AN APPEAL

Miss Minna Robertson, district welfare worker, has issued a special appeal to the folks of this trade territory for used clothing. People have been very generous in their response to our former calls, she states, but at no time have the poor in the Artesia community needed clothing as they do now. Send in your clothing, the welfare committee needs men's clothing, women's clothing, boys clothing, girl's clothing, baby clothing, top clothes and under clothes.

The clothing distributing station, one door south of the Gilbert and Collins office, in charge of Mrs. J. J. Clarke, is still open on Thursday afternoons from 2:30 p. m. If you have no way of sending the clothing down, phone some member of the welfare committee, who will be glad to send for them.

FRUIT STILL SAFE

Fruit growers are resting easier this morning after a threatened pre-Easter cold snap last night. A stiff north wind which blew yesterday afternoon sent the thermometer scurrying down, but moderated about 10 o'clock last night. Winter which paid the Rocky Mountain area anoth-er visit failed to reach here, after a blizzard and snow covered a greater part of the state north of Santa Fe. Snow fell as far south as the Sacramento Mountains. Light rains were reported in the lower section of the state.

Local fruit men estimate that there is still from a half to a third of the early fruit left. The apple and pear crop has not been damaged materially.

Dr. O. E. Puckett, county health officer, Friday afternoon reported three genuine cases of small pox in the edge of Artesia. The disease was spread by a woman, who came in from Texas. All cases are under quarantine and the health department hopes to check the outbreak before spreads further.

ONE CASE TRIED IN DIST. COURT, ADJOURNS TO MEET MAY ELEVENTH

District Judge Richardson dismissed the petit jury Monday, and will convene court again May 11th. Court was dismissed because a number of attorneys were attending federal court in Santa Fe.

The jury was empaneled at Carlsbad on March 16th, but sat thru only one case, that of Isador Bustillos, who was charged with failing to stop after he had hit the Fessler children on the streets of Carlsbad. Bustillos was found guilty and sentenced to not less than three nor more than five years in the state

The jury was composed of Richard Dawson and Ed Kissinger.

CONSTRUCTIVE IMPROVEMENT

Not everybody will agree with us when we say that a constructive improvement program is the only substantial way to build a town or community. People generally use the term "boost," when they refer to community building, but this word has been worked overtime and sadly abused. Boosting is sometimes the means of highly coloring the printed or spoken word and for this reason the word boost, does not mean much to the ordinary individual. Instinctively he to hatch eggs. Start the New Day Right With An Appetizing Meal

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON Director, Home Economics Dept., H. J. Heinz Company

DHYSICIANS long have stressed the importance of a good breakfast. There is such a lengthy fast between this meal and the dinner of the night before that the body needs food. And an inadequate breakfast makes for ragged nerves and lessened efficiency.

If one does not care for breakfast, the trouble usually will be found to lie in the monotony of breakfast menus. So let's put the sunshine and hope of a new day into every one of these important

Below you will find listed a number of menus and recipes that are easily prepared, and that are sufficiently varied to interest even the most jaded breakfast appetite.

SPORT COUPE PROVES POPULAR AMONG THE CHEVROLET OWNERS

the automotive field, evident during the past year or two and certain to be more pronounced than ever this motoring season, is the evolution in popular favor toward the sport deluxe type car. Popularized on the college campus, the "dolled up" automobile represents a constantly growing proportion of each year's output, with the increase in favor meaning gradually lowering prices due to volume, points out H. J. Klingler vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

"Only a relatively short time ago manufacturer — particularly volume manufacturers-could not include it in his production schedules because of the necessarily high price which he would have had to place on this type by reason of that limited de-mand," Mr. Klingler explained. Youth, largely, made up the purchasers of the sport car because of the individuality the car expressed. Elders clug to the dignity of the closed type as against the informal open model.

Chevrolet is the world's largest builder of six-cylinder trucks

Wherever you go—on city street or country road—you find Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks very much in evidence. Tens of thousands of these sturdy workers are on the job daily, delivering goods, moving supplies, doing all types of light and heavy hauling.

Large fleets of Chevrolets are covering the nation for prominent public utility firms. Nationally known packers, oil companies and manufacturers are using Chevrolets in steadily growing numbers. Every line of business, every field of industry is coming to rely more and more on these big, powerful Sixes.

Indeed, the demand for Chevrolet trucks during recent years has been such that Chevrolet ranks today as the world's largest builder of sixcylinder trucks and commercial cars.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. H. Jackson.

After devotional exercises led by Mrs. M. D. Brannon the business of the afternoon was executed. The Elizabeth Muncy at 7:00 p. m. nominating committee submitted their report and the following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. J. P. Sinclair, president; Mrs. Laura Welsh, vicepresident; Mrs. G. R. Brainard, secretary; Mrs. R. G. Knoedler, treas-Gilbert, secretary for literature.

The treasurer reported the year's apportionment met in full and a credit balance.

PROF STEWART TALKS ON HORTICULTURE

Prof. Stewart, horticulturist at State College, gave a talk on trees and allied subjects at the Central school Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Women's club. Mrs. Hartell, vice-president, presided at the meeting. Prof. Stewart's talk was of great interest to those present who found it helpful in many ways. He dwelt largely upon the painting and care of trees and enumerated many varieties especially adapted to this climate and soil conditions. Among these were the Chinese elm, non-bearing mulberry and Italian cypress. Landscaping, the location of flower beds, shrubs, etc., with regard to artistic effect, were considered, also the varieties of roses adapted to this climate, and the time and manner of pruning were discussed. It was altogether a very worthwhile talk for home owners. Prof. Stewart talked to the Cottonwood people on Tuesday afternoon. He was accompanied here by the county agent, W. A. Wunsch.

Where the site for the new home is large and a building can be set back from the street, no type of house is better suited than the two-story bungalow. The bungalow is popular because it is convenient, most of the rooms being on the first floor. But in the house shown in the accompanying Illustration the bungalow style has been retained yet this is, in reality, a two-story house. It is 37 feet 6 inches long and 24 feet wide, the long dimension being exclusive of the sun porch. The bungalow contains only ave rooms but each of these is larger than is ordinarily found and there are a number of conveniences included in

DISHWASHING IS MADE MUCH EASIER

Sinks and Other Surfaces Should Fit the Worker.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The way one stands while washing dishes or doing any other household task has much to do with the way one feels after the job is done, and also with one's speed and efficiency in doing the work. Sinks and other working surfaces should therefore be installed at the best height for the worker so that a good posture may be maintained. By taking a home demonstration club of farm women to two different homes in their vicinity, a Massachusetts extension agent was able to show very effectively how great a difference it makes in posture and reduction of fatigue to have the sink properly placed at the right distance from the floor for the one who is to do the work.

Notice how low the sink is in the first picture. The dishwasher has to bend over most uncomfortably to reach the bottom of the dishpan. Although an old-fashioned type of sink, it would not be inconvenient if it were raised. It has a counter at the left on which to place dishes, a draining rack, and good light from a window. The very modern sink in the other picture has been carefully located with reference to the worker's position. She can wash dishes while standing normally. Undoubtedly the gleaming white porcelain finish and swinging her posture is the important thing.

After getting her working surfaces placed at the right height any woman will find it interesting to see how much more efficiently she can do the at The Advocate. dishwashing job if she times herself at it and then tries to beat her own record. Some of the helps to this end, are: Have soiled dishes scraped and compactly stacked before beginning. Have plenty of running hot water. Have a clear space to put washed dishes down for drying or draining. Have shelves nearby-within reach of the sink without extra steps, if possible-for putting clean china away. Have a wire drain basket in which dishes and silver can be scalded. Study the hand motions used in dishwashing and eliminating unnecessary ones. If the drainboard is on the left of the sink it is more comfortable for right-handed persons than when the hands must cross to put the washed dishes in the drainer.

No experienced homemaker needs to be told that glasses should be washed first while the water is clean and very hot. Then comes silver, china that is least soiled, and greasy dishes last. If menus are kept simple and cooked with as few saucepans as possible, the most arduous part of dishwashing will be reduced accordingly. Baking dishes in which the food cooked can be sent to the table are useful because they cut down the number of articles to be washed.

Like Color . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

THE artist stands before his canvas with color-laden palette. Blues, greens, white and touches of warmer tones are blended by his inspired brush as the waves of the seascape take form. His genius tells him that only through the blending of just the right colors is the ideal result achieved. Otherwise his most painstaking effort could only result in a monotone, wholly lacking in brilliance.

Artistry and genius have their place in the making of CONOCO Gasoline. CONOCO engineers long since have found that the ideal gasoline is a balanced blend of the three types containing the elements most desired in a motor fuel. There is highly volatile Natural Gasoline, to give quick starting. There is Straight-run Gasoline, to give power and long mileage. There is Cracked Gasoline with its well-known anti-knock quality.

Like the artist with his colors, CONOCO refiners take these three types of gasoline in balanced proportions and blend them. The result is as pleasing to the car owner as is a Rembrandt to the art connoisseur. Of course the genius of "knowing how" is the vital element and it is here that CONOCO refiners excel.

Convince yourself of the merit of CONOCO Blended Gasoline. Try it today. You will find this triple-test motor fuel wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle.

The beam of a flashlight, waved from a tiny, broken down motor boat in the deep of night far out in the Atlantic, saved the life of George O. Wilson on his eighth night of helpless drifting. For seven days he had been without food as adverse winds drove him out of sight of land off the coast of Florida. His water supply was about exhausted.

At two o'clock in the morning on the eighth night in his open sea skiff Wilson sighted approaching lights which proved to be those of the Harboe Jensen, a United Fruit Company steamship bound from Honduras to Philadelphia. On two other nights Wilson had watched the lights of two other steamers approach only to fade away. Again he waved his flashlight in frantic circles as the steamer drew abeam. This time he was rewarded by seeing the ship swing clowly about. Within a few minutes Wilson, in an the ship swing slowly about. Within a few minutes Wilson, in an

After much research, codliver oil, dried buttermilk, alfalfa leaf meal, yellow corn meal, granulated meal, wheat middlings, wheat bran, linseed meal, corn germ meal, oat middlings, salt, bone meal, calcium carbonate and wheat germ meal were brought to-gether. Natural Gas Service

AND JUST NATURAL GAS

-If you could go to the corner grocery or out to a gas well, get a sackful of gas, pay cash for it and carry it home, you could buy a large volume of it for 5 cents.

-Of course, your sack would have to be large and it would have to be good and tight. That might add somewhat to the cost.

-Just when you happened to need the gas, the weather might be unpleasant outside, too.

-When you get your sack of gas home, you would have quite a merry time trying to get the gas fed into the burners of your stove.

-It is then that you would realize that you had bought the wrong thing. You wanted GAS SERVICE, and you had bought just gas.

-Gas-WITH SERVICE-is a clean, efficient, reliable fuel-ready to do your instant bidding when and where you want it.

-It is GAS SERVICE, rather than just gas, that you buy, use

50 CHICKS can eat comfortably from one of these up-to-date, sanitary and feed-saving feeders...eating one 100-pound bagful of Purina Startena Chows in six weeks. Each one of these chicks can eat only one thimbleful of feed per day. From this little feed they must get so much. That's why there are 14 feeds in every thimbleful of Purina Startena Chows (mash or all-mash)...14 feeds which are there in just the right proportion...mixed over and over 960 times. The 1930 national feed survey of 1,834,513 chicks tells you the kind of a job these thimblefuls do. At six weeks of age, 92 out of every 100 Purina-fed chicks are alive and growing. And they weigh an average of one-fourth of a pound more than other chicks. There's the story for you...the story of Purina Startena Chows.

We offer you this proven starting feed . . . with a free feeder per 100-pound bagful. Take advantage of this 7-day bargain. Order now and we'll have the feed and feeders ready for you when you want them ... either now or any other date you set this spring.
