they have acquired a taste for it. There is no trouble in getting livestock to eat sweetclover if they are turned on it before the growth is big and tough.

Young pigs need plenty of exercise to prevent them from becoming fat. It is often necessary to force pigs to take exercise several times a day during the first ten days of their lives. The indications of too much fat are small rolls of fat around the neck and perky breathing. The common term for this trouble is "thumps."

Calves less than six months of age can not make the best use of pasture and if put on it should be given, in addition, a full feed of skim milk or milk substitute and enough grain to keep them growing rapidly. Heifers from 6 to 12 months of age, however, need little or no feed other than pasture during the spring and summer when the pasturage is good.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is often asked as to the advisability of nipping or pruning muskmelon vines to increase the set of fruit or to hasten development. There is no advantage in pinching or heading back muskmelon vines, says the department. Reducing the number of melons on a vine will increase the size of the fruit, but this practice is not advisable when the melons are to be shipped, as most varieties produce fruit large enough, and sometimes too large for a standard pack.

Success in destroying the injurious peach-tree borer with paradichlorobenzene depends largely on applying the chemical to the tree at the end of the egg laying period of the insect. Consult the U. S. Department of Agriculture, or your state agricultural college or county agent, to find out the right time in your locality. Paradichlorobenzene can be used with safety on healthy peach trees 4 years of age or older. For younger trees the old methods of "worming" must be resorted to for borer control.

After terracing eroded or run down land it is wise to improve the soil for a year or more with cover crops and soil building crops, rather than to grow a money crop immediately. Soybeans, cowpeas and velvet beans are good summer crops for this purpose. Rye and vetch are especially good as winter cover crops to bind the soil and to add organic matter.

Black walnut planted in unused or "waste places" on the farm or in good-sized openings in woodlands is likely to make a profitable crop. Rough, hilly places where the soil is good but otherwise poorly adapted to crops, large fence corners, fence rows, hollows, ravines, stream banks, and large pockets of good soil among rocky out-croppings in fields and pastures are excellent places for growing black walnut. Do not let sycamore, soft maple, alder, willow, beach, black gum, dogwood, or worthless shrubs occupy such places, says the forest service. Black walnut yields edible nuts and produces useful and valuable timber.

Kenneth Rex Stuart, age 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Stuart of Jal, died in the Eddy county hospital at Carlsbad this morning about 11:30, according to word received by Austin Stuart, uncle of the deceased lad. The death of Kenneth is believed to have been due to an injury received about a month ago, when he accidentally caught his right arm in an electric wringer. He was taken to Carlsbad, immediately after being injured, but recovered so rapidly that he was soon taken home. He appeared to get along nicely until last night, when he was again rushed to Carlsbad, presumably suffering from blood poisoning.

THE COWBOY BAND CONCERT

The Simmons University Cowboy band of Abilene, Texas, played to a good house at the Central school auditorium Saturday night, despite the fact of Saturday cutting down the attendance somewhat. The cowboys in their picturesque costumes attracted much attention and their cowboy attire of chaps etc., added much to the interest of the concert. The band rendered both classic and popular selections and the cowboy songs were a strong feature of entertainment. The trick rope throwing was also an interesting part of the performance. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Artesia Women's club. The band gave a sacred concert in Carlsbad Sunday morning and one of similar character in Pecos Sunday evening.

500 SCHOOL CHILDREN PARTICIPATE IN THE
HEALTH DAY PROGRAM

Health Day, May 1, was fittingly observed with a program here Thursday afternoon, with more than 500 school children participating. The Health Day program, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, went over in a big way. The exercises at the City Park, consisting of a May Pole dance and a gypsy dance, was witnessed by a large number of Artesia school patrons. The gypsy dance, staged by Misses Pauline Clayton and Frances Eaton was very clever. After the program at the park a parade passed down Main street. Approximately twelve floats were entered in the parade. The anti-tubercular society was awarded first prize for the best decorated float. Second prize went to the Legion Auxiliary float, but in as much as this organization was not competing the prize was divided equally between the Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts.

Miss Virginia Gates was crowned the May queen at the exercises at the park. In choosing the queen for the occasion, the judges considered two factors, the health of the children and their school work.

Seventeen prizes were awarded the seventeen rooms for the best health poster, from the first to the eighth grade, including the Spanish American room. The prizes consisting of 50 cents in cash were awarded the following pupils by the Chamber of Commerce: 8th grade—Misses Leota Smith and Estelle Bradley; 7th grade—Misses Natalie Filbert and Mildred Covey; 6th grade—George Conner and Bonny Rowland; 5th grade—Edward Conner and Miss Alma Kilian; 4th grade—Miss Clara Sinclair and Billy Bartlett; 3rd grade—Larry Kremer and Miss Ruth Hamilton; 2nd grade—Grant Scoggins and Earl Bowman; 1st grade—Misses Phyllis Bartlett and Dorothy Phillips; Spanish American—Alberta Rivas.

After the parade down Main street the children were given a free matinee by the Majestic theatre. A Girl Scout film and two films from the State Board of Health were shown a this time.

Common Brick Field Enlarged by Skintling

Skintled brickwork stands unquestionably as the most radical development in masonry construction in the last 500 years.

Next to it was the face brick, produced by various treatments of its surface, giving it an attractiveness which no other brick had possessed. Then comes the recognition of the clinker brick, that long unnoticed Cinderella of the refuse pile which is now the favored pet of the architects.

No other masonry departures have affected brick use so decisively as have these three.

Up to the time some ingenious brick-maker cleverly tinkered the face brick to make it a thing of new and unusual appeal the common brick had had the exterior brick wall field all to itself. But the American love of change, of something new, speedily shifted popular favor to the new material.

Now skintled brickwork, which is simply an irregular laying of the colorful common bricks to produce a mass textural wall effect of singular allure and charm, is winning back the errant American favor to the common brick.

Aided greatly, it must be admitted, by the clinker brick, whose popularity, developed almost overnight, has been one of the notable triumphs of late year building material history.

The clinker brick is that brick which, in the kilns, form the arches and sides of the passage through which pass the flames and excessive heat that convert the raw mud rectangles into the finished brick.

This excessive heat fuses the clay. It runs in irregular, lavalike furrows or assumes a lacquerlike smoothness like the old Chinese porcelains, taking on at the same time all sorts of odd shapes.

These bricks cleverly intermingled in the skintled brick wall, add to the textural beauty a compelling appeal.

Straw Not Forbidden to Children of Israel

Whether or not the first brickmaker lived in a past 12,000 years distant, excavations at Ur of the Chaldees, the city of Abraham, have yielded brick tablets inscribed with information concerning a people of 6,000 years ago. If the Old Testament account is accepted the tower of Babel was built of brick, for "they said one to another: Go to, let us make brick and burn them thoroughly." And Holy Writ carries its reminder that brickmaking was known to the early Egyptians. Down through the ages has come allusion to bricks without straw, although the children of Israel were not, as a matter of fact, required to make bricks without that binding material.

"And Pharaoh commanded the same day the task masters of the people, and their officers, saying: 'Ye shall no more give the people straw to make brick as heretofore; let them go and gather straw for themselves.'"—Boston Transcript.
