Independent oil operators will make another determined fight for a tariff on oil at the coming session of congress. The oil industry needs a tariff and if persistent efforts means anything, the independents should be rewarded. We can not expect to cure the employment situation in the oil producing sections, without first stopping the flood of foreign oil. Those who believe in a protective tariff should be consistent in their action and help pass protection to an industry that threatens to pass to the control of a few, who would overflow the greatest petroleum consuming nation on earth with foreign oil, produced by peon labor at the expense of the oil producing sections of America.

While the Pecos Valley in general is in better condition financially than most any other section of the southwest, we anticipate that this community will find it necessary to care for an increasing number of indigent people. This situation not only calls for a liberal donation to the community chest to help the needy, but calls for some careful planning on the part of our citizenship to meet and solve the problem. If you contemplate an improvement program about your residence or place of business, it would be a splendid thing if you could arrange to give the needy laborer a chance to earn a few dollars. There are many who no doubt plan improvements during the coming winter and spring months and a little intelligent planning will help a lot, even though the odd job you have is nothing more than spading up the small garden plot.

We also believe it would be worth while for the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Chest officials to cooperate with the local people and assist in placing those who are in need in touch with work. This of course would be something on the order of an employment bureau, but with a little cooperation the plan would serve a real need.

ANALYZING CRIME

On September 1, the first governmental bureau for the compilation of statistics on law violators began to function.

The bureau, according to the Department of Justice, does not represent a new idea. It has long been advocated and has been tried in a smaller way by various police associations, but with little success due to lack of cooperation between states. Its operation by the federal government will make it possible to analyze crime statistics in this country and throughout the world.

Such a bureau may prove to be of inestimable value in the fight against crime. In the past we have gone blindly forward without sufficient knowledge on which to base conclusions. It is generally recognized that scientific knowledge is necessary to society if it is to achieve the utmost in efficiency in apprehending and punishing criminals.

Perhaps the greatest obstacle in the path of crime suppression has been the crime reformers themselves with their incessant efforts to burden the American people with more restrictive laws. It is to be hoped that these well meaning zealots will learn from indispensable facts that crime has increased in direct ratio to the increase in the volume of legislation.

THE AUTOMOBILE IS RESPONSIBLE

In spite of the fact that 31,000 people were killed last year by automobiles, the general accident situation affords grounds for optimism.

Accidents among children of school age have increased less than one-tenth of one per cent in the last seven years. Less than 100 passengers were killed while traveling on all the American railroads in 1929. Hundreds of our industrial concerns have made remarkable records in reducing their accident rates—both in frequency and severity. A multitude of smaller plants are establishing one, two and even five-year "no-accident" records. Had it not been for the tragic increase of deaths and injuries due to the automobiles, the national accident rate would now be 30 per cent lower than it was 17 years ago.

The crux of the entire matter is that we have made good progress in preventing all kinds of accidents except those for which motor cars are responsible. Safety work and instruction in schools and industries, fostered and encouraged by casualty insurance companies, has been the means of saving thousands of lives in the last decade. This work is being carried on with increasing intensity and vast progress will be recorded in the future.

The automobile accident record will not be reduced until we take decisive means to keep the reckless, the irresponsible, and both the mentally and physically incompetent from the public highways, where they menace the lives and property of all other motorists.

Well, the election is over and so is the campaigning. We don't have to hear about the liars, horse thieves and thugs for two more years.

George Frisch, city water superintendent brings out a fine point in his article found on this page. City water is too cheap to have an unsodden lawn surrounding your premises. You can get 8,333 pounds of water for six cents after you have used the first 10,000 gallons. Pound for pound we do not know any other element essential for human life (air excepted) that is as cheap as Artesia water.

A midwestern banker has brought down a lot of criticism in his statement to the effect that the nations of the earth are too close together or that they have been brought too close together to have any material difference in their standards of living. This theory, regardless of its truth or falsity will not be accepted by the average American. According to this statement we must either bring the rest of the world to our standard of living or go to theirs and we do not believe either will occur. Americans have too much initiative and energy to submit to such a change.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Carrots fried with apples are tasty.

Corn fritters may be made from left over corn on the cob. To 4 tablespoons fresh corn add 1 teaspoon melted fat, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 1 cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, mix to a batter and fry in deep fat.

Soft jelly can be used up in many appetizing ways. Spread it on pancakes; on jelly roll; put it in pastry shells with a bit of whipped cream on top; fill apples that have been cooked tender in sirup with some of it; put a bit on such milk desserts as blanc mange, custard, Spanish cream or bread pudding.

Very salty smoked finnan haddie is improved by cooking for 15 or 20 minutes in water which is then discarded and replaced with fresh water. To serve Finnan haddie, pick the flakes from the bones after parboiling and add to a white sauce. One or two hard cooked eggs in the sauce are an improvement.

Eggs for lunch or dinner may be sherred, curried, baked with cheese, served with ham, poached or fried, and with or without Hollandaise sauce; scrambled with bacon baked in tomato cups, made into omelets, or baked as in a cheese souffle. Leaflet 39-L, Eggs at Any Meal, is a publication which may be obtained free from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It contains many recipes for such dishes as these and other ways of cooking eggs for breakfast, in desserts, and in sauces.

The housewife who buys Government-graded beef knows she is getting what she expects. Uncle Sam's official stamp shows both the class and grade of the beef, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which supervises this grading and stamping service. The classes of beef in order of excellence are steer and heifer beef, cow beef, stag beef and bull beef; the official grades, in order of excellence, are prime, choice, good, medium, common, cutter, and low cutter. Consumers in a community that is not now supplied with Government-stamped beef may learn from dealers how such beef can be obtained, says the Department of Agriculture.

"IN A FLORIST'S WINDOW"

"In a Florist's Window," was, as its name suggests, a charming little operetta, as given by the children of the central school in the Central auditorium last Friday evening under the direction of Mrs. Willis Morgan, supervisor of music. The school orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Harp, furnished the music.

A lattice twined with greenery and flowers made an attractive background for a window full of lovely blossoms impersonated by the children of the different grades. The florists entered first and gave an intricate drill very successfully before taking their places; the larger blossoms followed and filled the back of the window, after giving a drill to music. Each flower was succeeded by a smaller variety all giving drills, until the tiny violets filled the front row. Among the blossoms came the green bugs and the bees, the latter circling about among the flowers to sip the honey. In all the array of beauty there was only one unattractive flower, the mustard, but the pretty daffodils graciously allowed the homely mustard to stand with their group. The flowers represented in charming crepe paper costumes were the red rose, the daffodils, the pansies, the columbines, the violets and the mustard, with the green bugs and bees. A beautiful color ensemble, tuneful melodies and pretty drills made an entertainment, which delighted the audience.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

One of the most exciting ghost parties given last week was that of Avis Clowe, who entertained a "bunch" of her young girl friends on Friday evening. The young maids were conducted thru a tunnel, compelled to climb a ladder to the upper story of the house and made their entrance to the living room by sliding down a plank. On this thrilling journey they encountered skeletons, witches and spooks and other creepy objects. In the kitchen was a witches' kettle from which they drew out refreshments of doughnuts with long handled forks, which they devoured to the accompaniment of cider. The customary ghost stories were not forgotten, nor the apple bobbing and other typical Hallowe'en games. The girls who enjoyed this good time were Joan Wheatley, Virginia Gates, Lois Cavin, Kitty Flint, Hannah Belle McCaw, Dorothy Dale Gleghorn and Elnora Gage.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Landis Ed Feather entertained a few of his young friends at a party last Friday evening to celebrate Hallowe'en. The children went in costume and had great fun playing games. They gave a good imitation of their elders in sitting before the fireplace telling weird ghost stories, which compared favorably with some told by older folks. Landis Ed's aunt, Miss Shirley Feather, came down from Roswell to attend the party and helped along the fun by being a gypsy fortune teller. The children present were beside Landis Ed, Grant Scoggins, Charles Mack Knoedler, James Robertson, Larry Kremer, Edith Sinclair and Peggy Linell.

THE BENEFIT SHOW

The Benefit Show given by the Sunshine class of the Methodist Sunday school at the Majestic theatre Tuesday evening was a great success and netted the class a very satisfactory sum. The benefit was given for Miss Bertha Rose, who is in St. Francis hospital in Carlsbad following an operation. The class wishes to publicly thank all who generously bought tickets in order to help this worthy cause.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Mrs. John Shearman and Tom Whitted cooperated in giving their junior classes of the Christian Sunday school a Hallowe'en party at the Shearman home last Friday evening. The girls and boys were in costume suitable to the weird occasion and the games, decorations and refreshments were characteristic of this most frolicsome holiday of the year, which seems to be most popular with the young folks.

SATURDAY NIGHT PARTY

A lot of the high school pupils, with a few others, enjoyed a picnic at the Flint ranch last Saturday night, when they were guests of Miss Sue Flint. A truck with trailer was sent in from the ranch for the 'bunch' and the trip out, enlivened with singing and fun, was part of the evening's pleasure. Games and dancing occupied much time with piano music by Elizabeth Gage and singing by all. For refreshments they went out into a nearby field and toasted marshmallows and weiners. Back in the house more games and dancing finished a pleasurable evening. The guests were, Evelyn Cobble, Ethelyn Cobble, J. W. Brown, Vesta White, A. D. Hill, Glennis Smith, Margaret Frisch, Lilla Jackson, Beulah Beth Terry, T. J. Pollard, Wallace Gates, Lawrence Goodell, Lawrence Clarke, Doriss Ransbarger, Nina Gray, Marlin Traylor, Earl Prior, Tommie Norris, Richard Wheatley, Jeanne Wheatley, LaRue Mann, Melvin Jernigan, Wyoma Phillips, William Compton, Allen Perry, Harold Garner and C. HALLOWE'EN AND ANNIVERSARY PARTY

Complimentary to their guests, Miss Lucile Hornbaker and Myron Hornbaker of Darlow, Kansas, and also honoring the birthday anniversary of their son, Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hornbaker gave a Hallowe'en party at their ranch home south of town last Friday evening. The house was beautified with a profusion of fall flowers and mystic decorations and the usual Hallowe'en menu was served with the addition of delicious barbecued lamb. The supper was eaten on the lawn and the festivities, including lively games occurred out of doors until, at a late hour, the chilly air drove the merry-makers indoors. The guests on this pleasant occasion were besides the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Swank of Hope, Nevil Muncy and family and Mrs. Muncy's sister, June Brookshier who came down from Roswell to be present, Mrs. Mary Ralls, the Misses Doris Deter, Vera Prior, Grace Sinclair, Mona Sinclair, Martha Sinclair, Jeanne Wheatley and Thelma McCaw, Richard Wheatley, Jack McCaw, Edwin McCaw and Mr. Willburn and a friend from Hagerman.

LOWS ENTERTAIN HIGHS

The low score members of the "Chevie Six" Bridge club entertained the high score at a lovely two course dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tex Henson last Thursday evening. The Hallowe'en motif was carried out in the decorations and favors and the guests were given some real thrills when compelled to pass thru a dark, spooky hall and spooky room. The guests on this delightful occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames Stanley Blocker, T. C. Bird and Leslie Martin and their hosts, were Messrs. and Mesdames John Richards, Carl Joiner and Tex Henson.

ELECTION DAY DINNER

IDLEWHILES BRIDGE CLUB

The Idlewhiles Bridge club met with Mrs. Arba Green, Tuesday for its regular meeting. Mrs. Green served a delicious turkey dinner in three courses at one o'clock and the afternoon was devoted to bridge. Mrs. G. U. McCrary substituted.

PAST NOBLE GRAND'S CLUB

The Past Noble Grand's club held a business and social meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed Conner last Thursday evening. A Hallowe'en party, given as a surprise to Mrs. Conner, proved a decided success. The members went robed in ghostly garments and spent a pleasant evening in sociability. Light refreshments were served.

SECOND EVENING BRIDGE CLUB

The Second Evening Bridge club met with Judge and Mrs. Ferree last Friday evening, at which time a delicious turkey dinner was served. There were no guests and no substitutes.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY

The eve preceding "All Saints" day was amply celebrated this year with many social events. One of the pleasantest of these occasions was the party given by Agnes Ann Williams at the Landis Feather home on a Saturday evening. More than a score of Agnes Ann's school mates participated in the merrymaking, which included the traditional games, dancing, etc. With the traditional decorations and refreshments. The young people present were, Mattie George, Laura Bullock, Laura Bell McCaw, Pauline Clayton, Norma Michael, Frances Eaton, Jaunita Perry, Lillie Miller, Nelle Jackson, Eleanor Rogers, Lorita Hill, Chas. Brown, St. Clair Yates, Willard Mitchell, Harry Woodman, Thomas Kuykendall, John Gates, Jo Bill Ballard, Paul Crockett, Seborn Beale, Leonard Vandevere, Woodrow Williams, Billy Bullock.

WOMEN'S CLUB

A vital topic to American women, "The American Home," was the program subject at the regular meeting of the club at Central school yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. R. Blocker, the leader, ably presented the subject and brought to the club some important findings on the recent survey and gave many helpful ideas to the homemakers present. Mrs. Tex Henson, of the Junior club, contributed to the current events feature and Mrs. Roy Muncy, another Junior, made her debut to the club as a reader, presenting that delightful little bit from the pen of Booth Tarkington, "Penrod's Affliction." A comprehensive report from the meeting of the State Federation in Albuquerque was brought to the club by Mrs. G. R. Brainard and Mrs. Earl Darst, who represented the club at the meeting.

Among the matters of interest reported was that the Harriet Donahoe Scholarship Loan Fund of over $2,000 was all taken by girl students and applications for more loans were plentiful. The Artesia club contributes $10 to this fund. The State Federation has taken up the question of providing a New Mexico bell at the Washington Memorial at Valley Forge, the bell to be a unit in the projected Star Spangled Banner chime at that beautiful and historic place, commemorating the heroism of Washington and the other patriots of the Revolution, who suffered there. The next meeting of the state organization will be held in Roswell next October. The next meeting of the local club will be held on the 19th in the Central school.

PICKED UP ON MAIN

Looks like the county is saved for two more years, which means twenty-four months of peace and prosperity to everyone including J. B. Randolph.

Cottonwood went democratic because the republicans stayed at home and picked cotton, so says Big Hill. According to Hill it takes moisture to make an election interesting and this element was conspicuously absent on the republican side.

One man, normally a republican, prorated his ballot Tuesday giving the democrats, republicans and socialists a few each.

Hugh Burch had a barrel of crude in the back end of his car when he attended the last football game and when questioned about it, remarked that he was swapping the barrel of oil for admission into the park. We look to see a few bales of cotton at the park before the season closes.

A reward of two bits (twenty five cents) will be paid for the identification of the other republican vote cast at the Lakewood precinct on November 4th.

The Cottonwood Woman's club held an all day session at the home of Mrs. Rambo last Wednesday. Miss Caroline Wetzell of State College was present and helped the ladies with the sewing work which included the cutting of foundation patterns, collars and circular skirts. The next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Earnest Malone, to-day.

The three teachers of Upper Cottonwood, I. Burgess, Mrs. Perry and Miss Amy Williams and pupils gave a pie supper and a very nice program Friday evening. As this was Halloween, ghosts, witches and cats were placed about for decorations to give a spooky atmosphere. The entertainment netted a nice sum of money, due largely to the auctioneer Frank Wilson.

The Sunday school which meets at the Cottonwood church, is moving along nicely and has been increasing in interest since its organization several months ago. The average attendance is forty-five. A song service is also held in the church each Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. Much credit for the fine progress of the Sunday school is due to the efforts of Superintendent Packman, and the corps of teachers, Mrs. Earnest Malone, Mr. and Mrs. Iverson Burgess and Judge Doering.

FORMER ARTESIAN GOES TO ARGENTINE S. A.

Old timers will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Mr. John S. Robertson of Houston, Texas, son of Mr. M. M. Robertson, a former attorney of Artesia, who lived here some sixteen years ago. The family have resided at Houston for a number of years, and John has become a valued employee of the Houston Electric Company, who has recently transferred him to Cordoba, Argentina, where he will be manager of the tramway system of the city. Before leaving Houston he was united in marriage by the Rev. Harry G. Knowles, on October 24th, to Miss Helen Leatherberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Leatherberry, and a member of the family of the one-time Governor McLaurin of Mississippi. His bride accompanied him to his new home.

From a Houston paper we learn that John was an honor student at Rice Institute, was president of the Rice Engineering Society and manager of the Electrical Engineering department of Rice Engineering show in 1926.

AUSTIN CAR HERE

Yesterday, a number of Artesia people had their first opportunity to view the Austin automobile, the vest pocket edition of the regular American car. From the looks of the new Austin, it appears that the smaller car would be more suitable for city driving than on some of the western roads. It was parked on Main street for several hours yesterday.

ALCOHOLIC DEATHS IN THE U. S. DECLINES

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Deaths from alcoholism in the United States declined last year from the total attained in 1928.

A census bureau tabulation of the total deaths attributed to that cause in the registration area—46 states, the District of Columbia and a group of nine cities in the other two states—showed 4,339 deaths against 4,627 recorded in 1928. The decrease showed up also in the rate per 100,000 population which was set at 3.7 against 4.1. The census bureau estimated this registration area holds 95 per cent of the United States population.

Declines took place in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey, Maryland, Michigan and Missouri. Increases, however, were shown in Massachusetts, Wisconsin, and California. These eleven states completed the list of those reporting more than 100 such deaths.

Increased deaths were recorded in 19 of the 46 reporting states, several in the west. Among them were Arizona, Colorado and New Mexico. In the southern seven states reported decreases, two were unchanged and three had slight increases. New England states reporting showed three with losses.

New York's total, the highest reported, was 817 against 866 for the preceding year. Pennsylvania had 464 instead of 526. Massachusetts went up from 257 to 276, and Illinois dropping from its third place 368 figure in 1928 to 240, or fifth place. California's total grew to 182 from the preceding year's 177.

HOW

CHILD'S GAMES AND TOYS HELP MIND FORMATION.

Toys and games are no longer regarded merely as medium for keeping the children entertained until they are old enough to drop such foolishness. Child psychologists now recognize that through the child's games and his play he is keeping himself busy, active and healthy and is molding both body and mind into their future adult form.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in an article in Hygeia Magazine, suggests how parents may provide toys that fulfill a child's needs. She advises large blocks that require effort to lift to develop the child's lifting and pulling muscles, special steps and ladders for climbing, bean bags and rubber balls for throwing.

Outdoor play apparatus is highly important. If it is interesting the child will play happily while he is getting his full share of sunshine and air. A sandpile is the first outdoor apparatus necessary. It should be placed, if possible, where it will receive the morning sun and where it will not be too hot for afternoon. Next to the sandpile comes a swing, which may be the simple rope swung from a tree or the more elaborate steel frame long enough to support flying rings or a cross bar on which the young acrobat can chin himself.

How Nitroglycerin Is Employed to Fight Fire

Amazing methods in fighting oil field fires, chief among which is the use of nitroglycerin, powerful explosive, are interestingly described in an article in Modern Mechanics Magazine.

Although ordinary oil well fires can usually be conquered by steam, shooting, as the nitroglycerin method is called, is the only effectual way man has of pitting his resources against the frightful blazes of big gassers and gushers. First, all wreckage about the burning well is taken away, while the ground around the inferno must be kept cool with water from hose running continually. Clothed in asbestos from head to foot, the firefighter goes to within a few feet of the hurricane of flame taking with him his shots of deadly explosive, which have been poured into shells holding 30 quarts each. These are slid along an asbestos belt into the fire, and the man turns and runs for his life. Firefighters work under terrific heat that causes the body to swell, and deaths are often and horrible in this hazardous means of earning a livelihood.

EAST SIDE PEOPLE UNEASY ABOUT
TAX ON ROYALTY

There is much uneasiness among land owners and the owners of oil properties on the eastern side of the state over the prospect of placing a tax on royalties next year. They feel that should this be done it will mean a death blow to the oil development of Lea county and will virtually amount to confiscation of the privately owned land in this county.

An effort was made by the state tax commission this year to place oil royalties up on the tax rolls. The commission spent several weeks making investigations here in regard to the matter with the avowed intention of listing the oil rights up the tax rolls. But the plan was abandoned after a thorough investigation of the law and it was found that the commission had no authority to do so.—Lovington Leader.

THE ARTESIA ALLSTARS SMASH OUT VICTRY OVER LIGHT OPPONENTS

The Artesia football team composed of ex-college and high school gridiron stars won a hard game from the Carlsbad town team last Sunday by a score of 27 to 0. The two teams battled to a scoreless tie last season.

The locals, weighing around 178 pounds to the man, had their lighter opponents from the south end of the valley, at their mercy during most of the game, which was witnessed by a large crowd of frenzied spectators. Thrill after thrill was given the sidelines as the passing and running attack of the Artesia men began functioning with as much regularity as a university coached eleven. Fourteen points were made by the locals as a result of a forward passing attack, in the first quarter.

The second quarter was a harder fought affair, but the locals put across a touchdown which was not allowed on account of hurdling by the ball toter. The half also ended with the ball within the one yard line. The third quarter was also scoreless, although Bird heaved a forward pass from the ten yard line into the end zone which gave possession of the ball to the visitors. Another touchdown was not allowed in this quarter due to holding by an Artesia lineman, although the play had netted thirty yards.

The locals started a rally in the third quarter and the backs began circling the ends for ten and twenty yard gains. Two more touchdowns were scored in this quarter. A line plunge for extra point failed on one attempt after touchdown, leaving the score 27-0.

Brown and Pond were the outstanding performers for the Carlsbad boys. McCaw played a steller game for the locals in the line and the entire quartette of backs performed in Notre Dame style.

TURKEY CROP ABOUT SAME AS LAST YEAR

The turkey crop of 1930 for the country as a whole is about 3 per cent smaller than that of 1929, but larger than either the 1928 or 1927 crops, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The decrease in the states from which the commercial supply of turkeys largely comes, which are the states from the Dakotas to Texas and westward, was considerably greater than 3 per cent, amounting for the whole area to about 10 per cent. The increases which tended to offset the decreases in the commercial area were mostly in the east central states, being largely in the states where the drought of last spring and summer was most severe.

In general, the dry, hot weather of the past season was exceptionally favorable for raising young turkeys and the proportion of turkeys raised to poult hatched was larger than usual. This had the effect of offsetting to a considerable extent the decrease in hatchings due to the relatively unfavorable prices received last year.

In spite of the shortage of feed supplies in some areas, the condition of the young turkeys about October 1 this year, as reported by growers, was about the same as of the same date last year. For the country as a whole, the proportions of the turkeys that would be ready for the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets this year were reported as practically the same as last year.

BOY SERIOUSLY INJURED

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Smith was seriously burned Monday morning, when he spilled gasoline on his clothing and the fluid was ignited. Details as to how the accident occurred were not learned. The child was given first aid here and later taken to the Sister's hospital at Carlsbad for treatment. Mr. Smith is employed on the highway and lives west of town.

ROSWELL MAN HELD UP AND ROBBED NEAR HAGERMAN MONDAY

E. J. Dinwall, driver for the Peerless Creamery Company was held up and robbed of $89.00 in currency Monday night at 7:30 p. m., at a point five miles south of Hagerman on the Roswell highway.

The robbery was committed by two men driving a model A Ford coupe, both of whom were masked. Mr. Dinwall told the sheriff's office in reporting the robbery upon his return to Roswell Monday night.

Dinwall was returning from a regular trip down the valley when the men drove up beside him and crowded him to the side of the road. Dinwall said one man remained in the car while the other pointing a gun at him ordered him to get out of the car.

Dinwall believes the two men followed him out of Artesia and that the robbery was carefully planned. Dinwall said that one man went thru his clothing. It was impossible to secure the number on the car, he said, because the lights were out.—Roswell Record.

Joseph founded the first life insurance society. It had in it all the advantages of the 'whole life plan' and the 'endowment plan'.

Wednesday 7:30 p. m., Bible study of personal evangelism.

"Wars have never settled disputes between nations. The settlement is always made around a council table after the war is over. The view of the modern peacemaker is, reverse the order; set up the council table first, and the only argument for the institution of war, with its burden of taxation and periodic slaughter falls to the ground. This is what the churches are to bring about because Christians should never kill." In times of peace prepare, not for war, but for a more enduring peace.

The gross income from farm production for 1929 was $11,851,000,000, says the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The gross income from crops is estimated at $5,603,000,000, and that from livestock and livestock products at $6,248,000,000.

Small tanks and pumps carried on the backs of fire fighters proved valuable in "mopping up" on a bad forest fire in the Allegheny National forest near one of the U. S. Forest Service experiment camps in Pennsylvania. Additional back pumps have been acquired for future service.

The tuberculous cow is the chief source of infection to healthy cattle. Since it can not be determined just when she becomes a "spreader" of the germs—unless daily microscopic tests are made—it is unsafe to keep her with healthy cattle. No cattle from outside sources should be introduced into a healthy herd until they have been tuberculin tested and found free from the disease.

Among the many new uses for cotton, the U. S. Department of Agriculture workers have noted products such as tarpaulins for athletic fields, style fabrics, posters and billboards, cotton letterheads, fireproof fabrics, play tents, model yachts, white cotton sleeves for traffic officers and a proposed rubberized cotton device to prevent the formation of ice on airplane wings and struts.

Do not put off repainting wood until the old coating has flaked badly and much bare wood is exposed, says the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Long before the coating flakes noticeably, it fails to protect wood adequately against weathering. This is especially true of flat-grained boards of some species that hold paint well. Wood checks or cracks show that wood needs repainting even though the coating is apparently intact.

A toll of from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 is taken each year by the cattle grub, or heel fly. Stockmen, dairymen, butchers, packers, hide dealers, tanners and manufacturers of leather goods are the losers, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The department has issued a new bulletin describing the damage done by this insect and giving methods for its control. Farmers' Bulletin 1596-F; Cattle Grubs or Heel Flies with Suggestions for Their Control, can be obtained free from the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C.

Many dairy farmers can not afford to own a purebred bull individually, but everyone can afford to have the use of a good bull through a cooperative bull association. Members of such an association are usually divided into three or more groups of neighboring farmers, each group being known as a block. A block may consist of one or more herds and may include from 50 to 75 cows. One bull is assigned to a block, and is moved to another block every two years in order to prevent inbreeding. You can get further information about cooperative bull associations, from your state agricultural college or from the Bureau of Dairy Industry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

TO INVESTIGATE OIL RESOURCE

SOCORRO—An investigation of the oil and gas resources and possibilities of New Mexico has been started by the state bureau of mines and mineral resources of the New Mexico School of Mines. Dean E. Winchester, Denver, Colorado, has been retained by the bureau to carry on the necessary field work and to prepare a report on the subject. It is anticipated that the report will be ready for distribution in the summer of 1931. A preliminary report of Lea county will probably be issued in about two months.

Mr. Winchester is especially qualified for this assignment, having spent thirteen years as a geologist in the services of the U. S. geological survey and ten years as a consulting geologist. Much of his work has been done in New Mexico.

With the recent important oil and gas developments in New Mexico, the state bureau of mines has received an increasing number of requests for information dealing with oil and gas in the state.

HONEST DOUBTER

John 11:14-16; 14:16-18; 14:20-24
 And Thomas answered him, My Lord and my God!

Learning to doubt—Thomas, the Man who was not sure. He was not a doubter, but a man who was honest in his doubts.

Thomas means "a twin." He was called Didymus, which means "the linking of his name with the listing of his name." It is commonly inferred that he was a twin brother of the other Thomas (John 11:16).

Thomas, the beloved brother of the home, was sick, the brother of Mary and Martha, because they had come to him more than a mere visitor. He knew, and his disciples knew, that going to him meant death.

Thomas was skeptical. He was not a doubter, but a man who was honest in his doubts. He was not a doubter, but a man who was honest in his doubts.

DR. HANEY A FORMER FEDERAL ECONOMIST IS AGAINST PRORATION

Dr. Lewis Haney, former economist for the Federal Trade Commission, may not be an oil man but he does have legitimate claims to a thorough knowledge of economics. His views of the oil proration program that is now general throughout the U. S. are at least interesting whether or not he hits the key note. An article by him follows:

NEW YORK—The oil industry will be benefited more quickly and more surely by permitting the economic law of supply and demand to have immediate and unmolesated full swing, than by the operation of any curtailment or proration schemes that seem to have been paramount in the minds of oil producers for the last year or two, according to Dr. Lewis Haney, director of New York University Bureau of business Research and former Economist of the Federal Trade Commission.

"Proration merely prolongs uncertainty, depression, and inadequate profits," said Dr. Haney. "The only way to shut down production effectively (and legally) is to let market prices fall according to the law of supply and demand. Low prices make it unprofitable to drill more wells for they remove the incentive to produce."

"Earnings in the industry are low because the price of the chief product, gasoline, is low. Now comes a cut in the price of crude oil in the Texas Panhandle."

"Yet it is now more reasonable to hope for ultimate improvement in the oil industry than it has been in a long while. Slowly but surely the industry is being driven to a realization that it must resort to old fashioned remedies for over-production. The idea that it can keep prices up and at the same time hold production down is passing. The 'proration' policy is being de-bunked."

"For a long-while, oil leaders have been struggling to enforce agreements among producers, according to which the output of a pool is restricted and each producer is limited to certain percentage of the total. This is a proration. It is a sort of 'pooling agreement.'"

"The oil men have even persuaded the government to consent to this violation of the anti-trust laws."

"But they can't beat the law of supply and demand. Like most pooling agreements, proration breaks down because those in the pool try to keep prices up, and some producers want to make more money by producing more oil than the agreement allows."

"Of course, low prices hurt for a while. But this is nature's remedy and it gets results. This is why we may begin to get hopeful about the oil industry, now that prices are going cut."

"All the talk about 'conservation' is, in this case, bunk. In the first place, there is plenty of oil, and no prospect of shortage exists. In the second place, the best way to conserve oil is to shut down production by the action of low prices. Let over-production work its own cure."

"In my opinion, it is a bad thing for our government (state or federal) to encourage the oil pooling and the futile effort to restrict production and to maintain prices. It is an unwarranted interference with individual initiative and a violation of the law against restraint of trade."

"Recent signs that the scheme is breaking down and that price cuts are being made should be welcomed by those who have long run interest of the industry at heart."

Dr. Haney was in charge of the 1916 gasoline investigation for the Federal Trade Commission and a member of the advisory board of the commission from 1916 to 1919.

FARM PRODUCTS ARE LOWEST SINCE 1915

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The lowest October level of farm prices since 1915 was reported Thursday by the department of agriculture in making known a five point decline from September 15 to October 15 to put prices 34 points below a year ago. The farm prices of virtually all commodities except hay, veal calves and eggs declined. Hay prices were virtually unchanged; veal calves advanced slightly; egg prices showed considerably less than the usual seasonal advance.

Fruits and vegetables moved down 22 points; grain, 8; cotton and cottonseed, 7; poultry and poultry products up 4 points.

The average price of hogs declined from $9.44 per hundred-weight on September 15 to $8.79 on October 15. A year ago the price was $9.10. The lower prices were attributed principally to a seasonal increase in supplies.

Farm prices of sheep declined sharply and at $3.93 per hundred-weight reached the lowest level recorded for any October 15 since 1911. The farm price of lambs continued to decline but remained slightly above the level of October 1921.

THREE LOCAL BUSINESS HOUSES MAKE CHANGE TO NEW LOCATIONS

Moving day has been or will be the order for three Artesia business firms. Tommy Spivey, proprietor of the Tommy Sandwich Shop opened yesterday morning in his new place of business, one door east of his former stand. Mr. Spivey has added a number of new fixtures to his equipment and plans to enlarge his service to include plate and merchant lunches in addition to the regular sandwich and fountain service. New quarters of the sandwich shop are larger and have permitted the addition of new service tables, electric waffle irons and a meat slicer "to slice the meat thinner."

Mount's, gents furnishings, completed the moving operations last week into the new home, being the west half of the new Cunningham building. The Palace Drug Store plans to move into its new quarters at the corner of Roselawn and Main some time next week. Workmen are adding the finishing touches to the Cunningham building and are also installing new fixtures for the Palace from the Weber Show Case and Fixture Co., of Los Angeles, California. The Palace will be equipped throughout with the latest style drug and display fixtures of sand rubbed oak. Neon sign will also be added to the front and side display windows.

LAKE MCMILLAN MAY BE LOST TO HUNTERS

Danger that Lake McMillan may be lost to this section as a hunting place was pictured at Carlsbad Friday night by Guy Reed, president of the Eddy County Game Protective association, at a meeting of the organization.

Mr. Reed declared that the state association has power to act and that the matter now is up to State Game Warden E. L. Perry.

He suggested that the county association should undertake actively to get action through Mr. Perry and Paul D. Redington, chief of the biological survey.

Reed said that the present status of McMillan lake, threatens the future of the place as a hunting spot. He said the state game protective association two years ago passed a resolution for the opening of Elephant Butte and parts of McMillan lake, and that Elephant Butte was opened but McMillan was not.

He said that in 1928 at the request of the federal warden, a state refuge was created at McMillan which was to be policed by the state, because it was believed the state could handle the project better. That action was protested because the lake is a federal refuge, and Reed said the refuge has not been policed since.

On September 12 of this year the Eddy county game association requested that the State G. P. A. take steps to have the government declare parts of the lake open to shooting and on September 16 the county association was advised by the federal authorities that the state has no power to act. Reed emphasized that it is necessary for someone in authority to take charge of the McMillan lake case if it is to be preserved as a bird refuge and hunting place.

BULLDOGS MAKE EASY WORK OF ALAMOGORDO HIGH HERE FRIDAY

The Alamogordo high school failed to develop the expected opposition on the first visit of the team here Friday and Artesia walked away with the big end of a 25 to 0 score. Apparently the hard hitting Bulldogs took the play out of the visitors when they pushed over to touchdowns in the first quarter and another early in the second quarter. Hill hefty local half back carried the ball over twice for the Bulldogs in the first half, but Artesia failed in the attempt for the extra points. Coach Allen's second string men saw action during the greater part of the second and third quarter and never allowed the visitors to seriously threaten to score. Alamogordo got within 10 yards of the Artesia goal line during the latter part of the quarter.

Practically all of the first team went into the line again in the beginning of the fourth quarter and opened up a passing attack. A feature of Friday's contest was a 35 yard pass from Burch to Pollard, who made a pretty run for a touch down. Another pass from Burch to Spivey netted a gain of twenty yards and enabled the locals to get on Alamogordo's three yard line, when the final whistle blew.

Tomorrow at the Brainard Park, Artesia will meet one of the hardest contenders of the season, Portales. If the locals are able to defeat Portales they stand a fair show of closing the season without any further defeats.

The starting line up:

Alamogordo	Position	Artesia
Bradford	LE	Pollard
Osborn	RE	Spivey
Baca	LT	Wheatley
Evans	RT	Smith
Phillips	RG	Goodell
Smith	LG	Traylor
Myers	C	Jones
Bennett	QB	Brown
Johnson	FB	Burch
Nogales	LH	Hill
Schultz	RH	Norris

Why Sunset is Brilliant

The Naval observatory says sunset colors are caused by the excess of rays of long wave-length, red and orange chiefly, which pass more readily over the long path through the dense lower strata of the atmosphere, which must be traversed at sunset, than the short wave-length blue and violet rays, which are obstructed not only by the atmosphere, but also by dust particles and impurities suspended in it. The finest sunset colors are produced when there is the greatest amount of dust and impurities in the air through which the sunlight passes. No sunsets are perfectly colorless.

Why Insect Pests Flourish

Whence came our present insect pests? Most of them came from foreign countries. And they come here without their natural enemies. In this way the balance is disturbed, wholly in favor of the insect. An insect in his home land is often so harmless and obscure that his presence is not even noted. This is because his natural enemies keep him in his place. But transplant this little bug to America, give him plenty of rich food and no enemies, and he will show what the biological laws of reproduction mean.

Why Covered Bridges

It is stated that the chief purpose of covering bridges was to protect the bridges themselves against the weather, and not to serve as a shelter for travelers. This protection added many years to the life of a wooden bridge, at a time when lumber for the roof and sides was cheap.

Why Airplane Ride Cools

Aside from the motion, there is a second reason which makes an airplane ride cool: For every 1,000 feet ascended there is an actual drop of three degrees in temperature.

Why Lobster Turns Red

A lobster turns red when it is boiled because the result of the effect of boiling water on the coloring material in the shell, and is a chemical change.
