Remains Of L. Williams Found Near Bear Springs

Identification Is Made at Carlsbad—Inquest to be Delayed Pending An Investigation Into the Mystery.

Bones and remains of Lester Williams, Carlsbad mechanic, who was lost on a hunting trip about three years ago, eighty miles west of here, have been uncovered by hunters. Williams who had gone deer hunting with three other men on November 15, 1930, suddenly disappeared. Hunting parties scoured the hills for several days after Williams became lost, but without success.

Tuesday the Associated Press wired the Advocate bone and remains believed to be those of Williams had been found and that the parents of Mr. Williams would come here to identify the body. Sunday afternoon, the brother of the deceased man, Bill Williams of Pecos, Texas, and another man whose name was not learned, passed thru Artesia carrying what was believed to be the remains of Williams. While few details could be obtained at this time, it was learned the remains were found near Bear Springs, northwest of Pinon. The body was badly decomposed. The skull of the dead man was in good condition, otherwise the state of his body gave officers little clue as to how he met death.

The absence of any shoes or boots about the spot where the skeleton lay prompted some officials to believe he might have been the victim of foul play. A pocket knife, a rifle shell and a penny was the only means of identification made early and officers were of the opinion that the pocket knife might play an important part in the positive identification of Williams.

The remains of Williams were identified Monday by Bill High, commander of the Carlsbad American Legion Post, according to word from Carlsbad. An inquest scheduled to have been held Tuesday has been postponed indefinitely pending an investigation surrounding his death.

CLEVER FORGER IS ARRESTED SATURDAY

A clever forger was arrested here Saturday night after he had cashed seven checks for $4.50 each. F. W. Nelson, employed by Frank Privitt, farmer living north of town, had been given a check by Mr. Privitt for $4.50. Nelson, it is alleged, proceeded to make nine additional checks for $4.50 each, copying the signature of Mr. Privitt. He had succeeded in passing seven of the checks and when arrested had three more checks on his person. While details are lacking as this is written, it is said that Lord Sharp, employed by the Star Grocery because suspicious of Nelson after he had seen him cash the second $4.50 check presented for payment at a store. The matter was reported to the officers and Nelson was arrested. He pleaded guilty as charged when arraigned before W. H. Ballard, justice of the peace, and was lodged in the Eddy county jail at Carlsbad where he will await the action of the Eddy county grand jury.

Telegrams were received at Roswell yesterday from the Chaves county delegation in Washington presenting the case of the drainage district before the R. F. C. board, that the loans for the refinancing of the districts had been approved.

Applications were made by the districts as follows: Roswell, $96,000; Dexter-Greenfield, approximately $160,000; Hagerman, $80,000.

It was not known if the entire amount requested was granted nor when the money would be available.

MORGENTHAU TAKES OVER SECRETARY OF TREASURY DUTIES

WASHINGTON—To administer to the nation's finances through the vital period that lies just ahead, President Roosevelt has chosen his neighbor, close friend and trusted personal advisor, Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

On Friday morning Morgenthau will become the actual, if not titular head of the treasury department, while Secretary Woodin, whose resignation the chief executive declined to accept, takes a leave of absence and goes to Arizona in search of rest and health.

To make room for Morgenthau, Dean Acheson, youthful under-secretary of the treasury, submitted his resignation and Mr. Roosevelt accepted it with a word of regret and appreciation for his service.

TWO STATE PATROLMEN HERE

Two members of the state motor patrol have been here for a couple of days, checking up on the violation of the motor vehicle law. A few motorists have been instructed to repair defective lights, etc. but no one has encountered any serious difficulty with the patrol.

The Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Wiggins visited in Roswell the first of the week.

FEW CALVES SOLD IN CURRENT MARKET AT 3 1/2 TO 4 CENTS

Few calves are being sold on the present market and prospects are that many stockmen will carry their calves over another year. Three and a half to four cents per pound has been offered for calves of this section, while Lea county ranchers are being offered four cents. Comparatively few sales have been made to date. The Scarbauer Cattle Co., at Midland, is reported to have sold their calf crop at $20.00 per head.

Grass generally is good in Lea will be necessary. Recent rains county and little winter feeding have placed the range on the Cap Rock in better condition than here.

MEASLES EPIDEMIC CHECKED

Dr. O. E. Puckett, county health officer, informed us yesterday that the epidemic of measles which has spread over the north end of the county for three weeks appears to be lessening. Fewer cases are reported this week. There are a few cases of whooping cough.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY LOAN BLANKS CAN BE SECURED LOCALLY

Blanks Should Be Secured Here Before Going to Roswell—Water Rights Should Also Be Filed With State.

Dr. A. D. Crile of Roswell, commissioner for the federal emergency farm loans was in Artesia Friday and visited the office of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce and left some application blanks with Fred Brainard, manager, and explained to Mr. Brainard some of the steps necessary in filling out the application blanks. Prospective applicants should see Mr. Brainard before submitting their applications to Dr. Crile in order to save time and trouble. In many instances Mr. Brainard can be of material assistance in formulating the necessary data, which might otherwise cause the applicant a needless trip to Roswell.

An important feature not to be overlooked by the property owner, who contemplates making an application, is to look into the filing of your water right. Unless a proper filing to the state has been made according to the provisions of a previous state law, the loan will not be granted. In arriving at the value of land on which a loan is asked, the government will take into consideration, its production for the past four or five years, also the value of its improvements.

PUBLIC SALE

Next Thursday the first public sale of the season will be held on the Sperry farm, southeast of town by Frank Morrison. Mr. Morrison is offering an unusually choice lot of livestock and farming implements as well as many household items. The sale starts promptly at 10:00 o'clock. Lunch will be served on the grounds by the American Legion Auxiliary.

LARGEST DEER

Albert Richards brought in the largest buck seen thus far this season. The eight point buck dressed 207 pounds. C. M. Oliver exhibited yesterday a freak deer head, which he killed in the Sacramentos. The horns resembled those of a goat.

WELL SUPERVISOR TO MAKE INSPECTION OF THIS AREA SOON

Clifford Smith, of Roswell, artesian well supervisor for this district, was here Tuesday doing some preliminary inspection work. Mr. Smith says he is urging artesian well owners to comply with the law in keeping their wells shut off when not in use. There are a number of wells which flow the year around due to the fact that they have no shut-off valve. The state engineer's department, under whose supervision these inspections are made hope to have all wells equipped with a cut-off valve to prevent so much surface wastage.

In addition to his inspection work, Mr. Smith is also supplying information relative to the artesian wells under the provisions of the federal emergency loans. It is necessary that all wells must be in good condition before a loan will be granted on the land watered by the wells. He said he hoped to have the services of an assistant for a few weeks so that his inspection of the wells might be completed on time this year. Regular inspection of the artesian wells in the basin is expected to start within the next two weeks.

In commenting on the plugging operations now under way, Mr. Smith said E. B. Guess and associates had plugged nine wells in the Roswell area and would finish plugging two more before moving to the north end of the East Grand Plains sector. Conservation work accomplished thus far has been of a material aid in keeping the water level high. The gauge south of town is still a high water level, although not as high as at the corresponding period of last year. The gauge shows the artesian level 5.90 from the surface.

State and National Briefs of the News

May Have Been Fort Worth Girl FORT WORTH, Texas—A woman found slain near Van Horn, Texas, November 7, may have been Ramona Warren, a dancer, friends said Saturday.

The victim, whose nude body was found by a rancher, was given a ride by a driver of a beer truck near El Paso last Monday. She told him her name was Ramona Warren or Warner, and that she was going to Fort Worth to visit her mother.

Seriously Wounded SILVER CITY—Several surgeons were pressed into service late last Saturday in an effort to save the life of Mrs. Preston L. Parker, formerly of El Paso, who was seriously wounded by an accidental discharge of a 12-gauge shotgun at the Pollock ranch near Tryone.

New Plans to Aid Needy WASHINGTON—While continuing to hike the price of gold in accordance with a previously announced effort to raise commodity prices, the administration Monday turned intensively to an endeavor to pump money into the hands of the unemployed.

In line with the president's avowed determination to place 2,000,000 men now on work relief on "regular work at regular wages" by November 16, with another 2,000,000 unemployed to be absorbed as soon as possible, administration officials announced several new moves.

The bureau of public roads invited state highway commissions to list immediately at least six projects for each of the 3,000 counties in the country on which maintenance expenditures of not more than $5,000 might be made immediately.

The projects would be financed in the proportion of 65 per cent relief funds and 35 per cent federal aid funds to the states. It was said that $90,000,000 would be spent for such work.

BERLIN—Elected by a nearly unanimous ballot, 661 Nazis and near-Nazis will march into the Kroll opera house on or about December 1 for the opening session of the largest Reichstag ever assembled.

Despite their number nothing but a unanimous vote may ever be expected on any measure proposed by the government as all are hand-picked men, "blindly devoted to Chancellor Hitler's policies," as described November 11 by Rudolf Hess, official head of the Nazi party.

Hitler's first visit, following the election Monday, was to President Von Hindenburg, to whom he officially reported the result of the ballot after which the two discussed pending political questions.

Bulldogs Topple Cavemen In Last Quarter 20 to 0

The Artesia high school football team won a hard fought game from the Carlsbad high school by a score of 20 to 0 at Carlsbad on Monday afternoon before a large holiday crowd. The local eleven were doped to win very easily but an inspired defense was met which prevented any scoring by either side until the final quarter.

Artesia received the initial kickoff by Starnes but was unable to penetrate into the Carlsbad territory very far until an intercepted pass gave the Cavemen the ball. Neither side made much yardage from line or running plays but resorted to kicking. Starnes gained much yardage over E. Champin by this method due to his ability to place his punts on the sidelines or out of bounds. Both teams made four first downs in the first half although two of the Carlsbad first downs were made by penalties of thirty-five yards against Coach Allen's men for (Continued on last page, column 1)

G.O.P. LEADERS HERE TO ORGANIZE TWO REPUBLICAN CLUBS

Capt. Ed Safford of Santa Fe, republican state chairman, and Walter N. Chandler of Albuquerque, former congressman from New York City, were here yesterday laying some preliminary plans for the organization of a republican women's club and a republican young men's club. The attendance at the meeting yesterday morning was described as very satisfactory and the Interest was good. Additional organization work will be done by Mr. Safford on his next visit here.

Mr. Chandler, a recent resident of New Mexico, has become well known to the stockmen for his interest in trying to stop enforcement of the fence removal order of Secretary of the Interior Ickes. Mr. Chandler, who filed a brief with Secretary Ickes last month showing cause why the order should not be enforced, states he does not believe the administration intends to enforce the order.

In the presentation of his brief, Mr. Chandler cited several causes why the order should not be carried out. Principally among these that it would financially ruin practically all of the large stockmen of the state and in other western states. The federal government has previously loaned stockmen $6,000,000 with the understanding that the livestock held as security should be securely fenced. It is estimated that the federal government would lose from one to three million of these loans should the fence order be carried out. Mr. Chandler also pointed out in the brief that the fence order would discourage cattlemen from paying their loans. Another major point presented in the brief was that removal of fences would spread diseases among livestock on the range and still another point was that enforcement of this order would mean a loss of at least $500,000 to the school children of New Mexico through the cancellation of grazing leases.

Mrs. E. R. Middleton and her daughter Miss Tommy were in the city shopping the first of the week, coming from the Jernigan ranch west of Hope.

Highway Project Is To Employ 4,300 Men

Highway Commission Is Authorized to Start At Least Six Projects in Each County—To Give 3 Months Employment.

The state highway department has received telegraphic authorization to begin at least six road maintenance projects in every county in the state at once, Frank Butt, chairman of the highway commission said yesterday at Albuquerque.

The commission chairman said no preliminary engineering surveys will be necessary and no delays are expected. The object of the work is to take as many men off the relief rolls as possible. A great part of the work will be done with picks and shovels.

Butt estimated New Mexico would receive in the neighborhood of $1,250,000 for carrying on such work and that more than 4,000 men would be put to work.

Common laborers would be paid a minimum of between 42 and 50 cents an hour on the projects. It has not been learned if laborers will be limited to 100 hours a month as is the case on some federal relief work.

G. D. Macey, highway engineer, in Albuquerque to confer with Chairman Butt estimated last night that even if the full 35 per cent allowed were expended for materials and supervision, the program would still give about 4,300 men $187.50 each for three months work at 125 hours per month.

SECRETARY TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION VISITS HERE

Arthur J. Strawson, active executive secretary of the New Mexico Tuberculosis Association, was here the first of the week in conference with Mrs. Grover Kinder, local chairman of the T. B. committee. Mr. Strawson is touring the state arranging for the Christmas seal sale and getting ready for an extensive state tuberculosis survey.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burke of the Cottonwood this morning.

TO START MINING OPERATIONS SOON

Prospects are very flattering for opening one of the state's most productive mines, west of Tularosa, according to local people who have done some preliminary mining work in this region. A group of Artesians including Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pillars, J. H. Long, J. J. Buel, C. J. Long and others have filed on twenty-two claims and have constructed a forty-seven foot shaft at the Mocking Bird gap mine and have uncovered an eight foot lode. While no assay has been made of the lode metal, the outcropping assayed $53.50 per ton, but the lode is believed to be much richer. The mine contains mostly lead but gold and silver runs in about a six to one proportion.

Plans have been made to commence active mining operations about December 1st. The necessary equipment will be installed to facilitate the mining operations. The ore will be trucked either to Socorro or El Paso. A haul of about forty miles will be necessary if sent to Socorro or shortly over 100 miles if sent to El Paso.

Mrs. B. A. Bishop, Edgar, Burdon and Miss Beth spent Monday in Roswell where they visited Mr. Bishop's sister Mrs. Lillian McNeil and attended to business.

BIRTHS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Long Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Elza Ray Elkins of Lake Arthur announce the birth of a son Sunday. A son was also born to Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wane Scott of Hagerman Sunday.

FORGOTTEN

It may be an inopportune time to mention Armistice since the day has passed, but our personal observation of the half-hearted manner in which the public saw fit to remember November 11th, leads us to the conclusion that even the most horrible experiences are soon forgotten by the public. Perhaps it is well to forget some human experiences, but a vivid memory of what war meant to America and to the world in 1918 or at any other period for that matter would be the greatest factor for peace.

Young men who gave their lives in order that the world might be safe for democracy, would no doubt feel that the supreme sacrifice was an empty one, if they could return today. Certainly the public indifference would prevent any volunteers should we face the same period tomorrow. But the public forgets in peace time as well as in war times. Let any citizen make a sacrifice for his community or state and his deed is soon forgotten. There are those who will criticize, but few who will rise to defend his good acts.

Is it any wonder then that competent men and women are reluctant to accept public responsibility. A man may sacrifice the best years of his life and come to the evening of his existence with few real friends.

THE ROLL CALL

From now until Thanksgiving will be the roll call of the greatest humanitarian organization on the face of the earth, the Red Cross. This organization directed largely by voluntary efforts, stands ready to aid in the event of a disaster. Should an earthquake or storm hit Artesia tomorrow the Red Cross would be ready to meet the emergency and would spend freely to relieve the suffering. North Eddy county and Artesia people would receive far more relief funds than we had ever contributed.

Knowing these facts, it should be a pleasure for every citizen to contribute to this worthy cause.

The word "saloon" has been apparently eliminated from the vocabulary of the liquor interests and the word "tavern" substituted. Besides being a more innocent word, tavern is of English origin. The old time saloon and the drunk in the gutter are associated when middle age people think of the pre-Volstead era. We'll wager a man can get just as drunk in a tavern as in the saloon. The only difference is the word "tavern" sounds better to the younger generation, but the fact that the name has been changed won't prevent wallowing in the gutter just the same.

Seal Sale

The New Mexico Tuberculosis Association has for its major project in 1934 a survey of the health needs of New Mexico with special reference to tuberculosis. This will involve examinations to find out how many people, and especially children, are infected with tuberculosis. Clearly it will not be possible to examine every individual in the state. Samples must be taken which truly represent every element in the state and our conclusions must be based on a study of these samples.

Understanding this situation the people in some communities are asking already: if we contribute to the Christmas seal sale, and through it to the survey, will the money be spent in our community?

Most communities will receive much more than they contribute, because services are being contributed to the survey by three national organizations from national funds. The director of the survey, Dr. Carl Buck of New York, will do his best to see that some work is done in each community. If any community should not be a part of the sample they can at least be sure that the benefits to public health from this survey will be state wide. Thus, if it is shown that provisions should be made for the care of indigent tuberculosis patients, with facts so indisputable that the next legislature will agree to make that provision, then clearly every community in the state will benefit. In matters of public health no community can live entirely to itself—the health of one is the safety of its neighbor.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, diarrhea, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or cheap laxative pills. You must get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Get your bile juice flowing again. Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. Stop at drug stores.

Refuse "something just as good" for it may gripe, loosen teeth or you have lost your personal charm. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. © 1933, C.L.C. Co.

HUNTERS URGED TO SPARE THE BIRDS IN THE CRITICAL TIME

The hunting season that opens today will be a critical time for waterfowl and the sport of wildfowling, according to the Bureau of Biological Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

During the present emergency, the Biological Survey urges every sportsman to be moderate in shooting, to see that the kill is made chiefly from the more abundant species, and to encourage the same practices among others.

The bureau also urges gunners to retrieve all crippled birds. At least 7,500,000 birds, it estimates, are crippled and lost annually—a serious decrease in the stock of breeding birds without any resulting benefit, except to the creatures that prey on the unfortunate cripples.

For several years, say survey officials, our waterfowl have been in a bad plight, and the present situation is almost as serious as the 1931 emergency that led to a one-month season and induced the president to issue a proclamation in behalf of the birds. Canvasbacks, redheads, scaups, blue-winged teals, and several other species of ducks are at an exceedingly low ebb, even though they may be fairly plentiful this fall are pintails, mallards, and black ducks.

Overshooting, declare officials of the bureau, is one of the chief causes of the decrease in waterfowl and the only one that can be remedied immediately. Obviously, they state, the first thing to be done is to reduce the kill in order to make sure of saving a satisfactory breeding stock.

With a breeding stock provided for, we should proceed at once, say the biologists, to carry out the program already undertaken to restore water areas, to set aside sanctuaries, and through research, to find whatever practical means there may be to increase the production of ducks and geese by helping them against their enemies, and by preventing the losses occasioned by disease. All these things, they point out, will be of the greatest benefit ultimately, but most of them require time measured in years as well as adequate financial support.

RECRUITING OFFICERS HERE

Two recruiting officers from Fort Bliss, Texas, Captain D. B. Cullinane and Sergeant James G. McDermitt, visited Artesia Tuesday in the interest of the recruiting campaign now on for Fort Bliss. The officers however, were disappointed at the response here, not a single recruit was signed here and only three at Carlsbad. The officers made a stop at Dexter and at Roswell.

TO CONTINUE TO CONTROL OIL

WASHINGTON — Secretary Ickes, the oil administrator, Tuesday night told the oil industry he had no intention of relaxing his control over federal efforts to re-establish an industry that had failed to govern itself.

Ickes gave this notice in a statement commenting on reports that Wirt Franklin, chairman of the planning and coordinating committee of the oil code, had urged oil men to appeal to the secretary that "control of the industry be vested completely with the planning and coordinating committee."

This committee represents the oil industry on the code. It is subject to Ickes who is given wide powers under the charter.

Horse Shoe, Good Luck, Universal Superstition

The origin of the popular belief that a horse shoe brings good luck is so ancient that it is literally lost in the mists of time, but probably no superstition is more universal, observes a writer in the Montreal Herald. Ever since horse shoes were first used they have been associated with good luck by every known race, nation, and people throughout the world. Often the basic reasons have been very fundamentally different, but they always have one thing in common—the crescent shape of the shoe is typical, of some sacred and protective emblem. The Chinese, for instance, nail them up over their doors as a charm against evil spirits because the curved shape so closely resembles the arched body of the sacred snake, Nagandra, which is one of their chief deities. Among the Jews, its arched shape symbolizes the outline which was traced that Passover night when the blood was sprinkled upon the lintel and the two doorposts. The illiterate and highly superstitious Russians give rather a different reason, referring to the substance of the horse shoe rather than to its shape, namely, that its virtue lies in the metal of which it is composed, iron always being regarded as a charm against the evil designs of spirits and goblins, with which the dark forests and dismal marshes of Russia are believed to be peopled.

"Charms" of Emeralds Now Appeal to the Eyesight

As far back as 1650 B. C., emeralds were mined by the ancients who found them worth a "king's ransom" among the Old world aristocrats. Alexander the Great is said to have employed an army of miners to unearth emeralds for his treasure chests. Cleopatra owned fabulous emerald mines in upper Egypt. The most precious jewels in possession of the rich Persian Shahs, the Indian Maharajas, the Russian czars, the Turkish sultans and, in modern times, of the kings and queens of the European courts, were emeralds. Not only were emeralds regarded as the rarest and most beautiful of gems, but ancient and medieval beliefs ascribed to emeralds certain "charms" which protected and benefited the wearer. Emeralds were reputed to drive away evil spirits. They were believed to aid the feminine wearer during the rigors of childbirth. They "cured" common complaints. The only surviving belief of this character is that emeralds are easy on the eyesight, due to their green color.

Weight of Brain

The weight of the brain appears to be no indication of the intelligence of the individual. The average weight of the male brain is 48 ounces. There have been cases, some of great men and some of imbeciles, of brains weighing over 60 ounces. A table given in "Five Thousand Facts and Fancies" shows the following average brain weights: Scotch, 50 ounces; Germans, 49.6; English, 49.5; French, 47.9; Zulu, 47.5; Chinese, 47.2; Pawnee, 47.1; Italian, 46.9; Hindoo, 45.1; Gypsies, 44.8; Bushmen, 44.6; Eskimo, 43.9. In capacity of brain-case, the Anglo-Saxon and German are rated highest. As a rule, large individuals have large brains and small individuals small brains, but a small brain is no more necessarily handicapped than a small hand or a small foot. The relative weights of the brain and body are about the same in the two sexes.

Corn Crib in Mexico

Corn cribs in the neighborhood of Oaxaca and Morelos, Mexico, must be of the feminine gender because they wear ruffled grass petticoats. Once common enough, this type of granary is a comparatively rare sight in the hot country. The poor farmer has taken a tip from his enlightened brethren in Iowa and Nebraska, where the ultra-scientific corn crib is built on stilts covered with upside-down tin cans to keep out rodents. In fact, only one consideration keeps the less practical but more beautiful type of crib from being entirely superseded. In southern Mexico, corn is plentiful but tin cans are scarce as hotels with running hot water.—Detroit News.

Plenty of Diamonds

The world's capacity of absorbing diamonds is estimated at $20,000,000 annually. It will vary with alternating periods of depression and prosperity. It may be increased with the spread of western civilization and western ideas of material prosperity to the teeming millions of the East; but it is impossible that it should expand to such a point as to create a demand beyond the capacity of South Africa to supply.—Answers Magazine.

Zachary Taylor

Zachary Taylor was the son of a soldier who helped Washington win the Christmas battle of Trenton. He was born on a farm in Orange county, Va., November 24, 1784. His family moved to Kentucky in 1785—where he grew up in a log cabin and attended only the country school. His first and only job, until of age, was helper on his father's farm.

ELK HUNTERS RETURN

Seven elk hunters returned Friday from the northern part of the state empty-handed. They spent five days hard at work hunting, but said they never even saw an elk. One hundred elk permits were issued, but only two were killed, it was understood here.

The men were housed in a cabin on the dude ranch, which cost them $10.00 per day. The hunting grounds were at the head of the Pecos, where a heavy snow covered the ground. In the party were Preston and Rube Dunn, John Prude, Jim Montgomery, B. E. Spencer, Bryant Runyan and Herman Hemler of Carlsbad.

"DOGIE" SACRED WITH US

Fred Brainard, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, has written the National Broadcasting Co., protesting the pronunciation of the word "dogie" by some of its artists. The word "dogie" as most westerners ought to know, means an underfed young animal. Mr. Brainard says the west has a tenderness for the "dogie," because it usually trails the herd.

Having placed the National Broadcasting Co. right on a word frequently heard over the network, somebody ought to do something about these crazy "crooners" which would give the tuning knob on the radio set less work to do.

RED CROSS RELIEF AIDS DISTRESSED IN 120 DISASTERS

Help in Floods, Earthquake, Fires and Tornadoes in Year's Record

The American Red Cross has reached into the homes of six million families in the past year with unemployment and disaster relief, Chairman John Barton Payne announced.

"As the year closed the organization continued in readiness to serve in the forthcoming winter at the point of greatest need and to adjust its service to meet the calls of the emergency of unemployment and disaster," Chairman Payne stated.

In a year of greatest economic distress in the nation's history, in which the Red Cross ably discharged a relief task in distributing flour and clothing to distressed families in all but six of the nation's 3,098 counties, the organization also was called into action in 120 disasters, of which 96 were within the borders of the United States.

Earthquake, floods, hurricanes, fires and other cataclysms visited death and destruction upon the lives and homes of thousands of people. Red Cross statistics showed that in the 120 disasters almost a thousand lives were lost, 148,340 homes were destroyed or damaged, 13,275 persons were injured, and Red Cross relief was given to 452,879 individuals.

In giving aid in these disasters, in its unemployment relief and in handling the distribution of government wheat and cotton, the Red Cross expended from its national treasury the sum of $1,076,284.

During one period of twelve weeks, 46 disasters occurred in 23 states. Red Cross disaster workers were hard pressed in meeting all of these needs occurring at once, but everywhere misery was promptly relieved.

Support of the Red Cross work is through its annual roll call, conducted by chapters in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to November 30. Every citizen who joins the Red Cross as a member aids in carrying relief to disaster victims and in other Red Cross services, such as preservation of life, child welfare through the Junior Red Cross, and direct service for the public health.

WHY FEEDERS ARE NOT BUYING CATTLE

P. Moody, well known Kansas cattle buyer, now stationed at Hope, gives some of the reasons why Missouri and Kansas feeders are not buying southwestern cattle this season. Mr. Moody says it has been the custom of these feeders to place two hogs in the lot with each steer. The theory being the hogs would clean up what the steers would not eat. Since the processing tax on hogs is soon to be raised to approximately $2.00 per hundred, feeders are not able to see where the hogs could net them any profit. And with the uneasy cattle market outlook, farmers and ranchers have hesitated to get into the feeding game.

SUNSHINE LODGE ENTERTAINS CARLSBAD

A contest which has been in progress between Sunshine Rebekah Lodge and the Carlsbad lodge for some months, terminated last Thursday evening when the members of the two organizations met here for a social gathering in which the Artesians were hosts to the victors of the contest. There were four broker Rebekahs in the visiting delegation of thirty and the victors and vanquished alike enjoyed the opportunity for comradeship. A number of new Rebekah pep songs put life and fun into the party and a short, but enjoyable program added considerably to the success of the evening. The program consisted of readings by Florine Nancy, a tap dance by Little Lewis Story and piano numbers by Bettyne Lannine. A supper was served by the members. The lodge, under the leadership of Miss Mary McCaw, noble grand, is having a successful year and will probably be prepared to beat the Carlsbad lodge in some future contest.

Among those from Carlsbad in attendance were: Misses Mayme, Rose Ellen and Ruth Ann Castle, Mrs. Bertha Hackney, Ruth Hoose, Frona Collins, Minnie Vaughan, Sina Skinner, Mrs. Buca, Mrs. Gunnerson, Mrs. John Forehand, Mrs. Evans, Eva Morrow, Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Chaytor, Mrs. E. MISS COBBLE AND GIRL SCOUTS HONORED

Members of the Girl Scout community committee met at the home of Mrs. Raymond Bartlett, Tuesday afternoon for an informal hour in honor of Miss Evelyn Cobble, whose engagement to John S. Williams has been announced and in honor of members of Scout troop number four.

Miss Cobble is the former leader of the above troop and was given the privilege of investing six of the members with their pins which are the awards given when the tenderfoot tests have been passed. She was assisted by Miss Avis Clowe who is at the present an assistant leader of the troop. The Scouts who received their pins were Jane Shugart, Phillis Bartlett, Mary Baird, Betty Nelle Lanning, Syble Pior and Wanda Story.

A lovely gift was presented Miss Cobble, bride-elect, by the Scout committee and another by members of the troop.

Mrs. Mary Stillwaugh has succeeded Miss Cobble as Scout leader and has as her assistants Miss Avis Clowe and Miss Nell Jackson. A number of the troop are nearing the completion of their tenderfoot tests after which they will receive their pins. Dainty refreshments were served by the committee.

THE SUSANNAH WESLEY CLASS

The Susannah Wesley class met in the ladies' parlor of the Methodist church last Thursday afternoon as guests of Mrs. William Gissler and Mrs. W. S. Williams at the monthly business and social meeting. This active, interested class of ladies found much to discuss in the business session, presided over by the new president, Mrs. O. S. Matteson, and the intervals of fun between the consideration of serious affairs made any prescribed order of entertainment unnecessary. The hostesses served delicious refreshments of pumpkin pie, sandwiches and coffee.

Those present were Mmes. E. B. Bullock, Matteson, Mary Forsyth, A. C. Douglas, Ella Stanley, George Frisch, H. A. Stroup, Nancy Eipper, S. S. Ward, Ike Keller, Reed Brainard and the hostesses.

AUXILIARY MEETING

Armistice Day and Thanksgiving were honored in the meeting of the Legion Auxiliary at the hut on Monday afternoon. The new president, Mrs. Pearl Morris, was in the chair and asked the members to observe a moment of silence in memory of the honored dead. Mrs. Gail Hamilton was in charge of the program in which Thanksgiving was honored in a poem by Sibly Pior, entitled "A Good Thanksgiving." A soprano solo, "Sunshine of Your Smiles," by Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. John Runyan accompanying, was much enjoyed. A Fidac letter from the national secretary was read by Mrs. Jess Truett and the regular business was transacted. Hostesses for the day were Mmes. Hamilton and Ben Pior, who served seasonable refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee. There was a good attendance of members.

ENGRAVING—THE ADVOCATE

MYERS-PIOR

In the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives at the Nazarene church last Thursday evening at eight o'clock Miss Martha Myers became the bride of Mr. Earl Pior.

The young people exchanged their marital vows by candlelight under a beautifully decorated arch with a background of large baskets of fall flowers and candles. The ring ceremony was read by the Rev. E. G. Benson, pastor of the church and brother-in-law of the bride, who was escorted by her father, S. S. Myers of Upland, California.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Jess Shildneck sang "Because." The bridal party entered the church to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played upon the violin by Mrs. Raymond Deter Welbourne of Dexter to the piano accompaniment of Richard Rockwell. "O, Sweet Mystery of Life" was rendered softly upon the violin by Mrs. Welbourne during the ceremony and the Mendelssohn wedding march was played as the wedding party retired from the church.

The bride was lovely in a wedding gown of pale pink satin-back crepe with her long tulle veil held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a beautiful bouquet of pink rosebuds and white sweet peas. Her sister, Miss Hazel Myers of Upland, California, who attended her as maid of honor, was becomingly gowned in pale blue satin-backed crepe and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink carnations. The little flower girls, Ava Lee and Moreen McLellan, wore pale green and yellow silk crepe dresses respectively. Ancil Pior, brother of the groom, was best man and Floyd Gray and Vessie Mathis acted as ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of brother-in-law and sister of the bride, the Rev. and Mrs. Benson, at whose home she has been a guest for the past five months. Present at the reception to offer congratulations and best wishes were the parents and sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Myers and Miss Hazel Myers, and the bride's brother, Cecil Myers, wife and little son, all of California, the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. At a recent business session the First Baptist church voted by a large majority to retain the present pastor, the Rev. F. C. Rowland, for an indefinite period of time.

During the past year the local Baptist church has enjoyed more additions than any other Baptist church in the state except the First Baptist church at Albuquerque. Also a general B. T. S. organization has been set up including five new unions. One new W. M. S. circle has been organized for the younger married ladies; and one new Sunday school class organized for the younger married men with the pastor as the teacher.

The Rev. Rowland has not indicated whether he will accept or reject the call extended but his reply is expected by January 1st.

IN SOCIETY

"THE GHOST BIRD"

Only dramatic talent of marked ability could have put over the club play, "The Ghost Bird," Friday evening at the Central auditorium, with such brilliant success. Mystery and fun combined to create a play of unusual merit and the audience was entertained and amused from start to finish. There was not a dull moment from the first curtain till the close, and the spectators showed their keen appreciation in a most gratifying way to the actors and the management.

Special praise should be given to three actors in this capable cast, Miss O'Leta Mounts, whose portrayal of the maid, Andalusia Anderson, was excellent; Richard Rockwell, whose clever work as a butler and amateur finger printer incited much of the laughter throughout the four acts of this thrilling comedy, and Mrs. Richard Rockwell, who, as a French maid, did some fine acting. Mrs. Martin Yates, club president, as Mrs. Dore, should be seen to be appreciated. All of the parts were well taken, making of the play an outstanding amateur production.

The Epworth League orchestra furnished popular music and clever specialties were given, with encores, between the acts. These included guitar numbers by Floyd Gray, a tap dance by Miss Jimmie King, and a violin solo by Mrs. Raymon Welbourne, accompanied by Miss Frances Welbourne. Mrs. Welbourne, whose beautiful violin music and soprano voice are always popular with Artisans, responded with a soprano solo.

A full house greeted "The Ghost Bird," which was sponsored by the Woman's Club, and directed by F. Myrick Russell, a professional producer and actor, whose dramatic ability was demonstrated in the production. The proceeds from the play will be applied on the club house building fund.

FARMERS TO GET LOANS ON COTTON

WASHINGTON—Farm officials have decided to make loans on cotton on which options were given farmers as part of their benefit payment for plowing up more than 10,000,000 acres of their growing crop last summer.

It was disclosed Monday night that a tentative commitment of $37,000,000 from the reconstruction corporation has been arranged.

The loans will be made through the commodity credit corporation. Details of the plan are expected to be completed within ten days, but it is intended to make possible loans for four cents a pound on more than 2,200,000 bales.

This is the third of the major farm loan programs being arranged through the commodity corporations, the newest of the government's financial agencies.

THRILLING EXPERIENCE WITH A BOB CAT

O. R. Davis of Oilton, Oklahoma, who joined a party of deer hunters composed of J. W. Bradshaw of Artesia, L. R. Buck of Cottonwood, and O. S. Davis of Ringling, Oklahoma, carried the memory of a thrilling experience back to his home a few days ago. Mr. Davis, the only hunter in the party to get his buck, also got a mountain bob cat. One of the largest bob cats seen in the mountain section was perched on a rocky ledge a few feet from the top of a high bluff. Mr. Davis decided he would get the bob cat and wounded it the first shot. The cat, wounded and suffering, sprang from the bluff, coming directly at the hunter. Mr. Davis with his gun poised made a very lucky shot, hitting the cat just below the eye. But for the lucky shot Mr. Davis might have carried home a few scratches. L. R. Buck, stationed about twenty-five yards away said he had a ring side seat and was able to laugh about the close call after the incident.

MUTT AND JEFF . . . Well, Jeff Is Kind-hearted Anyway . . . by Bud Fisher

SAVORY MEAT HAS APPELITE APPEAL

The flavor of meat, if properly cooked, has a strong appeal to most appetites says Miss Veda Strong of the New Mexico State College. A good cook, therefore, must know how to buy meat and how to cook and serve it in a variety of appetizing ways.

A rule for meat cookery is "Know your meat cuts and how to cook and serve them according to the cut." Some cuts are tender, some are less tender, depending upon the location on the animal. In a beef side, both kinds are found; the tender cuts are the loin and rib, the less tender cuts are the chuck, rump and round, which have more connective tissue.

If you want to conserve food value and give your meat the best flavor or "appetite appeal," cook tender cuts either by roasting or broiling. The less tender cuts should be cooked by braising, or some other method of long, slow cooking in a covered utensil that holds in the steam and softens the connective tissue.

To bring out that savory flavor of meat, enough heat to brown the outside should be applied at some time during the cooking process. Tender cuts, with a good covering of fat on the outside are best if browned first, very quickly, then the temperature reduced to a moderate heat to finish the cooking. The experts who have been working on meat cookery will tell you to cook all tender cuts in an open pan with no water added. An open roasting pan with a rack is best for all tender roasts of beef, lamb and pork with a good covering of fat. The rack holds the meat off the hot pan, so that the bottom doesn't overcook. As for pan-broiling beefsteaks and lamb chops, the same rules apply. Use a heavy skillet. Never put a lid over them. Never add a drop of water. Use a high temperature first for browning, then finish cooking at a moderate temperature.

Although there are almost 200 distinct breeds of dogs in the world, no one of these can be considered a separate species, for any dog may breed with any other dog and produce fertile offspring. So whether a dog be a tiny creature no more than six inches high and weighing in the neighborhood of two pounds, or a 200-pounder standing nearly three feet tall; whether its coat be shaggy or short haired, and regardless of its hue, it will have the same general characteristics and body structure of all dogdom.

CHAIN STORES CITED

WASHINGTON—Farm administrators Tuesday cited two chain store systems to show cause why their licenses to distribute milk in the Philadelphia area should not be suspended or revoked.

The citations named the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and the American Stores company which were charged with having violated the retail price schedules established in the Philadelphia milk shed under a license for distributors in that area which became effective August 25.

The retail price fixed in the Philadelphia area for class B milk, the type most commonly sold, was 11 cents a quart. Monday the farm administration revoked licenses of two distributors in the area for having sold milk below the agreement schedule and also with having paid farmers less than the minimum provided by the agreement.

The chain stores were given ten days in which to file answers to the charges of price-cutting.

Sally asks, "How does that give you extra money?" Helen replies, "I have more time than Dick and have learned some surprising things about the cost of car operation. Dick thought all gas and oil sold at approximately the same price were of equal value. When the motor broke down, he considered it just hard luck and paid the repair bill." Sally asks, "Isn't it?" Helen replies, "No! It is poor motor protection. More than half the entire motor wear occurs during the few minutes of starting when the motor is cold. HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT MAY HAVE MANAGER

SANTA FE—Employment of a business manager for the state highway department loomed Tuesday night after the state board of finance figuratively turned thumbs down on a $500,000 highway debenture issue sale. Spurning the debentures was not precisely the outcome of the meeting. It was decided an opinion would be sought from the attorney general and from a bond attorney office and then if those were favorable, the highway department would mandamus the state treasurer to force him to buy half a million of the two million dollar lot. The debentures were stopped by referendum of the people but under a decision of the supreme court in a similarly attacked law, some sources said the debenture issue was possible. Also there will be nothing further before November 24 when date for filing an appeal to the supreme court in the other case is up. C. E. Mauldin, member of the state highway commission, was strongly recommended as business manager for the highway department and his employment was considered a foregone conclusion. The department came in for rather severe criticism Tuesday afternoon, more so after a report was made of the progress of an audit now being conducted. The auditors said because of unpaid bills and condition of records and the system of bookkeeping used, the audit would require a longer time than at first estimated.

GRADE AND STAPLE OF COTTON STILL HIGH

Cotton classed this week from Arizona, New Mexico, California and Texas, district 1, showed an increase in the proportion of good middling extra white and better with the exception of California. Practically no spotted cotton was reported. Staple lengths ranging from 1 inch to 1-3/32 inches increased in New Mexico and Texas, district 1, whereas Arizona and California showed a slight decrease. New Mexico cotton showed a sharp increase in the proportion of good middling extra white and better, 86 per cent this week against 73 per cent last week. Strict middling extra white accounted for 13 per cent and no spotted cotton was reported. Staple lengths of 1 inch and longer increased from 91 per cent to 98 per cent this week. A slight increase was shown in lengths of 1-1/8 inches and longer. To date, 94 per cent has been classed strict middling extra white and better and 95 per cent 1 inch and longer.

Manco Capac, First Inca Chief of Quichua Tribe

The word Inca, in the Quichua tongue means chief. The first Inca was Manco Capac, the leader of the Quichua tribe, when, at some date unknown, they took possession of the country of Peru. The Incas claimed to be the children of the sun, and were the high priests of the national religion—which was the worship of the sun—and received divine honors. In a strict sense the name Inca was confined to the monarch who was the direct descendant of Manco Capac. In a larger sense, the Incas included the whole ruling and sacerdotal class of ancient Peru, who were very wealthy and held in great veneration by the lower ranks of the people. There are many persons in Peru who claim descent from this South American blood royal.

Under the Incas the country was very prosperous, and the arts and sciences were cultivated. The people wove and spun, they worked mines, built bridges and houses and temples of adobe and stone, made sterile tracts of land fertile by a good system of irrigation, understood astronomy, and possessed quite a remarkable traditional literature.

The habits of the ruling class, though they were possessed of great wealth, were simple and innocent. They were a kindly, truthful race and fell an easy prey to the treacherous and rapacious Spanish adventurers. After the conquest of the country by the Spaniards and the destruction of their rulers, the Quichuas retrograded, forgetting the knowledge they had once possessed, and losing their skill in the arts.

COTTON CONTROL PLAN

1. No cotton may be sold in the United States from farms by original producers or owners without a government permit.
2. Between December 1st of any year and February 1st of the following calendar year the secretary of agriculture shall determine the amount of cotton which farmers of the United States may sell from the coming crop, (partly price index levels with all manufactured commodities to be the determining factor), and distribute the allowable total ratably to each state and county as determined by the five year average production, 1927-32.
3. In like manner from g'n records federal agents shall determine between March 1st-May 1st the number of bales which may be sold from each farm in each county and upon request issue the necessary selling permit for that number of bales.
4. Obtaining permits by fraud or selling cotton without permit punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both.

World's Coldest Room Is Used to Preserve Food

The Cambridge low temperature research station is one of the principal organizations of the government's food investigation department. One of its greatest problems, says Tit-Bits Magazine, is the preservation of Australian beef, which, unlike Argentine beef, cannot be transported to this country in a merely chilled state owing to the greater distance.

Though the research station is a centrally heated building in Cambridge, it contains a room compared with which an Eskimo's snow igloo is a sun parlor! A hundred degrees of frost is the lowest to which the mercury has so far been allowed to drop, and cold of this intensity is sometimes found at the poles, but nowhere else.

The scientists who work in these miniature polar regions must clothe themselves like Arctic explorers, for the walls and roof are encrusted with glistening frost, and long crystal icicles hang like stalactites in a cavern. About ten minutes at a time is the limit of endurance. However, the solution of one of the world's greatest problems—how to keep food fresh, palatable, and nutritive while being transported from one side of the globe to the other—is well worth the hardship.

Holly Oak Trees

The leaves on the holly oak are about one-third larger and a more glossy green than the native, although the serrated or sawtooth edges are quite similar. The holly oak has been mistakenly sold in nurseries of southern California as the Virginia live oak (Quercus virginiana), according to the department of agriculture of the University of California. The live oaks are all round-headed and spreading in habit with an ultimate height of 40 to 50 feet. They are usually planted from 40 to 50 feet apart in street parkways.

Yale Bulldog Mascot

The Yale University Athletic association says that the Eli mascot is no myth. Handsome Dan was his name, and he was owned by Andrew B. Graves of the class of '92. Handsome Dan was the official Yale football mascot for over ten years. He was a big, white, brindled bulldog, and when he died his carcass was stuffed, and it adorns an important position in the Yale trophy room.

Water Buffalo a Fighter

The wild water buffalo of Asia, sometimes called the Indian buffalo, is rapidly becoming very rare. Like the African buffalo, it is very dangerous. It is found most often wading on river bottoms and flood plains, frequently wallowing in the mud. It formerly ranged the low country along the Ganges and Brahmaputra rivers, and also in the northern part of Ceylon. Large herds are no longer seen, and there has been local interbreeding between the wild and domestic stock. On account of its semi-aquatic habits it is very useful in the rice fields.

NEW HIGHWAY PLAN TO ADD MANY MEN TO THE PAY ROLLS

SANTA FE—A new plan, in addition to many others, for putting men to work has been announced by the federal government. It is for road reconstruction work—not building new highways.

A general outline of the plan was wired Monday to G. D. Macy, state highway engineer. The government will pay 100 per cent of the cost, to be divided 65 per cent to labor and 35 per cent to materials, supplies and equipment.

It was expected at least 5,000 men could be put to work in New Mexico in short order if the plan goes through. A survey now is being made of the nation on the plan. Under the plan, $5,000 would be made available immediately on six or eight projects, work to start immediately. Macy said he expected more detailed information in a few days.

holding. Artesia attempted five passes in this half, two of them being successful, one intercepted by Pope and two were incomplete. The second half began in about the same way and the third quarter was also scoreless, although the great defensive work of Schnaubert and Pope for Carlsbad began to show weakness. The last quarter found Artesia nearing the goal line. After a series of line plunges and tackle smashes by the Champion brothers, E. Champion went over right tackle for the initial touchdown. Chambers, who replaced "Little" Champion, failed to convert for extra point.

Artesia soon gained possession of the ball and Vandever erected left end for a large gain, which looked like it might be a touchdown before he was downed by Oden. A series of line plunges and reverses advanced the ball to the one foot line, where E. Champion again plunged through the right tackle for another touchdown. Chambers passed to Williams.

Coach Allen began to send in substitutes for Artesia and Coach Renfro for Carlsbad made several substitutions in an effort to stop the ground gaining plays of the opponents. Just before the final whistle, Chambers stood on the forty-three yard line and tossed a twenty-five yard pass to Rowley who eluded the safety man for the third touchdown. Haines drop kicked for the extra point, making the score 20 to 0.

Starnes and Oden were the outstanding offensive players for Carlsbad while Schnaubert and Pope played an excellent defensive game during the first half. The Champion brothers were the ground gaining stars for Artesia although Chambers was a valuable man due to his passing. Holeman at tackle was the outstanding man on the gridiron for his superior work in the line. Williams and Cogdell were both hard fighters.

Summary: Carlsbad made five first downs; attempted three passes, one successful, one incomplete and one intercepted; penalties, 20 yards. Artesia made fifteen first downs; attempted ten passes, four incomplete, one intercepted and five successful; one pass resulted in touchdown and one for extra point; penalties, 50 yards.

Sterling makes new highs almost daily this reflecting the cheapening of European capital from America is now depressing government bonds which is of national concern and its resulting effects will cause greater caution in our gold buying program.

Already some cotton merchants are cutting basis and this always increases after "soft cotton" (resulting from freezes) comes on. SCHOOL TAX IS 14.3 MILLS THIS YEAR

SANTA FE—Average tax rate for school maintenance for the present school year is 14.3 mills, with the average tax rate for school district direct charge of 3 mills, bringing the average tax rate for all school purposes over the state to 17 mills, R. H. Grissom, educational budget auditor, announced last week.

The levy will produce approximately $3,930,000 in taxes, Grissom said.

Even with a 17 mill levy, the schools will not be able to keep open the full 9 months terms in all the counties, he said. How they will operate next school year when the 20 mill tax limitation is in effect is problematical.

Grissom estimates that if the schools are to have a nine months term next year approximately $2,500,000 in new revenue will have to be raised, providing the schools are given at least a six mill tax levy.

HOW TO CURE PORK

The home curing of pork is an operation which, while it is increasing each year is still not performed to the extent that it should be, says W. A. Wunsch, county extension agent, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Every farm in the county should make an effort to produce enough pork for home consumption. There are a few fundamental principles in the curing of pork and pork products that may be of particular benefit to those contemplating this kind of work.

One of the most important factors in obtaining good pork is the proper bleeding of the animal. Animals that are to be slaughtered should be kept in a dry lot without feed but with all the water they will drink, for a period of twenty-four hours before killing. When the animal is to be killed it should be caught as quickly as possible, as animals that have been run excessively before slaughter show a more or less slimy condition of the meat. In sticking the animal it is better to stick it without previously stunning it, as the animal bleeds better and there is very little pain attached to this operation. In making the stick, many farmers make a mistake in that they endeavor to cut into the heart of the animal. The heart should be left intact so that it can pump out the blood as well as possible. The best method of making the stick is so that the knife will cut the carotid arteries just at the point where they divide between the first two ribs. If the animal can be hung up after sticking, it will bleed better.

After the animal has been dressed, the most important factor is the cooling of the carcass. More meat is lost through improper cooling than from any other cause. It is often difficult to secure the proper temperature for killing hogs. If the meat can be cooled down to 40°, there is very little danger of spoilage. Probably one of the best plans that we have is to kill the hog on the afternoon of as cold a day as possible and let the carcass hang overnight.

Any of the methods of cutting are all right provided they do not result in too much waste. After the animal has been cut up, one of the best methods is to give the pieces a light preliminary salting and lay them on a rack so that the pieces do not touch each other and permit them to drain for twenty-four hours before applying the cure.

If the meat is to be sugar cured and smoked, the best one for New Mexico is the standard government 8-2-2 cure, which consists of 8 pounds of salt, 2 pounds of sugar and 2 ounces of salt peter for each 100 pounds of ham or shoulder meat. The cure is applied by rubbing it thoroughly onto the pieces, working as much of it as possible in around the joints and ends of bones. For hams and shoulders, the meat is left in the cure for two days for each pound weight. The same kind of cure can be used for bacon, using 5 pounds of salt instead of 8, 2 pounds of sugar and 2 ounces of salt peter and it can also be left in the cure two days for each pound weight. After the meat is taken from the cure, the cure should be washed off and the meat hung and allowed to drain before the smoking operation is started. If the meat is still draining when the smoking begins it will result in pieces being streaked.

Any of the non-resinous woods such as apple, willow or oak may be used for smoking the meat and corn cobs also very satisfactory. When the smoking is first begun, the ventilators of the smokehouse should be left open to permit the escape of moisture. It is not necessary to have an extremely dense smoke. Usually two days smoking will give the desired color to the meat. After the meat is smoked, it should be wrapped in oiled paper and then wrapped in muslin (flour sacks serve this purpose very well), and stored in a dry place. The muslin coverings containing the meat may be dipped in protective washes to keep out insects. (Formulae for these washes can be obtained from the county agent).

Many people prefer to use commercially prepared smoked salt. Many of the commercial salt companies are putting out these smoked salts that are mixed in the correct proportions for the sugar cure. These salts are very satisfactory for small amounts of meat, or in regions where it is difficult to perform the smoking operation, as smoking is unnecessary with these salts. They are in rather widespread use in all sections of New Mexico. Directions for their use are printed on the containers.

Mrs. Grover Kinder, school nurse, accompanied Dr. Puckett, county health officer, to Roswell Saturday to attend a public health meeting.

CHAIN STORE TAX MAY BE ENFORCED

The "chain stores" occupation tax act may be put into force at once as the result of the supreme court's decision in the SB 144 case, holding that a law carrying the emergency referendum cannot be suspended by a referendum petition, said State Comptroller Juan N. Vigil Monday at Santa Fe.

His office is charged with the enforcement of the act.

Vigil said he had made a formal request of the attorney general's office as to whether he should put the law into effect. He expects a favorable answer, he said, having been given an off-hand opinion previously that he ought to go ahead.

The so-called "chain stores" tax is an occupation tax on mercantile businesses, taking the place of occupation taxes now levied by municipalities. They are to share in the collections to be made by the comptroller's office to offset the loss of revenue they heretofore have collected directly. The bill was bitterly fought in the legislature. It was frankly admitted at the time that it was intended to hit the chain stores harder than independent merchants.

The chain store tax is one of the six acts attacked by the referenda. It was declared suspended by the secretary of state, Mrs. Marguerite P. Baca, when the referenda petition was filed; but, according to the supreme court's decision in the SB 144 case the law is in effect. There is another question at issue in the supreme court, however, which affects the chain stores tax. This is being presented in the crude petroleum severance tax case—whether an act that supplies revenue for the common schools is subject to the referendum. Part of the chain stores tax would go to the schools.
