Mercury Drops To 35 Below Tues. Night

Artesia One Of Coldest Spots In U. S. In Freak Storm — Temperature Is Rising Today—Live-Stock Loss Light.

Believe it or not, but Artesia was one of the coldest places in the United States, Tuesday night. It was the coldest spot reported among thirty-two towns by the daily weather bulletin. The official temperature registered at the government station here was thirty-five below zero, which reading checked with other thermometers in Artesia regarded as accurate. A reading of thirty below was registered by the thermometer at the Continental Refinery about 4:00 o'clock Wednesday morning and the fact that the Continental thermometer was housed in a building probably explains the difference in the reading. Other thermometers over town registered from 30 to 43 degrees below zero. The coldest place reported among the thirty-one cities outside of Artesia on Tuesday night was Williston, North Dakota with a temperature of thirty-four below. Carlsbad registered seventeen below on the same date and Roswell twenty-four. Seven below was registered here this morning.

And this'll be something that you can tell your grand children after a few years, because the Artesia record will probably never be equaled in the next fifty years. Thirty-five below zero is a temperature which has never been recorded before by any weather station in the Pecos valley and data at Roswell goes back as far as 1894.

The thermometer registered six and a half degrees above zero Tuesday morning at the beginning of the storm, the temperature dropped to zero during the day. The previous low temperature registered for the winter was twelve degrees above zero. Weather records have not been checked for the lowest temperature established here in previous years, but old timers say the lowest registered here was eleven below. The all time record of the Roswell weather bureau was established in February 1905 when the thermometer dropped to 29 degrees below zero. Three and a half inches of snow fell here during the storm. Roswell registered four and three tenths inches. The snow fall here was what is described as a dry snow with only about .07 inches moisture.

Estimate of the damage done by the severe cold has not been fully checked. Car owners with anti-freeze in the radiators did not have protection below ten degree. Water pipes over town were frozen, service lines burst, but city water mains escaped damage.

Livestock generally suffered. Newly shorn lambs came through the storm without serious losses where protection was afforded in the way of sheds.

DR. STONE ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT TO GIVE 30 DAY FREE TEST

Dr. Edward Stone, Artesia optometrist has recently installed a new instrument known as the Bichrome check test designed to check the lenses of the eye glasses. In order to introduce this service to this section of the valley, Dr. Stone has announced that all examination fees have been cancelled and that the wearer of glasses may have his lenses tested free of charge. The diagnosis is designed to aid in the care of your eyes and will show you whether or not your present lenses are properly fitted.

Dr. Stone has added new optical instruments until now has been one of the best, if not the best optical shops to be found in the Pecos valley. See his announcement in this issue for further particulars.

S. S. Ward is spending this week at the Flying H ranch on business.

THE CORNER DRUG STORE PASSES TO A NEW OWNERSHIP

The sale of the Corner Drug Store to Bert Muncy was announced Saturday and the new owner took charge at noon. Aubrey Watson who has managed the Corner Drug for several months will be associated with his uncle, Hollis Watson in the operation of the Mann Drug Co. Fred Henderson will be retained as salesman at the Corner Drug with Otice Brown as pharmacist.

Mr. Muncy has been identified with the Artesia community for twenty-five years and during this time has held several positions of responsibility. No change in the operating plan of the Corner Drug is contemplated, it was stated.

POTASH COMPANY OF AMERICA TO ENTER THE EDDY CO. FIELD

Announcement that the Potash Company of America would inaugurate an active development program in southeastern Eddy county was made last week in Carlsbad by G. W. Harris, president. After drilling a number of core tests the company will now start plans to sink two shafts on the property in the NW SE sec. 4-29-30, one is to be an operating shaft and one an air shaft. Refinery plans are being perfected in New York and the shafts are to be built as soon as the shafts are completed and the production levels are established. The shafts will be sunk to a depth of 1,000 feet and will be completed within the course of the next six or seven months. Equipment for starting the preliminary mining work is now in transit.

The Potash Company of America is composed of a group of Denver, Colorado and Chicago, Illinois business men.

FARM ORGANIZATION PLANS AT PORTALES MAY BE STATE WIDE

Organizers are working at Portales to complete a state farmers organization in New Mexico the purpose of which will be to boost farm prices and "prevent indiscriminate foreclosures."

A meeting was held at Portales Saturday afternoon to form a temporary state farmers' holiday association and another conference was called for February 18 at San Jon.

A. V. Barker, formerly a member of an Arkansas farmers' organization, said unless relief is forthcoming immediately after the democratic administration takes office next month, the farmers holiday association will vote on a proposal and sell nothing until farm prices reach the cost of production.

Barker said the holiday association is backing a congressional bill providing for the refinancing of farms and homes.

He suggested a state council of defense be elected to determine the cost of producing farm crops in New Mexico and to investigate foreclosures.

Spokesmen said those who show no willingness to meet their mortgage or tax obligations will receive no protection from the association. Those who make an honest effort to pay will have the organization's support, it was announced.

J. Q. Page has been elected temporary secretary of the New Mexico association. Other officers have not been chosen.

County officials said there probably have been fewer foreclosures in Roosevelt county the past three years than in any other New Mexico county. They said there may have been some foreclosures that were not justified but such instances have been rare.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Holoman made a trip to Carlsbad Monday.

EDDY CO. FARMERS TO GET $100,000 IN SEED - FEED LOANS

Set Up Of Organization Is About Completed — May Get Larger Loans If Regulations Modified By Sec. Agriculture.

President Hoover Saturday signed the federal crop loan bill, which will make available $90,000,000 for seed and feed loans to farmers. According to estimates made the 1933 loans will be ready for the farmers within the next ten days and approximately the same set up will be used as was operated last year, with R. L. Kyle as field agent for the southeastern district, composed of Eddy, Lea, Chaves, Lincoln and DeBaca counties. Instead of a county loan committee, an individual has been named for each precinct in the county to pass on the loans. Precinct committeemen named include: C. E. Mann of Artesia, Olin Stewart, Carlsbad; Walter Craft, Malaga; W. D. Bales, Otis; Tom Calloway, Loving; J. H. Bridgman, Hope. All applications filed in the county will be cleared through the office of County Agent W. A. Wunsch.

While details of operation are still lacking, it is estimated that $100,000 will be available for Eddy county farmers this year, as against approximately $45,000 last year. In 1932, 153 loans were cleared through the Carlsbad office. According to advices from Carlsbad, the application blanks are in the hand of the county agent, awaiting orders from the secretary of agriculture to proceed with the loans.

May Increase Loans
A telegram received by Col. Woods from Senator Bratton at Washington Sunday, states that every effort is being made to secure modification of the rules and regulations to increase maximum sums authorized to individual farmers and to hasten the making of loans. As we understand, the maximum sums to farmers would be increased to $800 for each tenant and $2,500 for each farm owner. Whether or not the cotton farmer will be required to reduce his acreage thirty per cent will be left up to the secretary of agriculture. It is likely such regulations will be applied, since this rule was used in 1932.

May Have Regional Meeting
Col. Woods said Monday morning that plans were going forward to have a regional meeting of all field agents of the southwest here within the next two weeks. Owen D. Sherrill, of Dallas regional farm loan manager has been invited to attend. The meeting will be similar in its nature to the one held last year and will likely attract a number of visitors. "A definite meeting date will be set soon."

ARRESTED FOR THEFT

Harold Burrows was arrested Friday night on charge of theft of accessories from several autos parked near the Central school. He was bound over to the action of the district court under a bond of $500.00 after he plead guilty at a preliminary hearing in justice court and was placed in the county jail.

BABY RUSHED TO EL PASO AFTER COAL IS LODGED IN A LUNG

The eleven and a half months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Garrison of near Cloudercroft was rushed to an El Paso hospital yesterday morning after lodging a piece of coal in a lung here Tuesday night. Mr. Garrison who is employed in a saw mill this side of Cloudercroft had driven down with a load of lumber yesterday. His family accompanied him and while playing the little girl picked up a piece of coal from the floor and swallowed it, the coal lodging in a lung of the child. Instruments necessary to dislodge the coal were not available here and a trip to El Paso was necessary. Owing to the extreme cold weather, a car could not be arranged for until yesterday morning. B. F. Hunt took the child over in his car.

This is the third or fourth accident of its kind to occur here in recent years. It demonstrates the need of a well equipped hospital.

COURT OF HONOR

A good representation was present at the monthly Boy Scout court of honor in the office of S. W. Gilbert Monday evening. Charles Mack Knoedler, William Thompson and Harvey Burgess passed the tenderfoot examination, Lloyd Evans passed the examination for the second class scout and Ormand Lovig was presented with a merit badge.

GINNINGS ARE NEAR 9,000 BALE MARK FOR THE 1932 SEASON

Snap and bollie cotton continues to be gathered and ginned. Four gins of this area have closed the season, the Association gin here and the Cottonwood gin are the only plants operating. One or two more days ginning will see the close of the ginning season. The ginnings for the year are divided as follows:

Lake Arthur gin.....	629
Cottonwood gin.....	2,133
Association gin, Espuella.....	1,114
Association gin, Artesia.....	1,573
Farmers gin, Artesia.....	1,893
Association gin, Atoka.....	1,803

GAME COMMISSION MAKES REGULATION ON FISHING IN EDDY

The following letter received from James B. McGhee, state game commissioner at Roswell is self explanatory:

At Lovington
February 6, 1933
Mr. W. M. Linell,
Sec'y. and Treasurer, G. P. A.
Artesia, New Mexico.
Dear Linell:

Many thanks for yours of February 3rd., giving minutes of your meeting and also for the resolution asking the governor to continue me on the commission.

I really believe the governor will appoint someone to succeed me, as it seems too much to give two appointments to one person.

I was in Santa Fe on Saturday, and we had a special meeting of the commission. The seasons for northern Eddy county were revised. Mr. Barker did not have the recommendations from you and neither did I, so we went ahead the best we could. The new regulations are, in substance, as follows:

The fishing season for game fish in Eddy county to be June 1 to the last day of February, except Lake McMillan shall be open during April from the dam to Corbin Canyon and Clark Lake will be open March 1 to September 1. The Pecos river will be open all year from Dayton bridge north to Santa Rosa.

I am very sorry that we did not have your recommendations. It was necessary that we make the new regulations immediately in order that we might advertise for bids for printing the new licenses and have the licenses printed before the opening of the season.

Sincerely yours,
J. B. MCGHEE

THREE TICKETS ARE FILED IN THE SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION

Lively interest has developed in the school trustee election to be held Tuesday, February 14th. It was learned that three tickets had been filed with the City clerk, including a ticket with the names of the two members of the school board, whose terms expire, Fred Cole and Mrs. V. L. Gates. Two board members are to be elected from the three tickets filed. New candidates nominated include Hollis Watson and Lewis Story, Chas. Rogers and S. E. Barnett. It is understood that the retiring board members, Fred Cole and Mrs. Gates do not wish to be reelected, but have made no statement as to whether they would accept, if elected.

SCHOOL CLOSED WED. P. M.

All city schools were closed yesterday afternoon on account of the extreme cold weather. Today the high school and central are holding regular classes, but school has been dismissed at Junior high.

BREAKS HIP

Mrs. Elizabeth Cooper, mother of Mrs. C. R. Blocker had the misfortune to fall and break her hip while out in the back yard Tuesday morning. The injuries sustained are regarded as serious, but the condition of the patient is reported satisfactory.

SWAP-BARTER DAY TO BE INAUGURATED HERE ON SATURDAY

First Of Series Of Trades Days To Be Inaugurated Here On 11th—The Farmers Are Invited To Bring Produce, Etc.

Saturday will be a trade and swap day for the farmers and ranchers of this section. Those who have anything to swap or sell about the farm or ranch are invited to bring it to Artesia and place it on the vacant lot at the corner of Second and Main, across the street from the Corner Drug Store. J. M. Jackson who is sponsoring the move has arranged to be on the lot all day. Mr. Jackson has also provided a pen for livestock, in the event farmers have horses, cattle, mules or other animals to sell or trade. The services of an auctioneer has been secured and an auction sale will be conducted from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. A reasonable fee will be charged for all articles auctioned.

Arrangements have been made to hold the trades and swap day the second and fourth Saturdays of each month, if the farmers and others interested will co-operate. Other communities have tried out the barter and swap plan and have found the plan very successful. A cooperative plan of this sort can be made very profitable to all concerned since it is less expensive than the individual sale. We hope that the farmers and others having produce, livestock or other things to sell, swap or barter will take advantage of this first trades day and bring in the things you want to dispose of.

Included in the articles usually brought to the trades day are horses, mules, milk cows, stock cows, chickens, turkeys, household goods, farm implements, farm produce or what have you.

WAR ON RABIES

A United States Biological Survey representative went to Lovington yesterday to aid county officials in combating an epidemic of rabies that has broken out among coyotes in western Eddy county.

Oren Beatty, agricultural agent, appealed to the United States biological survey for co-operation and was informed S. C. Rogers, assistant leader for New Mexico would be sent here immediately from Albuquerque.

Several rabie-infected coyotes have been killed and it was feared the epidemic might spread to domestic animals.

Rogers will place poisoned bait throughout a wide area in a campaign to exterminate coyote packs.

ABANDONED CAR FOUND

An abandoned Ford sedan bearing a Texas license plate was found east of the railroad tracks by local officers Friday. The car was placed in storage but it had not been claimed by the owner, the first of the week.

LAKE ARTHUR SQUAD TO MEET ARTESIA AT CENTRAL GYM

The Artesia quintette won over Hagerman here Tuesday night in easy fashion by a score of 29-15. The game was played during the coldest weather of the year, which probably slowed action down somewhat.

Friday night at the Central gym, the Bulldogs have another home game with the Lake Arthur lads. Lake Arthur this year has the strongest team in three years and has a comfortable margin in the winning column, having defeated all valley squads met except Carlsbad. Friday evening's contest should be fast and interesting.

HOUSE PASSES THE FORECLOSURE BILL

SANTA FE—A parliamentary tangle on house bill 133 yesterday snarled procedure in the house and delayed progress for half an hour, but the measure was passed 43-5. The bill related to redemption of real property sold under any judgment or decree of court and provides a two year moratorium for mortgage payment with six per cent interest.

COLD WEATHER STOPS DRILLING OPERATIONS

So far as known, all drilling wells in the oil area over the southeastern part of the state are shut down due to the cold weather. No new locations nor new producers were reported at the weekly scout meeting here yesterday.

LANNING-WOODS TO ERECT DWELLINGS—ONE BEING BUILT

Two new homes will be added to Artesia shortly. Construction has been started on a brick veneer dwelling of Steve Lanning east of the State Oil Service building on East Main street. The building will be one story, thirty-two by thirty-one feet with a garage thirty by ten feet on the south. The building will have a metal roof and will be modern in every respect. W. E. Ragsdale is the contractor. J. O. Wood has also purchased a lot in the Kissinger Ragsdale addition in the west part of town and plans to construct a three room frame dwelling on the lot. Work on the latter residence will start soon, it was said.

RELIGIOUS CENSUS TO BE MADE OF THE COMMUNITY SOON

The ministers of the community are planning to conduct a religious census of Artesia in the near future with the idea in mind to see that no family in the community is overlooked in the church ministrations.

Since it is the custom of most churches to change pastors frequently, it is impossible for a new pastor to become acquainted with the complexion of his constituency in any other way.

The territory will be appointed to the cooperative churches, whose representatives will call at each home seeking the desired information.

It is earnestly hoped that the public will appreciate the fact that this is an honest effort by the churches to make themselves more valuable to the city and that the questions asked are necessary to accomplish this aim. Sympathy, and cooperation will be very much appreciated.

TAXPAYERS WANT 25 PERCENT REDUCTION PROPERTY VALUATION

The Eddy county commissioners have agreed to seek a twenty-five per cent cut in property valuations another year. Members of the Eddy county tax payers association meeting with the commissioners at Carlsbad Monday demanded a twenty-five per cent cut in property valuations and the elimination of other expenses to the county. The commissioners requested R. H. Westaway assessor to reduce taxes. Mr. Westaway will confer with the commissioners, who will later act as a board of equalization. The final authority of setting valuations is up to the state tax commission. Albert Blake of Artesia and C. W. Beaman of Loving were appointed as a committee from the tax payers to aid in the work. In seeking ways to cut expenses, it is probable that the county commissioners will be asked to eliminate the office of county agent and further reduce the salary of the county health officer and eliminate some of the court house deputies. Some counties over the state are planning to cut school terms short another year and it is possible that Eddy county schools will be reduced to a term of six months unless tax payments improve.

ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE SATURDAY

Saturday officers raided the premises of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Smith, who live at the Thomas camp in north Artesia and confiscated two gallons of liquor. When arraigned at justice court, bonds for the defendants were set at $350.00 each which they failed to make and the case was bound over to the district court.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE IN EDDY CO. NETS OVER $550.00

Baron James V. Auriemma, financial ambassador for the Salvation Army announced Tuesday that army subscriptions secured here totaled $231.10. Eddy county contributed $586.20 to the army in the recent drive, the subscriptions were divided as follows: Carlsbad, $243.00; Artesia, $231.10 and Loving $112.10. Baron Auriemma was gratified with the amount of the subscription list which under present conditions is regarded as a splendid record. The army last year took care of several cases from Eddy county, four or five of these being from Artesia.

Baron Auriemma went from here to Lordsburg, where he will solicit funds for the army for the next few days.

Mrs. B. B. Thigpen went to Portales Monday to spend a couple of weeks with her daughter and family, going up with her son-in-law, Ben Dunn, who was making a business trip to Elida.

Agricultural Loans Now Available To Farmers

Application Blanks May Be Here Today — No Limit To Amount Of Loans If Good Security Is Given.

Finances for farm owners and farmers who operate large farms will be available immediately, it was announced here this morning. Frank B. Jones, manager of the El Paso branch of the regional agricultural corporation spent part of yesterday and last night here going over the rules and regulations of the new loans with the loan committee. These loans are designed for the farmer in "the higher bracket." Under the agricultural loan there is no limit to the amount of money a farmer may borrow, provided good security can be given. Money borrowed can be used to pay taxes and small debts, above what may be needed to make a crop this year. Crops, implements and even farms may be used as security, it was explained.

A local loan committee consisting of Col. A. T. Woods, chairman; J. E. Robertson, C. E. Mann, J. H. Myers and M. W. Evans has been appointed to pass on the loans. Application blanks are expected at the First National Bank today. Similar set ups have been made at Carlsbad and Roswell. A field inspector for the Pecos valley will likely be appointed within the next few days.

Through the efforts of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce and others, the Pecos valley district was placed in the El Paso branch, so that loans could be made available immediately to the irrigated district in the southern part of the state. Under any other arrangement the loans to large farmers might not have been available before another year.

Borrowers can use the amount of the loan for the following purposes: irrigation costs, taxes, seed, fertilizer, feed, labor, repairs, fuel oil for tractors, spraying materials and incidental expenses. Borrowers are encouraged to receive the sum of the loan in installments throughout the season. Farmers can only borrow money through one branch of the agricultural credit corporation. If loans are applied for through the agricultural credit corporation, a farmer can not borrow through the seed and crop loan organization.

LIKE THE HORSE

If anything could forcibly illustrate the law of diminishing returns resulting from increasing costs beyond a reasonable figure, the three-cent letter postage has turned the trick.

Postal revenue has been lost which will never be regained from the same class of mail, for the simple reason that the public has devised ways to use third-class mail instead of first.

The same thing will take place with gasoline. As gas taxes are shoved up beyond reasonable figures, smaller cars will be used, or larger cars will be used less, and the volume sold will diminish, thereby producing less revenue for the state.

The same thing will take place with property. Beyond a certain point, the owner cannot pay taxes. When that day comes, he will let the city, county or state take it and the tax rolls will be flooded with unsalable property, and the tax deficits will mount.

The public is no different than the horse. You can lead the horse to water, but you can't make him drink. You can tax the public beyond its ability to pay, but you can't make it pay.

The political subdivisions of this nation, from the smallest hamlet to the federal government, should readjust the tax bill and public expenditures to fit the ability of the people to pay.

The papers are filled with reports of meetings of tax experts, state tax commissions and other organizations of "tax spenders" who are in a large measure to blame for the present taxation problems of the people. As advisers on the financial affairs of the people, they have for years taken the easiest course, acquiescing in public demands for extravagant public expenditures without raising their voices in protest or showing where exorbitant spending was leading the people.

Even today, most of the "tax experts," instead of recommending drastic cuts in public expenditures, are hunting ways and means to increase existing taxes or find new methods of taxation.

The same thing is going to happen to every city, county, state and the nation itself, that has happened to millions of families—they are going to have to get along on less money than they thought was possible a year or two ago. Instead of increases in taxes or methods of taxation to balance public deficits, there is going to have to be decreased taxation and decreased public demands on a balanced scale, which will eventually wipe out the deficits.

Families are paying their bills now on reduced income simply by reducing their expenses below their income. Governments will have to do the same thing.

BUY AMERICAN

Our attention has recently been attracted to "Buy American" stickers which are being rather extensively used in many sections at the present time. "Buy American" of course means patronizing American industries. The idea is praiseworthy and should be practiced in good times as well as under conditions not so good, provided of course that it is not carried to the extreme and the world trade stopped, which we think is essential to international commerce and prosperity.

The great middle class of the American people have usually been patriotic in this respect. In boom times as well as in hard times they have been satisfied to use American made products. It was the newly rich, who in the past thought their social standing depended on French perfumes, Rolls Royce cars, imported silks, etc., but have now concluded since losing their "wad" that it is right and proper to patronize home industry and incidentally obtain a few favors in the way of credit.

There are some people who never show their patriotism except when some crisis occurs. This trait of human nature is similar to that exhibited by some people in trying to live the life of a Christian. We once knew an old lady who attended the summer camp meetings regularly. She would shout all over the camp meeting grounds during the time of the meeting, but when the event ceased her religious activities were over for the year. If one did not happen to see her during the time of the meeting you would never know anything about her religion.

MORE POLITICAL PIE

The state tax commission has built up quite a bit of political patronage over the state in the appointment of delinquent tax collectors. According to our source of information it is costing the state $30,340 per year to keep thirteen special tax attorneys in the field.

Salaries paid the attorneys range from $275.00 for J. D. Mell of Albuquerque, a former Roswell resident to $100.00 per month paid J. H. Paxton of Las Cruces and we haven't gotten much results either so far as the collection of delinquent taxes are concerned.

UNSIGNED COMMUNICATIONS

On several occasions we have received unsigned communications relative to matters of public interest. We do not publish or comment on unsigned letters or communications. If the thought expressed is worthy of publication the author should think enough of it to sign his name.

One way to promote a better understanding and closer co-operation among a people of a community is a wider use of practical Christianity, the kind that you can keep seven days a week, in business relations as well as in church worship. Too many people have too much religion and not enough Christianity and as result two codes of living have developed, one for Sunday and one for the week days.

What the people of this section would like to hear from Santa Fe at the present time is less talk of devising new sources of revenue and more effort toward chopping off some of the useless expenditures.

Long tailed coats do not seem as popular as formerly, but they were mighty convenient to pull on when people talked too long.

PICKED UP ON MAIN

Maybe you have seen this one, anyway its an expense account of a fellow who ran for office:

"Lost four months sleep and 20 days canvassing; lost 1,360 hours sleep thinking about the election, lost forty acres of corn and a crop of sweet potatoes; lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in a personal combat with an opponent; donated one beef, four shoats and five sheep to barbecue; gave away two pairs of suspenders, five calico dresses, five dolls, and 13 baby rattles, kissed 126 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; put up eight stoves; cut 14 cords of wood; carried 24 buckets of water; gathered seven wagon loads of corn; pulled 475 bundles of fodder; walked 4,000 miles; shook hands 9,080 times; told 10,000 lies; attended 26 revival meetings; was baptized twice by immersion and once by sprinkling; contributed $50 to foreign missions; made love to nine grass widows; got dog bit 19 times; and got hell beat out of me at the election."

Do you have much trouble in school, Sammy? Quite a lot.

What seems to give you the most trouble? The teacher.

It is said that paper can be used to keep a person warm.

Yes, I can testify to it. The bank holds a 30-day note of mine and its kept me in a sweat for a whole month.

Simp—They say Dame Fortune knocks on every man's door at least once.

Sap—Well, I had a knock but it turned out to be her daughter, Miss Fortune.

Railroad Agent—Here's another farmer who is suing us on account of his cows.

Official—One of our trains has killed them, I suppose?

Agent—No, he claims our trains go so slow that the passengers lean out of the windows and milk his cows as they go by.

Jill—Why did you break off your engagement with that school teacher?

Jack—Well, if I failed to show up any evening, she wanted me to bring a written excuse from my mother.

Judge—How old are you, madam?

Madam—I'm around 20, your honor.

Judge—Yes, I know you are, but how many years is it since you got around it?

We met a man the other day who said he knew of an Indian chief in a Texas town, who got the dope from a circus clown, that a man in Klondike got it straight, from a guy in a South American state, that he had a brother in Timbuctoo who had a brother in Cuba, who's wife's sister's brother's aunt's nephew knew all about technocracy!—Swiped.

The other day we noticed a model T Ford traveling around in circles on the cow pasture pool course and on inquiry, we found that the owner was trying to run down and use up a tank of Earl Bigler's bronze gasoline. The driver explained that he was just teeing around on the golf course to keep the old lizzy from running wild.

And turning to a serious subject, folks do you know that the Artesia welfare board spent more than $720.00 as a pay roll to the needy during the last half of January and this is not counting the money paid out by the city for street work. This ought to bring folks closer together and certainly a greater appreciation for the things that the community has done for the needy. If there is anything that should inspire loyalty to the home institutions and to the home folks, it is this outstanding accomplishment. The financial burden of carrying on our social organization, our schools, churches and other things that make for constructive accomplishment in the community rests largely on the shoulders of our merchants and our business people. The merchant today is struggling to keep his doors open just as the farmer is struggling to stay at his post of duty and the task that confronts the business men to give the same quality of service and the same class of merchandise on an income that has been sharply reduced, is almost superhuman. This circumstance is the more reason for your loyalty and the loyalty of every good citizen. Let's lend every effort to help our business people who are trying to operate a first class establishment.

This beats a horse and buggy and is cheaper, Model T. Ford with 1933 license for $40.00. Artesia Auto Co. 5-1tc

RUTH BRYAN OWEN WRITES LAST WILL OF LAME DUCK

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Representative Ruth Bryan Owen brought outbursts of applause when she read "The Last Will and Testament of the Lame Duck," to a luncheon given in honor of women in congress by the Women's National Press club.

Mrs. Owen said she was inspired to doggerel by Senator Hattie Caraway, also adept at it.

When Mrs. Owen had finished, Representative Florence P. Kahn of California announced she would ask permission to read the "last will" in to the house record and Mrs. Caraway said she was going to place it in the senate record.

Mrs. Owen protested, saying such a procedure was "not dignified," but Mrs. Kahn overrode her reluctance with: "Oh, give the boys a good time before you go. They'll wish they had been smart enough to think of it!"

The verse follows:

To members of the coming session
We leave what's left of the depression
With fifty thousand tomes appended
Telling just how it can be ended.
To congressmen who'll draw our salary
We leave all gunmen in the gallery
All Communists who march and fight
And threaten us with dynamite.
Those stalwart ones may have the honor
Of laying hands upon the bonus—
The currency—to them we hand it
To shrink, contract, or expand it.
We'll let them exercise their talents
On making that that budget balance
And, pointing out, with no delaying
A tax the public won't mind paying.
To make this simple as can be
We leave them technocracy.
To them we're leaving an analysis
Of beer producing no paralysis.
To them we leave, with stifled sob,
All persons who are seeking jobs.
Our pangs of exile 'twill assuage
To know we have no patronage.
To you dear ladies of the press
We leave unfeigned thankfulness.
All you have done to give us pleasure
Are memories we will always treasure
While we roam that vast expanse
Where lame ducks seek their sustenance
When happy days are here again
Please let us know just where and when.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Small Town

What the small town needs in times like these is a chamber of commerce with vision and grit to stick it out. In the main that will mean four or five business men with judgment to keep their own affairs solvent and courage enough to believe that now is the little town's chance. For, with half a dozen live men, or even less, your small town is better off proportionately than the great city can ever hope to be in that regard.

You can say that farm land down to $10 and $15 an acre is a calamity—and so it is to the man who used to lend money on it at $40 and $60 an acre. But for the man who wants to get started as a land owner it is an opportunity of a lifetime. It is so with the little town. When big towns are gasping for breath and taxation is squeezing the life out of business the little town with its low site values, its simple yet adequate facilities, its flexible town plan and admirable health advantages, has something to sell.

To be sure, it is sheer foolishness to ask a small town these days to spend a lot of money trying to get United States Steel to move Pittsburgh to Village Center. But Village Center can be clean, it can be neat, it can have an attractive wayside place of refreshment to inveigle the traveler to stop awhile and dine. It can go partners with larger towns in seeking roads, railway routes and the like. It can help growers make special marketing arrangements with big city hotels, canning plants and so on. It can promote farm progress and home happiness in the lands that lie around about its door. It can promote householders to handsomer gardens, trim lawns and more convenient premises. In short, it can be the very making of a town personality so unmistakable, so individual and so attractive as to win admiration and respect from every beholder. Collective courage is what we need, Chambers of commerce supply it.—The Dallas News.

THIS WOMAN Lost 35 LBS. OF FAT

Miss M. Katner of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Have used Kruschen for the past 4 months and have not only lost 35 pounds but feel so much better in every way. Even for people who don't care to reduce, Kruschen is wonderful to keep the system healthy. I being a nurse should know for I've tried so many things but only Kruschen answered all purposes." (May 12, 1932).

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drugstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

said they obtained "best results" from newspapers; 19 from radio; 10 from circulars; 3 from direct mail.

Circulars, handbills and auto cards annoy four times as many people as read them, the statistics showed, and the annoyance was great enough so that a number of those who answered the questionnaire added notes "There ought to be a law—"

Don't let your newspaper become endangered by harmful or unfair competition. Remember, its your newspaper, after all is said and done, regardless of its operation. If it is properly and adequately supported, your newspaper will not only remain on the job, but give you better service.

Most cities have passed ordinances imposing a prohibitive city license upon those who bootleg merchandise from trucks in unfair competition with legitimate tax-paying merchants. There is no reason why bootleggers of advertising in unfair competition with legitimate tax-paying newspapers should not receive similar treatment.

DISTRESS AFTER MEALS

Relieved By Black-Draught

"I had sour stomach and gas," writes Mr. Jess Higgins, of Dawsonville, Ga., "and often I would have bilious spells. I read about Theford's Black-Draught and began to take it. It relieved me of this trouble. I kept it all the time now. I consider it a fine medicine. I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals when I need it. It helps to prevent sick headache and to keep the system in good order." Get a package at the store. Try it! Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN.

STATE IS NINTH IN U. S. OIL PRODUCTION

Oil fields in New Mexico place the state at the top of the list of oil producing states of the union in daily production per well. In total production, New Mexico stands ninth on the list.

For the support of its institutions, the state has received in oil royalties since 1924, the sum of $1,461,586.74.

And in addition to this great sum from royalties from producing wells, the state in the last four years has received more than twice as much from rentals and leases from state lands held for exploration and development of oil and gas. The amount derived from this latter source was $2,913,207.30.

From Small Beginning
 Royalties were first received by the state in 1924, when the total flowing into the state treasury was on $125.00. Payments for the subsequent years were as follows:

1925	$ 9,759.61
1926	230,601.36
1927	166,553.86
1928	61,581.65
1929	47,190.98
1930	141,226.19
1931	489,233.18
1932	315,314.91

Money From Leases
 Receipts from oil and gas leases for the last four years were as follows:

1929	$975,760.85
1930	978,253.16
1931	894,119.98
1932	565,073.31

Nine fields produced in 1932 a total of 12,344,684 barrels of crude. Of this total the Hobbs field produced 10,191,448 barrels. The average daily production of the 463 wells in the nine fields was 72.85 barrels. California made the nearest approach to this high record with 54.51 barrels per well. Pennsylvania, with a total of 79,871 wells, produced a total only 50,000 barrels greater than New Mexico with an average production per well of only 42 barrels.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wheatley were business visitors at Lubbock, Texas the first of the week.

Misses Frances Johnson and Bly Miller of Hope were shopping and visiting friends here Saturday.

FEED CATTLE DOING WELL
 County Agent Wunsch announced the he has checked the lambs and cattle on feed and all are doing well at least making good gains in weight and not having any losses. G. R. Brainard who is feeding, 640 head a ration of hegarri fodder ground, 3 pounds per lamb per day and 1/4 pound of cottonseed, weighed his lambs Saturday and they were making a daily gain of 4 pound each. Crawford and Smith, who are feeding 3,500 and using alfalfa hay, 2 pounds per day, 1 1/2 of threshed hegarri and 1/10 pound cottonseed each per lamb per day show a gain of .39 pound per day for 60 days now on feed. J. F. Joyce who has 2,000 on feed is using shelled corn 1 pound each per day and 1/4 pound cottonseed meal and 2 pounds alfalfa hay. The lambs made a gain of 4 pounds per lamb per day for the last 30 days.

LEGION BOXING FETE

The boxing match between George Martinez, known as the "Gorillo", of El Paso, Texas and Juan Torrez, formerly of Phoenix, Arizona, was the feature of the athletic program at the American Legion hut on Monday evening following the regular business session. These two boxers in the 150 pound class, put up an excellent exhibition of the pugilistic art, with Martinez getting the decision.

An amusing bout of the card was the match between George Alaniz and Ray Torrez, a couple ten year old lads. Much amusement was also furnished in the three round bout between Jess and Buster Alexander, local colored boys. They mixed it real energetically in real old southern style.

Ross Killian was given the decision over Gene Wehnt in a three round preliminary. These two lads entered in the 125 pound class. Ed Gonzalez fought a draw battle with Felipe Gonzalez in the 135 pound division, while Felix Garcia and Manuel Torrez gave an excellent exhibition in a five round bout in the light-heavyweight class. Both boxers displayed excellent agility and terrific punching ability, although handicapped by the lack of proper platform. The canvas would slip, allowing several hard falls which were unwarranted. Both fighters were sent into the ropes after smashing drives.

St Garber refereed all the matches. A similar athletic card is being arranged for the next meeting.

Justice Influenced by Medicine Man's Opinion

Trial by ordeal, with a cup of poison to determine the guilt or innocence of a person accused of theft, witchcraft or other crime, is still prevalent among certain African tribes. In the hall of African ethnology at Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, are exhibited examples of the poison cup and the poisons used in such trials as practiced by the Ovimbundu people of West Africa.

It is said that the medicine man secretly makes up his own mind in advance of the trial as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, and thus controls the result, mixing his concoction of poisonous herbs to produce the effect he desires to justify a certain verdict either way. If the accused suffers from the poison he is adjudged guilty and is either allowed to die of the poison itself or is beaten to death, according to Willfrid D. Hamby, assistant curator of African ethnology.

If he is innocent this fact is established by his stomach's rejection of the poison, and this may be brought about by the medicine man according to the mixture he administers. This is but one of a number of similar ordeals used in the dispensing of what the African tribesmen must accept as justice.

Dog's Brain Not Unlike That of Average Child
 The dog piles up his knowledge almost wholly by association of ideas, especially pleasurable associations; and this comes very near to a perception of cause and effect, Sir W. Beach Thomas writes, in the Atlantic Monthly.

He can learn up to about 100 words. He can acquire a strong artistic sense—that is, can tell fine shades of black and gray, and distinguish a very round ellipse from a circle. He can distinguish both separate notes and ranges of notes.

His brain matter behaves very much as a child's, especially in shutting off attention from things that bore him by their unintelligibility, and can so concentrate on things that interest him that all the rest of his mind, and indeed, his other senses, are shut down.

The study of the dog's actual brain has given concrete evidence of how like it is to the mind of the child. Though soon the human mind climbs to heights that tower over the dog's attainment, its loss is permanent if it misses the perceptions proper to its doglike infancy.

Eisteddfod Unique
 Over a thousand years have elapsed since King Offa set up his famous dyke for the purpose of keeping the Welsh people in a state of rigid isolation. Offa's dyke still remains. Indeed, in some places it is still of considerable height. But the little race which has been so long confined within its shadows still cherishes its native tongue with an unabating devotion.

The eisteddfod—the oldest of its distinctive institutions—still flourishes under the direction of its archdruid, and has no parallel in any other country on earth.—London Answers.

Jug-Like Hippopotamus
 A huge earthenware jug, shaped like a hippopotamus, was recently discovered on the site of what was once the city of Nuzi in Mesopotamia, and is believed to be at least three thousand five hundred years old. Upon the spot where this relic was found there once existed a thriving community at a very early date. In fact the region has been called the "cradle of civilization." Within the area watered by the rivers, there were fertile farmlands which produced rich crops, and fertile meadows. There were cities, too, in which a thriving commerce was carried on.

Olympic Winners Honored
 While the present-day Olympic games are modeled after the ancient Greek games, there are important differences. The Greek games were really religious festivals, dedicated to Zeus, being manifestations of physical perfection, which the Greeks considered godlike. Therefore, winners of the games became national heroes, their praises were sung by the greatest poets, statues were erected to perpetuate their memory and, in Athens, they were pensioned for life.

Fourteen-Foot Tusk
 What is believed to be the largest tusk of a hairy mammoth ever discovered by modern man has been presented to the natural history division of the British Museum in London. The tusk is nearly 14 feet in length and is in a good state of preservation. It was found in a remote spot in northern Siberia, and given to the department of geology of the natural history division of the museum.

Getting and Giving
 Getting may be the most important thing in life, according to your ideas. Others, however, measure your stature by what you give, not by what you grab. No man is a success who enriches only himself. You succeed only as your success enriches the entire community.—Grit.

EDDY HEALTH NEWS

SCHOOL LUNCHES

The diet of growing children should be a balanced one, rich in protein, carbohydrate and minerals, with a fair amount of bulk.

Good sources of protein are: milk and milk products, eggs, beef, lamb, mutton, veal, liver, chicken and fish.

Carbohydrates will be found in bread, desserts, and stewed fruits.

The mineral properties needed by the body are largely calcium, iron, and phosphorus. Some of the foods rich in these minerals are: Calcium and phosphorus: milk and milk products, spinach, carrots, celery, onions, string beans, leets, asparagus, fresh peas, dried beans, beets, eggs, figs and whole wheat bread. Phosphorus is especially strong in beef, fish, oatmeal, and graham bread. Iron is generously supplied by: lean beef, eggs, greens, potatoes, peas, tomatoes, beans, milk products, figs, raisins, dates, prunes, strawberries, apricots, oatmeal and graham bread.

Foods which are valued for bulk are: apples, oranges, pears, dates, figs, prunes, raisins, asparagus, cabbage, lettuce, celery, string beans, spinach other greens, onions and corn.

The foods for the lunch box can with thought and care be made as balanced, nutritious, appetizing and inviting as a dainty home lunch. It is well to remember that variety, preparation and service of foods go far in alleviating capricious appetites.

In attempting to meet the dietary requirements outlined above, it is suggested that sandwiches given or sold school children meet the following requirements: 1. All sandwiches be made at least every other day from bread other than white—whole wheat, graham, cracked wheat or raisin. 2. Both sides must be buttered. 3. All sandwiches must contain fresh lettuce or tomato, or both. 4. No fried foods can be used as filling of sandwiches. 5. Only mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing to be used as condiment (no pickles, vinegar-relish, pepper, chilli, etc.). 6. Meats to be used: roast beef, lamb, veal, fowl, fish, baked meat loaf, ground cooked meats, grilled bacon, and occasional baked ham or minced ham. (No pork or fried meat cakes.)

Other approved sandwich fillings: 1. Chopped hard boiled eggs with salad dressing. 2. Peanut butter, plain, or combined with raisins, bananas, etc. 3. Cheese, plain or combined with hard boiled egg, ground meats, peanut butter, chopped nuts, etc. 4. Ground nuts combined with ground raisins, prunes, dates, and salad dressing. 5. Jelly or jam. 6. Salmon or tuna fish, plain or combined with hard boiled eggs, or olives, or celery, minced and salad dressing. 7. Grilled bacon, tomato and lettuce. 8. Ground cooked meats raw carrots, celery and salad dressing. 9. Prime filling (1 cup pureed prime pulp, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon orange marmalade). 10. Ground cooked meats (chicken or roast meats) and celery with salad dressing. 11. Cocoa nut, chopped dates, nuts and orange jelly. 12. Cottage cheese and jelly or jam.

STATE PAID IN FEDERAL TAXES SUM OF $370,975

WASHINGTON, D. C. — New Mexico paid a total of $370,975 in taxes of all kinds to the federal government in the calendar year 1932 which was $145,515 less than the state paid the previous year.

A compilation announced by the internal revenue bureau showed New Mexican corporations paid $98,241 in income taxes as compared with $195,346 in 1931, that individuals paid $162,313 as compared with 291,548 making a total income tax collected from New Mexicans of $260,554 as compared with $486,894 the previous year.

New Mexico felt the added burdens of the billion dollar tax bill the same as the rest of the nation and it was reflected in miscellaneous tax collections in which group is included the new taxes levied last summer. The state paid $110,421 in miscellaneous taxes as compared with $29,595 in the previous year.

Now, Tell the Truth--

Isn't it pretty convenient to get up on one of these cold mornings and have a fire simply through the process of turning a valve and striking a match?

Isn't it nice to just turn a faucet and have a plentiful supply of steaming, hot water at an instant's notice?

Isn't it handy to cook by a method which produces instant, even, clean heat?

Isn't it a real improvement over the days when fire-making meant a trip to the woodshed or coal bin and labor and shivering coaxing a few sparks into a fire?

And, honestly, isn't gas heat worth while—especially when it costs no more (and in many instances not as much) as other and cumbersome methods of heating?

In what other commodity will your dollar purchase as much real comfort as in gas heat?

Think it over.

The Last Card

By DUFORD JENNE

MAISIE was certain she recognized him the moment she saw him, quietly studying the crowd that poured into the doors of the great city station.

She felt, for a moment, as if all hope had gone. She had brought her father safely through the net that was closing around him, only at the last to have escape seem impossible.

"Almost free, dad," she said cheerfully, patting his hand. "I know, honey, but I feel as if I ought to return and—take what comes."

"Return? Never! There's just one thing to do, and we are going to do it! You know that Steinert group wrecked your bank, and that if they get their hands on you, you will be the one to suffer. You are not guilty, father, but you know they have you cornered in technicalities so that you will have to suffer. If we can get away, they will have to make good the bank's losses, and then in a year or two we can bring out the truth, perhaps. To return is to play into their hands."

Again she comforted him as she had many times since the dark hour when his supposed friends had wrecked the bank to which he had given a lifetime of devoted care.

"Now look, father. I want you to go on to New York alone—"

"But—"

"Please. I am your guardian now. Go to the hotel we picked out. I'll join you tomorrow, and we'll sail the next day."

"I'll go," he said simply, with the quiet assent of one who has ceased to plan for himself.

"And now, Mr. Detective, here is where I play my last card with you," she said to herself. "I know you were sent here to catch us. I saw you with those lawyers."

She went swiftly toward the tall form she had seen.

"Can you tell me if the 7:15 west has pulled out?" she asked.

"I am sorry, but they just closed the gates," he said with interest.

"I wonder what the next train will be?" she asked.

"I don't know," he answered readily. "But we can find out."

With a glow of triumph she followed him to the information window, where they learned that the next train was at eleven o'clock.

At her cry of dismay, he spoke quickly. "You're out of luck, and so am I. I've got to meet every train from the east until midnight. And I'm as hungry as the traditional bear. What do you say we hustle over and punish the viands?" he said smiling.

"I am with you," she answered heartily, almost ready to do a little dance at the success of her scheme.

They settled themselves comfortably at a secluded table, and he ordered a small feast with skill and anticipation.

She had been able to get a mere glimpse of him at the conference in her father's home, and she knew he had not seen her. Her intention to flirt with him died soon. His gray, fine eyes, clean-cut manly face in some way or other made it impossible for her to try such tactics.

The repast appeared, and as they disposed of it they chatted. She kept her eye on the clock, and saw the hands creep around the minutes to the moment when the express would bear her father away to the safety of a mighty city where one could lose himself as if in an unpeopled solitude.

He leaned back. "Hang it, I wish I knew where a certain chap is—"

"Do you?" she said mildly.

"You bet," he answered. "I'm a cub lawyer in the office of Mixer & Browne. A bunch of high flyers in finance wrecked a bank up country. President is a fine chap, and they got him in a bad fix, no fault of his, where they could jail him and grab his bank. He trusted 'em too much. Best thing about it is, one of them got sore on the rest, gave out the whole story, and Mixer telephoned me to rush down to the station and see if I could catch Harns, the president, who had tried to get away. Don't blame him a bit. Best thing he could have done. They traced him to the four o'clock train . . . why, what is the matter. Don't you—"

"You mean the truth has come out! That—that—you mean President Harns will not be prosecuted?" she gasped.

"He stared at her. "Sure! One of the gang—but what it is—"

"He is my father," she said brokenly—and then told him the whole story.

As she finished, he leaned over and patted her hand. "This is a queer situation, but you played your last card in great shape. Miss Harns—and to be honest, I'm glad you did." His gray eyes were smiling and gentle. "Now, I suggest we send a telegram to his hotel—make him sleep better tonight, you know, and we'll go to the best show in town. What do you say?"

Thrilled with the sudden change of the dark clouds to silver, she tried to speak but failed, so she nodded; and he seemed to find the nod very satisfactory.

Indian Arrowheads

The bureau of American ethnology says that there is no way of associating arrowheads with tribes. The points vary in size according to the purpose for which they are intended. Arrows used for birds and other small game were tipped with small points and those for larger game called for larger points. Each tribe had a great variety of forms.

Depicts World War

The panoramic painting of the World war is 402 feet long and 45 feet high. It was painted by 28 French artists with the assistance of more than 100 other artists, under the direction of Pierre Carrier-Belleuse and Auguste-Francois Gouget. It contains 6,000 life size portraits of World war heroes and leaders.

Hemlock Poison

The hemlock drunk by Socrates was the poison hemlock, a perennial European plant belonging to the parsley family. The roots produce a powerful narcotic and is referred to by Macbeth when he says: "Were such things here, as we do speak about, or have we eaten on the insane root, that takes the reason prisoner."

LET'S COOPERATE IN THIS COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE AND MAKE IT WORTHWHILE

The Comforts of the American Home

It is a well-known fact, home for home, the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation.

In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities.

In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the radio, the vacuum cleaner, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless labor-saving appliances.

There is a well kept look about residence, store or outbuildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content.

Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how this condition was brought about?

It is largely due to advertising. And a big share of the credit belongs to newspaper advertising.

Stop and think how many of the foods you eat, the things you wear and other articles entering into your every day life, you first heard of thru newspaper advertisements.

You will then realize what a part they do play, or should play, in your daily life.

Read the advertisements regularly and thoroughly, if you are not already doing so. They mean more to you than you can tell.

THE FAMILY NEXT DOOR

Cow Venerated

Two thousand years before Christ the moon was identified in Egypt as the cow-headed goddess, Hathor, with the moon between her horns. Hathor watched the fertility of the fields. The Nile was likened to a cow. Its fertilizing waters were likened to milk. Yearly at the beginning of the river's rise, the cow was paraded at the festival of Osiris.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Indian Wampum

John Fitzpatrick says that wampum was made "of a comparatively rare shell of great beauty, which was pierced longitudinally and strung upon deerskin thongs. These strings were woven into bands or belts, and the size of the belt was generally proportioned to what the Indians considered the significance of the occasion."—Washington Star.

Administering Medicine

Never trust to memory in giving doses of medicine. Read the label at least three times and if you are not sure the dose is correctly measured, throw it away, rinse the glass with cold water and measure over again. You may save a life by being careful when measuring medicines.

Philosophers

The founders of modern philosophy are Bacon and Descartes. Among the greatest modern philosophers are Hegel, Kant, Hebart, Lotze, Nietzsche, Schopenhauer, Herbert Spencer, Darwin, John Stuart Mill, Locke, Hume, Cousin, Voltaire, Bergson, Jonathan Edwards, Emerson, William James, Dewey and George Santayana.

Observation

When a woman buys a bargain she is so sure that she has done well that she shows it immediately to all her friends. But when she requires a husband he has to be taken off on a honeymoon to be looked over and polished up before being displayed to the public at large.—Kansas City Times.

Decorative Maps

Seventeenth century Colonists made use of the map as a decorative feature, though except in the case of the "emblazoned" ones advertised by the cartographer, they were unconscious of its decorative possibilities. The map hung from rollers in their main rooms.

Washington Relic

The lower denture of George Washington's false teeth is in the London hospital. The other denture is in Baltimore. The teeth are still white and show the signature of the dentist, Greenwood. Washington paid $60 for them, February 20, 1795.

Jordan River

The bed of the Jordan river is below sea level in Palestine. From Lake Huleh, which is a few feet above sea level, the river falls nearly 700 feet to Lake Tiberias, and from that point to the Dead sea it falls about 600 feet.

Ancient Constitution

The first written constitution in the history of the United States was an instrument known as the Fundamental Orders, uniting the towns of Hartford, Windsor and Wethersfield in Connecticut into a republic.

Fame

Were not this desire of fame very strong, the difficulty of obtaining it, and the danger of losing it when obtained, would be sufficient to deter a man from so vain a pursuit.—Joseph Addison.

LOST PET DOG IS RECOVERED AFTER A 100 MILE DRIVE FRI.

A modern sleuth coupe was enacted here last week when Mrs. John Lanning recovered the family pet, a small dog, which had been the property of the family for about a month. The return of the dog was made with speed and after a drive of a hundred miles to a ranch house in the Cap Rock section was made.

Full details as to how trace of the dog was first obtained was not learned by an Advocate reporter, but according to a story told of the incident, the dog strayed from home last Thursday and was in front of the Pageway stage depot when a stage arrived, on which Adam Zimmerman a Cap Rock rancher was a passenger. Mr. Zimmerman it was said immediately took a fancy to the dog and probably laboring under the impression that the little dog was a stray, proceeded to appropriate the animal. It was only a short time after the dog was missed until a trace of him was found. The name of the man taking the dog and his address was learned and on the following day, Friday, Mrs. Lanning accompanied by Mrs. Mount drove over to the Zimmerman ranch and brought the pet home.

THE NEW EVENING CLUB

The New Evening Bridge club met at the Landis Feather home last Tuesday evening with three substitutes, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Linell and Mrs. Aubrey Watson. A covered dish supper preceded the playing.

PICNIC

The members of the P. D. Q. club and a few friends had a picnic in the country south of town last Friday immediately after school. Club members and friends enjoying the outing were Meses Laura Elizabeth Bullock, Agnes Ann Williams, Virginia Woods, Pauline Clayton, Kitty Flint, Catherine Cogdell, Nelle Jackson, Inez Knowles, Velma French, June Carper, Lorita Hill and Laura Belle McCaw.

IDLEWHILES BRIDGE CLUB

The Idlewhiles Bridge club met with Mrs. Fred Brainard Tuesday afternoon. The customary light refreshments were served by the hostess.

CONTRACT STUDY CLUB

The Contract Study club had its regular meeting and covered dish luncheon at the home of Mrs. Ray Bartlett on Monday. Mrs. John Lanning substituted.

The Abnormis Sapiens and the Miercolas Bridge clubs, scheduled for yesterday afternoon, were postponed on account of the weather.

The Last Card

By DUFORD JENNE

MAISIE was certain she recognized him the moment she saw him, quietly studying the crowd that poured into the doors of the great city station.

She felt, for a moment, as if all hope had gone. She had brought her father safely through the net that was closing around him, only at the last to have escape seem impossible.

"Almost free, dad," she said cheerfully, patting his hand.

"I know, honey, but I feel as if I ought to return and—take what comes."

"Return? Never! There's just one thing to do, and we are going to do it! You know that Steinert group wrecked your bank, and that if they get their hands on you, you will be the one to suffer. You are not guilty, father, but you know they have you cornered in technicalities so that you will have to suffer. If we can get away, they will have to make good the bank's losses, and then in a year or two we can bring out the truth, perhaps. To return is to play into their hands."

Again she comforted him as she had many times since the dark hour when his supposed friends had wrecked the bank to which he had given a lifetime of devoted care.

"Now look, father. I want you to go on to New York alone—"

"But—"

"Please. I am your guardian now. Go to the hotel we picked out. I'll join you tomorrow, and we'll sail the next day."

"I'll go," he said simply, with the quiet assent of one who has ceased to plan for himself.

"And now, Mr. Detective, here is where I play my last card with you," she said to herself. "I know you were sent here to catch us. I saw you with those lawyers."

She went swiftly toward the tall form she had seen.

"Can you tell me if the 7:15 west has pulled out?" she asked.

"I am sorry, but they just closed the gates," he said with interest.

"I wonder what the next train will be?" she asked.

"I don't know," he answered readily. "But we can find out."

With a glow of triumph she followed him to the information window, where they learned that the next train was at eleven o'clock.

"At her cry of dismay, he spoke quickly. 'You're out of luck, and so am I. I've got to meet every train from the east until midnight. And I'm as hungry as the traditional bear. What do you say we hustle over and punish the vands?' he said smiling.

"I am with you!" she answered heartily, almost ready to do a little dance at the success of her scheme.

They settled themselves comfortably at a secluded table, and he ordered a small feast with skill and anticipation.

She had been able to get a mere glimpse of him at the conference in her father's home, and she knew he had not seen her. Her intention to flirt with him died soon. His gray, fine eyes, clean-cut manly face in some way or other made it impossible for her to try such tactics.

The repast appeared, and as they disposed of it they chatted. She kept her eye on the clock, and saw the hands creep around the minutes to the moment when the express would bear her father away to the safety of a mighty city where one could lose himself as if in an unpeopled solitude.

He leaned back. "Hang it, I wish I knew where a certain chap is—"

"Do you?" she said mildly.

"You bet," he answered. "I'm a cub lawyer in the office of Mixer & Browne. A bunch of high flyers in finance wrecked a bank up country. President is a fine chap, and they got him in a bad fix, no fault of his, where they could jail him and grab his bank. He trusted 'em too much. Best thing about it is, one of them got sore on the rest, gave out the whole story, and Mixer telephoned me to rush down to the station and see if I could catch Harns, the president, who had tried to get away. Don't blame him a bit. Best thing he could have done. They traced him to the four o'clock train . . . why, what is the matter. Don't you—"

"You mean the truth has come out! That—that—you mean President Harns will not be prosecuted?" she gasped.

He stared at her. "Sure! One of the gang—but what it is—"

"He is my father," she said brokenly—and then told him the whole story.

As she finished, he leaned over and patted her hand. "This is a queer situation, but you played your last card in great shape, Miss Harns—and to be honest, I'm glad you did." His gray eyes were smiling and gentle. "Now, I suggest we send a telegram to his hotel—make him sleep better tonight, you know, and we'll go to the best show in town. What do you say?"

Thrilled with the sudden change of the dark clouds to silver, she tried to speak but failed, so she nodded; and he seemed to find the nod very satisfactory.

EDNA PUCKETT CARNIVAL QUEEN

Miss Edna Puckett, student in Abilene Christian College, and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Puckett, was crowned the football queen, at the annual Kitten Club Carnival held last week in Abilene, Texas. She occupied the throne in company with the king, Wilford Cooper.

This is an annual event which is participated in by the Abilene Christian college, Simmons University, McMurry college, Abilene high school, and the Abilene Christian academy.—Carlsbad Current Argus.

STATE SCHOOL BILL SAVED

SANTA FE—The New Mexico senate yesterday re-committed a resolution which would authorize consolidation of state educational institutions to a standing committee which had reported it out unfavorably.

The state and county affairs presented the adverse report on the measure, but Chairman Clarence Vogel's motion for adoption of the committee report was amended and the resolution thus saved from action that is tantamount to permanent discard.

Indian Arrowheads

The bureau of American ethnology says that there is no way of associating arrowheads with tribes. The points vary in size according to the purpose for which they are intended. Arrows used for birds and other small game were tipped with small points and those for larger game called for larger points. Each tribe had a great variety of forms.

Depicts World War

The panoramic painting of the World war is 402 feet long and 45 feet high. It was painted by 28 French artists with the assistance of more than 100 other artists, under the direction of Pierre Carrier-Belleuse and Auguste-Francois Gouget. It contains 6,000 life size portraits of World war heroes and leaders.

Hemlock Poison

The hemlock drunk by Socrates was the poison hemlock, a perennial European plant belonging to the parsley family. The roots produce a powerful narcotic and is referred to by Macbeth when he says: "Were such things here, as we do speak about, or have we eaten on the insane root, that takes the reason prisoner."

LET'S COOPERATE IN THIS COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE AND MAKE IT WORTHWHILE

The Comforts of the American Home

It is a well-known fact, home for home, the American household has more comforts and conveniences than that of any other nation.

In foreign lands the modernized dwelling is found only in the better sections of the larger cities.

In America, even in remote rural districts, you find the radio, the vacuum cleaner, washing machines, up-to-date heating systems, telephones and numberless labor-saving appliances.

There is a well kept look about residence, store or outbuildings with an atmosphere of prosperity and content.

Did you ever stop to realize why this is so; how this condition was brought about?

It is largely due to advertising. And a big share of the credit belongs to newspaper advertising.

Stop and think how many of the foods you eat, the things you wear and other articles entering into your every day life, you first heard of thru newspaper advertisements.

You will then realize what a part they do play, or should play, in your daily life.

Read the advertisements regularly and thoroughly, if you are not already doing so. They mean more to you than you can tell.

MARKETS

New York Cotton
NEW YORK.—A more favorable view of Washington reports regarding farm relief proposals and claims of a better tone in the cotton goods markets, were considered largely responsible for further rallies in cotton here yesterday.

May contracts sold up to 6.22 or 12 points net higher and 37 points above the low level of Monday but demand then tapered off and there was reaction under realizing and local selling. May was selling around 6.16 in the mid-afternoon market with active months generally showing net gains of about 6 to 7 points.

The cotton market ceased late in the day under southern selling futures closing barely steady, 1 lower to 1 higher; March 5.97 to 98; May 6.10; July 6.22-28; Oct. 6.43-44; Dec. 6.50; Jan. 6.61-62. Spot quiet; midling 6.05.

Kansas City Livestock
KANSAS CITY—Close: cattle 2-500; calves 300; fed steers uneven, steady to 15 cents higher; several loads heavy weights late no more than steady; early bulk fed steers 4.25-5.05; light yearlings and she stock generally 10-15c higher; bulk cows 2.15-2.50; stockers steady.

TAXPAYERS TO PRESENT IDEAS TO LEGISLATURE
SANTA FE — Arguments for economy and tax reform in accord with their conclusions will be presented by members of the State Federation of Taxpayers' Associations at a joint session of the senate and house shortly.

A request for permission for delegates from its membership to meet with the legislators at a joint session has been made by the federation to the house and senate.

Both branches assented to the conference, which is to be arranged at the earliest convenient date all concerned.

Cow Venerated

Two thousand years before Christ the moon was identified in Egypt as the cow-headed goddess, Hathor, with the moon between her horns. Hathor watched the fertility of the fields. The Nile was likened to a cow. Its fertilizing waters were likened to milk. Yearly at the beginning of the river's rise, the cow was paraded at the festival of Osiris—Hoard's Dairyman.

Indian Wampum

John Fitzpatrick says that wampum was made "of a comparatively rare shell of great beauty, which was pierced longitudinally and strung upon deerskin thongs. LOST PET DOG IS RECOVERED AFTER A 100 MILE DRIVE FRI.

A modern sleuth coupe was enacted here last week when Mrs. John Lanning recovered the family pet, a small dog, which had been the property of the family for about a month. The return of the dog was made with speed and after a drive of a hundred miles to a ranch house in the Cap Rock section was made.

Full details as to how trace of the dog was first obtained was not learned by an Advocate reporter, but according to a story told of the incident, the dog strayed from home last Thursday and was in front of the Pageway stage depot when a stage arrived, on which Adam Zimmerman a Cap Rock rancher was a passenger. Mr. Zimmerman it was said immediately took a fancy to the dog and probably laboring under the impression that the little dog was a stray, proceeded to appropriate the animal. It was only a short time after the dog was missed until a trace of him was found. The name of the man taking the dog and his address was learned and on the following day, Friday, Mrs. Lanning accompanied by Mrs. Mount drove over to the Zimmerman ranch and brought the pet home.

GOOD CORN SEED BRINGS BIG YIELD

New Mexico farmers are beginning to inquire more for seed corn just now than for any other crop seed, says G. R. Quesenberry of the New Mexico State College. They know more about corn, yet neglect it. Corn is one of the easiest crops to improve yet farmers let each year slip by without saving selected seed.

It is very fortunate that this problem concerns so many farmers and seedmen as it gives them an opportunity to locate and plant seed of better adapted, higher producing strains.

Only a few years ago it was difficult to interest seed dealers in certified seed but today the demand is almost wholly for this seed and many farmers are getting to where they demand, when buying, a certain strain of certified seed corn.

In looking over New Mexico fields, it will be seen that one-fourth of the fields, or more, have blank spaces or stalks without ears and a few more places with mere nubbins. Farmers are cultivating ten acres of land to raise seven acres of corn. This condition results, first from poor germination. Corn germinating 75% can not possibly grow over three-fourths the plants intended for any acreage; second, on account of diseased kernels, weak, spindling plants with no ears or mere nubbins are produced. This condition can be overcome to a large extent, though not entirely, by buying carefully selected seed corn. Through the use of strong seed of an adapted, certified variety, free from disease, any farmer can grow from 50% to 100% above the average for his country.

In most parts of New Mexico there is some known variety that does well. Plant the best seed you can get of this variety. If you do not have a satisfactory local variety, get a certified variety grown under similar conditions. It will more than likely do well in your section but it is never desirable to move corn very many miles north or south or from a humid to a dry section, or the reverse.

THE 20 AMENDMENTS

SNAKES AND MICE SPICE ROSWELL LIQUOR

Rattlesnakes and field mice and occasionally a pack rat have been used to flavor corn liquor which has been consumed in this community, officers revealed recently.

Three of the stills captured recently from bootleggers who have done considerable business in Roswell were opened and what should be found but a large rattlesnake, several pack rats and a number of common field mice.

These reptiles and varmints were well cooked and boiled and had done their part to bring delicious flavor and perhaps an added "kick" to the liquor.

Opening of other stills might bring even additional revelations, officers said.—Roswell Dispatch.

$20,000 OF AID ALLOTMENT USED

Through 28 New Mexico counties had received allotments, only $20,022 of the state's first loan of $90,800 from the federal government for indigent relief has been used on January 15, Governor Arthur Seligman said Friday.

Three counties—Catron, Santa Fe and Union—had made no requests for aid.

The largest amount, $3,470, was disbursed to Bernalillo county. Others receiving more than $1,000 were Chaves, $1,659; Otero, $1,118; San Miguel, $1,172; and Valencia, $1,362.

Smallest amounts requested were by Taos, which received $18.85, and De Baca, $19.12

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER FOR WOOL PRICES

SAN ANGELO.—Refusals of offers of preshearing advances from representatives of Boston wool houses by West Texas ranchmen reflect a growing belief among growers that wool prices are due for a rise this spring.

Some advances are being made upon a consignment basis, strictly, however, and some wool buyers are feeling about to see what prices the ranchmen will take in advance for their wools.

Draper and Company recently bought 13,000 pounds of 1932 wool from Arthur Broome and 6,000 pounds from Bill Fretag of San Angelo at 14 cents a pound.

"The 1933 wool clip will be better than last year as it promises to have greater length of staple," said Joe Blakoney, wool buyer for Hallowell Jones and Donald of Boston.

Account statements soon to be received by growers consigning to the National Wool Marketing Corporation last year are expected to report about $34,000 due to Texas-growers. This would mean 4 cents a pound above advances made last year, according to E. O. Oglesby, chief of operations in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

"The cooperative has adopted the policy of keeping the grower informed on the status of his clip," he said, "and from now on each clip will be marketed before the succeeding clip arrives. Advances made in Texas on 12-months wool last spring averaged from 8 to 9 cents a pound."

Oglesby pointed out the apparent good future of wool in 1933 and said imports for 1931 were 118,000,000 pounds while in 1932 they were only 39,000,000 pounds.

Wool on hand in Boston today would cost 31 cents a pound clean, plus a tariff of 34 cents, or 65 cent a pound. Thus the country's wool market is yet 10 to 15 per cent below importing parity, Oglesby said.

The Panacea Habit For years there was great demand for so-called panaceas—cures for all ills—that brought no real relief but built habits for their use. The cure really depended upon the vitality of the patient. Some have regarded credit as a panacea—a cure for all business ills . . . one dose calling for another. It is not a cure-all; business must have vitality and soundness to maintain efficient operation. Credit helps business; yet unsound credit will as surely ruin business. STEWART STRESSES GARDENS IN A TALK AT COTTONWOOD

The Farm garden is an important and profitable enterprise. It has been said that the man who farms to make money will fail but the man who farms to make a living will make money. It should be the aim of every farmer to produce a living on the farm and a good farm garden is very important in accomplishing this, said H. C. Stewart, extension horticulturist, at a meeting of the Cottonwood extension club held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Reed.

The 24 ladies and the few men present showed great interest in the discussion. It was shown by actual figures taken from results secured the past three years that the farmer could get over a dollar an hour returns from his labor when spent in the garden.

Manure is imperative in the production of a good garden. Mr. Stewart thinks it is almost impossible to put too much manure on the garden plot if it is put on early and the plot well irrigated so that decomposition can take place. Five to ten loads on a quarter of an acre is not too much. It should be turned under into the soil six to ten inches.

Emphasis was placed on good seed, early planting of the cool weather crops, a spring and a fall garden, planting in beds 12 to 18 inches wide and irrigating in the furrows between the beds. For best results water should never touch the growing vegetables. Make a plan of the garden on paper before planting and figure out just the amount and kind of each crop you expect to grow. Purchase your seeds early in order to get the desired variety and quality seed. The seed house always sell their best seeds first. The strain and variety are more important than the locality from which the seeds come as the majority of the seedmen buy from the same localized area where certain crop seeds are produced.

A planting calendar has been prepared by Mr. Stewart and W. A. Wunsch for Eddy county. This and other information can be secured from Mr. Wunsch's office.

VALLEY GEOLOGISTS JOIN A WEEK-END SURVEY NEAR EL PASO

Four Pecos Valley geologists joined other representatives of leading oil companies operating in New Mexico and West Texas in a two-day geological survey of the El Paso region during the week-end.

Formations are being studied with a view of correlating structures in the El Paso district with those of known oil and potash fields of west Texas and New Mexico. Officials here said some companies were planning to follow this survey with a more complete study and mapping of the area, but the possible results of the study were not made known.

Saturday morning the geologists made surveys of structures and contacts on the east slope of the Franklin mountains, under the direction of Dr. H. E. Quinn of El Paso, member of the Texas College of Mines geology department.

Studies of fossil locations being investigated by Prof. L. A. Nelson, head of the College of Mines paleontology department, were made Saturday afternoon. Sunday the geologists were taken to the Hueco mountains by Prof. Berte R. Haigh, also of the Mines geology department. Formations from early ages to the most recent times are well exposed in the Huecos, Haigh said, and afford an excellent study of the earth's structure.

No Substitute for the Newspaper

Albert Aronson, Managing Editor of the Louisville Times, Says:

"Two factors make newspaper advertising supreme. By usage and custom newspaper columns are the recognized, centralized guide for shoppers and buyers. The second factor in their value as mediums of buying information is their all-year-around, every day availability.

"Advertising, in the accepted sense, would cease to exist without newspapers, because all other forms of advertising are supplementary. The newspaper is a vital part of advertising, but newspapers have and would again live without advertising.

"Just as there is no substitute for newspapers, there is no substitute for newspaper advertising.

"The value of newspaper advertising is in direct ratio to the value of newspapers. And who is there who doubts newspapers are a necessity?"

OVER 1,000 CATTLE REPORTED STOLEN

The wanton butchering of both beef cattle and sheep on the ranges and on farm pastures is the worst seen in eastern New Mexico since statehood according to information from various sources on the east side of the state. Thieves appear to be operating along the eastern tier of counties near the state line and have killed more than 1,000 head of cattle in the past few months in addition to heavy losses suffered by sheepmen. The common practice is to butcher the animal near where it is shot and take only the hind quarters, leaving the remainder of the meat for the vultures. The thieves make no discrimination it is said between steer or heifer cattle or between the registered or ordinary cattle. The majority of losses in this section have been centered in Lea county, where some stockmen have sustained heavy losses. Dairymen in some sections of the valley have also suffered.

Representatives of more than 100 cattlemen in Chaves and Lea counties have prepared to ask Governor Seligman for aid in stopping the wholesale thefts. Early information says that the Cattle Sanitary Board will be asked to place one or two men in Lea county to track down the thieves and that a vigilance committee will be formed among the cattlemen unless other remedies are found to check the practice. Extensive inquiry made among the local cattlemen and livestock men of western Lea county indicates that no loss has been suffered to speak of. Judging from reports the biggest loss is evidently confined to the territory bordering the state line.

NO CONSOLIDATIONS OF NEW MEXICO SCHOOLS

SANTA FE—The hopper of legislative discard loomed yesterday for the only measure yet presented this session which would authorize consolidations among New Mexico's educational institutions. Senator Clarence F. Vogel, (D., McKinley), said his committee on state and county affairs yesterday afternoon was to tender an unfavorable report on the proposal, SJR4, fathered by Sen. S. A. Jones, (D., Curry).

The committee decided, Senator Vogel said, that the present is not the time for consideration of such consolidatory action. An adverse committee report has the effect of eliminating a measure from further consideration.

Trouble for Heirs in Over-Supply of Wills

Mention was made in a recent lawsuit arising out of a will of the fact that the testator had made nine last wills and testaments.

This seems a fairly large number, but it is by no means a record. One woman made a dozen wills within a few years and on the death of a former duke of Sutherland it was found that he had left no fewer than 92 wills behind him.

But if the man who makes a number of different wills may complicate matters for the beneficiaries, the man who makes only one can sometimes do so just as effectively.

"Oh, must we go down that hill and take that ferry?" grumbled the wife, mopping her perspiring face.

"Listen, dearie," suggested the husband, "if you say the word, I'll walk right down that hill, jump in to that river and drown, and refrain from annoying you any more."

Taxicabbing to the Marne

Paris taxicab drivers performed their feat of carrying an army to the front in the first days of September, 1914, when thousands of taxicabs were impressed into army service by order of General Gallieni, the military governor of the Paris district, at the time when the Germans were nearest the capital. The cabs were employed to rush General Maunoury's forces to the front to take part in what became the first battle of the Marne, back and forth the taxicab brigade rushed, each cab carrying five soldiers and the driver. In one trip this impromptu transport service carried 20,000 men to Meaux.

Musical Conducting

Wagner founded modern conducting, writes Richard Capell in the London Daily Mail. He wrote a little book on the subject which is nearly all a raging denunciation of bad conductors, but which lays down two principles: The conductor's business is (1) to establish the right tempo and (2) to bring out the melody. He also said, "I do not beat the time, for that would make for a stiff performance—I describe it in the air." These sayings really embrace almost the whole matter.

"Hung" Is Not Hanged

All bandits are "hung" in Manchuria! But it is not the result of a police or judicial efficiency. It is merely because the word for bandits in the Manchurian dialect is "hung tuitze."

The derivation of this name is of interest. Translated literally, it means "red-beard" and was first applied to the bands of marauding Russians who used to pillage the border towns in the Eighteenth century. The term was later applied to all bandits.

Spectaculum to Spectacles

Artificial aids to the sight were invented by Roger Bacon, the great Thirteenth-century scientist and philosopher, and others) at a time when Latin was the universal language of all science and scholarship. Hence it was natural that the invention should be given Latin name. Spectaculum, something seen or looked at, was the name selected—"spectacle," a show or pageant, coming from the same source. Spectaculum later developed into the now familiar "spectacles."

CARLSBAD SQUAD WHIPS BULLDOGS BY SCORE OF 29 TO 17

Carlsbad was able to retain its reputation as the strong team of the valley by defeating the Artesia Bulldogs here Friday evening at the Central gym. Incidentally this is the first time the Carlsbad basketball team has been able to win from Artesia in the past five years. The locals were able to make a strong finish in Friday's game, but could never overcome the commanding lead Carlsbad made in the first half which ended 21-9 for Carlsbad. Ballard making his first appearance for Artesia in the regular lineup showed up well and accounted for four points. Pope of Carlsbad led his team mates in scoring with eleven points.
