TAX INSPECTION

Speaking of federal tax evasion, Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau says it is easier than it should be because of the limited facilities of the Bureau of Internal Revenue to check up on the taxpayers. The Bureau, he explains, is only able to audit 500,000 of the 6,000,000 income tax returns filed annually.

This means that the federal examiners can only make a careful examination of one income tax report out of twelve. Many taxpayers who feel that they have been unduly harassed by federal revenue examiners find it hard to believe. And this feeling is not confined by any means to the fellows in the higher brackets.

There are hundreds of thousands of small income taxpayers, whose obligations to the government may run from $100 to $500 a year, who will testify that they are visited by federal tax inquisitors every two or three years, and subjected to a long and troublesome inquiry, at the end of which the agents may find nothing but small, technical and unimportant errors.

One such taxpayer reports having his account overhauled four times in seven years, the net result being that the agents once found he owed the government $11. There were some unusual features in his tax reports, which might have aroused the suspicion the first time; but they were consistent from year to year. The examiners never seemed to have any record of previous examinations and always had to begin all over again, wasting their time and the taxpayer's time.

Such taxpayers naturally wonder why they should be singled out for such frequent inquisition, if there are not enough to cover the big fellows whose concealments or errors might be really important.—Las Cruces Citizen.

And when a taxpayer owes the federal government prompt payment is made, or else the government may take even the taxpayer's pants, but when the government owes the individual the story is altogether different and if you live long enough you may eventually get the amount due. Eighteen months ago, the writer laid claim for a small income tax refund. Since that time he has signed three questionnaires and two affidavits and has been checked twice by a department of revenue representatives, but the refund check has never reached him.

PRAISE FOR HATCH

Choosing to do a real job, for the benefit of his constituents rather than for an increase in personal power by means of patronage, U. S. Senator Carl A. Hatch has stood his ground in the Supreme Court dispute. After careful study, he announced his opposition to the plan. And he continues to oppose it, although he believes a compromise can be found that will be satisfactory to all concerned.

As a result of the firm stand he has taken, Senator Hatch has earned, and does have, the respect of thinking people in New Mexico and throughout the nation.—The Lordsburg Liberal.

EDUCATION "PAYS"

It pays to go to school. Authorities have found that the uneducated American earns approximately $20,000 in 40 years of work; the common school graduate earns an average total of $36,000; the high school graduate earns a total of $72,000; and the college or university graduate earns a total of $96,000. It has been computed that for every day spent in school during childhood, the adult eventually earns about $10.—Wall Street Journal.

Reading between the lines it looks as though an unholy alliance has been formed between John L. Lewis of the CIO and Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor. At least Miss Perkins has been accused of winking at some of the violence accompanying the strike with which the CIO has been charged. And this has put the administration in a tough spot for on every side has come demands for the designation of the secretary of labor, which probably has nullified some of the effects of the late democratic love feast, held recently in the east.

Grasshoppers are scouraging the greater part of the plains country of the nation. Several months ago government entomologists predicted a crop of billions of grasshoppers and this fact has been known in ample time to prepare measures for the destruction of the hopper horde, yet the government is not ready. Perhaps by fall if any crops survive in the infested areas, the government will be ready to lend a hand. But that is government methods for you. By the time the maze of red tape is cut, the proffered assistance is too late to be of benefit.

FENCE POST FARMS THRIVE IN THE WEST

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—"Remember the fence posts" has become an important axiom in the lumber producing Pacific northwest.

Experts have determined 88,000,000 board feet of lumber are used each year in replacing fence posts in Washington and Oregon alone. In states where farms are smaller, the annual fence post consumption is much larger.

Lumber companies have established several "post farms" near here to test various methods of treating posts to withstand weather and insects.

NEW LIQUOR ORDINANCE EFFECTIVE

The new liquor ordinance, published in the last issue of the Advocate was effective July 1st and superseded the old ordinance expiring on that date. The new ordinance now in effect is more stringent in its regulation and also carries a higher license fee. Under the present ordinance beer dispensers will pay an annual fee of $300.00, retailers of beer and liquor by the package $700.00 and beer and liquor dispensers by the drink, $2,500 per year.

Chislings

Hollis Watson, Fred Cole and Bill Linell have a good story on a bank director's meeting, but for lack of space we can't print it. We feel sure either of the three will be glad to tell it, but it might take a little coaxing.

Col. (Windy) McCormick, sage of the Lower Cottonwood last Thursday morning predicted a wet August and staked his reputation on it. He said he had it down in a book at home just when it would rain, in fact he said it might rain a little that day, Thursday, but hedged a little, so that he might be accused of making overstatements such as some of the rest of these ex-Kentuckians, V. D. Bolton, J. K. Wallingford and J. H. Myers. Aside from trapping and gold hunting a little, he is still looking for a web-footed woman with whom he hopes to hitch up with and live happily ever after.

We don't like this hot weather. It's too much like the California climate; too monotonous.

The Silver City Press opines that if Doc Brinkley is such a friend to the human race he ought to get off the air and stay off and take Rose Dawn and some of the other fakers off with him.

It looks like a hopeless problem to get rid of our mosquitos, but there is one consolation. As long as we have the present supply of mosquitos, we'll never have to fear for the establishment of a nudist colony in the low lands of the Pecos.

At a baseball game a young woman asked her escort: "Why does that man behind the hitter wear such a big bib?" He explained to her that it was to keep the catcher's shirt from getting mused when the ball knocked his teeth out.

Charley White: "How did you get your face scratched?" Duell McDuffie: "Jumping."

Charley White: "What do you mean, jumping?" Duell McDuffie: "I jumped at conclusions about the date I had last night."

It seems the gate broke down between Heaven and Hell. St. Peter appeared at the broken part of the gate and called out to the devil, "Hey, Satan. It's your job to fix it this time."

"Sorry," replied the boss of the land beyond the Styx. "My men are too busy to worry about fixing a mere gate."

"Well then," scowled St. Peter, "I'll have to sue you for breaking our agreement."

"Oh, yeah," yelled the devil, "where are you going to find any lawyers?"

A small town merchant, when asked why he wouldn't advertise, answered, "I advertised once last summer and the consequence was, I had so much business I didn't have time to go fishing for the whole season."—Swiped.

Star Gazer (to feminine client): "Now just don't you worry dear. I'll tell you just how to manage him, why, I've been divorced four times."

Kernels From An Old Nut

Dr. John B. Angell, son of one great college president and grandson of another, himself about to retire from Yale University, recently made some observations upon our educational problems that should be given serious consideration because of their application to the every day lives of each one of us.

In the course of an interview he quoted from Lord Bryce: "Knowledge is one only among the things which go to the making of a good citizen. Public spirit and honesty are even more needful."

Commenting upon this Dr. Angell said: "The task of education today is more than ever before in the field of morals. The attitude of a man toward his job in the world is much more important than his intellectual equipment for the job. If he does not approach the world with an intelligent social altruism and with the willingness to impose upon himself a high degree of social discipline under which he will forego some of the individual prerogatives which he once could claim, then he is not yet educated."

If the task of the college today "lies more than ever in the field of morals" it is because the task of the individual lies so. This generation has made considerable advance in the field of education, as such. Have we made the same advance in the concurrent fields of honesty and public spirit? Are we learning to impose upon ourselves the high degree of social discipline of which Dr. Angell speaks?

These are serious problems that confront that portion of our community who must select a college at which their children are to be trained. It is equally serious for those who cannot send their children to college. They can acquire knowledge—of one kind or another—on the street, in the store, office or shop or upon the farm; but what of those other equally important qualities—honesty and public spirit? But these are not all to whom the problem presents itself. It is universal. If we are progressive—as we all claim to be—we must each and every one continue to acquire knowledge and with it we must give more and more attention to "that social discipline under which we forego some of the individual prerogatives which we once could claim."

YOGA, NEW TEXAS TOWN

Yoga is the newest west Texas town. It is located in the new oil field recently discovered in Gaines and Yoakum counties. The town derived its name by combining the first two letters of the two counties. The townsite is located two miles east of the new Carter Continental well about half way between the Texas-New Mexico state line and Seagraves, Texas.

BOARD RAISES SCHOOL HEAD REQUIREMENTS

SANTA FE.—New requirements for candidates for various grades of teacher's certificates giving advantage to teachers and school officials with New Mexico college training and experience were set Friday by the state board of education in session here.

One eligibility rule, which it was understood was directed against employment of school superintendents from out of state, requires that candidates for administrative certificates must have either two years' experience teaching in New Mexico schools or a year's training in an accredited institution of higher learning in the state. This regulation is effective as of July 1, the board announced.

Mrs. E. J. Foster and baby, Mrs. Florence Hastings, Wesley Hastings and Miss Ila Hastings have returned from a motor trip through Denver, Yellowstone Park and other points in that vicinity.

Some (Nay All!) Savor Sandwiches In Case You Are in a Puzzlement

When in doubt—serve sandwiches! Wrinkles of puzzlement will disappear from your brow like mist before the sun whether these time-savers are your choice for the family, or for porch, picnic or bridge party—in the good ole summertime.

All you need is "the makin's"—and don't think you can't have a real meal, either. For family or luncheon guests your sandwiches may be as substantial as your taste desires. For teatime or bridge party, these versatile "homemade" may be dainty and delicate, simple or elaborate—just as your little heart (or large appetite) desires.

Because sandwich making is a game, as well as an art, there are a few fundamental rules to follow—and after that may be the best hostess win! Even the rules are as simple as this:

"Rules of the Game"

Don't have your bread too fresh; soften your butter before spreading it; if you're going to make a large number of sandwiches cut the crust from all four sides of the loaf before slicing—it's quicker; for the children leave crusts on, they need to chew! Shape your sandwich to please yourself—oblong or square, starshaped or round and let them be good to look at as well as good to eat.

Open-faced sandwiches must be attractively garnished—and contrasting breads make sandwiches "smart"! Butter may be flavored, dressing is important, and imagination is essential. What's new? Fruit fillings and garnishes, for those sweet sandwiches which are the "sophisticates" of the sandwich-family. Chewy golden dates, combined with cream cheese, or with celery, or smoothed to a paste with orange juice, or even baked right into your bread for a sandwich-and-filling in one are popular with children of all ages. Sliced ripe bananas are a perfect taste and color combination with raspberry jam, or with rosy devil-ham—the golden slices, placed on top; and the same luscious banana, baked right into your bread, makes another moist, taste-tempting fruit bread for any sandwich party.

Don't doubt it—"sandwich in" the recipes below—hearty and hot, dainty or sweet, they'll smooth the wrinkles from your brow.

A "Triple-Date" Sandwich When you've many things to do make this Date Sandwich Loaf ahead of time—it will be all ready to go to the party!

Filling No. 1. Two-thirds cup dates, 1 or 2 pieces of candied ginger, 1/2 cup nutmeats, and 3 tablespoons orange juice. Put dates, nuts and ginger through food chopper and add orange juice; blend to smooth paste.

Filling No. 2. One 3-oz. package cream cheese, 1/4 cup minced celery, 1/8 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons cream. Blend cheese, salt and cream to a smooth paste; add celery.

Filling No. 3. One-quarter cup canned cranberry sauce. Beat with fork until smooth.

Remove crusts from 1/2 loaf white bread and 1/2 loaf brown bread; cut into 1/4 inch thick slices, lengthwise; spread one slice with butter and filling No. 1. Cover with slice of bread buttered on both sides and spread with filling No. 2. Cover with slice of bread, buttered on both sides and spread with filling No. 3. Repeat layers until 7 or 8 slices of bread have been used. Cover top and sides of sandwich loaf with cream cheese smoothed to a paste with cream. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. When ready to serve cut in thin slices. 54 sandwiches.

A Picnic Sandwich: Wrap two slices of bacon around each peeled banana to be served; skewer with toothpick or twigs. Stick on the end of a green branch and broil over campfire until bacon is crisp. Serve between buttered slices of bread or on buttered finger roll.

Bridge Party Treat: Mix 3 bananas, diced with 1 cup diced canned pineapple. Add 1 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken, 1/4 cup diced cucumber, 1/4 teaspoon salt and mayonnaise to moisten. Spread between buttered slices of bread.

Here's a Hot One One cup bologna (ground); 1 1/2 teasps. onion, finely chopped; 1 1/2 teasps. mustard; 1 1/2 teasps. lemon juice; 1 hard cooked egg; 1/4 cup celery, finely chopped; 1/4 cup mayonnaise; 12 slices bread, 2 eggs, 2 tbsps. milk; 1/4 teasp. salt.

Mix bologna, onion, mustard, lemon juice, hard-cooked egg, celery, and mayonnaise together. Spread generously between slices of buttered bread; cut in half diagonally. Dip sandwiches in beaten egg mixed with milk and salt. Saute in hot mazzola and serve at once.

LOVINGTON WANTS A NEW ROAD

Word from Lovington, county seat of Lea county says that citizens of that community want a road connection to the newly opened oil field in west Texas along the Gaines and Yoakum county lines, just across the state line in Texas. The proposed road would traverse the old Lovington-Seminole highway to a point nine miles east of Lovington, thence north a mile and a half to the township line, thence east to the Texas-New Mexico line. This road is graded to three and a half miles west of the state line and it would only take three and a half miles of grade to make the road practically an all weather highway, Lovington citizens contend.

A committee of Lovington business men visited the Seagraves Chamber of Commerce there to determine what can be done to put the road in good condition between the two communities.

SOCIETY

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Though many members of the various church societies are on their vacations or have moved to the coolness of their mountain cabins Thursday afternoon these societies met with a fair attendance in some of the most interesting meetings of the year.

Approximately fifteen ladies met at the home of Mrs. Thomas Massie for the regular work meeting of the Christian Women's Association. Mrs. Massie led the devotional worship which opens the meeting of this group and later read an intensely interesting paper on "Missions." The afternoon was spent in fellowship of work that the ladies had brought with them. Closing the regular meeting of this group the hostess served light refreshments.

Methodist ladies met at the church for their regular business meeting which is their custom at the first meeting of the month. Mrs. Reed Brainard, president of the group, presided over the meeting. Routine affairs were attended to and Mrs. C. R. Baldwin with Mrs. John McCann were appointed as the visiting committee of the Missionary society. Some discussions were made concerning various means of adding to the financial status of the group and these will be announced at a later date.

The first meeting of the month for the Presbyterian ladies is called the aid meeting and always meets at the church. Thursday was no exception to this rule about a dozen ladies met for this meeting in the church. The time was spent in sewing on the quilt blocks which will be made into comfort tops and in visiting together. The next regular meeting of this group was set aside as the date to hear the report of the Sandia Conference from the delegates to this conference which was held recently.

In the absence of Mrs. B. A. Bishop, president of the Baptist Missionary Society who has been confined to her home for the past several weeks because of very serious illness, Mrs. P. G. Woodruff presided. The first meeting of the month for this group is one of mission study and the topic for this meeting was "The Negro." This was presented to the group in a capable manner by Mrs. Billy Walters who was ably assisted by Mrs. J. H. Myers, Mrs. Ernest Scoggins, Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. G. E. Ewart and Mrs. Woodruff. The Bible study proved to be one of much interest led by Miss Elizabeth Muncy a recent graduate of Baylor University whose study of the Bible there enabled her to present the theme for the afternoon's thought in a fresh, active, thoughtful manner. This group will meet again this afternoon for the Bible study led by Mrs. Woodruff. The meeting will be held at the church.

BRIDE COMPLIMENTED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Lowell Price, a most recent bride, was complimented by a shower by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Leland Price, at her home Thursday evening. Lovely seasonal garden flowers were arranged in a most pleasing manner to make the charming home of the hostess one of real pleasure to see and added to the festive air of the happy occasion.

Five tables of bridge were placed in the rooms and here the guests enjoyed the game during the evening hours. At the close of this game Mrs. Harold Dunn held the high score of the evening and Miss Geneva Bailey was awarded the low score prize. The hostess served a refreshing ice course to her guests after presenting Mrs. Price with the many lovely gifts that her friends had brought for the shower. Mrs. Price has been in Artesia for some time and was formerly connected with the Artesia Beauty Service. She has a host of friends and these gifts were a small token of the regard and esteem in which she is held by these many friends.

Guests of the evening included Mrs. Clyde Guy, Harold Dunn, Walter Douglas, Clarence Key, Lowell Naylor, J. O. Wood, Joe Nunn, Roy Langston, S. A. Lanning, Fred Henderson, Ethel Lewis, Misses Mary McCaw, Jimmie King, Cecelia Rehberg, Ethel Bullock, Geneva Bailey, Elaine Feemster, Kate and Ruth Womack, and the honoree.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR W. T. HALDEMAN

Perhaps nothing can equal the delight and pleasure of a real surprise party when that element of surprise is carefully worked out and is successful. Truly the party given by Mrs. W. T. Haldeман for her husband Friday evening met all the requirements for the successful surprise party. Mr. Haldeман attended a Game Association meeting in town earlier in the evening and while he was there the guests assembled at his home to greet him as he returned.

The beautiful Spanish type home that has been so carefully and artistically arranged in keeping with the architecture was charming as a setting for the party. Large French doors opening out onto the cobble stone paved patio gave an inviting appearance to the guests for dancing in the living room. A tinkling fountain vied its music with that furnished by the orchestra composed of violin, guitar, accordion and harmonica played by Denton Reed, Lynn Cobble and the Lahman brothers for popularity among the guests. This fountain which is really one of unusual beauty occupies the center of the intriguing patio and centers the lily pool. With the lights so artistically placed the place was one of unusual beauty. Chairs were placed about the pool and with this scene the guests were entirely charmed. At midnight the hostess served a refreshment plate to the following guests: Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Martin, J. A. Reed, C. E. Speck, Howard Williams, Lewis Story, Clarence and Oscar Pearson, C. R. Blocker, Dick Vandagriff, Jess Funk, Ed Shrock, Dr. and Mrs. Craig Cornett, Bob and Betty Cornett, Mrs. Irvin Martin and Miss Hazel Hobson.

ENGRAVING—THE ADVOCATE

"Through the years WOMAN IS THE PURSUER"

THE long procession of amatory history, according to sociologists and psychologists, reverses the biological formula. It is Woman who chases Man. The most spectacular love affairs in the world, the twosomes of classical tradition, all point to the picture of an aggressive predatory Woman hounding a vainly elusive Man into the deadly clutches of the softer emotion. Josephine pursued Napoleon across a Europe ravaged by war, and caught him—and married him. Cleopatra got Caesar out on a fancy barge, plied him with soft music and incense—and he lost his dream of empire and his head. Helen of Troy leered at Paris and precipitated a long war, ending only when the Greeks managed to jockey their horse across the line first. Venus chased Adonis over a mythological hill and dale (she had arms then), and Catherine the Great, of Russia, outdid them all. She was a sort of nineteenth century sweetheart of Sigma Chi. And now Miss Miriam Hopkins chases Joel McCrea, in "Woman Chases Man," a comedy produced by Samuel Goldwyn and dedicated to the thesis that man just ain't fast enough.

MR. AND MRS. ALFRED COLL CELEBRATE THEIR 25TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Miss Marion Coll along with Mrs. Britton Coll entertained many old time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Coll in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary June twenty-sixth. This came as a decided surprise to the honored couple and was given at the Alfred Coll home east of town.

Each guest presented this fortunate couple with their heartiest congratulations and a gift in keeping with this silver celebration. The evening was spent in spirited social chatter as such a happy occasion as this deserves. Guests besides the couple of honor were Messrs. and Mesdames A. G. Glasser, Boone Barnett, E. E. Gillispie, Carl Martin, J. B. Atkeson, R. G. Knoedler, F. A. Manda, W. C. Gray, J. W. Bradshaw, the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Massie, Mrs. G. U. The members of the club who were present for the afternoon's game were Mmes. J. J. Clarke, James Nellis, Beecher Rowan, G. U. McCrory, C. R. Blocker, C. M. Houk, Harold Hamill and J. Hise Myers. INTEREST IN THE BOY SCOUT CAMP

Largest attendance in the history of the institution is expected at Camp Wehinahay, Boy Scout camp west of Weed, this summer, Mark Kuy King, new field executive for the Eastern New Mexico Area council, said Wednesday at Roswell.

King said an extra session will be planned, if it is found that Camp Wehinahay cannot take care of all scouts this year.

The scout executive said there is much enthusiasm in the district, and that many places that never before have been represented will send scouts to the camp this year.

The annual summer encampment in the mountains will start July 15, and end July 25. Included in the program will be horseback riding, chuck wagon trips, pioneer camps, swimming, exploring trips and handicraft work.

King asked that persons who have tools that the scouts could use in their handicraft work, contact the scout headquarters now in Roswell. He said the scouts need shovels, picks, hammers, axes, saws, rakes, hoes, squares, planes and other tools.

GOV. TINGLEY DENIES BID FOR EXTRADITION

SANTA FE.—Gov. Clyde Tingley announced late Wednesday that he had denied the request of the state of Oklahoma for the extradition of Raymond Wright, taken into custody at Roswell on a grand larceny charge.

Wright, who was wanted in Enid, Oklahoma, maintained through his attorney G. T. Watts, of Roswell, that he was not guilty and contended evidence was insufficient to warrant his extradition. The hearing was held before Governor Tingley Wednesday morning.

A. F. F. BRIDGE CLUB

The final meeting until the summer months have passed of the A. F. F. Bridge club was held at the home of Mrs. Carl Folkner, hostess, Wednesday afternoon. An artistic arrangement of flowers added to the charm of the party given at this time. Cards were the pleasure of the afternoon at which Mrs. Leland Price won high score and Mrs. Herman Dick Jones won low score.

The following members of the club and two guests had the pleasure of the occasion, members, Mmes. Leon Clayton, Leland Price, Herman Dick Jones, Fletcher Collins, Howard Stroup and the hostess, guests were Mrs. Mark Caraway who is visiting relatives and friends here and Mrs. Stewart Compton who is the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wilson.

SEA BIRD SANCTUARY

BONAVENTURE ISLAND, just off Perce at the eastern tip of the Gaspé Peninsula on the south shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence in Quebec, is one of the greatest sea bird sanctuaries in the world. The island and the steep cliffs of the nearby mainland are protected by the government and on these hospitable shores tens of thousands of sea birds make their nests each year. The principal varieties are gulls, gannets and cormorants. Reached by rail or highway, Perce Village has, in recent years, become famous for its beauty with tourists and especially with artists. The photographs show a general view of Perce and Bonaventure Island, a cliff side loaded down with sea birds and a close-up of a few gannets nesting on the rocks.

GOLDEN PHANTOMS

Fascinating Tales of Lost Mines by Edith L. Watson G.W.U.

INDIAN GUARDIANS

THE Utes know—or they used to know—where there is a valley full of gold nuggets. The gold is so thick that it may be gathered by bushels. And since no white man has ever found it for keeps, it must still lie somewhere out in the old Ute country, which is so desolate that no one save the most desperate would venture into its fastnesses.

Mike Gray heard of the valley of gold from a Frenchman in California in 1872. He organized a small party and outfitted for gold-seeking, but somehow he never managed to reach his goal. He said that a white woman, held captive by the Utes, knew its location, but the Indians feared that she would tell, and at last killed her to silence her tongue.

There was a Mexican woman once who saw another Indian gold mine, and she told about it in detail, but no one could find it. So the Utes might as well let their captive live, since describing definite locations among the mountains is no easy task.

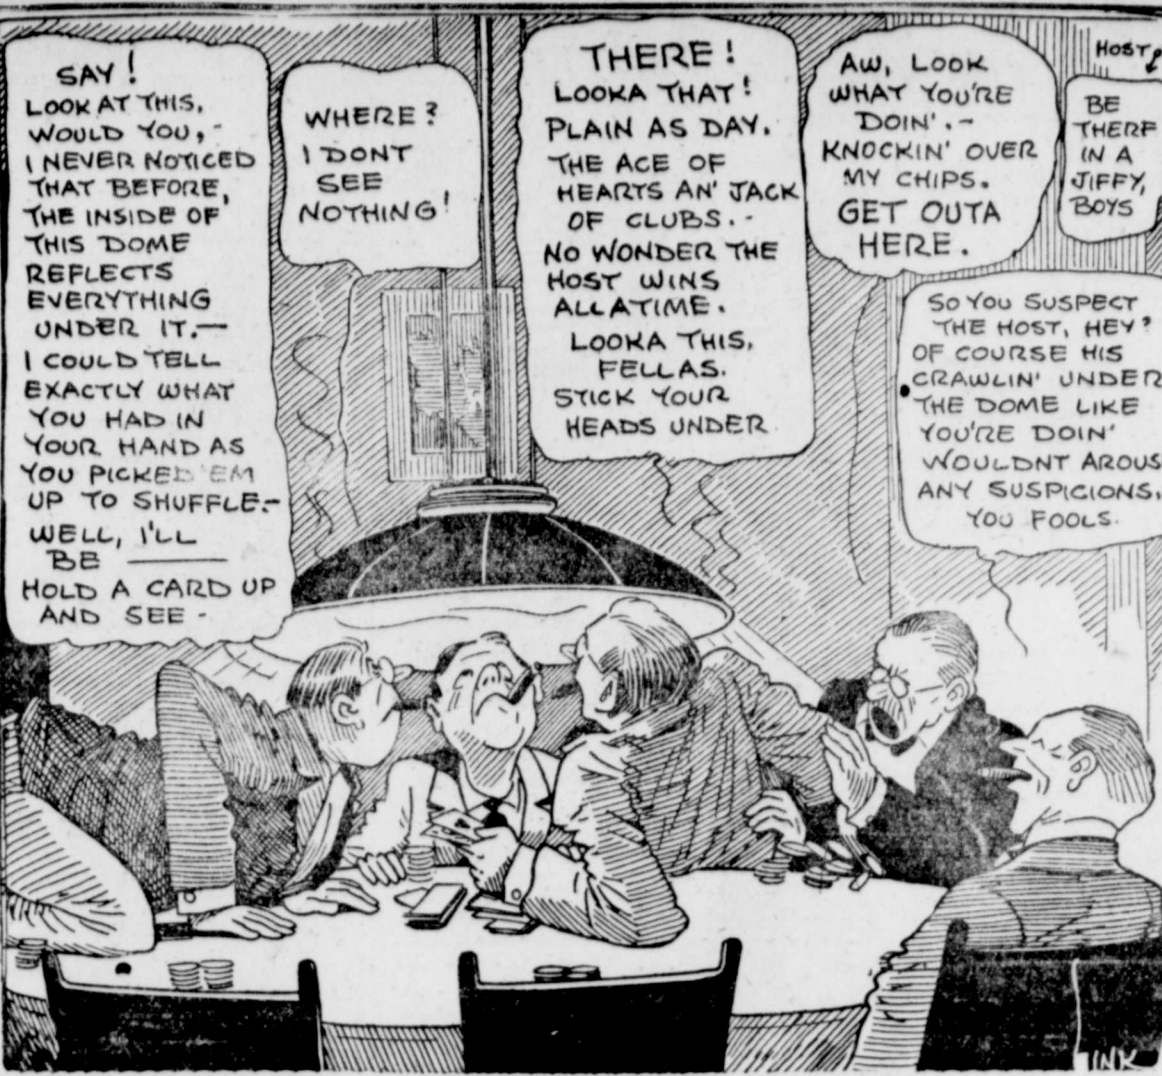

The Mexican woman was a friend of an old Pima chief. He fell ill, and she cured him with her homely remedies, so that his gratitude was great.

Now, the Pimas had long been known to have a gold mine, called the Talopa. When they were in need, they would sell pieces of very rich high-grade ore, but they would never divulge its source. The old Pima chief gave his Mexican friend some of this ore, and from time to time he would present her with more, but all her entreaties would not budge his determination to keep the secret. He said that he would be struck dead if he told—and certainly that was a powerful reason for not telling.

At last, determined to find out the location of the Talopa, the Mexican woman packed up her belongings and went to live in the Pima village. Here she made herself useful and agreeable. She made gifts of some of her trinkets to the most prominent women. She was always ready to aid the sick. She became, practically, a member of the tribe. And all the time she tried to learn the secret of the hidden mine.

At last this method of persuasion wore down the old chief's resistance. He began to talk a little about the mine. It had been worked when he was a boy. It was very

Has Your Refrigerator An Emergency Sandwich Shelf?

AN emergency sandwich shelf saves the day when the occasion calls for a delicious snack in something of a hurry. Here is an array of taste-tantalizing sandwich fillings to please the most discriminating. Sandwich Fillings: Peanut butter and crushed pineapple; cream cheese, mayonnaise and nuts; dates chopped and moistened with orange juice, ground cooked ham, hard cooked eggs, pickle and mayonnaise. Of course, a sandwich without a beverage would be as unfamiliar as a doughnut without a hole. And with warm weather we begin to think of frosty glasses atinkle with sparkling ice cubes. And, homemakers, your summer drinks still sparkle if your ice cubes are made of crystal-clear, pure ice man's ice. Just place the handy little ice-cuber on the cake of ice in your refrigerator and you'll have a generous quantity of ice cubes in 3 1/2 minutes! Did you know, too, that your ice service man will supply you with ice cubes? That's worth knowing when a big "party" is underway—and everybody calls for "seconds" at the same time.

rich, indeed. No, no, he would not take her there, for he feared the retribution of his red gods.

● But at last he weakened. ● He would allow two women of his people to lead the Mexican woman to the mine, and she should see it with her own eyes. He could no longer escape the vast obligation which he and his people owed her, and this would be his repayment.

Joyously, the Mexican woman set out with her escort to the mine. For three nights they climbed mountains and crossed valleys, and at last, on the fourth night, the end of the journey was near. However, it was after midnight when the women stopped in a deep canyon, and by the pale light of the moon pointed out a large dump and an arrastra, which showed signs of great age, nearby. The visitor went over to the dump and picked up a few pieces of ore.

Suddenly, as if frightened by something invisible and terrible, her guides insisted on their hurrying away. They traveled all the rest of the night, and late the next afternoon they reached only one day to return from a four days' journey, which proved that she had been led by a roundabout route to the mine.

Further questions on her part met with failure. The old chief had done all he could and more than he should—he made that plain. Beyond that he would not go.

It was impossible to retrace that journey made in the darkness. She had seen the mine and she had the ore to prove it. But that was all. And though she told her story over and over again, no one ever was able to find the Pima mine.

U. S. A. Shoulder Straps

The insignia of rank worn on the shoulder loop by commissioned officers of the United States army are described as follows: At the collar end the loops are held in place by the regulation bronze army button bearing the coat of arms of the United States. The general's loops bear four silver stars; for a lieutenant general, three silver stars; major general, two silver stars; brigadier general, one silver star. A silver spread eagle indicates a colonel; a silver oak leaf, a lieutenant colonel; and a gold oak leaf, a major. Two silver bars are worn by a captain, one silver bar by a first lieutenant, and one gold bar by a second lieutenant.

Troy's Site Settled

There was long controversy regarding the site of the famed ancient city of Troy, but it is now generally accepted that the little village of Hisarlik stands where Priam once ruled, Hector died, and whence Aeneas fled. The excavations have uncovered nine different cities, the earliest of some 3000 B. C., and another the Roman Ilum that came to an end about 500 A. D. The Homeric Troy was the sixth of these cities, dating from about 2000 to 1500 B. C.

Gravitation and Atmosphere

Studies of gravitation and the atmosphere show that it is theoretically possible for a shot fired from a gun to leave the surface of the earth and never return. The bullet would have to be projected at a velocity of seven miles a second. But such speed is not inconceivable. The wave of a nitroglycerin explosive travels at the rate of five miles a second.—Collier's Weekly.

Where Slavery Still Exists

There are many parts of the world in which it is reported that a practical state of slavery still exists, including Morocco, Algiers, Abyssinia, some of the interior of China, and much of the interior of Africa. There is a state of servitude known as peonage, which is practical slavery, existing also in some parts of South America.

Piebald, Skewbald Horse

A piebald horse is one whose coat is composed of large, irregular patches of black and white. The line of demarcation between the two colors is generally well defined. Skewbald is the same as piebald, save that the colored areas are some other color than black.

Milestones of American Genius

"Grief," the famous Adams Memorial, in Rock Creek Cemetery, by St-Gaudens.

AUGUSTUS SAINT-GAUDENS

AMERICAN memorial art found its finest expression through Augustus Saint-Gaudens, the renowned sculptor, whose monuments to great Americans raised him to the pinnacle of artistic achievement. His noble tributes to many of our national heroes are to be met with in our larger cities and are familiar to millions. Saint-Gaudens was born in Dublin, Ireland, on March 1, 1848, of an Irish mother and a French father. But America rightly claims him for her own, because he was brought here as an infant. In New York, where the family made its home, his father plied his trade as shoemaker, earning a modest living. The boy's talents showed themselves early, and at thirteen he was apprenticed to a cameo cutter. This trade supported him through arduous years as an art student, in the evening classes at Cooper Union.

By the time he was nineteen his skill as a sculptor was so marked that his parents, at great sacrifice, sent him to Paris for advanced study. A steamer passage was all they could afford. Later he went to Rome to study, and came cutting was his chief means of support there.

"Home Life" As Usual In Steel Plant While 1,400 Workers Remain On Jobs

HELPING his wife at home on washday? No. On the contrary, this domestic scene shown here was photographed in the South Chicago plant of the Republic Steel Company during the walkout of some of the employees. For the 1,400 men who remained at work, keeping production at 80 per cent of normal, compared to 90 per cent before the walkout, the company installed beds, ping pong tables, a big cafeteria serving home-style meals and, as a finishing touch, two household washing machines and an ironer. The home appliances were never idle. If the steel workers are typical of husbands in general, there must be many homes where men share the weekly responsibility for cleanliness of the family linen and wearing apparel, for the steel workers showed as much familiarity with temperatures and rinses as they did with open-hearth furnaces and rolling mills. While the picket lines were maintained they kept their "washables" every bit as clean as those cleaned in the family washers at home.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Societies and Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 11th.

The Golden Text is: "What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they. These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the lamb." (Rev. 17: 13, 14.)

Among the citations which compromise the lesson-sermon is the following from the bible: "Blessed are the pure in heart; for they shall see God." (Matt. 5:8)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Thru the wholesome chastisements of love, we are helped onward in the march, towards righteousness, peace, and purity, which are the landmarks of science."

THE possessor of the most angelic disposition sometimes gets up in the morning with a noticeable grouch. Even Pollyanna had some grouching mornings. What our grandmothers pictured as "getting out of bed on the wrong side." Ergo, breakfast is such an important meal! A simple and effective way of making pessimists optimists is a plateful of piping hot muffins:—
Muffins
2 cups sifted flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; 3 tablespoons sugar; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 egg, well beaten; 1 cup milk; 4 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, sugar, and salt, and sift again. Combine egg, milk, and shortening, add to flour, beating only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425° F.) 25 minutes, or until done. Makes 12 muffins.
Current Muffins. Add ½ cup currants to flour mixture.
Date Muffins. Add ¼ cup finely cut dates to flour mixture.
Apricot Muffins. Add ¼ cup dried apricots to flour mixture.
Nut Muffins. Add ½ cup broken nut meats to flour mixture.

Proper Use Of Fly Sprays Important

Indications are that, unless properly used, fly repellents when used on dairy cows do more harm than do the flies, according to E. E. Anderson of the New Mexico State College.
The popular idea of the great injury done by flies in connection with dairy work has resulted in many proprietary mixtures being put on the market, designed to keep off flies. Investigations by several state experiment stations, including New Mexico, have failed to show any advantage from the use of these mixtures except to keep the cows quiet while they are being milked. On the other hand, when used regularly, many sprays cover the skin with a sticky, gummy substance which stops up the pores, causing an increase in body temperature, thus doing more harm to the animals than would the flies. When a spray is used which leaves a residue of this kind, the cows should be washed often enough to prevent such an accumulation.

Many fly sprays are on the market in prepared form, but, if used very lightly, ordinary kerosene is an excellent spray. If kerosene is used heavily, blistering may result. A good spray is one-half pound of pyrethrum powder mixed with one gallon of kerosene and one cup of cresol compound. Let this stand for 24 hours and then strain it thru a cloth. Another very satisfactory fly repellent can be made by mixing one gallon of fish oil with two ounces of oil of tar, two ounces of oil of Pennyroyal, and eight ounces of kerosene.
Very good insurance against the annoyance of flies around the dairy is to keep the milk in quarters and surroundings free from an accumulation of manure, and other filth and debris, since flies are hatched in materials of this nature. The annoyance of flies around the dairy from now until cold weather comes next fall may be minimized not only for the cows but also for the milker by following these simple directions.
