OIL INTEREST IN THE SOUTHEAST AREA CONTINUES TO LAG

Oil interest in the southeastern area has been shifted from the field to the possibility of a shut down to relieve the present crude prices. Activity in the field has consisted principally of routine drilling. The Western Drilling Co., is nearing the contract depth of 4,000 feet in its State No. 1, sec. 18-20-32. So far commercial oil has not been developed. Conrad and Culberson, State No. 1, sec. 22-18-34, also in Lea county, is drilling out cement plug at 3,310 feet.

In Eddy county, R. D. Compton is reported to be drilling around 800 feet in the Brainard No. 4, sec. 5-18-27. Another Eddy test the Oilwell Drilling Co., Barker No. 1, sec. 21-21-26, is said to be drilling near 1,100 feet in hard lime.

RETAIL MERCHANTS CREDIT ASSOCIATION IS ORGANIZED HERE

Preliminaries Of The Organization Disposed Of Yesterday Afternoon.—A. L. Mount Is Chosen Temporary Chairman.

Due to a misunderstanding among the local business men, only a small crowd turned out to the merchants meeting which was held in the roof garden of the Artesia hotel, Friday evening. The meeting was called by J. T. Fitzsimmons, manager of the Artesia Credit Bureau for the purpose of organizing a retail credit association. Details connected with the formation of such an organization were discussed and the ground work laid for the association.

G. V. Price, of Carlsbad, manager of the Peoples Mercantile Co., and G. K. Richardson, also of Carlsbad, president of the Carlsbad National Bank, drove up to attend the meeting and made many helpful suggestions on ways and means to create interest in an association of this sort.

Addressing the merchants present, Mr. Price stated that the retail merchants association of Carlsbad organized sometime ago by Mr. Fitzsimmons had proven its worth and Carlsbad merchants were enthusiastic about the results which had been accomplished thus far. According to Mr. Price two things are necessary for a successful credit association one is to have regular meetings and the other for every member "to lay the cards on the table," so to speak or discuss the matter of granting credit, frankly.

The Carlsbad association has proved very helpful to the Carlsbad merchants in many ways and the weekly meetings have been highly interesting he says.

Organization Formed

A permanent retail credit organization was effected yesterday afternoon, when sixteen merchants and business men met in the office of T. J. Fitzsimmons, manager of the Artesia Credit Bureau and completed the preliminaries connected with such an organization. A. L. Mount was chosen as temporary chairman and it was agreed to meet twice monthly, the second and fourth Fridays in each month. At the next meeting on August 28th, officers will be elected.

Wants Wells Producing Over 25 Bbls Shut Down

One Hundred Thirty-Five Artesia Residents Sign Telegram Asking Gov. Seligman To Use Force If Necessary.

The following telegram asking that all wells in southeastern New Mexico, producing over 25 barrels of oil be shut in was addressed to Governor Seligman yesterday. It contained the names of one hundred thirty-five citizens and follows:

Artesia, New Mexico
August 19, 1931
Honorable Arthur L. Seligman,
Governor,
Santa Fe, New Mexico

In sympathy with and due respect for our neighboring states of Oklahoma and Texas, we the undersigned oil producers and business men of Artesia, and being the major oil producing part of New Mexico, respectfully petition you to close down all oil wells in this state producing more than twenty-five barrels of oil per day and keep them shut in until the market price reaches one dollar per barrel and until the different fields of New Mexico are equitably prorated. Stop. We recommend that you use all the power vested in you to this end, even to calling out the militia if necessary. Stop. We should not allow our oil to be shipped into our neighboring states, even though it is a comparatively small amount, when they have taken such drastic measures to benefit the oil business as a whole. Stop. You are aware of the great loss of property and the welfare of a long suffering public. Stop. We sincerely believe this is the psychological time to act.

ARTESIA HOTEL IS SOLD TO CREDITORS

Mention of the sale of the Artesia hotel was inadvertently overlooked in our last issue. On August 18th the building was sold to the Artesia Properties Co., for the minimum bid of $75,000. The Artesia Properties Co., composed of the principal creditors of the hotel was incorporated some few weeks ago under the state laws. The Artesia hotel will continue operation under the same management.

STATE DEATHS DECREASE

SANTA FE—Deaths in New Mexico dropped from 6,429 in 1929 to 6,182 in 1930. Dr. E. F. McIntyre, statistical expert of the state health department, said Saturday. However, all returns for 1930 may not have been received and additional figures may be added later. Dr. McIntyre said, "The crude death rate" for the three years follows: 1930, 14.60; 1929, 20.15 and 1928, 14.40.

One of the striking features of the statistics for last year, Dr. McIntyre said, was the infant mortality rate which was 139.30 per 1,000. Another feature was the number of persons who died without medical attention. Both of these Dr. McIntyre said, are high in comparison with the rates of other states.

Neal Schuster left yesterday for an extended business visit back to his former home at Long Beach, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bonnars (Alice Owens) and two small sons, are here from Keota, Iowa, visiting Mrs. Bonnars's grandmother, Mrs. Melissa Rigidon and mother, Mrs. Clarke Wilde, Mrs. Mary Jane Wilde, and brother, Fletcher. They expect to leave for their homes the first of the week.

PRONOUNCED TREMOR FELT HERE SUNDAY SECOND QUAKE HITS

Quake Hits Here Early Sunday Morning Waking Practically All Of The Town—Another Tremor Tuesday.

An earth tremor so pronounced that it awoke practically the entire town was experienced here Sunday morning at 4:40 a. m. Some residents of the valley say that the first tremor of mild nature was felt at 2:00 a. m. and a third tremor near 6:00 a. m. These two disturbances, however, failed to arouse many people.

The early morning quake experienced here near five o'clock was the most severe in the history of the town, according to old residents; in fact it was the only one felt here so far as known altho reports from Roswell say that a slight quake was felt there in 1929. It is generally agreed that the tremor experienced here did not last over 30 seconds, altho some people declare it lasted for over two minutes. Houses quivered while window weights rattled. In the upper stories of the Artesia hotel, the shock was so distinct that beds were moved, some swayed almost across the rooms, one report declares.

M. S. Brown, of Cottonwood who says he was shaken out of bed also claims the quake almost dried up his milk cows. When he went out to milk early Sunday morning he only obtained about a gallon and a half of milk against about twenty gallons in normal times. This unusual phenomenon is admitted to be entirely probable by several who say it lessens the milk of a cow when she becomes frightened.

Many cities in the southwest felt tremors of the earth, as rocking like motions swayed buildings. The motions appeared to run from the northwest to the southwest in southwestern Texas, where the quake hit hardest, altho no definite spot was located that could be called the origin or source of the quake. The town of Valentine in the southern Sierra Vieja mountains appeared to have borne the blunt of the shock, altho chimneys in other towns were rocked down. At Valentine the first tremor aroused most of the residents, who rushed into the streets and were probably saved from falling walls and plaster as the second shock hit.

The shock was felt as far east as Taylor, Texas and as far north as Amarillo, Texas. Reports from Carlsbad denied and damage had been done to the Caverns.

Another slight tremor was felt in some parts of the valley and West Texas, Tuesday near 1:00 p. m. Carlsbad reports the quake was of sufficient intensity to rattle windows. Citizens of Valentine, Texas slept out in the open Tuesday night after the section experienced nine distinct shocks since Sunday. Tuesday's tremor passed without any excitement here. It was one quake that the local folks apparently missed with a few exceptions.

STREET LIGHTING COST IN THE VALLEY IS REDUCED 50%

All towns in the Pecos valley served by the Southwestern Public Service Co., will get cheaper street light as result of a decision to lower the lighting rate fifty per cent, Howard Williams, Artesia branch manager announced here yesterday. The cut was voluntary on the part of the Southwestern and affects Roswell, Dexter, Hagerman, Lake Arthur, Artesia, and Carlsbad. The fifty per cent reduction announced here yesterday was the second to be made by the Southwestern within the past six weeks. On July 1st the street lighting costs were reduced about twenty per cent and the new rate made known yesterday is just half the rate on July 1st.

Artesia will save $1,650.00 per year under the new rate.

Hinkle Is Not For Plan To Close The Oil Wells

Sees Higher Price For Crude In Next Thirty Days—Seligman Does Not Comment On Artesia Proposal.

SANTA FE—State Land Commissioner James F. Hinkle yesterday afternoon said he believed that the price on crude oil would be up within the next thirty days. Mr. Hinkle said that he did not believe that shutting down the wells in New Mexico would help, and pointed out that altho the state is losing some royalties so are the land owners upon whose land the wells have been built and so are the companies.

He expressed the opinion that the operators could work out their own problem, and that the state should continue to get what it could from the wells that were operating. The Artesia field, he said, had virtually discontinued operation soon after the price fell to ten cents a barrel, but that the Hobbs field was producing at nearly normal rate.

Governor Seligman declined to comment Wednesday afternoon on the Artesia petition requesting the closing of all wells in southeastern New Mexico which were producing more than twenty-five barrels a day.

A MURDER CHARGE IS FILED AGAINST ACME RANCHER AT ROSWELL

Elmer F. Jones, died Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at St. Mary's hospital at Roswell as a result of gunshot wounds alleged to have been inflicted by E. H. Edings at Acme Saturday about 1:00 o'clock.

Jones, it was announced, made a complete statement of the circumstances surrounding the shooting to District Attorney J. G. Osburn. The statement will not be made public at this time, it was said.

Formal charges of murder were filed Monday afternoon by Sheriff John C. Peck against Edings, who had been in the Chaves county jail since the shooting, pending the outcome of Jones' wounds.

Edings came to Sheriff Peck's office Saturday afternoon following the shooting and surrendered. He said at the time that Jones came to his home at Acme and that he (Edings) shot only after Jones had gone to his car to get a gun.

Three shots in all were fired, according to witnesses. All from a single barrel 12-gauge shotgun loaded with No. 6 shot. Edings said the first shot he fired into the air in an effort to frighten Jones. The other two he said, he fired at his right arm.

Jones was 33 years of age and leaves three children, the youngest but a few months of age. He was a former service man and came here for his health, having been gassed in the service. At the time of his death he was working for Oscar White.

Attending physicians said that between 50 and 100 shot had entered the man's right side and right arm. There were 27 separate punctures of the intestines and a number entered the chest and penetrated the lungs.

JOINT BAND CONCERT

The joint band concert given by the Carlsbad and Artesia municipal bands Friday evening was enjoyed by a large audience. Sixteen members of the Carlsbad band journeyed here Friday evening to make a thirty-six piece band. The Artesia band plans to return the courtesy tomorrow evening by going to Carlsbad.

Both bands play about the same grade of music and the joint concerts are proving to be very entertaining.

DENVER OIL MEET HAS BEEN POSTPONED

The Governors oil conference, scheduled to have been held in Denver August 10th, has been indefinitely postponed after having set the date up to the latter part of August, Van S. Welch, Artesia oil operator and New Mexico's representative to the conference said here Tuesday night. General condition of the oil industry was given as the cause of indefinitely postponing the meeting.

FIRST CABBAGE

Ed Watson of Mayhill brot in the first new mountain cabbage seen here Monday. The cabbage is unusually nice and tender and is up to the mountain standard.

SCHOOL STARTS SEPT. 7th.

The Artesia public schools will open Monday, September 7th, the first Monday in September, according to the usual custom. The procedure of enrollment from the first to the twelfth grade will be given in our next issue. The high school enrollment is expected to show a small decline over last year which was 225. The largest senior class in the history of the local high school will be enrolled.

Glenn Bish, production superintendent of the Ohio Oil Co., at Hobbs, was attending the weekly oil check meeting here this morning and took occasion to meet a number of his old friends.

DISTRICT GOVERNOR OF ROTARY MAKES OFFICIAL VISIT HERE

Charley Andrews of El Paso, district governor of the 42nd district, Rotary International made his official visit with the Artesia Rotary club, Tuesday and in a thirty minute address to the members and visitors present, outlined the growth of Rotary during its twenty-five years of existence. Mr. Andrews, who was a delegate to the recent international convention held at Vienna, Austria, stressed the importance of more international relations with foreign clubs and the ultimate results of such contacts, which would create a better international understanding and thus aid in promoting world peace.

Visitors present included: Rev. Jackson B. Cox, Austin, Texas; George Hill, Roswell; Ralph Henderson, Long Beach, California; Prof. Andrew Hemphill, Birmingham, Alabama and Charley Andrews, El Paso, Texas.

FARMERS AND TRUCK GROWERS INVITED TO DISPLAY PRODUCTS

Perhaps you have noticed what is known as the agricultural display in the east window of The Advocate office, if not you are invited to do so. It is the plan on The Advocate to display various farm products in this window for the next six weeks or two months, if sufficient interest is shown in the display. If you have anything unusual about the farm or ranch, small enough to display and will bring it to the office, we shall be glad to place the product in the window with your name.

The window has attracted no little interest, altho the beginning was not intended as an elaborate or unusual display, but it was hurriedly gotten together. The number of folks who do not really know just what can be grown in this section, are perhaps surprising. There is a large variety of both field and garden produce that might be profitably displayed at this time and we shall appreciate the cooperation of every farmer and rancher, in aiding us to keep up the display at least during the greater part of the growing season.

Mrs. Ora Killian, living in west Artesia in what is known as the shallow water belt, brot in the first display of agricultural products, consisting of a crooked-necked cushaw, weighing 2 1/4 pounds, pop corn and sugar pumpkin. Santana Yturalde, living on the C. V. Brainard farm, southeast of town had a 34 pound banana mushmelon. Col. A. T. Woods sent in display of corn, Kaffir and heigari and a melon from his farm east of town. W. E. Flint brot in a cotton and grobomo display from the Flint ranch southeast of town.

The Eddy county commissioners are co-operating with the county extension agent and with the use of the county road equipment a terracing and leveling demonstration is in progress at the W. D. Bales farm south of Carlsbad and will continue thru tomorrow. Many farmers are interested in this work and the agent has had the many inquiries in regard to the best equipment for this work. All farmers are urged to be present to see this demonstration. Any hour of the day from eight to five.

STREET OILING
ABANDONED
FOR THE PRESENT

Proposed street oiling projected by the Chamber of Commerce will likely be abandoned for the time being. The oil for the project was proposed by the Chamber of Commerce and the city council agreed to the project for an extension of funds were available. The proposition was withdrawn whether or not the Chamber along the project would put in the guttering. The two were located on Quay Street and Rose Street. The property owners sitting on the project agreed to the project and the Chamber of Commerce property owners J. M. Jackson, James Sangster, F. L. Wilson. The Chamber Co. refused to extend the proposition, stating the Chamber could not afford the expense in Artesia.

Corbin, businessman of Artesia are here to-day in the interest of Highway 83 and a connecting line to the new assembly grounds of the Methodist church near Weed. They conferred with the chamber of commerce secretary and a few of the business men in regard to the proposal and predict that the new road and the assembly will mean much for this part of the state.

The gentlemen say the road east of the mountains is being put into fine shape and will soon be completed. They made the trip over from Artesia in three hours and forty-five minutes.—Alamogordo Advertiser.

NORMA OVERHOLT DIES

John Fanning received a telegram yesterday conveying the sad news of the death of a niece, Miss Norma Overholt, age 9, which occurred at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Overholt at Maywood, California, Tuesday night. Mrs. W. F. Overholt is a former resident of this section and is well known here.

3 SULPHUR TESTS TO START SOON

W. R. Keever, vice-president and general manager of the Union Sulphur Co., and Herman F. Whitcomb, secretary-treasurer, both of New York, have been in this section in connection with arrangements of preliminaries for testing a commercial sulphur deposit believed to exist in the Upper Cottonwood community. The exploration work which will be undertaken by the Union Sulphur Co., is result of a sulphur deposit found in a well drilled for Artesian water on the old Oliver Pearson farm by Pearson Brothers. The well drilled in sec. 8-16-25 contained about twenty feet of sulphur crystals from 940 to 960 feet.

Three test wells are preparing to start in the vicinity of the discovery well to determine the extent of the deposit in the immediate area. If the tests satisfy the company that commercial sulphur can be found, then numbers of other tests will be put down. One test within 200 feet of the discovery well in sec. 8, will be drilled by the Western Drilling Co. another test about 200 feet northwest of the original well will be sunk by Pearson Brothers on the Ault farm, while a third test will be drilled by Myron Bruning about a mile south of the discovery well.

TOO MUCH TALK

Some people say that there are too many books, too much advertising too much reading matter. The excess is regarded as waste. But they forget that there is a greater waste in unnecessary talk.

To prevent waste and promote efficiency, a certain professor suggests that we do more printing and less talking.

We think that it is waste when, after a cursory reading, we toss a magazine or a catalog into the waste basket. Someone has paid money for the printing of the discarded matter, and some of our time has been used in glancing at it. But the time used in glancing at the catalog is but a fraction of the time that is used in talking to no purpose.

The professor estimates that we talk only 80 words a minute, whereas we read about 300. Suppose every product had to be presented to the public by talk. If we talked to ten salesmen in a day we would have time for little else. After all the talk we might find that we were interested in the product offered by only one man. How much better to read advertising? We glance thru a newspaper and in twenty minutes we absorb headlines and advertising. We go thru the Saturday Evening Post in a couple of hours, and the experience is as interesting and instructive as a visit to an exposition. Should the salesman for a Packard automobile or a Steinway piano call on us, we can tell him promptly whether we are interested. We have picked up in casual glances at advertising as much information as he could discuss in two hours.

CITIZENSHIP

We have often thought that a course in citizenship should be offered at the public school; this course to deal with the relationship of the citizen to his community. It is extremely unfortunate that a few of the school teachers themselves refuse to recognize any responsibility to the community or the state in which they live and from which they gain their livelihood. In one or two instances during the past year, pedagogues living right in the Pecos valley have even gone over in Texas to buy auto licenses, in order to save a few dollars.

It may be an oversight, but some teachers are prone to overlook the fact that the tax payer, who makes the salary of the school teacher possible is entitled to a little consideration and a little courtesy. Possibly it has never occurred to many that without a progressive community with taxable property, good schools are not possible and that those who make the salaries possible are entitled to due consideration when the opportunity presents itself to reciprocate.

So far as we know there has never been a serious effort put forth in the local schools to explain the relationship of the teachers to their employers. Teachers who conduct our schools should be just as loyal to community enterprises as any other citizen. Community loyalty is the first essential to community growth and this can not be established by those who are supposed to inculcate new ideals into the minds of the young and at the same time refuse to recognize any responsibility to the place where they live.

WATER UNDER THE BRIDGE

Fifteen years ago, we would have probably insisted on examining the sanity of the fellow who inferred in 1931 a horse and buggy on the main street of the average small town would be considered a novelty. But that is what has happened. The other day a horse and buggy was seen in the streets of Artesia for the first time in several weeks or possibly months. Pointing out the unusual sight to a couple of merchants, the writer asked them if in their opinion we would see a return of the horse and buggy era. Both agreed that the horse and buggy was water under the bridge so far as it concerned the general progress. People who used to take the time to ride to town with the horse and buggy or perhaps the wagon, would never consent to adopt this mode of travel again.

Most of us have the time for such travel but not the patience. We have gotten accustomed to a faster and more comfortable mode of travel. In case of adverse circumstances, we might drive the old auto under the shed and let it stand, but we would never again take up the reins on old Dobbin and be satisfied to travel five to six miles per hour.

Now the federal farm board wants to mess up the market further by asking the farmer to plow up a third of his cotton. Theoretically the suggestion is ideal, but not practical. The only way to accomplish a suggestion of this sort 100 per cent is to call out the militia. Judging from the past accomplishments of the federal farm board, the average farmer would be safer to learn of the plans of the board and then pursue the opposite course.

A merchant over at Tulia, Texas the other day offered to trade a bushel of Arkansas peaches for ten bushels of wheat. Of course the wheat growers did not like it, but by the time the peaches were transported into Tulia, it was doubtful if the Arkansas farmer realized any more out of his peaches than the local wheat grower.

And here is another fly in the ointment, if the oil operators succeed in getting $1.00 per barrel for their oil and the price of the refined products advance, which would be natural, how is the average southwestern resident going to pay for his gasoline or six cent cotton and two-bit wheat.

Some one has suggested that the third member of the federal farm board be weeded out as a measure of economy, now that the board wants the cotton farmer to plow up every third row of his cotton to create a higher market.

Liver and cucumber salad is a good combination. Mix 2 cups of cold chopped cooked liver, 1/2 cup of diced cucumber, and 1/2 cup of diced celery with mayonnaise dressing and serve on lettuce leaves.

All preserves should be cooked rapidly until they are clear and tender, and the fruit should hold its original shape. The finished product should be bright, sparkling and with the plump fruit easily distinguished thruout. Slowly cooked preserves are dull, dark and not nearly so attractive.

A pair of kitchen shears with sanitary white handles and strong, sharp blades is a useful tool. It can be used for chopping celery, apples, and peaches for salad, also chicken and other meats; for cutting the heads and tails from fish; for cutting lettuce for stuffed salads, bread for stuffing, and marshmallows, dates and nuts for desserts. Then there are all the ordinary uses for scissors--to cut paper for lining suit boxes, twine on packages, shell paper and many other uses.

Pear salad is unusually good. Either fresh or canned pears may be used. If using canned pears drain the fruit, but save the pear juice for a fruit punch, wash lemon or orange juice added. Wash and chill the lettuce so that it will be crisp. Arrange the pears on the lettuce, sprinkle with grated cheese and garnish with salad dressing. Pared fresh pears will discolor on standing. They should be pared and cored just before serving or must have lemon juice added.

SANTA FE--State Comptroller J. M. Lujan Friday said all of the 1932 New Mexico auto license plates will bear the Zia sun symbol and some will have two symbols in addition to the slogan "Sunshine State." One plates carrying three numbers or less, Mr. Lujan plans to have the Zia sun on each side of the numerals, and on the plates of more than three numerals the Zia sun will be used instead of a hyphen.

NO DUCK SHOOTING
BETTER THAN LESS
SAYS SPORT GROUP

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Either a duck shooting season of reasonable length this fall or an entirely closed season is the announced stand of the American Game Association pending completion of final private and official investigations of major waterfowl nesting areas in the northwestern states and the prairie provinces of Canada. Having lopped two weeks off the shooting season of every state already on the strength of drought conditions, the bureau of biological survey of the department of agriculture has issued a warning that further drastic restrictions may be necessary to save sufficient breeding stock of wild ducks to avert a serious shortage for years to come.

"We believe that if the duck supply will not justify a reasonable open season, thinking sportsmen will prefer to give up shooting entirely during the crisis," said Seth Gordon, president of the association. "Halfway measures will undoubtedly result in a worse situation. A brief season would cause concentrated slaughter, and would only open the field to dishonest hunters, game bootleggers and pot-shooters."

"If the threatened drastic action is found necessary, giving the duck crop a year of protection in which to recuperate would simplify enforcement by the inadequate force of officers. Enough sportsmen already realize the seriousness of the situation to aid in every way in making a close season effective."

Mr. Gordon declared that in the present waterfowl shortage he can see the beginning of concerted action toward restoration of breeding grounds destroyed by drainage as much as by drought. He said he feared that fogging the issue with ineffective regulations might encourage a disgruntled attitude unfavorable to the con-

PICKED UP ON MAIN

Morris Brown, secretary of the Pecos Valley Gas Co., momentarily laid aside his official dignity, Sunday morning in an effort to beat the time of the elevator from the third floor of the Artesia hotel, when the earth quake hit Artesia. Mr. Brown incidentally remained in the safety zone on the lawn of the hotel and had his breakfast served. Says he does not remember whether or not he even had on his nightgown, so anxious was he to leave his bed, which took a notion to roll across the room. Hotel guests are still talking of the fleeting white ghost, which made so much speed down the stairs, that the tail of the white robe appeared to be starched.

Some of these boys from California, who really know what earth quakes are, wasted no time in getting out from under shelter. Its peculiar what some of them will do under the stress of the moment. Dave Compton is said to have spent several minutes trying to get his left foot in his right pant leg.

PIOR—ROCKWELL
 Tuesday morning at nine o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pior, occurred the ceremony which united in marriage Mr. Richard Rockwell and Miss Vera Pior.

The Pior home was beautifully decorated for the wedding in a color scheme of pastel shades, pink and orchid prevailing, and handsome large dahlias and asters providing the floral note.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Myron Bruning sang the beautiful song, "At Dawning," by Cadman. Mrs. Ethel Rockwell of Pueblo, Colorado accompanied. The music changed to the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party entered the room and took its place beneath an arch of greenery in the French doors, where the marriage vows were said.

Rev. Edwin G. Benson, pastor of the Nazarene church officiated, using the impressive ring ceremony. During the ceremony Mrs. Rockwell at the piano, played softly, "I Love You Truly." The bride and groom, centering the breakfast table. The bride was gowned in a beautiful white chiffon dress, with trimmings in pastel shades of pink and orchid, and carried an arm bouquet of white roses and baby's breath. The matron of honor wore a dress of all over embroidery and net in pale yellow with orchid velvet and carried an arm bouquet of Murchal Neil.

The bride's traveling suit was in tan and brown with accessories to match. Immediately following the wedding breakfast the newly-weds left for a short honeymoon trip to Ruidoso. On their return they will remain at the bride's home for the present. Mr. Rockwell has a position as teacher of the saxophone and clarinet with the Harp's orchestra and the bride will continue as teacher of expression. Mr. Rockwell, who was formerly of Kansas City, received part of his musical education in that city, later he studied at Bethany-Peniel College at Oklahoma City. It was at this school that the acquaintance began, which culminated in the marriage.

The wedding party included Mrs. Rockwell, mother of the groom, of Pueblo, Colorado, Rev. and Mrs. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Paton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur, Wilma and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Harp, Ernest Harp, Ben Pior and son, Donald, Miss Hannah Briscoe, Mrs. Myron Bruning, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pior, Mrs. Mary Jane Wilde and Ruth Burditt, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pior, and sons, Earl and Ancil, Pior, and the bride and groom.

MRS. SINCLAIR HONORED
 The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the Nazarene parsonage last Friday afternoon, with the pastors wife, Mrs. Erwin G. Benson, as hostess. The business of the meeting was quickly dispatched and the meeting turned into a social occasion centering around Mrs. John Sinclair, who is leaving soon for her new home at Caldwell, Kansas. Mrs. Sinclair, a past president, presided at the meeting at which time delegates to the state convention, which met at Anthony Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, were chosen. These were Rev. and Mrs. James Dew and Miss Elinor Clark. Mrs. C. M. Cole resigned as president and Mrs. Dew was elected to fill the vacancy.

The business over, Mrs. Sinclair was much surprised to find herself the object of a handkerchief shower, which but freely expressed the appreciation of the members for the splendid work that she has done for the organization. Mrs. Dew, the new president, read a poem which aptly expressed the sentiments of the Union, which will greatly miss the help and inspiration Mrs. Sinclair. During the social hour delicious refreshments were served to a score of members and friends of Mrs. Sinclair.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas and baby were here from Monday until Wednesday, guests at the C. M. Cole home. Mr. Thomas, whose home is at Magdalena, was a roommate of Herman Cole at Montezuma College at Las Vegas.

CARD OF THANKS
 We wish to thank all those who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our husband and father, also for the beautiful floral offerings.

The United States public health service says that the beginnings of the art of healing or medicine are lost in the mists of antiquity. The earliest available records indicate that some form of healing was practiced.

NAZARENE CHURCH PLANS A REVIVAL TO START SEPTEMBER 6

The Church of the Nazarene of this city plans to begin a series of meetings starting September 6th, with their pastor as the evangelist and the "Sunshine" quartette as special singers. They plan to pitch a tent on their lot located on the southeast corner of Fifth and Quay.

Rev. Erwin G. Benson, the present pastor of the Church of the Nazarene here, will conduct his own services. He is formerly from Southern California where he graduated from Pasadena College and subsequently taught at Beulah College. He served the district organization of the Young Peoples Society of the Church of the Nazarene for four years as vice-president and as president.

The "Sunshine" quartette is a group of gospel singers also formerly from Southern California. The personnel consists of Rev. Vernon L. Wilcox, present pastor of the Church of the Nazarene at Clovis, his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilcox, Rev. Erwin G. Benson, and his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Benson. This quartette is a quartette of unusual ability and has sung in the principal cities of southern California as well as in the state camp meeting of the Church of the Nazarene held recently at Portales. Rev. Wilcox has been called the "Padreowski" of the Church of the Nazarene and has played for some of the largest camp meetings of the denomination. Besides being an accomplished pianist and composer he is an artist on the piano-acordian.

FACES TAX INCREASE

SANTA FE—Taxpayers in several counties of New Mexico are faced with the prospect of having to pay as much as 10 per cent more taxes into their county treasuries this year.

Rupert Asplund, director of the New Mexico Taxpayers' Association has compiled a partial statement of school maintenance levies. The figures are not available for all of the counties.

No increase in the tax rate for state purposes is expected, little if any for general county and municipal purposes but an increase is imminent for school maintenance.

Lower assessments and a decrease in apportionments from the state current school fund, Mr. Asplund said, bring about this situation in the school fund, in spite of the fact that school budgets generally are lower than they were last year.

Thirteen out of fourteen counties on which data is now available show a necessity for increases in school maintenance rates.

These counties and the increases follow:

Chaves, increase 2.96; Colfax, 2.73; DeBaca, 1.56; Dona Ana, 1.68; Guadalupe, 2.92; Hidalgo, 1.51; Lincoln, 3.86; Luna, 1.13; McKinley, .96; Mora, 3.54; Sandoval, 1.60; San Miguel, 1.02; Torrance .03.

Eddy was the only one of the fourteen counties to show a decrease. It is of .50 mill. The levy was dropped from 13.35 for last year to 12.85 for this year.

The limit for school maintenance is 18 mills. Torrance county is the only one of the above permitted to levy a full 18 mills. It was authorized to add 1.49 mills to repay a loan from the state's current school fund.

A NARROW GAUGE RAIL CONTRACT TO POTASH MINE SIGNED

The United States Potash Co., and the Sharp and Fellows Contracting Co., of Los Angeles Tuesday signed a contract for grading and laying track over a sixteen and one half mile three foot narrow gauge railroad, from the potash mine to the site of the proposed new refinery.

The railroad will cost about $55,000. Sharp and Fellows are now building a standard gauge line for the Santa Fe railroad from Loving station south of Carlsbad to the refinery site, which will supply the main line railroad connection.

Grading of the Santa Fe project has almost been completed. The narrow gauge line for the potash company is to be started this week and completed in sixty days. The contractors will move their working crews from the Santa Fe to the potash line, constructing both projects simultaneously. J. P. Gilmore, general superintendent of construction, said only local labor will be used.

NO SUBSTITUTE!

There is no substitute for dependability. Low price alone is not a guarantee of economy, because undependable service is expensive at any price. In your fuel supply, particularly, this fact has been definitely proven.

In the early days of natural gas service, when production and transportation facilities were limited, gas was supplied at a lower rate than it is to-day. In those times, however, additional heating equipment had to be held in readiness in the home because of the uncertainty of this cheaper gas service. During this period coal and wood were "stand by" fuel supplies in most households. Neither the company nor its customers were satisfied with this kind of fuel service. Both realized that fuel satisfaction requires dependable gas service at a reasonable rate.

Accepting the fact that the majority of people demand perfection — dependability — safety—Pecos Valley Gas Co., service has been built to this standard. As evidence of their approval of this policy, most households have come to rely solely upon Pecos Valley Gas Co., service.

Cool Summer Way

My Experiences in the World War

BY GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING

CHAPTER LIII

Early in August, 1918, I made an inspection tour of the service of supply, to note the progress and acquaint myself, the chief of staff and General Harbord, by actual observations, with conditions.

The tour was made also with a view to such changes in personnel and improvements in methods as would insure the complete fulfillment of the increased obligations imposed upon the service of supply by the tremendous task of receiving, storing and transporting the enlarged troop and supply shipments.

Our first stop was Tours, which, being the location of the headquarters of the S. O. S., with a huge American military garrison of 2,400 officers and 4,300 men, had become a beehive of activity.

We visited every activity at Tours, beginning with the central records office, a branch of the adjutant general's office of large proportions, where the personal records of every man in the A. E. F. were kept. We found that the railway operators, numbering thousands, comfortably situated in portable barracks at Camp de Grasse, were putting every energy into the service. Certain engineer troops were kept at this central point for railway work, ready to respond to calls from any direction. The well-managed camp of German prisoners, under Colonel Groome of the military police, contained several hundred men used as laborers.

A number of British women, known as the Women's Auxiliary Aid corps, were lent to us by their government to assist in clerical work. The 250 women located at Tours occupied neat and comfortable temporary barracks and presented a very military appearance on parade. Some fifty of them were ill in quarters at the time and I gave instructions that they should be transferred to our hospital. Besides officially, these fine women, under the proper restrictions that prevailed, became a valued addition to the social side of life where they were stationed. This force with an eventually numbered about 5,000.

Speaks to Men in Hospital.

The base hospital at Tours was then filled with men wounded in the recent engagements. They were receiving the best of care under Col. A. M. Smith and his efficient group of medical officers and nurses.

Passing through the various wards of this hospital I spoke to a fine-looking young soldier who was sitting up in bed, and asked him where he was wounded, meaning to inquire the nature of his wound. In reply he said: "Do you remember, sir, just where the road skirts a small grove and turns to the left across a wheat field, and then leads up over the brow of the hill? Well, right there, sir."

He was clearly describing the advance south of Soissons which pierced the Chateau-Thierry salient. Of course, I was not there at the time, but it touched me that he should feel that I must have been very close to him.

At the base hospital in Bordeaux then under the efficient supervision of Col. H. A. Shaw, chief surgeon of the base section, we found about 500 of our wounded, most of them soon to be sent home. No matter how severely wounded they were I never heard a word of complaint from any of our men. There could not have been found in the hospitals of any army a more cheerful lot. It was a lesson in fortitude, an inspiration, to see their fine courage.

We arrived at Brest August 2 and found the commanding general, G. H. Harries, and staff at the station to meet us. Base section No. 5 was built around Brest, our leading port of debarkation. The section included four French territorial departments. Another landing port for troops was Cherbourg. A large locomotive terminal and repair shop were located at Rennes and a coal port at Granville.

Major O'Neil's Secret.

After an inspection of the storehouses and the new construction for additional storage on the piers, I asked for the chief stevedore, Major O'Neil, who came up apparently quite embarrassed. To put him at ease I took him by the arm and we walked together to where some lighters were being unloaded. As the port had made the record of handling 42,000 arriving troops and their baggage in one day, May 24, entirely with lighters, I asked him to tell me about it.

By this time he had overcome his fright, and pointing to two officers, each down in the bottom of a lighter directing the work, he said:

"Sir, do you see those two captains down there in their shirt sleeves? Well, that's the secret. I say to them: 'Don't stand off somewhere and puff yourselves up in your uniforms, but take off Sam Brownes and your coats and get down close to your men.'"

"Of course, those captains have now become experts. I did the same thing when I started, but since they are trained I manage things generally and they carry out my orders. I can wear my uniform now that I have won the right to wear it."

"Well," I said, "O'Neil, you're just the man I have been looking for, and I am going to send you to every port we use to show them your secret."

CHAPTER LIV

The French government had expressed a desire to bestow their decorations on American officers and men, and asked if I would accept an appointment in the Legion of Honor with the grade of grand officer.

As congress had recently granted permission for members of our forces to receive foreign decorations, the French government was advised accordingly, and it was to confer this honor upon me that President Poincare paid his first brief visit to Chaumont, August 8, 1918.

I met him at the station with a military escort and conducted him to my headquarters, where the senior officers of the staff were presented. After that formality we repaired to the small area of barracks, where the headquarters troop and band were drawn up in line for the ceremony.

Meanwhile, the entire headquarters personnel, several hundred men and women, had turned out to witness the proceedings. Both national airs were played and the troops were presented to the President, after which he addressed me briefly in perfect English and pinned on the decoration.

"I am specially pleased," he said, "at this opportunity to thank General Pershing and the brave army under his orders for the very gallant work they did during the last weeks on the field of battle."

I replied, thanking him for the honor, and saying:

"I value this decoration as a mark of recognition by France of the services of the American army and of friendship for the American people."

Kissing Causes Embarrassment.

Then, according to the French custom, President Poincare kissed me on both cheeks, but not without some difficulty, as he was not so tall as I, and it was necessary for him to rise on tiptoe and for me to lean somewhat forward.

I was not insensible to the high personal honor, but regarded it mainly as an appreciation on the part of the French government of the assistance America had already given to the cause.

Without implying the slightest criticism of the form of salutation used in the ceremony, I cannot refrain from confessing my embarrassment, especially as I could hear a hushed laughter from the reverent Americans in the area who witnessed my situation, no doubt with sympathy.

I thought that M. Poincare himself was probably quite as much embarrassed as I was. Moreover, he must have heard the suppressed mirth as plain as I.

As the American army was now an accomplished fact, it seemed advisable to begin preparations immediately to carry out the plan of campaign adopted July 24, providing for a distinctive American operation against the St. Mihiel salient.

I motored to Sarcey August 9, and after discussing with Marshal Foch the changed situation in the Marne sector and the practical stabilization of the front on the Vesle, I suggested the transfer of the First army headquarters to the St. Mihiel region, where it could begin immediate preparations for the proposed offensive. We considered the outline of my plans and without hesitation Marshal Foch acquiesced in the transfer.

Returning to Paris the same afternoon I went to Provins to talk the matter over further with General Petain. We took stock of available divisions for the St. Mihiel operation, and he said I could count on him definitely to do everything in his power to furnish whatever we might require.

Having thus reached a general understanding regarding the preliminary details of the move, I drove the following morning to La Ferté-sous-Jouras to take formal command of the First army and to give instructions to my staff regarding the movement of headquarters to Neufchateau.

Bell's Division in Action.

The Third division (Bell) was still with the British when the combined attack of the British Fourth and the French First armies in the Meuse-Argonne sector began August 8. The division was in front line training with the British Fourth army and was attached to the British Third corps for the operation, the One Hundred and Thirty-first regiment of infantry being assigned to the British Fifty-eighth division. This regiment joined in the attack August 9 against the Morlaucourt-Chipilly spur north of the Somme. It reached its objectives in splendid fashion and occupied a line on the western edge of Gressaire wood, extending southward along the river.

August 10, it continued to progress against decided opposition, gaining the eastern edge of the for-

GAME DEPARTMENT NOT TO BUY ANY MORE PHEASANTS

Finding an over abundance of deer and a shortage of deer brouse, the southern part of the Double Springs refuge is to be open to hunting during the season from October 20 to 31, State Game and Fish Warden Elliott Barker announced Friday. The section where shooting is to be permitted lies south of Evans brothers drift fence, near Santa Fe.

On the ground that it is not suitable for game propagation, the Black Range game refuge has been abolished west of the wagon road from Hoyt creek, a mile above the mouth of Turkey Run, to Taylor Creek.

Purchase of no pheasants is contemplated by the game department in 1932. This year the purchase will be limited to 500. The department believes that enough of these birds have already been planted to determine within a few years whether they are suitable for the state.

It has been decided to close the quail season in Otero county for two years.

Two new bird refuges have been created—the Alamitos in Taos county, embracing 1,000 acres, for quail and pheasant, and the R. F. Smith sanctuary, taking in 640 acres in Roosevelt county, for prairie chicken. The state has planted 40 acres there for the use of prairie chicken.

sets of Fosse and Marcon. During the following three days, the command having been shifted, the One Hundred and Thirty-first Infantry under the Australian Fourth division attained a line just west of Bras-sur-Somme. The three other regiments were in reserve during the operations. The One Hundred and Thirty-first Infantry was relieved August 20, having advanced over three miles and suffered heavy casualties.

I motored to the British front Sunday to be present at Thirty-third division headquarters, near Mollens-aux-Bois, on the occasion of the visit of King George, who was then visiting his armies. General Bliss had preceded me and we both spent the night there. That evening General Bell, relating the details of the participation of his troops with the British, said their services had been urgently requested and that they had acquitted themselves well.

King George Bestows Decorations.

The king arrived August 12, to present decorations to selected men of the Thirty-third division, who had participated in the recent attacks of the British army. Soon after his arrival the king invited General Bliss and me to his room, where he presented me with the Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath and bestowed the Order of St. Michael and St. George on General Bliss. The presentations were informal, as the king simply handed the decorations to us in turn, at the same time expressing his appreciation of American assistance.

We then accompanied the king to the place where the men were assembled for the ceremony. He was gracious in his compliments as he pinned the decorations on our men, and the recipients were extremely proud.

As soon as the king departed I left with Boyd for Sir Douglas Haig's advance headquarters to ask the relief of some of the American divisions then with the British armies.

Marshal Haig said he had understood that the American divisions had been sent there to be trained and to serve on the British front and that now, just as they had become useful, it was proposed to withdraw them. He had hoped, he said, that these divisions would remain, and was disappointed to have them removed.

I gave Marshal Haig my assurance that his desire was fully appreciated and that I regretted the necessity which impelled me to make this request just at this moment, but in accordance with our agreement I must insist on having them. He acknowledged the understanding and said that although he needed our troops he realized my position and my reasons for their withdrawal. He then said, in his frank, straightforward way:

"Pershing, of course you shall have them; there can never be any difference between us."

S. R. SANDERS DIES FRIDAY EVENING AFTER LONG ILLNESS

S. R. Sanders, age 71, passed away at the home of his daughter Mrs. J. D. Bewley, Friday evening at 6:00 o'clock, following an extended illness, due to a complication of troubles. Mr. Sanders' condition had been grave for several days and his death was not unexpected. Mr. Sanders who was born in Kansas lived in that state until a short time after he was married, when he moved to Oklahoma. Practically all of his later years were spent near Muskogee, Oklahoma, until he moved with Mrs. Sanders to Artesia in 1928 to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. J. D. Bewley.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. Rev. James F. Dew, pastor officiating. The body was shipped on the north bound passenger back to the former family home at Muskogee, where burial was made.

E. N. BIGLER AWARDED TROPHY IN ANNUAL GOLF TOURNAMENT

Earl N. Bigler, the new golf champion of the Artesia Golf club was presented with the Joyce-Pruit trophy last Tuesday evening by a committee from the local club. William Linell, champion of last year's tournament made the presentation speech, congratulating Bigler on his success during the tournament just ended.

The Joyce-Pruit trophy is a large silver cup, which is presented each year, bearing the engraved name of the winner. The cup is to become the permanent property of any player, who wins the honor of being champion on three different years. Mr. Bigler is the first man to have his name on the cup as it was given until this year.

Bigler won the first flight of the 1931 tournament by defeating Hal Scoggins, A. C. Kimbrough and Wm. Linell. Other players who qualified in the first flight were T. C. Bird, Ray Bartlett, Herman Terry, B. E. Spencer, V. P. Welch and Dick Gardner. About thirty players entered the tournament.

Mark Corbin closed the meeting by giving an oration or lecture on "How and Why Bigler Won the Tournament." According to records in the files of the local club, Mark Corbin persuaded Earl Bigler to attempt golf and gave the new champion his first lessons. Without a doubt, Bigler's success is due to the careful attention that he gave to Corbin's form and method of play. After carefully noticing all these little details of golf, he did exactly opposite to the way Corbin advised.

The members of the committee, who were present at this meeting included Willis Morgan, Fred Cole, T. C. Bird, Joe Clayton, Wm. Linell, Hal Scoggins, J. S. Ward and Mark Corbin.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Last Friday closed the regular session of the daily vacation Bible school which was sponsored by the Presbyterian church. In the afternoon cars left the church and all members of the school went to the Turknett grove where the children spent a most delightful time. The three departments, the beginners, primaries, and juniors numbered about eighty in all and sandwiches, cookies and lemonade was served at the grove.

On Sunday morning the service took the form of a daily vacation session and provided a very worthwhile exhibition of what the school had accomplished. The children were marched into the church as they carried "Old Glory" and the Christian flag.

Miss Grace Sinclair assisted by Miss Mary Louise Paris had charge of the beginners group which met in the Methodist church. Mrs. Rex Wheatley assisted by Miss Mattie George had charge of the primary department which met in the Baptist church, and Mrs. Jas. Montgomery and Rev. Sinclair conducted the junior department in the Presbyterian church.

The meeting was opened by Albert T. Woods, president, and in his address gave an interesting talk on management, a part of which was: "A definition of management as an economic function was adopted by the management division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers in 1921: Management is the art and science of organizing, preparing and directing human effort applied to control the forces and to utilize the material of nature for the benefit of man." In this definition are three significant words: "Organization, preparing and directing."

"Organization is that portion of our business which has been done by others, preparing comprehends those activities which must be brought into harmony with a business may function. All of this has been done by our managing officers and major stockholders. The "directing" is what should hold our attention at this time.

"Directing is the administrative function of management. It comprehends the execution or carrying out of the objects for which the enterprise is organized and for which its various activities are co-ordinated. It is the carrying out, putting into execution the policies of the company as formulated by the managing officers. It initiates work in the field, makes sure that the personnel is properly trained and cared for, that the current day-to-day matters of all kinds are met; and in short, that men, materials, and equipment are brot together so that the business may be initiated and maintained."

Talks were given by each of the district managers. "Better Business," "Better Service" being the theme. About 1:00 o'clock the meeting adjourned to the barbecue pit and a jolly luncheon of barbecue sheep from the Wood's farm was served.

About 2:00 p. m. the meeting re-opened to complete such remaining unfinished business, adjourning about 3:30 p. m. The gathering then turned into a social function, dancing, horseback riding, etc., was enjoyed. Watermelons were served from the Wood's.
