GOV. DILLON WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE FOR THE U. S. SENATE HE SAYS

SANTA FE—"I am not a candidate," Governor R. C. Dillon said yesterday when press reports of the recent meeting of the republican state central committee in Albuquerque were called to his attention. The governor, the reports said, had the inside track for his party's nomination for the senate to run against Sam G. Bratton this fall. Governor Dillon was in Flagstaff, Arizona, attending the meeting of the Cavern-Grand Canyon Highway Association at the time of the G. O. P. "junta." "They seem to be bent on forcing you to take it," said a reporter. "That's mighty nice of them," said the governor. The way is clear for H. B. Holt, Las Cruces attorney, insofar as the chief executive is concerned. The governor added that he told Holt previous to the Albuquerque republican meeting that his hat was not in the ring and that he need have no hesitancy about getting into the race on his account.

The Oilers will meet Roswell here again Sunday afternoon and will endeavor to wipe out the defeat administered by the north valley team on last Sunday at Roswell. Wittkopp, who is an old school friend of both of them.

CROP CONDITIONS ARE MORE PROMISING THAN SAME PERIOD OF 1929

Cotton Forecast Locally Estimated To Be 110 Per Cent Against 100 Per Cent Last Year — Some Plants Blooming.

The past week has been excellent cotton weather and the plant has responded very favorably to the conditions. A few blooms have been observed in some of the earlier cotton. The bulk of the crop will be blooming within the next two weeks. The general crop condition has been described as much more favorable this year than last. The local estimates place the crop condition as 110 per cent against 100 per cent for last year. Thus not only will the present crop show a greater yield on the same acreage, but the increased acreage over last year is expected to run up the production over last year, if favorable weather continues. At the present time the development of the cotton plant is about ten days ahead of the corresponding period of last year. In much of the cotton growing country, however, the plant has been retarded somewhat by late rains. The condition over the cotton growing section of the U. S. is described as approximately 70 per cent as against 68 per cent for the corresponding period of last year. The first government forecast will be issued July 8th. W. R. Hornbaker was exhibiting a stalk of cotton this morning, grown on his farm south of town. The stalk has a small boll, a bloom and twelve squares. The stalk came out of a 40 acre patch that was planted on April 3rd.

NORMAL APPLE CROP IS PROSPECT — OTHER FRUITS ARE KILLED

Prospects are good for a normal apple crop this year and the yield may almost equal that of last year, if the apples are not injured by hail or insects before gathering time. While the quantity of apples may not be as great as last year's crop was the quality this year is expected to offset the numbers, growers declare. Hope growers are optimistic over the outlook. Practically all of the early fruit was killed by spring freezes. Some peaches and pears are expected to be marketed later. The cold weather of the past spring killed the cherry and apricot crop.

Stewart Eads Drowns In Attempt To Swim River

Body Is Recovered After A Two Hour Search—The Funeral Services Were Held At The Presbyterian Church This Morning.

Stewart Eads, age 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Eads of Dayton, was drowned near the mouth of the Penasco river, some five miles southeast of here, Tuesday afternoon about 2:00 p. m. While the details of the tragedy are not fully known, it was said that Stewart with his older brother, Billy and the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McDaniel, attempted to swim the Pecos. None of the boys could swim very well and it was presumed that Stewart gave out before reaching the opposite bank. Several volunteers went from Artesia and the body was recovered about two hours later by Irvin Martin of Dayton. The bed of the river where young Eads was drowned was said to be very treacherous. Several holes had washed in the bed of the river and the depth of the water ranged from three or four feet to fifteen or sixteen feet. The father, Mr. Eads, who is an engineer on the Santa Fe was notified Tuesday afternoon and arrived Tuesday night. Funeral services were held this morning at the Presbyterian church Rev. J. P. Sinclair, officiating.

Officials of the state game and fish department Friday transplanted from 30,000 to 50,000 black bass from the Dexter hatchery to various warm waters in this section of the state. Because of the large hatch this year in the breeding ponds it has been deemed necessary to remove a portion of the fish in order that the others may properly grow. State Game Warden E. L. Perry, was in the valley early last week looking over the situation and ordered the fish transplanted. A truck from Santa Fe, with nets, cans, tubs and other equipment for catching and transplanting the fish was used in the transplanting operations.

BIG BUSINESS

President Hoover seems to favor big business over all others. Anything that the big business wants, he's for it, all of which may be very well, but it has not proved to be that way yet.

Big business mergers are common, and with the announcements of mergers a reaction on the part of the common citizens appears on the surface. We just wonder if the merger idea hasn't just about reached its limit so far as it concerns efficiency and whether or not we shall see the merger idea decline in the next ten years.

Big business has made an effort to aid in the industrial depression, but we have not seen any results
yet. Mergers and consolidations we are told will cut the overhead and cost of operations, thus passing the savings on to the common herd, but judging from the increasing numbers of unemployed, the benefits haven't reached this class yet.

The theory of consolidating, cutting the working force and increasing the high ups salaries, so they can spend more time on the golf course, isn't exactly the liking of the masses, who may be more or less socialistic. It may be a good idea to consolidate, cut the employment force a third or a half and double the salary of the president of the new concern, but such tactics does not bring prosperity to the masses.

DIVERSIFICATION

The other day citizens of a Texas town not far away celebrated the opening of a milk condensing plant. The coming of the plant represents in a measure the changing agricultural conditions of the panhandle of Texas. Several years ago this community was classed as a cotton growing section, cotton being the principal crop as it is in the Pecos valley. After several years of farming under adverse conditions, the people of this Texas community welcome a new industry, which will provide a means of diversification and more prosperity.

With the low price cotton facing the Pecos valley we hear a reoccurring talk of more diversification and of branching out into the dairying industry. Just as necessity has been classed as the mother of invention, adversity and low price cotton may bring about a change in the principal crop of this section. So long as the price of cotton remains high, few farmers can be interested in making additional cows. We may see a change, however, after this year, if the price of cotton continues low.

A PUBLIC MENACE SHOULD BE SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY FOR LIFE

A citizen of Quay county died recently, the result of drinking lye whiskey—whiskey made by placing concentrated lye in the mash—which make it work faster and extracts every particle of alcohol from the corn.

The inside of his mouth had the appearance of being boiled, and before death came he was vomiting up large pieces of lining from his stomach.

A shiner who will use lye in the manufacture of whiskey is a public menace, and hanging would be merciful.

They should be hunted down and placed for life where they can no longer follow their murderous moonshining.

Our officers are doing everything possible under the law, and it must be remembered they can arrest and search only on positive evidence or affidavits from those making purchases, or those willing to make affidavit whiskey is for sale at certain places.

Yapping, bellyaching and whining at the officers because they are not arresting the bootleggers is cowardly and dirty, especially in face of our laws.

Find the bootlegger or the shiner, make your affidavit and the arrests will be made.—Tucumcari News.

IN FOR IT

We are just nosing into another political campaign. Sufferin' cats don't you dread it? The next three months will develop the usual bunch of "liars"— "hypocrits" and "double-crossers." We're agoin' to have to look at a lot of "homely mugs," and biographical sketches which would make St. Peter turn green with envy. We are going to hear about "platforms"— with and without. We are going to have to shake hands with every third person we meet. We are going to hear "I want a few words with you privately," etc.
Skeletons are going to be dug out of closets and estimable citizens have their faults engraved on tablets. We are going to get so darned sick and tired of the word
"candidate."

Our old friend Eugene Ware once said in a speech:
"The only synonym I know for the word candidate is "sucker." Don't believe "Gene" ever ran for an office.—Mosquero Developer.

Chicago ought to turn over the business of cleaning up the gangsters to General Dawes, maybe he could smoke them out.

Hobbs now has a real live telegraph office and we should not be a bit surprised to hear before long of its first bath tub.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

Mighty near every organization is wanting something these days. We would not be surprised to hear of the moonshiners demanding longer nights.

Notice where Bishop Cannon is having his attorney watch the newspapers for libeous matter. We haven't said anything. However, it would be another way of acquiring more readers.

At the rate we are going, crime will be strong enough in another 10 years to demand, and perhaps obtain, a secretary of criminal affairs in the President's cabinet, says an exchange.

One or two towns in the state have their main thoroughfares patrolled by the Boy Scouts with good results. The Boy Scout organization has been especially effective in persuading motorists to observe the stop signs.

A good many are hunting cooler spots, now that the hot weather has set in. Merchants of a number of towns usually close a half day during the hot summer months, or move the closing time up a half an hour to allow the business men and their employees a little time off. We think it would be a good plan to adopt here.

Carlsbad and Hagerman have removed the tombstones, otherwise known as the OT marker, from their main streets. There has been more or less agitation to move the local marker, but so far no action has been taken. About the only excuse we can see for our tombstone remaining is that it affords some protection in turning the corner and will cost quite a bit to remove it.

Maybe its a good idea to let the monument stay up as a monument to a lot of wasted money. Perhaps most of us will think twice before we dig again just to be doing something.

INSIDE INFORMATION

To remove grass stains from washable materials, treat them while fresh with hot water and soap, rubbing vigorously. It traces of stain remain on white linen or cotton fabrics they may be bleached out with Javelle water.

Don't leave any cereals in packages when shutting up the house for a vacation, however short. It is better to give away small remnants than to have to combat weevils on your returns. Weevils getting into one kind of cereal may spread to your flour or any other cereal foods not in tight glass or tin containers.

For success in home canning of string beans, corn, peas—in fact all vegetables except tomatoes—the can-ner should provide the high temperature of the steam pressure canner.
Troublesome bacteria are likely to lurk in these nonacid vegetables, and unless killed by adequate processing they will cause the canned foods to spoil. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, with its nation wide view of the home canning question, strongly recommend the steam pressure method for all nonacid vegetables. Time tables are sent free on request from Washington.

Spiced cherries, preserved with vinegar, make a good relish. Here's a recipe: Wash and pit large, sour, red cherries. Add three-fourths of their weight or measure of sugar.
Sprinkle the sugar over the fruit in layers and let them stand overnight. In the morning stir until the sugar is dissolved and then press the juice well from the cherries. Tie a small quantity of whole spices in a loose cheesecloth bag, drop this into the juice, and boil it down until it is three-fourths of the original quantity. Pour hot over the drained cherries and add 2 tablespoons of vinegar to each pint. Seal and keep two weeks before using.

CULL THE LOAFERS FROM YOUR FLOCKS

Now is the time to begin culling the loafers from flocks as fast as they show up. Don't expect the good hens to pay the feed bills of the star boarders and still turn a profit at the present prices of eggs, says E. E. Anderson, of the New Mexico Agricultural College.

Many of the star boarders can probably be recognized upon sight. By going thru the flock and examining each one carefully, many can be taken from the flock before the characteristics that brand a cull clearly show up. When a hen goes out of production, her comb usually shrivels up. First her beak and later her legs turn yellow (provided she is of a breed naturally having yellow legs). She will probably begin a slow moult and in the course of time, will appear in a shiny new set of feathers. Her hard-working sister, however, will continue her labors until fall, in last year's shabby looking coat, worn and frayed by continuous performance in the nest.

Can you imagine a boarding house where many of the boarders stayed on and one by one either stopped paying for their meals entirely or else paid at irregular intervals only part of what was due? In a short time the landlady would discover that it was taking all the profits from those who were faithful in their payments to meet the board bill of those who did not pay. How long could a boarding house be successfully operated under such a system.

Are all your hens paying regularly for their keep? It is very common at this time of year for many hens to stop laying entirely, or lay only at very infrequent intervals. The poor layers will drop out of production one by one all summer. The really profitable hens will keep faithfully at work until fall. Then they will go thru a quick moult and be back into production as soon as those that stopped earlier in the season.

"The young bride certainly does worship her husband, doesn't she?" "Yes, she places burnt offerings before him three times a day."

REPUBLICANS MEET

ALBUQUERQUE—The republican state central committee Friday decided to hold the state nominating convention in Albuquerque, but left the date up to determination by the state executive committee.

There was no contest over the selection of the convention city, Albuquerque being the only city to officially place its bid before the committee.

The committee decided to use the vote cast for president in 1928 as the basis for apportioning the delegation to the convention, giving each county one delegate for every fifty votes cast. This will bring the official delegation around 1,400. Lea county was allowed 15 extra delegates because of the increase in population in the oil fields there since the last election.

No contest developed over the apportionment of delegates, although usually has been the custom to use the vote cast for governor. The new basis was thrashed out in the meeting of the county chairmen on Friday and accepted by the committee without opposition.

The business of the committee was wound up at the morning session, after hearing the address of Ed Safford, state chairman, defining the issues upon which the republicans will wage the fall campaign. His address drew applause at several points.

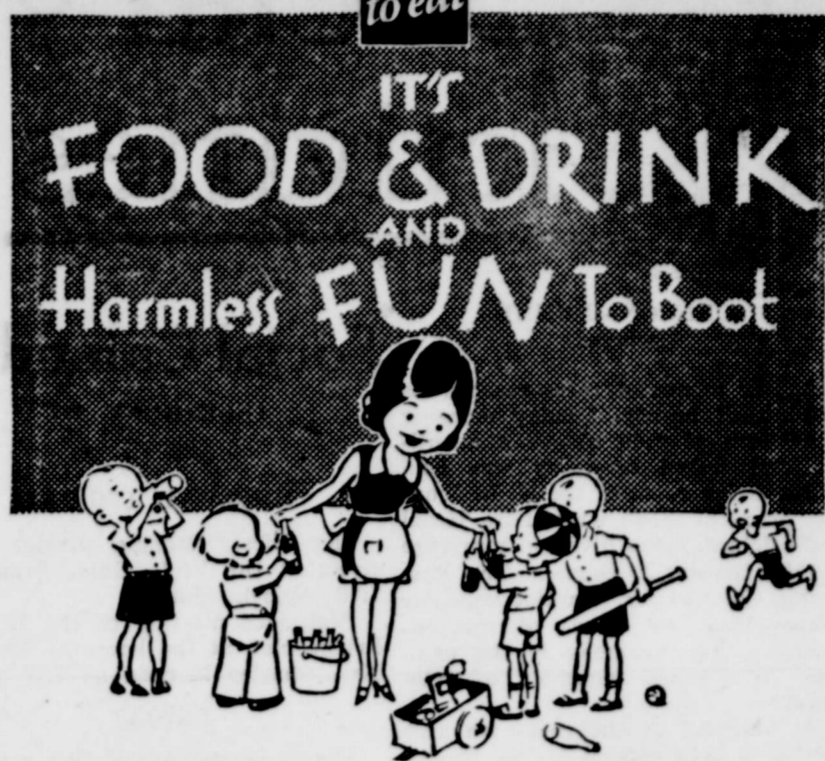

The committee meeting was attended by about 200 committeemen and party leaders.

JOHNSON—DUNNE
(Delayed)

As the month of roses reached its height of beauty, Sunday morning June 15th at 7:00 o'clock a beautiful and sacred ceremony was held in the living room of the N. L. Johnson home at Hope when Miss Hazel Belle Johnson was given in marriage to Mr. Horace J. Dunne. The Rev. Irving P. Murphy, Baptist minister pronouncing the words of the impressive ring ceremony in the presence of a small assembly of relatives.

At one end of the room, an arch used as a back ground for the beautiful flowers and ferns which added fragrance to the early morning hour, was covered with luxuriant green and shasta daisies.

As Mrs. Richard Attebery, sister of the bride, accompanied by Mrs. Irving P. Murphy, sang softly, "Oh, Promise Me," a serene spell fell over the room which gave radiant loveliness to the occasion. The Lohengrin's wedding march, was a signal to the groom who entered with the best man, Mr. J. C. Nance.

Miss Frances Johnson, maid of honor, preceded the bride to the altar where her father gave her in marriage.

The bride was lovely in a white satin gown, covered with beautiful silk lace. An adorable bridal veil made of tulle was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of tea roses mingled with baby's breath and fern. The maid of honor wore a long coral, chiffon gown, with a bouquet of pink gladiolas to match.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served after which the happy couple left for a short honeymoon in the northern part of the state.

Miss Johnson is the oldest daughter at the home of N. L. Johnson family living at Hope.

After having attended school at Las Vegas and Las Cruces she has been teaching for two years in the Central school here.

Mr. Dunne is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dunne, of Odessa, Texas. The happy couple will make their home in Odessa.

Many friends in Artesia and Hope wish them all the success and happiness possible.

COGDELL—BRECKINRIDGE

Miss Helen Cogdell and Mr. Elmer Breckinridge were the principals in a morning wedding in Carlsbad last Thursday. The ceremony was performed in the court house by Judge Richards at nine o'clock. The couple returned here and remained until Sunday when they started on an extended honeymoon trip. Leaving here in the early morning, accompanied by a number of relatives, Mrs. Nellie Cogdell and son, Frank, Mrs. Amy Henry and son, Sterlin, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jones and three sons and Miss Ruby Turknott, they drove to Mayhill, where they had a picnic dinner. The friends went with them as far as Cloudcroft on their way to El Paso. From the latter place they left for Grand Canyon, and California, returning thru Utah to Denver, Colorado, where they will make their home.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Nellie Cogdell and a member of one of the first families to settle in this part of the Pecos valley, that of J. W. Turknott, her grandfather. She was born and brought up in this community. The groom spent six months here after returning from South America, where he was employed in the oil industry for six years. For the past several months he has been in Colorado, Ft. Collins being his home.

WOOLRIDGE—KITE

Last Saturday evening at 8:40 o'clock at the court house in Carlsbad occurred the marriage of Miss Irma Woolridge and Mr. A. L. (Cotton) Kite, Judge Richards performing the ceremony. The bride was charming in an orchid wool suit, basket weave, with hat and accessories to match. Immediately after the service the couple left for a short honeymoon trip to Pecos, Texas.

The marriage was scheduled for the Fourth of July, but they decided upon an earlier date as a surprise to many friends.

Mrs. Kite has for a number of years been in charge of the Rodden studio here and will continue at her post for the present. "Cotton," following several years in the employ of the Sanitary Barber shop, has for the past two years been ranching some twenty miles, northwest of town.

Circular Pleats Give Smart Flare

Interesting Features Make Sports Frock Popular With Women.

Circular pleats give the frock illustrated a particularly smart flare. Coming at the side front the extra fullness swings out with the foot and then tucked again into a graceful soft edged pleat. In other ways, too, this frock is true to the spring and summer styles that come from Paris. The upper skirt follows the line of the figure. The waist line is normal. The blouse has a yoke. The sleeves come part way between shoulder and elbow.

While the dress is made in several pieces, they dovetail together perfectly and quickly. Once the yoke and pleated points are pressed, they may be stretched easily to the dress. The material pictured here is a powder blue.

Upper Skirt Follows Line of Figure Waistline Is Normal.

flat crepe and the trimming a single white pearl button at the neck closing. The belt is contrasting white suede. Linen, pique or a striped spun silk are also good fabrics for this style.—Women's Home Companion.

Eye Shadow Brings Out Attractive Color Tone

The suntan vogue has made us all more attentive to complexion and to other beauty factors—since it has helped us realize how much we can do for ourselves! All our making-up is being more carefully done and a natural effect is the aim of all our endeavors, says a fashion writer in the Detroit News. Our eyes—we want to make look soft and lovely, interesting, mysterious, like those we see sometimes in the evening out dining and dancing.

We emphasize their color with eye shadow deftly applied. The color of this being right, our eyes will be made to look more intensely blue, green or whatever they are, more lustrous and larger.

Blue, mauve and emerald green—the latter for very light eyes—are the shadows in smart favor now.

Our lashes will not be brushed entirely powder-free after the puff has been dusted over the face—but some of the powder left on to make the mascara slightly thicker and more effective. And we'll use black mascara only if our hair is black—otherwise brown.

Hose Made to Resemble Net, Silk, Voile, Crepe

Stockings now reflect the fabric texture of the costume, a radical departure and very new. Made of colled crepe, sheer silk hosiery reflects the weaves of tweeds, the heavier crepes of the faille type, chiffon crepe, silk voile, marquisette, and crepe romanine. Some of these new stockings are seamless, some are seamed and others are full fashioned.

An important note in hosiery, especially of the faille type, is a lack of luster. Crepe chiffons have a subtle tint that is attractive when over the flesh.

Crepe net hosiery, designed and knitted in a plain net, a striped one and an all-over pattern, is now made in white, eggshell, faint maize, fawn, fawn, blond, brunette and Florida tan back.

One of the thinnest and sheerest stockings for the spring is made with a single thread and the narrow french heel. There are also fragile stockings made of but two or three threads of chiffon weight and an all-over lace stocking that might be described as a ribbed mesh.

Black Suede

At spring sales of gloves do not overlook the chic of black suede gloves, either in six or eight button length or fastening at the wrist for street wear.

Belted Jackets

Four out of five sports suits in tweed have some kind of a belted jacket. Some of the featherweight tweeds make much of unusual pockets, yokes and cuffs, too.

KREMER CHOSEN AS DIRECTOR OF CANYON CAVERN HIWAY ASSN.

FLAGSTAFF, Arizona — R. M. Edwards of Socorro, was Monday elected president of the Carlsbad Cavern-Grand Canyon Highway Association and Roswell chosen as the next meeting place at the closing session of the organization's gathering at Flagstaff.

Robert Walton, Winslow, Arizona, was named vice-president; Dr. J. L. B. Woolford, Roswell, secretary and E. M. Brinkley, Carrizozo, treasurer. The name of the association was altered to the Carlsbad Cavern-Petrified Forest-Grand Canyon Highway Association.

Highway Commissioner Davidson of New Mexico told the group that $3,000,000 will have to be spent by the end of the present year to bring the Carlsbad Cavern-Petrified Forest Grand Canyon road up to federal standards.

Governor John C. Phillips of Arizona welcomed the highway delegates and Governor Dillon of New Mexico expressed gratification at the cooperation of the two neighboring states in their efforts to complete the highway.

Directors of the association include: E. N. Merritt, Quemado; H. L. Craig, Pietown; H. J. Jefferies, Datil, N. M.; S. M. Craig Magdalena, N. M.; W. W. Zahney, Augustine, N. M.; George Kiehl, Socorro, N. M.; J. B. French, Carrizozo; R. M. Bildo, Hondo; A. J. Brubaker, Capitan; W. B. Rose, Tinnie; Claude Simpson, Roswell, L. M. Kremer, Artesia; Victor L. WIDE-SPREAD THRIFT BEST
 FOR STABILIZING BUSINESS

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

It is quite apparent that the tide of popular thrift in America is steadily rising. Reports show a constant gain in savings bank deposits. Less money is being spent on needless extravagance, less expensive forms of luxuries are gaining in popularity;
 greater labor efficiency has developed; a more cautious and conservative attitude is being shown in the matter of investments. The blue sky promoter and the get-rich-quick type of financier are not having it as easy now as during the last four or five years. There is a growing tendency to eliminate all forms of waste. People generally are striving to make every dollar go as far as possible and utilize every day to the best advantage.

There is, of course, nothing unusual in these manifestations. During periods of depressed business and unemployment there has always been an increase in thrift. To a great degree it represents necessary economies. To some extent it is psychological.

It is indeed an eloquent tribute to the value of thrift as a means of bringing about economic readjustments. As popular savings grow and as day by day economies and personal efficiency becomes more widespread, there will gradually develop an era of increasing prosperity.

Fundamentally prosperous conditions can only exist on the solid foundation of popular thrift. Inflation, unsound activities, popular over spending and over extended credit may bring the semblance of prosperity at times but these conditions cannot last and must inevitably be followed by a cycle of deflation and a let-down in business.

In the laudible efforts continually being made to bring business and industrial activities to permanent normal levels, eliminating booms and depressions alike, it would be borne in mind that there can be no greater stabilizing influence than wide-

JAIL FOR NEW HOBBS

New Hobbs has a new jail which is proving quite an inducement to the boys of doubtful personality to leave town. It is an entirely steel affair that will neither burn nor blow away. Quite remarkable is the fact however, that despite the rapid influx of people there has been little need for a jail and three officers have been handling the peace of the area easily.

For over a year I suffered with

 B. Connelly, 504 Belknap Street, Ft.
 Worth. "My entire body was a mass of aches and pains. Finally I was forced to give up my work and was confined to bed. The pains were so severe that I had to be moved very carefully and was helpless and bedridden for three months. My nerves were completely gone and I felt at times that I could not bear my suffering another day.

"I sent away for my first treatment of Konjola and was amazed at the results. Within three weeks
 I was able to get up and around without assistance. Gradually the pain and soreness left me and I began to feel my old self again. My nerves settled, constipation was completely banished, and I do not remember when I have felt as well as I do now. Konjola certainly worked wonders in my case."

Though Konjola works quickly, and many sufferers are greatly benefited in a week, a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended for thorough results.
 Konjola is sold in Artesia at Pal-

Visitors always welcome.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Let us not forget the coming of Secretary Phillips Thursday evening. Lunch will be served to everybody as seven o'clock and then Rev. Phillips will speak to us. He is one of the leading preachers of the south and will bring us a very fine message. We will also have some special music. Everybody is most cordially invited to this service.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will speak on, "What We Need Most." At the evening hour the subject will be, "The Steps of God." Mrs. Fred Cole sang very beautifully for us last Sunday morning. Our music adds very much to the interest of our services. At the evening hour our young people bring us some very helpful music. Our evening service begins promptly at 8:00 o'clock. Our young people meet at 7:00 o'clock. We shall be glad to see you in our services. We have fans to keep you cool.
R. PETERSON, Pastor.

THE CHURCH OF CHRIST One Block West of Central School

In spite of the hot weather, we enjoyed two fine services last Lord's day. Brother McKenzie preached a fine sermon in the afternoon. Ask anyone how the singing was.

If you enjoy the good old time congregational singing, say Brother come over to the Church of Christ during the meeting and you will hear it. Everybody sings over there. You just can't hardly keep from singing yourself.

Remember Wainwright begins our meeting on Wednesday night, July 2nd. Song service starts at 8:00 p. m.

Brother Wainwright is in a great meeting at Plainview, Texas this week. Make your plans to be present at every service you can.

Be on hand next Lord's day for Bible school. We will have a good sermon by Brother Southard at the 11:00 o'clock hour. Come get in the harness, and help boost for the meeting. Visitors always receive a hearty welcome. Ask someone who has been there, but better still come and see for yourself.

The battle cry now is, "Hear J. Emmett Wainwright, July 2 to 14."

7:50 p. m., Song service followed by evening worship. Music by the church orchestra and anthem by Junior choir. Sermon subject—"A Young Man's Wise Choice." There are vital choices confronting every person, especially youth—the choice of a life work—of a life partner—of a religious denomination—of the city or the small town. How can we be guided to make right choices? "Will it be getting by or getting there?"

On the 25th of June 1530, four hundred years ago, the Augsburg Confession, the first protestant document to formulate its interpretation of the Bible, was adopted by what afterwards became known as the Lutheran church. It was the first of a long series of creeds and confessions issued by leaders of branches of the protestant church. What are the protestant people of Artesia doing to uphold the great truths of the reformations. Too many are careless and indifferent. What Artesia needs is a vital protestant faith lived by its members. Surely to honor the Lord's Day by worshiping in His house and not wandering in the green fields, (with me ought to be worshipping with His people) is one of our vital needs.

SOMETHING UNIQUE IN CHURCH SERVICES

The Artesia Presbyterian church conducted last Sunday morning an old time Scotch Presbyterian service with the pastor wearing the Geneva Gown, preached on the "Message of the Scottish Covenanters to our Times." Taking as his text, Hebrew 11th chapter, verse 28, he told the events leading up to the "Killing Times," when like the persecuted Jews of old, our Presbyterian forbears had to wander over the mountains hiding in caves and dens. V. L. Gates acted as beadle, while Supt. Kerr ably filled the place of precentor, leading the congregation in singing the old Scotch psalms to long metre tunes. Like the Covenanters of old the service was minus "the kist (chest) o' whistles"—the name given to the first pipe organs introduced in Scotland, and the congregational singing seemed improved with the innovation. Mrs. V. L. Gates and Mrs. Bruning sung a duet an old time Scotch paraphrase, "How Bright Those Glorious Spirits Shine." Some who came to the service wondered if a Scotch service would have a collection. They were relieved by being told that the old time Scotch services usually had both an entering and a retiring collection, only the usual free will offering would be asked for.

A number of the Methodist people attended the service as did Mr. and Mrs. Dan Savage from Roswell, who seeing the notice of this unique service in the Artesia Advocate, and being of Scotch descent resolved to pay homage to their Presbyterian forbears.

The service was fittingly brought to a close by the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" "We Will Be True to Thee Till Death."

TEXAS DELEGATION TO VISIT CARLSBAD CAVES

A motercade of Texas officials headed by Governor Dan Moody and former Governor Pat Neff, will visit the Guadalupe mountains of West Texas and the Carlsbad Caverns arriving at Carlsbad July 11, according to D. E. Colp, chairman of the Texas Park Board.

The trip follows endorsement of the Carlsbad Cavern by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and furthers a view of Mr. Colp that the Guadalupe region of Texas and the Cavern constitute one great playground.

Governor R. C. Dillon of New Mexico will probably meet the Texans at Van Horn, where the highway 99 convention will be held.

SCOUT NEWS

Scouts who are to attend camp We-hin-ah-pay this summer may be interested in knowing who the camp leaders will be. If you will keep an eye on this column for the next few weeks, we will try to acquaint you with most of them before camp opens on July 10th. For the past few years we have tried various ways of managing the camp. All have been successful. For various reasons Minor has decided to manage this year's camp in person. So today, we introduce Minor Huffman, scout executive of eastern New Mexico area council, who will give his personal attention to the camp as director. That, we feel sure, means quite a lot to the scouts who are planning to attend the camp. That means more fun, more interest, more safety and a better camp in general for each individual boy. We know this prophesy is true because not a one of the more than seven hundred scouts in the council but that affectionately call "Minor" a personal friend. Well, boys, Minor will be there this year to give you the benefit of that master understanding of you and your desires. He tells us that he is expecting not less than one hundred fifty of his scout friends to meet him in camp the afternoon of July 10th.

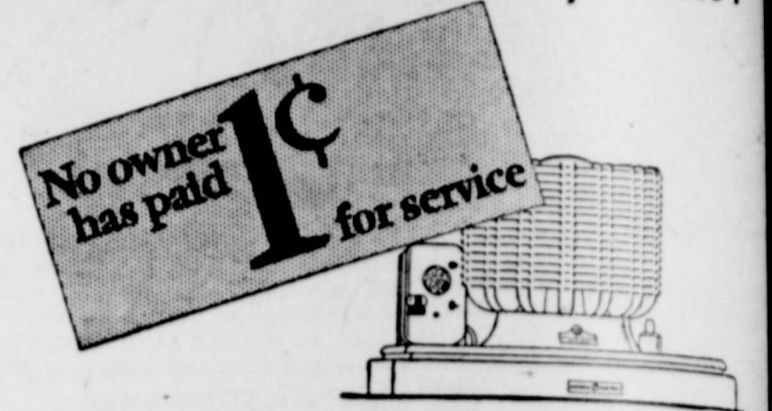

ARTESIA SCOUTS PLAN FOR CAMP

Scouts from troops 8 and 20 of Artesia are making big plans to use camp We-hin-ah-pay this summer. At a camp rally held in the Central gymnasium last Friday evening scoutmaster Olds of troop 8 announced that he will attend camp with the boys for a few days. Scoutmaster Woodsides of troop 28 regrets that he cannot attend in person but says that he will do his best to get most of his scouts to go. Scouts Richard Wheatley and Delbert Jones both of whom will be junior camp leaders, are working hard to get ready for the responsibilities they have been chosen to assume. Of course all the scout officials are backing the boys in their efforts to go to camp.

SECOND ANNUAL GOOD WILL TOUR DECLARED VERY SUCCESSFUL

Promptly at 7:00 o'clock, Wednesday morning, June 18th, approximately 100 citizens of Artesia departed on the second annual good will trip to the area west of our city. The following members of the Artesia Band under the direction of E. L. Harp accompanied the trippers: J. C. Paris, LeRoy Evans, Fletcher Collins, Ernest Harp, Paul Campbell, Wayne Hornbaker, Kirk Yeager, John W. Collins, Fletcher Hornbaker, Jack McCaw, Glenn Stone, Edwin McCaw, Eugene Boans, Lawrence Clarke, Clarence Crockett, Cyril Stone, Grace Sinclair, Thelma McCaw, Fern McCaw, Myrna Yeager, Laura Belle McCaw, and Hannah Belle McCaw.

The first stop was made at Dunken where the caravan was greeted by the representative citizenship of that community. A splendid band concert was rendered here and the trippers moved on to Pinon.

It would be hard to find hospitality to exceed that accorded our delegation at Pinon. Good will was evident at every turn and was exemplified to the highest degree thru the wonderful barbecue dinner served by the good people of Pinon. Cakes, pies, salads, galore and then barbecue that was barbecue. It is reported thru reliable sources that S. S. Ward accounted for at least two goats, in addition to a liberal portion of salad, pie, cake and one loaf of bread. Coffee cooked in the open, the old fashioned way, was followed by the distribution of ice cream, through the courtesy of the Mann Drug Co.

After enjoying the splendid repast the crowd were treated to several good talks, one of which was delivered by our fellow citizen W. E. Ragsdale, a good will offering was tendered to the schools of Pinon, a band concert of no mean proportions was rendered and the crowd headed towards Weed.

At this good little city the caravan was greeted by a splendid crowd who enjoyed the music of our splendid little band and the talk given by E. A. Hannah. A stay of 30 minutes here was enjoyed by everyone and onward moved the trippers headed up the most beautiful drive one could find, toward Cloudercroft.

Upon reaching Cloudercroft, a concert was rendered in the city itself, announcements were made and everyone moved up the hill to the lodge, to be greeted by our good friend Hutchins, with all courtesy and consideration.

Accommodations having been arranged, the golfers moved to the golf course, the horseshoe pitchers to their arena, the croquet hounds to their work and the balance just ambled about enjoying the wonderful scenery, the city and accommodations of the lodge.

At 7:00 a splendid band concert was rendered at the lodge and at 7:30 the doors of the spacious dining room were opened to the travelers who had completed a good days work of spreading good will. A reception committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Herndon, Mrs. Mortimer, Mr. and Mrs. Redick, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Daniels, Archie Campbell and his better half and Mr. Hutchins himself were on hand to meet with us. A splendid talk was broadcast by our good Mayor, D. I. Clowe and several other short talks were made. The closing talk was made by Mr. Alexander of Cloudercroft, who in excellently chosen words welcomed us to his city and in the course of his dissertation created a desire, on the part of some members of our delegation, to visit the city of Chicago for the distinct purpose of gathering at the Chicago river.

A splendid time was had by all and many were the expressions of appreciation for the courtesies extended by every one of Cloudercroft.

After a splendid breakfast at the lodge, several rounds of golf were enjoyed and the delegation again met in the city of Cloudercroft where we were entertained by a rodeo, put on by the citizens of that area. To visibly show our appreciation, the Artesia Band literally filled the air with a program of excellent music. The strays having been gathered to the fold the caravan left Cloudercroft promptly at 11:00 a. m., arriving at Mayhill just before noon.

Here we were greeted by our good friends M. D. Brantley, who had prepared a most excellent dinner. One glance at the wonderful repast and the band again burst forth into music that was appreciated by the citizenship of Mayhill who had assembled to greet us. After enjoying the splendid meal and visiting with our friends who had gathered to greet us, the trippers slipped away to Elk, where we visited with our friends Mr. and Mrs. Cleve.

From Elk we moved on to Hope where a splendid band concert was rendered. A visit of some 50 minutes was made with the citizenship of Hope and then everyone, tired but happy, left for home.

There were several features of the trip that have evidenced the splendid spirit of cooperation and hospitality we have anticipated. At every stop we were met with a courteous reception. We were accorded every consideration and assisted in every man-

29,019,801.18 TOTAL DISBURSED BY STATE DURING YEAR 1929

SANTA FE—A total of $29,019,801.18 was disbursed during the year ending June 30, 1929, by the state and its various departments and institutions, counties, cities, towns, villages and school districts in New Mexico.

This is the gist of a statement issued by the state taxpayer's association.

Certain agency transactions and offsets involving transfers of funds among various governmental units amounting to $4,617,585.04 brings the total actual disbursement down to $24,402,215.14, however.

Of this amount, $11,297,402.55 was disbursed by state departments, institutions, commissions and boards, as compared with $7,351.07 for the year ending June 30, 1927.

General government expense increased from $411,446.89 to $446,178.20.

Educational expense grew from $1,538,065.97 to $2,052,514.97. Included in this expense is $3,890.51 for the Eastern Normal not yet in operation.

Judiciary expense grew from $134,968.84 to $151,538.29; protection to persons and property from $288,242.15 to $254,656.59, development and conservation of natural resources from $241,294.50 to $288,214.74; conservation of health and sanitation from $76,317 to $77,382.81; highways and bridges from $40,007,333.48 to $7,733,786.89; charities and hospitals from $214,062.26 to $304,385.60; and debt service from $213,825.93 to $660,559.91.

The dinners at Pinon and Mayhill could not have been excelled and the accommodations of the lodge were all one could have hoped for. It seemed that everyone along the route was trying to make our trip one of pleasure and surely their efforts were a success.

The Artesia Chamber of Commerce is appreciative of all of these things we acknowledge our debt of gratitude and we await the opportunity to repay in kind. We are appreciative of the work that has been done by the forest road service, by the highway department of our state and by the department of agriculture. Many were the expressions of surprise at the splendid condition of highway 83 and we hope that a continuation of this effort will complete the project.

The mountain camps and scenery were a revelation to many and their accessibility encourages us all the more to boost the section we have traversed. It would be difficult to anticipate a trip that was more enjoyable than the one just completed. To the citizens of the area we traversed we extend our appreciation.

How Stammering Can Be Induced by "Coddling"

Efforts to explain the reason of the prevalence of stammering have never been really satisfactory. There are many theories. It is a fact that it is more generally encountered among the males, the proportion being about three to one. In a class of stammering children in Chicago it has been observed that among the boys there is a great preponderance of "only boys." These youngsters apparently have too much attention, and too much protection constantly focused on them from babyhood. Such excessive care defeats its own ends, and makes the small boy self-conscious, shy and uncomfortable in his relations with other children. His feeling of maladjustment frequently shows itself in his speech. The frequency of stammering among women is largely due to the prevalence of speech training in girls' schools. These conclusions are the result of observations of the principal of a large city school.

How Helium is Produced

The isolation of helium in the pure state is a matter of some difficulty. To begin with, some mineral containing the gas, like cleveite or uraninite, is finely powdered and heated with diluted sulphuric acid, the air being excluded and the expelled gas being collected over mercury. The gas—mostly helium, but containing also nitrogen and other atmospheric constituents—is next transferred into an evacuated vessel partly filled with a mass of charcoal and cooled from the outside with liquid air; the charcoal gradually absorbs everything except the helium and part of the neon, and if the process is repeated several times, nothing but pure helium remains behind unabsorbed.

How "Old Harry" Originated

The term "Old Harry" to designate his satanic majesty the devil has its origin in a curious mistake of the translators of the King James version of the Bible. In Leviticus 17, verse 7 occurs the Hebrew word "selrim." The literal translation is "hairy ones." The verse reads "and they shall no more offer their sacrifices unto devils." The actual translation of the word "selrim" is "hairy ones," which referred to the he-gouts at that time objects of worship among the Egyptians. The early day term for the devil, "Old Harry," was finally corrupted into "Old Harry." —Capper's Weekly.

FIRST THOUGHT

It was little Jacky's first experience in a train and the succession of wonders had reduced him to a state of astonishment.

When the locomotive plunged into a tunnel there came from his corner sundry grunts indicating dismay and suspicion. Then the train rushed into daylight again and a voice was lifted in profound thankfulness and wonder. "Mamma! It's tomorrow."

NEW MEX. POPULATION RAISED APPROXIMATELY 54,000 IN TEN YEARS

SANTA FE—New Mexico gained approximately 54,000 population in the past ten years to put the 1930 census at close to 415,000, according to a state table compiled by the Associated Press from the reports of New Mexico's five census districts.

With all counties reported except McKinley county the 1930 census totaled 398,413 in contrast with the 1920 government census total of 360,350. McKinley county's 1920 census was 13,731.

Considering that Gallup's population increased 1,081 and the county is reported to have increased, the completed state figure should be around 415,000.

While Bernalillo leads the counties with a gain of 44,080, Dona Ana, the second ranking county on increases shows the greatest county-wide-development.

The increase of 14,225 population in Bernalillo is represented largely by an 11,369 gain in the city of Albuquerque. Dona Ana's increase of 10,991 persons to make a 1930 census total of 27,541 shows that 9,161 persons in the increase were from throughout the county while 1,830 were represented in the increase to Las Cruces. The Dona Ana increase is evidence of farm development throughout Dona Ana county.

Thirteen counties showed increases of more than 1,000 population, and singularly enough these are divided between the northwest and southwest sections of the state, with one of the counties being in the southwest quarter.

Statewide, nineteen counties gained (assuming that McKinley county gained), ten lost and there are two on which comparative figures are not available.

In the southwest quarter, Dona Ana was the only county to rank in the first thirteen, while none in the northeast quarter reached that rank.

Oil development boosted Lea and Eddy counties, New Mexico's previously deficient ones, among the first thirteen in gain. Eddy county ranked fifth with a gain of 5,669 for a new population total of 14,785, while Lea county ranked ninth with a gain of 2,332 for a new population figure of 5,877.

MARK TWAIN'S SPIDER

When Mark Twain was editor of the Hannibal, Missouri paper, an old subscriber wrote him saying he had found a spider in his paper and asked if it meant good or bad luck. Twain replied: "Old subscriber—Finding a spider in your paper was neither good nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over the paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, and spin his web across the door, and live a life of undisturbed peace afterwards."

"Hey Mike, said one painter to the other atop a house, don't come down the ladder on the north corner. I took it away."

PICKED UP ON MAIN

The Tuc. News says a man and a worm are just alike—a chicken gets them both.

We thought the good willers to Cloudercroft and intermediate points carried a portable broadcasting set along so they could broadcast the programs at the various stops. We tried to tune in on the speeches of Fred Cole and Squire Ferree, but could not get anything but a whistle. We concluded that the boys had failed to get any mountain dew and their mouths became so dry, they could not talk, so decided to whistle.

Artesia plumbers will be pleased to know that M. W. Evans drew the job of chairman of the sewer commission on the new city council.

While Marshal Ross Conner is remarking the curbs on Main we suggest that he draw a white line on the side walk to test the sobriety of some of these fellers who throw late parties.

One of our fellow citizens, who craved a balanced ration, as well as an imaginary financial balance, imbibed to much of Artesia's best home brew and says that it contains neither vitamins A. B. or C.

There is lot of difference in people. Some worry where the next check is coming from, while others do not even give a thought to whether the last check is coming back.

HOBBS MAN KILLED

A boiler on the California No. 1 state well being drilled in section 29-18-38 blew up Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock and killed Virgil Heath of Hobbs who was firing the boilers at the time.

A battery of three boilers were being used and the center boiler blew up, evidently from high pressure while heat was in the act of turning more water into one of the outside boilers. He was blown about 20 feet from the boilers and was unconscious when picked up by fellow workers. He died before reaching the hospital in New Hobbs only two miles away.

The two outside boilers were skidded over about three feet by the force of the explosion and the exploding boiler was thrown 30 feet in the air and 150 feet from its base. The boiler house and platforms were torn into kindling wood and scattered for a radius of two hundred feet.

An automobile sitting 75 feet from the boilers was badly demolished and another car 150 feet away was damaged.

The Barham Drilling Company of Shreveport, Louisiana, are the owners of the boilers and contractors of the well.

NEW MEXICO SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS TOTAL OF 133,051 PERSONS

SANTA FE—New Mexico's school census, released Monday by State Superintendent of Schools Atanasio Montoya shows a total of 133,051 persons of school age in New Mexico a gain of 6,446 over the preceding year.

Apportionment of the state current school fund, to be made next month will be based on the census figures by Montoya and State School Auditor Carl D. Comstock, State Treasurer Emerson Watts has not yet certified the amount available.

Bernalillo county scored the greatest gain, on the face of the census report, 1059, with Santa Fe county showing the second largest, a gain of 666.

The Hobbs situation, however, is not shown in its true light owing to the fact the census was made prior to August 1, 1929, according to the school code provision, although it is used for making the 1930 apportionment of funds.

Only a slight gain for Lea county is shown for the entirety of Lea county whereas, Montoya said, the oil town alone now has a school census of 1,200, contrasted with approximately 100 for that town in the present census.

FUNDS FOR SPANISH CHURCH

The following appeal is made by Mrs. Flavia S. Pelaez, for funds to complete the Spanish Baptist church, which is now under construction in north Artesia:

For over a year I had been suffering with a terrible sickness. Altho I had been to every doctor in Artesia, Roswell and Carlsbad. Finally Dr. Stroup sent me to El Paso to a specialist. Now I am better than I ever was. For which I give thanks to our Lord. My wish now is that everyone who reads this to know that I have gratitude to our Lord.

I am now manifesting to the public that I promised Jesus Christ our Savior that I would beg for alms to be used for the enlargement and benefit of the Holy Gospel.

Dear friends do not think this is for me, this is only a promise I made and I must do it.

The names of the contributors will be published in the paper.

Giving you my thanks,

FLAVIA S. PELAEZ.

UP THE YANGSTZE RIVER IN OLD CHINA LAND

Lieutenant B. K. Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Kaiser of the Dayton community, with the 4th regiment U. S. M. C., has written us a detailed account of his trip up the Yangtze river in China, which will no doubt be of interest to many of our readers. Because of the length of the article, we have found it necessary to run it in five or six installments. The article was written from impressions gained by Mr. Kaiser during his two and a half years in China:

Hankow
We came to anchor in the fairway just off the North German Lloyd docks at straight up midnight. We had all been pretty much confined aboard of late and all officers except the skipper were waiting at the gangway as our motor sampan came alongside.

Ashore we found everything pretty well closed up but guided by Mason, we soon emerged in a well-lighted street crowded with rickshaws; an unerring indication as to the after midnight activities of Hankow. Soon we could hear the distant strains of dance music. There were eight or ten cabarets grouped along this street. Mason led us into an entrance under a large sign, "The International." We entered a typical bar room opening to the left onto a dance floor. Mason introduced us to a large, rawboned, prominent featured woman. He introduced her as Mother Jones, the proprietress. She welcomed us warmly, though with a distinct Russian accent and proffered us drinks which we declined. We passed on into the dance room. This had apparently been an old stamping ground for Mason and Doc, as they greeted many of the dancing girls like long lost sisters. Mason is a type of man that has an apparently inexhaustible store of energy, the type that can keep going all night, carefree, perhaps drunk, but in the morning will be on the job, hard, practical and efficient, the type of naval officer that makes America a dangerous foe on the sea. How well I remember him at Annapolis but that was almost a different world and whether you go east of whether you go west, it is ten thousand miles away.

The dance floor was well lighted but frugally decorated. On our left were a couple lines of tables. Around some of them men sat drinking, smoking and talking. Their conversation as a whole was light, perhaps lewd. Several of them were watching and discussing either singly or severally, the dancing girls, pointing them out and appraising them in the same manner as they would livestock. They were seated at tables across the room, quite an assortment, gaudily dressed and painted who sat about their tables and flirted or tried to flirt with the men across the floor. Suddenly, with an awakening bang on the base drum, a four piece orchestra struck up a syncopated, jazzy dance tune and several of the men crossed the floor and chose dance partners. As a whole I saw no essential difference between this cabaret and those of Tientsin, Peking, Shanghai or even Manila. The dancing girls here were either Russian or Eurasian. An Eurasian is a mixture between the white and the oriental races. You see many of them along the China coast cities. They were all so painted and powdered that they would not have made out badly in any circus side-show. As usual, prominent signs announced, "Dance Tickets—Three for a Dollar—No Chits."

After watching the dancers a while it seemed to me that the men could be roughly divided into two groups. Most prominent and numerous were younger men, probably Griffins, fairly new to the Orient; men who were out to see the world, the jobs they were on being secondary and more or less temporary; perhaps sailors on merchant-men or war vessels then in the river nearby. They were drinking heavily and were loud and light hearted tonight; tomorrow they would be heavy-headed, despondent and repentant. They danced with loud stamps and awkward whirls in a kind of jazzy rhythm.

It was the other type who interested me more, as a class they were middle-aged and tended to be rather quiet at least this part of the evening. They drank as much as the first type, but these fellows could hold their liquor. Their faces showed signs of responsibility and cares. This was Saturday night and they were here to drive away, for a while at least, loneliness for homes and families perhaps far away, and to forget temporarily the cares and worries of business. Money seemed to be no special item to these men. Even in their dealings with these cabaret girls, their bearing bespoke breeding. I could imagine them dressed in swallow-tailed coats making deep bows to titled ladies. Though far reversed in time and place, that off spoke "vener" of Cambridge or of Oxford was deeply veiled, but was unmistakable. I should not say "vener" for it takes something deeper than "vener" to survive in the Orient. Monday these very men will be directing huge enterprises of business, outlining policies and devising plans involving hundreds of thousands of dollars. These far-flung outposts form a very important section in the network of many colossal, worldwide business enterprises. A network gravitating toward the pulsating centers of Wall Street and London, where in feverish activity, fortunes may be lost or gained in a day and where tickers give out fraction of a second stock reports. Suddenly there is a slump in Asiatic Petroleum, British American Tobacco of China Export and Import, caused, you soon find, by a new revolution in China. The papers tell of heavy property damage with perhaps some loss of life at Hankow or at Nanking. Destroyers or Marines are ordered here and there. These men right here, however, are the men who really stand the burdens caused by these troubles. These are the men who are charged with keeping those far-flung enterprises paying dividends to the swivel-chair stockholders of New York, London, Hamburg or Amsterdam and to the masses of small "stockholders" who, in the past few years, have been investing extensively in these large companies.

My thoughts were abruptly if not rudely disturbed as Doc backed up a big, heavy, blonde, dancing girl and tried to seat her in my lap. She was not over tall but was broad of the shoulders and broader still at the hips. She held her chin high causing her typical Russian pyramidal nose to point almost toward the overhead and in spit of a hopelessly dumb countenance, her carriage was as self-assured as that of Napoleon Bonaparte. I arose quickly to avoid being crushed and invited her to be seated. Doc ordered drinks and then proceeded to introduce her as Miss Titanic. Her name was really Titanya but she seemed to be highly pleased with the former interpretation, probably having never heard of the fate of that unfortunate ship. Doc told her that we had just arrived from Shanghai. She answered with a drawled sympathetic "O are you." Doc continued to tell her of Shanghai and of our trip up. Her response was sincere enough but was usually with the same surprised, sympathetic wonderment "Oh are you," with the "are" drawled out. I might mention here that I never let Doc forget that phrase during the whole remainder of the trip to Ichang.

I excused myself and looked up Con who had been dancing. Every girl with whom he had danced had asked him for a drink on the second dance. Their pay depends largely upon the amount of liquor that they sell which accounts for their being so sanguine after liquor. If they are shown any favors whatever they ask for champagne, which in these Hankow cabarets sells for $16.00 per bottle, that is local currency, about $7.00 U. S. currency.

I was ready to return to the ship and went back to the International. Carey, the chief engineer on the Oahu was in the bar room. With flowery gestures and with broken bursts of eloquence, he was proclaiming the dancing girl, who was perched upon the bar before him, that she was the best looking girl in Hankow. They were both holding sparkling glasses and his speech was apparently meant to be in the form of a toast. It seemed to please her immensely, quite properly so as the second bottle of champagne was nearly empty beside her. I passed quite unnoticed and went on into the dancing room. Here I found things quite different than when we first arrived. Now the dancing was sometimes accompanied with loud "Whoopes." There was loud talking at some of the tables and at the corner table a trio was sentimentally singing what was probably meant to be "Sweet Adeline." I passed over some broken beer glasses near a table where some sailors were in an arguing mood, and saw Doc the third table over. To my surprise he had his back to the dance floor and was talking quite earnestly to a couple of men who were drinking whisky sodas seated across the table from him. I was introduced and found them to be captains of tankers belonging to the Standard Oil fleet on the Yangtze. One was a large florid faced man by the name of Jargeson. The other was small and swarthy and was introduced as Mr. Salvasen. They were both quite friendly and very interesting. These fellows had been in China for years and knew the Yangtze from Tibet to the sea. I talked with them for about a half hour not noticing when the music stopped. I now looked up and noticed that the orchestra had gone. A few girls still stood in big coats apparently wishing to collect tickets for unpaid dances from two or three men who were leaning heavily over their tables either asleep or in a drowsy stupor. A couple lights went out and the Chinese boys began to clean the place up, a hint to the remaining customers that it was closing time. Con came in with Carey. Carey was several sheets to the wind and couldn't think of going aboard so early. We went outside but every place along the street was closed. Jargeson and Salvasen left us but still we could not get Carey in the notion of going home. He now insisted that we go to the dumps. Con and I could have forced him to go with us, but he was two years our senior in the military service and we had learned by past experience that often lasting dislikes are formed by inopportune interfering with fellows in his condition. In view, however, of his family in Shanghai, we decided to stay with him and keep him out of trouble. We took rickshas and started down town. The ricksha coolies well knew the only places remaining open at this hour. At various places along the road, blocked in huge letters were signs advertising a movie then showing in Hankow, entitled "The Road to Ruin." Con pointed it out as a warning omen. The sign had a peculiar tint in the faint light of dawn. Toward the bund we could hear those pathetic, never ceasing, monotonous working songs of thousands of cargo coolies who were toiling steadily the whole night thru. Their lot in this word is indeed difficult and yet they seem to be happy. Their suicide rate is lower than in our own beloved land. Although materially far, far, behind high-strung, industrialized America. I have often wondered if in understanding of life, they are not our superiors, or, is it only the animal instinct to survive that keeps them trudging, ever trudging onward in pursuit of a few coppers per day with which to buy rice. At length we turned down a side street and came to a heavily curtained place with a globe light out in front. Carey led the way. We passed by one room in which there were about a dozen men and women. Some of them were loud, some were drowsy, all had had too much liquor. We recognized several faces that we had seen earlier in the evening in the cabarets. At this point we were met by a stout middle-aged Russian woman who enforced a kind of a business air and was apparently the manager. She escorted us to a smaller reception room. There were a couple of girls lounging on a couch in the far corner, hard at work with powder puffs and rouge sticks. The floor was barren and there was little furniture. Strangely enough, a phonograph was playing "My Mother's Eyes," a song quite popular at this time in China, although it had its run in the State, I understand, the previous year. At a distance the girls appeared to be attractive and young. It struck me as a shame that they should be throwing their lives away in such a place. I wondered what ideals they could have to strive for, what hope for the future. Life must seem futile indeed to them. My pity soon turned to disgust as they approached nearer. In spite of their youth, their countenances bore an unmistakable callousness and toughness through the camouflage of cosmetics. Con and I sat down while Carey and Doc after ordering drinks began dancing.

CONOCO Celebrates its Conquest in America's Greatest Motor Classic!

GERM-PROCESSED is the First Stock Motor Oil to "place" in INDIANAPOLIS Speedway Races! . . . Now PENETRATIVE LUBRICITY Proves it's Worth in the Terrific Punishment of Racing Motors

Dave Evans, driving a one hundred twenty-two cubic inch front drive Miller Special, placed sixth out of thirty-eight starters. Evans added less than one-half the amount of oil usually consumed in the average racing motor, in five hours, twenty-four minutes, fifty-four seconds of driving, at an average speed of 92.57 miles per hour.

More than one hundred and seventy thousand cheering, excited people, Friday, May 30, saw CONOCO do something that no other stock oil has ever done before . . . saw CONOCO's claims for the sensational new Germ-Processed oil verified beyond the shadow of a doubt . . . saw the supreme test applied to America's newest oil . . . saw Germ-Processed oil "place" among the leaders of the Indianapolis Race . . . saw CONOCO victorious in the domestic oil market of the Nation!

It was only good strategy for CONOCO to again bring the superiority of Germ-Processed oil to your attention in this sensational way. At a time when motorists in every section of the country have been lending willing ears to the story of the Germ Process . . . learning that this is the first fundamental improvement in oils since 1901 . . . reading the sensational disclosures of motor oil merit following the recent Pike's Peak Tests . . . CONOCO, by this masterful stroke, crystallizes the already widespread conviction, that Germ-Processed Motor Oil is the safest oil for every-day driving in twenty-seven million cars. For the Germ-Processed oil used in this race was the same stock oil that you can buy at any service

The Con Test Board of the AAA took all the necessary steps to make sure that the oil used was the regular Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil.

WALTER P. CHRYSLER'S TRAFFIC TALKS

DRIVERS, OLD AND NEW

Every year a flood of brand-new drivers appears on the highways of the world. They are men and women of any age, and young people from 16 and 18 up. While there is no way in which one can tell for a certainty that the driver in front of him is an old or a new hand, it is fairly easy to distinguish between a person who has had much experience and one who has had none at all.

The very difficulty of telling whether or not the person in front of him is an old or a bad driver is an added argument for the use of caution on the highways. You can never be certain that the car approaching you, as you approach it, is not in the hands of someone who is very nervous. A green driver will sometimes turn directly in the path of an oncoming car in sheer nervousness. Approach all cars with care.

When you pass a car that is brand new, driven slowly and evidently in the hands of a novice, give it a wide berth. Don't blow your horn sharply and suddenly from the rear. Give a fair warning, far enough behind and if you have to pass closely reduce the speed of your car.

Under no conditions should any driver ever deliberately frighten or annoy another driver on the road. In some states there are regulations against excessive horn-blowing and there is no offense over which a judge is more stern in meting out justice than that of deliberately bearing down upon another car and crowding it off the road.

The new driver has a great many things to learn about the car, the road, and other cars. He is alert and driving with intelligence and care. The chances are that if he makes a slip in judgment it is due to nervousness, caused by the traffic around him.

Until he becomes accustomed to the ways of the road, he should be handled with courtesy and caution.

LAKE ARTHUR ITEMS

Mrs. Ned Hedges, Reporter

A. M. Hedges spent the week end visiting the family of M. D. Menoud at Hagerman.

Bill Marks of Dexter and Norma Christman of Artesia, were visiting the Jones family last week.

Miss Turner was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts, refreshments of delicious angel food cake and ice cream were served to about fifty guests. The special feature of the entertainment was the "Tom Thumb Bridal Party" which wended its way slowly down the stairs singing "Just a Love Nest." Peggy Sims, little bride was lovely in white satin and veil of real lace, Dixie Dan Goode, the groom wore the conventional black. Dixie Hedges in ministerial black read the modern marriage service with Allen Sims and Juanita Chester both attired in pink georgette attended the bride and bringing with them the boat load of equipment to be used by the bride and groom on their life's journey together. The out of town guests were Mrs. Roy Carrol and children of Roswell, sister of Miss Turner, Mrs. Lonnie Chester and children of Artesia, sister of Orrin Smith, groom to be, and Mesdames James McKinstry and Johnnie Bowen, both of Hagerman. A lovely time was enjoyed by all.

The Latest CORONA

No radical changes.
But some interesting refinements and a few added features.

For one thing you may now have paper bail on your Corona, if you prefer the bail to paper fingers.

You may also order your machine equipped with 1, 1 1/2, 2 line spacing. All typewriters will space single or double between lines; but the 1 1/2 space is something new. It gives a very pleasing effect to a letter and allows you to get more words on a page.

There are other interesting things to learn about the latest Corona. We haven't the space here to describe them but we will gladly explain them fully if you will drop in or phone us.
