HEART ATTACK FATAL TO MRS. U. M. McCRAW A PIONEER RESIDENT

Dies Saturday Afternoon
After Brief Illness—
Had Lived in Community Since 1907—Funeral Is Held Sunday.

The Artesia community was shocked by the untimely death of a pioneer resident, Mrs. U. M. McCraw, 71, Saturday afternoon. Mrs. McCraw expired at 12:30 from a heart attack, after she had complained of what she thought was a neuralgic pain in her back and chest.

Mr. and Mrs. McCraw came to the Artesia section in 1907 and have lived here continuously since that date. Practically all of their residence has been spent in town, except the first two or three years, which was spent on the farm. The McCraw family migrated from Arkansas to Texas, where eight of the ten children who survive were born. After several years of residence in Texas the McCraws moved to the Pecos valley. Last January Mr. and Mrs. McCraw celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Every member of the family was present to help celebrate the event.

Surviving Mrs. McCraw are a husband, six sons and four daughters, all of whom were present at the funeral. They are: Bruce McCraw, Baird Texas; Adley McCraw, Chillicothe, Texas; Will, Bert, Hagan and Huse McCraw of Artesia, four daughters, Mrs. Sadie Wilson and Misses Linna, Mary and Effie McCraw.

Funeral services were held in the Christian church Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p. m., Rev. H. G. Scoggins, pastor of the First Methodist church officiating. The large concourse of friends who gathered at the Christian church to pay their last respects to the deceased and the profuse floral offerings were evidence of the esteem the Artesia community held for Mrs. McCraw.

Attending the funeral from Carlsbad were Tom Calloway, a nephew of Mrs. McCraw and Mrs. Calloway, Miss Opal Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Shattuck and son, Floyd, James Stagner and sister, Mrs. Will Ed Carter.

CONSERVANCY HEARING IN ARTESIA TOMORROW

A hearing will be held here tomorrow in the Pecos Valley Artesia Conservancy District at which time property owners in the said district may appear and state their objections for being included in the district. A hearing was held at Hagerman yesterday and at Roswell today. As soon as the preliminaries are completed, the court may call a directors election. Directors of the conservancy district will then proceed with the execution of their duties.

THE MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSES CHEAPER NOW THAN IN 1930

Motor vehicle licenses, which went on sale November 1, represent a considerable reduction over last year, except new cars which cost the same as last year. The following table shows the comparative costs of licenses for cars that do not weigh more than 2450 pounds.

	1931	1930
New cars	$18.00	$18.00
1931 cars	15.00	18.00
1930 cars	12.00	18.00
1929 cars	7.00	10.00
1928 cars and older	5.00	10.00

For weights in excess of 2450 pounds, the additional price ranges from $2.00 per hundred pounds for new cars to 50 cents per hundred pounds on older models.

FEW FARMERS HAVE PLANTED OATS AND WHEAT DURING FALL

Prospects are not very flattering for a small grain crop next year, judging from the activities of the farmers. Only a small acreage has been planted in winter wheat and little preparations or plans have been made to sow spring wheat or oats. Last year, the acreage planted in small grain registered a big gain over other years, but evidently the price of wheat at harvest time has discouraged farmers of this section, who apparently are waiting to see if cotton will advance so they can plant cotton another year.

Acreage planted in alfalfa showed a nice gain during the past year.

NEW SANTA FE TRAIN SCHEDULE FOR 29TH

Changes in the train schedule, thru the Pecos valley were announced Sunday, altho the official schedule could not be obtained Monday. Under the new schedule the motor operated train service will be extended to Amarillo. The schedule is effective November 29th. The change will probably mean the addition of another car to the passenger which will make an eight hour run between Amarillo and Carlsbad. The north bound passenger will leave Carlsbad at 7:30 a. m. central standard time and arrive here at approximately 2:15 p. m. and at Carlsbad at 3:00 p. m. The north bound passenger will leave Carlsbad at 12:15 p. m. arriving here at about 1:00 p. m. and Amarillo at 9:45 p. m. central standard time. A Clovis-Wichita stub train will be inaugurated connecting with the motor train at Amarillo.

Rumors that the Santa Fe contemplated adding another passenger train thru to Pecos, Texas could not be confirmed. The Santa Fe is making a strong bid for Cavern travel.

EDUCATIONAL MEET HELD AT METHODIST CHURCH ON MONDAY

Representatives of several of the Methodist churches of this district were in attendance at the Christian Educational Institute, held at the First Methodist church here Monday and heard two leading churchmen discuss the various phases of Christian education. Principal speakers of the day were Fred Faust of El Paso, executive secretary of the Christian board of education of the New Mexico conference and J. Fisher Simpson of Nashville, Tennessee, representative of the general board of Christian education. The session held from 10:00 a. m. thru a greater part of the afternoon.

FOUNDER OF EDDY DIES IN COLORADO

J. Arthur Eddy, 76, Colorado pioneer, died at Denver, Colorado Sunday. Mr. Eddy, a resident of Denver the last ten years had formerly been prominent in the growth of the southwest. He came to Colorado 50 years ago and started raising cattle near and with his brother, the Salida. He promoted the El Paso and Northeastern railroad in Texas, now a part of the Rock Island. He was one of the founders of Eddy, N. M., now Carlsbad.

DEEP WELL METER

A deep well meter is being used by W. M. Ervin, Artesian well supervisor in testing the leaky Artesian wells lower the valley where permission is granted by the well owners. The meter formerly used in this work proved unsatisfactory.

Work of plugging the first of the abandoned wells, near Dexter, has proceeded slowly. Considerable time has been consumed in experimenting to ascertain the best methods to be used in plugging wells.

Friday Ed Crockett of Elk delivered 225 steers to Prichard and Wolf. The trucks were brot to Artesia in steers were among the best seen here this year.

Wildcatting Will Be Big Factor In Development If Rumored Crude Oil Prices Materialize— New Test Local Area.

Wildcatting over a large area of southeastern New Mexico will be revived soon, if persistent rumors of another increase in the price of crude materialize. Practically all operators agree that wildcatting at the present time would hold the center of interest. There is much promising territory to be developed in eastern Eddy county as well as in the northern and western Lea county. Major company representatives have continued to buy acreage during the dullest months until practically all the likely oil acreage over this section has been sold. This action is taken as an indication of a lively drilling campaign, should the crude demand continue firm.

The only recent completion in the Hobbs field is small, this being the East Grimes No. 1 of the Gypsy Oil Co., in sec. 33-18-38, which was completed Thursday at 4,140 feet for about 350 barrels.

A test of considerable local interest has been started by the F. W. & Y. Oil Co., near the center of sec. 10-19-28, known as the State No. 63. This well located southeast of the proven area in the Artesia field will be watched closely. R. D. Compton Oil Co., Inc., has spudded its No. 1-A, sec. 8-18-27. The Western Drilling Co., is making good time on its Green No. 1. Sec. 29-17-29, which is drilling below 2,000 feet. Nothing is yet definite on the report that Leonard and Levers will start three tests for gas in the gas area northeast of town.

MAYHILL CLOUDCROFT ROAD IS INCLUDED IN PROGRAM FOR 1931

Plans made by the forest service call for spending $330,000 on highways in the forests of New Mexico, the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1932, according to word from Santa Fe.

The projects are: James Canyon, (Clouderoft-Mayhill road) grading 20 miles, $20,000; U. S. Hill (Taos-Mora road), grading, eight miles, $96,000; Cedro Canyon, Bernalillo county, grading, seven miles, $90,000; Hondo-Mescalero road, Lincoln county, oiling, $75,000; Capitan-Nogal road, Lincoln county, base course surfacing of seven miles $42,000.

If enough money is left after these contracts are let, it is planned to widen five miles of road north of the bridge over the Francisco river in Catron county. The estimated cost of this project is $18,000.

Highway surveys will be made: Between Reserve and Apache creek at a cost of $4,500; Navajo canyon, north of Abiqui, $4,000; Datil-Quemada road, Socorro county, eight miles near Pietown, $3,200.

600 HEAD OF RANGE CATTLE LOADED OUT TO MARKET TODAY

Six hundred cattle will be loaded out of Artesia today for the market at Kansas City, Bernard Cleve and Boyd Williams are loading 350 head of mixed cattle and Prude Brothers are shipping out 250 head of mixed cattle. Thursday D. W. Runyan shipped out seventy head of steers to market. These shipments are in addition to the one made by Ed Crockett consisting of 225 head.

Other shipments are scheduled to be made within the next few days. Choice stuff is bringing five cents.

WHEN IT RAINS IT POURS GRANDSONS ON THE CAMPBELLS

When it rains it pours, and the hardest shower of the season certainly did not miss Grandpa and Grandma Campbell Monday night, who had two grand sons born two and a half hours apart. Grandpa Campbell has come to the conclusion that the stork is liberality personified, the way he brot grand sons around the first of the week. Anyway Grandpa Campbell is two times more Grandpa than he used to be.

At 8:30 Monday evening a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Haldeman and has not been named. At 11:00 p. m. a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Graham. The new arrival has been named Edwin Owen Graham.

VALUE OF THE VALLEY COTTON CROP GROWS

Pecos valley's cotton crop has increased in value approximately half a million dollars from the low mark established several weeks ago, according to estimates compiled at Roswell.

Based on a total production in the Pecos valley this year of 50,000 bales, the increase is approximately $437,500.00, according to the figures compiled here.

Cotton on today's market is up from $7 to 7.50 a bale above the low point established several weeks ago. Prices of cotton seed have increased from $6.50 to $9.50 a ton, a gain of $3 for the cotton farmers. The cotton increase, coupled with lower costs of production, a decrease in ginning rates and other items bring the value of the Pecos valley bale of cotton from $8.75 to $9.00 a bale above that received only a short time ago.—Roswell Record.

DATE OF BOY SCOUT DRIVE DEFINITELY SET FOR TOMORROW

After some delay the financial drive for the Boy Scouts of this area has been definitely set for Friday, Minor Huffman, area executive of Roswell announced Tuesday after a conference with Scout officials. C. J. Dexter has been appointed chairman of the finances and will be assisted in the individual solicitation by the following men: H. S. Williams, George Frisch, S. W. Gilbert, R. W. Knoedler, M. G. Schulze, Willis Moran and Fred Cole. Those who care to pledge funds may sign a card which reads, "Being interested in the welfare and training of the Boy Scouts of America, I hereby enroll as a member of the Eastern New Mexico Council."

Boy Scout officials point out that character building is necessary even in times when the financial conditions are not the best. The superficial cure in times of distress is food, clothing and shelter. The fundamental cure is a character building program in which character building services are paramount.

AN ARTIFICIAL LAKE TO SUPPLY DEXTER FEDERAL HATCHERY

Project To Cost $50,000—
Will Include a Number
Of Improvements--5,000
Fish Will Be Planted
In Various Ponds.

A total of 119 acres will soon be under water as the first unit of the federal fish hatchery now under course of construction east of Dexter says the Roswell Record.

Six breeding ponds are now being constructed in the section just east of Lake Van. This area was formerly owned by the state and was used as a resting place for migratory birds. Shallow wells have been drilled and giant equipment is now throwing up embankments for the six ponds in which the government bureau of hatcheries plans soon to begin the hatching of great numbers of small fish for distribution to various public waters.

The initial appropriation for the federal hatchery was $50,000, and everything is moving ahead in great shape. A total of approximately 5,000 brood fish will be placed in the various ponds as soon as they have been completed and the hatchery will then be under way.

Various species of fish will be placed in separate ponds. The hatchery expects to start operations with approximately 2,500 brood bass, 500 crappie, 500 catfish, 500 blue gills (perch) and 500 rock bass, the latter being another variety of perch.

Five modern homes for the superintendent, foreman and other employes are to be constructed at once, with a central garage. Everything necessary to the modern warm water hatchery is going into this plant.

Proration of fish under artificial conditions, as followed in hatcheries, is relatively a simple operation. The big element in the entire procedure is to eliminate cannibalism, especially among the bass and crappie and to grow the small fish to a size which will permit them to shift for themselves under natural conditions.

MOVES CITY MARKET

The City Market under the management of Conner and Conner has ceased operation and the fixtures have been purchased by E. B. Bullock and moved to the Bullock building at 104 West Main Street. Mr. Bullock, however, will continue to operate the market under the name of the City Market, with E. R. Conner in charge. Mr. Bullock is offering all kinds of meats to the wholesale and retail trade. Details of the new arrangement are found in an announcement published elsewhere in this issue. The announcement will be of interest to both the old and new customers of the City Market.

FAIR WEATHER AIDS COTTON PICKING GINS TURN 7,179 BALES

Cotton gathering operations continue at a moderate rate aided by favorable weather. Approximately 1,478 bales were ginned since the last report. About sixty per cent of the estimated 50,000 bales for the Pecos valley have been ginned to date. Last year at the corresponding period five gins of north Eddy county had turned out 4,300 bales. Ginnings this week are divided as follows:

Lake Arthur gin	579
Cottonwood gin	1,570
Association gin, Espula	1,159
Association gin, Artesia	1,161
Farmers gin, Artesia	1,551
Association gin, Atoka	1,159

FREIGHT REDUCTION IS GRANTED ON COTTON

Word received from the Interstate Commerce Commission Saturday by the Chamber of Commerce conveyed the information that the freight rate reduction on cotton had been granted with a ten day notice. Sometime ago the Santa Fe railroad applied for permission to reduce the freight rate from $1.07 to 95 cents to Galveston, Texas, via the Santa Fe. The telegram received here Saturday was in answer to wires urging that the reduction be speeded.

Artesia Ties Cavemen In Armistice Grid Battle

Locals Fail To Click In Striking Distance Of Carlsbad Goal Line—
Put Up Sluggish Battle
Except In Last Quarter.

The Bulldogs failed to win their Armistice day battle from the Cavemen at Carlsbad yesterday, being held to a 6-6 tie. Artesia went into the fray an overwhelming favorite to win and the Carlsbad populace received the deadlock with the same wild acclamation as they would have a win. The game was a rough and tumble, poorly played affair, but was witnessed by a large holiday crowd. Artesia was well represented on the side lines.

The Cavemen started to make things unpleasant for the Artesia boys right from the start. Artesia received the kickoff and lost ground on three straight attempts and had their punt blocked on the fourth down. However, the play was called back on a technicality and Ransbarger kicked to safety. The Bulldogs fell a foot or two short of scoring in the first quarter when they fumbled almost on the goal line.

Artesia put over a touchdown in the second quarter after an exchange of fumbles and some good gains. The try for extra point was futile and the score was only 6-0. The first half saw no more scoring, but was marred by an Artesia player being ejected from the game and the Bulldogs were penalized half the distance of the goal for the alleged offense. This unfortunate incident netted the opponents about forty yards, but the half ended shortly, without any serious threat of scoring by Carlsbad.

The last half was scoreless until the last few minutes of play, with Artesia clearly outplaying Carlsbad. The Bulldogs were completing pass after pass in effort to run up the score on the Cavemen when the big slipup came. The game was almost over when Brown uncorked a long pass intended for an Artesia end who was near the opposite side line, but it proved just too bad, for a Carlsbad man leaped high in the air, speared the ball and raced almost the entire distance of the field to tie the count. It probably was a "reverser" sleeper with Artesia doing most of the sleeping. The Artesia boys saved themselves from defeat by smearing Carlsbad attempt to go thru the line for that one big point.

The Bulldogs were desperate after Carlsbad scored and for the first time during the game showed a real determination to win. They rushed the kickoff back up the field and had the ball in scoring position with a minute left to go. On the final play, Brown was sweeping right end behind perfect interference and it looked as if the Bulldogs had pulled the game out of the fire, but in some manner he knocked the ball from his own hands after making several yards. A Carlsbad man recovered and the game was over without another play.

The same teams will meet here Thanksgiving—and what a game that'll be!

CARP TAKEN FROM LAKE VAN FRIDAY

M. Stevenson, deputy game warden took approximately 150,000 carp minnows from Lake Van east of Dexter, Friday. The carp will be delivered to the federal fish hatchery at Dexter to be used as food for the young bass in the hatchery. This was Mr. Stevenson's first day out, in an effort to rid the lake of undesirable fish, at the same time to supply the young fish at the hatchery with food. Further reports on Mr. Stevenson's activities were not received.

EMERSON WATTS FREE OF CHARGE

Emerson Watts, former New Mexico state treasurer of Roswell, was freed Friday night by a district grand jury "no bill" of charges that he embezzled customers' accounts of the Watts-Harrison brokerage house.

Watts, answering an involuntary action brought against him in federal court at Santa Fe, offered a composition in bankruptcy which has been accepted by all creditors and recognized by Federal Judge Colin Neblett. Fulfillment of the composition plan offered will bring dismissal of the bankruptcy action.

ADVERTISE!

No one person can break the present world depression. President Hoover and the bankers and financiers and statesmen of America and the entire world are throwing their mighty influence and power into the breach. They are undoubtedly gaining results, but even their efforts alone cannot bring back prosperity.

Every business man who has something to sell can have a part and their combined effort can do more than all the statesmen and bankers combined.

And the business man's job is expressed in one word, Advertise! If your advertising has not been pulling as it should, check it up and apply the following simple rules, as old as the science itself, only in different words, perhaps.

Don't send out messy copy. You wouldn't meet your customers in seedy clothes and patched pants. Make your advertising clean and attractive, the same as you demand of your sales people.

Don't use your advertising to get rid of shop-worn stock. You wouldn't unload dog-tail merchandise on your customers. Feature new merchandise, latest styles, what everybody wants.

Avoid dry details as you would smallpox. Leave that to Gibbon's History of Rome and the mail-order catalogs.

Don't advertise everything in the store at once. Save that for the January inventory. Feature popular departments.

Sell the use and service of your merchandise. You don't buy a car to look at, but for business and pleasure.

Put human interest in your advertising. Study motion picture ads. They are alive, and yours must be, too, if they pull.

Make your ads convincing. Put in a wallop that will knock out the depression. Avoid trite and stereotyped phrases.

Emphasize prices! (Oh Mr. Merchant, bear down on this!) Prices talk today as never before. Make your customer see that his dollar will buy more now than at any time since the war.

Dress up your store. Give it a Sunday-go-to-meeting appearance every day in the week, especially your show windows.

"Sell" your salespeople. If they are not enthusiastic to back up your advertising, your money is wasted. They must close the deal.

All these things, brother, do in the name of good business. Make the above your "Ten Commandments" of business and watch Old Man Depression pack his duds and leave your store.—Texas Commercial News.

CREDIT

We note that the local credit bureau complains that a mail order tire concern is trying to mooch local credit rating from the Artesia merchants. The place for an inquiry of this sort is in the waste basket. Why waste your time trying to give a mail order concern information, when all the interest the mail order concern has in the community is what business it may get from the community.

We do not know what others think of it, but more than likely many of those who are aided by the Community Chest this winter have spent and will spend money with business concerns that care nothing for their welfare. It would be a splendid opportunity for those in charge of the Community Chest distribution to show the light to some people who refuse to do a little thinking for themselves. Every citizen of the community owes some responsibility to the community in which he lives and earns his bread. Those who feel no obligation to the place where they live deserve little or no aid from the public spirited citizens.

SIGNS OF RETURNING NORMALACY

The fact that so many people have predicted the end of the depression, only to see times grow worse has certainly lessened the crop of prophets, so much so, until most of us are afraid to say much, for fear our prophecy may seem more like a dream than a reality, but unless all signs fail, conditions are looking up. Two of the basic commodities oil and wheat have led the way out of the darkness and it looks like we have reached bottom and have started up. At least everybody feels more cheerful and that helps a lot.

Now, if the cotton market would only stiffen a little more and advance a cent or two, it would surely make the outlook brighter for this section. There is a possibility that the farmers may see ten cent cotton before the first of the year, but unless it comes soon, the raise in price will be of little benefit to the cotton grower for most of the cotton will be out of his hands.

THE BLAH BLAH BOYS (San Jon Acantha)

The forces of organized politics—the blah-blah boys who believe in government for the perpetuation of the party rather than in government for the common good—play politics 730 days or more of the two years between election. They are always on the job with hot air and buncomb to meet any and all exigencies. But the forces of the ordinary, every-day, or garden variety of voters are never organized until a few weeks before elections. That is the reason the politicians perpetuate themselves and the piecounter job holders. That is the reason the politically controlled newspapers keep a soft pedal on politics until every thing is cut and dried as the party leaders want it, and view with alarm any so-called "inopportune" mention of politics during the allegedly closed season. THINK FOR YOURSELF!

Its about time for some real winter, altho we are not complaining about the wonderful fall weather we have enjoyed during October and the first part of November. The fall and winter climate in the valley should add quite a bit to its climatic attractions and it begins to look as tho the winter will be mild, which is nature's way of being kind to the needy.

That corner that prosperity is supposed to be around, we have not found it, but we are not going to give up and we are not going to be frightened when we find it.

THE PROPER RATION

In getting back to the fundamentals of animal nutrition we have compared the feeding of livestock to the manufacturing game. Feeds are made of certain materials, which are turned into the various finished products.

All feeds are composed of minerals, protein, water fat, carbohydrates (nitrogen free extract and fibre). All of these are necessary to make milk, eggs, pork, beef or to do work and to produce offspring.

Making the feed fit the need is now the big problem. To achieve the objects of animal nutrition we supply a ration to maintain the animal body and produce a desired objective in the form of an animal product. This ratio to be adequate, suitable and economical, must be balanced, palatable, uniform, safe, succulent and have variety.

These qualities are supplied by a well chosen variety of good quality ingredients.

Balance

For proper balance it is plain to see that certain definite proportions of protein, minerals, fat and carbohydrates are necessary. This is what is meant by a balanced ration—a feed that furnishes just the right proportions of these nutrients each 24 hours without waste. The egg factory needs a balance of yolk, white and shell making materials; for one can readily see that if there is material for 50 whites and only 25 yolks, just 25 eggs can be produced.

Unbalanced Feed Wasteful
If there is one short stave in the barrel the water runs out, no matter how high the other staves are. If the ration is short on some essential, the animal can only produce in proportion to the scarce ingredient, not the abundant one.

Modern methods and research have shown that a ration needs to be more than balanced by chemical analysis. It needs to be proved. It needs to be built on the lowest possible unit of protein and carbohydrate that will produce the desired effect due respect being given to palatability, bulk and physical effect on the animal. Many chemically balanced rations do not stand up under feed lot tests.

Quantity or Quality in Protein
Recent experiments indicate that it is necessary to do more than merely supply a certain amount of protein regardless of whether it be from a vegetable or animal source. Protein, you will remember, is the constituent in feed that builds lean meat, hide, hair, hoof, feathers, etc. All proteins are not the same by any means. It is necessary to have just the right kind of protein to do each job completely.

Careful research has shown that protein is made up of twenty or more "little proteins" or amino acids as the chemist calls them.

Further research has shown that few single ingredients contain all 20 of them and still fewer ingredients contain them in the right proportions for maximum in growth and production; corn for example is decidedly deficient in two amino acids. Linseed meal contains the two that corn lacks but is deficient in others.

There is a great variation in the makeup of the protein in a feed as well as the total amount of protein. It also follows that the real feeding value of proteins depends upon the proportion of the essential amino acids. That is termed quality.

To better illustrate this let us use a simple illustration. Take these four words: "Balanced Rations Pay Profits."

In order to spell this phrase, it requires fifteen different letters which must be represented in these proportions:

1 B	1 E	2 O's
4 A's	1 D	2 S's
1 L	2 R's	2 P's
2 N's	2 T's	1 Y
1 C	2 I's	1 F.

These are the only proportions that will make the spelling of these words possible without waste. If for some reason there was a shortage of R's and a few extra P's and U's were thrown in to make up the deficiency, it is obvious that we would not be able to spell the four words perfectly. The same thing applies to proteins. The balanced protein which is required by the animal must contain all essential amino acids in definite proportions in order to spell a perfectly balanced protein. How then, can a complete, balanced protein be provided? Obviously in one way only—by putting several different feeds together so that each one supplies what the other lacks and so build up the desired balance for the specific purpose for which the feed is designed.

The Revolving Fund

A bank represents a sort of community revolving fund. Business and individuals deposit in it each day, surplus funds which cannot be safely kept in purse or register. That's for safety.

Worthy business and individuals, who have need for more than current funds, borrow from this community fund for short periods. To assure that the funds they have borrowed will be repaid, they make collateral security sufficient to guarantee this repayment. That's for safety, too.

The simple plan of banking, the beginning has adapted itself to a complex modern business world and become intricate in details. Government has taken over supervision, for protection of those who have deposits.

And even those who really have no surplus for any length of time, who transact a large volume of business yet have little money remaining on deposit at any time, find their banks are useful, as a clearing agency, as a safety measure, and as a time saving convenience. And even this enlarged service is provided without cost! Can any other business compare in service rendered without charge, to the modern bank, which takes as its profit an infinitesimal portion from business volume and clearings?

FELT SICK AFTER EATING

"None of my food agreed with me—I would frequently taste what I ate, long after my meals, and I did not see a well day for weeks," says Mr. Peter Seeger, 329 S. Elmwood St., Kansas City, Mo. "I began taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal, and kept this up for weeks. Gradually the pain left me and I began to feel better. I ceased to be troubled with gas, and could eat what I liked."

COTTON FORECAST FOR U. S. 16,903,000 BALES NOV. 8 REPORT

WASHINGTON—A cotton crop of 16,903,000 bales this year was estimated Monday by the department of agriculture on the basis of conditions on November 1. A month ago 16,284,000 bales were indicated. Last year 13,932,000 bales were produced.

A yield of 197.8 pounds of lint per acre is indicated, compared with 190.5 pounds a month ago and 147.7 pounds produced last year.

The indicated production by states includes Texas 5,250,000 bales; New Mexico 97,000 and Arizona 119,000.

Spiritualistic lady has just called up her husband, who is dead: Lady: "John dear, is that you?" John: "Yes, my dear." Lady: "John, are you happy?" John: "Yes, my dear." Lady: "John, dear, are you happier than you were on earth with me?" John: "Yes, my dear." Lady (sighing): "Heaven must be a wonderful place." John: "I'm not there, Mary."

"See here," said the angry visitor to the reporter, "what do you mean by inserting the derisive expression 'apple sauce' in parenthesis in my speech?" "Apple sauce"? Great Scott man, I wrote 'applause'."

Cop: "No parking, you can't loaf along this road." Voice within car: "Who's loafing?"

WINTER VEGETABLES IN LOW-COST MEALS

The time has come in many parts of the country to give thought to winter vegetables. Nutritionists of the Bureau of Home Economics particularly emphasize one bit of advice to families with slender pocketbooks: "The fewer kinds of food in the diet, the more important it is that some of them should be vegetables."

Vegetables, then, must be included in the low-cost food supply if it is to be adequate. Fortunately, some of the best winter vegetables are among the cheapest kinds reported in current price lists. Potatoes, sweet potatoes, carrots, turnips, onions and cabbage are first on the list because they provide exceptional food value at low cost. Then there are parsnips, beets, kohlrabi and winter squashes and pumpkins, with canned tomatoes, kale, spinach, and sauerkraut to give the tang that tickles the palate and adds more minerals and vitamins.

A medium-sized potato, baked or boiled, has fuel value of about 100 calories. It also contains some protein, some iron and some vitamin C, all of which are important because we eat potatoes in quantity.

Next to the potato, the carrot is probably the cheapest and most important underground vegetable. Carrots are rich in iron, unusually rich in vitamins, and many people like them better raw than cooked, which is a sure way to get all the fine food value in them. Raw carrots will add, if you like, a cheap salad course to a meal. Carrots with apples make a good combination, and apples are cheap.

Onions and turnips claim attention as winter vegetables not only because they are cheap, but because they furnish variety and flavor along with exceptional food value. Raw onions contribute some vitamin C which is important in the winter diet.

Cabbage, according to the recipe expert, is surprisingly sweet and delicate if simmered in milk for 5 minutes, then thickened slightly with blended flour and butter and salt. Or, shredded cabbage may be cooked with spaghetti and cheese with buttered bread crumbs over the top and baked until the crumbs are golden brown—making a good one-dish meal for a winter day.

BROWN WILLIAMSON SPECIAL IN ARTESIA

A specially equipped coach of the Brown Williamson Tobacco Co., makers of target cigarettes, and tobaccos, stopped in Artesia at noon Tuesday and gave a demonstration. The special resembled a railroad locomotive with one coach which was equipped with a broadcasting and receiving set. The special was on a national tour traveling toward Roswell.

The traffic officer raised his hand and the lady motorist stopped with a screeching of brakes. "As soon as I saw you turn that corner," quoth the officer, writing out a ticket, "I said to myself, 'forty-five at least'."

Oh, no, officer," she remonstrated, "it's just this hat that makes me look so old."

4-H BABY BEEF CALVES INCREASE IN NUMBERS

There will be more 4-H club calves on feed during the coming year than at any previous time since club work was started says W. L. Black of the New Mexico Agricultural College. This, in spite of the fact that many of the club members failed to make any money on the feeding operations last year, seems to indicate there is no such thing as a lasting depression in the heart of a 4-H club member.

Last year there were 34 baby beef calves fed in the state. At the present time there are 41 calves on feed and indications are that there will be more than 100 additional calves go on feed between now and April 1, 1932.

These calves will be shown at local fairs and also at the sectional or national show nearest them. The calves in the southern part of the state will be shown at the El Paso show; those in the central part and eastern part of the state will go to the Amarillo show and those in the northern part of the state to the Denver National Livestock Show.

Indications are that this year's feeding operations will be much more profitable than those of the past, due to the fact that the calves are being purchased at prices of from 5c to 6c per pound, while previously the cheapest calves cost 10c per pound. The feed for the calves is being purchased at one-third to one-half the price of former years. Under these conditions it is very improbable that a calf that is given good feed and care will lose any money for the owner, even if prices remain at the present low level.

Wildcat Takes Bath

Wildcats, like their domestic cousins, dislike the water, but if forced to make an escape from an enemy they will plunge in and swim as well as any animal, according to a writer in Boys' Life, the monthly magazine of the Boy Scouts of America. A wildcat was treed by dogs recently, says he, and it jumped into the nearby river to escape, and by swimming rapidly across eluded his tormentors.

Japanese Defense

Jujitsu is the Japanese art of self-defense without weapons. It depends for its effect largely upon the principle of making use of an opponent's strength and weight to disable or injure him and by applying pressure so that his movements will throw him out of balance, dislocate or break a joint, etc. It opposes knowledge and skill to strength, and demands an expert knowledge of human anatomy.

Step Beyond Recall

"To cross the Rubicon" means to take some step from which it is not possible to recede. The Rubicon was a small river separating Italy from Cisalpine Gaul, the province allotted to Julius Caesar. In B. C. 49, when Caesar crossed this stream, he passed beyond the limits of his own province and became an invader of Italy.

Their Two Needs

One Sunday morning a member of a church that could not boast of a new organ met a friend that belonged to a church that had just purchased one. "I hear you've got a new organ," he said. "Now all you need is a monkey." "And all you need is an organ," his friend answered with a smile.—London Answers.

Longed for the Moon and Got It

By CYNTHIA BLAIR

IT WAS a cold, rainy day; one of those days that are hard to endure even when your life is perfectly satisfactory. And Emily Eaton's life was so far from being satisfactory that it didn't give her the least bit of hope when she left her office at noon and faced the prospect of walking through the rain to the noisy, crowded restaurant which was the best eating place she could afford at that time. She had a job, not a very good one, and one that didn't pay her very well; she reminded herself quite frequently that she was lucky to have any position at all, in an effort to appreciate it. And she had a home—that is, she had a room in a large, uncomfortable, badly-run rooming house.

Those weren't the things that really bothered her, however. She could have endured them. The trouble was that she wanted to go around the world, to see Egypt and India and Japan, Hawaii and Singapore and the Malay straits! She might as well have longed for the moon, she told herself, as she walked along the grimy streets that day.

And then the moon faced her, so to speak, in the shape of a large window full of travel booklets—booklets advertising trips to the West Indies, to Europe, to Panama, trips that took you clear around the world. There was a blackboard on which were written the temperatures of various enchanted places that day. There were pictures of people going in bathing, playing tennis, doing all the delightful summertime things. Emily boldly opened the door beside the window and walked into the travel company's office.

"I want to ask about your round-the-world tour," she told the young man behind the nearest desk. He was delighted to tell her all about the round-the-world cruise. Sailing from New York on January 10—she could join the ship later in San Francisco if she didn't care to go through the Panama canal. Living on the ship was just like being in a wonderful hotel.

"Yes, of course; very comfortable," Emily agreed, feeling like a traitor. He thought she was likely to take one of those trips—though she had money enough. And she was deceiving him! He'd never have thought so if she hadn't been wearing that suit her cousin had given her, an expensive suit.

Emily was fascinated. She stayed half an hour, talking with him. Wonderful! He must have made the trip himself several times, since he knew so much about all those enchanted places!

She asked him finally how many times he had made it. Then came a confession. He'd never taken it at all!

"But I'm so crazy about travel that I'd rather work here for less money than I could get somewhere else, just to be in touch with what I want to do," he told her. "Longing for the moon—that's what I'm doing at present, I guess."

"Oh, me too!" cried Emily, forgetting that she was supposed to be a young woman with money who could take a trip around the world if she wanted to do it. "I'm crazy to travel, but I can't afford it."

It was a short step then to the rest of her story. They were old friends when Emily left the office with an armful of fascinating booklets under her arm. She hurried to the cheap little restaurant, and was half through luncheon, hardly knowing what she ate, when a friendly voice said, "Do you mind if I sit here?"

It was the young man from the travel office. She was delighted to see him. He slid into the chair across from her, and they began their conversation just where they'd left off. He walked back to her office building with her, and when he said good-bye he had asked if he might come to see her, and she had said yes.

He came that evening to the dingy rooming house, and they sat in the parlor and talked eagerly. When he left they had decided to join a French class, an inexpensive one that Emily knew about—you really have to speak French if you want to travel!

That was in December. It was February when they discovered that they both wanted something else even more than they wanted to travel. The something else was each other. Even though they couldn't afford to marry, they could be in love—a luxury richer people than they could not afford.

And then one day the moon fell into their laps. He came rushing to Emily in the cheap little restaurant.

"What do you think?" he cried. "It's come. I'm promoted. They're going to send me with one of the cruises, the Mediterranean one; somebody always goes, to act as head man for the company—take charge of the people who go on the trip, you know, see that they have a good time on shipboard, that they all go ashore as they should—all that. Sort of courier, you know I'll be sailing next week."

"Oh, how wonderful!" cried Emily. "Yes—and the best part of it is that I'll be given a raise, and can take my wife," he added. "Come on—give up your job and let's go buy that trunk we saw for sale yesterday. Longing for the moon has brought it to us!"

PLEADS GUILTY TO SELLING LIQUOR TO INDIANS SATURDAY

ALAMOGORDO—Charged with selling intoxicating liquor to Indians, William Travis of Tularosa pleaded guilty at Alamogordo Saturday before United States Commissioner Tom Charles and was bound over to federal court under $750 bond.

During the hearing Frank Francisca, 10-year-old Indian, was called to testify as to Travis' action. Francisca, it was developed, possessed an unusual command of the English language and investigation revealed he was a graduate of an eastern Indian school and had attended Princeton for two years.

Francisca was called by federal authorities, and while held as a witness, was kept in the hospital quarters of the prison out of respect to his wish that he not be placed in a jail cell. He said he was a thirty-second degree Mason and did not wish to disgrace that order by being placed in jail pending the Travis hearing.

The Indian is a prominent citizen of the Mescalero agency and came to the agency in 1912 with the Geronimo band from Fort Sill. He expects to spend this winter in Arizona.

An editor was dining out. "Would you like some more pudding?" asked his hostess.

"No, thank you," replied the editor, absent mindedly. "Owing to tremendous pressure on space I am reluctantly compelled to decline."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

"You needn't tell me — I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

Never parched, never toasted CAMELS are FRESH in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette. If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette. That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too. Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool. That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with. Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to them for just one day — then leave them, if you can!

GOOD FOUND IN ALARM CLOCKS RESCUE FISHES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The indispensable (and utterly contemptible) common bedside variety of alarm clock has ascended to a scientific station of honor in the control of natural wild life, remarks a bulletin of the American Game Association.

Recently an emergency appeal informed officials of the California division of fish and game that a colony of black-crowned night herons were making merry with little goldfish in the public squares of Alameda.

Dispatched to investigate, E. L. Sumner, Jr., assistant bird and mammal zoologist, reported himself in a quandary. Potatoes and whatnot hurled at the herons failed to dampen their ardor for night-fishing inside the city limits. The use of guns was not advisable.

Sumner slept on the question of saving the goldfish of Alameda. In fact he overslept on it—and got an idea.

He strung four healthy alarm clocks in the tall "heron tree," where the birds napped all day after each night of dodging missiles and gulping the prized goldfish. The alarms were set to go off at half-hour intervals.

After a sleepless week the herons disappeared from their strangely serenaded retreat, and haven't shown up again.

Now Sumner, the hero of Alameda, is recommending that alarm clocks be applied in other cases of unwelcome invasion by wild birds and animals.

Village Gossip Went Astray

By DUFORD JENNE

THEODORA, flushed and happy, with a song in her heart, as she dreamed and played with the soft, shining, shimmering things she took from the trunk—the garments that made up her trousseau—suddenly heard Mrs. Abbey's high speaking voice in the lower room.

"There's no question about it, Mary. For five afternoons I noticed Will Hanley out driving with one of the prettiest girls I ever saw, I was suspicious, the girl seemed so interested in him, and I asked one of the men where Will works, and he said, 'Sure, he's engaged to her!'"

There was a deep silence in the kitchen below, and then Theodora heard her mother say in a slow, hurt tone: "Why it can't be so! 'Ted' has her wedding dress ready, and their plans are all complete!"

"Well, I'm telling you what I saw and what was told me!"

"It will break her heart! But I have been afraid—just a bit. He writes her so seldom since he went to the city, and he's such a handsome, popular fellow!"

"It's too bad—and if I were Theo, I'd—"

"Hush, don't speak so loud, please. Ted is in the old guest room looking over her wedding things, and every sound goes right up there through the old register. She might hear you—and I don't know what she'd do if she did! She's been so happy in her dreams of—"

Her mother's voice died away. Theodora sat in dumb misery, a little heap of pain. "It could not be true!" her heart told her bravely; and then her mind whispered: "It might be true!" Will's letters had been so short—yet he had always been a man of few words; and he was handsome, good-natured—

She moaned a little as she sat on the floor near the trunk where lay the shining remnants of her dream.

Suddenly, it must have been a long time after the conversation below, her mother's gentle voice came to her up the stairway.

Ted awoke with a start from the depths of her despair, rallied her will, kissed the soft garments one by one and folded them back in the trunk. Then she stood a moment in silence fighting for mastery of herself so that her mother would not read the hurt in her heart.

But the moment she stepped into the kitchen her mother's tender eyes understood. "Oh, Theo, you heard. But don't you believe it, dear. I know it can't be true!" her mother said quickly.

Theodora smiled faintly. "Of course it isn't, mother."

"This is the day for the usual letter. He wouldn't keep up writing you if everything wasn't all right by Thanksgiving."

When the mail came, she found his letter. She opened it with slight, trembling fingers. Across the page her eyes read a line of fire: "Dear Ted—Our engagement is off. Sorry, indeed. As ever, Will."

She could not quite stay the little cry of pain that broke from her lips. Her mother came to her with a rush, and Theo handed her the brief note.

Theo smiled at her bravely. "It's his way. I'm glad he said it simply and quickly."

Then she went quietly to the little room which had been her refuge in childish troubles and in later years, and there she wrote him a simple note of understanding. Then with the letter in her hand, she walked through the gathering dusk of the late afternoon to the village office and mailed it. It would reach him in the morning.

On the evening of the day following the mailing of the letter she went outside into her mother's flower garden, and stood a silent solitary figure searching for healing and peace among the blossoms.

As she stood there she heard the roar of a powerful motor and a car swept to a sharp halt at the door. A tall figure dashed to the house, saw her, turned, and came with long strides toward her. Then with a strange sense of things unreal, she was caught in strong arms, kissed warmly on lips and cheeks.

"Ted, what in the sun!" Will's strained voice said. "Why did you send that note?"

She explained haltingly. He groaned as he listened. "I sent that note to a pal of mine, Ted Evans calling off a golf engagement—I meant to; instead I sent my love letter to him and his note to you. What a mess!"

A little song began to sing in her heart. She understood, but she told him Mrs. Abbey's story. He laughed.

"That girl is the daughter of a rich chap. The company asked me to teach her to drive her new car. She's the biggest dumbbell I ever met," he said with some heat. "As to that yarn of my being engaged to her, one of the men told me about an old lady who asked him about us and what he said. Now, look, I'm not going to take any more chances of losing you. Can't we be married tomorrow, right here in the old town? I've got the license!"

LESS TURKEYS READY FOR THANKSGIVING

Turkey will be less plentiful for the Thanksgiving menu this year, but will be in greater supply for Christmas. Figures supplied by the government bureau of agricultural economy showed that the 1931 turkey crop was slightly larger than in 1930, but that a smaller percentage would be ready for market by Thanksgiving. The number of turkeys on farms was approximately 2 per cent larger than last year, but smaller than in 1929. The increase was due largely to greater numbers in the Pacific Coast states and in Texas which offset decreases in the north central and Rocky Mountain states. Only 45.7 per cent of the crop will be available for the Thanksgiving holiday, now less than a month away, whereas last year 51.5 per cent was ready. The turkey crop in this locality will be short of the usual number for Thanksgiving. The normal turkey crop of this trade area is about 5,000 birds. Growers do not have as many birds to offer either for Thanksgiving or Christmas as usual.

The narrow gauge line will connect with a five mile extension built by the Santa Fe from Loving to the refinery site. Another small mine shaft east of the present four compartment shaft has been planned to facilitate the mining work. Daily output of the raw ore at the mine has been lessened on account of the slack fertilizer market at this season of the year.
