ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, MARCH 9, 1933

NUMBER 10

Eight Month School Term Likely Here This Year

Will Close Local Schools On April 19th If Other Boards Agree — Only Eight Months Term In Prospect Next Year.

The Artesia schools will likely be closed this year at the end of an eight months' term Superintendent W. E. Kerr said yesterday morning. The situation was discussed at a meeting of the Artesia board of education Tuesday evening and the board decided that cutting the school term to eight months would be a wise step in view of the present financial situation, provided the school boards over the county concurred in this view. If the other school boards approve the Artesia schools will be closed on April 19th.

At a meeting of the various boards of education with the county board at Carlsbad last Friday, it was the consensus of opinion that it would be feasible to cut both this year and next year school terms to eight months. The matter, however, was left up to the individual boards and if the majority of them approve and it is believed they will, then the school terms at Carlsbad, Hope, Artesia and also the rural schools will close in April. A final decision will be made at Carlsbad next Friday.

It was revealed that the various boards of education were behind with last year's expenses a total of one and three-tenths months or about $16,000. The prospects are that the county would be three months behind or approximately $45,000 in debt at the beginning of next year, provided the tax payments were made in the same ratio and at the end of next year's school term, the county would be seven months behind. It was this situation that caused the board to decide to cut the school term to eight months, although it will be another year before the reduction affects the amount of taxes paid.

The scholastic year in Eddy county will consist of eight months this year.

This was decided upon at a meeting of the county board of education Friday afternoon at the office of County Superintendent H. R. Rodgers, at the court house, says the Carlsbad Current-Argus.

This extended period over what had been considered as a very uncertain matter was made possible by the advance payment of practically $5,200 by the United States Potash company which occurred Friday. This amount may be added to later by a similar payment by the Santa Fe Railroad but the authorities felt that a complete eight months term was satisfactory enough and closed the consideration at that figure.

CHAIN STORE TAX BILL PASSES

SANTA FE, SB124, the occupational tax based on gross receipts, called the "chain store tax" bill, last night was signed by the governor.

This followed a futile effort by the senate to recall the measure, which resulted in a 12 to 12 tie. Lieut. Gov. Hockenbush cast the deciding vote which left the bill in the governor's hands.

FRIDAY — SATURDAY CLEAN-UP DAYS WITH CITY CO-OPERATING

City Manager George Frisch, has notified us that the city will co-operate in a clean up campaign over Artesia to be inaugurated tomorrow morning and lasting through Saturday. The city will furnish a truck to haul all garbage and trash from the alleys of the residential district. Residents are requested to pile the trash in the alley, where it will be gathered by the city truck.

This is a worthy move and should have the co-operation of every resident. It costs only a little effort to join in the clean-up move. Let's make Artesia a cleaner and better community.

THE CITY OFFICIALS WON'T ISSUE SCRIP AT PRESENT TIME

City officials and merchants do not contemplate the issuance of scrip as a medium of exchange, at the present time it was said yesterday morning. Business men believe that the national financial situation will be cleaned up within the next few days. In the event it does not, then the issuance of scrip will be considered.

The greatest problem at the present moment is providing work for the needy. The number of needy has apparently increased. Sixty-three made application for groceries here yesterday morning. Welfare and city officials are wondering how the problem of keeping employment for the needy will be solved with diminishing funds and an increasing number wanting work.

FARM HOLIDAY ASS'N CALLS STATE WIDE MEET AT PORTALES

We have received the following communication from the New Mexico Farm Holiday Association at Portales:

One of the largest gatherings of citizens ever known in New Mexico will be in Portales, March 17th and 18th, for the purpose of a general election, to elect permanent state officers of the New Mexico Farm Holiday Association. Delegates will attend from every county in the state and have an equal voice in selecting permanent state executives for the association.

Arrangements are being planned by Portales hotels to care for a large attendance. Many farmers and ranchmen are arranging room in their homes for delegates. A welcome committee has been appointed to receive all guests and see that each guest can secure comfortable lodging for at least two days.

The general business of the association will begin Friday, March 17th, at the district court room in Portales, adjourning at 6:00 p. m. until the following morning, Saturday March 18th at 9:00 a. m., then continuing in session until 1:00 p. m. at which time there will be speaking from prominent national officials, including Milo Reno, national president of the association, John A. Simpson, national president of the Farmers Union of America. The governor has been invited, also all senators and county representatives. Everybody is invited to attend the meeting whether a member of the Farm Holiday Association or not, and familiarize themselves with the constructive program of relief to American citizens.

FIFTEEN BLOCKS OF STREETS SURFACED HERE IN PROGRAM

The ground work has been laid for permanent street improvement in a large portion of the residential district, in the event the street improvement is completed in the future. The work which has been carried on here in the last few months with the City of Artesia and the welfare board cooperating has furnished employment for a number of needy families. Fifteen blocks have been surveyed, graded and surfaced with a six inch course of caliche and gravel. This is in addition to filling materials applied to sink holes in several other streets. The streets where the six inch course of caliche and gravel have been applied are in a condition to be finished with a two inch coat of sand and gravel mixed with asphalt oil. This would give the streets thus improved the same surface as applied to the oiled highways built by the state highway department.

City funds for the street improvement have been exhausted and unless other arrangements are made the work will be discontinued. It is understood that the highway department may be able to give some of the local labor employment on the highways in this vicinity.

SHIPS OUT LAMBS

H. D. Bunting of Hope shipped out three cars of lambs to the Kansas market Tuesday.

TWO NEW LOCATIONS MADE IN OIL AREA EDDY WELL FINISHED

Western Drilling Co., To Drill Green No. 2 — Texas Co., Makes Location Eunice Area In Lea County

The southeastern oil sector has experienced its normal activity the past week, notwithstanding the entrance of many factors which would ordinarily constrain development. Two new locations, a completion in the Artesia field and a proration gauge on a producer in the Hobbs field are classed as the outstanding developments for the period.

Of immediate interest is the new location of the Western Drilling Co., in eastern Eddy county, known as the No. 2 Green in the SW NE sec. 29-17-29. This well located in the gas area will be drilled for gas. The Texas Co., has also staked a location for its 3-A Lynch in the NE sec. 34-20-34, Eunice area, Lea county.

Wells added to the production column the last ten days include the State No. 65 of the F. W. & Y. Oil Co., in the SE sec. 30-18-38. The well drilled to a depth of 1,946 feet was shot with sixty quarts from 1,917 to 1,929 feet and responded by cleaning itself. Estimated production is 50 barrels daily.

The State No. 29 of the Stanolind Oil and Gas Co., 660 feet from the south line and 1,980 feet from the east line, sec. 4-19-38, was given a proration gauge through a two inch tubing and flowed at the rate of 1,230 barrels of oil with 1,802,000 feet of gas. The State No. 29 did not respond to an open flow. No proration gauge was obtained on the State C-4, of the Teas Co., sec. 25-18-37, completed last week.

Stored Oil Less
Oil in storage showed a decided drop the past week. Refiners of the United States contracted their operations to an extent measured by a decline of 95,000 barrels daily in the use of crude under refiners' stills, the weekly report of the American Petroleum Institute, out Tuesday, indicated.

The cut put operations about evenly in line with demand, slight reductions in both motor fuel and burning oil stocks indicated. Production in the United States was reported down sharply, due to the decreased production in Oklahoma. Other areas showed little change.

SEVERANCE TAX PASSED

Information was received here this morning that the proposed severance tax on oil had passed both houses and was ready for the governor's signature. The bill was passed as an emergency measure, which prohibits submitting it as an issue to the people through a referendum. The only recourse now is a decision of the state supreme court.

TALKS ON ANGOLA

Jack Steel of Roswell with the United States Geological Survey made an interesting talk on the province of Angola in south Africa Tuesday at the luncheon of the Artesia Rotary club. Next week the Artesia Rotary club will hold the annual election of officers.

Supt W. E. Kerr made a five minute talk on "Golf Hole No. 10," or "The Modern Way to Twist a Skunk From a Rabbit Hole."

RESPONSE PLEASING ON OPENING DAY OF COOKING SCHOOL

The opening day of the Safetyway cooking school at the American Legion hall yesterday afternoon was a qualified success from every angle. According to Miss Sansom, director the opening session was the most interesting one of her present tour. Approximately 200 ladies were present to witness the demonstration and many more were turned away unable to find seats. Fifty more seats have been added to the hut in order to accommodate a larger crowd, expected for the school this afternoon.

Tomorrow at the closing session of the school, the preparation of meats will be featured. The school is conducted from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m., and every housewife of this section is cordially invited to attend and bring a pencil and note book to take down the interesting recipes.

THE EDDY MEDICAL SOCIETY TO MEET AT ARTESIA IN APRIL

The Eddy County Medical Society met at the court house in Carlsbad yesterday afternoon.

Dr. O. E. Puckett of Carlsbad was elected president, and Dr. Chester Russell of Artesia, secretary and treasurer. Those present were Drs. Pate, Culpepper, Glazier, Doepf, Ladd Hoover and Rod Hoover of Carlsbad and Drs. C. Russell and C. L. Womack of Artesia.

The next meeting will be held at Artesia in April, the day to be decided upon later. The Chaves County Society and the Lea county doctors will be invited to attend the April meeting.

A number of cases were reported and discussed. The probability of many cases of pellagra during the spring and summer due to the lack of proper food was discussed. It was the opinion of the society that all people should be encouraged to plant early gardens and turnip patches and furnish greens and leafy vegetables to as many as possible, as these foods are rich in pellagra preventing vitamins.

INTERIOR OF LINELL DWELLING IS BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

A three room dwelling belonging to Mrs. Alta Linell and occupied by the Pearl Johnson family, located at 9th and Grand was badly damaged by an early morning fire Tuesday. The fire occurred about 1:00 a. m. and is thought to have originated from a gas heater, located in the kitchen. The heater had evidently been forgotten and had backed up hot water for some distance in an outside pipe. The wall of the kitchen evidently caught near the heater and started the blaze in the kitchen. The fire department arrived and made preparations to fight the blaze just as a coil burst and released the gas, which according to firemen quickly swept through the house. As the fire hose was connected the explosion occurred and burned the wall paper from the front rooms. The flames were quickly extinguished, but not until after they had damaged the interior of the dwelling and had destroyed several pieces of furniture.

Luckily the family made escape before the flames spread beyond the kitchen. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

230 PRAIRIE CHICKENS ARE PLANTED IN AREA

Final planting of prairie chickens for this season will be completed this week by J. Stockley Ligon, game expert of the state game and fish commission, it was announced at Roswell Monday says the Roswell Dispatch.

Mr. Ligon has just completed planting 65 chickens which he has recently trapped near the state line east of Roswell and has 25 more to plant, it was said.

A total of 230 chickens have been planted by Mr. Ligon in various areas adapted to their propagation during the past several weeks. By this means the state game commission hopes to eventually bring the chickens back to such numbers where there will be a general shooting season over all of the eastern portion of the state.

CROP--AGRICULTURE LOANS ARE COMING IN AT RAPID RATE

Agricultural Loan Applications Boosted To 58—Seventeen Crop Loan Applications Are Sent In To Date

The number of applications for crop loans in this section will probably exceed that of last year, it was indicated here this week. Preliminaries connected with starting the loans for final approval were delayed by the failure of application blanks to arrive, but a supply of blanks arrived Thursday and Friday the work of filling out the application blanks was started. R. L. Kyle, field agent for this district said Monday afternoon seventeen applications were completed and sent to the state office and several others were in the process of completion. The First National Bank lobby has been used as a working place, where the applicant may fill out and file his application.

Local committeemen who are assisting in filing the loans include: E. C. Jackson of Lake Arthur, whose territory embraces the southern part of Chaves county and the northern part of Eddy county; C. E. Mann, Artesia; J. H. Bridgman, Hope; W. D. Bales, Carlsbad; Tom Calloway, Loving; Walter Craft, Malaga. These committeemen are in addition to the county committee, composed of O. O. Sewart and W. D. Woods of Carlsbad and Col. A. T. Bales of Artesia, who finally OK the loans.

A number of farmers and stockmen are also taking advantage of the agricultural loans. Two field inspectors, W. E. Flint and Hollis Watson have not been able to keep up with the inspection work, due to the fact that the applications are being filed so rapidly. A total of fifty-eight applications had been filed by this district up to Monday afternoon, W. E. Flint, inspector said and about sixty applications had been filed at Carlsbad and Roswell. The applications for the agricultural loans will average about $1,000 each.

Information received from Carlsbad states that a total of thirty-seven crop loan applications had been approved at Carlsbad up to Tuesday by County Agent W. A. Wunsch. It was found necessary to suspend the process of filing the applications until more blanks could be received. The applications received up to this time at Carlsbad will average $217.00 each for a total of approximately $8,040.00.

Forty-four crop loan applications had been filed up to this morning, Miss Velma Richards, local secretary said. The applications will average in amount approximately $199.00 for a total of $8,760.00.

GOV. WOULD CONTINUE PECOS RIVER COMPACT

Gov. Arthur Seligman has asked the house to favorably consider continuation of the Pecos river compact.

In a special message sent to the house, the governor introduced H. B. 352 calling for approval of the Pecos river compact with Texas. The message explained that such approval would save thousands of dollars in litigation that might arise over distribution of the river's waters.

ELEVEN POISONING COYOTES IN EFFORT TO RID AREA RABIES

A wide spread campaign to prevent an outbreak of rabies among coyotes in southeastern New Mexico got underway the first of the week, according to word from Lovington. The biological survey has mapped out a huge territory, extending from the Texas-New Mexico line west to Dona Ana county and eleven men are at work spreading poison. The area in which the poison has been placed includes the southern part of Lea county, all of Eddy county, part of Chaves county and the greater part of Otero and Dona Ana counties. It is understood that milk from cows infected by the bite of a rabid coyote will cause rabies in persons, who drink it. Many people in southern Lea county have quit drinking milk according to reports until the danger of rabies has passed.

D. J. RUNYAN BADLY HURT WHEN BITTEN BY A VICIOUS DOG

D. J. Runyan, young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Runyan, received an ugly flesh wound Saturday afternoon when bitten by a wolf hound at the Runyan ranch northwest of Artesia. The little fellow it was said had gone out near the house where the dog was eating a rabbit. The dog had grown vicious recently and when the boy approached the animal made a jump, striking the lad on the right side of the face and laying the flesh bare to the nose.

The young fellow was rushed to a Roswell hospital and is recuperating nicely. He lost about a quart of blood by the experience, but the fact that he bled so freely would be a favorable reaction in the event the dog might have developed rabies. Mr. Runyan killed the dog.

LEASE BUYING IS REVIVED BY MAJORS IN ROOSEVELT CO.

There has been a revival of lease buying in Roosevelt county according to word from Clovis. Miscellaneous purchases according to this source of information have resulted from recent magnetometer work.

William D. Morris and C. J. Maxwell of Ft. Worth, the Magnolia and Shell oil companies and others have taken about 30,000 acres of state leases at sales held by the state. The area covered by the purchases includes the greater part of the eastern two-thirds of the county.

Among recent purchases of importance was that of the National Refining company, which included about 2,000 acres of 10-year fee leases on a northwest trend from 7S-38E into 4S-35E.

The disposition of a block of 10,000 acres which was purchased by the Amerada corporation in 4S-35E seven years ago and which expires in December of this year, is of prime importance to those interested in oil activities in eastern New Mexico at this time, oil men said. A meeting of land owners has been held and a proposition which would necessitate a well within a year has been submitted to the company in consideration of an extension on the leases.

RECOVERS TIRE

Officers this week recovered a truck tire stolen from "Shorty" Lindsey last fall. The boys who are alleged to have stolen the tire had fled from the state and no arrests were made.

PENALTIES ON EDDY DELINQUENT TAXES TOTAL $166,805.65

The taxpayers of Eddy county could and would save $166,805.65 if they were to pay up the $499,806.86 that they owe the county and state government in back taxes according to word from Carlsbad.

Of this amount practically $250,000 would go to the schools of the county, making possible a full nine months this year and paying all of the expenses of next year's work.

These figures are not wild conjecture, but are from the careful compilation of Harry Christian, deputy county treasurer.

In making the announcement Mr. Christian said: "In the long run these taxes will have to be paid anyhow, and when the delay is material, the property owners will have to pay all of the cost. Any change in the tax system, in methods or otherwise, will have to apply to future assessments, and can have nothing to do with the amounts now on the rolls.

"The $166,805.65 is the penalties now on the books, none of which are to be paid if the taxpayers settle before the time limit of the moratorium.

Russell Dawson, who had been visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Alf Coll, left to-day for the east. He plans to stop in New York City, before going on to join his parents at Amhurst, Massachusetts.

Resumption Of Banking Is Seen By Tomorrow

The First National Bank Opened Tuesday Operating Under Restrictions — Business About As Usual Over Town

President Roosevelt early today announced that an emergency banking program which will "at once start banking operations throughout the country" will be enacted "immediately" by the special session of congress convening at noon.

"I am gratified at the outlook," the President said. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, senate leader, said that the bill "will result in the opening of a large number of banks on Friday." Details were unannounced, but understood to be centered upon extended issues of federal reserve notes based upon impounded gold.

The First National Bank of Artesia opened for business Tuesday along with other banks of this section operating under restricted orders from William H. Woodin, United States Secretary of Treasury. The First National was closed here Friday by a proclamation issued by Governor Seligman, declaring a four day holiday. A national proclamation was issued Sunday by President Roosevelt lasting through today.

Local bankers have kept the lobby of the bank open throughout the holiday, although the vault was closed until Tuesday morning. Bankers here were noncommittal as to what the program of the national government would be after today. They are hopeful that limited withdrawals will be permitted or that they may be able to issue scrip.

According to regulations issued by Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, banks will be permitted to exercise the following functions. It will be noted that these functions are a little more fully explained than the functions outlined in a telegram sent out by Bank Examiner Bingham, a copy of which is being reproduced by the First National Bank to be found elsewhere in this issue.

Thirteen things the bank may be allowed to do are outlined in a press dispatch from Washington:

- 1—Handle drafts or other documents in connection with shipment, transportation or delivery of food or feed products.
- 2—Accept payment on account of or in settlement of obligations due it by its customers.
- 3—Make change.
- 4—Allow checks drawn on the treasurer of the United States, on the conditions that no gold or gold certificates be paid out.
- 6—Return without restriction all cash, checks and other items delivered for deposit or collection after the last closing of business hours and which have not been entered on the banks' books.

SKIES CLEARING

We can't find anybody who has gotten any particular consolation out of our present nation-wide financial situation, but perhaps some assurance can be gleaned from the fact that the worst has apparently happened and now we are set for recovery. Most of us have gone through experiences in our lives where a bad situation must inevitably be faced and a depressing dread hung over our existence until the thing did actually happen. And the pleasing part of a condition of this sort is that going through with the thing was not as bad as we anticipated. And the same may be said of the nation wide financial condition. Now that we are on bottom, it does not look as bad as when we were looking up.

Most people are in the frame of mind to get cleaned up so that a recovery might start. Previous to the national bank moratorium, folks clung onto the bad investments, hoping that a miracle might happen. Now the possibility has been removed and generally speaking the American people are in a different mood.

We are hopeful that recovery will be speeded because we believe that President Roosevelt, his cabinet and congress are able to arise to the emergency. We remember too that many of the worthwhile accomplishments in past history have been the result of meeting a crisis such as exists today. Some of the greatest scientific inventions and discoveries have come into being through the need of solving a pressing problem. Likewise some of the forward looking steps made in our political history have been executed to meet a crisis such as exists today in our national finances.

The American government is just as strong as the people who compose it. We are not ready to admit that we have lost faith in ourselves and in our neighbors. The only thing to do is to face the facts and bend our energies toward the solution of our present problem.

The skies must start clearing before the storm breaks and now the darkness has disappeared.

ROOSEVELT'S TASK

Practically everybody agrees that the major task facing President Roosevelt aside from stabilizing the bank situation is to reduce expenses and balance the budget, which is very essential to the restoration of confidence. Perhaps you have seen a number of figures with reference to the cost of government, if not the following figures will interest you:

In 1913 the expenditures of the federal government amounted to $749,000,000; by 1928 federal expenditures had risen to $3,644,000,000; and for the year ending June 30, 1933, estimated expenditures will amount to $3,929,000,000.

The total cost of government in the United States—federal, state and local—is now in the neighborhood of $14,000,000,000 a year compared with a cost of less than $3,000,000,000 in 1913. The combined expenditures of federal, state and local governments for each of several years have been approximately as follows:

1913—$ 2,919,000,000.
1923—$ 9,920,000,000.
1925—$11,126,000,000.
1928—$12,609,000,000.
1932—$14,000,000,000. (estimated).

THE REAL TEST

The real test of a man is how he meets adversity. He may be a good performer in fair weather, but a poor sport when things begin to break the wrong way. The reason the American people have been able to come as far as they have under the present crisis without a revolution is because with a few exceptions they possess common sense and have taken a common sense view of the situation. Education of the masses has not enabled us to solve our problem yet, but it has prepared us to meet the depression and adversity better. There are those among us, however, who would lead a stampede with a little encouragement. The bank moratorium has clearly showed us this. In what might be a serious crisis, the old instinct of self preservation pops up in some people and they would ruin the finances of the community to save a few pennies of their own.

SALARIES IN 1928 AND NOW

Do you know how much difference there is in the buying power of the salary you received in 1929 and now, if you are still receiving a salary. One source of information gives the following comparison:

- A $50 salary then was the same as $31.25 now.
- A $75 salary then was the same as $46.86 now.
- A $100 salary then was the same as $62.50 now.
- A $125 salary then was the same as $78.13 now.
- A $150 salary then was the same as $93.75 now.
- A $200 salary then was the same as $133 now.
- A $250 salary then was the same as $164.25 now.

These hindsighters (fellows who have developed a wonderful hindsight) are busy now telling us what should have been done to avoid the present financial condition. The trouble with this sort of advice is that it usually comes six months to two years too late. And here's a tip for the hindsighters and those who have been exercising their tongues overtime in an effort to get an audience, the best financial minds of the country tell us that right now is the time to begin laying a foundation for your financial position of the future. And remember too, that action will speak louder than words in the future.

And now we hear the reason Cutting declined the place in the Roosevelt cabinet was because he did not wish to see Seligman appointed as United States senator. This might be a rumor or it might be inside information, we don't know.

AVERAGE MAN EATS AT LEAST 150 PIECES OF PIE EACH YEAR
The average man in the United States eats at least 150 pieces of pie each year, statisticians tell us. With pies forming an important feature of so many meals, housewives are bound to welcome any improvement in ways of making them.

Miss Amelia Sansom who is conducting the three day session of the Safeway Stores Cooking School, which opened yesterday under the auspices of the Homemakers' Bureau of Safeway Stores, Inc., has given special attention to the making of flaky, crunchy pie crusts. For this purpose, absolute uniformity of shortening is a prime requisite, she finds, and an all-around shortening is essential to give the housewife the best possible results with the least expenditure of effort and time. Miss Sansom uses Jewel shortening, the vegetable product of Swift and Company, and will demonstrate it during the sessions here.

Tomorrow is the last day of the local cooking school.

Two hardware customers were discussing the honesty of a mutual acquaintance. "Straight? Him straight?" exclaimed one of the two scornfully. "Why if you were to give him a handful of nails, they'd turn to screws in his pockets."

PICKED UP ON MAIN

"I'll have none of your lip," said the wisdom tooth.

There be several waiting to be admitted to the bar, if the Volstead act is repealed.

These banking holidays are rightfully named. It gives one the impression that every day is Sunday.

"Your account is five years old. What do you intend to do about it?"

"Do about it? It's old enough to look after itself."

"Your wife seems a contrary sort of woman."

"Contrary? Why, whenever I ask her to darn my socks she knits her brows."

It is rumored from a confidential source that Supt. W. E. Kerr will follow trapping as an avocation as soon as school closes. Supt. Kerr is said to be a very adept pupil in learning the art of twisting rabbits and skunks from holes, although friends admit he does not always have a pleasant aroma after such experiences. In view of a recent experience on the golf course when a skunk used a French sprayer on the superintendent, Mr. Kerr is debating whether or not he will be permitted to return to his home or whether he will find it necessary to camp out.

One reason we never tried to board is because there "ain't a sock on the place fit to put money into for safe keeping. That would be a break for the merchant in most instances.

Some will tell you there isn't much to this trade at home business, but suppose that all of the community change was in the hands of a bunch of fellows who did not trade in Artesia. What would you do for small change? Saturday we spent a half a dollar with a fellow and met this same half dollar on three different occasions the same day. Monday the fellow complained of business being bad and we started an investigation and found a guy trying to hoard this fifty cent piece.

They used to tell us that mail order jewelry was the first thing to turn green in the spring. The Phillips Petroleum station run by bally deer bolton is the greenest thing we've seen after a new coat of green paint and it made us wonder about the connection.

In case some of you fellows have forgotten the old time remedy for the bellyache is castor oil. This disease may become chronic with a few who are worrying for fear of losing a quarter in the present financial holiday. Start out by taking two tablespoonfuls and repeat every two hours until the financial difficulties are forgotten.

Chet Dexter is described as a model hotel host after having had charge of the Artesia hotel over last week-end in the absence of Rufe Wallingford. The only reaction was a slight head ache on the part of a few, but wait, we haven't seen the bill for the broken dishes yet. Chet also wishes to announce that he is about recuperated from the last after dinner speech he made and is ready for another one provided the Mrs. isn't invited.

We need:
A little less pull,
A little more rope,
A little less bull,
A little more hope.

132 MEXICANS ARE ADMITTED TO U. S. DURING JANUARY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Only 132 natives of Mexico received immigration visas for admission into the United States during January, according to figures made available Saturday by the state department.

This makes the average immigration per month for the last seven months 142 as compared with 4,538 per month in the fiscal year 1927-28.

The following table taken from the annual reports of the commission general of immigration, shows the immigration of aliens of Mexican birth into the United States during the first eight fiscal years of the operation of the immigration act of 1924:

Year	Number
1925	50,602
1926	77,162
1928	58,456
1929	39,501
1930	12,352
1931	2,627
1932	1,674

"In analyzing the immigration of Mexicans during January, of 1933," said the state department, "132 visas were issued to natives of Mexico which represented 22.5 per cent of those who applied. In this connection, it may be stated that 77.5 per cent of those who applied for visas during the month, were refused. This does not take into consideration the large numbers of Mexicans, who, recognizing their inability to qualify for admission under the 'likelihood of becoming public charge,' 'illiteracy,' 'contract labor' and other excluding provisions of the law, withheld their requests for visas.

"The problem of new immigration from Mexico through legal channels would, therefore, appear to be solved."

SCRIP MONEY FOR NEW YORK

NEW YORK—Bales of "emergency money," fresh from the engravers lay in the vaults of the New York clearing house Monday night awaiting the official word which would release them to the banks of the metropolis.

The clearing house declined to say how much scrip had been made ready, but the amount was generally estimated at $250,000,000. Mortimer N. Bruckner, president of the association said the certificates were in denominations of $1, $5, $10, $20 and $50. They will be accepted at face value by the member banks.

The Road To Better Health

Few persons reach adult life without having measles, and one attack is usually the limit. In view of these facts many people have the idea that one might just as well expose himself to it and be through with it, as he is bound to get it sooner or later, anyhow.

While measles is not a serious disease we never know what case may terminate fatally. Its general mortality rate is about 5 per cent. Very brief exposure will communicate the disease to others; nor is it necessary to come into close contact with the patient.

More Than "Skin-Deep"
Most people think of measles only in terms of the rash, whereas the disease is much more than skin-deep. The changes in the mucous membrane lining the mouth, nose, eyes, throat and bronchial tubes are just as much a part of the disease as are those of the skin. There is virtually always a marked inflammation of these parts, which causes all the complications and after-effects that go with measles. And the unfortunate part of it is that these complications occur mostly in children under four, who are the least able to cope with them.

The most common complications are broncho-pneumonia, inflammation of the bowels, disease of the ear and membranous croup. The most dangerous of all is, of course, pneumonia—which occurs most often in children under two years of age.

Measles, as a rule, develop gradually, the first symptoms being those of a "cold in the head"—redness of the eye-lids, watering of the eyes, aversion to light, sneezing and "running" of the nose.

This so-called invasion period lasts three or four days, and is followed by the appearance of the rash, which is first seen behind the ears, on the neck, and at the roots of the hair along the forehead. The next day the rash shows up on the face, front of the neck, upper part of the chest, and the back. On the third day the remainder of the trunk is covered and scattered spots appear on the extremities. By the time it has fully covered the limbs it has started to fade from the face, and it continues to fade in the order of its appearance.

Cloud Visibility
The distance at which clouds are visible to the naked eye varies greatly with one's position and the kind of clouds. If one is in an open flat country and the clouds are of the broad stratus or layer type, he may not see them more than 30 to 40 miles away, and even not half so far if the air tends to be misty or hazy. On the other hand, when the air is quite clear a well developed cumulo-nimbus, or thunderstorm, cloud may, under favorable circumstances, be seen when more than 100 miles away.

Wonderful Bird Flights
The bi-annual flight of the chunky bob-o-link across 700 miles of the Caribbean sea is a remarkable performance. It is only matched, perhaps, by those of the larger plover and the tern. The first flies 2,400 miles without a stop from Nova Scotia to South America, while the second commutes between the Arctic and Antarctic ice, making an estimated 22,000 miles a year.

Old Scottish Settlement
The first white settlement at Perth Amboy was made about 1683 at the site of an Indian village called Amboy. The settlers were from Scotland and they named the place Perth, in honor of James, earl of Perth. Soon after the Indian name "Amboy" was added. It was the capital of the province nearly all the time it was held as a colony of Great Britain.

Chinese First in Field
The Chinese were the first to conceive the idea of the printed daily newspaper, according to Doctor Berthold Laufer, curator at the Field Museum, Chicago. There was a paper known as the Peking Gazette which made its appearance 713 A. D., and was issued daily until 1911, when the Manchu dynasty collapsed.

Dandelion Jim

By CLARISSA MACKIE

IT WAS a decided shock for Cornelia Meade when she arrived at the little red prairie station where she had expected her uncle or one of the family to meet her.

"Miss Meade?" he asked pleasantly, and when she bowed he added, "Mr. Fisher was very sorry that he could not come himself but his bad knee has bothered him today and he thought it best to keep it very quiet. Excuse me, please, but I must see to your baggage—if you will give me your checks—thank you."

"Who does he remind me of?" asked Cornelia, and, finding no answer, flushed a little at her odd interest in this cowboy attached to her uncle's ranch. Cornelia Meade rather prided herself on her aloof attitude toward young men—she was simply indifferent to every one of them. Sometimes her thoughts did steal away from her stern keeping and she would remember one summer when they stayed at a farm and she had met a boy—a farmer's lad several years older than herself, who had been the most charming playmate a small girl could have.

There were other children but none of them had the charm that young "Dandelion Jim," as they called him, possessed. Cornelia had never seen him or heard of him again.

"Ready, Miss Meade?" asked the young man's cheery voice, and she turned to find a large motor car in the back of which were her trunks.

He knew how to drive and it was only a half hour's stiff ride, feeling like the wind itself, with no fear of traffic officers, before they entered the wide gates of a comfortable ranch house, with Uncle Paul and Aunt Kathie waving from the broad veranda. She was warmly greeted and then they explained that both the children happened to be away from home for a few days.

"They did not expect you quite so soon, dear, and they will be so disappointed," said Aunt Kathie, "but they will be home at once. Paul did not introduce Jim to Cornelia?" "Jim," she called to Cornelia's driver.

"Yes, Mrs. Fisher," he said smiling, and Aunt Kathie said, "Cornelia, this is one of our best friends. Jimmy Lyons, foreman of the Bar-B ranch."

As Cornelia dressed after her cold bath a week later she thought of the week at the ranch, and her thorough enjoyment of all the sports of that outdoor land.

They were a merry crowd with Dick and Kathie home and Dick's classmate, Jack Hart. There was to be a dance that evening at a nearby ranch, and they were all going, even Jim Lyon confessed that he had considered it. To tell the truth, this announcement made Cornelia very happy, for she was growing to like Jim Lyon more than she would have cared to confess. Little by little she had extracted information from the family—Jim Lyon was really from the East—and he was like one of the family, this extremely good-looking young man, whom all the cowboys called "Dandy," and whom Cornelia had found looking at her from wistful blue eyes when he thought she was not looking.

When they came home together after the dance, Mr. Fisher winked at his wife and murmured: "Wonder what Cornelia's mother would think if the girl married our ranch foreman?"

Aunt Kathie laughed comfortably. "If she knew what we know, Paul, she wouldn't say a word—how could she? Here's Jim—as rich and well educated as any of them, working for us summers because he likes the life—I suppose, though, if he should marry Cornelia, if she would have him, I mean, he would not come back here very often."

"Perhaps they would both come back," said her husband sagely. And the very next day it happened. Cornelia and Jim, riding toward Sweet Springs, dismounted there and rested in the shady spot.

"Please tell me your whole name, Jim," said Cornelia suddenly. "Jim Lyon looked at her with eager blue eyes. "My name is Daniel Donald Lyon, named for two uncles—my nickname has always been Dan D. Lyon."

"I wish it was Dandelion Jim," smiled Cornelia. "Why? Why? Who told you that it used to be that out on Sammie's farm in New Hampshire. And you are the little Cornflower girl—remember? I used to call you that?"

"I remember—I remember—" "And do you remember the old yellow horse with the white nose—" "Old Sorrel? And how I tried to ride him and slipped off of his drooping back? And you caught me—and saved me!" Cornelia's eyes were shining with happy tears. "And you wore a little blue ging-ham dress—like an apron!"

"You remember that?" "I remember everything—down all the years—" and then Cornelia was in Dandelion Jim's arms. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) (WNU Service)

TWO HIGHWAY PROJECTS WERE LET FEB. 28th

Only two of four proposed highway projects were awarded contractors at the February 28th letting, the department announced Thursday, adding the other two prospects had been deferred temporarily.

On project 114-C, for 7.7 miles of grading and drainage construction, the contract went to T. J. Tobin Construction Co., of Albuquerque for $50,199.04. This is on U. S. highway 54-66 in Guadalupe county between Santa Rosa and Cuervo.

Project 176-B, in Dona Ana county between Las Cruces and Alamogordo, the contract went to S. H. Vater of Arrey, N. M. for $33,120.41. It calls for 17.2 miles of plating and crushed rock surfacing.

The projects deferred were 151-A in Bernalillo county on U. S. highway 396, between Albuquerque and Barton, 5.1 miles; and 155-E, in Mora county on U. S. highway 85, between Levy and Bond.

BANKING BILL PASSES NEW MEXICO SENATE

SANTA FE—The senate Friday morning unanimously passed a special bill giving New Mexico banks the right to limit withdrawals. No percentage was named in the bill, which says that the banks shall have the right to limit sums they will pay on demand.

The passage of the bill followed a proclamation issued by Governor Arthur Seligman in which it was ordered that there be a bank holiday from March 3 to March 7 inclusive. The proclamation is not mandatory authorities said, while others claimed that it was, and that it said that no business could be conducted.

After the senate passed the bill, the house started drafting an amendment making it apply to building and loan associations. It is terrible. I've just spent two months copying the signature of a well-known millionaire, and now he's gone bankrupt."

CHICAGO'S FIRST LOCOMOTIVE TO BE EXHIBITED AT FAIR

Contrasting the "Pioneer", first locomotive to run out of Chicago, against the city's most modern engine, the "Class H", the Chicago & North Western Railway will give a vivid picture of almost a hundred years of development in railroading in Chicago in its exhibit in the travel and transport building at "A Century of Progress,"—Chicago's 1933 World's Fair.

Ninety-seven years of railroad history in the middle west and west will be combined in that display, a history starting when the legislature of the state of Illinois authorized the incorporation of the Galena and Chicago Union Railroad, parent road of the present Chicago & North Western Railway System, to "build a railroad out into the prairie country and on towards, if not to, the Mississippi River, near the lead mines at Galena, Illinois and Dubuque, Iowa."

It was not until October 10, 1848, when the "Pioneer" was unloaded in Chicago off the brig "Buffalo" that Chicago saw her first railroad locomotive and 14 days later, October 24, that little engine went into service between Chicago and the Des Plaines River on strap rail.

The exhibit, which is being built by Marshall Field and Co., will have the "Pioneer" as its focal point. Across the back of the space an actual size reproduction of the "Class H" engine will be shown. The "Pioneer", which can be lost in the tender of this locomotive, will occupy space on the floor in front of the tender portion of this reproduction.

The flooring of the exhibit will give the effect of railway tracks. There will be a booth in the front part of the exhibit to disseminate information to the public.

The color treatment of the exhibit will be, for the most part, in harmonizing shades of blue and chromium, while effects on the locomotive and on the "Pioneer" will be achieved by the most scientific methods of lighting.

N. MEX. THREATENED BY DEER OVERPLUS

ALBUQUERQUE—New Mexico has regions more overstocked with deer than the notorious Kaibab region of Arizona, M. E. Musgrave game specialist for the southwestern forest region said following an inspection tour.

In the southern end of the Sacramento mountains deer are so plentiful many of them would have starved to death for lack of grazing ground had the winter not been mild, the game officer said. Other overstocked areas are in the Gila, Apache and Olbola forests. Musgrave recommended a longer open season and an increased bag limit as one means of correcting the condition.

GROWING OLDER

A little more tired at the close of day;
 A little less anxious to have our way;
 A little less ready to scold and blame;
 A little more care for a brother's name.
 And so we are nearing the journey's end,
 Where time and eternity meet and blend.

A little less care for bonds of gold;
 A little more zest for the days of old;
 A broader view and a saner mind;
 A little more love for all mankind.
 And so we are faring adown the way.
 That leads to the gate of a better day.

A little more love for the friends of youth;
 A little less zeal for established truth;
 A little more charity in our views;
 A little less thirst for the daily news.
 And so we are folding our tents
 And passing in silence at close of day.

A little more leisure to sit and dream;
 A little more real the things unseen;
 A little nearer to those ahead,
 With visions of those loved and dead.
 And so we are passing where all must go,
 To the place the living may never know.

A little more laughter, a few more tears
 And we shall have told our increasing years.
 The book is closed and the prayers said,
 And we are part of the countless dead.
 Thrice happy, then, if some soul can say:
 "I live because he has passed my way." — Swiped

HEALTH COLUMN

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

RABBIT FEVER

"Why should chickens and rabbits be included in an ordinance for meat inspection?" I was in conversation with a chance acquaintance on the Santa Fe's famous Chief and the proposed new health code of the city of Albuquerque was the subject of discussion. "What about tularemia?" I said. Although he is in a business which handles large quantities of meat my fellow traveler had never heard of tularemia. Perhaps you have not either?

Tularemia (rabbit fever) is a disease which affects many rabbits but also other animals including man. It has been found in the common sheep, in certain game fowl, in many of the little animals that run in western woods. It has been conveyed to man by the bite of the deer fly. But the greatest danger to us comes from dressing the flesh of wild rabbits.

Beware especially of rabbits when they are sickly and cannot run away rapidly. It is wiser to handle all rabbit meat with rubber gloves and to boil the gloves as soon as you take them off. Cook the meat thoroughly. Thorough cooking kills the germs.

Meat inspectors recognize the disease by a characteristic speckled appearance of the liver and spleen. The disease can be recognized in human beings by a blood test.

The disease was first recognized not so many years ago in the United States. In fact the very first case was reported from Phoenix. Dr. Francis of the United States Public Health Service was first to find the germ. Now the disease is being recognized all over the world. In Sweden the first case was recognized in 1931. Now they are finding as many as five cases in a single house, and in the little town of Lindsberg no less than twenty cases at one time.

EAGLE KILLS ANTELOPE

One of those spectacles of the wild country seldom seen by men, a fight between a golden eagle and its quarry, was witnessed by Will Brownfield, pioneer rancher of Cienega southwest of here.

Brownfield saw the eagle chasing a herd of 12 antelope high up in the Guadalupe mountains.

The bird worried the antelope into fleeing. Each time they would slacken their pace the eagle would swoop down and start them running again.

Mile after mile the antelope ran until finally the weaker ones began to lag. Then the bird pounced down upon one, sank its talons and tore the terrified animal to pieces.

Brownfield said the eagles are a great menace to all wild game in the Guadalupe country.

Dressed for Dinner

By JANE OSBORN

WREN BALDWIN felt a species of self-consciousness as he strode into the boarding house dining room that second night of his residence there, dressed in his tuxedo. He assured himself that there was nothing out of the way in his appearance. No one, of course would know that the reason he was thus formally dressed was because he had but one business suit at present in which, after he had returned from the office a quarter of an hour ago, he had discovered a ripped seam that made it quite necessary to take it to the tailor.

The ten boarders at Mrs. Haven's sat at one long table, and to hide any slight embarrassment Wren began to talk of the weather. As he was talking he noticed that Miss Ames cast preoccupied glances across the table and when she could politely turn her attention from him she looked brightly across and said: "Go!n' out tonight, Miss Drew?"

"Why, no, Miss Ames," said the girl addressed as Miss Drew, "what made you ask that?"

"Then you are expecting company," announced Miss Ames with the familiarity that she seemed to think living under the same boarding house roof permitted. Wren Baldwin eating the watery soup before him felt a surprising twang of jealousy. He had noticed this girl—Miss Drew as they called her—that morning in her trim dark business frock and noticed, too, the lovely gray eyes.

After dinner the boarders adjourned to the boarding house parlor. "I suppose you're going out," said the old woman.

"Oh, to be sure," said Wren, remembering the suit at the tailor's and wondering somehow whether Miss Ames knew of his errand there. "I do have to go out for a few minutes later on."

Then a pleasant man of sixty named Brown approached Wren. "If you weren't going out I'd ask you to make up a table at bridge," he said. "There'd be my wife and I and Miss Drew if we could get a fourth. It's too chilly to go up yet."

"I'll play," said Wren, and then, "only I imagine Miss Drew will have another partner presently."

But apparently Miss Drew had no other partner. The table was opened, Mrs. Brown went upstairs for the cards and the four sat down with Miss Ames constituting an uninvited audience with her chair drawn up between that of Wren and Miss Drew.

So they played, and as they played and no caller arrived for Miss Drew, Wren's jealousy abated, and as it abated his admiration for her increased. All at once he looked at the clock and saw that the hands pointed to half past nine. He happened to be playing dummy at the time, so without much ceremony about it he rose and made some excuse about having to go out for a few minutes. Then seizing his coat and hat in the hall he hurried around the corner to the tailor shop, the terrifying thought that it might at any minute close for the night quickening his steps. Back in the boarding house hall he unlocked his suit under his coat and busied himself with his room, then back to the card table.

"Did you get what you went after?" asked Miss Ames, and Wren with all the nonchalance he could command said that he did. Then when it was eleven and time to go to bed, Mrs. Brown said that it had been a very nice party, and a very dressed-up party, too, she added significantly. Brown took his wife's arm on one side and Miss Ames on the other and started for the stairs. "We old folks will go along and let you youngsters put up the table," he said, almost dragging the unwilling Miss Ames with him.

Then over the table Wren felt that he ought to make an explanation—perhaps a complete confession to begin with would be best. "So that's why I had to hurry out at half-past nine," he finished his explanation. "I would have explained then only that little Miss Ames was so anxious to know."

Miss Drew laughed delightedly. She explained, too. "I'm terribly poor myself," she said, "but before we lost everything I did dress for dinner, and my first position was as a resident social secretary where I was expected to dress. Now I am working in an office, but it seems so dingy here and I just made up my mind that I'd feel a lot more cheerful if I dressed as long as I have the old evening dress on hand." Their hands met as they were folding the card table cover.

"Please dress again tomorrow night," said Miss Drew. "Just so Miss Ames won't suspect you had a special reason."

"I'll dress for dinner every night," said Wren. "If you want me to I will give the boarders something to talk about."

But before many months had passed the boarders had more than that to talk about. Wren and Miss Drew were married and went to live in an inexpensive little apartment a few blocks away—where they didn't dress for dinner.

ASSASSINS BULLET FATAL TO CERMACK

A bullet intended for President Roosevelt brought death to Mayor Anton J. Cermack of Chicago in a hospital at Miami, Florida Monday and about ten hours later Giuseppe Zangara, the assassin, was indicted for first degree murder.

The mayor died at 6:57 a. m. (EST) after 19 days of suffering with the wound and many complications it caused. Almost immediately the Dade county grand jury met and began hearing testimony on which it based the murder indictment returned about 5:00 p. m.

An autopsy fixed the cause of Cermack's death as gangrene of the right lung which was punctured by the bullet, causing a collapse. "This induced pneumonia and lung abscess, which ended in dry gangrene. This condition caused a failing of the heart, bringing death," the post mortem report said.

Although jailors would not confirm whether Zangara had been informed of Cermack's death, it was learned from a reliable source that the assassin had been told and showed no concern. He was quoted as saying: "me no care, it was fault of that woman beside me." Zangara has said a woman struck his arm causing him to miss his aim at Mr. Roosevelt.

NEW CHEVROLET TO BE DISPLAYED HERE ON NEXT SATURDAY

Directly on the heels of the most successful new car program since 1929, the Chevrolet Motor Co., announced today that a companion car to the present series, to be called the "Standard Six" Chevrolet and priced considerably below the present range, would be shown throughout the nation Saturday.

About fifteen thousand of the new models will have been built and dispatched to Chevrolet dealers for a simultaneous national showing, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, stated.

The new "Standard Six" is built for business use and for that group of private car owners who want a car without the deluxe features of extra long wheelbase of the present Chevrolet Master Six, he stated. He emphasized that the new line would offer the lowest-priced, full-size, six-cylinder enclosed models the industry has yet seen—and would be ideal for severe utility use.

A new and slightly smaller Chevrolet has been rumored in trade circles periodically since April of 1932, a circumstance which Mr. Knudsen attributed to the fact that the new line of cars has been under development for two years. It will be a quality line throughout, machined to the same close limits as the present Chevrolet and built of the same raw materials, although it will have a slightly shorter wheelbase and will lack some of the features and improvements of the present master six line.

In bringing out the new car, Mr. Knudsen said his company is simply producing a supplementary line which will open up new markets and further entrench the company in its position of leadership. He added that he expects the standard six to account for about one-fourth of the company's total production and sales in 1933.

SOCKO!

FARMERS (and this interests you merchants too) you really got it put to you in our Senate yesterday. Senate Bill 90 which puts a five cent per gallon tax on the distillates and tractor fuels that you have been using was passed. So that you may know the facts concerning those behind the bill and the despicable way in which it was put over this add is written.

The real framer of this bill and who worked incessantly for its passage was Dudley Cornell of Albuquerque who is the attorney for and representative of an Association who call themselves the Code of ETHICS, comprising practically, if not all of the major oil companies operating in the state. We also have information to the effect that the dominating company in this associations activities in this state is the Continental Oil Company. So much for the framers.

The writer of this went to Santa Fe to help Senator Jackson prepare amendments to the bill that would properly protect the farmers. An amendment was drawn that not only gave more protection to the state but actually widened the scope of fuel for taxable purposes that would be non-taxable the way it was passed Senator Jackson offered the amendment and a majority of the members immediately invoked the gag rule and would not permit him to argue the point. The amendment was tabled and lost. On the third trial Jackson got mad, and folks, he really got them told in a way that you would all heartily approve. The motion and amendment carried by one vote. And right then the dirty work started.

Bedlam had come to the Senate. Backers of the bill and administration men were running wildly about trying to undue the work. The writer was on the Senate floor at Senator Jackson's request furnishing technical information and helping frame the amendments. As a last resort the backers pointed me out as a gasoline "bootlegger" stating that I had beat the State out of fabulous amounts; that the only persons objecting to the bill were the "bootleggers" and that I was framing the amendments for that end. Dudley Cornell admitted to me that by inference he gave that information. Those low down, libellous statements by the major company representative had the desired effect. The bill was recalled for consideration and passed without the amendment. That, folks is the way in which it was done and shows the end to which they will go.

There is no use cursing anyone mentioned here—that was well taken care of and there is a lot of unfinished business in that connection.

The proper way for you to show your appreciation of what was done to you is to patronize those that were responsible for the "Sock" they gave you.

There is a lot more I can tell you but it is in words the newspaper cannot print.

Come down and get a square deal.

Dressed for Dinner

By JANE OSBORN

WREN BALDWIN felt a species of self-consciousness as he strode into the boarding house dining room that second night of his residence there, dressed in his tuxedo. He assured himself that there was nothing out of the way in his appearance. No one, of course would know that the reason he was thus formally dressed was because he had but one business suit at present in which, after he had returned from the office a quarter of an hour ago, he had discovered a ripped seam that made it quite necessary to take it to the tailor.

The ten boarders at Mrs. Haven's sat at one long table, and to hide any slight embarrassment Wren began to talk of the weather.

As he was talking he noticed that Miss Ames cast preoccupied glances across the table and when she could politely turn her attention from him she looked brightly across and said: "Go in tonight, Miss Drew?"

"Why, no, Miss Ames," said the girl addressed as Miss Drew. "What made you ask that?"

"Then you are expecting company," announced Miss Ames with the familiarity that she seemed to think living under the same boarding house roof permitted. Wren Baldwin eating the watery soup before him felt a surprising twang of jealousy. He had noticed this girl—Miss Drew as they called her—that morning in her trim dark business frock and noticed, too, the lovely gray eyes.

After dinner the boarders adjourned to the boarding house parlor.

"I suppose you're going out," said the old woman.

"Oh, to be sure," said Wren, remembering the suit at the tailor's and wondering somehow whether Miss Ames knew of his errand there. "I do have to go out for a few minutes later on."

Then a pleasant man of sixty named Brown approached Wren.

"If you weren't going out I'd ask you to make up a table at bridge," he said. "There'd be my wife and I and Miss Drew if we could get a fourth. It's too chilly to go up yet."

"I'll play," said Wren, and then, "only I imagine Miss Drew will have another partner presently."

But apparently Miss Drew had no other partner. The table was opened, Mrs. Brown went upstairs for the cards and the four sat down with Miss Ames constituting an uninvited audience with her chair drawn up between that of Wren and Miss Drew.

So they played, and as they played and no caller arrived for Miss Drew, Wren's jealousy abated, and as it abated his admiration for her increased. All at once he looked at the clock and saw that the hands pointed to half past nine. He happened to be playing dummy at the time, so without much ceremony about it he rose and made some excuse about having to go out for a few minutes. Then seizing his coat and hat in the hall he hurried around the corner to the tailor shop, the terrifying thought that it might at any minute close for the night quickening his steps. Back in the boarding house hall he tucked his suit under his coat and hastened to his room, then back to the card table.

"Did you get what you went after?" asked Miss Ames, and Wren with all the nonchalance he could command said that he did. Then when it was eleven and time to go to bed, Mrs. Brown said that it had been a very nice party, and a very dressed-up party, too, she added significantly. Brown took his wife's arm on one side and Miss Ames on the other and started for the stairs. "We old folks will go along and let you youngsters put up the table," he said, almost dragging the unwilling Miss Ames with him.

Then over the table Wren felt that he ought to make an explanation—perhaps a complete confession to begin with would be best.

"So that's why I had to hurry out at half-past nine," he finished his explanation. "I would have explained then only that little Miss Ames was so anxious to know."

Miss Drew laughed delightedly. She explained, too. "I'm terribly poor myself," she said, "but before we lost everything I did dress for dinner, and my first position was as a resident social secretary where I was expected to dress. Now I am working in an office, but it seems so dingy here and I just made up my mind that I'd feel a lot more cheerful if I dressed as long as I have the old evening dress on hand." Their hands met as they were folding the card table cover.

"Please dress again tomorrow night," said Miss Drew. "Just so Miss Ames won't suspect you had a special reason."

"I'll dress for dinner every night," said Wren. "If you want me to, I will give the boarders something to talk about."

But before many months had passed the boarders had more than that to talk about. Wren and Miss Drew were married and went to live in an inexpensive little apartment a few blocks away—where they didn't dress for dinner.

ASSASSINS BULLET FATAL TO CERMACK

A bullet intended for President Roosevelt brought death to Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago in a hospital at Miami, Florida Monday and about ten hours later Giuseppe Zangara, the assassin, was indicted for first degree murder.

The mayor died at 6:57 a. m. (EST) after 19 days of suffering with the wound and many complications it caused. Almost immediately the Dade county grand jury met and began hearing testimony on which it based the murder indictment returned about 5:00 p. m.

An autopsy fixed the cause of Cermak's death as gangrene of the right lung which was punctured by the bullet, causing a collapse. "This induced pneumonia and lung abscess, which ended in dry gangrene. This condition caused a failing of the heart, bringing death," the post mortem report said.

Although jailors would not confirm whether Zangara had been informed of Cermak's death, it was learned from a reliable source that the assassin had been told and showed no concern. He was quoted as saying: "me no care, it was fault of that woman beside me." Zangara has said a woman struck his arm causing him to miss his aim at Mr. Roosevelt.

NEW CHEVROLET TO BE DISPLAYED HERE ON NEXT SATURDAY

Directly on the heels of the most successful new car program since 1929, the Chevrolet Motor Co., announced today that a companion car to the present series, to be called the "Standard Six" Chevrolet and priced considerably below the present range, would be shown throughout the nation Saturday.

About fifteen thousand of the new models will have been built and dispatched to Chevrolet dealers for a simultaneous national showing, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, stated.

The new "Standard Six" is built for business use and for that group of private car owners who want a car without the deluxe features of extra long wheelbase of the present Chevrolet Master Six, he stated. He emphasized that the new line would offer the lowest-priced, full-size, six-cylinder enclosed models the industry has yet seen—and would be ideal for severe utility use.

A new and slightly smaller Chevrolet has been rumored in trade circles periodically since April of 1932, a circumstance which Mr. Knudsen attributed to the fact that the new line of cars has been under development for two years. It will be a quality line throughout, machined to the same close limits as the present Chevrolet and built of the same raw materials, although it will have a slightly shorter wheelbase and will lack some of the features and improvements of the present master six line.

In bringing out the new car, Mr. Knudsen said his company is simply producing a supplementary line which will open up new markets and further entrench the company in its position of leadership. He added that he expects the standard six to account for about one-fourth of the company's total production and sales in 1933.

CARLSBAD WINS DIST. BASKET TITLE--LEA TEAMS FINISH GOOD

Carlsbad high school ran true to form to win the championship of the annual fifth district high school basketball tournament, ending at Roswell Saturday night. Carlsbad defeated the Dexter five 22 to 12. The upset of the tournament was the splendid showing made by two Lea county teams, Hobbs and Lovington, who fought it out for consolation honors, Hobbs winning by a score of 29 to 27.

The results by games were as follows: Dexter defeated Hagerman in the first game of the tourney, Hope drew a bye; Lovington drew a bye; Roswell defeated Tatum; Artesia drew a bye; Arthur drew a bye and so did Carlsbad; In the second round of the tourney Dexter defeated Hope; Lovington defeated Roswell; Hobbs defeated Artesia; Carlsbad defeated Lake Arthur to go into the finals and win the championship.

In other districts over the state the winners by districts were: District 1—Raton 28, Clayton 20; District 2—Las Vegas 19, Santa Fe Indians 18; District 3—Albuquerque (Menaul) 20, Albuquerque Bulldogs 19; District 4—Las Cruces 32, Anthony 19; District 6—Rogers 37, Clovis 29; District 7—Tucumcari 31, Forrest 28; District 8—Corona 36, Willard 18.

The battling teams were never separated more than two points until the last few minutes of play when Hobbs rang up four quick baskets. The final score was Hobbs 27, Artesia 20. Spivey was the out standing man for Artesia. Deaton showed up well for Hobbs.

Country of Hot Springs

No country in the world is so blessed with mineral hot springs as Japan. Just how many there are in the empire is not exactly known, but 951 hot springs and 155 cold springs are of sufficient importance to be listed—many of them possess radio activity. Several hot springs spas are situated near the principal cities, in the midst of beautiful mountain or river scenery, thus combining climatic with medicinal benefits.

Water Collected From Air

CONDITION OF RANGE FINE — BENEFITS FROM RAIN — SNOW

The range over this section is probably in the best condition seen here in years, sheepmen and cattlemen say. Timely rains and snow during the winter have added enough moisture to give a good start to the grass and weeds. Sheep and cattle are said to be faring very nicely and stockmen have not had to feed as much as usual the past winter.

STATE WARRANTS ARE STILL BEING ISSUED

State warrants were still being issued it was said at Santa Fe Monday at the state treasurer's office, to pay state officials and employes.

"The state's credit ought to be good," said Deputy State Treasurer R. L. Ormsbee. "We believe that employes can use these warrants to get credit for groceries and other necessities. The state never yet has issued a warrant when no funds were available. It will mean that the merchants will have to hold them a while, it is true."

Relief work was being carried on among the distressed, said Miss Margaret Reeves, state director of child welfare. Groceries are being supplied to them and the merchants are being paid with state warrants. The money to make the warrants good is in the treasury, said she, having already been transmitted to the state by the federal government.

SOCKO!

FARMERS (and this interests you merchants too) you really got it put to you in our Senate yesterday. Senate Bill 90 which puts a five cent per gallon tax on the distillates and tractor fuels that you have been using was passed. So that you may know the facts concerning those behind the bill and the despicable way in which it was put over this add is written.

The real framer of this bill and who worked incessantly for its passage was Dudley Cornell of Albuquerque who is the attorney for and representative of an Association who call themselves the Code of ETHICS, comprising practically, if not all of the major oil companies operating in the state. We also have information to the effect that the dominating company in this associations activities in this state is the Continental Oil Company. So much for the framers.

The writer of this went to Santa Fe to help Senator Jackson prepare amendments to the bill that would properly protect the farmers. An amendment was drawn that not only gave more protection to the state but actually widened the scope of fuel for taxable purposes that would be non-taxable the way it was passed Senator Jackson offered the amendment and a majority of the members immediately invoked the gag rule and would not permit him to argue the point. The amendment was tabled and lost. On the third trial Jackson got mad, and folks, he really got them told in a way that you would all heartily approve. The motion and amendment carried by one vote. And right then the dirty work started.

Bedlam had come to the Senate. Backers of the bill and administration men were running wildly about trying to undue the work. The writer was on the Senate floor at Senator Jackson's request furnishing technical information and helping frame the amendments. As a last resort the backers pointed me out as a gasoline "bootlegger" stating that I had beat the State out of fabulous amounts; that the only persons objecting to the bill were the "bootleggers" and that I was framing the amendments for that end. Dudley Cornell admitted to me that by inference he gave that information. Those low down, libellous statements by the major company representative had the desired effect. The bill was recalled for consideration and passed without the amendment. That, folks is the way in which it was done and shows the end to which they will go.

There is no use cursing anyone mentioned here—that was well taken care of and there is a lot of unfinished business in that connection.

The proper way for you to show your appreciation of what was done to you is to patronize those that were responsible for the "Sock" they gave you.

There is a lot more I can tell you but it is in words the newspaper cannot print.

Come down and get a square deal.

CRAINS EATING GRAIN
Crains coming into the valley recently have added to the troubles of the local farmers by eating on the small grain and alfalfa fields. The crains are also covering a large area of the farming section. Wild geese and ducks have previously caused damage to farmers by destroying grain, but the geese are migrating now farmers say. The principal area affected by geese and ducks is along the river and the lakes.

ISABEL WOODMAN WAITT

LINDA DEERING knew perfectly well that young man kneeling beside the Siberian iris was no gardener. He was Mrs. Damon's nephew, who she had heard her Aunt Lily say was handsome as a Greek god. Strange, in all her visits to Middle valley, that this was the only time their visits coincided; and of course it would happen when Aunt Lily and Mrs. Damon weren't on speaking terms.

Linda glided back and forth in the new hammock pretending to read. "He's handsomer than any old Greek god," she was thinking. "And the only attractive man I've seen in the valley!" What right had neighbors to quarrel over a patry boundary line? She ought, out of loyalty, she supposed, carry on the feud. Well, even that might be an opening.

"What right have you digging up my aunt's iris?" she demanded. And then before he could reply, "Tell your mistress that iris does not belong to her."

"My mistress!" Matthew Damon grinned, settling back on his heels and appraising the intruder. "So you think I work here. Well, I do, it appears. Aunt Sara finds plenty of odd jobs for me. But as for the iris, why don't you go tell your mistress to make her old iris stay on her side of the line?"

"My mistress!" Linda flushed scarlet. "You needn't think I think you think I'm a hired girl! You know perfectly well who I am."

"Sure I do. You're Linda Deering, spitfire niece of a spitfire aunt."

"Why you! Why you! It wasn't Aunt Lily who began this fight. It was your own busybody aunt, tearing up Aunt Lily's beautiful iris!"

"Just as I'm doing now," he said. Linda ran for the house. A moment and she was back, trowel and watering pot in hand. "Every plant you've torn up goes back," she announced firmly.

Challenging eyes met challenging eyes, blue to black. The black ones, Linda saw, were laughing at her. "I've heard of folks who couldn't make their eyes behave, but you folks can't even make your garden iris behave. See that crooked row you're sticking in my aunt's lawn doesn't run all over the place."

"Oh dear! It's crooked, isn't it?" Linda mopped her brow with a well-streaked palm. Whew! this is hot work."

"I've had about enough of it myself. What say we quit and take a cool spin? Met me around the corner in ten minutes, so our aunts won't see."

Blue eyes smiled at black. "Okay," whispered Linda.

Middle valley wasn't going to be so deadly dull after all. Linda decided. Only she and Matt would have to be careful. If his aunt found out—well, the old cat might disinherit him. Nor did she wish to curry disfavor with Aunt Lily.

Accordingly, Matt and Linda insulted each other openly over the long row of Siberian iris between the two places, which extended, day by day, even down the back yard, too—Matt digging it up, Linda planting it back. This could not go on forever, but it served for many a date during the next two weeks. They drove Matt's roadster to a nearby pond and went swimming together.

"H'mph!" grunted Aunt Lily, surveying the iris border with satisfaction, the next morning. "Reckon Sara Damon'll know when she's licked. She and that upstart nephew of hers."

Linda blushed guiltily. "Oh, Matt isn't bad."

"Matt! Got to calling him Matt, have you? H'mph!"

That afternoon Matt Damon's car took the mountain road. "Linda, see how peaceful it looks down in the valley."

"I think it's lovely, Matt. And to think our own aunts hate each other! I just can't go on pretending to hate you, Matt. I'm going to tell Aunt Lily—"

"What, Linda? That you love me and I love you? That we intend to get married this fall, and they can keep their old money and iris and feud?"

Well, back they went, striking while the iron was hot, first Aunt Lily and then Aunt Sara. Then they took the pond road for a nice cool swim. Both aunts had been too stunned with the suddenness of the news to do more than gasp. The love birds flew out before they could say a word.

Behind her ruffled curtain Lily Deering watched them drive away. She took the huge bouquet of iris from the center of the dining table and trotted across to her neighbor's back door.

"Ain't they beautiful! Thanks, Lily; I've missed it so. Say, you've heard the news?" beamed Mrs. Damon.

"Just now. That's why I run in. Ain't it just wonderful, Sara—the finest boy in the world getting the finest girl!"

"Grand. You were right, Lily. It worked fine. All young folks need to bring them together is plenty of opposition."

MAKE FARM CHEESE AT HOME EASILY

In times like the present it is especially important that the farm family obtain as much of its own living from the farm as possible says E. E. Anderson of the New Mexico State College. One of the most healthful and nutritious foods that can be provided in any home where there is a plentiful supply of milk, is cheese.

Making American cheese, or the type usually bought in the grocery store, is a tedious process in the average home. It is usually difficult to get a uniform product and one that is properly cured. For homes where American cheese making is difficult, it will be found that Farm Process cheese is an entirely satisfactory substitute. This type of cheese has a softer body but otherwise is a very similar product. It has many advantages that are making it a popular dish.

Farm Process cheese is very easy to make, requiring no equipment other than that found in any kitchen. It requires but a short time to make and is ready to eat immediately. It is especially good as a sandwich spread and in different types of cheese dishes.

To make this cheese, curd is obtained from clabbered milk as in making cottage cheese. To this is added butter and sour cream so the finished product has the same butterfat content as American cheese, also the desired acid flavor. By slight variations in the process, the body of the cheese can be either soft or quite firm and the flavor mild or highly acid, as desired.

For instructions in making this cheese, consult your county extension agent or write to the Extension Service, State College, New Mexico.

"More crackers per pound..

how on earth do you do it?"

THEY'RE LIGHTER

AND FLAKIER

AND MADE BY THE

ACCORDION FOLD METHOD

No WONDER thrifty housewives keep asking how it is Brown's Bakers give so many more crackers per pound in the big, blue Saltine Flakes packages.

15 to 20 More Crackers Per Pound

The reason is that Brown's Saltine Flakes are made differently from those other, heavier crackers. Just take a look at the diagram in the next column. We've tried to show you graphically how we do it. Every housewife will be interested in this important baking story.

The ACCORDION FOLD METHOD

In this special method used by Brown's Bakers, the dough is rolled and then folded or "pleated" into many layers. By a secret baking process, these laminated folds of dough are held tightly together. When the carefully controlled heat of the oven strikes them, they expand and spring apart, forming a lighter, flakier and more flavorful cracker.

This special Accordion Fold Method makes Brown's Saltine Flakes lighter and flakier.

More Servings Per Package

Because of these important differences, they're not only much better-tasting with soups, salads, cheese and all sorts of spreads, but they give you more servings per package. As a result, they help make your money go further... without sacrificing quality! Isn't it wise economy always to insist on Brown's Saltine Flakes at your grocer's?

JACKSON OIL BILL PASSES THE SENATE

Although Governor Seligman is sponsoring a severance tax on oil, the state senate Friday passed the Jackson bill tightening up the present output tax plan, 14-10, says the Santa Fe New Mexican.

The idea of those who backed the bill was that if the severance tax passed it would repeal this act; if the severance tax failed, the state would have a much better system than it has now.

Senator J. H. Jackson, author of the bill, took at crack at William J. Barker, democratic state chairman, who was on the floor during the course of a long speech for his bill and against the severance tax.

"He's here nearly all of the time telling the senators how to vote," said Jackson.

The Jackson bill was amended by Senator Fred Wilson to make 100 per cent of the production taxable, at the rate prevalent in the county, after the deduction of royalties to the state and United States. The present law makes 50 per cent taxable after the same subtractions. Originally the Jackson plan would have made 75 per cent taxable, allowing 25 per cent for operating costs and amortization; but the Wilson amendment revised the 75 per cent to 100 per cent.

The 50 per cent bill was enacted when the oil business was just getting a foothold in New Mexico. Senator J. H. Mullis said State Land Commissioner Frank Vesley endorsed the Jackson bill.

Mrs. Simms announced she will make a state wide speaking tour and will organize a republican women's league in New Mexico.

She said her election as congresswoman in Illinois was due "to good organization," and a well planned campaign in New Mexico will be necessary during the 1934 election.

MAX-I-MUM SYRUP

COOKING SCHOOL

Food at ever so many local parties is going to be unusually delightful in the future and even the desserts and salads at home are going to take on the gay flavor of parties, if the attendance at the second session of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau's three-day "course in kitchening" this afternoon is any indicator.

For the many who came, saw and were conquered by the delights revealed by Miss Sansom, the bureau's home economist, were obviously looking forward with keen anticipation to early opportunities to put their new knowledge into use. As they filed out of the Legion hall they were unanimous in their expressions of pleasure and just which novel recipe won the most favor would be most difficult to decide.

Perhaps it was the coffee-chocolate cake, which may be a little hard to picture but which is certainly not difficult to either make or enjoy. Perhaps it was the ginger ale salad, a gay mixture of pineapple, celery, olives, pineapple juice, cayenne pepper and ginger ale, all made firm and highly edible by the addition of gelatine. Or, perhaps, it was the angel food cake, which was just a little different from other angel food cakes in several respects, and particularly in that offered the surprising and apparently welcome addition of raisins. It was shown, too, how this cake went economically hand in hand in the matter of eggs.

There must have been those, too, who would have given an enthusiastic first prize to the pineapple hamettes, the recipe for which involved, in addition to the unusual combination of pineapple and ham, such surprising elements as milk and mustard, pepper and sweet potatoes, salt, cloves and marshmallows. And what a happy result it achieved in the end there are many who will be willing to testify.

Cake fillings and icings came in for their share of the afternoon, too, what with a festive cake filling that was said to improve even angel food and a seven-minute chocolate icing which seemed able to prove its claims even to the satisfaction of the most icing-critical male.

Another feature of the afternoon was a supper salad loaf which simply made from an even dozen of varied ingredients that, viewed as things apart, seemed scarcely imaginable in combination, but proved to have a natural affinity for one another, and the third salad offering of the afternoon took denizens of the deep and made them in to a tasty tidbit for those whose appetites run to sea foods.

There was a dainty and very easily completed recipe for marguerites, too, using common, everyday salted wafers as a base for this pleasant aside when fruits or frozen desserts are served.

Miss Sansom showed conclusively that the day of the new in sandwiches is not yet over, but demonstrating a mixed quartet that promised genuine harmony for an afternoon or evening. They were simple sandwiches, too, involving little more than bread and butter, cheese, milk, raisins and nuts, parsley anchovy and pimento, the sort of things one finds in almost any kitchen on almost any day.

And for something novel in desserts Miss Sansom introduced a frozen maple treat that won the hearts of those in attendance and gave promise of winning friends over countless Artesia tables in the future.

Commenting on the afternoon's program, Miss Sansom said, "The great increase in home entertainment during the past year has given the Safeway Stores homemakers' bureau a busy time in providing party ideas. The recipes which we presented at this session were all selected by Mrs. Julia Lee Wright, national director of the bureau, as among the very choicest developed for party purposes in the bureau's kitchen during the past year, but it should also be pointed out that every one of them is ideal for family use, and we are sure that many of them will be used often for just that purpose."

The third and last session tomorrow afternoon will feature the preparation of meats, including fowl roasted in a blanket, sausage stuffing, standing rib roast of beef and meat dumplings, but will also cover a variety of other dishes of unusual interest. The session will start promptly at 2 o'clock at the American Legion Hall and we are looking forward to a capacity attendance.

WAGE CUTTING HAS PASSED THE ZENITH

NEW YORK—Wage and salary cutting in American industry seems to have passed the zenith and now to be on the decline, the national industrial conference board reports following a questionnaire survey of 1,236 concerns covering the period from January, 1930, to February 1933.

The number of cuts in January this year dropped about 20 per cent, as compared with January 1932, whereas in the previous years of the depression the number of cuts increased by 100 per cent or more in January. January is the biggest month for wage cutting.

Cuts in February this year numbered about 6, comparing to 85 in February, 1932; 40 in February, 1931 and 7 in February 1930.

Further evidence of the change in trend is seen in the fact that the number of cuts in the last half of 1932 was considerably smaller than in the first half of the year. In 1931 and 1930 the reverse was true.

The survey further discloses the amounts of wage and salary reductions in the period from January 1930, to February, 1933—the depression to date:

1. Wages have been cut 16.1 per cent.
2. Intermediate salaries have been cut 18.4 per cent.
3. Executive salaries have been cut 21.9 per cent.

About 13 per cent of the reporting concerns did not cut wages; about 10 per cent did not cut salaries; about 11 per cent did not cut executive salaries.

As for employment, the 1,236 companies employed 2,399,558 in 1929 as against a present aggregate employment of 1,573,665—a decline of more than one-third. The board did not attempt to estimate total national unemployment on the basis of this sample.

The board made a similar study last year covering the period between January 1930, and April 1932. Since that time the decline in employment has been 10 per cent.

"Some satisfaction may be derived," the board comments, "from the fact that 165 of the reporting companies, 13.3 per cent, show higher employment today than in April 1932."

"Reasons for the increase in employment given by 111 of these companies shows that in 54 per cent of the cases the gain is attributed to improvement in business; in 36 per cent to a combination of both reasons."

The board calculates that the wage income of employed industrial workers is 59 per cent of what it was in 1929. If to these are added the numbers of the unemployed normally working in manufacturing industry, the earnings of the entire industrial population was found to be only 34.6 per cent of the 1929 figure.

Lower prices of the things these wages buy have increased the purchasing power of the dollar. The board has calculated the effect of this increased purchasing power that the wage income of the in-

Wage rates were cut most in silk textiles, the cut being 27.3 per cent. They were cut least by railroads, 10 per cent. Intermediate salaries were cut most in the furniture manufacturing industry, 41.5 per cent; least in pharmaceutical manufacturing, 10 per cent.

Executives salaries were cut most in the furniture manufacturing industry, 44.1 per cent; the least in pharmaceutical chemicals, 10.7 per cent.

THREE HELD IN THE DENVER KIDNAPING

Federal charges of kidnaping were filed against six suspects in the Charles Boettcher II abduction in the United States District court at Denver Tuesday.

The charges were filed by U. S. District Attorney Ralph L. Carr against Carl W. Pearce, Arthur Youngberg, Gordon Elkhorn, Mrs. Ruth Kohler, Verne Sankey and Mrs. Verne Sankey.

Three of those named are held in jail as the result of an investigation which terminated Tuesday in the announcement by Chief of Police Albert T. Clark that the hideout of the kidnap gang, an isolated ranch house, had been discovered in a wild region of South Dakota. There, the police head said, the wealthy young broker was held during his sixteen days captivity which ended in the payment of $60,000 ransom March 1.

Tennis Terms

The term deuce in tennis was used as early as 1598, if not earlier. In 1878 Julius Marshall in his "Annals of Tennis," page 134, has the following: "Scalmo (in 1565) then tells his readers that (the scoring is) 'at two (a due)'; as it is called when the game is reduced or 'set' to two strokes to be gained, in order to win it. The term 'a due' is still preserved in the French form, a deux, corrupted into the English deuce."

One-Foot Forest Found

What is believed to be the most remarkable forest in the world has been found on the west coast of Africa. Although the trunks of the trees are as much as four feet in diameter, they attain the height of only one foot. No tree bears more than two leaves, which attain a length of six feet and breadth of two feet. The forest covers a tableland six miles in width.

HITLER ELECTED

Berlin.—Seventeen million voters out of 39,000,000, manifested their confidence in Chancellor Adolf Hitler in Sunday's reichstag election, and demonstrated to President von Hindenburg that he sensed the desires of the German people rightly when he asked the chief of the Nazi brown shirts to take the helm of the ship of state.

Germany now is well on the way to fascist dictatorship. Chancellor Hitler, by the vote of the people, has been given the legal tools to annihilate the last vestiges of the democracy which he considers a failure.

WHAT IS SCRIP?

What is scrip, how does one get it and how does one use it? The answers to those questions were being learned by millions as sales of the freshly-printed emergency currency were prepared for distribution.
Clearing house scrip, being prepared by the New York Clearing House Association, consists of paper certificates based on bank deposits. They are issued by a group of banks, rather than by one banking institution.

Although details of the certificate plan announced Monday by Mortimer Buckner, head of the Clearing House Association, have not yet been made public, it was believed the new medium of exchange would be paid out by the banks in lieu of the old. A depositor appearing at a bank to cash a check would be given the certificates to the full amount of the check.
It would also be the money in which pay checks were cashed, and it would be accepted by merchants, landlords, railroads and others instead of the old currency. Bankers said that since the scrip would be accepted for deposit at parity by all clearing house members, it would serve as a satisfactory medium of exchange.

The certificates, which represent actual deposits, will be issued, it was believed, in denominations ranging from $1 up. It was the understanding here that banks, when they open, might be permitted to pay out fractional coin—that is coins ranging from pennies to half dollars—to meet the need for change.
Pending authoritative statements, it was the belief that bankers were working on a plan for uniform standard of collateral throughout the country. In this way, New York scrip would circulate in other cities and vice versa. Thus it appeared that the new money might be acceptable at or near parity throughout the nation.

Bankers recalled the crisis of 1907, the last occasion on which scrip certificates were used here. They were, in effect, liens or obligations against the assets of the bank. In New York they were used primarily for payments between banks, but in other sections they circulated just like money. When the need for them disappeared they were retired as fast as they were deposited in banks.

Business As Usual
With a few exceptions local merchants have taken checks for merchandise and business appears to be about as usual, although it has fallen off slightly in some lines since last week. People have expressed confidence in the new national administration and little complaint has been heard with reference to the money situation. They have accepted the condition and are hopeful that a turn for the better will be made before the close of the week. The only inconvenience experienced by the merchants is that some were caught short of change by Friday's closing.

THE VALLEY BANKERS MEET WITH GOVERNOR SELIGMAN SUNDAY

State bankers went into the banking holiday with Governor Seligman Sunday afternoon at Santa Fe, but aside from discussing the state banking situation with the governor, no steps were taken at the meeting to open the banks, due to the national proclamation issued by President Roosevelt, calling for a national moratorium thru Thursday. President Roosevelt's proclamation also placed an embargo on all exports of gold and currency and provided for the issuance of clearing house certificates to keep business functioning while the banks are closed.

New Mexico banks were scheduled to have been opened Monday, if the national proclamation had not been issued, but would have been limited on withdrawals to five per cent. Possibility was expressed that a thirty day holiday would have been declared by Governor Seligman, Tuesday had not the national situation intervened. New Mexico has been one of the few states in the union to escape serious losses from bank failures and all banks in the state were declared to be in a sound financial condition. State bankers attending Sunday's meeting at Santa Fe expressed a willingness to aid any other state bank in any way possible.

Among the bankers from this section present at the meeting were J. E. Robertson and C. E. Mann from Artesia and W. A. Losey of Hagerman in addition to several bankers from Roswell and Carlsbad.

Concerning the president's national proclamation we learn that a bank desiring to remain open could do so if the secretary of the treasury grants it permission. Application for such permission would be made through the clearing house under which it operates. New accounts could be accepted on a 100 per cent withdrawal basis.

The holiday could be extended. The clearing house certificates would be based upon the bank deposits. They would furnish a scrip money as a medium of exchange for the period of the bank holiday. They would be issued by the clearing houses in the various federal reserve districts and would not necessarily be uniform for the whole country. The gold and currency embargo was proclaimed under the provisions of the wartime trading with the enemy act, which empowers the secretary of the treasury with the regulation of such exports.

Running until Thursday, the bank holiday would continue until the day the new congress convenes in special session to enact a banking relief program which Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers are already formulating.

Over in the treasury Sunday night, William H. Woodin, the new secretary; Ogden L. Mills, the retired secretary; and officers of the federal reserve board, plunged immediately to the task of putting machinery in order to give the nation a medium of exchange under the terms of the proclamation.

Mr. Roosevelt consulted with his cabinet, congressional leaders and economic experts before issuing his sweeping proclamation. At the White House it was said that the step had been in contemplation and in the making for at least two weeks.

Former Secretary Mills was in constant conference Sunday on the proclamation and it was believed to have his hearty approval.
