THE DANGER OF WAITING

Life can play foul jokes on people sometimes. In a large middle-western city there was a grocer, who worked very hard and saved his money religiously so that his old age would be provided for.

For 50 years he stuck to his grocery store. He worked and saved too hard to have very much fun, but he was looking forward to the day when he could retire. Then he would have his fun. He would have money and leisure, and he would make up for the years of hard work.

Well, he finally retired—money in the bank, an assured income, a nice home, everything he needed. "Now," he told his friends, "I am going to enjoy life."

And just 24 hours after he had retired he dropped dead. If a novelist put that in a book we wouldn't believe it. We would accuse the novelist of straining too hard for an ironic effect.

But life takes queer twists that are not permitted to good fiction. It all happened, precisely as it is described here; and all we can do is admit that there are times when wisdom and prudence are horribly confounded.

As a matter of fact, this sort of thing happens fairly often—in a little different way. Not many people who have prepared for a carefree and leisurely old age die just as they begin to taste their reward, of course; but they get cheated out of their dues, just the same. They find that leisure, after a lifetime of hard work, is boredom. They find that they have forgotten how to play. They find that the empty hours are depressing because they do not know what to do with them. They find themselves feeling that they have been put upon the shelf, and they grow 10 years older in 12 months.

Perhaps we aren't meant to be too cautious. Deferring one's happiness to the end, when one will have time and the means to take it, is risky. For most of us that gilded tomorrow will never dawn. If we don't get our happiness along the way we shall never get it at all.

That is a lesson worth learning. The real joy of living is not something that can be banked and drawn on at some future date. It has to be taken from day to day. It is compounded usually of many little experiences. The haze of an autumn afternoon over a flaming woodland; the confiding smile of a child, nestling in one's arms for a fairy tale; the smell of a clear wind as one trudges along a beach by blue water; the sudden revelation of tenderness in the eyes of a loved one; the brief strain of a bit of music—of such things is a satisfying life fabricated. You cannot postpone them, you cannot wait for them. You must get them as you go along, or you will miss them entirely.—Standard, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

THE BACKWARD SWING

There is a distinctive swing back to the simpler things of life. Perhaps the economic condition had something to do with the change back to the more primitive essentials, but not all. Some people are inclined to follow off with the latest fad, however the more stable element are slower to change the mode of living, likewise they may be slower to go back to simpler things.

Physicians in some sections have become somewhat alarmed over the apparent fact that folks eat less bread today than ten years ago. The fact that bread has diminished in importance as a table diet is perhaps due to the faddist, who has advised that after all bread is not an essential food. Most reputable physicians will still tell you however, that bread is still the staff of life and contains many of the important elements essential to the human life.

The wheat farmer, worst of all has felt the evil effect of a breadless diet. He has seen the supply increase in the face of a diminishing demand. When more people swing back the chief item among the simple table diets, as they are doing, then no doubt the wheat farmer will fare better as will the cotton farmer when dressing becomes less complicated.

THE RETALIATORY TARIFF

Students ten years hence may not know our present tariff as the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill or the republican tariff bill, but simply as the retaliatory tariff bill; one that has caused retaliation from other foreign countries. The present tariff measure designed principally to protect the manufacturer and not the producer of raw materials, isn't giving the protection that the framers hoped for; in fact it is working a distinct hardship for some manufacturers as well as the producers of raw materials caused by the retaliatory measures adopted by some of the neighboring nations as a means of getting even.

The past congress could not see the need of a tariff on oil of which the United States is the principal consumer, but they did see the need of a tariff wall around some of the manufactured articles and now they must stand and watch the boomerang return. Sooner or later and perhaps sooner, our leaders will learn that one nation can not do all of the trading with the neighbors without granting some concessions.

Some serious objection to the fishing grounds of Southeastern New Mexico, which is felt more or less severely at this particular season is that the streams are practically devoid of shades. But if we had shades, more than likely chiggers would be present and that would bring on more trouble.

The railroads want an increase in freight rates, but this won't help the competition with the bus lines.

Consider your Adam's Apple!!* Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Eve started it and the daughters of Eve inherited it. Eve gave Adam the apple, and it seems that Adam must have passed it on. For every man and every woman has an Adam's Apple. Put your finger on your Adam's Apple—that is your larynx, your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. Consider your Adam's Apple—when you do so, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead. Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette which brings you the added benefit of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays. It is this exclusive process that expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. These expelled irritants are sold to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple."

CAPITOL SNAPS

By Fred V. Holmes, Washington Correspondent of The Advocate

The output of remedies for the depression continue on a large scale. It seems inevitable that genius should be turning to practical affairs during hard times to the more illusive field of economic theory.

Uncle Sam was pictured by President Hoover as an employer who not only has been unperturbed by the nation-wide business depression, but who has provided jobs for thousands of persons.

The first day of March, 1931 until paid, and for attorney fees and costs of suit as alleged and claimed in said complaint.

YOU AND EACH OF YOU are further notified that unless you enter your appearance in the above entitled action on or before Monday, July 27, 1931, in said court wherein said action is pending, judgment and decree will be taken against you and each of you by default, and plaintiff will apply to the said court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the official seal of said court on this 21st day of May, 1931.

(SEAL) RUTH S. NYE, County Clerk.

G. U. McCrary of Artesia, New Mexico, is attorney for plaintiff. WITNESS my hand and seal of said Court this 2nd day of June, 1931.

cident to the government building program.

The federal farm board professes to be permanently out of the business of buying wheat, its departure heralded by a severe break in the cash price for that product which it seems to have been rather generally expected to keep pegged until July 1.

International discussion of a conference on rehabilitation of silver brought a statement from the White house that there might be decided value in an informal discussion of the silver question by representatives of the powers most keenly interested in it.

The country is suffering from too much politics and too little prosecution of law violators, the Wickersham commission has reported to President Hoover.

Politics, as the commission insists, should have nothing to do with prosecutions for law violations. The prosecuting officer has it largely within his power to bring a law violator to trial or to quash the proceedings against him.

As it approaches its official end, the Wickersham commission presents its fourth report and it is announced that there are to be eleven others, some if not all of which will necessarily have "posthumous" publication.

PRELIMINARIES ARE UNDERWAY STARTING NEW FISH HATCHERY

Santa Fe—Condemnation proceedings to obtain 640 acres of land near Dexter, as the location of the new warm water fish hatchery to be constructed by the federal government, was filed in federal court at Santa Fe Thursday.

State Game Warden Elliott Barker said the New Mexico game commission, which owns most of the land, has no authority to sell it, and the condemnation proceedings were brought as a means to transfer the title to the federal government.

Representatives of the federal bureau of fisheries have made extensive surveys throughout the state for a location for the new warm water hatchery and finally decided upon the Dexter location, in Chaves county. The hatchery will be located on the lakes near Dexter, a short distance from the Pecos river.

Mr. Barker said the government will start building the hatchery fully denied.

The eleven remaining reports are to deal, among other subjects, with deportation of criminals, juvenile delinquency, the foreign born, the cost of crime, lawlessness of officials, the police and penal institutions.

Mr. Barker said the government will start building the hatchery fully denied.

shortly after the condemnation proceedings are settled.

The suit was brought against Land Commissioner James Hinkle, and the state game and fish commission, composed of Judge Colin Neblett, Gilberto Espinosa and James B. McGhee and against A. E. Schram.

FARMERS ARE TOLD TO RECORD GAS

The New Mexico State Farm bureau of Las Cruces has issued a circular advising New Mexico farmers to take steps at once to make a record of gasoline purchased in lots of 56 gallons or more, and to secure receipts from the companies they buy gasoline of, L. E. Freudenthal, president of the state organization, said today.

Mr. Freudenthal said the circular was sent out on receipt of a notice from the attorney general's office to the effect that the gasoline tax exemption law, which provides for a refund on all gasoline used for other purposes than on public roads, has been in effect since March 11 of this year.

MRS. EIPPER WRITES

June 1, 1931
Dear Mrs. Stroup and Sunday School Class:
Just a few lines to let you know I am thinking of you this morning, it don't seem as if you are so far away. But we were half way across at 10 a. m. yesterday and they say if it is as good sailing the rest of the way as so far we will arrive Wednesday instead of Thursday.

I have been a good sailor so far. Have not missed a meal, but still have a headache so much of the time as I did before I came. I just don't find much time to write, for there are so many to talk to and so much going on every minute. Once in afternoons coffee and tea cake or coffee-bread is passed around the deck, and forenoon we generally have bouillon of some kind with crackers but I seldom indulge after dinner (or supper as some say) they serve coffee in smoking room. I never attend, you can get anything you want to drink there too. They have writing desk and tables, so play cards, they have their cards on here, don't get much written in book but I may be able to tell you.

Our services we had for Memorial day were fine, but of course they were sad too. There were so many wonderful floral pieces and many other flowers put over board on our boys graves, and they made such nice speeches. The lady that wrote the Gold Star Mother's March is with us and played it on that day.

Yesterday our services were held by Ship's Chaplain at 10:30 but I missed the Sunday School. The Catholics have mass every morning, lots of them with us.

There is a priest on board, he made the address Saturday and what I could hear was good. I have a nice cabin on D deck just across hall from dining room and my what wonderful eats to tempt us; and our room steward is so thoughtful and nice to us.

Miss Parks is in second room from us. The woman from Tulare is my room mate on ship, but we don't talk much to each other. We the only ones from New Mexico. It is cooler than when we started but have electric heater and a bath room. All do not have the bath and toilet in their cabins.

I must close as I have an appointment at 10:00 to have hair curled, so will say good bye to all until you hear from me again. Greetings and love to all, Mrs. Nancy Eipper.

A Week Of Meat Dishes To Help You Save Money

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

WHILE some women always plan their menus for a whole week in advance, most of us find it more satisfactory to plan the entire meal only a day or two ahead of time. However, it is a good idea to decide upon the meat dishes for at least an entire week. Then, when you are ready to work out the daily menus, you will find always at hand an idea from which to start.

Also, by planning the meat dishes for several days in advance, you may avoid serving the same main course too frequently. While it is decidedly more economical, too, if meat dishes are selected well in advance so that full advantage can be taken of purchasing opportunities. For example, when one knows definitely that she will serve meat pie on Monday, one simply buys a larger roast for Sunday, and then uses the leftover meat for the meat pie, instead of going to market a second time.

Below I am suggesting meat dishes for one week. Build your menus for next week around them, and you will see how much easier this task will be.

SUNDAY—Roast Beef with Yorkshire Pudding

Place the beef in a roaster with a peeled onion. Add 1 tablespoon water, cover, and roast at 400 degrees F. until outside of meat is well seared. Then reduce heat and bake in a moderate oven, allowing 20 minutes to the first pound, and 12 to 15 minutes for each additional. A five-pound roast will require about 1 1/2 hours to be well done, or about 1 hour and twenty minutes to be rare. If sprinkled with French Dressing the day before roasting, meat will be more tender and juicy. Baste while baking with hot water, to which has been added a tablespoon of Worcestershire Sauce. When about two-thirds done, season with salt and pepper.

To make Yorkshire Pudding, note several tablespoons of fat from around the roast and spread in a hot shallow pan. Mix 1 cup flour with 1/4 teaspoon salt, gradually add 1 cup milk, and 2 eggs beaten until light. Pour into the shallow pan about 1/4 inch deep. Bake twenty minutes in a hot oven, basting after it has risen, with several tablespoons fat. Cut in squares and serve around the roast.

MONDAY—Beef Pie

Cut 2 cups cold roast beef or steak cut in 1 inch cubes. Cover with boiling water, add 1 whole onion, 1/4 cup Tomato Ketchup, and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. Simmer thirty minutes. Remove onion, thicken gravy with flour, and add salt and pepper. Add 2 cups of potatoes cut in 1/4 inch slices and parboiled eight minutes in salted water. Put into a buttered baking dish and cover with biscuit dough or pie crust. Bake in a hot oven—about 400 degrees F.—for 20 minutes.

TUESDAY—Mixed Grill of Bacon, Sausages and Fresh Mushrooms

Arrange small sausages in a pan and bake in a moderate oven—375 degrees F.—for 1/2 hour. Ten minutes before serving, place strips of bacon on half the broiler rack and halved tomatoes or mushroom caps on the other half, and broil. To prepare the tomatoes, wash and cut in half and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Then spread with Prepared Mustard and dip in crumbled, buttered Rice Flakes. Serve on a hot platter, garnished with parsley and slices of Fresh Cucumber Pickle. Grilled slices of apple or halved bananas may be used instead of tomatoes.

WEDNESDAY—Ham Loaf with Potatoes and Pineapple

1 lb. raw cured ham and 1/4 lb. fresh ground pork; 2 cups Rice Flakes; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce; 2 whole or sweet potatoes; 1 egg; 1/4 cup milk; pepper; flour; pineapple.

Mix ingredients thoroughly, pat into a loaf, and bake with a little water for about 1 hour. After first half hour, place white or sweet potatoes around the loaf, place sliced pineapple over the meat, and brown delicately.

THURSDAY—Broiled Lamb Chops

FRIDAY—Halibut Steak with Tartar Sauce: A fine tartar sauce is made by combining 3/4 cup Sandwich Relish with 1/3 cup Mayonnaise Salad Dressing. A few drops of juice scraped from an onion may be added.

SATURDAY—Cold Ham Loaf with Oven Baked Beans

SCOUT NEWS

To assure minimum aches and pains we have a program full of outdoor activities; our menus are of simple and wholesome foods and are well planned and properly prepared.

All camp activities are supervised by competent supervisors so that accidental injury is largely eliminated.

Everyone realizes that a holiday is most beneficial when accompanied by change of air, change of scene, and change of thought. Regular church attendance brings the same advantages spiritually and mentally as does the holiday physically. The invigorating and purifying influence of an atmosphere where faith and love of others are the dominating notes is a wonderful tonic, to those whose lives are spent among the competent strivings of the week day world. Come and worship with us next Sunday.

PROTRACTED MEETING

Our meeting is to begin Sunday, and on Monday State Evangelist J. W. Williams will come to take the lead in this season of prayer, personal work and preaching for the very definite purpose of leading backsliders back to their first love and leading lost sinners to the Cross of Calvary.

Although Brother Williams is a graduate of Simmons university and the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, with pastoral and evangelistic experience in Tennessee, Florida, Kentucky and Texas, as well as this state, he cannot hold a successful meeting alone. Revival meetings are prayed down and not worked up. It is not our purpose to gain members nor count noses. We desire to see people saved and when saved we say "study the bible and go to the church to which the bible leads you." We are not afraid to trust them with the bible. We never invite one to unite with the First Baptist church unless they: 1. Know they are saved. 2. Believe the bible without addition, subtraction or alteration. And believe the Lord is leading them to this place of worship and work.

Brother Williams is of a pleasing personality and a delightful speaker, and you will enjoy his messages. He preaches against sin in high, as well as low, places. We ask the prayers of the praying people to join us in earnest prayer that the Lord's spirit may be with us, convincing and saving sinners, convincing backsliders to return with repentance to the Lord, beseeching Him to restore unto them the joy of their salvation. Come to our meetings each night and day. Come praying for God's mighty, matchless, convicting power. Come with the assurance that God hears and answers prayer.

JAMES F. DEW.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Despite the high temperature of last Sunday the Children's day program was well patronized and much enjoyed. The church auditorium was attractively decorated with floral and other schemes contributed mostly by the children.

The little children's songs were very much enjoyed and the reading by little Shirley Bartlett, Junior Muma of the junior department gave a reading well rendered. Helen Meredith Gates, Clara Sinclair, and Billy Paris, recited with much credit verses from the Bible following the letters of the alphabet. Songs by Mrs. Glasser and Mrs. Montgomery's classes were well rendered and also by the older boys and girls of Mrs. Jackson's class.

In the absence of the cradle roll which had been supplied by the members of the junior endeavor society. Being flag day suitable place was given to this part of the program.

The main part of the program was the play entitled "At the End of the Rainbow" carrying with it the message that the children who have so far been untouched by the influence of the Sunday School is what is worth more than gold.

BABSON SEES UPWARD TREND

Roger W. Babson, noted economist who predicted the stock market break before the October 1929 crash, is "willing to stake my reputation" that the depression has touched bottom and that "within a reasonable time" the nation again will enjoy prosperity.

"1. That business has seen its worst.
"2. That, although the change will be slow, it will be in the right direction.
"3. That, within a reasonable time this country will again enter a period of marked prosperity, the same as they three years ago pointed to the present period of depression."

OIL OPERATORS OF EAST TEXAS VOTE FOR CRANFILL PRORATION

TYLER, Texas.—Oil operators voted almost two to one here Monday to adopt the Cranfill plan for proration of oil takings in east Texas.

The plan provides for taking 300 barrels daily from each 20-acre unit, regardless of structure, sand conditions and other factors. It is designed to supersede the railroad commission's present system.

The plan was adopted at the mass meeting here Monday after Charles F. Roesner, of Fort Worth, and others had waged for two hours an unsuccessful fight to reject it and follow the plan now legally in force.

For the first time in the oil proration controversy, all factions involved were represented when more than 300 producers and lease and royalty owners assembled at the meeting in response to a call from Tom E. Cranfill, president of the Independent Producers Association of Texas, and author of the new plan.

Cranfill, chairman of the meeting, opened with a statement that "fairness must be done to all hands involved in this controversy, which has become nationwide in its scope and has led the oil industry into the danger zone."

"I appeal to all factions to subordinate personal opinion with relation to proration," Cranfill continued, "and to refrain from indulging in personalities."

EXECUTION OF DAVIS JULY 24 DOUBTFUL

A transcript of the evidence in the Frank Davis case is being prepared for the state supreme court in connection with presentation of an appeal from the death sentence. As Davis said that he was without funds, preparation of the transcript is being paid for out of court funds under an order by Judge G. A. Richardson.

J. S. McCall, who with Zeb A. Stewart defended Davis, said that it was doubtful if the appeal could be presented by July 24, the date set for execution of Davis, and that execution of the sentence is stayed by the district court appeal proceedings until such time as the supreme court acts on the appeal.

It is therefore extremely improbable that Davis will be executed on July 24.—Current-Argus.

My Experiences in the World War

BY GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING

CHAPTER XXV

Returning to my headquarters at Chaumont December 31, 1917, I was not surprised to receive the following cable from Secretary of War Baker, in view of the numerous suggestions that had come to me regarding various plans for training our troops with the French and British:

"Both English and French are pressing upon the President their desires to have your forces amalgamated with theirs by regiments and companies, and both express the belief in impending heavy drive by Germans somewhere along the lines of the western front. We do not desire loss of identity of our forces, but regard that as secondary to the meeting of any critical situation by the most helpful use of troops at your command. The difficulty of course is to determine where the drive or drives of the enemy will take place; and in advance of some knowledge on that question any redistribution of your forces would be difficult.

"The President, however, desires you to have full authority to use the forces at your command as you deem wise in connection with the French and British commanders in chief. It is suggested for your consideration that possible places might be selected for your forces nearer the junction of the British and French lines, which would enable you to throw strength in whichever direction seemed most necessary.

"This suggestion is not, however, pressed beyond whatever merit it has in your judgment, the President's sole purpose being to acquaint you with the representations made here and to authorize you to act with entire freedom to accomplish the main purpose in mind. It is hoped that complete unity and co-ordination of action can be secured in this matter by any conference you may have with French and British commanders and line of action that may be agreed upon."

The following cable also was received from Washington which showed the determination of the French to carry their point:

"The French ambassador called on the secretary of war today and read him a dispatch from M. Clemenceau to the effect that General Pershing and General Petain had conferred as to the wisdom of seasoning American troops by attaching their regimental units to the Bishop Charles E. Brent.

French division before committing a part of the line to an American division made up of troops not accustomed to actual front conditions.

"M. Clemenceau's cablegram stated that General Pershing had reported himself and General Petain in substantial agreement after conference on the subject, but General Petain conveyed to M. Clemenceau the opposite opinion. Apparently some misunderstanding has arisen which the secretary of war will be glad to have General Pershing endeavor to clear up by placing himself in communication with M. Clemenceau and reporting the result of the interview.

"The French urge action as outlined above as being safer for American troops than it would be to give them at once an independent place in the line, and urge very strongly that the secretary of war here accept their view and commend it to you. This the secretary of war is not willing to do, desiring to leave the matter wholly within your discretion after full consideration of the important elements of the matter."

Field Kitchen of the A. E. F.

Pershing Replies to Baker. The following extract from my cable of January 5 conveys the main points of my reply:

The French have not been entirely frank, as unofficial information indicates they really want to incorporate our regiments into their divisions for such service in the trenches as they desire. As to our instruction, a certain amount of work with French troops is beneficial, and this we are having and expect to have.

Have expressed a willingness to aid in any way in an emergency, but do not think good reason exists for us to break up our divisions and scatter regiments for service among French and British, especially under the guise of instruction."

It thus appeared quite clear that the French were so intent on their plan that Premier Clemenceau presumed to cable Washington as to how our units were to be handled. Upon the receipt of the cable from Washington about the disagreement between Petain and myself I wrote at once to M. Clemenceau, quoting the cable and adding:

"May I not suggest to you, Mr. President, the inexpediency of communicating such matters to Washington by cable. These questions must all be settled here, eventually, on their merits, through friendly conference between General Petain and myself, and cables of this sort are very likely, I fear, to convey the impression of serious disagreement between us when such is not the case."

Clemenceau's Reply. M. Clemenceau's reply, translated into English follows:

"My Dear General: I hasten, without losing a moment, to reply to your letter dated January 5, 1918. I found myself in the position of cabling to the ambassador of France at Washington because of the two contradictory responses which I had received from General Petain and from yourself, when you did me the honor of calling on me, obliged me, in the interests of the common cause, to seek an arbitration between the two commanders in chief.

"I need not conceal that I placed full confidence in the American government with regard to this. However, it was not to the American government that I addressed myself. I cabled to the ambassador of France, which was my right and my duty, in order to give him directions for the conversations which might take place either with the secretary of war or with the President of the United States.

"It might very well have happened that later on I should have addressed the American government, but I insist on this point, that I have done nothing of the sort. I have not authorized the ambassador to read all or part of my dispatch to the secretary of war. I regret that he did so, but I do not disavow anything that I wrote. I am giving you here the explanation which I owe you and I am going to exercise all the patience of which I am capable in awaiting the good news that the American commander and the French commander have finally agreed on a question which may be vital to the outcome of the war."

Clemenceau's Motive Questioned. As the French were dead set on getting our troops under their control it is more than probable that the French premier, feeling that their plans were not working out, sought to create some distrust in the minds of our administration at Washington against my management of things in order to pave the way for insisting that we were entirely wrong in not consenting to amalgamation. However, at later meetings with Clemenceau and Petain the alleged differences were seemingly settled amicably as indicated in my cable of January 14, which follows:

"For chief of staff: Have now definite understanding with French satisfactory to them and to me that our divisions now in France shall compete their training as already begun. In the future divisions arriving in zone of French armies are to have period of training with French, each regiment in a French division. When sufficiently experienced by training in a quiet sector with French our divisions are to be united under their own commander and will be placed in our own sector."

CHAPTER XXVI

The necessity for controlling the use of strong drink among our troops had been brought forcibly to my attention through the ease with which alcoholic beverages could be obtained.

The use of light wines as a part of the French ration was simply the continuance in the army of the universal custom of the people of having wine with their meals. The wines and beer were not so objectionable, but strong alcoholic spirits were regarded by the French themselves as dangerous and were prohibited for their troops, but the prohibition was not well enforced outside the zone of the armies.

The problem of preventing our troops from drinking the stronger liquors was difficult, especially at the ports of entry. Efforts to obtain enforcement through conferences with local authorities and through agreements with the port and district officials were made from time to time, but with little result.

I finally appealed to Prime Minister Clemenceau for support, but he would only counsel local officials, as he did not wish to declare a "state of siege" (martial law). In the end it was necessary to take the matter in our own hands and declare every bar and restaurant where the heavy liquor was sold as "off limits" for our troops.

Vice in Army Denied. About this time a cable was received from Washington that some publication at home had made a sweeping charge of both immorality and drunkenness against our men. No such statement could be based on fact, nor could it serve any purpose except to cause unnecessary anxiety to parents and relatives and perhaps satisfy on the part of some one an unworthy desire for sensation. In reply I cabled in part as follows:

"There has never been a similar body of men to lead a clean lives as our American soldiers in France. They have entered this war with the highest devotion to duty and with no other idea than to perform these duties in the most efficient manner possible.

"Engaged in healthy, interesting exercises in the open air, with simple diet, officers and men like trained athletes are ready for their task. Forbidden the use of strong drink and protected by stringent regulations against other evils and supported by their own moral courage, their good behavior is the subject of most favorable comment, especially by our allies. American mothers may rest assured that their sons are a credit to them and the nation."

Seeks More Chaplains.

My diary notes the following: Paris, Thursday, Jan. 10, 1918.—Have appointed Maj. Robert Bacon to be colonel and A. D. C. on my staff. Bishop Gwynne, deputy chaplain general, British army, and Bishop Brent were my guests at Chaumont on Monday.

On Tuesday Brent and I discussed increase in number of chaplains, which was both favor.

Bishop Brent had been selected by me for appointment as chaplain with a view to his being the chief of the chaplain corps which it was planned to organize. The bishop did not approve of this idea and in deference to his opinion, and upon his suggestion, a permanent executive committee of chaplains was appointed to study the problems involved and make recommendations direct to me from time to time. Bishop Gwynne of the British forces explained their system, the methods of administration and the control and direction of chaplains' work, from which we adopted such features as were applicable to our service.

Custom in our army, arising from lack of appreciation of the usefulness of chaplains, had relegated them as a class to the status of handy men who were detailed to write up boards of survey or run libraries.

Aviation Problem Serious. Aviation questions demanded unremitting attention, for in no other service was unpreparedness so evident and so difficult to overcome. Apparently there was earnest effort at home, but it was too often misdirected.

On the part of the allies, especially the French, lack of mechanics and delay in procuring motors and material, such as spruce, had given them a setback. Due to these conditions and their own increased programs the French and also the Italians were unable to take more than a small proportion of our 1,500 flying cadets who were on the ground and who, under agreement, were to be instructed by them.

About this time the contract for planes we had made in August was formally abrogated, the French government being unable to meet its conditions due to the delay in receipt of machine tools and raw materials from the United States, a possibility which had been forecast in my cables to the War department. In its stead we later made an agreement whereby we should accept a class to the allotment that might be made us according to the number of divisions we might have in France.

Early in December I signed an agreement with Lord Northcliffe of the British air board that we should send 15,000 enlisted men to England and maintain that number in training in their aircraft facories and air service stations. This plan proved to be beneficial to both sides, as far as carried out, but especially to ourselves, in providing us with trained men and saving us the necessity of establishing extra schools for teaching them ourselves. Due to the nonshipment of air personnel from home we lacked 4,500 of reaching the number specified, and later the need for line troops prevented our completing the number.

British Wanted U. S. Men.

When General Robertson came for the conference regarding the shipment of troops for training with the British as mentioned in my diary, we began to discuss the details of the disposition to be made of our forces which might be brought over in British shipping. It was found that General Robertson's proposal was practically the same as the one submitted to E. M. House through Mr. Lloyd George. He wanted to bring our infantry and machine-gun units by battalions only, and pointed out how much more expeditiously this would meet the shortage of men in the British army than to ship whole divisions with all their equipment and stores.

He believed that the British government would take the risk of releasing temporarily some shipping engaged in carrying food and raw materials if America could see her way to provide the men, although, he said, it could not well undertake the transportation of complete divisions as not enough men would be brought over in this manner to justify the great risks involved. In other words, the British had the shipping to transport American battalions on condition that they would serve in the British armies.

However, as General Robertson's proposal would enable us to increase our strength more rapidly, my preliminary cable to Washington reporting the conference recommended that it be given consideration and, in view of our national attitude regarding service with another army, that if approved the plan should be regarded as a temporary measure to meet an emergency; that as soon as possible the remaining troops of our divisions thus temporarily broken up should be brought over and the units reassembled; that division, brigade and regimental commanders and their staffs be sent with their infantry for training with the corre-

Ton for ton mile for mile Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks cost less to operate

To place your hauling on a minimum-cost basis—and keep it there—put Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks to work. Leading firms everywhere are practicing this sound economy. They are finding, by experience, that Chevrolet trucks give a lower transportation cost than any other trucks of equal capacity. Take fuel consumption. Chevrolet has definitely disproved the old theory that a six uses more gasoline than a four. Because of modern, efficient engine design, Chevrolet sedan deliveries are frequently giving 20 miles to the gallon or better; and Chevrolet 1 1/2-ton trucks are making records that are relatively just as high. Then there is the matter of upkeep. On account of the ruggedness of Chevrolet bodies and chassis, service expense is held to the absolute minimum. "20,000 miles without opening the engine for service," "Always on the job," "It just goes and goes and goes" are typical remarks of Chevrolet six-cylinder truck operators. And from the standpoint of long life, many a Chevrolet speedometer reads 50,000 miles or more, yet the truck is still giving reliable service at low cost. In picking out a motor truck, it's wise to buy as big fleet operators are buying—choose six-cylinder Chevrolets. A wide variety of Chevrolet-built bodies is now available. And delivered prices of Chevrolet trucks, complete and ready for work, are based on low chassis-cost and low body-cost, plus only reasonable charges for handling and financing.

"TAKE IT EASY" ON HOT DAYS WITH THESE COOL CORNSTARCH DESSERTS

"Go slow and easy if you want to get along with me," are the words of an old son that are particularly applicable to dessert making, in the summery days ahead of us.

There are always times when the cook wants to "take it easy"—and no real homemaker needs to have them enumerated! Certainly one of the times is when summer rolls 'round with its entrancing weather. Nobody wants to stay inside and labor over elaborate desserts. And nobody needs to, when so many delicate desserts may be made with the aid of our old household friends, cornstarch. Cool to make and cooling to eat and as economical as daylight saving days are long!

Of course, "easy is as easy does," but in the case of such palate-ticklers as fruit fluff, graham cracker pie or lemon foam, easy does very well, thank you! In all justice, one more bromide must be recalled in the connection: "easy come—easy go" is never truer than when the family starts in to eat these desserts. But, after all, they are made to be eaten, and what more can one ask than that they fulfill their destiny? So, relax in these summer days and "take it easy!"

Lemon Foam
1 cup sugar 3 tbsps. lemon juice
2 cups cold water 1 1/2 tps. salt
2 tbsps. cornstarch 1 egg white, beaten stiff.

Boil together sugar and 1 1/2 cups water for five minutes. Then stir in cornstarch mixed with remaining water. When mixture has thickened put in the top of a double boiler over boiling water to cook for 15 minutes. Add the lemon juice and salt and when cold, fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Chill thoroughly, serve on sponge cake.

Fresh Fruit Fluff
3 cups milk 1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/2 tps. cornstarch 2 cups sliced fruit
2 eggs 1/3 cup powdered sugar
1/4 cup sugar salt

Mix cornstarch with half cup milk. Scald remaining milk in top of double boiler. Beat eggs slightly and add sugar and salt. Stir scalded milk slowly into eggs and return to double boiler. Add cornstarch mixture, stirring constantly until thick and smooth, cover and cool twenty minutes. Remove from fire; add flavoring. Slice fruit into serving dish and pour hot custard over it. Beat egg whites, add sugar and pile on top of pudding. Bake 15 minutes in slow oven, 320° F. Chill and serve.

Graham Cracker Pie Crust
18 graham crackers 1/3 cup melted butter
2/3 cup sugar 1 tbsps. cream
Mix thoroughly.

Cinnamon Stick Pudding
1/2 lb. prunes 1 cup sugar
3 cups cold water 1/4 tsp. salt
3 inch stick cinnamon 1/4 cup cornstarch
1 tbsps. lemon juice whipped cream

Wash prunes, soak in cold water 1/2 to 1 hour, add cinnamon and cook in same water until soft, and remove pits. Measure liquid, adding boiling water to make three cups. Add prunes, sugar, and salt. Cook five minutes. Mix cornstarch with enough cold water to make smooth paste and stir slowly into prune mixture. Cook stirring constantly until it thickens, then cook 15 minutes longer. Add lemon juice, pour into mold or glasses, and chill. Serve with cream.

Chocolate Molds
3 squares chocolate 4 1/2 tps. cornstarch
3 cups milk 1/4 tsp. salt
1/3 cup sugar 1 tsp. vanilla
whipped cream

Put chocolate and 2 1/2 cups milk in double boiler; cook until milk is scalded and chocolate is melted; beat with egg beater. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt, add remaining milk and stir until blended. Add cornstarch mixture gradually to chocolate mixture, stirring until mixture thickens. Cover and cook without stirring, 20 minutes. Add vanilla, turn into dish, chill. Serve with whipped cream.

HEALTH COLUMN

United States Senator Dr. Royal S. Copeland recently declared that white flour is even more essential in all diets than ever before. The senator, a practicing physician, deplored the tendency toward starvation diets, especially among women, insisting that "even though we are temperate we cannot with safety deprive ourselves of the carbohydrate diet."

"Our ancestors," he said, "knew little about dietetics. They knew too much about hunger. Nobody knows when men started to eat meat, bread and to drink milk. These articles added to the common vegetables gave him a balanced diet. Of these essentials, it came early to be understood that "bread is the staff of life." It can be said in all truth that bread is just as necessary to mankind to-day as it was in primitive times. When bread is made from good flour it is better in many respects than our grandmothers made.

"Why do I say this? It is because the best of bread is made from flour better than our ancestors used. The modern baker has learned that if he is to have a flour capable of its highest use it must be made from blends of wheat of the very best grade. Modern milling methods make it possible to extract from the grain a higher percentage of good flour than my father used to make in his old mill on the Huron river. The modern baker uses milk in preparing the loaf and selects every ingredient with the utmost care.

"The harmfulness of refraining from eating bread should be brot home to every one and its essentials in diet pointed out so that it will return to its old time popularity."

Ray Bartlett took his family Monday, to the Bartlett cabin in the Artesia-Sacramento camp, where they will spend several days. The L. P. Evans family got up yesterday to occupy their place for the season.

Mr. John Yates and children, and Tyke and Miss Virginia Jones, arrived last Thursday in Fulton, Missouri, to join Mr. Yates, who bought the Lawrence ranch last fall. Mr. Yates has been here for the past five months looking after his property.

HIGH PRESSURE GAS LINE TO BE OPERATED FROM LEA CO., FIELD

A new high pressure gas line from El Paso to Bisbee, Douglas Arizona and Cananea, Mexico was placed in service after being tested Monday. The line is operated by the Western Gas Co.

In the tests, pressure was brought to 750 pounds per square inch throughout the entire length and held there for 24 hours, the first time such a thing has been done in the history of natural gas transmission, officials of the company said.

The line with its branches is 294 miles long and will be fed from the Lea county, gas field, 224 miles east of El Paso, making 518 miles of main and branch lines under operation by the El Paso Natural Gas Company and subsidiaries. It is of 12 inch steel welded pipe.

While the new line ordinarily will be operated under pressures varying from 300 pounds to 600 pounds and at these will deliver 33,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily at Douglas, it can be operated at 750 pounds with a delivery of 53,000,000 cubic feet daily at that city.

CHRYSLER TO PUT NEW CAR IN $500 CLASS FIELD
DETROIT—The Free Press says the Chrysler Corporation has expended $10,000,000 preparatory to invading the $500 price class field with a new four cylinder car embodying engineering developments claimed to be revolutionary.

The paper says the car is to be produced through the corporation's Plymouth division and will be a drastically changed model of the present Plymouth. Developments, the paper says, are claimed to eliminate vibration and also include a type of free wheeling.

The Free Press says the Plymouth factory schedule has been stepped up from 2,000 units in May to 11,000 for June, and present plans call for 15,000 units in July.

Employment, the paper says, has increased from 4,500 a month ago to 7,500 at present.

WOULD YOU HAVE DONE THE SAME?

Advertising as a force of stabilization and expansion received real recognition in the order issued by Judge Edwin S. Thomas, of the United States District Court at New Haven, authorizing W. A. Tobler and the Union and New Haven Trust Co. there to pay all advertising bills of the Winchester Repeating Arms Co., now in temporary receivership, and to spend an additional $125,000.00 before July 1, 1931.—Sales Management.

CLIPPING BUREAU IS AT WORK AGAIN—WANTS A 50c FEE

From the best of information it appears that a spurious clipping bureau is at work again. There are legitimate clipping bureaus of course, but it is a rare occasion that they flood the mails seeking a small fee for sending a "clipping that might be of interest to the person addressed."

Usually the source of the clipping is the home paper that the bureau manages to get hold of. Several years ago, a fake clipping bureau was established in Texas. This bureau secured copies of pretty near every small town paper in the state. Clippings were made from the papers thus secured and mailed out to many residents. Where the fee was paid, the person sending for the clipping found that they had paid for an item probably they had seen in the home paper a month or so previous.

Recently when an Artesia resident received notice that a clipping would be sent to him on receipt of fifty cents, replied that he would give the bureau a dollar, if in his judgment the clipping was actually worth fifty cents. He has not heard from the bureau.

LIVING COSTS ARE REDUCED 25% OVER PERIOD A YEAR AGO

A dollar spent in Artesia today for living cost will buy approximately twenty-five percent more goods than at the corresponding period a year ago. There has been considerable discussion in recent weeks as to the value of a 1931 dollar spent locally over the 1930 dollar. Greater reduction has been made in the items classed as luxury and semi-luxury. These items, however, are not ordinarily classed with the articles that effect the actual living cost. One might draw the conclusion from the above statement that fancy groceries and reasonable dry goods have undergone the greatest reduction, but such is not the case. Staple items in both dry goods and groceries run from five to ten percent cheaper than reasonable dry goods and fancy groceries, in comparing the 1930 with the 1931 costs, at least this is what an Advocate representative found in a partial survey of the town the first part of the week.

Families, who wish to cut living costs of the table can do so by purchasing staple groceries, one local grocer states. A wholesale grocery representative is authority for the statement that in comparing prices of forty items, he found an average reduction of 33 1-3 percent. The representative, however, evidently picked his items, according to local grocermen. The average reduction has been about twenty-five percent. Staple items have shown a slightly lower average while articles of fresh vegetables, fresh fruits and fancy groceries will not average 25 per cent.

In the dry goods line, including mens and ladies wear, the new price will average approximately 20 per cent lower than the old price. On staple dry goods, new prices are 25 to 30 percent lower. These items include bolt goods, sheeting and domestics; shoes will average 15 to 20 percent lower; mens clothing 10 to 15 percent and ladies ready-to-wear 20 to 25 percent.

Things WORTH KNOWING

Many purebred animals, particularly purebred bulls, are being introduced into sections where cattle fever ticks and scrub sires held sway in the past.
 Many farmers cut brush in the summer or early fall, in the belief that brush cut at these seasons will not sprout again. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says that there will always be some second and even third growth regardless of when the brush is cut.
 In palatability good brown alfalfa hay is equal to or somewhat superior to good field cured hay, but it is not superior to it in feeding value. However, much of the grown hay is the result of accident, and in many cases attempts to make brown hay have resulted in failure.
 One of the most effective protectors against the nose botfly which seriously annoys horses and whose larvae, or bots, interfere with digestion and may even cause stoppage of the digestive tract and death, is a piece of leather belting about 5 inches wide. This is attached at each end to the bit rings by a string or snap so the entire lips, including the mouth, are protected. They are much better than the wire baskets or fringes of burlap or leather often used as protection against the nose botfly.
 Always dry wet leather slowly and at a temperature not too hot for the bare hand. Strange as it may seem, wet leather burns much more readily than dry leather. If a polish or shine is not desired, an application of oil to leather articles while they are damp makes them more soft and pliable when dry.

FARM HINTS

When making a number of children's garments at one time it is a good plan to buy extra cards of matching buttons, so that if any must be replaced you will have the same kind on hand.
 Sunbaths are fine for young children if they are accustomed to them gradually, but care should be taken not to burn their tender skin. Excessive tanning should also be avoided because it prevents the ultra-violet rays from penetrating the skin, and therefore makes the sunbaths less effective.
 A well-equipped closet planned for a child so that he may easily and comfortably hang up his own clothes will be far more useful in teaching order than many scoldings on the subject. There should be low hooks within his reach, plenty of hangers that can be put on a closet pole to keep garments from wrinkling, a shelf for shoes, slippers, and rubbers, and a definite place for caps and hats. A mat just inside the door on which children can stand when taking off their rubbers will save much tracking up of the house. And a small broom, which is to be used when dirt is brot in accidentally, also will teach cleanliness and order. Some families even label each hook and section of the children's closet with a name of the person who is to use it.

UNTOUCHABLES TO RECEIVE REWARD

CHICAGO.—The "untouchables," eight young prohibition agents, whose zeal and incorruptibility defied danger and lavish temptation, to pile up evidence for the conspiracy indictments against "Scarface Al" Capone and his booze syndicate, received their reward Sunday.
 It was a declaration by United States District Attorney George E. Johnson, director of the government's campaign against the Capone cohorts, that all the praise heaped upon him for the dogged pursuit of the gangsters should be shared with the eight members of the special unit. They were the men on the firing line.

NATIONS EMERGENCY HIWAY PROGRAM FOUR MONTHS AHEAD 1930

WASHINGTON.—The nation's emergency highway construction program is four months ahead of 1930 and has furnished employment for about 265,000 men. The cost of federal aid projects approved thus far in the plan to aid the idle is $241,200,000. It is made up of $112,450,000 regular aid funds, $74,500,000 emergency money provided by congress at the last session, and $54,250,000 state funds. With the $80,000,000 emergency money advanced to enable states to take up immediately a greater portion of the increased federal aid appropriations, the program equals projects started and approved up to October 1 last year. It exceeds by many millions the entire 1929 constitutional work. In April this year the federal aid employment totaled 98,000 men against 39,000 in the same month last year. The total of both state and federal aid during April was 265,000. Of the $80,000,000 emergency money, $76,445,000 has been obligated by the states and Hawaii. Twenty-two states have obligated practically all of their share. The others have unobligated amounts ranging from $27,000 to $1,289,382, as in the case of Michigan, which possibly will be erased before the summer has passed.

NEW MEXICO CROPS BEST IN MANY YEARS SAYS JUNE 1 REPORT

The June first condition of New Mexico crops as a whole is the highest in years. Each crop condition being reported above that of a year ago, and also the 10-year average, 1920-29. The weather during May warmed up and was much more favorable for the growing of crops than April. Rainfall during the first few days of May was generally adequate, but lack of rain with winds during the latter part of the month retarded the growth of crops. Winter wheat condition dropped nine points from May 1 to June 1, and is now estimated at 89% of normal, compared with 98% on May 1, and 46% a year ago, and a 10-year average of 60%. Rainfall has not been sufficient during the latter part of May, which coupled with high winds and high temperatures has caused most of the deterioration. Based on a June 1 condition of 89% the crop is forecast as having a probable yield of 18 bushels per acre on 350,000 acres left for harvest, indicates a production of 6,300,000 bushels. In 1930, 1,361,000 bushels were produced while the 5-year, 1925-29, production has been 2,283,000 bushels. Rye condition declined during May and on June 1 was 89% of normal, compared with 98% May 1, and 67% a year ago. Oats: The condition of oats on June 1 is 88%, compared with 80% a year ago and 82% for the 10-year average. Spring wheat condition on June 1 was 91% of normal compared with 76% last year, and 81% for the 10-year average 1920-29. Hay crops: The present condition of alfalfa is 87%, compared with 80% a year ago. The first cutting was generally good over the state. The condition of all clover and timothy hay is 88% and wild hay 90%. The present condition of pastures is 93% while last year it was 67%. Fruit crops: The prospects for a crop are much better than a year ago. The condition of apples on June 1 was 62% with a 47% condition a year ago. The condition of pears is placed at 52%, compared with 40% a year ago. The production this year is forecast at 41,000 bushels, and in 1930 it was 30,000 bushels. The condition of peaches on June 1 was 45%, compared with 25% a year ago. The production is forecast at 94,000 bushels, as compared with 51,000 bushels a year ago and 93,000 bushels for the 5-year average.

HUNDREDTWENTY WET HANDS SAVE MILLS BECAME MANY SMALL FISH LAWS FRIDAY

Washington—Millions of small fish can be saved this summer by wetting the hands before taking them off the hook and putting them gently back into the water, officials of the American Game association announce. Dry hands disturb the protective film of the fish, causing fungi to attach to the injured places. This fungi eventually kills the fish, experts declare. Whereby if the hands are wet the film is not disturbed and the little fish are not permanently injured if gently handled. These grow up and afford the angler future pleasure and food that otherwise would be lost.

STATE TREASURER IS SEEKING TO INVEST $500,000 IDLE FUNDS

SANTA FE—With $500,000 of permanent funds lying idle in banks, drawing only one and one-half per cent interest, State Treasurer Warren Graham is finding it exceedingly difficult to invest this money in bonds.

The constitution limits investments to securities of the state and its subdivisions.

The Santa Fe school bond issue of $125,000, on which Mr. Graham submitted a bid of four and one-half per cent, sold to the United States National company of Denver for four and one-half per cent plus a premium of $1.69 per one thousand dollars.

The treasurer was also underbid by the First National bank of Santa Fe, whose bid was four and one-half per cent plus a premium of $1 per one thousand dollars.

The treasurer has been counting on this issue to partially reduce his surplus and had secured permission of the finance board to bid four and one-half per cent, whereas his bids on other issues has been five per cent.

Eleven bids were received on the Santa Fe issue and only one was as high as five per cent.

Of the $500,000 permanent funds on hand, $180,000 belongs to the state university, $133,000 to the common schools, $60,000 each to the school for the deaf and the school for the blind.

Under the law, school bond issues must be sold before July 1. Due to the state's economy program, issues have either been cut down or not floated at all, with the result state's money is not being invested as readily as in previous years.

The surplus at present is believed the highest in recent years.

Only two places to invest the funds are in sight at present. The state is refunding $88,000 of Clayton school bonds and $75,000 of Vaughn school bonds. Both these issues draw six per cent and will be refunded at five per cent.

On July 1, the uninvested permanent funds will be reduced by the above amounts but will be increased by what is collected into the funds during the remainder of June.

Arthur Smith and family of Hartstell, Alabama, are visiting at the home of Mr. Smith's uncle, T. M. Bobo and family of the Upper Cottonwood. Mr. Smith likes the valley fine and has expressed a desire to live here some day.

Wink Hardin of Hope, stopped off here Monday en route to Roswell with a load of wool. Mr. Hardin reports that the range conditions in the foot hills west of Hope are in a satisfactory shape.

Mrs. M. E. Ohr returned the last of the week from Tucson, Arizona, where she has been making an extended visit to a daughter, and is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Leone French, and family here.

Mrs. Sterling Ward and small son, Edwin, Mrs. Bob Rehn and Miss Jack Ward spent last week at the Sterling Ward Cabin in Cloudcroft. Sterling went up Sunday and brought the "bunch" home.

George Beal, who has been employed on the six-mile stretch of road, immediately west of Roswell, leading to Ruidoso, California, reports that the project has been completed. The roadway has been widened and graveled.

Wilton Tarbet, who graduated in mining engineering from the School of Mines at Socorro this spring, has a position as table and filter man in the mill of the American Metals Co., at Glorieta. He left for that place last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blocker are spending a few days with Mrs. Blocker's sister, Mrs. Cash Austin and Mr. Austin at Farmington, while Stanley is enjoying a vacation from his duties as linotype operator at the Advocate office.

John Clarke last week returned home from Loyola University at New Orleans where he has been pursuing his studies during the past school term and expects to spend the summer here with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Clarke.

Finn Watson returned Sunday to Gallup after a visit to relatives here, at Hope and at Pecos, Texas. Mrs. Watson remained for a longer visit with Prude, on the Prude ranch, southwest of Hope.

OILERS WIN A BALL GAME ON HOME RUN AT PECOS SUNDAY

A lucky break in the first inning gave the Artesia Oilers a 2 to 1 decision over Pecos Sunday on the diamond of the latter, in one of the most unique ball games seen in this section of the country. Craig, Artesia third baseman hit a homer in the first inning with a man on base. Pat Moran hit a homer for Pecos in the first inning, but was not lucky enough to have a man on base. After the first inning not a man for either Artesia or Pecos reached third base. Lybrand, pitching for Pecos struck out eighteen men, while Pilar, the Oiler tosser was credited with retiring fourteen men.

Today the Oilers meet Roswell at 5:00 p. m. in the Brainard park. Sunday the locals will journey to Fort Stanton. Manager Crozier has arranged a game with the El Paso All Stars to be played July 4th and 5th, but the place of the engagement has not been decided.

CROPS GROWING OFF NICELY SINCE WARM WEATHER SET IN

The past ten days have been the best cotton growing weather of the season and the plant has responded nicely to the favorable conditions. Cotton over this area is generally twenty to thirty days later than last year, due to a cold backward spring. Practically all of the cotton has been chopped and the fields are in good shape and free from weeds. Corn and row crops have also made a rapid growth since the warm weather set in.

FALL MAY ENTER PRISON

WASHINGTON—Whether Albert B. Fall will serve his prison term apparently hung last night on the verdict of army physicians on his physical condition. District Attorney Rover yesterday said the former cabinet member was expected "immediately" to enter William Beaumont hospital near El Paso, Texas, for an examination.

If the doctors think that he is able to stand the trip to Washington, he will come here for commitment. He is under sentence of a year, in addition to a fine of $100,000.

Fall has not yet asked executive clemency, but President Hoover's denunciation at Marion, Ohio, of those who "betrayed" Warren G. Harding was taken as a clear indication there would be no pardon.

Fall was Harding's interior secretary and was a moving force in leasing naval oil reserves to private companies. One of these leases led to the prison sentence. A jury decided he had accepted a bribe of $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny.

RAW CABBAGE RICH IN MINERALS AND VITAMINS

New cabbage, one of the most appetizing and nutritious of all vegetables, is on the market now in such quantities that its cost is comparatively small according to the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, which highly recommends its use in the more elaborate as well as in the low cost dietary.

Cabbage is a protective food because of its mineral and vitamin content. Calcium is perhaps its most important mineral. Raw cabbage ranks with orange juice and tomatoes among the richest sources of vitamin C. Raw and cooked cabbage differ in their vitamin C content for heat destroys much of this vitamin in heating. The loss of this vitamin varies with different vegetables but usually much of it is destroyed in cooking. Fortunately, raw cabbage is a delicious as well as inexpensive food and lends itself to many combination dishes. It can be served as a salad with other vegetables or fruits, or can be chopped fine for sandwiches. Small children, especially, relish raw vegetable sandwiches and, since a deficiency of vitamin C causes irritability, lack of stamina, and retardation of growth, foods which offer a generous supply should be eaten by them in abundance.

Green raw cabbage leaves are richer in vitamin A and iron than the white ones. The inner cabbage leaves are relatively poor in this vitamin but it is not destroyed to any serious extent by ordinary cooking. Both vitamins A and C are protective vitamins since they are a defense against nutritional deficiencies that are most likely to appear when the diet is composed too largely of grain products, meats, sweets, and fats.

Children as young as two years may have cooked cabbage provided it has not been cooked too long. In preparing it for the table, the outer green leaves should not be thrown away for they are the most valuable part of the head. Any discarded leaves might well find their way into the soup kettle.

Cabbage sprouts, which grow on the stalk after the head is cut, are very tender and are green practically all the way thru. When boiled, they require only five or six minutes to cook. They are especially delicious if scalloped with cheese sauce or mixed with other greens and cooked with bacon.

WHAT IS GOLF?

Golf is a form of work made expensive enough for a man to enjoy it. It is physical and mental exertion made attractive by the fact that you have to dress for it in a $200,000 clubhouse.

Golf is what letter carrying, ditch digging and carpet beating would be if these three tasks had to be performed on the same hot afternoon in short pants and colored socks by gouty-looking gentlemen who required a different implement for every mood.

Golf is the simplest looking game in the world when you decide to take it up and the toughest looking after you have been at it for ten or twelve years.

It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

The game is played on carefully selected grass with a little white balls and as many clubs as the player can afford. These balls cost from 75 cents to $25 and it is possible to support a family of ten people (all adults) for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

A golf course has eighteen holes, seventeen of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the center of a "green." A "green" is small parcel of grass costing about $1.98 a blade and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees or a lot of "unfinished excavation."

The idea is to get the golf ball from given points into each of the eighteen cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words.

The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled by about $200 worth of curious looking implements, especially designed to provoke the owner.

Each implement has a specific purpose and ultimately some golfers get to know what that purpose is. They are the exceptions.

After each hole has been completed the golfer counts his strokes. Then he subtracts six and says "made that in five. That's one above par. Shall we play for fifty cents on the next hole, too, Ed?"

After the final or eighteenth hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has reached eighty-seven. He then has a swim, a pint of gin, sings "Sweet Adeline" with six or eight other liars and calls it the end of a perfect day.

CAPONE PLEADS GUILTY

CHICAGO — "Scarface Al" Capone Tuesday pleaded guilty to evasion of income tax laws and conspiracy against the prohibition law.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson will sentence the gang leader June 30.

Capone decided to throw himself on the mercy of the courts rather than fight the three indictments returned against him by the federal grand jury recently.

Two of the indictments charged him with evading income tax on a ten year income of $1,038,654.84.

The other accused Capone of conspiring with sixty eight other men to "manufacture and transport beer" in the Chicago area from 1921 up to the present time. Five thousand separate offenses were alleged.

Capone personally said "guilty" to each of the three indictments and three minutes after the hearing had started, he left under heavy police guard.

McGHEE HERE

J. B. McGhee of Roswell, new game and fish commissioner made a brief stop here Tuesday en route home from Carlsbad.

Mr. McGhee was down the valley in connection with plans to eliminate the undesirable fish from the favored fishing spots along the river. SUNDAY TO BE LONG DAY

Sunday may seem like a long day to a good many local folks and if it does don't be surprised, for Sunday, June 21st is really the longest day in the year.

Chemists of Olden Days

The Egyptian appears to have possessed greater knowledge of chemistry than any other of the ancient nations. For one thing, it takes unusual skill to preserve a corpse for centuries in such perfect condition as the ancient mummies unearthed in Egypt happen to be. These people stood very high in the production of medicines and dyes as well as toilet soap, vinegar, metals, alloys, salts, glass and enamel. The Arabs, Greeks and Romans all obtained their knowledge of chemistry from the Egyptians without being able to add anything of importance to this knowledge.

Apparently Beggar Had Found Ruse Profitable

The New Yorker thought he had experienced every form of pan-handling extant. Recently, however, he visited Washington and learned a new wrinkle in extracting money from the pockets of the public.

Walking through a public square in the afternoon with one of the numerous judges who lives in the Capital, a man approached. In his hands was a baby; at his side was his wife and walking in front were two more children, not over six years old.

Holding a half-dollar up between his finger and thumb, the man with the baby muttered to the New Yorker as he passed: "Won't you help me pay my rent?"

The visitor dug into his pocket for a quarter, but the judge stopped him.

"You don't know if that man is worth helping," he said. "We have a community chest in Washington to take care of such cases."

As the New Yorker argued the point with the judge, the man and his family disappeared.

A few minutes later a taxicab swept past, and as the New Yorker jumped back to avoid it he saw, comfortably driving home, the man who had pleaded for assistance with his rent, and the whole family accompanying him.—New York Sun.

Chemists of Olden Days

The Egyptian appears to have possessed greater knowledge of chemistry than any other of the ancient nations. For one thing, it takes unusual skill to preserve a corpse for centuries in such perfect condition as the ancient mummies unearthed in Egypt; happen to these people stood very high in the production of medicines and dyes as well as toilet soap, vinegar, metals, alloys, salts, glass and enamel. The Arabs, Greeks and Romans all obtained their knowledge of chemistry from the Egyptians without being able to add anything of importance to this knowledge.

Apparently Beggar Had Found Ruse Profitable

The New Yorker thought he had experienced every form of panhandling extant. Recently, however, he visited Washington and learned a new wrinkle in extracting money from the pockets of the public.

Walking through a public square in the afternoon with one of the numerous judges who lives in his hands, a man approached. In his hands was a baby; at his side was his wife and walking in front were two more children, not over six years old.

Holding a half-dollar up between his finger and thumb, the man with the baby muttered to the New Yorker as he passed: "Won't you help me pay my rent?"

The visitor dug into his pocket for a quarter, but the judge stopped him. "You don't know if that man is worth helping," he said. "We have a community chest in Washington to take care of such cases."

As the New Yorker argued the point with the judge, the man and his family disappeared.

A few minutes later a taxicab swept past, and as the New Yorker jumped back to avoid it he saw, comfortably driving home, the man who had pleaded for assistance with his rent, and the whole family accompanying him.—New York Sun.

EXTRA GUARDS TO PREVENT JAIL BREAK

Sheriff Juan Sena of Guadalupe county Tuesday at Santa Rosa placed extra deputies on guard at the county jail to prevent any attempt to free the three men held at the Santa Rosa bank robbers.

Rumors that a jail delivery might be attempted reached Santa Rosa Tuesday evening. Jim Bryan, L. E. Ratchley and Ed Taylor, the three men who were arrested recently at Lawton, Oklahoma and Vega, Texas, have many friends in eastern New Mexico, and the Texas Panhandle. The presence of some of them in Santa Rosa caused Sheriff Sena to take extra precautions to protect the jail.

The trio will be given a preliminary hearing at ten o'clock this morning. They are expected to plead not guilty.
