ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1930.

NUMBER 40

STREET BEGGARS MAY BE PICKED UP ON A CHARGE OF VAGRANCY

Promiscuous begging in Artesia will be stopped unless the beggars wish lodging in the city's free boarding house. Mayor D. I. Clowe, has issued orders to all city officers to arrest any offender on charge of vagrancy found guilty of soliciting charity from residents of the community. The mayor's order is the result of a horde of beggars and alms seekers that have invaded the community during the past two weeks. The common practice seems to be to ask for aid in getting medical treatment.

Only recently it was said that a beggar secured forty or fifty dollars here on pretext of getting medical aid and after working the town, went to the Artesia hotel, climbed into a big automobile and bid our city farewell. Further investigation revealed that he had occupied the best room at the hotel and had taken his meals at the hotel coffee shop.

The Artesia Golf club is making preparation to entertain the first annual Pecos Valley Amateur Golf Tournament, which will be held on the local course, Sunday, September 28th. Arrangements will be made to accommodate a large number of visiting players from the surrounding towns. Prizes valued at approximately $97.00 will be offered for the first three places in the three flights.

The following rules and regulations will govern the coming tournament: Three flights to be used in the prize round. Qualifying round, nine holes to be played Sunday morning. The second round of eighteen holes to be played immediately upon completion of the qualification round.

Registration to be made before 9:00 a. m., September 28th. All entrants should forward registration and entrance fee as early as possible to L. N. Kremer, tournament chairman, Chamber of Commerce.

The prize list follows: First Flight: 1st prize, $25.00 leather bag; 2nd prize, $15.00 club; 3rd prize, 6 balls. Second Flight: 1st prize $15.00 golf bag; 2nd prize, $10.00 club, 3rd prize, 6 balls. Third Flight: 1st prize, $12.50 club; 2nd prize, $8.00 iron; 3rd prize, 6 balls.

MAN IS SHOT FOR AN ALLEGED INVASION OF MELON PATCH FRIDAY

L. L. Sherbet sustained a painful but not serious shot gun wound in his head and arm as result of an alleged invasion of a water melon patch belonging to Ben Gonzales, Friday night. According to the story of the incident told in justice court here, Gonzales ordered the man to stop and shot after the alleged intruder failed to obey his command. A sack containing two water melons was dropped by the wounded man after the shooting. Gonzales lives on the Carl Martin farm, south of town.

OLD FIDDLERS CONTEST

S. L. Reese has arranged to stage an old fiddlers contest at Central school auditorium Friday evening, which promises to be an interesting and entertaining event. A number of contestants from nearby towns are expected to enter. A special invitation is extended to the home players to come and take part.

Prizes ranging from a gold watch, chain and knife down to a guaranteed fountain pen will be given to the winners of the first six places. Two prizes will also be offered to the two best guitar pickers.

ENROLLMENT OF THE ARTESIA SCHOOLS IS NOT UP TO LAST YEAR

The total enrollment of the Artesia schools reached 738, according to tabulations compiled by Superintendent Kerr, Tuesday. Enrollment at the high school was 218 at this time, or nineteen more than at the corresponding period of last year. The number of pupils enrolled at central was 350, while junior high was 170 pupils.

Owing to the fact that crop gathering time is about two weeks earlier than usual, the attendance this year is not on par with last year. It is also thought that the present price of cotton may affect the attendance somewhat during the fall months.

ALKALI POISON FATAL TO RUDOLPH OHLENBUSCH A LAKE ARTHUR LAD

Youth Dies After An Illness Lasting A Week — One Other Member Of Family Seriously Ill But Will Recover.

The deadly alkali poison has claimed another victim, this year. Rudolph Ohlenbusch, age 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Ohlenbusch, resident of the Lake Arthur community, died Tuesday morning near nine o'clock, after an illness of about a week's duration. Three other members of the Ohlenbusch family are suffering from the effects of the poison, but will recover. A daughter, has been seriously ill, but is said to be improving and will soon be out of danger, unless other complications set in.

The deceased is survived by his parents, three sisters, Mrs. C. T. Schwartz, Ella and Millie; two brothers, William and Carl.

The funeral was held at the family home Tuesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Carl Schmid of Albuquerque, pastor of the Lutheran church, assisted by Rev. W. G. Jones of Lake Arthur, who had charge of the music. Carl Middleton, Jap Murphy, Wayne Norris and Lee Williams, all members of the agricultural class acted as pall-bearers. Interment was made in Shade Lawn cemetery at Hagerman.

Alkali poison is caused from drinking infected milk. Milch cows permitted to run at large often times obtain the poison by eating golden rod. Livestock have been known to die from the effects of the golden rod, usually found on alkali land.

Farmers and stockmen are warned to keep their milch cows away from the golden rod patches until the danger of alkali is passed. Ordinarily there is little danger from golden rod after the first frost.

DOOLEY NOT A CANDIDATE

William Dooley, secretary of the New Mexico Oil Men's Protective Association who has been mentioned several times for the place of land commissioner on the republican state ticket, has emphatically denied that he has any aspirations to hold a public office and says that he would not consider accepting the position of land commissioner under any circumstances. Mr. Dooley has ambitions to help develop the mineral resources of eastern New Mexico, but does not care to accept the responsibility connected with the land office, even at four or five times the present salary, he told an Advocate reporter, recently.

ATTENDING I. O. O. F. SOVEREIGN GRAND LODGE

C. Bert Smith, a representative of the local I. O. O. F. lodge is attending a session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, at Indianapolis, Indiana, which closed its session Friday.

W. O. W. LODGE MEETS

The local Woodman lodge enjoyed a visit from Head Consul G. C. Smith of Albuquerque and John Gage, state deputy of Santa Fe, last night. One candidate was initiated and a short business session was held following the initiation ceremonies.

1,000 BALES OF COTTON ARE TO BE MARKETED THRU THE CO-OP ASS'N.

Farmers signed up to market approximately 500 bales of cotton thru the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Association, at the meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce office Thursday evening. J. A. Hardy of Carlsbad, field representative of the association spoke on the methods of organization and W. A. Wunsch, county agent, spoke on general plan of cooperative marketing. It is expected that 1,000 bales will be signed up for cooperative marketing before the close of the season. Approximately 6,000 bales have been signed up on the Carlsbad project, it was stated.

ATTENDING DEMO. CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Talbot, Mrs. John Lowrey, Mrs. R. K. Hoover, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hartell, C. E. Mann and E. C. Higgins are among the Artesians in attendance at the democratic state convention, which opened the session this morning at Santa Fe.

ASK REDUCTION IN FREIGHT RATES ON OUTGOING LIVESTOCK

20,000 Cattle To Be Fed In County — 35,000 Cattle And 55,000 Sheep And Goats May Be Moved To Grass Soon.

The Artesia Chamber of Commerce has joined similar organizations over Eddy county in asking the secretary of agriculture to reduce freight rates on livestock shipments out of the county. Request for freight rate reductions has been made through W. A. Wunsch of Carlsbad, county agent. Owing to the prevailing drought on the range, both cattlemen and sheepmen will face the necessity of moving their herds or feeding them through the winter. The supply of grass on the range is practically exhausted and some local cattlemen have already arranged to move their cattle. Others have a few weeks supply left, but will have to make some sort of feeding arrangements before winter.

Sheepmen point out that it will be ruinous to attempt to feed sheep through the winter, on the present market value. Shipping out the sheep to grass will be almost as expensive, unless a reduction in the freight rates is made, they say. The entire eastern slope is facing the same proposition, unless moisture falls within the next ten days. Grass is available in many sections of the western part of the state, but the distance is too far to risk driving a herd through.

It is said that approximately 35,000 head of sheep will have to be moved out of Eddy county, unless moisture soon falls. This number represents more than half the number of sheep in the county.

It is estimated that there are approximately 250,000 head of sheep in this trade area. Lea county livestockmen are planning on feeding their livestock through the winter or moving them. Quite a number of ranchers will try feeding cotton seed cake and cotton seed products, which appears as though it might be a paying proposition, owing to the prevailing drought in the east.

It was indicated here that some effort would be made to secure a range in the Mescalero Indian reservation, but it is not known at this time whether such arrangement will be possible.

The range conditions in the valley have no connection with farming, which is mostly done by irrigation. All crops here are normal, but valley farmers will not produce enough feed and roughages to carry the range cattle through the winter. Some feed stuff will have to be imported into the valley, if feeding is attempted on a large scale.

County Agent W. A. Wunsch, who spent a few hours here this morning informs us that three counties of this section have applied for reduced rates on livestock shipments, these counties being, Eddy, Lea and Chaves. Mr. Wunsch says that approximately 35,000 cattle will have to be moved out of the county, while 20,000 will be fed here. The number of sheep and goats to be moved out total 55,000. There are 3500 sections of land included in the area classed as dry. It is estimated that it will take one hundred cars of concentrates to feed the livestock in the county this winter, this is in addition to the hay and roughages, which may be imported in for use, during the cold weather.

GINNINGS FOR AREA TOTAL 937 BALES UP TO TUESDAY EVENING

More than 3,500 bales of cotton have been ginned in the Pecos valley. Ginnings on the Carlsbad project leads other sections of the valley owing to the fact that cotton in that section of the county opens earlier than in this area. Ginnings at Carlsbad totaled 1,500 over the week end and Chaves county had run slightly more cotton than the gins of this area.

Favorable weather has been a great aid in the gathering operations and cotton is expected to open rapidly now. Ginnings for the area, including Lake Arthur totaled 973 up to Tuesday night. The report by gins follows:

Cottonwood gin	140
Association gin, Espula	233
Association gin, Artesia	207
Farmers Gin, Artesia	196
Association gin, Atoka	178
Lake Arthur gin	18
Total	973

TWO WATER SUITS ARE FILED AT ROSWELL TUES. TO STOP BONITA DAM

Two separate water suits were filed Tuesday at Roswell against the Southern Pacific Railway Co. The suits were filed to prevent diversion of water from the Hondo river, thru the completion of a dam across the Bonito creek, in the Sacramento mountains. The plaintiffs are the Southeastern New Mexico Water Protective Association and the Bloom Land and Cattle Co. The action was taken in order to protect farmers, ranchers and cities on the eastern slope who are dependent upon the mountain source for their water supply. The Bloom Land and Cattle Co., had previously entered a plea in the Lincoln county court when notified of the action of the railroad to construct a dam, but had filed no suit. The suit of the Bloom Land and Cattle Co., at Roswell is independent of the action of the Southeastern Water Protective Association.

Through construction of the dam and storage facilities at the head of the Bonito on Nogal hill the Southern Pacific and Rock Island will cut off water supplies of the Hondo river along which the holdings of the Bloom Land and Cattle Co., are situated, it is alleged in their suit.

This company declares that water from the Hondo is necessary for the watering of its stock and cultivation of feed crops for feeding purposes. Completion of the dam would cut off this supply and cause large loss to the firm, the owners say.

MAN KILLED IN A BUS ACCIDENT LAST NIGHT NEAR BONNELL RANCH

When the El Paso-Roswell bus was crowded from the road last night ten miles west of Bonnell's ranch, one man was killed and twelve were injured, one seriously, according to information from Roswell this morning. Edward T. Holcomb, 76, of Chillicothe, Ohio, was killed when the bus turned over, after the embankment on the side of the road gave way. Dennis Coffee, age 25, of Kansas City, was believed to have been seriously injured. An inquest was held over the dead man at the scene of the wreck.

INVENTS NEW MACHINE TO CUT THREADS

F. R. Stone, an employee of the Gray Coggin Welding shop, has recently perfected a machine that will cut threads on a drill stem without cutting off the stem. The machine, a hollow spindle apparatus is attached to the lathe. The new method eliminates quite a bit of work and expense. Under the old way, a drill stem was cut off, threaded and then welded again.

HOBBS SLAYER DOES NOT ENTER A PLEA WHEN ARRAIGNED

Ray Fletcher, age 28, alleged slayer of William Frese, 18 year old Hobbs resident, refused to enter a plea when arraigned before district court at Lovington Saturday. According to press reports, Fletcher would not enter a plea until he had conferred with his attorneys, who are in Oklahoma City. The prisoner was returned to the Chaves county jail at Roswell.

Fletcher is alleged to have shot and killed Frese at Hobbs on August 29th, following a quarrel between the two men. Secrecy shrouded the removal of Fletcher from the Chaves county jail to Lovington, where he was arraigned.

Democratic Convention Opens Today In Santa Fe

Seligman, Bratton and Morrow Combination Possible — Republicans Are Scored In Keynote Speech Of Judge Hatch.

Political medicine men met at Santa Fe last night on the eve of the democratic convention, which convened this morning. At this time there appeared a trend toward Seligman-Bratton-Morrow combination or a Sellers-Bratton-Morrow combination, but a lot of horse trading could bring about a new combination. Every effort, it seems was being made to heal the wounds in the party before the convention got underway.

Col. D. K. B. Sellers of Albuquerque opened campaign headquarters yesterday afternoon and two conferences were held last night between the Sellers and Seligman forces. The boom for Morrow for governor apparently gave away for Morrow for congress on the eve of this morning's meeting.

Judge Carl Hatch, democratic key-note, in an address before the convention this morning charged that there had been an absolute disregard of sound business practice as well as economy by the republican administration in New Mexico and that the republican party had failed to keep its campaign pledges to the people. Judge Hatch indicated that the democratic party platform would pledge to the people of the state complete reconstruction of the taxation system; discontinuation of the pernicious republican practices in connection with school matters; administration of the land office on a business basis; reduction of expenses in operating the state government; discontinuation of extravagance and waste in the state highway department. The speaker promised for the democrats a forward looking program, in which the elimination of extravagance, waste and graft should be the aim of the administration; establishment of a central purchasing agency through which all supplies of the state government must be purchased from the lowest and best bidder.

Pointing to the recent claim of the republicans that they had been responsible for all of the laws passed in New Mexico in the 18 years of statehood, Judge Hatch, asked:

"Are we to assume that the laws in the state of New Mexico which are insufficient to reach corruption (the Judge Hollomon ruling in the Frank Quinn highway department graft case) were designedly passed or kept and retained in the statutes of the state by republican lawmakers?"

Along the same line he remarked: "Again we are told that the republican party is the party of efficiency. It is the party composed of the 'best minds.' It is the party that has provided laws for the people for the past eighteen years. And yet, notwithstanding the experience of previous legislatures, and notwithstanding all their vaunted wisdom, the last legislature made more errors than any legislature in the history of the state."

He pointed to the "unnecessary" and "expensive" special session of the legislature made necessary by an error of "a highly paid special attorney," in the highway department, and the inability of the administration to prevent the legislature from passing an "exorbitant appropriation bill."

Judge Hatch presented figures to show that the state tax rate per $1,000 has jumped from $4.50 and $5.50 under democratic administrations to $7.50 and $7.80 under the republicans. The average tax rate, he asserted, has gone up from $24.95 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in 1923 of the Hinkle administration to $35.24 in the Dillon administration.

"Those figures are significant," he said. "They speak for themselves."

He showed that state expenditures in the fiscal year ending on June 30, 1927, totaled $7,351,365.07—budgeted by Governor Hannett—and in the year ending June 30, 1929, the total was $11,297,402.55, an increase of almost $4,000,000.

"When this difference is seen, we are not surprised that the tax rate has been increased more and more each year," he said.

A DIFFICULT TASK

Officers of the community chest have a difficult job in the distribution of charities. They spend much time and get little public sympathy. Its just another one of those tasks that somebody has to do in which there is a lot of cussing and no pay. Last year more charity case calls were experienced than usual, but the distribution of funds during the past period was comparatively easy to the prospect for the fall and winter. Drought sufferers are invading the valley by the auto load because they have heard of the crop-conditions in this section of the state. Ordinarily the valley does not have any need for surplus labor and especially so this year. The surplus must be cared for at least until the job hunters move on. This situation has already created a demand for charity at the beginning of the harvest season. What will it be late this fall and winter?

COMMON SENSE BUSINESS METHODS

We do not believe that there is any practical Christianity in letting the home merchant credit you when you are short of money and then when a flush comes around and you have a little ready cash go patronize the mail order house or an out of town concern. If you are as careless and thoughtless about the other things that you do in life and business methods you use you may get to heaven all right but the influence you exercise here below will not point anybody else in that direction. We know some people are prone to overlook the little things connected with the ordinary business transaction but your neighbor doesn't. Some people are never willing to put themselves in the other fellows shoes unless their toes happen to be stepped on and then they make the biggest noise.

The other day we heard a farmer make a very sensible remark when his cash business was solicited.
He replied "If I have any cash to spend I am going to so and so I owe them $700 and they are entitled to my cash business since they have helped me when I did not have any cash."

How much better would the Artesia community be if every citizen had the same regard for the welfare of the community he lived in and of its people.

ARIDITY AND DROUGHT

New Mexico has been the butt of many a good natured but nevertheless barbed ridicule of sojourners from other states and from many in other states who have never visited and know nothing about the "Sunshine State" as an arid country of scarcely any rainfall desert wastes, sage brush, cactus, sand storms and hot sun.

Well, all that is, in part, true. Here we have the desert, the sage brush, the cactus, lots of hot sun and occasionally we have a sand storm.

On the other hand we have nights so cool that you need covers so that hot sunshine during the day time never leaves a bad taste in the mouth and after a night's sleep in New Mexico you awaken refreshed and ready for the next day's activities, (and we've got no drouth).

And the year 1930 is one that will be remembered on account of the number of things, among which is the drouth that has swept over the entire middle west and many other states. There has been no drouth in New Mexico—nary a sign of a drouth. Rainfall has been above normal and crops are above normal.

People here are making more than a living. They are producing a surplus, industry is hitting on both cylinders and progress has never halted.

In fact New Mexico is all right in every way except when she put on her politics two years ago in preparation for the onrushing winter season she reached into the closet without turning on the light and in the dark, grabbed a handful of off-side beliefs and inclinations with the result that for two years now we have lived under rule of the Grand Old Party.

But this is not classed as an unforgivable sin, and we are mapping out a program for this fall that will swing the ship of state over into a better channel, place the rudder in the hands of a genuine democrat and when that has been accomplished there will be nothing wrong with New Mexico.

Yes, we have no drouth in New Mexico.—Clovis
News.

TO HASTEN BETTER BUSINESS

Press dispatches quote Roger Babson, expert statistician, as saying that business revival is at hand. Better business conditions may be hastened by better business methods, chief among which is advertising.
Mr. Babson believes that the merchant and the manufacturer should use a liberal advertising space with the newspapers and magazines during the next few months for advertising has always proved to be a business stimulator.

What Roger Babson says may mean but little to the ordinary individual but those who have followed Mr. Babson's business statistics have come to realize that he possesses an almost uncanny insight into the future more especially as the future affects industry.
It will be remembered that Babson predicted the present depression two years ago. It is therefore no idle talk with this expert when he talks about what the future has in store for us and what methods we may use to make better business.

The Portales Valley News recommends a county farm of 160 acres to be operated for the needy. When a man who is down and out hits town he could be sent to the farm and be permitted to work until he could find employment elsewhere. Editor Greaves believes that the farm could be made to pay its own way and has asked the county commissioners to consider the project.

The other day a Lea county woman rancher held a highway crew at bay with a 30-30 rifle and stopped construction work because she said that the highway department had not treated her fairly in taking a right of way by her ranch. Highway officials conferred with her later and an armistice was declared.

Don't let anybody kid you by asking you to take a buggy ride for not all of the folks in the U. S. A. ride in autos. Last year there were some 11,000 buggies sold in the United States according to the department of commerce.

The proximity of the Lea county oil fields to the Pecos valley has been one of the chief factors in keeping the valley on the white spot of the business map.
A first class highway connection to Hobbs would have undoubtedly helped more.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Outing flannel makes a good drip bag for fruit juice when making jelly. It is preferred by some people to cheesecloth.

Neglecting to boil the glasses may in some cases cause fermentation of the jelly after a few weeks. Scald-ing the glasses with hot water is not so good a precaution against this undesirable result as boiling them.

Use cheerful fresh looking curtains in a small breakfast room or alcove. Dotted, checked, or striped gingham is good, or English prints, or cretonne, or muslin banded in color. If the breakfast room is sunny, select colors and fabrics which will not fade or be affected by the strong light.

Moldy bread may result from wrapping the bread up before it is thoroughly cool, or from lack of care of the bread box. In addition to airing the bread box frequently, sometimes scald it out thoroughly, and dry it in a warm oven or on the back of the stove, or directly in the sun.
Molds do not like dry hot air or sunshine.

Whites or yolks of eggs may be used instead of whole eggs in making fancy white or yellow cakes, or as an economy in using up parts of eggs left over. For most purposes 2 whites or 2 yolks may be considered roughly the equivalent of 1 egg.
When yolks alone are used a little extra baking powder is sometimes needed.

DES MOINES—GRENVILLE ROAD NEARS COMPLETION

SANTA FE—The second highest priced road job now under construction in the state from Des Moines to Grenville, a distance of eighteen and a half miles is nearing completion, highway engineers report.

The grading, structures and fencing are now complete with the surfacing underway. Despite the presence of large malpais boulders which slow down work the surfacing plants on the job are showing an average of 375 cubic yards a day, which is considered a remarkable run in this type of material.

Attention Cotton Farmers

Your Cotton Sample is an important factor in choosing your gin

In the long run the sample of your cotton is even more important than a big turn out endeavor to give our customers as large a sample as possible consistent with the high grade

Read what the New Mexico A. & M.
Magazine, No. 181, issued March, 1930 has to say about ginning:

The ginning of the cotton is ordinarily the hands of the cotton grower, but there is a considerable tendency on the part of many to demand of the ginner a high turnout or percentage. The ginner is nearly always doing high-class ginning if the farmers ask for it, likewise they will also quite often give a high out, which is usually accompanied by poor if the farmers asks for this. A high turnout ly means that considerable percentage of very short fibers and dirt and trash go cotton bale, which must eventually be from the good cotton by the spinners; not only does the individual farmer lose practice, but a whole community may lose of the lack of foresight of a few farmers been shown many times that good ginning brings a higher grade of cotton and, a better price. Likewise, a farmer can expect to be penalized for poor ginning.
be understood that the ginner is not always

STATES URGED TO KEEP FISH STREAMS OPEN

Judicious control of public lands and national forests offer the only assurance the states have of keeping fishing open to the public, Allen S. Peck of Denver, regional forest officer for the Rocky Mountain district, told the Western Association of State Game and Fish Commissioners at Santa Fe Tuesday.

"We have 160 million acres of national forest," Mr. Peck said, "and it is there we must preserve public fishing, by guarding against further private ownership in the vicinity of such public lands. There are now 25 million acres of private lands within the national forest boundaries and there is a grave danger in the encroachment of these private owners upon the rights of fishermen along the streams."

Peck's address found a definite interest in New Mexico, where throughout the present season local game and fish protective societies have launched vigorous campaigns to keep New Mexico streams open to the public.

Colorado has 872 fishing streams, Mr. Peck said, totaling 6,228 miles of which seven and one per cent is closed to the public. The Colorado lake situation is much worse, with 31 per cent of the state's 496 lakes, with acreage of 18,964, being closed to the public.

"Such condition becomes possible," Mr. Peck said, "because water users by gaining an appropriation for water can obtain exclusive rights to fishing."

He said the next Colorado legislature is expected to pass legislation in an attempt to correct such conditions.

INCREASE BONE CANCER CURES

BALTIMORE, Maryland—Surgeons and physicians from many sections of the country, gathered here for advanced cancer study, were told recently that there had been "a tremendous and startling" increase in the number of cures of cancer of the bone since 1913.

Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, director of the research fund bearing his name, said that in 1913 there was not a single verified case of cancer of the bone cured by any treatment. In 1921 but 4 per cent of the less than 500 cases registered at Johns Hopkins hospital were listed as cures, and these by amputation only.

Figures of cures for 1930, he said, vary from 11 to 41 per cent in the different types, and two methods of treatment other than amputation have been found successful.

"There is only one explanation," said Dr. Bloodgood, "and that is the people have been educated through the press of the importance of immediate X-ray examination whenever there is any symptom of pain or swelling in the region of a bone or joint."

An Artesia man's car struck the rear of a car driven by a woman.

"Didn't you see me stick out my hand?" the woman asked.

"No, I didn't Miss," he replied.

"Well, if it's been my leg, you'd have seen it," she replied and drove away.

BRATTON SURE OF THE DEMO. NOMINATION FOR THE U. S. SENATE

SANTA FE—Only one positive element appeared in the political ranks Monday, three days before the democratic state convention and one week in advance of the republican nominating meeting.

Reports from the various county democratic conventions made it a foregone conclusion that U. S. Senator Sam Bratton will be renominated and it may be a first ballot affair without opposition.

Half of the necessary votes to renominate Bratton will be instructed and he will have endorsements from better than two-thirds of the democratic counties.

Seligman, Sellers, Morrow and Hatch remained the known democratic possibilities for governor, while Holloman had a lone lead for the republican gubernatorial nomination, with the Botts boom still swinging.

Congressman Albert G. Simms remains the outstanding republican contender for that post, while in both democratic and republican ranks there are a half dozen aspirants for the office, with little indication of what action either convention will take.

NEW MEXICO RANCHMAN PURCHASES TEXAS BULLS

Z. C. Collier of Hope made a recent trip into north central Texas and while there purchased 14 head of double standard Polled Hereford yearling bulls from Johnson Bros., of Jackboro who own the world's largest herd of this strain of Herefords. The bulls are to be used in the herds of Mr. Collier and his father, Jackson Collier of Estelline, Texas on their New Mexico ranches where they carry from 500 to 1,000 head of high grade and registered Hereford cows.

The Colliers formerly operated a registered herd but have decided to confine their future cattle activities to high grade and pure bred commercial cattle for production of feeder calves for the cornbelt feeders and finishers.

Mr. Collier was accompanied to Texas by Tom Young. They report New Mexico conditions much better than found in the part of Texas traversed by them.

AUTO DEATHS THIS YEAR TO EXCEED 36,000

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Based on reports for the first six months of the year the American Motorist's Association Saturday estimated that deaths from automobile accidents this year would reach or surpass the 36,000 mark.

The first six months showed, the association said, an increase of 9 per cent in such deaths over the corresponding period of 1929. The total last year was 33,060. The association indicated an even higher rate of increase might be expected because of an expectation that the last three months will yield a higher proportion than the rest of the year. This happens every year, the report said.

New Ford Truck With Closed Cab

NEW Ford Model AA trucks and Model A light delivery cars were announced this week by the Ford Motor Company and are on display in the show rooms of Ford dealers.

Changes in the trucks are principally in the front end, which has been completely redesigned, and in the cab. The radiator is higher with more cooling surface, fenders are wide and flowing, and a black cowl strip adds a note of distinction.

The new Model AA trucks with the four-speed transmission introduced several months ago may be had with enclosed or open cab. The enclosed cab, shown above, is all steel, it is low in appearance yet with ample head room. The open cab is of black rubber top material and is easily removed. Both cabs are equipped with windshields of Triplex shatterproof glass and vacuum type windshield wipers.

Model AA trucks may be had with a platform body, which can be equipped with stakes or a panel body. The chassis has many improvements, including the four-speed transmission, larger front brakes, stronger springs, power take-off opening and optional dual rear wheels.

The Model A line of new commercial cars comprises a light delivery truck with pick-up body, a deluxe delivery truck, a small panel truck and a station wagon. These cars have the smaller wheels and larger tires of the new Ford passenger cars.

TAX COMMISSION TO TRY AND EQUALIZE STATE TAX VALUES

SANTA FE—Behind closed doors, in executive session, the state tax commission Tuesday began seriously to grapple with the state wide equalization problem.

All hearings now are believed to have been completed and the triumvirate's hands are free to begin the solution of this question, which for the last few months has enlisted more interest over the state at large than anything the commission has undertaken in recent years.

The decision whatever it is, will affect thousands of property owners in all of the 21 counties.

Complete secrecy shrouds the manner in which the commission tackles the task. There was a hint, it is true, at the hearing of the cattlemen last Saturday. But that may or may not be relevant.

At that time it was suggested that property might be put on a 65 per cent basis—assessed for taxation purposes at 65 per cent of its sale value. When Chief Tax Commissioner Nathan Jaffa was asked point blank by former State Senator T. E. Mitchell of Albert, one of the cattlemen, if that was the commissioner's plan, the head of the commission replied rather evasively. The tax authorities were bound by law, he said, to assess property at its "actual value."

Mr. Jaffa may have had in mind "saving the record," or he may not. If the commission has decided, or decides in the future to put the assessment on that basis, it really couldn't be expected to admit it and put itself down in black and white—unless it wished to court a lot of grief in the way of litigation.

The chief commissioner said at the same time that to assess at "actual value," presumably meaning sale value, would be "ruinous" at this time.

Whether the commission will go through with its plan to raise the tax rolls is the subject of much interesting speculation around the state house. The commission has spent the last few months listening to stories of hard times which have made its patch anything but a bed of roses.

In fact Jaffa has stated repeatedly that, had the commission known in advance what economic conditions were going to be, it would not have undertaken its wholesale revision of the tax rolls this year.

HOW

"YANKEE," ONCE A TERM OF DERISION, HAS CHANGED.

According to the best historical information, the word "Yankee" was born in the attempt of the Indians to pronounce the word "English." Their broad, guttural accent gave the word a sound which would be nearly represented in this way: Yaunghees. The letter g being pronounced hard and approaching to the sound of k with a strong aspirate. The Dutch settlers about New Amsterdam, having picked the word up from the Indians, applied it in contempt to the inhabitants of New England in the long dispute of the territory.

The word apparently fell in to disuse in the intervening years until the British soldiery revived it immediately before the Revolution in sneering reference to the Colonials. However, after the battle of Lexington, the New Englanders adopted the name as their own. A few months thereafter a privateer fitted out bore the name of Yankee Hero.

In the war between the states the word was used in the South as a name for the Union soldiery, but in the World war the custom of the British soldiery to refer to all Americans as "Yanks"—this time in comradeship—has brought about a new interpretation. — Kansas City Star.

HOBBS MAN IS HELD ON FRAUD CHARGES

W. E. Allen, former drilling contractor of Oklahoma City was held at Hobbs Tuesday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense.

Allen, the complaint alleges, sought donations in Hobbs to embalm and bury one "Johnny Burns" who he said was a cable driller also of Oklahoma City. Allen in Hobbs said that Burns had been killed by hijackers west of Seminole, Texas.

Allen was arrested after H. D. Campbell who donated $5.00 for the funeral called up the sheriff at Seminole and learned that no one had been shot there.

Allen claimed to be a victim of circumstances. He said that Burns and another oil field worker named Everett left Hobbs Sunday night for Oklahoma City and that Everett who returned to Hobbs Monday morning, told him of the shooting and said that the undertaker at Seminole refused to embalm Burns unless he was paid in advance.

MARKETING COTTON

THE FEDERAL FARM BOARD has arranged and offered to the Cotton producers a marketing plan which it is hoped will prove beneficial to the producers. As a Cooperative Association we are in sympathy with any move looking toward better marketing facilities, and therefore,

In order that our members may participate in such marketing plan, (if they see fit, as individuals), the following resolution was presented and adopted at a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association:

BE IT RESOLVED:

That members of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, desiring to do so, may turn their cotton over to the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Association of El Paso, Texas, for sale without impairing their membership or their Property Interest in this Association here at Artesia, and as long as their contract is in force with the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Association, the Fee or Fees, as formerly assessed by the Directors for selling here, of $1.00 per bale, and now in force, shall be cancelled and such cotton shall be exempt from assessment by this Association.

This will give members of our Association the choice of a number of marketing plans, and in order that each grower may better understand these various plans, we present them briefly here:

1—Federal Plan: Seasonal Pool:

Under this plan the cotton is billed out and 9c per pound is drawn against it. Upon arrival at destination the cotton is classed and further advances made, if any are due, up to 90% of its value as then established, less freight charges. Cotton placed in the Seasonal Pool is not subject to sale at the growers wishes, but is sold at the discretion of the Association. At the close of the cotton year, final settlement is made. The grower receives the annual net average pool prices. No Marginal Calls will be made.

2—Federal Plan: Optional Pool:

This plan gives grower privilege to say what market he wishes to sell on. Grower does not know basis. Grower may draw 8c or 9c per pound, depending upon market values. Grower must keep cotton margined. When he fixes price, a tentative settlement is made pending final settlement at close of cotton year. Under either the Optional Pool or the Seasonal Pool the sale price of the cotton is the algebraic sum of the market and the basis existing at destination or point of sale. From the sale price is deducted freight, insurance, interest, cost of maintaining the Central and Subsidiary Association, cost of handling, grading, classing, standardizing, and marketing, and all the other advances made.

Our local Association will give such further information and render what assistance we can from time to time, to all interested in either of the two plans outlined above.

NOTE: In order that your cotton may be handled under the Federal plan, the grower must sign the marketing agreement offered by the Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers Association, which is a subsidiary of the A. C. C. A. We have these contracts in our office.

Our local organization also offers the following plans:

3—You may sell your cotton outright to us, or through us, and receive all your money now.

4—You may establish, or sell the Basis. You draw 90% of the value as thus established, without any further deductions for freight, insurance, interest, storage, etc. (All these items having been already figured out in establishing the basis). You may then determine the market upon which you wish to sell. That is, you may "Call the Market" at your discretion any time later. When "Called," final settlement is made at once. You may transfer into any future month at the differences between the months concerned. This cotton must be kept margined.

5—You may do exactly the same thing as outlined in (4), but leave the fixing or calling of the cotton to our discretion, and in that case No Marginal Calls or come-back will be made upon you. When we fix the price we will make settlement.

6—You may draw (while the near month is between 10c and 12c), 8c per pound. This is loaned to you at 6% interest. The cotton is shipped out and a warehouse receipt issued therefor. The cotton is yours to sell at any time desired, within the present cotton year. When sold final settlement is made. In this case you receive the algebraic sum of the market and basis for the cotton, where located, less freight, interest, storage, classing, sampling, advances and handling charges. No Marginal Calls.

Things WORTH KNOWING

To test the soundness of cement. Make a ball, 4 inches in diameter, of sand and water and put it in a bucket and keep it moist. Then put the ball in a bucket of water, let it come to a boil, and boil for 24 hours. A good cement will not crack, or go to pieces.

Storing stored grain may be damaged by fire, but carbon dioxide gas, but carbon dioxide is the cheapest and best for treating grain in the farm. Carbon disulphide when exposed to air is heavier than air and will penetrate the grain. Be careful of carbon disulphide, as it is highly inflammable.

Quick growth are the best for raising good roasters. They produce better flesh and are more easily fed with milk. Use 100 pounds of mash for 100 pounds of milk. Corn meal, oatmeal, middlings and finely cut alfalfa are good fattening feeds. Water freely at the beginning of the fattening period and "jiggling" the birds very lightly for about the first two weeks. Then all they will eat for the rest of the period. Do not leave feed before the birds weighing about 4 pounds about 3-4 of a pound for 10 days feeding.

Concrete feeding floor for livestock. A rough floor will give a good footing. It may be provided when the floor by sliding a board along the side forms motion and "jiggling" the floor. Do this while the concrete is soft. Another way is to surface with a stiff brush while the concrete has set.

WESLEY CLASS PARTY

The Susannah Wesley class held its first meeting since the summer vacation in the Sunday school room at the church last Thursday afternoon. Election of officers was the principal business. Mrs. J. H. ### WOMAN' CLUB

After four months vacation the club resumed its meeting yesterday afternoon with an informal reception at the home of Mrs. R. D. Compton. Little attempt was made at a program, aside from the musical numbers which were especially worthy of notice. Mrs. Tex Henson was in charge of the music and accompanied the numbers which were a contralto solo by Mrs. M. A. Corbin, a violin solo, by Miss Virginia Egbert, a soprano solo by Miss Katherine Ragsdale, a violin duet by Miss Egbert and Mrs. Willis Morgan, a piano solo by Mrs. G. U. McCrary. Mrs. Morgan and Miss Egbert also gave another violin number during the serving of refreshments. Artesia is fortunate in its musical talent, having so many musicians of ability and the club deems itself especially favored with their willingness to help entertain. The other number on the program was an unusually fine and comprehensive report of the biennial of the General Federation which was held in Denver in June. The report was written by Mrs. G. R. Brainard, who could not be present, and was read by Mrs. C. R. Blocker. This was preceded by a few words of greeting by the president Mrs. H. A. Stroup, who took occasion for the benefit of the new residents, to recall some of the achievements of the club. Among these were the first beginnings of the City Park, drinking fountains at the schools, furnishing a hospital room, milk fund and hot lunches for Central school, pictures placed in the schools, sponsoring the Girl Scouts, managing the City Beautiful contest and others too numerous to mention. Following the program punch and wafers were served in the dining room. Mrs. Stanley Blocker and Mrs. Carl Joiner presiding at the punch bowl. Fall flowers and grasses were used with charming effect in decorating the living and dining rooms for the occasion.

A short business meeting was held at which time the following were admitted to membership: Mesdames T. H. Flint, James Christman, Martha Harris, Frank Miller, Albert Glasser and Laura Welsh and the Misses Virginia Egbert and Catherine Clarke. The next meeting will be at the Central school, Wednesday October 1st.

The Artesia club with the assistance of other musicians is to give the entire musical program at the opening reception of the Roswell Woman's club, next Wednesday afternoon. All members of the Artesia club are invited to be present.

GRAND OPENING PARADE TO BE FEATURE OF THE CHAVES CO. CARNIVAL

The grand opening parade on the first day of the Cotton Carnival and Rodeo at Roswell, October 8, 9, 10 and 11, will far exceed previous year's spectacles, according to Myron Prager of Roswell, chairman of this division of the carnival. There will be more and better floats, and more different features this year, he says. A number of communities in southeastern New Mexico and some from farther away have already entered floats in the parade. Substantial cash prizes will be given in the different divisions of the parade.

With Edd Amonett and Harold and Bob Crosby managing the rodeo on the first three days of the carnival, and the assurance that world famous cowboys will be there in the contest means a better rodeo than ever before, say the carnival managers. Not only will there be the usual roping, riding and bull dogging contests, but enough specialties to make it more attractive than a three ring circus. And cotton carnival rodeos never drag—there are no waits between events. It's the sort of program which makes everybody want to see all three days of the show. The carnival proper will last four days—the rodeo only three because a better program of events can be arranged for three days than four.

Friday will be old timers day at the carnival and this will bring in men and women who have lived in New Mexico thirty years or more. A parade in which all modern things will be barred will feature Old Timers day.

The products and livestock show will be larger with many community and county exhibits. The quarters for livestock have been doubled since last year.

Lachman Carson shows will be at the carnival grounds the entire week with many new rides and shows.

There was once a shot putter, that put all his shot in one basket and then couldn't lift the basket.

Design That Will Appeal to the More Conservative Home

There is nothing striking or novel about this home, but it is to many of the more conservative home builders as one which has its appearance through many years because of its lack of parade influence.

By W. A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 407 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

While there is nothing striking or novel about this house, it should appeal to many of the more conservative home builders. The picture shows how attractive the exterior of a house may be made by the use of awnings, flower boxes, and flowers and shrubs around the foundation walls. This is not an expensive house to build, and has all the features of a modern up-to-date home including a sun room and a balcony above.

In construction this home reminds one of a New England design, as the lower part has the wide shake shingle, and the upper part the clapboard siding, which have been popular for older New England homes. The ever tone is the result of salt iodine-laden air from the coast. This house is 24 feet deep and contains a sun room which will be noted from the which are also reproduced.

OIL IS BIGGEST ITEM OF REVENUE IN STATE LAND OFFICE RECEIPTS

SANTA FE—The New Mexico land office did the largest business in its history during the eighteenth fiscal year with receipts of $1,827,520.46 Dr. A. D. Crile, land commissioner, said in his biennial report Friday.

For the seventeenth fiscal year the receipts were $1,741,373.44.

Oil development was chiefly responsible for the increase during the fiscal year which closed June 30, and brought the receipts close to the two million dollar mark.

Oil and gas rentals yielded $940,210.18 and royalties brought $141,226.19 of the total figure. For the seventeenth fiscal year the rentals totaled $924,129.88 and royalties $47,190.98.

With oil business constantly increasing, the cattle and sheep industries, which were once the main stays of the land office, now take a distant second place.

The expenses of the office for the fiscal year just closed were $91,045.69 and were $85,549.87 for the previous year. During the last twenty years the percentage of overhead has ranged from .037 in 1919 to .04624 in the 17th year and .05071 in the 18th year. In dollars and cents the cost of operation has risen from $11,362.16 in 1909 to $91,045.69 for the last year.

Land Commissioner Crile said the expenses had been greatly increased during his tenure in office because of the demands made upon the state geologist and his department for increased work in connection with oil development.

The report shows that $388,635 remained unused out of the twenty per cent maintenance fund allowed the land office and was turned over to the treasurer to be distributed among the common schools, institutions and other funds for which state lands are held in trust. That amount was the balance from the seventeenth fiscal year and a balance of $250,355.10 remained from the eighteenth year.

Totals transfers to the state treasurer were $1,741,373 for the seventeenth and $1,827,520.46 for the 18th year. Of the first amount the income funds received $1,206,837.77 and the permanent funds $179,830.29. For the last year the income funds received $1,213,435.10 and the permanent funds $270,018.48.

The transfers to the treasurer surpassed the million dollar mark in 1921 and since 1926 have remained continuously above that mark.

Emma's Great Triumph

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(Copyright.)

EMMA BROWN'S classmates were all agreed that she had drawn the plum from a pedagogical pie when, the September she graduated from college, she received an appointment to teach in the high school at Montrose Highlands. Not only would her work be under the most delightful conditions of splendid equipment and inspiring surroundings, and draw, even at the start, a very fair salary, but she would in time be eligible for Curtis Hunt's Sabbatical Year.

Curtis Hunt was the comparatively new superintendent of schools of Montrose Highlands. He had instituted many reforms, none of them, however, more popular than his Sabbatical year. "High school teachers, as well as college professors," he stoutly maintained, "should be allowed a year off every seventh year, for recuperation and study. In time we hope to grant this year's vacation with full pay; at present, all we can do is to allow a small bonus and hold the position open."

Emma, strange to say, was not vitally interested in this feature of her job. Seven years! Why, by that time she hoped to be married and have three children at least.

Yet one year passed, then several. And still Emma reported faithfully at a quarter of nine in Room 206 on the third floor. Six years added a gray hair or two, a droop to her shoulders, a wrinkle in her forehead. And she woke suddenly to a real and vital interest in the fact that the next year was to be hers—a whole, free year, in which to devote herself—to what? Why to whatever would make her services valuable for another six years to the high school and Curtis Hunt and the town of Montrose Highlands.

And so her Sabbatical Year came to Emma. And at its close, back to school, she appeared at the first teachers' meeting of the season, where she knew from experience she would be called upon for a report of what she had done during her absence. And as she sat there and viewed the groups of fellow teachers, a daring impulse to speak the truth arose within her.

When her opportunity came Emma arose and, grasping the chair back in front of her, swept her audience with a grave glance. "Some of my Sabbatical Year," she told them, "was spent at the university; some of it was spent taking a course in Phoenician archeology, the rest of it I put in making myself ready for—for marriage—studying how to be a companion, a thrifty helpmate and a home maker." She sat down amid a silence that was audible.

Then smoothly, tactfully, under John Wentworth's hand, the meeting flowed on in the usual channels.

Emma had unconsciously accomplished a strange thing. She had focused upon herself the attention of every fellow teacher, man and woman. And that attention, once captured, remained riveted. For it was impossible not to observe that Emma wore different clothes, and wore them in a new way, and that her personal appearance had grown youthful, yes, more beautiful. The women would have understood had they known that a course in dressmaking and weekly visits to a reliable beauty specialist had been a part of Emma's past year. The men accepted the change at face value, but none the less interesting.

John Wentworth, walking home with Emma, discovered that she was womanly, alluring, provocative. He began to regret his many years of bachelorhood, and to wonder how soon he could bring them to an end. Here was a woman, drawing a good salary, who had come out bravely and declared she wished to marry. What a treasure and a marvel such a woman was, these modern days!

If Emma cared for Wentworth she gave no outward sign of it that winter, but pursuing her pedagogical way serenely, accepting equally the attentions of the principal, the head of the science department, the history teacher and the young instructor in English. A trifle bitterly the other women teachers compared notes and laid little bets among themselves as to the final outcome.

Then came the spring vacation, from which Emma returned with a radiant look in her eyes and a ring that sparkled triumphantly on its appropriate finger.

Was it John Wentworth or the history man, or—?

But after school in the teachers' restroom Emma satisfied her curiosity. "It's Curtis Hunt, girls. I'm sure you're not surprised."

But as a matter of fact they were, and crowded about her.

"Come, Emma, loosen up!" begged Mabel Southwick. "My year off is due. Tell us what you did that got all the men interested."

"Well," said Emma, twisting her ring with a whimsical glance, "I studied up clothes and I studied up the gentle art of conversation. I made the most of my looks and I took a correspondence course in household economics, interior decorating and cooking. But, well, to be frank about it, I'll have to confess that Phoenician archeology did as much for me as anything!"

"Phoenician archeology!" The two words were uttered in chorus.

"Exactly," said Emma. "You see, I knew Curtis Hunt was going to take that course, too!"

"Somebody To See You!"

IF EVERYBODY with something to interest you should come and ring your bell, what a nuisance it would be! Think of the swarming, jostling crowd, the stamping of feet on your porch and carpets!

Every day we know of many callers who come to see you. That never jangle the bell—they don't take up your whole day trying to get your attention. Instead, they do it in a way that is most considerate of your privacy and your convenience. They advertise in your newspaper.

In this way you have only to listen to those you know at a glance have something that interests you. They make it short, too, so you can gather quickly just what you want to know. You can receive and hear them all without noise or confusion in comparatively few minutes.

SHRINE PROGRAM IN ROSWELL

ROSWELL — Present indications are that the biggest shrine ceremonial ever to be held in New Mexico is scheduled to take place here in Roswell on Saturday, September 27, when the Potentate and officers of Ballut Abyad Temple at Albuquerque and of the El Mida Temple in El Paso, are coming here to give a class of about 45 novices the privilege of crossing the hot sands.

From Albuquerque comes the news that about 150 shriners and their wives are coming in a special train to participate in the festivities and reports from El Paso are that about 100 are coming from that city. In addition to these there will be shriners present from Hobbs, Lovington, Tatum, Carlsbad, Artesia, Hagerman, Dexter, Lincoln, Carrizozo, Tularosa, Alamogordo, Clovis and Portales as well as other places in southeastern New Mexico. Shriner are also expected here from Amarillo and Lubbock and Chairman John Hall of the general committee on arrangements is preparing to take care of over 600 Shriner at the big barbecue which is to take place at noon on the big day.

The program in Roswell will consist of a street parade in which the novices will be featured in such a way as to be pleasing to the novices as well as those who were novices in former parades of this kind. After the parade will come the big barbecue and during the afternoon the ritualistic ceremonies will be held. In the evening there will be a grand ball.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Wilkins entertained quite a number of the young folks of the community with a dance the past week. Refreshments of cake, sandwiches and punch were served and all present enjoyed the evening very much.

Quite a number of the young people of this community motored to Elk on a picnic Sunday. A nice lunch was spread and after eating their fill of the goodies the party went on a hike. Among those who enjoyed this occasion were the Messes Lucile and Ruby Waldrip, Nelle B. Dorothy and Lucile Norris, Alma and Gertrude Bradley, Messrs Clarence Summers, Virgil and Mervin Worley, J. C. Garner and Wayne Norris.

How Gifts on Wedding Anniversaries Started
The practice of giving peculiar gifts on various wedding anniversaries originated in Germany, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. Among the medieval Germans it was customary for friends to present a wife with a wreath of silver when she had lived with her husband 25 years. The silver symbolized the harmony which must have been necessary to make so many years of matrimony possible. On the fiftieth anniversary of a wedding the wife was presented with a wreath of gold. Hence arose the names silver and golden weddings. This idea, originally borrowed from the Germans, has been elaborated upon in modern times and now we have a long list of wedding anniversaries which many people think should be observed with peculiar gifts. Thus we have the wooden wedding, the tin wedding, the crystal wedding, and so on.

How Coal Formations Vary
All coal is an impure form of the chemical element known as carbon and is supposed to be of vegetable origin. The difference between hard coal and soft coal is chiefly in the percentage of impurities in the carbon. Both kinds have been formed by the gradual hardening of vegetable matter buried in the rocks, but hard coal has hardened more completely than soft coal has and a large percentage of the impurities have been eliminated. Scientists are not agreed as to whether the chief difference between soft coal and hard coal originated in the kind of vegetable matter that produced it, or whether it has resulted during the hardening process.—Exchange.

How "Son of a Gun" Began
The expression "son of a gun" is used daily in conversation by thousands of persons who would never think of using it if they even suspected its unsavory origin. It at one time expressed the utmost contempt for any person to whom it was applied. Pulley, in his Etymological Compendium published in 1828, probably gave the correct origin of the phrase. "Son of a gun," said that writer, "is derived from Gong, an old word for the temple of Cloacina—of course it implies bastard, or born in a necessary." The words gong and gong man, though recorded by unabridged dictionaries, are now obsolete.—Exchange.

How Neon Is Obtained
The process by which neon is made today is very similar to that by which Sir William Ramsay first found it. When he distilled liquid air, chilled to a temperature of more than 400 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, he observed the gas boiling off, and named it neon. In factories today it is made by chilling air until it becomes a clear, bluish-white liquid and then capturing the neon as it evaporates.

How Water Forms Rain
Drops of water formed in the atmosphere by condensation of aqueous vapor and falling rapidly by virtue of their weight are known as rain. Smaller, finer particles, falling more slowly, are known as mist or fog. Drops of rain one-fourth to three-tenths of an inch in diameter have been measured. The smallest drops of rain measure one-twentieth of an inch in diameter.

Democratic Record One of Disaster to Whole Country

By The Republican State Central Committee
MR., MRS. and MISS VOTER:

Another message because the welfare of the State during the next two years depends upon your votes.

We have a party government. It has its faults, because people are not perfect, but it is the best system of government so far devised by mankind. For the United States and for this State, the Republican party has given the best government. A fact proved by history.

Since the Civil War the Democratic Party has been catching at straws—any straw blown toward it by the wind from any direction.

The Republican Party came into existence to free four millions of slaves. It set them free in spite of the opposition of the Democratic Party. The first Republican Congress passed the homestead law under which the West was settled. That law was fought by such Democrats as were in that Congress.

To assist settlement of the West, the first Republican Congress made a law under which, by land grants and bond sales, a railroad was constructed to the Pacific Ocean. Other Congresses so amended that law that three other trans-continental roads were built.

To aid the homesteaders and other farmers grants of land were made to the Territories and States for the establishment and maintenance of agricultural colleges.

As a result of these wise measures, great areas of the West were settled, became prosperous, and fourteen States added their stars to the flag of the Union.

For the protection of the industries of the country from competition by the cheap labor of Europe and Asia, tariff laws were passed. The Republican tariff policy has been from the beginning to impose duties "equal to the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit for American producers, the purpose being to preserve that security against foreign competition to which Americans are entitled."

Although America has prospered under this policy as no other country in the world has prospered, the Democratic Party has fought it from the beginning. This in the face of the fact that every time the Democrats have made a tariff law the result has been disastrous.

The Democratic Party has consistently opposed the Republican policy of protection, but it has come forward, from time to time, with a number of other "paramount" issues.

In 1896 it demanded the "free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen ounces of silver to one ounce of gold." The voters rejected it, and history has proved it unsound.

In 1900 the Democrats claimed the Philippine Islands should be abandoned to their fate without in any way aiding them by preparation in self-government. The voters overwhelmingly rejected the policy of "scuttle."

In 1904 the Democratic convention was for downward revision of the tariff law which had rescued the country from the Cleveland panic and depression which lasted from 1893 until the passage of the Republican tariff act in 1897. The Republicans won with a landslide.

In 1908 the Democrats came forward with a candidate for president who made government ownership of railroads the issue. Another overwhelming defeat.

In 1912 there was a wide open split, in the Republican Party and the Democrats won the Presidency and both houses of Congress. Then came the second tariff bill passed by the Democrats since the Civil War. Business depression ensued in 1914. Factories closed, banks broke, merchants went into the hands of receivers, hundreds of thousands of freight cars were idle in the yards. Then came the World War, shutting out imports from foreign countries. This was followed by an unprecedented period of business activity.

But when peace was restored and foreign nations had opportunity to begin dumping their products on America, the depression of the latter part of 1920 set in. It was to continue until after the Democratic low tariff and free trade act was replaced by the Republican law of 1922. Then business began its upward turn.

In 1920 the Democrats shifted their campaign issue. They insisted that the United States become a member of the League of Nations. That issue was overwhelmed at the polls. In 1924 the Democratic claim was that they, if given power, would be more honest than the Republicans. The voters didn't believe them, and Calvin Coolidge was elected President by the greatest popular majority ever known in any election.

In 1928 the Democrats made their fight for a revision of the tariff on the principles of the disastrous Underwood bill and for cheaper and more Whiskey. Those blessings were to come from the election of Al Smith to the White House and the consequent repeal or nullification of the eighteenth amendment. Herbert Hoover was elected, receiving 444 of the 531 electoral votes.

Of course President Hoover's administration is being attacked. But those attacks should not be taken too seriously. Frank R. Kent, veteran political writer, of the Baltimore Sun, and Veteran Democrat, in an article in Scribner's Magazine, explains, somewhat gleefully, how a number of Senators, rose from to day in the last session and launched attacks against the President. Those attacks having been inspired and many of them prepared word for word by the press bureau of the Democratic National Committee.

These speeches would be artfully "planted," so as to reach the public through press reports. Eight able writers were hired, more than a year ago, by Chairman Raskob, to malign the achievements of the President. The job, according to Mr. Kent, was to "smear" the Hoover administration.

Mr. Kent was not trying to help President Hoover. His article was to tell of the shrewd and effective publicity of Mr. Raskob's organization. A stroke of genius, it seems to him, to have the Democratic publicity bureau write speeches for senators against the President. By that means they can be printed in the Congressional Record, distributed over the country without the payment of postage, and be carried in the press reports as news.

Hereafter senators who retail their "canned" speeches will be open to suspicion that they are but repeating things written for them by Chairman Raskob's highly paid publicity men.
But even those paid attackers have not had the temerity to attempt to defend the record of the Democratic Party when it was in power.

ROAD SIGNING CONTINUES

SANTA FE—U. S. highway 66 in the Gallup section is now being signed by one of the highway department's sign division units while the other is working U. S. 470 and U. S. 70, according to George Ball, sign engineer.

In a recent two weeks period 610 signs were erected on New Mexico roads by the sign division. At this rate of progress it is thought that New Mexico as a whole will be fairly well signed by the first of the year, although some difficulty in getting the proper signs at the proper time is being experienced which holds back temporarily the 100 per cent sign plan for the roads.

CATTLEMEN AGREE TO 10 PER CENT INCREASE IN CATTLE VALUES

SANTA FE—Cattlemen of New Mexico in a hearing before the state tax commission Saturday agreed to a 10% increase in cattle values.

The agreement was made under protest with the view of cooperating with the tax commission in setting equal values on all state property.

A committee of twelve cattlemen appeared at the hearing to oppose the proposed increase favored by the tax commission. They agreed, however, when it was pointed out by the commission that an increase on the cattle valuation would enable the state to make a better court fight against the heavy increase in the railroad valuation.

Cattlemen contended during the hearing that under the present conditions the cattle industry could not stand an increase.

Officials of the commission explained their desire for the increase was to place all property on an equal taxation basis and to enable them to hold the increase on railroad valuation, and to hold increases in budgets to five per cent. This will definitely enable the commission to lower the tax rate, members asserted.

If the railroads are enabled to go into court and argue that they are being taxed above the cattlemen the state may lose their case for increased rail values and this would certainly result in a tax increase, tax commission officials told the cattlemen.

In agreeing to the increase cattlemen pointed out that they would probably seek court relief against the increase provided the railroads won their suit against increased values.

Spokesmen for the cattlemen were: Ed Mitchell, Harding county; R. H. Souder, Lincoln county; Lee Evans, McKinley county and Bill Spence, of Luna county.

The cattlemen refused a similar proposal advanced by the tax commission last fall.

Decision of the cattlemen to agree to the increase was apparently prompted by the belief that such cooperation might result in a lowered tax rate by keeping the railroad's increased valuation on the books while failure to agree to it might result in the loss of the court suit by the state and thus result in a higher tax rate.

TREAT NOXIOUS WEEDS
DURING FALL MONTHS

In order that weeds may be thoroughly killed, treatment should be continued during the late fall, says G. R. Quesenberry of the New Mexico Agricultural College. It has been the common opinion that the only time to treat weeds was during the late spring and summer. Weeds are supposed to be doing no damage in the fall and are therefore neglected. The perennial noxious weeds, however, continue to store food material in their roots during the fall, the better to withstand the winter weather. The late fall period is therefore very important in the cycle of the perennial weeds.

An investigation of autumn treatments in practically all agricultural sections has shown that a perennial weed which has been crippled or damaged by the chlorate treatment will usually fail to curvive the winter. The shock of the poison to the plant, aided by winter weather, makes a combination which the plant is unable to overcome.

Applications of chlorate in the late fall are of great advantage as at that time the farmer has usually finished most of his farm work. He can thus utilize more or less idle time in going over the patches of weeds on the farm and giving them a treatment with chlorate. He is saving both time and money in this operation as the chances are that next year the patches will be larger and more time, labor and material will be necessary to get rid of them. By combining the forces of nature with the action of the chemical, the farmer has conditions that work toward the destruction of the weeds.

"Twenty-five cents a pound," he replied.

"But," she said, "the price at the corner store is only twelve cents."

"Vell," asked Otto, "Vy you don't buy it down there?"

"They haven't any," she replied.

"Ya, Ya," said the butcher, "Ven I don't have it I sell it for ten cents only."

THE DR. PEPPER SALES SHOW GAIN IN EVERY MONTH OF THIS YEAR

DALLAS, Texas—Talk of business depression and reduced sales volume finds no echo in the report of one southwestern corporation, The Dr. Pepper Company, Inc., of Dallas, which has just made public through its vice-president and general manager, J. B. O'Hara, a statement of its sales record for the first seven months of 1930.

The statement shows the net gains in sales volume for every month of 1930, from January through August, ranging from 51 to 200 per cent over the corresponding months of 1929, with an average for seven months of 72.9 per cent.

"The Dr. Pepper Company has produced this increase in its sales volume by aggressive merchandising and advertising," said Mr. O'Hara. "We believe that this is the answer to talk of business depression. It is obvious that the buying public has not ceased to purchase the things that it wants, and that are aggressively and convincingly advertised. On this theory, we made large increases in our advertising appropriation for 1930, despite the economic situation which prevailed after the November stock market upset. Our sales results to date have fully justified our faith in the theory.

"More than 400 newspapers are carrying the advertising of Dr. Pepper this season, and our steadily mounting sales volume is the most convincing evidence of the effectiveness of this policy of increasing the advertising and sales efforts during times when many concerns are 'economizing' by reducing or suspending their advertising efforts.

"Persistent advertising pays in good times and bad. The Dr. Pepper Company began advertising on a large scale in 1927, and our sales volume has shown a consistent growth each year since. The average increase over the whole period has been more than 600 per cent. Our advertising in one form or another is continued the year 'round, in season and out."

S. W. STRAUS LONG RECOGNIZED AMERICA'S BEST THRIFT ADVOCATE

By H. R. Daniel, secretary American Society for Thrift.
The death of S. W. Straus removed from the field of activity the most militant advocate of thrift in American life. It is doubtful, in fact, if any other individual has ever worked as constantly and aggressively over a long period of years in the interest of popular thrift education.

To him, widespread adherence to thrift practices meant the solution of many of our deepest economic and sociological problems. His interpretation of the meaning of thrift brot about an entirely new and popular point of view on the subject. Before S. W. Straus took up the cudgels for thrift that word to the vast majority of persons meant merely saving money. It had nothing to do with one's general progress and success in life.

But S. W. Straus strove to teach throughout his life, particularly during the last twenty years, that thrift of health and thrift of time were just as important as thrift of money. It was his belief, so strongly grounded that it might well have been called his creed, that any individual who practiced intelligent thrift was not only improving his own financial status but was developing a strong moral fibre and rounding out a fine and noble character. To be thrifty, therefore, meant to avoid all practices and habits that were really harmful to the individual or were in any way inclined to stay his success.

It would not be possible to place any estimate on the value of the work accomplished by S. W. Straus during his lifetime in striving to encourage practices of thrift by the masses of the people in this country.

His weekly articles were read by millions and the steady stream of letters he received continually from persons who had been encouraged through these articles to adopt habits of thrift attested to the fact that his thrift teachings had a very vital hold on the American public.

KONJOLA VERY MEDICINE THIS LADY REQUIRED

She Rejoices Over Wonder Relief From Indigestion—Happy To Endorse New Medicine.

"I had stomach trouble for a year and a half," said Mrs. Alma Webster, 5017 Avenue R., Galveston. "Each meal brought pain for my food was not properly digested. Gas formed after every meal at times making me very ill. There were many things I did not dare eat because of the condition of my stomach."

MRS. ALMA WEBSTER

"I kept reading in the papers about Konjola and what it was doing for so many people that I began the treatment. Konjola has so improved my condition that I have not had a sick nor dizzy spell since I began taking the medicine. I can eat anything I wish without fear of subsequent misery. I have improved in general health and am happy to endorse this medicine because of what it has done for me."

Sufferers do not have long to wait after taking Konjola before relief comes. However, a six to eight bottle treatment is suggested for the average case.

Konjola is sold in Artesia at Palace Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

COTTON PRODUCTION OF STATE PLACED AT 97,000 BALES LATELY

New Mexico will harvest 97,000 bales of cotton this fall from 130,000 acres, according to forecast just issued from the office of R. F. Hare agricultural statistician at Las Cruces. There is 2.3 per cent decrease from the acreage in cultivation on July 1, he says. The condition of the crop is placed at 82 per cent as compared with 81 per cent last year and a ten year average of 87 per cent.

The forecast yield per acre for the state is placed at 357 pounds of lint this season as compared with 333 pounds harvested per acre last year and a ten-year average of 288 pounds per acre.

At this time last year the leaf worm had practically stripped the crop of all foliage, but this year no damage has been reported and present conditions indicate that the crop will be large.

Reports from the democratic convention today at noon, indicates that the delegates are pretty well divided as to who may be nominated and most anything could happen between now and the time for the nominations, which are scheduled for tomorrow morning.
