Last week on Wednesday morning Rev. Harold G. Scoggins, Rev. N. L. Linebaugh, D. D., and Senator Z. B. Moon met at the Methodist assembly site west of Weed, a group of engineers, Messrs. Frank and John Donahue and Dick Gardner of Artesia, and Vernon L. Sullivan of El Paso, consulting architect and chief engineer of the assembly development.

Messrs. Donahue and Gardner under the direction of Mr. Sullivan set about the making of a complete topographical survey and the laying out of a system of roads. Mr. Sullivan, assisted by his son, George and Rev. John Klassen laid out the assembly campus and began the work of landscaping the property. When the topographical work is completed the engineers will lay the tract off in building sites which are to be sold to those desiring to erect cottages for summer homes.

On Thursday a large party headed by Mr. Sullivan and Dr. Linebaugh and Senator Moon made a tour of the mountain roads in order to find the most practical route for a highway from the valley of the Agua Chiquita to El Paso.

Thursday afternoon a site was selected on which to build a new parsonage for the pastor of the Weed church. This was located near the entrance of the assembly campus. The parsonage is to be built immediately as the lumber arrives.

SAVOIE CLOTHING IS STRIPPED BY PUMP SHAFT FRIDAY MORN.

George Savoie, farmer living on the W. S. Miller farm south of town owes his life to a strong ladder and clothes that would tear. Friday morning while Mr. Savoie was priming a pumping engine, he found it necessary to descend into the pit. In some unaccountable manner his clothing became entangled in the pump shaft and before he had realized what had happened his clothing was ripped from his body and wrapped around the shaft. Mr. Savoie had a death grip on the ladder and held on for all he was worth while practically all of his clothing was torn from his body.

Mr. Savoie suffered a bruise on his head and leg. The mark of his suspenders attached to his overalls remained on his shoulders but was otherwise no worse for his experience physically.

EASTERN N. M. BANKS OFFER A REPUTABLE INVESTMENT SERVICE

The first of a series of ads to be given by the New Mexico Bankers' association appears in this issue of The Advocate and this and all of those to follow should be carefully read by people of Eddy county.

They are directly to the point in the effort to inspire people in the protection of their investments in securities by a primary careful investigation, in which the banks are qualified and ready and willing to help.

The opening statement of the member banks was:

"According to government authorization about a billion dollars are lost annually to the investments many times purchased from irresponsible parties or without adequate information.

"Your banker is anxious to help you make sound investments. Thru arrangements with our eastern correspondents we can offer an investment service at a moderate cost."

Member banks of Regional Clearing House No. 3, of the New Mexico Bankers' Association are: Carlsbad National Bank, Carlsbad; First National Bank, Artesia; Citizens' State Bank, Artesia; First National Bank, Hagerman; Bank of Commerce, of Roswell; Lea County State Bank, Lovington; First National Bank, Carrizozo.

ANTELOPE HEARING TO-DAY

A preliminary hearing of the case of the state versus seven men charged with driving and killing antelope on the range of the Flying H ranch, northwest of here will be held before W. C. Winston, justice of the peace at Roswell to-day. The men arrested were employees of the ranch and included Jim Banta, John Posey, A. C. Hendricks, O. L. Singer, Arthur Singer, Roland Stovall and Clemit Hendricks. The arrests were made last week by John Peck, Chaves county sheriff and M. Stevenson, deputy game warden. Conviction carries a fine of from $100.00 to $500.00 and may also include a jail sentence.

COMPTON CAR STOLEN

A Chevrolet coupe belonging to Kenneth Compton was stolen Monday night while parked in front of the Majestic theatre and had not been heard from, some twenty-four hours later. One man is said to have seen three Mexicans get into the car a short time before the car was missed. Officers hoping to get clue to the robbery made a trip to Carlsbad, but the visit to Carlsbad availed nothing.

MORE CATTLE THEFTS

Increase in number of thefts of livestock around Hobbs is reported by the cattle sanitary board. The thefts are believed due to the general unemployment.

OVER 400 ATTENDED PLATEAU CONVENTION AT COTTONWOODSUN.

The Convention Will Meet Again Second Sunday In January 1932—Location Will Be Announced Later.

The Eddy County Plateau Singing Convention, which convened at the Upper Cottonwood school building Sunday, is described as the outstanding convention of the county by G. S. Deane, secretary. Over 400 singers and visitors assembled Sunday morning to join in an all-day singing service. Visitors attending later in the day probably ran the attendance much beyond the 400 figure.

Each song rendered was sacred with one exception, a special solo, "O Fair New Mexico," by Miss Evelyn Taylor, of Clovis, state secretary of the Plateau Singers. From 10:00 a. m. in the morning until 4:00 p. m. in the afternoon, the song service was practically continuous, except at the noon hour when a bountiful picnic dinner was spread on four trucks.

The program in the afternoon was interspersed with an address by Senator Z. B. Moon on the value of community singing. Special numbers were rendered by the juniors from the Cottonwood district, a quartette from Hope and the Eddy county and Brownfield, Texas quartettes.

John F. Taylor of Clovis, president of the organization was present. Mr. Taylor, by the way, has served the Plateau Singers for eleven consecutive years as president and has conducted a convention at some place in the district each Sunday in the year.

The Eddy County Plateau Singers will meet again, the fourth Sunday in January of next year. The place will be announced later.

THE STREET OILING PROJECTS TO GET A SECOND COAT OF OIL

All experimental street oiling projects will likely receive the second coat of oil before the city attempts to blade the streets, it was indicated here yesterday by George Frisch, city manager. Oiling projects have been undertaken by the city on five blocks of Quay street between Roselawn and Eighth, on three blocks of Dallas street, between First and Roselawn, financed by the property owners and on the streets surrounding the Baish residence and a block or two in the Keller and Ragsdale addition and a block on East Main Street.

Application of a second coat of fuel oil is expected to provide a surface that will settle the dust and shed water to a large degree. Residents have indicated that the experiment will be worth the money, if it will only settle the dust for the remainder of the summer. Workmen have used approximately ten barrels of oil to one block at a spreading, representing a cost of slightly over $4.00 per block.

Total amount of this contract is expected to run in the neighborhood of $80,000. Contractors are now putting the finishing touches on the first seventeen miles from Pecos to Arno at a cost of about $55,000. Contract for grading and drainage of the third section of the Pecos highway from Orla to the state line, about twelve miles will be let soon.

John Simons and family are enjoying a vacation in Texas. Mr. Simons expected to attend a family re-union to be held near Dallas, Texas before returning home.

County Tax Valuations Are $300,000 Under 1930

The Corporate Property Loss Is Responsible For Large Percent Of Lower Values—City Valuation About Same.

Eddy county's tax loss will aggregate slightly over $300,000 in tabulating the 1931 tax roll which is $11,311,000 as compared with the 1930 roll which is $11,616,000 according to Richard H. Westaway deputy assessor.

More than $100,000 of this loss, Mr. Westaway said is in corporate property, such as that of the Santa Fe Railroad, and the remainder is in assessments made by the assessor's office, mostly in merchandise and livestock.

Total taxable valuation in Artesia is $1,488,919.

The total value of taxable property in Carlsbad is $2,770,071, showing the increase noted in the foregoing of around $55,000.

Total value of irrigated land in the county is $2,264,040—for 45,436 acres, and total value of grazing land is $738,620, for 369,384 acres. Neither of these items shows important change from last year.

There are in the county 24,741 head of cattle, valued at $478,060. Horses—3,130, valued at $83,310. Hogs—292, valued at $1,700.

MELONS COMING IN NOW—CROPS MUCH LATER THAN USUAL

An increasing amount of garden and field produce has appeared in the local markets during the past few days, altho the melon crop is unusually late this year. The first of the home grown cantaloupes and water melons in any quantity were offered for sale the first of the week, but the bulk of the crop will not start moving for a few days yet. The quality of the first melons is pronounced exceptionally fine. The truck crop including melons is larger this year than usual, but will be consumed locally except that which may be trucked to nearby centers. Little or none of the garden truck will be shipped out by rail.

Corn, peas, tomatoes, peppers and other seasonal garden vegetables have been coming in fairly regular from the patches nearby.

COURAGE

Perhaps we can never find a yard stick that will accurately measure the results of advertising. In the face of what is ordinarily termed dull times and other discouragements incidental to the preparation and selling of advertising, it is refreshing to know that some of the largest distributing firms have not ceased to tell the public of their products. Numbers of strong companies have met the depression period with a weapon that pays—advertising.

Notably among the large oil companies using columns of The Advocate, is the Standard Oil Co., of California, which has recently launched its third advertising campaign for the year. And this in the midst of over-production, disastrous price wars and probably the most serious condition yet seen by the petroleum industry. Advertising under these conditions takes courage and must pay, else the Standard and other nationally known concerns could ill afford the investment.

BEFORE YOU INVEST, INVESTIGATE

Decision of the banks of eastern New Mexico to advertise a financial service to the public comes at an opportune time. Perhaps the financial scopes of the modern bank should have been generally known sooner. A number of investors in questionable stocks would have been occupying a far better position financially had they known what the banks know about the various stock selling schemes, but selling of stock does not have a corner on ill advised financial investments.

The modern bank can render a reputable service to the prospective customer who may want to buy stocks or bonds and at a nominal cost, much less in many cases than the average brokerage house commission. One recent illustration pointed out is a case not very far distant from home where a director of a bank patronized a brokerage house and paid a good commission, whereas he could have availed himself of a trustworthy service thru his own institution, had he known such service was available, but he did not.

One of the common failings of the average individual is that he will invest and then proceed to investigate. Its a case of the stable being locked after the horse is stolen. Of course your banker may not have a corner on financial knowledge, but its worthwhile to consult him nevertheless. He might point out some angle to the situation that would throw an entirely different light on the prospective purchase. Bankers have made finances a study, it is only natural that they should know more about investments than the average person.

Some people never made a serious effort to understand or get acquainted with the home town banker. Perhaps if they did, the individual they regard as more or less hard boiled might turn out to be a regular fellow.

A NEW SORT OF WORRY

A new sort of worry has been added to the troubles of the farmer if he is inclined to fret over what might happen to him in the future. While the farmer has always sold most of his produce on what was known as a world market, the matter of a competitor has never seriously interfered with the activities of the individual farmer, but a new competitor appears on the field in mass production and modern farming.

Price Hickman, reputed to be the biggest wheat farmer in the Panhandle of Texas is quoted as saying that he can produce wheat at a profit at 20 cents per bushel. Hickman does not operate one tractor nor two tractors, he operates a fleet of them. We are unable to figure out how Mr. Hickman arrives at a profit, producing twenty cent wheat, but presume he knows what he is talking of. At any rate the farmer who owns his 160 acres and tries to produce wheat in competition with Mr. Hickman will be out of luck. It can't be done. If Mr. Hickman's tribe becomes numerous, it will mean less men needed on the farm and a further shrinkage of the rural population, it will mean less people to consume the groceries of the rural merchant, the dry goods of the rural merchant, the hardware of the rural merchant, and so on down the line it will even mean less readers for the rural press so that Price Hickman experiment if it is really successful is a rural worry, which is not confined to the small individual farmer alone.

Russia thru the operation of her five year plan has given us something else to think about, altho as has been stated before, if Russia's plan is right the rest of the world is wrong. Russian farmers are working for the government so that the government can dump her junk on the rest of the world at a ridiculously low price and thus establish a world market. About all the Russian farmer has gotten out of the experiment so far is a little something to eat and wear, and in some cases mighty little, if we can believe reports. Individual initiative has been taken away. The Russian farmer can not expect to profit by his labors, except to take care of a few simple wants of the moment. How long the government leaders can fool the Russian farmer is a question. How long would you as an individual stand for that sort of thing?

Most everybody you meet nowadays faces you with the question of when we may expect normal times. This question has caused considerable talk, but a lot of folks have already missed their guess, so why hazard a reputation for a liar by making further predictions. Normal times will return; altho if we knew all the whys and wherefores connected with the coming of better times we might commercialize on our financial knowledge and make more out of forecasting conditions than at our regular line of work. Wishing for something isn't going to bring it about unless coupled with a little effort.

CAPITOL SNAPS

By Fred V. Holmes, Washington
Correspondent of The Advocate

In the first interview given to American newspaper correspondents since he began to exchange views with French and British statesmen, Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of state, emphasized that the sole present mission of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and himself is to offer their utmost aid toward the finding of a cure for Europe's existing financial emergency. The holds true, Mr. Stimson said, as regards both the meetings here and the London conference. After re-affirming Washington's interpretation that the American delegates' activities in the present circumstances must be confined to the financial, and not the political aspects of the situation. Mr. Stimson commented upon the helpful and hopeful spirit he found dominating the international "conversations" here. He expressed confidence that a solution of the problems would be found.

America, having set its shoulder to the wheel in the financial and economic crisis threatening stability not only abroad but in this country, is not drawing back. President Hoover has followed up his intergovernmental debt suspension plan, now an accomplished fact, with a proposal that the bankers of the nations agree to maintain their present short-term credits with Germany as an essential step to prevent collapse in that country.

The proposal of President Hoover that existing credits to Germany be "frozen" for a certain definite period failed to awaken a feeling of responsiveness among New York bankers. The idea that the central European crisis can be ended by any single outside action, however wide its scope, has definitely been given up in Wall Street, bankers say. As a counter-proposal, several bankers suggested that about all that could be done for Germany from the outside to improve the situation would be to scale down or cancel reparations payments. By removing this obligation from the shoulders of future German generations, bankers here believe, more would be done to restore confidence in Germany, both within and without, than by any other method.

The most significant fact about the drama which is being staged in Europe to-day is that the United States is playing a role in it, perhaps a leading role. To Europeans, this means the end of American isolation, the reversal of a policy that has been pursued for the last ten years. The reversal is probably less profoundly fundamental than it is made out to be. But it will hardly be denied that the United States has in actuality gone to the assistance of Europe.

France has notified the League of Nations that she has cut her armaments to an irreducible minimum under present conditions of security in Europe. This pessimistic augury for the general disarmament conference in Geneva next year was contained in the preliminary reply of the Foreign Ministry to the League's request for information and suggestions to facilitate the 1932 conference. Its tone was tempered to some extent, however, by a statement in the memorandum that France was ready to collaborate unqualifiedly in any system for the general organization of world peace based on definite pledges of common assistance. Insecurity for one state means insecurity for all, the memorandum sets forth, and the idea of neutrality it classifies as incompatible with the notion of the solidarity of states. An important section of the document relates specifically to Germany, pointing out that the Reich's armaments were limited by the Treaty of Versailles.

Congressional seats opened by death have opened anew in six states the political tug of war begun last November for mastery of the house. Administration forces returned from the last election with a majority of two, but since have seen that margin cut and restored as members of both parties died. To-day, house rolls show 214 republicans, 213 democrats, one farmer-laborite and seven vacancies.

Philadelphia's bid for the republican national convention of 1932 was formally submitted when a delegation from Pennsylvania outlined the advantages of the city to Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the republican national committee. Mayor Mackey, Senators Reed and Davis, Representative Leach and a number of hotel and railroad men from Philadelphia supplied Mr. Fess with details. The visitors said that when the national committee decided how much money would be necessary, Philadelphia would be prepared to meet the sum.

HINKLE TO COMBAT ORDER WITHDRAWING 162 N. M. TOWNSHIPS

SANTA FE—New Mexico Land Commissioner James F. Hinkle announced Saturday that he will combat the recent action of the United States department of interior in withdrawing from entry all government lands in 167 townships in New Mexico and Arizona.
"It looks like a move to turn over about one-fourth of New Mexico to the Indians," Commissioner Hinkle said, "No doubt they should be helped, and taken care of by the government, but on the other hand, the citizens and the state of New Mexico have some rights."
Mr. Hinkle claims the taxable wealth in McKinley, San Juan and Sandoval counties will be impaired, and to surround the present homesteaded and school lands with Indian lands would render the holdings of the settlers virtually worthless.
Lands in Arizona also are affected by the government order which Secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur said was made temporarily to afford congress an opportunity to pass legislation to meet the Navajo reservation land problem.
Mr. Hinkle has been engaged in a study of the conditions, since the Wilbur order was issued at the time of the Navajo Inter Tribal Council meeting last month at Fort Wingate.

ROSWELL OIL MAN SUED TO PLUG WELL

James G. Roberts of Roswell and the American Surety Company of New York were made defendants in a suit prepared at Albuquerque Monday by U. S. District Attorney Dudley Cornell, seeking judgment of $595 which the department of interior alleges it had to spend for the plugging of an old oil well the Roswell man sank some time ago. The bill of complaint was mailed to Santa Fe for filing at the federal court clerk's office.

The customary bond of $1,000 was required from Roberts when he obtained an oil and gas prospecting permit from the federal land office at Santa Fe in 1924. After he had sunk the well in 1924, according to the bill of complaint, he was ordered in 1928 to abandon and plug the shaft in accordance with governmental regulations. This was never done, it is alleged, and the government had to bear the expense of plugging, which is required to protect strata exposed by the shaft. The American Surety Company is involved because it furnished the permittee's bond.

PICKED UP ON MAIN

We shall soon know Messrs. C. Bert Smith and Bill Mount's idea of what constitutes a real entertainment. The older a man gets the more likely his judgment is likely to be swayed with a little persuasion. If we were in the place of these two men we would buy up all the rotten eggs, tomatoes, etc., as a matter of safety.

Curley Williams, who is trying to counteract the rumor that he leaves the work around the house for his wife to do, came limping down the street the other day, and said the old cow stepped on his foot while he was trying to milk her. A good chance for some dairy to pick up a young man that has not yet found his calling.

An ex-Arkansas resident, who has fond recollections of the good old free state says even singing sounds better back where the piney woods grow, because one's voice does not go off in space. At the same time he admits that he rather likes New Mexico because his neighbors can't hear him cussing his wife.

What the farmer's need now is a couple of good rabbit hounds, Senator Gore of Oklahoma said in an address recently. Well, the New Mexico farmers learned to do without hounds a good while ago and found the hounds a useless expense.

and material has already been purchased and paid for and much of it is already on the grounds. The plans for the assembly grounds include an eighteen hole golf course, tennis courts, volley ball courts, baseball diamond and various other recreational features. On the campus will be located buildings which will house some of the assembly activities. There will be a large auditorium, for the chatauqua features, an assembly hall and class room building for the young peoples department, one for the Sunday school training department, one for laymens activities, one for the pastors school, one for the Women's Missionary Society and a large mess hall which will be operated on the cafeteria plan. In addition there will be a business district for stores, garages and a hotel, also an auto camp which will rent cottages.

Rev. Harold G. Scoggins, secretary of the assembly board has received innumerable inquiries already from people in various sections of the southwest concerning the assembly plan. Many have indicated a desire to obtain cottages there for this summer. The building lots will be ready to go on sale sometime during August and little or no difficulty is anticipated in disposing of all lots which will be ready in the first group. The greater part of the property is to be reserved for later development in order that the expense of installing the water works system may be considerably lessened. The next section of lots will be sold at a higher price than the first since they will not go on the market till there has been a great amount of development already perfected.

(Continued from first page) and material has already been purchased and paid for and much of it is already on the grounds. The plans for the assembly grounds include an eighteen hole golf course, tennis courts, volley ball courts, baseball diamond and various other recreational features. On the campus will be located buildings which will house some one of the assembly activities. There will be a large auditorium, for the chatauqua features, an assembly hall and class room building for the young peoples' department, one for the Sunday school training department, one for laymen's activities, one for the pastors school, one for the Women's Missionary Society and a large mess hall which will be operated on the cafeteria plan. In addition there will be a business district for stores, garages and a hotel, also an auto camp which will rent cottages.

Rev. Harold G. Scoggins, secretary of the assembly board has received innumerable inquiries already from people in various sections of the southwest concerning the assembly plan. Many have indicated a desire to obtain cottages there for this summer. The building lots will be ready to go on sale sometime during August and little or no difficulty is anticipated in disposing of all lots which will be ready in the first group. The greater part of the property is to be reserved for later development in order that the expense of installing the water works system may be considerably lessened. The next section of lots will be sold at a higher price than the first since they will not go on the market till there has been a great amount of development already perfected.
